School Board Eyes Property At Five Points

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

A 60-acre parcel of land on U.S. Highway 17-92 near Five Points has been recommended by Assistant Superintendent for Facilities Benny Arnold as a site for a new consolidated service facility for the school district.

Arnold, responsible for facilities and transportation for the school district, said the property, which also has frontage on County Road 427, is available at a price of $14,000 per acre. The total purchase price would be $840,000.

Arnold is recommending that school board members purchase the property because it is centrally located and has good access, has enough space to consolidate maintenance, trans-consolidated facility. Board members said the property was too expensive and not ideally located.

But announcement of development plans near Interstate 4 and in Lake Mary have sent prices in that area climbing. In two months the price of the property has doubled from $15,000 per acre to $30,000 per acre. The total cost for the Rinehart Road property is now $2.4 million.

A 65-acre parcel on U.S. 17-92 and County Road 427, adjacent to Flea World is the lowest priced of the five parcels. Arnold said, but is very low and would require extensive draining and filling to be developable. Arnold said the property is available for $9,000 an acre. Total cost of the property would be $585,000.

Another parcel of 41 acres on State Road 419 near Winter Springs is available for $17,000 an acre, he explained. Arnold said the total price of the property is $697,000 but has railroad track at the front of the property which buses would have to cross when they enter.

A fifth parcel is available on County Road 427 at a cost of $13,500 per acre. The 80-acres has a total price of $1.08 million.

The board will consider Arnold's recommendation at a 3 p.m. Wednesday meeting. School Board member Jean Bryant, who led the opposition to the Rinehart Road proposal, said the new proposal is much better than the one submitted two months ago.

"I think it's a much better location. It's centrally located," she said. "The Rinehart Road property was never really for sale." And even if it was, it's out of the way and is not in an area designed for doing what we want to do.

portation, warehousing and food service facilities in one location, is close to all schools, is high ground and well drained and is available at a fair price.

Arnold wants to construct a consolidated support services center for maintenance, transportation and warehousing. Those facilities are currently located in various spots throughout the county. Arnold said consolidating the facilities will result in lower costs and better supervision.

Another parcel, 80-acres on Rinehart Road near Sanford, was rejected by the school board two months ago as a site for the

Flood Threat Stubborn Perc Ponds May Force Lawsuit

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

If the daily rains continue, the percolation ponds of the sewer system at The Forest mobile home community in Lake Mary, will shortly overflow their banks.

And the city of Lake Mary's only recourse may be to take First Federal Savings and Loan of Orlando to court to require that the ponds be re-engineered to correct the recurring problem.

Louis Laubacher, savings and loan officer in charge of the matter, was not available for comment today.

Dante Gattoni, a resident of The Forest, west of Lake Mary Boulevard, appealed to the Lake Mary City Commission Thursday night to take immediate action to assure the flooding will not occur.

Gattoni said the effluent in the ponds is at a dangerous level, only six inches from overflowing the banks.

While Mayor Walter Sorenson insisted there is no danger to the life, health and property of the residents of the Forest, he added that First Federal of Orlando has been apprised of the situation, along with a city demand that the problem be corrected.

First Federal decided the ponds to the city with a guarantee the system would function as designed.

City Attorney Robert Petree promised Gattoni he would make another trip to the savings and loan to stress the seriousness of the pond problems with officials there.

Petree also noted that he drives by the ponds regularly keeping close watch on them.

It was little more than two months ago that Sorenson told the city commission that the ponds would overflow within 71 days if levels continued to rise.

The sewer plant and ponds, which serve only The Forest, were deeded to the city in August, 1981.

After Petree's last conference with the savings and loan officials, he reported to the city commission in late April that an engineer for the Orlando company said the ponds did not percolate in the past because they were not properly and adequately cleaned.

The attorney added at that time, however, that a testing firm commissioned by the city discounted negligence by the city and noted the ground water level was rising. Teer Laboratories told the city the failure to percolate was due to "impermeable bottom conditions, noting a clay layer 18 inches below the bottom of the pond."

Petree said then that based on existing documentation, it appeared that the city had a substantial basis to require First Federal to re-engineer the ponds.

Gattoni said the ponds are ready to overflow despite the fact that Public Works Director Jim Orloles and his crew of men cleaned them out some weeks ago. In addition, he said that 40 percent of the residents in The Forest are on vacation and thus not using their bathrooms and 40-to-50 mobile homes are ready to connect to the sewer system.

"We're approaching the hurricane season and the city could have a big problem," Gattoni said.

Sorenson said the savings and loan has been notified several times about the problem. "We may have to go to court (against First Federal) if the warnings do not work," Sorenson said.

Utility Rate Hike Approval Dismays Many TODAY

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Higher water and sewer rates have been conditionally approved for Lake Monroe Utility Corp., which serves two industrial parks west of Sanford, but neither utility officials nor customers are very happy about it.

The state Public Service Commission ruled Wednesday that LMU is entitled to a rate increase of about 300 percent, but said the utility won't be allowed to implement the new rates for six months while PSC officials determine whether consumer complaints have been addressed.

Under the new rates the average monthly water bill for commercial users will increase by 313.16 percent, from their current $22.50 to $92.96.

Average commercial sewer bills will increase by 275.6 percent, from the current $46.31 to $173.96.

Under conditions of the PSC order, LMU won't be able to put the new rates into effect for six months. Greg Drummond, a consultant for the utility, said he hasn't seen a copy of the PSC order and isn't certain exactly how much the interim rate increase will be.

But Drummond said the PSC has not responded to the utility's needs. "Management's position is that we need relief now. The PSC has disregarded the fact that our rates have been the same for the past 10 years."

Drummond said the PSC plan will actually make it harder to comply with consumer complaints because it forbids the company from making money, which would in turn be used to correct service problems.

The utility is owned by Dr. James W. Hickman and services 36 customers in the Interstate 4 Industrial Park, owned by Hickman, the Port of Sanford's industrial park and several motels located at the intersection of Interstate 4 and State Route 46 west of Sanford.

Dennis Dolgner, the port authority's executive director, said he plans to appeal the new rate proposal.

Dolgner said the rates appear to be "punitive to customers."

He's just begun an analysis of the proposed rates in comparison with the rates for 17 other utilities in the area. After a preliminary study of those rates, Dolgner said, "It appears they're going to rate Number One."

Dolgner and others complained at a March hearing in Sanford of service disruptions, excessive chlorine in the water, low water pressure, sewer backups, inadequate fire protection and poor utility response to emergencies.

Drummond said he is disappointed that the PSC took the complaints seriously. "They listened to allegations from a handful of customers," he said.

The PSC lowered the utility's water charges by $25,905 and sewer charges of $41,334 for the six months.

The PSC order states, "We have found this adjustment appropriate to reflect our findings that the quality of service in the sewer division is substandard."

The PSC order said the recent service complaints involve the malfunction of a lift station which led to a sewer backup.

"We believe that the service problems experienced by the utility's customers are serious and deserve prompt attention and remedial action by the utility," the order continued.

The order said if the utility improves its quality of service within six months the rate proposal will be allowed to go into effect.

Dolgner and other consumers have until July 24 to appeal the PSC ruling.

Drummond said that even though LMU officials aren't satisfied with the order, they won't appeal.

Property Tax Sanford Could Drop Rate To $4.07, Estimates Show

The Sanford City Commission can drop its property tax rate for the 1983-84 fiscal year to $4.07 per $1,000 assessed valuation, according to new estimates from County Property Appraiser Bill Suber.

Two weeks ago it was expected that the property rate would have to be increased to bring the city the same revenues as last year, plus new construction.

The new rate would mean a reduction in the tax rate of 30 cents per $1,000 over last year's $4.37.

While City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles noted in a memo to the City Commission that the city's tax roll may be modified by appeals and changes, it should not materially affect the total, he said. The $4.07 rate would mean a 6.9 percent decrease in property taxes for most property owners in the city.

The taxable value of property in the city totals $286 million including new construction values of $16.5 million. Property taxes anticipated at the new rate totals $1.1 million, some $5,788 less than earlier expected, Knowles reports.

He told city commissioners that the $5,788 must be cut from a proposed budget submitted to the commission two weeks ago.

Knowles submitted a budget on June 27 totaling $9,225 million for the upcoming fiscal year. The budget is up from last year's $9.6 million. While the city manager said that the city commission by a majority vote of three can raise the tax rate by 8 percent or by an extraordinary vote of 4-1 can increase the tax rate by 15 percent, he is recommending neither course.

The taxable value of real property in Sanford over the past year has risen from $269.4 million to $286 million, an increase of $16.5 million, this is due mostly to new construction.

