SWAT team stages training

SANFORD — If you saw shadows moving about in the Seminole County Courthouse Thursday night, you weren't seeing ghosts. The Seminole County Sheriff's SWAT team was staging a training session in the building to familiarize new members with the layout of the building, said team leader, Capt. Marty Lubrusciano. Lubrusciano said the training sessions are held periodically in various county buildings to acquaint the Special Weapons and Tactical team members with building layouts in the case they are called in for an emergency. The 18-member team began the session at about 5 p.m. with an overview of the four-story building from county Facilities Maintenance officials. The team then travelled to the courthouse for about three hours of training, Lubrusciano said. The training did include some event staging, but no mock scenarios, he said.

Sheriff creates bicycle squad to whip neighborhood crime

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Take a close look at the bicyclist zipping through your neighborhood, he may be packing a pistol.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Department has formed a special tactical squad that will be placed in neighborhoods where crime problems could develop or have already gotten a grip. One of the key resources the seven-man team will use is specially-equipped bicycles that will enable the team to move about in a neighborhood quickly and less obtrusively.

"We will use whatever tool is available to us to get as big an impact as possible," said Sgt. Jack Cash, who will lead the team. "A bicycle is one of our tools. It will be one facet of a multi-pronged attack."

Cash said the seven bicycles, which are on order, will be equipped with special tires, suspension and seats to enable the deputies to quickly pursue suspects along smooth streets and sidewalks, down bumpy trails and through yards. The bikes can be easily hoisted over a fence for the pursuit, he said.

The basic bikes cost about $500 each, Cash said. The total cost to for the bikes, equipments and special uniforms will be about $1,000. The uniforms haven't been ordered, Cash said. They will feature safety helmet and riding shoes. Cash said the clothing will be short-sleeved and short-panted, but the deputies will still be easily recognizable as law officers.

"We want to show people who we are," Cash said. "We can be covert by picking our spots, but we'll remain overt by our clothing and attire."

"Before, people up to something had to look for the profile of a squad car which is easy to spot."

Names make 'The News'

Memories, memories! So many of you folks tell us "I remember when..." or "I remember him or her."

We recall our old Herald editor, Roland Dean, preaching, "names make news." Today we're going to toss 68 names at you. Some of them bring back memories. You might even see your own name.

How many of you recall being at the Seminole High School (on French Avenue, then) the night of March 31, 1944. Come on, now, think! Concentrate! It was only 47 years ago! Oh, you do, eh?

Then you remember the occasion. It was the SHS Glee Club's presentation of Gilbert & Sullivan's "HMS Pinafore."

What a performance they tell us that was! No, we weren't there. Our Army unit was in England skid-loading and shipping ammunition to ports such as Chelsea, Cardiff, Bristol, etc., getting ready for the D-Day invasion of France. But we heard enough about it to warrant this story.

Let's look at the leading players. Neil Powell had the role of Sir Joseph Porter (First Lord of the Admiralty). Powell, now a long time and highly respected Orlando dental surgeon, for many years was a panelist on the long running WDBO (now WCPX) Sunday evening TV show called "Florida Showcase." And, who else in Sanford could have played the role of Captain Coreoran than Dick Alken (who was not a student). Bob Crumley was Able Seaman Rackstraw and Bob Callahan was Dick Deadeye, M.L. "Sonny" Raborn (who later served as Sanford's mayor) played Bill Bobstay. Wayne Rucker was Bob Beckett. Lucy Ward played the captain's daughter, Josephine. And Bobbette Beard was Sir Joseph's cousin. Mildred "Bouffie" Robson had the role of "Little Buttercup (a Portsmouth Bumboat Woman."

As many of you know, in real life the "Bumboat Woman" married "Bill Bobstay."

Among those who played Sir Joseph's "sisters, cousins and aunts" were Evelyn Matthews, Roberta Evans, Nancy Column (who See Stenstrom, Page 5A

Sanford landmark school building hosts reunion and its last hurrah

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — There was a party going on at Sanford Middle School on Saturday.

And it's the last one that will take place in the school which was built as Seminole High School in 1927.

The facility, located at 1700 French Ave., which some say has outlived its usefulness, will be torn down next month to reveal a new school which has been under construction behind it for over two years.

"There are a lot of good memories in this old place," said Roy Wright, who was president of the class of 1936 and quarterback of the Celery Feds football team in those days. "But I think the old building has outlived its usefulness and the new buildings will hold some new memories for people."

LAKE MARY — The models aren't professionals and the fashions are not Paris couture, yet parents, students and teachers at Lake Mary High School line up for a seat at this fashion show every year.

"I wouldn't miss this for the world," said principal Don Smith of the sixth annual fashion show presented by the special education sewing class, which took place on Friday afternoon.

Laurie Louwsma, who teaches the educable and trainable mentally handicapped (EMH and TMI) students to sew, said that while some of the students are very nervous about performing, they always seem to have a good time once the show begins.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Gardner, 9 legislators charged

From Staff and Wire Reports

TALLAHASSEE — Ten current or former state legislators were charged Friday with second-degree misdemeanors for accepting gifts and trips to sometimes exotic locales from lobbyists and failing to disclose them.

House Speaker T.K. Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach, and Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Winston "Bud" Gardner, D-Thurstonville — two of the most prominent lawmakers — were among those charged.

Gardner, who represents Seminole County, was not available for comment.

Also charged was Sen. Pat Thomas, D-Quincy, the front-runner to become Senate president in 1992.

The charges filed by State Attorney Willie Meggs state that each of the 10 failed to report trips and gifts from 1985-88 that were paid for by others, mostly high-powered Capitol lobbyists. Depending on the year, it was a violation not to report gifts worth more than $25 or $100.

Assistant State Attorney Dennis Valente said the lawmakers were only the first of up to 30 that could be charged in the next few weeks.

"The investigation is continuing," he said.

Each count is punishable by fines of up to $500 and 60 days in jail, and court appearances were scheduled for June 18 and June 20. Attorneys for five of those charged said prosecutors have offered lawmakers a chance to plead to a count, pay a fine of between $250 and $500 — plus $75 in court costs — and walk away.

The Legislature, partly as an outgrowth of the 18-month Meggs investigation, has since outlawed acceptance of most gifts and trips worth more than $100 from lobbyists and political action committees.

Wetherell, who has said he does not plan to contest the charges, was named in three counts: two 1987 hunting trips to Alabama and New Mexico and a 1988 football game between Florida State University and Tulane University in New Orleans that was attended by numerous lawmakers who traveled by bus.

Mark Heron, a Tallahassee attorney who is representing Wetherell, Thomas and two others charged Friday, said these four generally want to pay fines and end the case.

"This group would like to move forward and get this thing behind them," Heron said.

Heron also represents Sen. Malcolm Board, R-DeFender, and former Rep. Carl Carpenter, D-Pleasant City, as well as others who may yet be charged.

Redistricting stimulates money

TALLAHASSEE — Members of the U.S. House, worried over redistricting, are channeling money to state lawmakers who will redraw congressional boundaries.

"Nobody looks forward to having a new district, and nobody looks forward to having to run against a seated incumbent," said U.S. Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Tampa. "So I guess people are pulling out all stops."

Gibbons gave nearly $30,000 to legislative candidates last year. But he faces little danger from redistricting and says he traditionally has donated money to state legislative candidates because "it's a little easier for me to raise money than for them."

Twenty-two states are either gaining or losing House seats as a result of the 1990 census. Florida is gaining four seats.

The pressure is particularly intense in states that are losing congressional seats because the falling population will push incumbents into the same districts.

Abuse registry workers overworked

TALLAHASSEE — A state audit showed that workers who handle the state's registry for complaints of abuse suffered by children, the elderly and the disabled are overworked and undertrained.

The lack of training and heavy workload for the counselors at the Florida Protective Services System, a part of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, means that some abuse victims don't get the help they need, the audit released Friday said.

In fact, the office of Auditor General Charles L. Lester found that 25 percent of the counselors surveyed said they wouldn't accept sample allegations "that contained clear indicators of abuse and neglect."

Smith's trial date set after innocent plea

WEST PALM BEACH — A judge set an Aug. 5 trial date for William Kennedy Smith to face rape charges after he declared his innocence before a court packed with reporters.

However, a series of motions — including one asking that his case be dismissed — will be filed before that, his attorneys said.

They estimated it could take two weeks to seat a jury for the trial. And since Smith's attorneys claim his right to a fair trial has been jeopardized by prejudicial publicity, a change of venue for the trial might also be possible.

Smith, a 30-year-old nephew of U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., pleaded innocent Friday to the second-degree sexual battery and misdemeanor battery counts against him.

Florida law didn't require Smith to be present for his arraignment, but he told reporters he flew to West Palm Beach from his Washington home because "obviously, this trial is the most important thing in my life."

Rolling named prime suspect in murders

GAINESVILLE — A Louisiana man named as the prime suspect in the grisly slayings of five college students was competent when he pleaded guilty last year to robbing a grocery store in an unrelated case, a judge decided.

Danny Rolling has been under investigation for the past six months in the student killings last August, but hasn't been charged in that case. The 37-year-old Shreveport, La., man has been jailed since he pleaded guilty to the Sept. 7 armed robbery of a grocery store in Ocala.

Two court-appointed psychologists testified at an Ocala hearing that, while Rolling might be psychotic at times, they believe he is probably faking or exaggerating his symptoms, which jail records show include reports of visits by demons.

Because of Friday's competency ruling, Rolling will likely be sentenced this month for the robbery, Ocala Assistant State Attorney Reginald Black said he will seek life in prison under state sentencing guidelines because Rolling is considered a habitual offender.

