

An Easy Lesson On How To Get A Coaching Job

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 16.—Take it from Dr. Eugene Lambert, average athletes have better chance of getting coaching and teaching jobs by attending their own state university.

His statement was made in connection with the comment that the University of Arkansas, of which he now is athletic director, must improve its system of obtaining football talent if Razorback teams were to return to the high places attained in the South Conference during the late twenties and mid-thirties.

Arkansas hasn't won a conference football game since the middle of the 1940 season.

"It's easy for stars to get jobs whether they attend their own state university or an anonymous state university," said Dr. Lambert, declared, "but stars are few and far between and, for every star, there are at least a dozen players making the stars' fees possible."

Clarence Gais was a steady and smart quarterback for Arkansas although he didn't make long runs for touchdowns. Lambert said, but Gais is one of Little Rock High School. At Harris, he added, was a loose observing quarterback for the Razorbacks who didn't get the plaudits of the crowd, but he's now coach of Pine Bluff High School.

Other Arkansas footballers he recalled as "average talents" included Emilie, coach of Memphis Technical High; Leslie Nations, former Fayetteville High coach and now assistant at Fort Smith High; and Eustis McDonald, Harrison High coach.

Dr. Lambert said an athlete's own state university would lean over backward to keep a state athlete in school while many schools that desired one athlete from another state would encourage three or more to attend from that state, and later cut off the scholarships from all except the one picked as the best.

One Negro Dies, Another Injured In Sweeping Fire

YONKERS, N.Y., Feb. 16.—Smoke, Chief Cleveland concluded.

If Mrs. Jones recovers, and Dr. Stark gives her a fifty-fifty chance, it will be due to the prompt action of the negro boys, names unrevealed, who returning from a dance heard the screams of Mrs. Jones, as clothing flamed as she fled from the burning home.

Tearing the flaming clothing from the woman, the boys quickly enveloped her in an overcoat, according to Daisy Kinard, a neighbor, who with her husband had been roused from their bed by the screams. Samual Kinard then drove Mrs. Jones to the hospital.

Frank Marshall, orange picker for Chase and Company for whom Jones had worked in the same capacity, was asleep with his wife in another front bedroom. Hearing Mrs. Jones screaming, he stated that he rushed to the rear door and saw the boy tearing the flaming clothing from the woman. He then called his wife, and they escaped without any ill effects from the fire, other than loss of possessions.

City Inspector Grady Duncan who visited the charred home this morning, pointed out that there were three doors in the bedroom in which Jones was trapped; against the one in the front opening to the porch was a trunk, while charred remnants showed that a table had stood against a door at the side. Only the door to the kitchen offered escape and that opened inward.

Calling Negro Man "Mister" Arouses Southern Senators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Enrolled over the pros and cons of whether certain government people are "crackpots" and if so what to do about it, the House heard debate recently ranging from the war to Errol Flynn's acquittal.

The outstanding developments on the floor were:

1. Clarence Cannon, Democrat, of Missouri, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, announced that he would ask the House tomorrow to authorize creation of a five-man subcommittee to pass on the qualifications of Federal employees whose loyalty or fitness is questioned. It would hear testimony on both sides and report to the House, and Mr. Cannon promised that it would not encroach on the Pines committee.

2. Representative Jerry Voorhis, Democrat, of California, a member of that group (the House committee on un-American activities) severely criticized Chairman Martin Dies, Democrat, of Texas, for submitting to the House last Monday a list of thirty-five Federal officials to be barred from employment on what Mr. Voorhis called the "general charge" that their views were "unacceptable to some one else."

Mr. Voorhis contended that it was not the committee's "province to sit in judgment on the political views of any loyal American, be he reactionary or radical."

"It is quite as possible to make up a list of persons that one can describe as 'crackpot' on one side of the fence as it is upon the other," he continued. "A man can be a 'crackpot' conservative as easily as a 'crackpot' radical."

Following Mr. Voorhis to the floor, Representative Vito Marcantonio, American Labor, New York, remarked that "while Americans are gloriously fighting at Guadalcanal and North Africa, and the Red Army is smashing the enemy at Stalingrad and Rostov, Hitler and Martin Dies are still crusading against Communism."

What the discussion arises when Mr. Dies took the floor with further accusations against William Pickens, Negro securities promotion specialist, whose continued employment by the Treasury the House had voted to prohibit under an amendment by Representative Joe Hendricks, Democrat, of Florida.

Mr. Pickens was on Mr. Dies's list last week and the Texan detailed what he called a record of Mr. Pickens' Communist affiliations.

Mr. Hendricks likewise disavowed any racial prejudice. He said he did not know when he offered his amendment to an appropriations bill, that Mr. Pickens was a Negro and indicated that the proof of this was that he had called the man "Mr. Pickens."