Total property value in Sanford, according to Suber, is $504 million, but some $218.4 million or 43.3 percent is exempt from taxation for a variety of reasons, including homestead exemption, government properties, institutional exemption, disability exemption and widow's exemption.

Nearly half the exemption from taxation is due to homestead exemptions.

The City Commission will be holding budget sessions Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. — Donna Estes

Need Surgery? Quit Smoking

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — If you're a smoker and facing surgery, put those cigarettes aside for a day or two before your operation.

Dr. William Hamelberg, director of critical care services at St. Anthony Hospital, says tobacco smoke damages the body's ability to deal with general anesthesia.

Studies have shown that smoking causes carbon monoxide molecules to bond to the hemoglobin in blood. Hemoglobin carries oxygen to the tissues.

"If you don't have a high degree of oxygen, you run the risk of immediate difficulties in coming out of anesthesia," Hamelberg said.

Immediate problems he listed are heart rhythm problems and post-operative pneumonia. He said long-term damage to the liver, kidneys and brain also can result from a lack of oxygen.

The advent of outpatient surgery or same-day surgery makes it hard for anesthesiologists to deal with patients, Hamelberg said.

"In the past, we had patients in the night before so we could at least keep a close eye on them," he said. "Now, they come in that morning, and we don't know if they followed instructions or not."

NATION IN BRIEF

Senate To Tackle MX, B-1 Bomber Issue Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress ends its long Fourth of July recess today with Senate opponents of the MX nuclear missile and B-1 bomber hoping to eliminate funding for the weapons from the military spending bill.

The House is set to take action this week on legislation to continue health insurance benefits for the unemployed. It also will begin debate on major housing legislation, although it is not expected to complete action.

Various senators' staffs were still working on possible amendments during the weekend but among those sure to be offered are a pair by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., on two of the bill's most controversial weapons systems.

One amendment would eliminate $4.57 billion for production of the first 27 MX missiles, each equipped with 10 nuclear warheads, and for further research. It would retain $604 million for developing a new, mobile, single-warhead missile as recommended by the president's Scowcroft commission on strategic forces.

The second amendment would eliminate more than $5 billion for further research and procurement of the first 10 B-1 bombers. Opponents of the weapon contend it will soon be superseded by the radar-evading Stealth bomber under development by the Air Force.

Where's The Carter 'Mole'?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators have yet to turn up the names of any "moles" in the Jimmy Carter White House despite interviews with principle figures in the controversy over release of 1980 Carter campaign material to Ronald Reagan's election team.

FBI and House investigators trying to unlock the mystery surrounding the funneling of the Carter materials to the Reagan campaign are perplexed not only about the sources of any leaks but the possible motives.

Investigators want to know whether materials were voluntarily passed to the Reagan strategists from:

—One or more disgruntled Carter campaign workers, as Reagan has suggested.

—A secretary or other staffer romantically involved with someone linked to the Reagan campaign.

—A White House aide seeking to ingratiate himself with Reagan forces in hopes of retaining a political job in the event of a Carter defeat.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Utah had another main street "river" today because of weekend flooding triggered across the Rockies by heavy thunderstorms. More storms also pounded the northern and central Plains. High winds raked the northern Plains Sunday and temperatures went to extremes at both ends of the thermometer — muggy with readings in the 90s to 101 in the Midwest and Plains, and chilly with record lows on the Atlantic Coast and in Nevada. Intense thunderstorms in the Colorado foothills dumped up to 1½ inches of rain in an hour, triggering mudslides in Golden Gate Canyon and on U.S. 6 in Clear Creek Canyon. One man was injured when swept down Clear Creek by high water and two people were hospitalized after being struck by lightning in a park west of Denver. Sandy, Utah, 9 miles south of Salt Lake City, took a hint from its neighbor and turned six blocks of State Street into a "river" to cope with heavy runoff from thunderstorms and increased snowmelt. Mayor Larry Smith predicted snowmelt would keep the new river running for about 10 days. Rainstorms that triggered the flooding and a mudslide near Logan, Utah Saturday, helped extinguish the last flickers of the 300,000-acre fire that raged across the western Utah desert for four days last week.

AREA FORECAST: Partly cloudy and hot today with a 20 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms. Highs in low to mid 90s. Variable light wind. Isolated thunderstorms tonight then mostly fair. Lows in mid 70s. Wind nearly calm. Chance of thunderstorms less than 20 percent. Partly cloudy Tuesday with a 30 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms. Highs in low to mid 90s.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles: Variable winds less than 10 knots today becoming variable mostly east to southeast tonight and Tuesday. Seas 1 to 2 feet. Partly cloudy with widely scattered showers or thunderstorms.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 79; overnight low: 72; Sunday high: 90; barometric pressure: 30.08; relative humidity: 71 percent; winds south at 6 mph; rain: none; sunrise 6:35 a.m., sunset 8:26 p.m.

Still Working To Obtain Own Water Supply

Lake Mary OKs Buying Water From County

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Contracting with Seminole County to obtain a water supply for the planned new Country Downs subdivision off Country Club Road has been approved in concept by the Lake Mary City Commission.

The development of 43.14 acres is to be composed of one-half-acre minimum sized lots.

Mayor Walter Sorenson talked to county commissioners about the proposal after Seminole County Commissioner Bob Sturm suggested the county could sell the city the water by bulk to be resold to the development. He urged the city commission to approve the concept.

Sorenson said a contract will be worked out with the county similar to the contract Lake Mary has with the city of Sanford to provide a water supply.

Sorenson said the county wants to have a tighter hold than Sanford does on the city's ability to expand the service to more customers.

Meanwhile, in Lake Mary's continuing effort to obtain its own water source, Sorenson reported to the city commission last week that tests on a series of three wells owned by Patricia Stenstrom on property running from Rinehart Road to Rantoul Lane shows that all are useable with relatively little work.

This is one of the matters Sorenson has been looking into during the past several weeks in seeking a source of a water supply for the city.

The mayor said that the city is applying to the St. Johns River Water Management District for "consumptive use permits" for the wells, a first step in gaining state approval for use of the wells.

Meanwhile, City Commissioner Ray Fox at last week's commission meeting struck out at a Sanford soft spot.

With support from fellow commissioners Charles Lytle and Kenneth King, he moved to have a resolution prepared stating the city's opposition to the continued pumping of sewer effluent into Lake Monroe, "thus polluting the lake and the St. Johns River and its tributaries to the north."

The resolution when prepared is to be directed to the St. Johns River Water Management District and the state Department of Environmental Regulation. Fox's colleagues said the resolution is directed at anyone dumping effluent into the lake and the river. But the city of Sanford for more than a year has been battling with the DER over a permit to continue dumping its sewer effluent into the lake.

Even though nationally recognized biologist Dr. Donald O'Connor, after a study of tests conducted at the lake, reported that the Sanford effluent going into the lake is purer than the lake's waters, the state permit has been denied. City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles has estimated it will cost the city of Sanford at least $11 million to convert its effluent disposal from the lake to the state preferred land-spreading method.

The costs will include the purchase of hundreds of acres as a land-spreading site, piping and pump stations to transport the effluent to the site.

Fox also made a motion rejecting an attempt by Sanford to control the number of customers it serves with water. The motion passed 2-1 with Commissioner Charles Lytle's support and opposition from Commissioner Kenneth King. Commissioners Burt Perinchief and Russ Megonegal were absent.

The city of Sanford became concerned about its water supply when it was reported that more than 1,000 units of housing are on the drawing board in the city of Lake Mary, which Sanford supplies with water. The units planned would double Lake Mary's need for water.

At its June 27 meeting, the Sanford commission voted to limit Lake Mary's water supply from Sanford at its number of connections as of July 1 plus 10 percent for growth. The same limitation was put on the Midway-Canaan and Indian Mound water districts, also dependent on Sanford for water.

Mayor Lee Moore cautioned the Sanford City Commission at the time that Lake Mary could ignore the limitation and there is little Sanford could do about it. Moore said he didn't want the city of Sanford to be put in the position of appearing to threaten Lake Mary.

Sanford commissioners indicated they are fearful that Sanford's water reserves will be depleted by new development outside Sanford to the point where water will not be available for more than 500 units of new housing currently on the drawing board in Sanford.

Sorenson said while the city of Lake Mary had 961 active water accounts as of June 1, that number grew by July 1 to 1,130. The more than 170 accounts considered active since June, Sorenson said, takes into account housing that is already built and has water connections.

"That includes a portion of Cardinal Oaks that is built and a portion of the Forest mobile home community that is built. We can hardly say to a customer with a connection in his front yard that he cannot use water," Sorenson said.