Recession breeds big delinquent taxes list

By GARY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Delinquent property taxes assessed by the state's counties are at their highest level in a decade in Florida, but that doesn't mean schools and vital services will go bankrupt.

"It's the highest I've ever seen," said Harry F. Knight, tax collector in Monroe County. "I think the economy and the country has tightened up because the middle class bears the brunt of taxes — and that money gets all used up."

Knight's region, the Florida Keys, has the highest property values in the state, and he said the list of property taxes that weren't paid by the April 1 deadline was 12 percent higher than last year.

His experience was mirrored across the state as people made difficult financial choices to deal with the economic downturn. In Hillsborough County, for example, Chief Assistant Tax Collector Fred Martin said the list was 15 percent higher, while Brevard County's is 18 percent higher, said tax supervisor Van Steburg.

"Everybody says we're in a recession. What that means is that some people are not going to pay their taxes," said Roy Grissett, chief of the Revenue Department's Bureau of Collections and Enforcement.

"You're going to buy groceries as opposed to paying your real-estate taxes," he said.

Grissett, a 23-year veteran of the department, said this year's delinquency rates are the highest since 1981 when mortgage loan interest rates were sky-high.

Florida's property taxes mean big bucks to county and local governments and school boards. The total net assessed value of property in the Sunshine State is $469.5 billion — and the taxable value after exemptions is a shade over $396 billion, according to the Revenue Department.

Higher delinquency rates could threaten the financial stability of many local governments if it weren't for a system ensuring that 97 percent of all property taxes are eventually paid.

County says property tax sale success

By JAMES BARRETT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Tax Collector Ray Valdez was pleased with the outcome of three days of delinquent property tax certificate sales this week.

Virtually all of the $8.1 million in unpaid property taxes will be received in about two weeks, Valdez said. The taxes will be distributed to the county, water management district and any cities owed the money.

"It went real well," Valdez said. "It was a real good investment for people."

Deputy Tax Collector Theresa Stelling said based on preliminary information, 4,586 of the over 4,600 delinquent tax bills were paid by investors this week. Slightly more than $6 million was pledged. Last year, 4,052 tax certificates were sold, producing over $5.2 million, she said.

During the three-day sale last week, delinquent tax bills were auctioned to the person or group offering the lowest interest rate at 18 percent or below. Successful bidders agree to pay the delinquent taxes, a 3 percent penalty and a 5 percent tax collector's commission within about 10 days. They were required to pay a 10 percent deposit in advance in order to bid, Valdez said.

Valdez said the lowest interest rate successfully bid last week was 12 1/2 percent, compared to average certificate of deposit rates of about 7 percent. Most averaged 14 to 17 percent, with some at the 18 percent ceiling.

In return, the tax certificate holders receive all of the money they paid out, including the penalty and commission when the property owners decide to pay.

Judge upholds town's two-clerk ordinance

Associated Press

DELAND — Saying there's safety in numbers, a judge upheld a town ordinance requiring two clerks on night duty at convenience stores.

"It strikes me that convenience store folks are more concerned that the cost of robberies is less than the cost of paying for two clerks late at night," Circuit Judge John Doyle said after reading studies submitted as evidence in the non-jury trial

Friday.

The case pitted the town of Pierson against Miller Enterprises, which owns two convenience stores in Pierson.

"The economic analysis is the motivation for the plaintiff's (Miller's) case," Doyle said. Much of the evidence focused on studies indicating two clerks on duty at night was a crime deterrent.

The judge agreed with Town Attorney Noah McKinnon that Pierson had the right to enact the law.

He disagreed with company attorney Allen Watts that requiring the Miller Enterprises to provide two clerks was taking private property for a public purpose.

Miller Enterprises, based in Crescent City, owns 32 stores in Volusia County and about 130 stores statewide.

Ed Thomas, company director of governmental relations, said he was disappointed but added the employee-owned business is committed to the safety of its clerks and customers.

Pierson's 1988 ordinance required two clerks to be on duty in businesses operating between 8 p.m. and 4 a.m.

The law was enacted less than six months after a 22-year-old clerk was shot twice in the head during a robbery attempt at one of the town's convenience stores.

The company contested the ordinance in August 1989, but the town re-adopted the measure in December 1989.

Lake Mary chiropractor arrested; fraud alleged

By VERA BUCHHEIM
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Lois M. Somerville, 38, of 816 Silverwood Dr. in Lake Mary, was arrested on Friday afternoon and charged with eight counts of insurance fraud and one count of organized fraud.

Somerville is a chiropractor who runs the Advanced Chiropractic Clinic, 641 W. Lake Mary Blvd., Suite 131 in the Publix shopping center in Lake Mary.

According to George Proeschel, public information officer for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, the arrest came after a nine-month investigation by the Florida Department of Professional Regulation.

"They have been working on this almost a full year," he said, "including some undercover work."

According to the warrant for her arrest, Somerville allegedly submitted claims to insurance companies for services not rendered or equipment not delivered to patients and for submitting fraudulent invoices to insurance companies.

"In some of the cases," Proeschel said, "she resubmitted invoices that had been rejected by the insurance companies in the name of another doctor."

The fraudulent invoices were submitted in the name of Medical Alternatives of Lake Mary, a facility which does not really exist, authorities said.

According to Proeschel, the charge of organized fraud indicates that the insurance fraud with which the defendant is charged was not an isolated case. It, therefore, carries a stiffer penalty.

The charges involve cases of fraud which took place between October 1989 and December of 1990.

According to Proeschel, the Seminole County Sheriff's Office was involved only in drawing up the warrants and in arresting Somerville.

"We had nothing to do with the extensive investigation," he said.

Two Reasons For Getting A Barnett Home Equity Loan That Have Nothing In Common.

As many of you probably already know, the tax laws have changed. And as of January 1991, the interest on most personal loans is no longer deductible.

Just about the only personal interest that is deductible is that which you pay on your home.*

That's where a Barnett Home Equity Loan comes in. Not only do you get a loan with tax deductibility, you also get one that's very flexible. You can use it to pay for a car, a boat, a vacation or tuition.

You can even use the funds to make certain investments or consolidate other loans into just one payment.

That's not all. Now through July 15, Barnett will pay the closing costs associated with the loan.** That can save you hundreds of dollars right from the start.

To make things easier, have your loan payment automatically deducted from your checking or savings account. For recurring borrowing needs, ask about Barnett's Home Equity CreditLine.

To receive a Home Equity Loan application by mail, call 1-800-825-6800 or personally pick one up at your local Barnett office. See how a couple of things that have nothing in common can actually save you money.

*Subject to certain important qualifications, generally, interest paid on home secured loans is tax deductible. Please consult with your individual tax advisor for the tax consequences of any Barnett loan.
**Offer applies only to Home Equity Loans. Normal closing costs apply to other mortgage finance programs. Offer expires July 15, 1991. All Barnett Banks are insured by the FDIC. © 1991 Barnett Banks, Inc.

Testing is important

Should there be a voluntary nationwide test to measure academic achievement among students in American schools?

President Bush and Education Secretary Lamar Alexander believe there should be. So does Lynne Cheney, chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities. She points to other industrialized countries which use national tests to set higher standards for students.

Not surprisingly, this progressive idea is opposed by much of the educational establishment, which seems to have a reflexive aversion to greater public accountability.

Some critics contend a national performance-based exam would be a step toward a curriculum dictated by Washington. They also warn that test results would be used by the federal government to make unfair comparisons between American schools and those in other countries.

What really worries some test critics is that the results would document the weaknesses of an education system that is performing well below those of other industrialized democracies.

The current yardstick that measures American educational achievement is the Scholastic Aptitude Test. This abstract examination scrupulously avoids testing specific knowledge.

A far better measure of student achievement is the Advanced Placement test, which is comparable to the exams used in Germany and Japan. Yet the AP test, which demonstrates whether students can organize and express their thoughts clearly, is taken by only about 7 percent of American students.

Unlike aptitude tests, achievement exams convey the message that specific knowledge is important and hold students and teachers accountable for what is learned and taught.

The voluntary national achievement test proposed by President Bush is not something to be feared. Rather, it would be a more reliable means to assess the strengths and weaknesses of the nation's schools.

Even if a nationwide test never becomes fashionable, at the least, individual school districts should give serious consideration to a cumulative test as a requirement for graduation.

Pay attention to waste

As one of your readers, I want to urge you in the strongest terms possible to increase your coverage of the fact that for every new dollar that Congress has raised this year in new taxes it has increased spending by $1.78. As "Reader's Digest" reported, the budget and new taxes are a "hoax."

To put it bluntly, last year Congress conned the American people and the news media. They told us we should go along with their "deficit reduction package" which included tax increases for every American because we had to get the deficit under control. But in the end, they just wanted to take more of our income in taxes.

In the name of deficit reduction, they enacted the second largest tax increase ever and then turned right around and increased spending by $111 billion — pushing the deficit to a new record.

It was the clearest case ever of false advertising. And, as they demonstrated when they destroyed Gramm-Rudman and the other controls on spending, Congress never intended to reduce the deficit or control wasteful spending.

Tragically, the American people and the news media bought the "this budget agreement will reduce the deficit" story hook, line and sinker. And now we are paying the price in higher taxes and higher deficits. I urge you to expand your coverage and report important facts such as:

1. Congress enacted the second largest tax increase in history;
2. Congress increased spending by $111 billion;
3. Congress enlarged the deficit by $100 billion to an all-time record of $320 billion for FY 1991 alone;
4. Congress pushed the national debt to a new record and increased the annual interest payment on the debt to a staggering $254 BILLION; and,
5. Congress destroyed the Gramm-Rudman Deficit Reduction Act and all other effective controls on future congressional wasteful spending.