"Any man from the South doesn't call a colored man 'mister,'" Mr. Hendricks explained.

It was Mr. Hendricks who brought up the Flynn case, after others contend that Mr. Pickens was entitled to a "day in court" before being penalized.

"We had a trial out on the coast last week," Mr. Hendricks observed, "and I understand that that was the case. Mr. Flynn, the movie actor, was acquitted Saturday of certain charges. He had his day in court, understood—and was acquitted."

"But would any of you good gentlemen in this House want your daughters to take a trip on his yacht with Mr. Errol Flynn?"

Representative William L. Dawson, Democrat, of Illinois, only Negro member of Congress, making his first speech before the House, drew lengthy applause when he recited why he believed William Pickens is not a Communist. "He and Bell have been friends for forty years, and went on to discuss the 'psychology of an underprivileged people,' saying that many Negroes unwittingly join organizations they believe are pledged to their betterment but drop them when they learn such things."

Representative Harold Knutson, Republican, of Minnesota, objected to "singling out this one poor colored man."

"My God, that's almost lynch law," he said.

Representative John W. McCormack, Democrat, of Massachusetts, Democ-

tatic floor leader, took the same tack and exhibited obvious anger as he shouted that the House must act with decency and an Anglo-Saxon sense of fairness."

Nazis In Headlong Retreat To Dnieper River From Kharkov

Red Armies Advance Near Taganrog In Pursuit Of 25,000 Fleeing Germans

Trouble for Japs

(By Associated Press)
With Kharkov fallen and the winter defense wall shattered, the German armies were reported today in headlong retreat toward the Dnieper River in the heart of the Ukraine amid the conjecture that the swift-moving Russians might beat them to their goal.

The Russian command announced their armies had stormed within 17 miles of Taganrog in pursuit of 25,000 Germans fleeing along the shores of Sea of Azov.

Latest dispatches pictured the Germans as hastily fleeing westward from Kharkov, suffering "tremendous" losses.

Russian troops in furious battle captured the skyscraper city of Kharkov yesterday, toppling the most powerful Nazi base in Southern Russia, and severing all German forces in the whole bridge area east of the Dnieper River, a special Soviet communiqué declared last night.

The fall of the important industrial center and former capital of the rich Donets basin made a 375-mile advance west from Stalingrad since the Russian Winter offensive began in November, and the most significant victory for Soviet arms outside the triumph at Stalingrad.

Red army units occupied the city after a "violent attack which involved fierce street fighting," said the communiqué as recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

In the final assault, Red army men routed some of Hitler's best "fanatical" units, including two in "Adolf Hitler Guards" and three in "Adolf Hitler Guards" and three in "Adolf Hitler Guards."

From Kharkov, vital railway communications were cut, threatening new traps for German forces retreating across the plains east of the Dnieper.

Kharkov had been in German hands since October 24, 1941, four months after the start of the Nazi invasion. It normally was a city of 800,000, was immensely increased by the vast railroad lines radiating from it.

At Kharkov the Russians now stand about 150 miles northwest of the Dnieper at Dnepropetrovsk, and the speed with which their offensive has crushed forward indicates the German's whole system of "bridgeheads" in the southern Ukraine virtually eliminated — plan to make a new stand on the western bank of the Dnieper. Farther south the Russians stand at Lissavany, only 65 miles east of Dnepropetrovsk.

Grand Jury Indicts 12 On Mail Fraud

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—Attorney General Eddie announced Tuesday that a Federal grand jury at Baltimore had indicted 12 persons on charges of mail fraud, involving $200,000 and Navy munitions contracts with Triumph Explosives, Inc., of Elkton, Md.

Five of those accused as indicted today were career mail defendants and had been tried by Federal juries in Baltimore, where they were found guilty and sentenced to confine the United States in the performance of contracts.

The latest charges, though, and are based on one or more alleged in previous indictments.

R.A.F. Returns To Attack Sub Nest At Lorient

Nazis Retaliate, As Aircraft Strafe Coastal Towns In Southern Wales

(By Associated Press)
R.A.F. night raiders returned to attack on the battered U-boats nest at Lorient, France, while German planes strafed coastal towns in South Wales.

The radio followed up attacks by United States four-motored Flying Fortresses and Liberators on the German submarine base at St. Nazaire in France.

A daredevil German flying circus, again risking destruction, anti-aircraft fire met the American bombers as they made their second attack against Europe in two days and the third Allied assault against battered St. Nazaire.

"They attacked us right after we got off the channel," said Capt. J. W. Carter of Lawton, Okla., pilot of a Fortress called "Carter and His Little Pals."