'The Hills' Are Alive In Lake Mary

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

A planned new development called "The Hills of Lake Mary," which could nearly double the city's 3,000 population, has gained its first approval from city fathers.

Lake Mary City Commissioners, on a 2-1 vote Thursday night, agreed to rezone a 223-acre parcel on the northern edge of the city at Rantoul Lane and State Road 46A from agriculture to single family and multi-family residential zoning.

Michael Gray, attorney for the developers, Residential Communities of America, said 410 single family homes will be built on 136.28 acres of the tract rezoned for single family development, and 450 "villas" will be built on the 86.69 acres rezoned for multi-family housing development.

Commissioner Kenneth King voted against the rezoning, restating his concerns that the area zoned for single family homes allows too many homes to be built per acre in an important water recharge area. He had urged that the zoning for the tract planned for single family homes be a higher classification, permitting fewer homes per acre.

Neither Gray nor Bill Goodman, representing the developers, could immediately answer King's question about how much of the land in the proposed single family area would be covered by the houses and paving.

Although as many as 13 units per acre could have been built in the area zoned for multi-family housing, Gray on behalf of RCA committed to construction of no more than six units per acre.

"I feel the multi-family concept is good, but I have reservations about the single family area, so must vote no" on the entire rezoning, King said.

Commissioners Ray Fox and Charles Lytle voted to approve the rezoning.

Mayor Walter Sorenson noted that a good deal of planning must be completed by the developers before they can actually begin construction including submission of a plat showing the actual layout and site plans particularly of the multi-family area.

Lake Mary Wants Land But Not New Police Car

The Lake Mary City Commission is making an offer to purchase the two lots used for parking purposes immediately west of city hall, but it has delayed buying a new patrol car for the police department until additional information is available.

According to an option agreement with Otis Sjoblom, from whom the 1920's era city hall was purchased, the city has the right to buy the lots at their appraised value or for $30,000.

The appraised value of the two lots, according to Mayor Walter Sorenson, is $23,500.

However, the police department was not as successful in its request that bids be sought on a new car to replace a patrol vehicle which has a mileage reading of about 150,000 miles.

Commissioner Kenneth King asked that maintenance records on the city police cars be made available to the commission so a decision can be made on whether to buy a new car.

Two Arrested After Fight At Casselberry Bar

Two men were arrested after a fight early Sunday at the ABC lounge at State Road 436, Casselberry.

Seminole County deputy sheriffs said they arrived at the lounge at 2 a.m. and found Jerry Dale Gross, 22, bleeding from his face after having been in a fight. No reason for the fight was given.

Gross began to curse the officers and to incite the crowd, deputies reported. Gross swung at one deputy and several deputies were required to handcuff him, according to the deputies' report. As Gross was being led to a patrol car, he escaped and ran off, but was chased down and recaptured.

A hostile crowd gathered in the lounge's parking lot and deputy sheriff Rafael Toldeo attempted to make the crowd back off. A fight broke out between Toldeo and a member of the crowd, Jeffery Scott Williams, 20, who was also arrested.

Williams, of 2410 S. Mills Ave., Orlando, was charged with resisting an officer without violence and resisting arrest without violence.

Gross, of 1189 Quintuplet Drive, Casselberry, was charged with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest without violence and escape.

Gross and Williams were both booked into Seminole County jail and released after posting bail of $1,000 each.

yeelling at several people and used profanity, according to a Seminole County sheriff's report. He was advised to calm down and leave the area, but "again became violent," and was arrested, according to the report.

Lawson was booked into Seminole County jail and released on pre-trial release.

SANFORD MAN ARRESTED

A Sanford man was arrested Friday afternoon on charges of grand theft and possession of marijuana.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies charged David L. Saunders, 28, of 124 Bethune Circle, Sanford, with stealing merchandise from Wilson's catalog showroom at the Seminole Plaza in Casselberry.

Deputies said Sanders is accused of taking merchandise from the store while working as an employee and selling the items.

The deputies said marijuana was also found in Sanders' car at the time of the arrest.

He was placed in the Seminole County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

THEFTS REPORTED

Joseph Dugger told Sanford police that a lawn mower valued at $300 was stolen from the loading dock of Dugger's General Store, 118 S. Sanford Ave., between noon and 2 p.m. Thursday.

A $200 lawn mower also was reported stolen by Jim Ray, 57, of 2525 Hiawatha Ave., Sanford.

Ray told police the mower was taken between 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday.

Matthew William, 68, of 1208 W. 15th St., told police his house was burglarized overnight Thursday. William told police six packs of cigarettes and a radio worth $6 were stolen.

DUI ARRESTS

The following people were arrested in Seminole County on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol:

—Karen Rodi, 22, of Kissimmee, was arrested at 1:01 a.m. Saturday on State Route 436 in Altamonte Springs after police observed the car she was driving swerving on the highway.

—Donald Crawford, 19, of 288 Lake Ellen Drive, Casselberry, was arrested at 2:45 a.m. Saturday on Magnolia Avenue in Sanford. Police said Crawford was driving erratically and tried to run down an officer.

—Patrick Trevisan, 31, of Orlando, was arrested at 2:49 a.m. Saturday on Oxford Road in Casselberry.

—Chester George Furboter, 47, of Lot 55, Wekiva Springs Falls, was arrested at 7 p.m. at the intersection of U.S. Highway 17-92 and Sheppard Road, Longwood.

—Karen Ann Rodi, 22, of 1080 S. Airport, Kissimmee, was arrested at State Road 436 and Essex Avenue near the Altamonte Mall in Altamonte Springs at about 2 a.m. Saturday after a deputy sheriff saw her car weave and almost strike another vehicle.

Headless Body May Be That Of Firebomber's Wife

TAMPA (UPI) — Authorities searching for the common-law wife of accused firebomber John "Billy" Ferry have turned their attentions to a headless body found in Citrus County two years ago.

The headless body of a woman, 20 to 30 years old, was discovered in September 1981 in the northern part of the county near the Withlacoochee River. The skull was found nine months later 30 miles to the south in Hernando County, just north of Weeki Wachee.

A comparison with the dental charts of Susan Hollowell, who lived with Ferry, will be made by Citrus County authorities, officials said. Ms. Hollowell was 24 when she disappeared in April 1980.

Ferry was charged in the case, accused of doubling shoppers and store employees with gasoline and then setting them on fire. Three people died in the incident and four others remain hospitalized.

Authorities spent two days last week digging at the Ocala National Forest campground where the couple lived, but "nothing accusatory" was unearthed in the excavation of the area Friday and Saturday, said a Marion County sheriff's deputy.

Krishna Leader 'Bizarre'

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Leaders of the Hare Krishna cult, known for their saffron robes and shaved heads, have excommunicated Hans Kary, one of the group's first American members, for being too bizarre. But Kary's secretary says the real reason is he was against soliciting donations in airports.

Twenty-one members of the Hare Krishna Governing Body Commission excommunicated Kary in a Miami Beach meeting Saturday. Commission members cited "bizarre, aberrant behavior" by Kary and declared he had become an embarrassment to the group.

Kary, a native of New York City, native who joined the Krishna movement in 1966 as one of its 16 original American members, was not available for comment. But his secretary, Paramahansa Swami, said Kary was kicked out because Krishna leaders felt he had become "too spiritual, too mystical."

"It's a character assassination and it all comes down to money," he said. "Our leader no longer wants to go to the airports anymore (to collect money). He said that turns people off to our movement."

New Evidence in Papal Kidnap Case 'Not Enough'

PAL ROME (UPI) — Kidnappers seeking to exchange the teenage daughter of a papal messenger for the Turkish terrorist who shot Pope John Paul II offered new evidence that their captive is alive, but her father said today it was not enough.

The kidnappers left a note from kidnapped Emanuela Orlandi to her parents in a chapel at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci airport only hours after the pope reiterated an appeal for her safe return.

"Dear Mama and Papa, don't worry about me. I am well," said a photocopied note found late Sunday.

Ercole Orlandi, a messenger in the pope's antechamber, said this did not prove his 15-year-old daughter was alive. The family appealed Saturday for a photograph of Emanuela and her writing on a daily newspaper saying where she ate lunch a week ago.

4 Firebombs Defused

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British army experts today safely defused four firebombs in Kilkeel and police across Northern Ireland were put on alert for attacks before Tuesday's annual Orange parade by Protestants.

A routine army patrol searching the bus depot in Kilkeel, a coastal town 40 miles south of Belfast, found three firebombs in buses and one in a diesel fuel tank. Explosive experts safely defused all of them.