As Citizens Against Government Waste has pointed out repeatedly, we have this skyrocketing deficit today not because of the recession but because Congress refuses to stop its reckless spending. Unless we get Congress' runaway taxes and wasteful deficit spending under control we will all be in very, very serious trouble very soon. I urge you to give more coverage to this all-important story. Thank you.

Detention ruling won't hit hard here

Sanford's Chief of Police, Steve Hoover, downplayed the impact of the Supreme Court's 48-hour ruling. In essence, the Supreme Court merely ruled that a person may be held for 48 hours before a determination is made relative to the person's future placement.

In Sanford County, judges rotate on a weekly basis and are not available every day. The judge always presides over probable cause cases and if the person is to be charged.

The 48-hour ruling was probably made to accommodate urban centers that have a higher incidence of criminal activity and more acute manpower shortages, particularly with law enforcement officers. The criminal justice system is being given more flexibility to deal with the challenge. The Court was indicating that 48 hours is not an unreasonable amount of time for a person to be held.

This doesn't happen in Seminole County because "first appearances" occur daily.

The Chief described what happens if a person is arrested by the Sanford police. He or she may be brought to the police station and placed in the holding cell until fingerprinting, picture taking and paperwork is transferred to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility. The facility's name was recently changed in honor of retired Sheriff Polk.

After the person appears before the judge and it is determined that probable cause exists, depending on the charges, the person may be released on bond. Most arrests here are bondable. The judge has the option of releasing the person on bail, reducing or increasing the bail, or releasing a person on their own recognizance.

If the person is tried, found guilty and sentenced to less than 300 days, he may spend his jail sentence at the John E. Polk facility. If the sentence is greater than a year they are transferred to the Lake Butler Reception Center. If the crime is very serious, he is sent to Sanford, the state's maximum security prison. All death row prisoners are held at Sanford; the electric chair is there.

When a juvenile, a youngster 17 years old and under, is arrested, he is processed at the police station and released to his parents. If the circumstances surrounding the arrest warrant were stringent measures, the juvenile is transferred to the Juvenile Detention Center (J.D.C.). Health and Rehabilitative Services operates the J.D.C.

DUI cases are handled in accordance with strict sentencing guidelines. A person with four or more DUI arrests is charged with a third degree felony and given a maximum of five years. DUI violation that caused death is a second degree felony with a maximum of 15 years. The reality is that about 20% of the maximum sentence is what is actually served. For every day a person is incarcerated and doesn't cause a problem, he earns a day gain time, this permits him to be released earlier.

Probably the single most salient concern of law enforcement officers is the bail system. The average person re-arrested may be out on bail with two to three trials pending. This does nothing to generate respect for the law. The person knows he can post bail and be released, unless the charges involve the death of another person.

Statewide, crime statistics for 1990 reveal that violent crime in Florida escalated 10% over 1989. The majority of the violent crimes in this area are committed by our indigenous population and are drug related. The way the drug laws are written mitigate against their being as helpful as they might be. For example, if a person is arrested with 28 grams of cocaine, he is considered a trafficker and charged with committing a felony while a person with under 28 grams is considered a possessor. For marijuana, the amounts are 30 and under 20 grams that dictate whether you are a felon. Relative to the higher crime rate the economy is a double-edged sword. There is more crime and less money in the budget to combat it.

Government gagging doctors

BOSTON — If there is any doubt about how abortion has reshuffled the political deck, consider this. A conservative majority on the Supreme Court on Thursday delivered up a conservative's nightmare. They declared that anyone who takes money from the government must give something back: the party line.

To put it succinctly, the government that pays your rent can buy your speech. Anyone who works in one of the 4,000 federally-funded clinics that provide family planning to four million poor American women is now forbidden from using the "A" word.

Today if a patient asks about abortion, her doctor is legally required to act like a good government puppet. He or she must pull out the federal script and read: "The project does not consider abortion an appropriate method of family planning."

If the patient persists and asks for a referral, there are more scripts. Her doctor or provider has to refer her for prenatal care to those who "do not perform abortions."

This is the real-life effect of the Supreme Court ruling in a case that came to court bearing the name of Dr. Irving Rust, the medical director of a Planned Parenthood Family-planning clinic in the South Bronx. A soft-spoken, Harlem-raised physician, Dr. Rust had worked since 1981 with the guidelines that forbid use of federal funds to perform abortions. But in 1989, when the Reagan administration wrote a set of regulations for Title X that banned even talking about abortion, he balked.

As Dr. Rust said last fall, what was at stake was the relationship between a doctor and a patient, the ability to talk freely and honestly. "If a woman came in with cancer of the ovary and there were three methods of treatment," he explained as an analogy, "Could I tell her the government says that chemotherapy is THE treatment, no matter what I think?"

This was the argument that seemed to worry the newest Justice, David Souter, when the case was heard in court. "You are telling us the physician cannot perform his usual professional responsibility," said Souter. "You are telling us (the government) in effect may preclude professional speech."

But in the end, Souter cast the tie-breaking vote to form a 5-4 majority. In the first, chilling indication of how he votes on the subject of abortion, Souter went with Justice Rehnquist. And Justice Rehnquist went with the government.

These rules, wrote the Chief Justice, weren't meant to inhibit the doctor's point of view but to promote the government's "value judgment favoring childbirth over abortion." The regulations weren't made to "gag" health care providers but to "simply ensure that appropriate funds are not used for activities, including speech, that are outside the federal program's scope."

In one scaring if subconscious comparison, Rehnquist showed just how political the court's own judgments have become. Funding speech about family planning but not abortion was, he wrote, like funding a center for promoting democracy. The government doesn't also have to promote "competing lines of political philosophy such as Communism and Fascism."

All this smacks more than vaguely of arguments over funding for the arts. Does the government only fund along political lines? If you're on the payroll, do you still have the right to say what you believe or know?

What is a question of medical treatment for Dr. Rust and his patients is a matter of political philosophy for Justice Rehnquist and his majority. What is a concrete crisis in the lives of poor women becomes a wonderful abstraction in the words of the Justices.

Abortion rights supporters, who are learning the hard way not to depend on the court will press Congress to change the regulations. There is a bill wending its way through the Senate that would reverse the guidelines and allow doctors to once again tell a poor woman all her legal options.

But as it stands today, clinics can either take the hush money or cut their services. Doctors can choose between government-prescribed service to poor patients, or leaving the clinics. And poor patients will face another hurdle in a double-standard health care system.

Wasn't it the conservatives who always told us to worry about the long arm of the government?

If it's uncomfortable in the examining room at the clinic these days, that's because the government has moved in and put a firm hand over the doctor's mouth.

Rep. Traficant calls 'em as he sees 'em

WASHINGTON — He publicly calls members of Congress prostitutes. He says they don't own their vote. He says the Congress is too big, that half the members should pack their suitcases. He claims that if Americans really knew how their government was being run there would be a "revolution!"

Meet Rep. James Traficant, D-Ohio. Since his election in 1984, he has crashed one of the chummiest clubs in the world: the U.S. Congress.

He is a populist, a rebel with a thousand causes — but also one who speaks his mind. In the more lenient days of the House's past, Traficant might have blended in with a pack of establishment bastards. He wouldn't have turned so many heads with his foul mouth, messy hair and cowboy boots.

To his critics, he is loud and hysterical. But even some of his colleagues who abhor his style acknowledge that Traficant may be in tune with how Americans really regard their government. Many of his Youngstown, Ohio, constituents think he would make a fine president.

Traficant represents a forgotten region of America, a region once dotted by factories and smokestacks, but now a graveyard of closed-down mills. His protest in Congress has been a continuous filibuster delivered in 60 second bursts. Every member of Congress is entitled under the rules to one-minute speeches on anything. Traficant is seldom tongue-tied.

"I find it highly suspicious when the American people know more about the political views of Captain Kangaroo than they do about the man who may next serve on the Supreme Court of this nation!"

"The American people are taxed off! They are fed up with income taxes, sales taxes, property taxes, boat taxes, goat taxes, vote taxes. Now the president wants to tax their smoke, tax their snuff. What next, ladies and gentlemen? Will Congress tax sex in America?"

Traficant's detractors on Capitol Hill call him a clown, funny at best. They claim he's ineffective to the point of being a sideshow. They accuse him of being a demagogue, of exploiting populist rage. But almost everybody listens to him, which is more than can be said for most members and their sterile sound bites.

One senator told Traficant that he uses some of Traficant's wacky speaking techniques to improve his speeches. Other members admit Traficant has attained a certain grudging respect, if not affection, among his colleagues. Rep. Mary Rose Oakar, D-Ohio, said she has "enjoyed an excellent working relationship" with Traficant since he came to Congress. Rep. Walter Jones, D-N.C., chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, told us he disagrees with people who say Traficant isn't held in high regard.

He's achieved a certain amount of popularity, Jones said. The senior congressman noted Traficant's "sincere approach to his job. Sometimes he agonizes over every vote."

Traficant did not miss one of the House's 992 votes last year. Only 5 percent of the nation's members of Congress can make such a boast.

Traficant champions "Buy American" amendments with passion, and has successfully tacked them onto government spending bills. Others before him have tried but failed. When our associate Jim Lynch recently interviewed Traficant, the Ohioan pointed angrily at the phone on his desk and declared: "The only part of that phone that's still made in America is the spring cord!"

He is a populist, a rebel with a thousand causes.

Many of the items in the display had been removed from a time capsule that was removed from the cornerstone of the old building on Friday.