The crew came back feeling that they had done a hard day's work after dropping their bombs on the target. Their plane carried an armament of .50s in the noses, wings, fuselages and propellers as evidence of heavy fighting. But individual casualties appeared to have been light.

German planes, taking advantage of bright moonlight, fired their heaviest night raiding in several weeks, bombing scattered areas in southwestern England and South Wales last night. At least three enemy bombers were destroyed.

A few raiders visited the South Wales coastal area for the first time this year, and dropped high explosives and flares over the town and the surrounding district.

Preliminary reports say there were a number of casualties and several houses were demolished.

Several enemy planes made widely scattered raids in England, bombing and machine-gunning a number of small towns and other areas in the western part of the country.

The first raid in combating this Wilson week was for the consumers to refrain from buying illegally slaughtered and illegal meat.

Meanwhile, Food Administrator W. C. Wilson, in his capacity as Administrator of Civilian Defense, has signed a "memorandum of understanding" dividing authority on rationing of food among the planes is moving power of engines.

The experimental aircraft, of which Wilson is president, has been called on the battlefield to combat illegal markets in meat.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. (AP)—There will be no parking places for black market leaders, called on the battlefield to combat illegal markets in meat.

Black market leaders, who are becoming an extremely serious problem for the entire industry and the public, are threatening adequate supplies for all Americans.

The first raid in combating this Wilson week was for the consumers to refrain from buying illegally slaughtered and illegal meat.

Meanwhile, Food Administrator W. C. Wilson, in his capacity as Administrator of Civilian Defense, has signed a "memorandum of understanding" dividing authority on rationing of food among the planes is moving power of engines.

The agreement was described officially as intended to keep the public working arrangements between the Agriculture Department Food Administration and the Office of Price Administration for rationing of scarce commodities.

It clears the way for possible expansion of the list of food to be rationed. The department wanted only those that supplied many civilian foods and did not threaten to meet demands and to cast additional rationing at pre-war pre-rationing levels of consumption.

Wickard, who also is Secretary of Agriculture, signed food and meat sealing the bargain.

The pact is expected to clear up many civilian and military uncertainties as to responsibility for the rationing programs.

The order delegates to the OPA authority to (1) establish specific controls over distribution and allocation of food; (2) to fix maximum quantities of food to be rationed; (3) to establish the value of coupon used in the point rationing; and (4) charge the value of coupon on all foods as the occasion requires.

It vests in the Agriculture Department's Food Administration authority to (1) determine the need for, the time and extent of civilian food rationing; (2) determine allowances which may be necessary because of differences between various groups because of health conditions of work, health and other factors; (3) authority to fix quotas of raw commodities to be rationed for individual processors, and (4) direct distribution of non-rationed foods to all users.

The agreement is regarded as confirming official relations between Brown and Wickard. In contrast with Wickard and former Price Administrator Leo Henderson.

Checkers may be sent either to General Headquarters or to O.P.A. headquarters, the former stated.

CRIMINAL MURDERED

ATLANTA, Feb. 17. (AP)—Forrest Erving, 20, faced with the "most wanted" criminals of the country, was beaten to death in a bar at Talmadge's, this early morning, police sources officials disclosed today. A fellow prisoner, Edward W. Wilson, 17, was ordered to contribute to the party, he stated.

He is serving a life sentence for the killing of his wife, Mrs. H. C. Wilson, 45, in a fall down a flight of steps early this month.

His brother, Lt. Commander George Murphy, a navy flier, suffered a broken back and heel in a fall down a flight of steps early this month.

No Program Planned For Washington Day In January Drops

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 17. (AP)—Florida's traffic death toll in January 11, 1943, dropped to 58 last month, from 70 recorded for January of last year.

The death toll included 18 United States service men. Three of them were killed in one accident. Five civilian workmen were killed in one truck collision near Starkie, Fla.

State Patrol reported 27 of the fatalities occurred in rural areas and 11 in urban areas. There were 29 fatal accidents.

Daval and Bradford Counties, with seven deaths each, led the State, followed by Hillsborough, Dade and Clay with three each.

Sanford Cagers In Hot Battle Again Upset Seabreeze

The Seminole High basketball team again trimmed the Seabreeze, this time by a score of 30 to 21, upsetting the losing "sloggers" hopes of getting even. The game was played in the home gym yesterday afternoon.

Coach Russell McCracken had carefully groomed his lads for the occasion, and, according to Coach Leonard McLucas, they put up stiff competition. Warren Daniels, Pete Brock and Robert E. Lee, however, got the range and lobbed their shots with the accuracy of a metronome.

Aided by Fleming and Dekker, both of whom excelled, the invasion of the boys from the coast was stopped cold.

This afternoon, the Seminole quint will invade Tavares, and in the evening take on Kissel, where it is believed they will meet stiff opposition.