No group immediately claimed responsibility, but the outlawed Irish Republican Army began a series of firebomb attacks in Belfast Sunday and warned of more attacks before the Protestant demonstrations Tuesday.

Police mounted a major security operation during the weekend in case of IRA or Irish National Liberation Army attacks on the pro-British Protestant Orangemen who will march Tuesday to commemorate the battle of the Boyne, fought in 1690 between Catholic forces of King James and the Protestant forces of King William of Orange.

Censored GAO Report Says Israel Expects Another War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli officials believe a new war with Arab countries is likely but U.S. analysts disagree, pointing to disarray in the Arab world and Israeli military strength, according to censored portions of a report on U.S. aid to the Jewish state.

The information appeared in a preliminary, classified version of a General Accounting Office report called "U.S. Assistance to the State of Israel," but was deleted in the unclassified version published June 24.

A version of the GAO report, containing most of the classified deletions, was made available to United Press International by the American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee.

The group did not reveal how it got the report, originally prepared for Congress. It said it was making it available because, "It is a subterfuge of the highest order to say that this report should be classified, then suppressed for nearly seven months, just because of its damning political indictment of both the United States and Israel."

The unclassified version of the GAO report said, "The Israeli government is concerned about U.S. efforts to assist various Arab countries to improve their military forces and thus achieve a strategic consensus against the threat of Soviet intrusion into the region."

The next passage, excised in the published version, reads, "Israeli officials believe that another war with the Arab countries is likely and that the U.S. regional efforts can contribute to threatening Israeli security."

U.S. military sales to Arab states "could exacerbate concerns about the Arab threat and could foster Israeli preemptive attacks in future crises."

—government report

Dan Halperin, economics minister at the Israeli Embassy, said he had not seen the classified report, but, "Israel has the world's highest taxation of its citizens, as well as taxation in the form of years of military service. This is because we believe in the reality of the threat against us and because we are trying to deter it."

A classified portion of the GAO report quotes a CIA assessment that another Arab-Israel war is unlikely because of political disarray in the Arab world and because of the Israeli edge in military weapons.

Israel, in attempting to secure more military assistance, says its defense forces can deal with a 3-to-1 adverse ratio of weapons — three Arab weapons for every similar Israeli weapon — but Arab arsenals now exceed that level.

A classified section in the GAO report said, "U.S. officials point out that Israeli military projections are unrealistic in that they include every weapon in all the Arab countries" and that it is not expected that all the Arabs would be united.

Another classified portion quotes the CIA as warning that U.S. military sales to Arab states "could exacerbate concerns about the Arab threat and could foster Israeli preemptive attacks in future crises."

Other deletions in the GAO report indicate there is a sharp difference of views about how much a threat the Arab world poses to Israel.

Another deleted portion of the report says the Pentagon believes current levels of U.S. military sales to Israel are adequate but the Jewish state will ask for more.

One fast phone call before you replace your air conditioner and we'll pay you up to $600 cash.

FPL will pay you up to $600 cash if you replace your money-wasting old air conditioning system with an energy-efficient central air conditioner or heat pump.

You get cash back on your installation now and your new system will also pay you by lowering your cooling costs now and for years to come. In addition, FPL will pay you $177 more if you have a contractor add a heat recovery unit to your new central air conditioner or heat pump. By using waste heat from your air conditioning system, this unit can almost eliminate water heating costs during the air conditioning season.

For qualifying details, contact any air conditioning dealer displaying the Watt-Wise™ Products Program symbol, or call FPL's Watt-Wise Line for a list of dealers participating in this program. And an FPL representative will personally check to see that the completed job meets our rigid standards.

This program benefits you and all our customers. Because it costs less than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient cooling systems.

So pick up the phone. And pick up as much as $600.

Deflating The Air Bag

The Reagan administration struck a blow for deregulation two years ago when it revoked a 1977 Department of Transportation edict that would have required new cars to be equipped with air bags or automatic seat belts beginning in 1982. Recently, a unanimous U.S. Supreme Court found that revocation "arbitrary and capricious" and ordered the DOT to implement the 1977 regulation or explain precisely why it should be voided.

We hope the Department of Transportation's new director, Elizabeth Dole, chooses the latter alternative. Certainly she should have no difficulty in finding sufficient justification for doing so.

Let's start with air bags. Despite propaganda to the contrary from Ralph Nader types and self-styled consumer groups, the air bag is the Edsel of automobile safety devices. The DOT's own tests over a 10-year period show conclusively that using the conventional lap and shoulder belts already required on all new cars offers far more protection than air bags.

Better yet, lap and shoulder belts cost the consumer a fraction of the price for planting an exploding bag in the steering column and dashboard of every new car.

The automatic seat belt, a cumbersome mechanism that engages when the driver's and front passenger's doors are shut, also provides more protection than the air bag. But precisely because the automatic seat belt is cumbersome, many new car buyers are sure to disconnect the device or even have it removed altogether.

There would be no case at all for the dubious, expensive air bag or the awkward automatic seat belt if more drivers and passengers would simply use the lap and shoulder belts already installed in their cars. So, if Congress and the Department of Transportation are set on forcing the motoring public to protect itself, the cheapest, least intrusive way of getting the job done should be obvious.

The first choice would be an expanded educational campaign on the value of seat belts. If this proved insufficient, Congress could then consider legislation giving states incentives to pass mandatory seat belt use laws.

The Supreme Court may have been justified in ruling that the Reagan administration offered too few justifications for revoking the air bag-automatic seat belt edict. But there are, nonetheless, plenty of good reasons for doing just that.

Perils Of Energy

Seven coal miners were killed in an explosion in a mine shaft near McClure, Va., on June 22. This was the worst mining accident in Virginia in 25 years.

The news coverage accorded to such a tragedy in the coal fields is a point at issue with the Atomic Industrial Forum, a public information organization financed by the nuclear industry. The AIF complains that the news media often pay more attention to the risks associated with nuclear power than they do to the actual deaths that take place in the production and distribution of energy from other sources.

To make its point, the AIF passes along a list of major energy-related fatal accidents which occurred around the world in 1982 and might have escaped attention amid news about the perils of nuclear power. Here is the list, including in parentheses the number of persons killed in each accident:

Jan. 17, freighter rammed gas pipeline in Mosel River (5); Jan. 21, coal mine explosion in Kentucky (7); Jan. 21, oil line explosion in Mexico (8); Feb. 5, oil rig sank off Newfoundland (84); March 25, coal pile collapsed at Calcutta (18); April 5, coal mine explosion in Poland (15); April 7, collision between tanker truck and bus in San Francisco (7); May 10, coal mine explosion in Yugoslavia (39); June 18, coal mine accident in Poland (10); Oct. 6 hydroelectric dam collapse in Libya (200); Oct. 6, coal mine tunnel collapse in Poland (6); Mid-October, oil refinery explosion at Port Arthur (5); Nov. 2, tanker collision in Afghanistan (1,100); Nov. 3, coal mine explosion in Japan (5); Nov. 29, coal mine explosion in Poland (18), and Dec. 21, oil-fired power station explosion in Venezuela (145).

That adds up to a death toll of 1,662 for the year.

When was the last time we heard of a demonstration against unsafe coal mines, or the peril of transporting gasoline through city streets?

WASHINGTON WORLD Civics Lesson For 1983

By Arnold Sawlsak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In its decision on the legislative veto, the Supreme Court provided Congress a lesson in what the grade schools used to call civics.

It told Congress, in effect, there is a right way to make laws in the United States, for which read Article I of the Constitution, and in this case you did not follow it.

The legislative veto is intended to give Congress the final word on actions of the president, his appointees or federal regulators such as sending troops to some foreign hot spot, imposing new rules on used car dealers or, in the specific case before the court, deporting aliens.

The Constitution clearly gives Congress the power to write and amend laws, but they must be passed by majority votes in the House and Senate and approved by the president, or, with two-thirds majorities, by overriding presidential vetoes. In this case, the court said Congress was trying to legislate in a way not sanctioned by the Constitution.

The decision involved a law designed to relieve Congress of the task of voting on thousands of appeals by aliens seeking to enter or remain in the United States. The law gave that authority to the Immigration Service and the attorney general, but said Congress could overrule their decisions.

The court ruling got a lot of attention because Justice Byron White, one of the two who disagreed with it, noted that the legislative veto is in more than 200 federal laws and suggested the decision would strike it down in all of them.

That might be the eventual result, but it is not the effect of this ruling. It would take a far broader decision to knock out all legislative vetoes. But even if the decision is not as sweeping as White suggested, it is a classic demonstration of how the American constitutional system works.