Issues of the "Sanford Herald" and the "Sanford Morning Signal" from June 1924 were on display. An issue of the "Celery Fed" school newspaper from the 1950s was also shown.

"Oh, I wish we could take those out and look at them," said Jane Thornton of Deltona, who didn't want to say what year she graduated.

"I want to try on that helmet," chimed in her husband Dave who did not graduate from the school, but said he was interested in seeing the school that his wife had talked so much about.

"She talks about this place all the time," he said. "I just had to see it for myself."

In the new school cafeteria, more than 500 people from the classes of 1927 through 1990 gathered at long tables festooned with bright stalks of celery and orange and black balloons to eat a spaghetti dinner prepared by the lunchroom staff.

The school's jazz band entertained.

Small pieces of the gymnasium's wooden floor were on sale for three dollars apiece. Many alumni were buying the mementos.

Elizabeth Shoemaker Lynch, who lives in Sanford, was a member of the class of 1927, was also a math teacher at the school in the 1930s and 1940s.

"I've seen a lot of my old students here today, but they all looked so much older," she laughed.

Margaret Sprout Green, another member of the class of 1927, was unhappy about the impending destruction of a piece of Seminole County history.

"It should be preserved," she said.

The Celery Feds concluded the day-long reunion with a dance at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

the clothes in the class. Her black bicycle pants and colorful blouse took almost nine weeks to complete.

"I like to make clothes" she said. "I like learning how to do it."

The fashion show concluded with peer counselors and students making a final curtain call hand in hand.

"These kids and their peer counselors do so much for each other," Louwama said. "They help each other learn."

Naturally, these names will evoke some sad thoughts, too. For example, Dick Aiken (of Arthur Godfrey fame) is no longer with us. We're told that one of the toughest jobs in connection with the presentation was that of the property managers. All the elaborate costumes and props were supplied by a company in Boston and required minute attention to details and care.

It was, we're informed, a night to remember. And, a standing room only crowd jammed the old SHS auditorium which in a few weeks will no longer exist.

SHS, as we old timers know it way back when, was completed in the fall of 1936. But it was not used for classes until January, 1937. The entire building at that time cost $245,000. The new building replacing it will cost $6 million.

But the school was used even by the people of Sanford before the first class was ever held in the new building.

If those names don't bring memories to mind of old Sanford families, how about those Glee Club members who played the "leaders."

They were Betty Matthews, Clarence Grantham, Dorothy Morrison, Dorothy Crumley, Ed Ward, Sylvia Neisch, Ralph Cranston, Herman "Foots" Brunley and Leroy Hoge.

The director was Ruth Jackson, the accompanist was Catherine Clark and the dance advisor was Carey Meekins. Business managers were Shirley Eich, Mary Helen Tew and Dorothy Lyons. Property managers were Frank Robinson, Martha Brown and Dorothy Lyons. Elsie McWhorter, Helen Hickson, Sallie Morrison and Dorothy Clark. Lighting technicians included Milton Sacket, Robert Geiger and Orrie Mattheux. Make-up directors were teachers Betty Miller and Rebecca Stevens. Among the ushers were Barbara Whitmore, Nancy Williams, Jane Gleason, Harriet Matthews, Georgia Hutchins, Mildred Mattheux, Viola Alexander, Phyllis Allen, Doris Dunn and Audrey Toll.

What memories of the families of these students come to mind? Naturally, these names will evoke some sad thoughts, too. For example, Dick Aiken (of Arthur Godfrey fame) is no longer with us. Neither is Ann Wiggins who later married former Sanford mayor Lee Moore. Mrs. Jackson, the musical's director, has since passed. We understand three others - Shirley Cameron, Har-

But the school was used even by the people of Sanford before the first class was ever held in the new building.

On September 18, an Atlantic hurricane smashed into south Florida. It claimed the lives of some 500 people and caused an estimated $150 million in damage. When the storm turned in the direction of Sanford the new high school's doors were opened to say and all who wanted to "ride it out" in what was then considered Sanford's strongest and safest structure.

The Olin Stenstrom family (of which we were a member) took pillows and blankets and spent the night with many others in the comparative safety of the new building.

In south Florida over 3,000 folks were injured and 80,000 rendered homeless. Local Florida National Guard units of the 194th Infantry spent some 10 days in the area. Dr. Charles Park, Sr., long time prominent Sanford physician, was the commanding officer of the regimental medical detachment, based at the local armory.

Cash said each deputy will be equipped with a radio and one team member may be equipped with a portable telephone.

"If we have a problem in a neighborhood, I'll give the number out to people in the area so if they see something, they can call us and we can respond quickly," Cash said. "We hope to be proactive, instead of reactive. If someone breaks into your home, a deputy comes out and takes a report. We want to be able to catch the guy before he breaks into your home."

Cash said the bikes will also be useful for special details, such as the Heathrow Arts Festival.

"A man is going to be a lot fresher at the end of the day if he's riding a bike than if he's on his feet," Cash said. "He's going to exert less energy to accomplish the same thing."

Cash said he will be attentive to providing biker deputies with

But Cash adds, the bikes are only one tool of the "bike team's arsenal against crime."

"If I have to go out a rent a 'Rent-a-Wreck' for the day to patrol and catch somebody, I will," he said.

Amy's life came to an abrupt end when someone drove drunk

Dear Amy,
I love you so much you were my favorite cousin. I used to like to play Nintendo. You are very beautiful. I miss you so much. Your room is so beautiful. I wish you could come back. # It's hurricane season here again

By Mike Pappas
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The official Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf hurricane season begins today and will run through Nov. 30. Although Seminole County has not been hit with a full size hurricane since 1979, officials at the National Weather Service in Melbourne say, of course, there is no way to know about 1991.

There have only been four storms with hurricane winds of 75 miles per hour or more traveling through Seminole County since 1960.

The big storm of that year was hurricane Donna. While it was not the largest storm nor the one with the highest winds, weather and civil defense officials will consider it as the most destructive. Hitting Seminole County with winds of 93 miles per hour, Donna caused what was considered as serious damage to 750 homes in the county. $750,000 initial storm damage was estimated in Sanford and

Gale force winds have lashed the Sanford-Lake Mary area. 90,000 in Longwood. The Seminole County Agricultural Agent at that time, Cecil Tucker, estimated over $1 million in crop and tree damage. Local area Red Cross officials reported housing over 700 persons. Schools in various parts of the county were shut down from three days to three weeks. The screen of the Movieband Drive in theater was brought to collapse. Following the storm, Lake Mary rose to such a level that water extended up to First Street in downtown Sanford. State Road 415 northeast of Sanford was closed for almost a week

Season's first storm 'Ana'

MIAMI — The first tropical storm in the 1991 Atlantic hurricane season will be named Ana.

The next storm to be christened Bob, Charley, Danny, Brian, Frances, Henri, Isabel, Juan, Kate, Larry, Mindy, Nicholas, Odette, Peter, Rose, Sam, Teresa, Victor and Wade.

"Watch" indicates weather conditions should be a serious concern. A "Warning" means that a severe weather pattern has been reported in the vicinity by a reliable source or indicated by radar.

The Seminole County Civil Defense office has a supply of various pamphlets, free of charge to individuals or groups, dealing with emergency procedures, or what to do in case of a tornado. They may be obtained by phoning Seminole County Emergency Management, 322-4795, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. A number of businesses also offer hurricane information.

Main hurricane shelters designated for Seminole

SANFORD — The Seminole County Emergency Management Director Ken Roberts, has announced the primary shelters to be made available in the county in case of a hurricane or other severe storm disaster.

These shelters, each of them schools, have been selected for use. Their total capacity would be 37,000 persons though Roberts said the devastation would have to be severe before all would be needed. Although the shelters are numbered 1 through 9, Roberts said, "That's not the order in which we would open them. The opening of the shelters would be based on the location of the problem area."

Schools officially designated as primary shelters include Labview Middle School and Hamilton Elementary for Sanford; Lake Mary High School for Lake Mary; Lynnwood High School in Longwood; Oviedo High School in Oviedo; Keith Elementary in Winter Springs; Lake Brantley High for Altamonte Springs; Geneva Elementary in Geneva and English Estates in Fern Park.

The largest shelter, at Lake Mary High School, has a potential capacity of 10,000 persons should the need arise. It is the only one of the nine locations with an emergency power generator. Each of the schools has a flood antenna which would allow receipt of emergency radio broadcasts during hurricanes or other severe weather emergencies. Each school also has cooking equipment except in Geneva and Lake Brantley.

"Should a weather emergency become evident," Roberts said, "we will issue as much information as possible about shelters or other emergency needs, as quickly as we can." He added that even though there are nine places classified as primary shelters for the entire Seminole County area, other shelters may also be needed.

How To Improve Your Home.

1. Think Before You Redo.

Consider the changes you'd like to make to your home. An updated kitchen. A remodeled bath. A larger master bedroom. Or maybe a deck. If your changes are few, remodeling is a great idea. But if they add up to completely redesigning your entire home, you might want to reconsider.

Here's a basic guideline: If the cost raises the value of your home more than 15% above the highest-valued homes in your neighborhood, you may want to reevaluate your improvement plans. If you do "overimprove," it could be difficult to recoup your full investment.

But then, resale value isn't the only issue. After all, you're the one who lives in your home. Any improvement may be worthwhile if you have no plans to sell. So use the 15% guideline to set a maximum budget. Then let your imagination take over. Think about the way you live in your home. What features make the most sense for your family?

List the specific things you want. Make your own rough sketches. Clip photos from magazines. Try to plan your improvement to blend with the style and character of your home.

And remember, the more homework you do, the easier it gets.

2. Be Prepared.

But no matter how much homework you do, it's still never easy. A major home improvement sometimes can be just as difficult as moving, take longer to finish and end up costing more. Many times, choosing the right remodeler makes all the difference.

Start by calling your local chapter of the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) or the National Association of Home Builders Remodelers Council (NAHB/RC). Your local Home Owners Warranty Corp. (HOW) Council can also make suggestions on participating home remodelers.

You should discuss the specifics of your job with at least three remodelers. Ask for references and inspect a few finished jobs firsthand. Choose the lowest bid only if you're convinced it provides quality materials and workmanship. (Make sure your contractor is insured, licensed and bonded. And don't make any decisions without first contacting the Better Business Bureau. They can give you a customer experience report on your contractor.)

Once you've selected a contractor, your written contract should spell out all the details of the job: total price,

It usually pays to call a professional. Always get at least three bids before you choose a remodeler.

3. Get The Right Loan.

NCNB can make financing the easiest part of your home improvement project. We offer a variety of loans at competitive rates with flexible terms. Just call the NCNB Loan Information Line. Our helpful representatives will answer your questions about any type of loan.

You can also call or stop by the NCNB nearest you and talk to a loan specialist. We'll guide you to the right loan, explain how much you can borrow and lock in your interest rate for up to 30 days. We also offer fast, convenient preapproval.

So let NCNB help get you started on your homework. Call our Loan Information Line, 1-800-ASK-NCNB, Monday through Friday 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. and Saturday 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Or you can simply call your local NCNB.

Seminole already allows alimony changes based on inflation rise

Staff and Wire Reports

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Supreme Court ruled last week that divorce is not inflation-proof.

A physician whose income has climbed since his divorce 16 years ago should pay more alimony because the cost of living has also climbed and his former wife needs more money, the state's high court said.

In Seminole County, Clerk of Circuit Court Maryanne Moore said, "We have cases like this all the time, with wives seeking alimony increases. This isn't anything new."

Moore said there were 3,870 divorce cases in Seminole County from March, 1980 to March, 1991. 144 divorce cases were filed in April of this year.

"Whether or not increases are approved depends on the individual circumstances of each case," she said. "Decisions are often based on whether or not the wife is capable of working, the age of the people involved, and many other considerations."

Circuit Judge Seymour Benson handles two-thirds of the divorce cases in Seminole County. "Inflation is always a matter of consideration," he said.

"Inflation could cause a divorced woman to need more alimony, but it would also cause the divorced man to require more money. The Supreme Court's case was apparently a matter of the husband's income increasing by more than the rate of inflation," Seymour said. "Inflation impacts both persons, and our court's alimony increase decisions have always been on an individual basis."

The State Supreme Court's decision came in the case of Diane and Robert Sedell of Dade County, who married in 1962. The couple first lived with her mother, who helped support them while he was in medical school.

The 3rd District Court of Appeal rejected Mrs. Sedell's argument that she should get more alimony because her former husband could afford to pay more. The appellate court said that first there had to be a substantial increase in her needs.

Southern Baptists convene

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Southern Baptists are looking forward to some of that old-time convention this week, when they convene without thousands of moderates after a trace of sorts in longtime internal bickering.

Faced with only token opposition at the annual meeting but the possibility of a schism, fundamentalists are seeking to rejuvenate the nation's largest Protestant denomination in a wave of patriotic fervor and revivalism.

A 40-by-60-foot American flag will be the backdrop when Oliver North, a central figure in the Iran-Contra scandal, kicks things off Monday in Atlanta with a speech preceding the convention.

President Bush, paying back the support he received from Southern Baptist leaders during the Persian Gulf War, is scheduled to address the final day of the meeting Thursday.

"It will feel to many of the people who are there like the good old days," said Nancy Ammerman, a sociologist at Emory University.

But even as one night of the convention is replaced by an actual revival, moderate-fundamentalist tensions that have dominated church politics since 1979 will not be far from the surface.

Thousands of moderate Southern Baptists who met last month in Atlanta to form their own fellowship decided against returning for the annual meeting.

Benefits of hormonal replacement

By FERNANDO TAPIA M.D.
Obstetrics/Gynecology

Women have been provided with a clock that begins ticking at birth.

The clock orders the ovaries to mature and start functioning somewhere between the ages of ten and sixteen. Then, once a month, one egg is released and becomes available for possible pregnancy.

Specialized cells produce the female hormones estrogen and progesterone. These hormones are responsible for most of the features of the adult woman and for the menstrual period. They cause the lining of the uterus to grow and mature every month.

This growth occurs until a critical point is reached and when this stage is completed, the lining, along with blood, falls. This process is repeated in cycles of approximately 28 days. If the person becomes pregnant, the lining remains in place to nourish the pregnancy.

Menopause, or commonly known as "the change of life," occurs, for most women, between the ages of 45 and 55. It marks the end of the woman's reproductive life. The ovaries have released all of their eggs and the production of female hormones decreases gradually becoming equal with the risk in men.

Most importantly, women can considerably decrease their risk of having heart attacks if they take estrogens.

-Fernando Tapia M.D.

In the perennial search for the fountain of youth, science has found more hope for women. It has been shown that women that replace their lost female hormones, particularly the estrogens, can prolong their younger years and postpone most of the unpleasant symptoms of the "change of life." But most importantly, women can considerably decrease their risk of having heart attacks if they take estrogens.

As women become more aware of these current issues, the proper medical counseling on the benefits and possible side effects of the female hormones should be obtained. This information can come from hospitals, clinics, or private physicians who can advise on how much and how often each hormone is needed and about other important health measures that must be emphasized at the age of menopause, like diet and exercise.

Fernando Tapia M.D. is an obstetrician/gynecologist with Altamonte Gynecological Associates, 315 SR 434, Longwood. He also has an office at 616 E. Altamonte Dr., Altamonte Springs.

The health column is provided as a community service by the Seminole County Medical Society. Inquiries may be directed to the medical society.

Medical society mini-Internship program pays a visit to South Seminole Community Hospital

LONGWOOD — South Seminole Community Hospital is participating in a mini-internship program that teams physicians and community leaders to help increase understanding and awareness of problems faced by doctors in today's health care environment, according to Diane Oatman, hospital marketing specialist.

Organized by the Seminole County Medical Society, the program will permit government officials and other community leaders to experience the day to day practice of medicine on the first hand basis, get better acquainted with the doctor/patient relationship, and see the efforts of physicians and hospitals at cost containment.

State Representative Frank Stone, of the 34th District; Jennifer Kelley, Seminole County commissioner and Sue Allbee, Seminole County Better Living for Seniors executive director, were the featured guests at SSCH program. The participants attend an orientation session and prepare to make rounds with a primary care physician, surgeon and a cardiologist.

Dr. Roy Dement, general surgeon; Dr. Jorge Gomez, cardiologist and Dr. Lewis Green, family practitioner, were accompanied by the community participants over a two day period. Physicians were selected by the Seminole County Medical Society.

"This is our third year in the program and it has been a proven asset to the physicians and community leaders," according to Ken Peach, director of marketing/physicians services at the hospital. "Walking a mile in a doctor's shoes has shown an improved communication and understanding of physician concerns."

The mini-internship program is arranged by the Seminole County Medical Society in cooperation with local physicians and three acute care hospitals, Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood, and Florida Hospital, Altamonte Springs.

Local companies bowl to beat Muscular Dystrophy

SANFORD — ERA Stenstrom Realty, Inc. recently held a bowling tournament to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Teams sponsored by Stenstrom Realty, Margaretten & Co., Chicago Title Insurance, State Farm Insurance and Stenstrom Stump Construction and Development competed against each other and raised over $1500 for the organization.

"We all had a lot of fun," said Beth Hathaway, one of the tournament's organizers.

"The tournament was so successful we've already begun planning a second bowling tournament for August," according to Sha Stump, the other moving force behind the tournament.

The funds raised through events such as this support MDA's local program, patient care and research which culminates with the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon.

IN BRIEF

Fire and Ice win state title

MIAMI — Lyman High School's Fire and Ice won both its games Saturday to sweep to the Coca-Cola/Reebok Coupe de Hoop 3-on-3 state championship.

The team, made up of captain Chris Badica, Aaron Merrell, Kevin Henkle and Sal Herlihy, beat the Miami Rams twice, 15-11 and 15-9, to claim the state title. To earn a rematch with Fire and Ice, the Rams beat the Tampa Bandits 15-8.

Ordinarily, the state champion would advance to the regional tournament in Atlanta, but because cash prizes are awarded at that and ensuing levels (which could result in the forfeiture of the recipient's amateur status), Fire and Ice will not participate.

Three-way tie tops ICBA

OVIEDO — The Geico Blazers defeated the Magic 97-87 last Sunday at Oviedo High School to create a three-way tie atop the Inter-County Basketball Association Men's League.

Going into this evening's play, the Blazers, Magic and Hungry Howie's (who defeated the Pretenders 83-74 last week) are all 5-2.

In last Sunday's other game, the Domino's Noide topped Oviedo Gun and Pawn 74-66.

Garth Bolton scored 25 points and Joe Donoho added 22 to lead the Blazers over the Magic. Also contributing for the Blazers were Marcus Neal (19), Sam Haynes (14), Cliff Williams (12) and Eddie Norton (5).

Doing the scoring for the Magic were Dan Michalak (31), John Phillips (23), Dave Batt (8) and Joe Huggins (5).

Nino Lyons and John Classey each netted 19 points to pace Hungry Howie's. Also chipping in were Buzz Younce (14), Jeff Meyer (12), Jeff Morris (10), Rick Lorraine (5) and Jay Evans and Brian Marinov (2 each).