The legislative veto was used without too much complaint until recently, when it began taking forms that even some members of Congress warned were constitutionally questionable. On the immigration law, the veto could be exercised by a single house of Congress and in this case, there was no debate or recorded vote. That is a long fetch from the Constitution's blueprint for making laws.

Just as it did when the House tried to "exclude" Rep. Adam Clayton Powell from membership by a simple majority vote because it lacked the two-thirds required to expel him, the Supreme Court called a halt to a congressional effort to stretch the Constitution.

It should be noted that the court also pulled the plug on an executive branch trespass of authority when it said the Reagan administration could not arbitrarily cancel a rule requiring air bags or automatic seat belts in cars. Simply deciding it did not like a properly adopted federal regulation was insufficient reason for knocking it out, the court said.

These decisions demonstrated that the system of checks and balances is more than a dry textbook theory. It showed that when one branch of government tries to take power that does not belong to it, there is another branch to slap it down.

That, as the civics teacher used to say, is the way it is supposed to work.

Who'll Foot Bill For Reagan Library?

WASHINGTON — President Reagan is a firm believer in "private sector initiative"; the generosity of wealthy Americans theoretically will ease the taxpayers' burdens for needed programs. But Reagan's man at the General Services Administration, Administrator Gerald Carmen, doesn't think private initiative should start with his boss.

The point at issue is the ballooning cost of maintaining the seven presidential libraries. Though the money to build the libraries was raised by private donations (tax deductible), the bill to the taxpayers for upkeep and staff salaries now comes to almost $15 million a year.

This is far more than Congress envisioned when it passed the Presidential Libraries Act in 1955. Proponents estimated that each library would Science certainly works in wondrous ways.

Last year the scientific community was telling us that the water hyacinth, a bane to commercial users of Florida waterways, could be used to clean effluent at sewage plants.

This year, scientists are telling us they've found a way to get rid of the water hyacinth.

I suppose there's nothing really contradictory about those two statements except that it just points out how our personal needs affect how we look at things.

It's like the old saying, one man's junk is another man's treasure.

To people who use the water commercially, the hyacinth is pure junk. The troublesome weed chokes off water flow and impedes navigation.

But tests show that a double-barrelled attack against hyacinths has been remarkably effective.

Ninety percent of hyacinths in test ponds were killed within seven months of testing, state officials said.

The technique, introducing small insects and disease to the hyacinths could be available commercially by 1984, state officials said.

The specially imported mites, moths and weevils attack the plants, decreasing their immune systems, making it easier for the leaf disease to get into the plant's system.

A Gainesville chemical manufacturer is preparing to market the fungus, which does not attack other plants.

But to consultants for the Iron Bridge plant the hyacinths have the promise of being a real treasure.

Engineers from Post, Buckley, Schuh and Jernigan, an Orlando consulting firm, learned that the hyacinth could be used to "polish" effluent discharged from the plant.

That way they'll be able to treat more sewage but discharge the same amount of nutrients into the water.

So, Orlando officials, who operate the Iron Bridge plant, want to build two huge ponds at the facility and put hyacinths in them to treat effluent before it is discharged into the Econlockhatchee River.

This technology also is expected to be used sometime in 1984.

JEFFREY HART

Wanted: Penal Colony

The French penal colony off the coast of Guiana in South America has a bad reputation all right, especially since the book and movie "Papillon," but the French may have been onto a good idea nevertheless.

A distant island jail need not be brutal or inhumane in its daily routine — though it need not be the Club Med of the Mediterranean, either — but it would be escape-proof, and it would separate the lethal criminal from the rest of the population.

What brings these, well, radical thoughts to mind is the case involving some brutal murders in Chino, Calif. A man named William Hughes arrived at a neighbor's house to pick up his son, age 10, who had been spending the night. When he entered the house through a sliding door, he saw his son lying dead in a pool of blood. Of the four neighbors, named Ryan, only an eight-year-old boy named Joshua was still alive, clinging to life with a slashed throat. The mother and father had been stabbed and hacked to death, as had a daughter, Jessica. The murderer had used a hatchet as well, apparently, as a knife, and the walls and ceilings of the house were covered with blood. Police coming to the scene described it as the most gruesome murder scene they could remember.

The prime suspect in the case, still at large, is a 25-year-old man named Kevin Cooper. Only three days before the murders, he had escaped from a minimum facility at the California Institute for Men in Chino. Such a minimum security facility has no armed guards, and to escape all Cooper had to do was get himself over an eight-foot chain-link fence.

Apparently California officials were not fully aware of Cooper's previous record, or he would not have been left relatively unguarded.

Last August, he was arrested in Pittsburgh on a burglary charge. In October after being judged "mentally incompetent" to stand trial, he simply strolled away from, yes, a bowling alley area of a Pennsylvania State hospital. Within hours he had allegedly raped and kidnapped a 17-year-old girl, taking her from her parents' suburban house in Upper St. Clair. He fled and managed to reach Los Angeles, where he was arrested. California prison officials apparently knew about the burglary charges, but not about the kidnapping and rape — a bureaucratic failure of communication.

The minimum security facility is a leaky jail, to say the least, putting up with about 20 escapes per year.

At this writing, Cooper, now officially deemed deranged and dangerous, is the subject of a vast manhunt and has been variously reported seen around the Mexican border, Texas and Nevada.

"The point of this story is not to offer it as criticism of the Pennsylvania or California officials. Kevin Cooper was put in the Pennsylvania mental hospital, from which he escaped because he had successfully pleaded the "insanity" defense. Bureaucratic slip-ups occur in the prison systems, as in other bureaucracies, and the officials in Chino, Calif., would not have had Cooper in the minimum security facility had they been aware of his full dossier.

But that doesn't do Douglas and Peggy Ryan or their daughter Jessica much good.

Which brings us back to the penal colony idea. Dangerous and violent criminals should not be confined under circumstances in which they escape they can further menace peaceable citizens.

DON GRAFF

Uncle (Sam) Cheapskate

The United States won a skirmish on the economic warfare front the other day.

It blocked a $2.2 million loan by the Inter-American Development Bank to Nicaragua. The vote of the bank's directors was 42 in favor of the loan, one against.

Isolated in opposition, the United States nevertheless carried the day because a weighted system gives it 35 percent of the vote and, in effect, veto power. Loan approval requires a two-thirds vote.

The reason for U.S. opposition, as reported in accounts of the proceedings at the bank's headquarters in Washington, was unspecified deficiencies in Nicaragua's "macroeconomic" policies.

Macroeconomics is the big time — industrial development, interest rates and money supply, budget and debt management.

Now you know. You should also know that the purpose of the loan was to improve rural roads in Nicaragua.

But never mind. Illogic is predictable in the campaign the Reagan administration has been waging against the Nicaraguan economy, less publicized but every bit as ruthless as the military one being waged on Nicaragua's borders through guerrilla proxies.

In the same Inter-American forum, a supposedly non-political intergovernmental agency set up for the purpose of making low-cost development loans to the hemisphere's poorest countries, of which Nicaragua is certainly one, the administration's representatives previously have opposed $30 million for purchase of fishing boats and $35 million for a hydroelectric project.

At the World Bank, U.S. opposition denied the Nicaraguans $16 million for storm drainage and other public projects in Managua — a city never completely rebuilt after the 1972 earthquake, despite more than $1 billion in foreign aid that poured into the country at the time and straight into the private accounts of the reigning Somoza family.

Now that's macroeconomics.

But let's take a quick look at the economics of post-Somoza Nicaragua.

The victorious Sandinistas inherited a bankrupt economy and a foreign debt of $1.6 billion, most of which they agreed to honor. They have had difficulties with repayments to American, European and Japanese banks and have needed additional loan help.

This was not the result of economic policies but of a depressed market for Nicaragua's agricultural exports — coffee, cotton, sugar. Its pro-American neighbors also feel the pinch.

Nicaragua's particular cash-flow problem has not been helped by the administration's cancellation last month of its U.S. sugar quota.

The Sandinistas do receive some aid through their Communist bloc connections, and there was a one-shot $100 million contribution from Libya. But such sources are not sufficient for the long haul, and they know it.

Late last year, they began sending encouraging signals to foreign investors, offering to guarantee, despite their Marxist principles, 100 percent ownership of new enterprises and repatriation of profits. In Somoza's time, the price of being allowed to do business in Nicaragua was a 50 percent cut for you know who.

A refreshing change and, it might appear, a promising opportunity to develop a counterweight to the Sandinistas' Marxism. But the policy makers in Washington aren't having any. Predictably, they are discouraging investment.