For the Pretenders, John Taylor had 20 points. Other contributors were Bob Waters (19), Dave Bone (14), Russ Lawrence (13) and Tom Ecker (8).

Jeff Whipple was the top scorer for Domino's with 30. Troy Quackenbush added 8. For Oviedo Gun and Pawn, Steve Buchanan netted 29, Charles Hardy added 19, Nels Pate chipped in with 9 and Tyrone Adams had 7.

Unsigned Green, Baty in camp

MIAMI — Linebacker Hugh Green and tight end Greg Baty were the only unsigned Miami veterans to show up Saturday on the opening day of Dolphins mini-camp.

The Dolphins, concerned about their lack of depth at receiver, signed five free agents, including receivers Andre Johnson of the WLAF, Ken Burton of Northeast Louisiana, Bruce Lang of Fairmont State and Brian Williams of Houston.

Punter Paul McJulien, who had been released by the Seahawks and Chargers, also was signed.

Fourteen veterans were out for the start of the eight-day camp, including wide receiver Mark Duper, who was excused.

Wide receiver Scott Miller of UCLA, Miami's ninth-round draft pick, was missing under a new NCAA rule requiring seniors to stay in school through graduation day.

Offense dominates in Seminole jamboree

By ROBBIE STOKK
 Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Talk about your wild ones.

In just one quarter of Friday night's spring football jamboree at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium, Seminole and Oviedo combined for 36 points, 286 yards of total offense and a punt return for a touchdown in a dazzling thriller for the estimated 1,000 fans that witnessed the contest.

Unfortunately for the Seminoles, they came out on the losing end of a 21-14 score in that fateful final quarter against the Lions, which featured enough highlights to keep even the hungriest football fan satiated.

The Seminoles had a chance to tie the game on the final play, but Vashaun Williams's pass just missed the outstretched hands of Tyrone Williams.

In their two quarters of action, Seminole shredded both the defenses of Oviedo and Lake Howell and produced the big offensive plays when they needed, including a gutsy six-play, 64-yard drive late in their 8-7 conquest of Lake Howell.

Earlier, Oviedo shut out DeLand 14-0 to open the jamboree. In the third quarter, which matched the losers of the first two quarters, DeLand's Bulldogs came back and pulled out a 3-0 win over the Lake Howell Silver Hawks.

"I was real proud of them," said Seminole head coach Emory Blake about his young squad. "We were in the (Oviedo) game until the final play of the ballgame."

For Blake, the night gave him to joy to watch his young offense sparkle under the lights. Vashaun Williams stepped into the quarterback role and performed.

Lions sweep; Silver Hawks get swept

By ROBBIE STOKK
 Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — For Oviedo, Friday night's spring jamboree was a night of execution and imagination, a night where the some young men caught brief glimpses at their football dreams.

But for Lake Howell, it was more like a Freddy Kruger nightmare, one that the players would like soon to forget.

The Lions showed an explosive offense highlighted by slotback/quarterback Leon Lowman, who gave Seminole and DeLand fits all night with his speed and versatility, helping Oviedo come away as the only undefeated team in the four quarters of contests Friday night.

"He does a lot of things with the ball real well," said Oviedo head coach Jack Blanton. "Leon will be our backup quarterback this season."

With Lowman at the helm, the Lions frustrated Seminole's quick defense, which could not key on Lowman because he would option the ball to first-string quarterback Dan Hargrave, who led Oviedo in their 14-0 first-quarter shellacking of DeLand.

Hargrave, who switched to slotback when Lowman moved under center, finished the night with 97 yards on four-of-five passing, including a 55-yard hookup with Eric Jordan on an Vashaun Williams (throwing the ball) gave a solid performance in his first stint as Seminole High School's starting quarterback, throwing for a total of 142 yards and a touchdown with no interceptions in two quarters of action.

Big plays lift Patriots over Rams

By PAUL SMYTH
 Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Quick strike was the name of the game Friday evening as the Lake Brantley Patriots defeated the Lake Mary Rams 14-7 in their spring football jamboree at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

The Patriots struck first when quarterback Rob Seymour scampered 70 yards on the second play from scrimmage, down to the Lake Mary 1-yard line.

David Sprinkle plunged across on the next play to give Lake Brantley a 7-0 lead less than two minutes into the contest.

"When we wanted to we came off the football and made some big plays," said Lake Brantley Coach Fred Almon. "But that's what our offense is all about. Punch, punch, punch, then hit 'em with the big play."

But the Rams would not be outdone in front of their home crowd as Anush Collins turned the corner and raced 62 yards for a touchdown on Lake Mary's second

See Plays, Page 2B

Just because it was a spring jamboree doesn't mean the coaches take it any less seriously. In the half pitting Lake Mary against Lake Brantley, both Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon and Lake Mary coach Doug Peters (left) had cause to disagree with the officials on the same play. The call ended up going the Patriots' way.

Rolland's two-hitter leads Orioles to Oviedo Minor win

From Staff Reports

OVIEDO — Jay Rolland tossed a two-hitter to lead the Orioles to a 2-1 victory over the White Sox in a Oviedo Little League Minor Division game played May 23.

Rolland struck out 10 and walked four en route to a complete-game victory. He outduccled Mark Bierkan and Ryan Sarvis, who combined for a three-hitter for the White Sox. Bierkan struck out 10 in just five innings of work. Doug Carpenter, Sean Tracy, Ryan Courech, and Ryan Cooke each had a hit for the Orioles.

The next day, Tony Capri helped his own cause with a single and threw a four-hitter as the Braves downed the Reds 9-3. Justin Holmes and Daniel Hlywiak each contributed two hits for the Braves. David Ol Garden knocked in two runs for the Reds.

On May 21, Marc Longton smacked three singles while Corbett Truog and Eric Clintron each added two hits as the Yankees steamrolled the Cardinals 13-4. Michael McQuinn came through with two hits for the Cardinals.

One day later, Larry Grayson homered, scored three runs, and pitched a complete game five-hitter as the Pirates defeated the Cubs 12-6. Sam Kontigianis produced three hits for the Pirates. Jason Casteel, Jamie Gonzales, and Marcel Gruber contributed one hit apiece for the Cubs.

In a May 25 shootout, the Braves scored five runs in three separate innings as they outgunned the Rangers 22-14. For the Braves, Tony Capri pounded out three singles.

On the same day, the Dodgers used a five-run fifth to overcome the Cubs 7-3. Jason Casteel scored a run for the Cubs in a losing effort.

Ill-fated Yankees swept in Southeast Bambino play

Special to the Herald

OVIEDO — In yet another rain-curtailled week, the Southeast Seminole Baseball League only managed to get in a trio of Bambino (10 to 12) Division games last week.

By a fluke of luck, the unfortunate Yankees lost all three.

The undefeated Mets were the first to prevail over the Yankees, rolling to a 15-0 rout as Nick and Chris Caldwell combined to throw a four-hit shutout.

The Caldwells, who combined to strike out just three batters, were backed by outstanding defensive performances from outfielders Kevin and Danny LaPolla and Derek Springham along with infielders Matt Tucker, Steve Foreman, Jason Arnold and Kevin Caldwell.

Nick Caldwell led the Mets' attack with a pair of hits, including his fourth home run of the season, and four RBI. Kevin LaPolla, Tucker and Adam Carter also had two hits apiece. Stringham drove in a pair of runs with a bases-loaded hit.

Contributing one hit apiece were Chris Caldwell, Dan LaPolla, Arnold and Foreman.

The Yankee hits were collected by Ben Hester, Alan Walker, D.J. Richards and Josh Larew.

The Cardinals took the measure of the Yankees twice, beating them 16-11 and 15-7.

In the first game, sharp baserunning helped the Cardinals score 13 runs in the first three innings. Emile Mohabir led the Cardinal offense with two hits. Jeremy Zelman, Matt Gols-option from Lowman against Seminole.

Defensively, former wide receiver Simon Harper made an immediate impact at defensive end, registering a sack in the DeLand game.

"We played a lot of people," commented Blanton, who used a different half of his starting defense in the two quarters of action. "We have a lot more speed than we did last year."

For the Silver Hawks, who have trounced almost all comers the past two years, Friday night left some question marks for next season, but at the same time gave some hope as well.

Offensively, Lake Howell reached up 189 yards of offense in their two quarters, including 70 yards rushing by Jason Kovats and 4-of-8 passing from Paul Thompson. In fact, the first time the Hawks received the ball against Seminole, they drove 80 yards in 14 plays to grab a 7-0 lead.

However, a younger and smaller defensive line couldn't stop Seminole's rushing and a costly facemask penalty gave Seminole an 8-7 second-quarter win.

Against DeLand in the third quarter, Head Coach Mike Bascaglia inserted many second-string players, who stayed with DeLand despite having just 10 offensive plays in the quarter. One big play gave the Bulldogs the 3-0 win as Ted Lane's last-second 47-yard field goal just shy of the crossbar.

Defensively, Ken Times, Sheldon Walker and nose tackle Louis Greco showed the aggression which was the trademark of past teams. Greco finished with one sack, one hurry, and two tackles while Times recorded three tackles, including one which put DeLand receiver Johnny DeVos on the bench for the remainder of the game.

brilliantly, overcoming a dismal first series in the Lake Howell matchup to throw for a total of 142 yards with no interceptions.

"This is his first opportunity as varsity quarterback," commented Blake. "I think he did a real good job. He did some things wrong, he hurried some passes, but he'll stop that with more snaps."

Also turning in a good performance for Blake was his young offensive line, which returns no starters from last year. After a sack and pressure of Vashaun Williams in their first set of downs against Lake Howell, they turned up their performance and helped the Tribe run for 39 yards in their winning drive.