So it continues to go.

The Sandinistas will survive economically without better roads. And if anything, they will benefit politically from their setback at the bank.

Reports from within Nicaragua suggest that the major effect of American pressure is to rally support for the Sandinista leadership in its defiance of Yankee power.

True, the administration can make the Sandinistas pay dearly for that defiance.

But when it does, it is also doing something else — cheapening the United States before the world.

Reluctance to apply a rules change to one's own administration is nothing new, of course. President Carter's people fought like tigers to exempt their boss from the Presidential Records Act of 1978, which made official presidential papers public property. They lost that fight, as well as the election.

In an apparent attempt to delay the endowment proposal, Carmen admits he has the authority but wants a law passed that would force him to do it. But if Congress has to draft, debate and enact authorization legislation, Reagan might already be out of office before the lengthy process is completed.

Footnote: GSA officials deny that Carmen is trying to exempt Reagan from the endowment proposal. They say he hasn't taken a position on the plan yet.

Sanford Juniors Bank On .400 Hitters Tonight

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

Five players who hit .400 or better during the regular season will be in the lineup as the Sanford Junior League All-Stars begin tournament play tonight at 8 against Port Orange in the District 4 Florida Junior Major League Tournament at Port Orange. Sanford was scheduled to play Edgewater-Oak Hill, but that team dropped out of the tourney.

The league's leading hitter, David Rape (Knights of Columbus) will lead off for manager Al Whitted's team followed by Mike Edwards (Rotary), Eddie Korgan (Rotary), Terry Miller (Moose), Oscar Merthle (Moose), Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy (Kiwanis), Leonard Lucas (Knights), Craig Dixon (Rotary) and David Goldstick (Moose).

Rape, who will start at shortstop, hit a cool .563 for the season, going 18 for 32 at the plate. Other .400 hitters in the order include Miller (.483), Korgan (.477), Merthle (.467) and Lucas (.449). Edwards hit .364 for the season and stole a lot of bases while Bellamy hit at a .302 clip. Dixon hit .389 and Goldstick hit .310. Other heavy-hitters on the team include Alonzo Gainey (Knights of Columbus) .449, Arthur Hersey (Kiwanis) .404, Dwayne Willis (Kiwanis) .400, Gary Derr (Moose) .378 and Ron Blake (Rotary) .364. The Junior League stars carry a team average of .393 and a combined pitching record of 40 wins and 20 losses.

"The hitting is our strongest point," Whitted said. "We hope to get some runs early and see what the pitching can do from there."

Miller, who was 9-4 during the season, will start on the mound tonight for Sanford. When he's on, "The Cat" is one of the best there is. But, Miller can run into control problems at times and lose his concentration, as he did in his four losses. Joining Miller on the pitching staff are Rape, Lucas, Dixon, Goldstick, Bellamy and Hersey.

Bill Dube, who will assist Whitted along with Ed Korgan, was the first to agree with Whitted's hitting assessment. "When you have as many .400 hitters as we do, it's a good start," he said. "We're definitely looking to swing the bats."

Rape had the best pitching record in the league with a 5-0 mark while Goldstick finished at 6-1. Dixon was 3-2, Bellamy 4-2, Hersey 4-4 and Lucas was 3-4. Lucas also picked up the victory that clinched the city championship for Knights of Columbus.

While the hitting is the strong point, and the pitching has the potential, the defense is a question mark for the Junior All Stars. It was commonplace to see a combined 10 errors or more committed in a game during the season.

At first base, Whitted will go with Merthle who was one of the top fielding first basemen in the league.

Edwards will start at second base. Edwards has a lot of experience at second and has good speed to chase down grounders in the holes. Rape is usually steady at shortstop while third base is probably the biggest question mark. Bellamy will try his hand at the hot corner in tonight's game. Bellamy does not have a whole lot of experience at third as he pitched and caught a lot this season, his first in the Junior League. The best defensive catcher in the league, Korgan, will be behind the plate with a good-felding Miller on the mound.

In the outfield, Dixon will be in left with Goldstick in center and Lucas in right. Dixon didn't see much action in the outfield this season as he was mostly a pitcher and infielder. When he did play in the outfield, Dixon usually roamed center. Goldstick is probably the best fielder of the three. He hit .310 during the season but can play center field with the best of them. Lucas will get his first look at right field as he was a pitcher-shortstop during the regular season. Lucas' athletic ability, however, should get him by in the outfield.

The Sanford Junior League All-Stars already have the hitting and a pitching staff that can get the job done. Now, Sanford will hope the defense can hold together and, if it can put the hitting, defense and pitching together at the same time, Sanford could go a long way in the tournament.

Tonight's starting lineup

Ebbert, Laszaic Lead Altamonte To Pair Of Wins

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

EUSTIS — Greg Ebbert and Anthony Laszaic each turned in strong pitching performances this past weekend as the Altamonte Junior League All-Stars moved within one game of capturing the District 14, Division 2 Tournament.

Ebbert, a crafty left-hander, allowed just two hits as Altamonte mauled an outclassed Mount Dora team, 19-0, Saturday. Laszaic, a right-hander, shackled Oviedo on five hits as the Juniors breezed Sunday, 7-1.

Altamonte now plays the winning game. It will meet the survivor of the loser's bracket a week from tonight at 7:30 at Eustis. "We'll probably see Oviedo again," said Altamonte manager Frank Messina. "They've probably got the best team of the ones left."

Messina said he would go with either his son and shortstop, Matt, or lefty Cory Prom in next Monday's game. "We've got 10 players who have pitched on this team," he said. "We'll probably stick with five of them. Pitching, though, is one of our strong areas."

And, so was hitting and watching on Saturday, Altamonte rolled up 19 runs on eight hits and 17 walks against Mount Dora. Laszaic swung the big stick, rapping three hits including a double and driving in three runs. Ebbert slapped a pair of singles good for two runs. Scott Stiles was 1-for-1 with a single.

"Ebbert pitched a real good game," said Messina. "He mixed up his pitches real well. I don't think neither of these teams has seen a good curveball or changeup pitcher, which helped us."

Ebbert struck out six and walked just two while throwing just 84 pitches during the game game which was halted when Mount Dora threw in the towel after six innings.

On Sunday Laszaic had just as easy a time against

Chris Brock

Eric Martinez

Oviedo. He shut down Oviedo with nine strikeouts and one walk until Oviedo scored a run with two out in the seventh inning on an error.

"Anthony knows he doesn't have to strike out every hitter," said Messina. "We've got a good defense behind him. He's pitching like he's capable of pitching now."

Center fielder Chris Brock was the hitting and fielding hero for Altamonte on Sunday. Brock rapped four straight singles and stole two bases. He also turned in a nice diving catch on a sinking fly ball hit by losing pitcher Ron Veres.

Altamonte took a 2-0 lead in the third when Matt Messina reached on an error by the third baseman and stole second. The catcher's throw went into center field and got past the center fielder which allowed Messina to come all the way around for a 1-0 lead. Stiles also reached on an error, but was caught in a rundown and tagged out on a groundball by Matt Lange. Lange the stole second and one out later scored on Brock's second single.

In the fourth, the Martinez twins — Ernest and Eric — ignited a three-run outburst which ran the lead to 5-0. Ernest, a right-handed hitter third baseman, started the inning with a single to left and a theft of second. One out later, Eric smashed a hit to right which sent his brother to third. Eric stole second without a throw and Messina drilled a base hit to left to chase home both runs. Messina promptly stole second, moved to third on a fly ball by Stiles and scored when Lange reached on an error.

Altamonte Majors All-Stars Open District 14 Tournament Competition

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

If they can get by their first game with a victory, things look pretty good for manager Wayne Weger's Altamonte Major National League All-Stars in the Division 1 Top Team Tournament. If they win tonight, Altamonte's Nationals have a chance of playing their next two games at home in Altamonte Springs.

The Nationals go up against Rolling Hills tonight at 7:30 at Rolling Hills. The winner will play West Oak Ridge on Tuesday night at 7:30 at Altamonte and the winner of that game will play on Thursday night at 7:30 in Altamonte.

"We have a lot of speed on this team and a lot of good defensive players," Weger said. "That will be our strengths along with the pitching staff. We don't have any overpowering pitchers, but we have a lot of depth."

Wes Weger, the top pitcher in the league during the season, will get the call to start on the mound against Rolling Hills. Weger pitched the Astros to the regular season title and also hurled a no-hitter and smacked a triple and a home run in the Astros' opening victory in the Top Team Tournament a few weeks ago. When he isn't pitching, Weger is an infielder. Joining Weger on the pitching staff are Todd Luke (Cardinals), Chris Radcliff (Braves), and Shane Lunsford (Dodgers).