In the backfield, Bruce McClary carried six times for 37 yards, including a four-yard touchdown dash on the option from Williams that gave the Seminoles a chance to defeat Lake Howell.

Vashaun Williams then plunged in from one yard out for the two-point conversion that gave the Seminoles the win. The Silver Hawks had stuffed the Seminoles' original two-point conversion attempt, but a facemask penalty gave them a second chance.

But on the defensive side, the Seminole had their troubles, giving up the big plays and never establishing themselves at the line of scrimmage. Lake Howell ran for 77 yards in its quarter against Seminole while the Lions struck for two plays of 50-plus yards and scored on a fourth-down play from the Seminoles' 14-yard line.

"Our defense was nervous early but then they settled down," said Blake. "We made some mistakes and that's to be expected."

Against the Lions, Vashaun Williams connected with Cory Bennett for an electrifying 80-yard touchdown pass on the game's third play. That answered the Lions, who score one play earlier on a 56-yard run by Leon Lowman.

Seminole got their next score just three minutes later after Johnny Goldman recovered an Oviedo fumble. Willie Williams swept 12 yards around right end for six points.

But Oviedo, using Leon Lowman at quarterback, struck back to pull within one point with 3:48 left to play. Dan Hargrave, who took the snaps in the first quarter against DeLand, keyed the 75-yard drive with a 55-yard connection with Eric Jordan on a slotback option.

Donte Bell blocked the extra point to keep the Seminoles ahead by one.

The Lions got the winning score from Travis Jackson, who scampered 49 yards untouched on a punt return to put the Lions ahead for good. Brian Lawson keyed the return with the block that sprung Jackson.

But despite the setback in the final contest, Blake felt positive about his team's performance.

"I think we blocked well for the pass and the run," stated Blake. "I'm pleased (with the effort) knowing the fact that we're a young ballclub."

"We're going to evaluate our films and the guys that can't fill the bill we'll have to train some people for other positions."

play from scrimmage to tie the contest at 7-7 with just over three minutes elapsed in the contest.

"I'd like to see more of that," said Lake Mary Coach Doug Peters. "We're capable of that kind of big play."

The score remained the same until midway into the second period when Lake Brantley's Chuck Coe returned a punt 33 yards to the Rams 28-yard line.

On the next play, Sprinkle burst through the line and rambed all the way to the end zone, giving the Patriots a 14-7 lead.

The Rams tried to mount a comeback and move the ball down to the Lake Brantley 31-yard line before time ran out on them.

Lake Brantley rushed for 129 yards in two quarters of football with Seymour accounting for 80 yards on six carries and Sprinkle rushing for 44 yards on 10 carries.

Seymour also hit Jeff Butler with a 23-yard pass to convert a third down.

"Our defense has gotten a lot better," said Almon. "We're going to be tough on defense next fall."

Daryl Bush led the Patriots defense with seven tackles.

"He does a good job out there," said Almon. "Daryl is going to be as good as he wants to be."

The Rams were held to 88 yards rushing with Collins leading the Lake Mary ground game with 79 yards on eight carries.

"I don't think we really got into our running game the way I'd like us to," said Peters. "We didn't get our power game established."

Rams quarterback Jason Rasmussen also struggled, connecting on only one of seven pass attempts for 15 yards. Matt Diemer making the reception.

"We need to work on our passing game, too," said Peters. "We have a quarterback that can move around very well but we need to pass block for him better."

Paul Clayton and David McGarry led the Lake Mary defense with three tackles each.

In other action at Don T. Reynolds Stadium Friday evening, Cliff Hendricks scored on a 2-yard touchdown plunge with 1:45 remaining in the contest to lift the Bishop Moore Hornets to a 6-0 victory over the Deltona Wolves.

Deltona's Allen Westfall gave the Wolves a chance for a comeback with a 83-yard run to the Hornets 19-yard line with :53 left but Bishop Moore's Jeff Oatle intercepted a pass three plays later to preceive the win.

Mark Brown, Walt Fluaharty, and Aaron Russell each had one hit for the Cardinals.

In the tightest game on May 25, the Angels posted five runs in the final two innings to nip the A's 6-5. ## Seniors begin good byes at Lake Mary

The last few weeks have been sad ones for students at Lake Mary High School, because the Senior Class, the class of 1991, has had to begin saying goodbye to the school and to the friends that have been a part of their high school lives.

The Chorus department gave their Spring Concert a few weeks ago, and it was highlighted by senior solos and by a solo by Damon Douglas, a junior, who sang Billy Joel's "This is the Time to Remember".

The performance was dedicated to the members of the chorus who will be graduating. It is a tradition for a junior to make a tribute to the seniors in the chorus.

At the end of the program, the senior members were called on stage in their caps and gowns to join the entire group in singing the traditional "Like an Eagle" and the LMHS alma mater.

The Marionette Review also gave seniors a chance to say goodbye.

The program was filled with dances by various groups of Marionettes. Also the Marionette Sweethearts, the Flap Corps, the senior band members and a group of faculty dancers performed for the seniors.

Toward the end of the program, a slide show of the highlights of the Marionettes' year was shown and the senior members of the group processed, wearing caps and gowns, into the auditorium with their parents. They then did their farewell dance.

The evening also featured farewell speeches by Renee Jenny, the Marionettes' captain, who will attend the University of Central Florida and by Ashlyn Sloan, the group's co-captain, who will attend the University of Florida.

Eighth graders ready to move up to SHS

While graduation and entering the "real world" has been described as a big step, for those leaving high school or college, eighth graders realized that entering high school will also be a big step.

On Wednesday, May 29, Sanford and Lakeview Middle Schools brought those eighth graders in the Seminole High School attendance zone to SHS for an introduction to the world of high school extracurricular activities.

Most of the students who visited last week will attend Seminole during the 1991-1992 school year.

The students requested courses with their future guidance counselors during March. They also began to work out their schedules at that time.

The future SHS freshmen heard about academic opportunities from 1991 Valedictorian Steven Wilbur. In addition, they heard about clubs and organizations from Shannon Latimer, 1991 senior class president.

The eighth graders also heard about fall sports from Vashawn Williams 1991-92 starting quarterback; winter sports from Amy Williams, soccer captain; and the spring sports from Rick Eckstein, all-team third baseman.

Student speakers gave three-minute encouragement speeches stressing school involvement and getting good grades.

Eighth graders also had the chance to hear national champs, show choir Destiny, Pizzazz; the female choir also performed along with the Dazzlers. Future SHS students also met Sammy Seminole, the school mascot and the varsity cheerleaders.

Southeast Recycling Corp. hosts U.S. industry officials

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Southeast Recycling Corporation's Seminole Division in Longwood played host to a group of recycling officials this past week.

More than 50 public and private recyclers from throughout the United States and even Sydney, Australia toured the firm's 14,000-square-foot facility at Southeast Recycling describes itself as the country's largest producer of 100 percent recycled newsprint, the paper used for newspapers and tabloids.

275 West Marvin Ave. "They were all quite impressed with what they saw," said Lee Adkins, general manager of the facility.

The tour was arranged by the recycling industry trade publication, "Resource Recovery," as part of their conference at Buena Vista Palace at Walt Disney World Village last week.

Southeast Recycling is the country's largest producer of 100 percent recycled newsprint, the paper used for newspapers and tabloids. The Southeast recycling facility in Dublin, Ga. is supplied by 19 recycling facilities, including the one located in Longwood, in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Maryland and Virginia.

The Dublin facility currently accepts 540,000 tons of used newspapers annually to produce 400,000 short tons of newsprint, according to company information.

The Longwood facility, which cost $330,000 to equip, serves approximately 110,000 homes and has the capacity for 150,000 homes. Most of the homes that supply the facility are in Seminole County. The facility is the recycling center for the county's household recycling program. It also serves household recycling programs for most of the cities in the county.

A typical operating day is 10 hours a day, with a recycling truck entering full and leaving empty every 20 minutes.

The facility, although targeted at newspapers for its own recycled product, also accepts plastic drink bottles, glass containers and aluminum cans. Those materials are offered to the recycler market by Southeast staff.

Recycling tour

Sherry Newkirk (above, left), Seminole County's recycling coordinator, welcomed a group of government and private recyclers to the Southeast Recycling Corp. Longwood recycling facility last week. The group, which included officials from throughout the country, made the tour as participants at a national recycling conference at the Walt Disney World Buena Vista Palace. ## Wansley firm continues role in community

SANFORD — Wansley Moving and Storage Inc. of Florida has continued its policy to take an active role in the community.

Sue Wilkinson, vice president and general manager of the Florida division, located at 200 N. Holly Ave., recently participated in the applied economics program at Lake Brantley High School.

"We are always trying to expand our work force," Wilkinson said in a press release. "It was my pleasure to contribute."

In April, Wansley was nominated by the Economic Development Commission of Mid Florida for the Florida Small Business Award, presented by the U.S. Small Business Administration. # Arthritic teen fights back

By ANNEKA SMITH
Herald Correspondent

MATTLAND — Bricks and stones may break bones, but arthritic joints can hurt even more.

Arthritis affects one in three people over 65, but one in seven people and strikes one person every thirty seconds.

Unfortunately for every disease, there are statistics, but Altamonte Springs resident Howard Kaplan, who fell victim to arthritis at an early age, is one in a million.

At 18, Kaplan has psoriatic arthritis — an inflammation of the bones and tissues as well as joints. At 5'10" and 155 lbs., Kaplan's slight stature is outweighed by his heavy commitment to the National Arthritis Foundation, an organization dedicated to "improving the quality of life for those with arthritis."