In the infield, Tommy Dearth (Dodgers) and Pat DeLuca (Phillies) will handle the first base slot while Scott Conklin (Astros) will get the call at second. Conklin will be backed up by Morey Liffier (Braves). Mike McNamee (Cardinals) will see plenty of action at shortstop with depth coming from Weger and Brian Parent (Phillies). Chris Knutson (Expos) will start at third base and Parent can also fill in there. Behind the plate will be power-hitting Jerrey Thurston who, teamed with Weger, made one of the best one-two punches in the league.

In the outfield, Jeff Conklin (Astros) will be in left with the other two positions up for grabs between Jason Barick (Cardinals), Radcliff, Lunsford and Luke.

District Baseball

Weger will count on the pitching and strong defensive game to keep his team in the game while the offense gets going. The overall team speed will help both offensively and defensively for the Altamonte Nationals in this double elimination tournament. Altamonte will go with its best on Monday night in hopes of coming home for its next game.

"We really want to win the first game," Weger said. "Playing in front of your home people really gets a team going."

Should Altamonte lose its first game, it would go to the loser's bracket for a 7:30 game Tuesday in Rolling Hills against the loser of the West Volusia American-Windermere game. But, with Weger on the mound, and a strong defense behind him, Altamonte has a very good chance of getting by Rolling Hills.

In the American League, manager Don Birle will count on an all-star team stocked by his pennant-winning Indians, who made it to the finals of the Top Team Tournament before losing to Maitland.

Birle's ace pitcher is his son, Alex. Two more Indians — Kent Brubaker and Joseph DeFrancesco — and John Esterby (Yankees) complete the four-man staff. All are right-handers.

Powerful Tony Ganci (four homers in Top Team play) anchors the infield at first base. Kevin Wainwright will handle second with either Brubaker or Shane Stifflet (Blue Jays) will be at shortstop. The third baseman will be either Brubaker or Birle depending on whom is pitching.

The outfielders are Warren Woodard, Chad Cochran and Todd Christensen. Reserve strength will come from Esterby, Trevor Olson (White Sox), Danny Hendricks (Angels) and Kenny Jackson (White Sox). Chad Dunbar (Angels) will handle the catching duties.

Miss Daum Bride Of R.L. Rosemond

Laura Amy Daum and Richard Lynn Rosemond were married July 9, at 10 a.m., at All Souls Catholic Church, Sanford. The Rev. Kevin O'Doherty performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Theodore Daum of Annapolis, Md., formerly of Sanford, and the late Cmdr. Daum. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R.M. Rosemond, Indian Mound Village, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her brothers, Ted Daum, Michael Daum and Chris Daum, the bride chose for her vows an off-the-shoulder gown, fashioned along the empire silhouette of candlelight organza.

The alecon lace bodice featured clusters of beaded motifs and sheer ruffles over the shoulders. The full, sheer skirt was bordered with a deep ruffle at the hemline. Her tiered veil of imported illusion was secured to a lace cap and she carried a formal cascading arrangement of candlelight roses and Queen Anne's lace.

Mary Ann Daum attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a golden yellow waltz-length skirt gathered to a yoke at the waist complemented by a white blouse designed with a sweetheart neckline. A self ruffle formed the cap sleeves. She wore a circlet of baby's breath in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of daylilies and Queen Anne's lace.

Bridesmaids were Carol Daum and Jan Daum, sisters-in-law of the bride; Cherie Rosemond, sister of the bridegroom; and Robin Cornell. Their attire and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Dr. Rosemond served his son as best man. Usher-groomsman were James Rosemond, brother of the bridegroom; Ross Petterson and Kirk Rose, the bridegroom's fraternity brothers from Duke University; and Pat Schirard, a friend from Sanford.

Julie Ann Daum, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Following a reception at the Sanora Club, Sanford, the newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to Abaco Island in the Bahamas.

They will make their home at 2040 Granville Circle, Durham, N.C. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University where he is now a second year medical student. The bride is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and is employed as a graphics illustrator in Durham.

Banker Needs Straight Role For Happiness

DEAR ABBY: To get right to the point, I am gay, but I don't like being gay. I want a wife, children and a normal social life. I also have a career I enjoy greatly (in banking) in which further advancement is impossible if it becomes known that I am gay.

Psychiatrists and other therapists I have gone to have tried to help me adjust to my homosexuality rather than help me to change.

Abby, adjusting to being homosexual is fine for those who have accepted their homosexuality, but I haven't. I know I'd be happier straight. Please help me.

UNHAPPY IN HOUSTON

DEAR UNHAPPY: Did you choose to be homosexual? If so, then you can choose to be straight. But if you have always had erotic feelings for men instead of women, then face it, you are homosexual, and even though you may be able to change your behavior, you will not be able to change your feelings.

Some therapists insist that if a homosexual is sufficiently motivated, he (or she) can become straight. Maybe so, but the chances are slim. Marrying and having children may make you happier, but what about the other people you involve?

"To thine own self be true" — only then will you find true happiness.

DEAR ABBY: You seem to have an answer for everybody; now I have a question: My husband passed away recently, and in going through his office drawers, I found a key that has been identified by someone at our local bank as a key to a safety deposit box — but not that bank's.

Dear Abby

How do I find out where the safety deposit box is?

MRS. G.V.H.

DEAR MRS. V.H.: Inform your attorney about this mysterious key and ask for his counsel.

If it is indeed a key to a safety deposit box, it could open up more than you bargained for. So be prepared.

DEAR ABBY: Please warn your readers that it is very dangerous, not to mention rude, to enter someone's home without knocking first.

When my mother comes to visit me (I gave her a key for emergency use), she just opens my front door and lets herself in without ringing my bell, knocking or saying a word. Then she hunts me up. Sometimes I am in the bedroom dressing, or taking a bath, and when I hear someone in the house, I'm paralyzed with fright! Mother will stick her head in the door and give me a cheery hello; meanwhile, I'm in a state of shock. I do not keep a gun in the house because I'm afraid I might end up shooting my mother.

I have even had a date over for a candlelight dinner and mother has burst in, having seen a strange car in my driveway and knowing I was probably entertaining.

I also have a key to my mother's house, but I always knock and wait for her to let me in.

I think this is a courtesy everyone deserves, don't you? Any suggestions?

KNOCK KNOCK

DEAR KNOCK: Put a safety chain on your door and keep the chain latched while you're inside.

You're never too old (or too young) to learn how to make friends and be popular. For Abby's booklet on popularity, send $1, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Parnell celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary by reaffirming their marriage vows on July 1, at the New Hope AME Church, Jacksonville. Mrs. Parnell is the former Emma Petree of Sanford, granddaughter of John and Emnora Hudson of Sanford. The Parnells have seven children, 14 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren. Mrs. Parnell is a retired nurse and he is retired from the Atlantic Coastline Railroad.

Masons, Kin Invited To Join White Shrine

A subordinate shrine of the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem will be organized at 2 p.m. on July 17, at the South Seminole Masonic Temple, across from city hall, Casselberry.

All Master Masons and female relatives of Master Masons are eligible for membership in the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem. All potential White Shrine members are cordially invited to attend the meeting on July 17. If at least 50 White Shrine applicants are present, an election of officers for the new subordinate shrine will be held. Also, a "name" will be selected.

It is expected at this time that the official institution of the new subordinate shrine will take place at the South Seminole Masonic Temple on Sept. 24, with supreme officers and other honorary officers of the order filling the stations. Following the institution, there will be a dinner and later that evening a ceremonial will be held for the new White Shrine members.

For petitions or additional information about becoming a member of the new Shrine, call 831-6513.

Class Deals With Divorce

The Office of Community Instructional Services at Seminole Community College will offer a class, "Dealing With the Crisis of Divorce and Separation."

This class is designed to help those who are contemplating divorce, moving through the divorce process and are divorced. A group setting will be established whereby individuals may realistically view options and alternatives. The general goal of the group is to provide support, identity, information and tools for positive self-growth and self-trust. The specific goals include: value clarifications, social skills and emotional release coping.

The class will begin July 19 and will continue for seven Tuesday evenings from 7 - 10 p.m. in Room L-202. This class is open to men and women. Fee: $10.00.

For information, please call the college.

Poll: Floridians Favor Higher Taxes To Upgrade Schools

By United Press International

On the eve of a special legislative session Tuesday to deal with school funding, 60 percent of Floridians in a newspaper poll supported higher school taxes and there was near-unanimous approval of stiffer math and science requirements.

A telephone survey of 607 residents from across the state was taken July 5-7 for the Miami Herald and other Florida Knight-Ridder newspapers. The poll showed a majority of residents think the state's public schools are doing a fair or poor job in educating students, and a similar-sized majority is willing to pay more taxes to beef up performance.

Gov. Bob Graham has called lawmakers back to Tallahassee for a special legislative session beginning Tuesday to tackle the problem of school funding.

Graham vetoed the $2-billion portion of the budget passed by the Legislature last month that was earmarked for education. Graham, who sought about $300 million in extra schools money, said the spending plan worked out by the Legislature was inadequate.

Lawmakers are now expected to approve a $227.8-million package of tax increases for education during the special session.

According to the Knight-Ridder-commissioned poll, most adult Floridians will be willing to pay more for better schools.

Sixty-one percent of the respondents favored higher taxes to improve education, the poll showed. Thirty-one percent said they would not be willing to pay the extra money and eight percent said they were unsure how they felt.

"I'm not surprised," Graham said when he was told of the poll results. "It indicates that the people of Florida are aware that major reforms are necessary in our education system and that they are willing to pay ... to secure superior education."

The idea of increased math and science instruction won near-unanimous approval with 92 percent of the respondents favoring it. Eight percent were opposed to tougher math and science requirements.

Sixty-three percent of those who expressed an opinion said Florida schools were doing only a fair or poor job in educating students.

Eighty-three percent of those polled said they would endorse tougher graduation requirements, and 68 percent said they would support higher salaries in addition to merit raises for teachers.

However, most respondents were opposed to an extension of the school day and the school year.

Only 33 percent said they would support a longer school day, while 67 percent were opposed. Thirty-nine percent agreed to a longer academic year, with 61 percent opposed.

Democrats Slam Reagan At Women's Convention

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — The five leading Democratic presidential candidates touched on women's issues and ganged up on President Reagan at the National Women's Political Caucus.

The candidates, who participated in a forum discussion on the final day of a four-day caucus convention Sunday, expressed nearly identical views on issues such as abortion and the Equal Rights Amendment and also took similar jabs at Reagan.

"It's great to be with the real political power brokers of America, for it is women who will send Ronald Reagan back to the ranch in 1984," said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif. "He thinks the 'gender gap' was an episode of 'Death Valley Days'."

Cranston was joined at the candidate forum by fellow Democratic Sens. John Glenn of Ohio, Gary Hart of Colorado and Ernest Hollings of South Carolina, and former Vice President Walter Mondale of Minnesota.

Former Florida Gov. Reubin Askew was the only announced Democratic candidate unable to attend the forum, in which candidates made opening speeches then answered questions from a panel of feminist leaders.

All five politicians said they supported abortion rights, renewed efforts to pass the ERA, decreased military spending, pay equity and more political appointments of women.

They also took advantage of a strong anti-Reagan sentiment that pervaded the convention, where Kathy Wilson, who heads the caucus, earlier called on the president to refuse to seek a second term.

"I've heard President Reagan has been complaining of his perception problem with American women," Mondale said. "He does have a perception problem. He can't see you at all and you see right through him."

Hollings said Reagan was "mortgaging the future of this country ... by his callous and casual approach to nuclear weapons."

He was more specific than other candidates on whether he would appoint women to top positions if he won the presidency, promising to name a female attorney general.

Glenn agreed that women would play a key role in the 1984 election. He criticized Reagan's contention that his appointment of Sandra Day O'Connor to the Supreme Court represented a commitment to women.

"There is a big difference in making one woman a justice and bringing justice to American women," Glenn said.

Hart got off to a strong start by poking fun at Reagan but drew hisses from the audience and sharp criticism from panel questioners for refusing to give up the podium when time for his opening remarks expired.

"I regret that," Hart said when one questioner suggested his actions showed disrespect for women. "I'll try to do better next time."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Reader Concerned About Stroke Cause

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife died a year ago from a stroke and a heart attack. She had a history of high blood pressure for at least 11 years but she was only 51.

She had an attack with pains in her arms and I took her to the hospital. They worked on her for about an hour and she seemed all right. They wanted her to stay but she would not. Two days later she had another attack at home and I wanted to take her back to the hospital but she would not go. Then two days after that she had a stroke at the house and a heart attack in the hospital.

I had an argument with my wife about not going to the doctor about a half hour before she had the stroke. The doctors said she had a blood clot leave her heart and it went to the brain. They told me the argument had nothing to do with her stroke but I still blame myself. Would you comment on my problem?

DEAR READER — Most strokes are caused by an obstruction in an artery in the brain. The obstruction is usually from fatty-cholesterol deposits in the wall of the artery and a clot may form at the site. It is the same thing that happens in the arteries to the heart to cause heart attacks. Many people who have strokes also have disease in the arteries to the heart and vice versa.

Recent studies, however, have shown that a surprisingly large number of strokes are caused by a clot migrating from some location in the body and lodging in an artery in the brain. That is important because as medical science progresses it may mean that when these people can be identified and treated immediately one can avoid some of or all of the brain damage that might occur and results in the symptoms.

people recognize as a stroke — the paralysis, loss of speech and other changes.

One source of such a clot is the heart. When a person has a damaged heart muscle a clot may form inside the heart over the area. If the clot is dislodged it may go to the brain and induce a stroke. That is one reason for keeping a heart attack patient quiet during the first several days after a heart attack.

Read What You Need To Know About Strokes in The Health Letter 16-6, which I am sending you and quit blaming yourself.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For years I took a glass of soda water to stop my leg cramps. Then one night I fell asleep with my pantyhose on. No cramps all night. Now I wear them 24 hours a day and if I didn't I would have cramps all night.

Sears, Roebuck support hose is my best friend. I've tried others but I always come back to Sears. Buy a pair. Buy two pairs. They work for a 79-year-old lady, why not others?

DEAR READER — I don't intend to run out and buy a pair of pantyhose but I will remind my readers that leg cramps can be prevented in some people by keeping the legs warm at night. Long wool socks or any garment that traps heat helps.

And stretching the calves of the legs before sleeping helps. So wll sleeping on your side or in such a position to keep from dropping the foot, which predisposes the leg to cramping.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JULY 12, 1983

If you apply yourself this coming year, much can be accomplished in building a stronger financial base. Concentrate on the things you'd like to have, then work hard to attain them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Conditions continue to favor you regarding your material interests. If you see a way to make money, drop everything else and zero in on it. Order now: The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Cancer Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Be sure to give your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

In dealing with delegations or groups today, use your charm and wit to get your points across. Engaging directives will captivate volunteers.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Look out for your own interests today, but let your charitable instincts prevail if you see that another is more in need of something than you are.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Libra is the sincerest form of flattery. Don't be surprised today if you start noticing friends cloning your behavior and dress.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Your perceptions are likely to be even keener than usual in career and financial matters today. Move along the lines your instincts direct.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Much of personal value can be learned today by closely observing friends you respect. Study your subjects as intently as you would a textbook.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

You can achieve an ambitious objective today but, in order to do so, you may require the assistance of one who can add to your know-how.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Be practical when making important decisions today, but also be hopeful. Desire will enhance your judgment, not detract from it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

You continue to be a good achievement cycle, especially regarding your career goals. Look up at the stars, not down at the mud.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Your social contacts are likely to deliver on the promises they make to you today, especially if they're friends of long standing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

The most important issues on your agenda today are likely to have domestic overtones. Be sure to give them top priority.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Your abilities as a salesperson are better than usual today. Try to use this asset to sell either ideas or merchandise.

Jim: "In today's hand South finds himself at a normal, good three no-trump contract. He can count 11 top winners except for the unpleasant fact that West has opened a club, and the defense may be able to take several club tricks before declarer can set up dummy's diamonds. South must try to make sure that his opponents can't take four tricks in that suit."

Oswald: "If clubs are going to break 4-3, he has no worry about the contract. He only worries if someone has five or six cards in the suit."

Jim: "He analyzes the lead as either fourth best or top of a doubleton. Then he decides that 'It isn't going to be anything but a genuine fourth best. People like to open short major suits. They never open a doubleton club when neither major has been bid.'"

Oswald: "The play of the ace, then, is a sure winner. It would only cost him his game if West had led small from five or six to the K-Q-J, and with one of those holdings the king would surely have been led."

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
Jim: "We haven't said much about our acronym ARCH lately."

Oswald: "It is a help in both dummy play and defense. A is analyze the lead, R is review the bidding, C is count winners and losers, and finally H is how can I make or defeat the contract?"