Kaplan's story started five years after falling onto his bathroom floor, barely able to move for apparently no reason.

"I had several blood tests, here, locally," says Kaplan "but was then referred to the Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville. Blood work and x-rays (the primary diagnostic tools) determined I had psoriatic arthritis. I, at one time, weighed 104 lbs. because of the disease. No one thought I'd survive. I couldn't get out of a seated position. My feet were like bricks. It set in so fast."

Kaplan faced some of the more severe symptoms which include (to varying degrees) stiffness, inflammation, swelling, "hot" joints and light-headedness. But, there were psychological effects as well — Howard reflects.

"I could not accept having arthritis at 18, and taking medication. I could not bowl, play soccer, walk in the park or even carry my books in school," Kaplan says.

Kaplan has tried many drug treatments and has met the most success with an experimental drug. To Kaplan, the ability to walk or even rise from a seated position on the floor, has been incredible.

"I still can't bowl, but I can walk through the park. I love the park. I could live there," he says.

Meanwhile, Kaplan has concentrated his free time to the big job ahead — raising public awareness and enhancing the efforts of the foundation.

Kaplan spent May, National Arthritis Month, working hard with local businesses to achieve this goal.

He emphasizes, "The local office is severely understaffed. There are only two full-time people. We need people to help in any way possible."

Kaplan has contributed many ideas to the organization, including a planned Fourth of July at a local hotel, an August pro volleyball tournament, a September wine and cheese cruise and an October Caribbean fest at U.C.F.

"The foundation is in debt," says Kaplan, "but one of our primary goals is to staff a local arthritis clinic with a full-time rheumatologist, as opposed to those working on a part-time, voluntary basis."

The events planned are intended to generate funds towards these and other efforts.

Kaplan is enthusiastic about working hard on foundation projects. After all, the more people arthritis research helps, the more company he'll have on his walks in the park.

Howard Kaplan rarely sits still.

SANFORD — It was a bright hot day in Sanford, a far cry from an eerie night when ominous shadows lurk in inky dark alleys. But Robert Walker sat in the library thinking of veiled darkness, formless threatening shapes, zombies, vampires and at what temperature a body needs to be heated in order to burst into flames.

"As strange as I can be, I'll never get the jump on reality," Walker, a horror fiction writer who will be the guest of the Sanford Branch of the Seminole County Library June 8, said.

Walker, writing under several pseudonyms, has published 19 novels. He is working on five more while teaching composition at Bethune Cookman College in Daytona Beach. He lives in Port Orange with his wife, Cheryl, and his son, Stephen, 14.

People like to be scared, Walker theorized. Having written about vampires, psychotic killers and a murderous magician who collects the hands of his victims, he said he doesn't create anything that isn't already going on somewhere.

"I just put a magnifying glass on it. I shove your face into the face of fear," he said. People compare horror fiction to the violent, chaotic world in which we live, Walker explained.

"Except unlike real life, no matter how much chaos is between the covers of my books, things are resolved in the end, the good guy wins, and that relieves everyday pressure for people," Walker said.

He has heard all the arguments about books, movies and music filled with the bizarre contributing to an escalating crime rate. He doesn't agree.

"The problem is not with people reading books like 'Curse of the Vampire,' it is with people who are frustrated because they cannot communicate their problems. It's cathartic for me to write about and for the reader to read about aggression. It exorcises the ghosts," he said.

And the reader psychologically relates to scary characters, Walker said. A certain monster may remind you of an old boss. A vampire represents our fascination with death.

"A vampire is charming and immortal, sensual instead of dumb. Some people would pay a high price to be those things," he said.

Walker said the horror novel is as old as the Bible.

"That was the first horror novel. There is more terror in that book, Jonah was swallowed by a whale; Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt. The crucifixion itself was full of horror," he said. Does he see an end to people's fascination with the macabre? Walker smiled. "Not as long as the little kid in all of us likes to be scared," he said. Walker will conduct a symposium on horror fiction for the public on Saturday, June 8, 2 p.m., at the Sanford branch library. Admission is free.

'Piano Lady' still tickles the ivories, teaches children

Evelyn Rock Clark teaches little one music and drama at Merthie's Day Care Center.

By MARVA HAWKINS
Herald Columnist

SANFORD — School bells are ringing again after nine years of retirement for Evelyn Rock Carter, one of many senior citizens in Florida who are going back to school in numbers and in a variety of roles, from teaching to volunteering. Mrs. Clark has spent her entire life in music and teaching kids. Yesterday's, today's and tomorrow's memories will always live on in the students she taught and the teachers she worked with for over 36 years before retiring from the Seminole County School system. She was a teacher at Winter Springs Elementary where David Sawyer was her principal.

Born in Sanford, from her earliest years, Mrs. Clark began her education at Hopper Elementary and graduated from Crooms Academy. She later went on to further her education and became a teacher, after receiving her degree from Florida A&M University. As a child Clark enjoyed music. She played her first piano solo at the age of eight at her home church, Zion Hope Missionary Baptist Church, where she still plays. She was taught music by Fortia Duhart Spencer. As a youth she played for many churches and was called "Piano Girl" because she loved to play, and still loves to play and sing.

Mrs. Clark, an elementary school teacher, has taught art, music, dancing and some drama classes. She has shared her knowledge with the students of Midway Elementary School, Crooms Academy, Goldboro Elementary, Caselberry Elementary, Bear Lake Elementary, Spring Lake Elementary and Winter Springs Elementary.

Mrs. Clark believes that all children can learn and express themselves through music, so that is why she has joined the ranks of the retired senior volunteers to teach the small, busy little people. This she says also keeps her busy and alert. She continues to be active and can be found daily at Merthie's Day Care Center where she teaches music, art and folk dancing. She loves to share her love of singing and musical talent throughout the community. She can be seen at the console whenever she is needed. She formed the "Chordetta," a group of singing teachers some 25 years ago. She is still musician for choirs at Allen Chapel AME Church and her home church Zion Hope Missionary Baptist Church. She also serves as musician for Delta Sigma Theta Voices, The Voices of Elks, and plays for Congress No. One churches. She has a little more time so she volunteers each month at Central Florida Regional Hospital as a Pink Lady. Mrs. Clark describes her students as enthusiastic, and she says it makes her world better and she knows that she has touched the lives of little ones who can and will have a better life.

By Bernice Bede Cool YOUR BIRTHDAY
June 2, 1991

There are encouraging indications regarding your financial affairs in the year ahead. Nevertheless, even though Lady Luck will be helping, the increases might be gradual.

GEMINI (May 21-June 30)
You have the ability to evaluate developments realistically today, but you might not do what your better judgment dictates. Your ego could water down your logic. Gemini, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Gemini's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.95 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
If you don't look out for your own interests today, don't expect others to do it for you. In collective ventures, be sure each individual contributes what was pledged or else you may have to make up the difference.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Guard against inclinations today to prejudge people whom you know little about. Your initial evaluations could leave a lot to be desired.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Due to indifference, you might not take full advantage of an arrangement offered you today that could be expanded into something quite rewarding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Don't put too much emphasis on having a good time today, especially if it interferes with duties that require your immediate attention. Divide your hours between leisure and labor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
There's a chance you might have a disagreement today with a friend who is quite popular. It's safe to say that letting it get out of hand won't help your image at all that much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
If you get involved with a promoter who greatly exaggerates the merits of his wares, keep your guard up. The hype may be fascinating, but chances are the product isn't appealing, but remember that you can't please everyone. A jealous disenter could find reasons to rock the boat.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Your possibilities for personal gain are extremely promising today — when it comes to working for what you hope to receive. The gravy train won't be stopping at your station.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Don't be overly concerned about the other guy's performance in a partnership arrangement today. If you do what's expected of you, this individual will match your efforts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Benefits you derive today could be due to the good auspices of another. But you aren't likely to be as generous with those for whom you can do something positive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
It could be much easier to make a promise at this time than it will be to honor it later. Keep this in mind today, so you don't agree to something you can't fulfill.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Don't forget yourself upon a group or clique today in which you don't feel welcome. Something unpleasant could transpire that might cause you a degree of embarrassment.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
If you are in need of a financial favor today, check with relatives or family members before looking elsewhere. Outside arrangements could have strings attached.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You might have to negotiate with someone today who will demand good terms from you, but isn't ready to yield anything in return. Be firm or be taken.

The University of Virginia won the North American College Bridge Championship in Atlantic City. In the final, four doctoral students — John Prince, Hank Strauch, John Miller and Scott Tumberi — beat the team from Cal Tech by a score of 87 to 77 IMPs.

On this deal, neither team managed to reach the easy six-spade slam, both ending in six clubs. In the given auction, the eccentric one-no-trump opening bid promised 12-14 points. Perhaps North had learned that with three honor tricks, one must open, but his choice made it impossible to find the spade fit. South's response was natural and game-forcing, but also promised a four-card major on the side.

At the other table, when the Cal Tech declarer found that he had a definite club loser, he decided to play East for both the jack and the queen of spades. He finessed the 10 of spades through East, but West won with the queen, defeating the contract.

Miller did better, adopting a line based on a crossruff. He won the diamond lead with dummy's ace, ruffed a diamond, cashed the A-K of spades and A-K-Q of hearts, and trumped his last heart in the dummy. He ruffed a diamond in hand, played a club to dummy's ace and trumped the last diamond with his 10 of clubs. That was 11 tricks in, with the queen of clubs still to come. The final trick contained both West's spade winner and East's top trump.

The swing was 970 points or 14 IMPs, four more than Virginia's margin of victory. (C)1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
