VALUATION OF RAILWAYS WILL PROVE UNDERTAKING FOR RAILROAD COMMISSION

Unreliable Investment Will Not Be Considered

STUMBLING BLOCK

IN THE WAY OF SETTLEMENT OF BASIS FOR PAYMENT OF DIVIDENDS.

Washington, March 25.—Solid alignment of the state railroad commissioners, representing the public, against consideration of the "unreliable" investment accounts of the roads for valuation purposes developed today before the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is holding hearings to determine the basis for payment of the standard dividend under the transportation act.

Insisting that the "book accounts" of the railroads were worthless as an index to the values of the properties, John E. Benton of the Association of State Railroad Commissioners sharply criticized the argument advanced by the carriers that any valuation of the roads found to be less than the aggregate accounts would be a blow to the financial centers of the world.

"Since when has the commission rendered its judgments with its face toward Wall Street?" he asked. "Since when has it disregarded the law and the facts to cover up the rottenness of any situation it came upon in the performance of its duty? It has heretofore discovered and exposed many shocking things, but the country still lives and the financial centers are still intact."

All the elements of value must be taken into consideration, Benton contended, but the investment account of the roads are not to be regarded as evidence. "Congress has not given you discretion," he told the commission, "if you know the true investment cost of the Chicago and Alton from your valuation investigations, to shut your eyes to that element and consider its wickedly water-soaked investment account."

Representatives of the shippers generally concurred in the proposals of the carriers that the "book accounts" be considered, but advised that they be checked in the light of the other information available to the commission. Expressing themselves as more concerned with the development of transportation facilities to meet the needs of the country than in the matter of rates, the shippers confined their recommendation mainly to the question of the grouping of the roads for rate fixing purposes.

"Unless the railroads are deprived of the occasion to yell 'poverty,' as they have done in the past, the only solution is government ownership," was the argument of Charles E. Cotterill of the Southern Traffic League, in favor of giving the railroads returns sufficient to handle adequately the business of the country. Property investment accounts he said, might come the closest to forming a basis for a preliminary valuation.

He presented a request that the Southern freight classification as now constituted be continued for the new rate adjustment. The majority of the shippers favored the continuation of the commissions established grouping of the railroads on the ground that the adjustment should be effected with the least disturbance to existing rate relations. Smaller divisions, it was argued, made for less flexibility. The hearings will be concluded tomorrow.

AMERICAN NAVY WAS UNPREPARED

TO CARRY ON AS EFFECTIVELY AS IT SHOULD HAVE SAYS ASSISTANT.

Washington, March 24 (By Associated Press) The American navy was not only unprepared but did not "carry on" in the early days "as effectively as it should have," Captain Horace Laning, assistant chief of the Navigating Bureau testified in the Senate investigation today. He charged that during the war it was difficult and frequently impossible to obtain the Department's approval of essential plans thus increasing the difficulty of carrying on the war and decreasing the effectiveness of American participation.

Fellsmere is making a specialty of dahshens and has sold its crop from thirteen acres to a concern in New York at $1.60 a bushel f. o. b. cars, Fellsmere. It is claimed that dahshens will be as good a crop as potatoes in Florida and much easier to handle when people learn how to grow them.

TRUE BILL ON WIRE TAPPERS

WILL COME TO TRIAL AT TARPON SPRINGS.

Clearwater, March 24.—When Judge O. K. Reeves reconvened circuit court Wednesday morning the indictments returned Tuesday night against five alleged wire tappers were brought into court. Counsel for the defense asked for time to examine the indictments and this was granted by Judge Reeves, who gave the lawyers for the accused men until 2 p. m. in which to scan the true bills.

As no trial jury has as yet been drawn, and in view of other legal steps which possibly will be taken by either side, it seemed likely that no definite progress would be made in the wire tapping cases before Thursday.

Three counts were brought against each of the men arrested at Tarpon Springs—running a gambling house, conspiracy to defraud and grand larceny. State Attorney M. A. McMullen, aided by R. E. L. Chancy, spent the night in drawing up indictments that are meant to be impervious to any legal technicalities which may be brought forward by the defense.

The five men gave their names and addresses, at the time of their arrest as follows: O. Williams, New Orleans; George Waterman, Louisville; H. Danton, Chillicothe, O.; J. W. Williams, Downs, N. Y.; Edward Brown "Somewhere in France."

Some of the witnesses will testify that they were fleeced out of large sums of money placed as "bets" on horse races in the fake pool room; that the men or some of them, actually threatened the life of a Tarpon Springs citizen who was active in bringing about their arrest, and that there was a seeming immunity enjoyed by the quintet in their alleged operations.

STATE MADE MONEY ON HER CONVICTS

MADE $161,074 IN 1919 FROM HIRE OF CONVICTS ARE NOW ON STATE ROAD WORK.

Tallahassee, March 24.—According to the report of the prison department of the state heard of institutions, just filed with the governor by the state auditor, J. Will Yen, the state received during the year 1919 for hire of state convicts, $160,074.09 This year, and no doubt henceforth, that state will not receive one dollar from the hire of state convicts, since effective January 1 this year, the convict lease system was abolished and all able-bodied male prisoners turned over to the state road department to be used in the construction of good roads.

Had the state continued the lease system for two more years, the hire of state convicts would have paid into the state treasury nearly a million dollars, because of high rate that would have been bidden by lessees, by reason of scarcity of labor and the high prevailing prices of naval stores and lumber, and the high value placed upon convict labor by the operators, because of its dependability.

The price paid for able-bodied Class 1, prisoners in 1919, was $30 a month. This contract price was made in the latter part of 1917 for two years, 1918 and 1919. Grade 1 prisoners in 1919 made an aggregate time of 154,046 days, or approximately $154,046 according to the report of the state auditor.

The 1919 legislature, while abolishing the leasing of state convicts, did not prohibit the leasing of county convicts by a Jy of the various counties. It is reported that private lessees are paying as high as $75 a month for county prisoners which have never been as valuable to the lessee as the state prisoners, because of their short sentence terms. On basis even now contracted for county prisoners, the estimate of a million dollars for the next two years would have been reached for state prisoners, no doubt.

At the close of the lease period, December 30, there were on hand with private lessees and county lessees, 515 Grade 1 and Grade 3 state prisoners; there were at the state prison farm 486 prisoners, and already in the hands of the state road department 112, making a total of all state prisoners 1,113. There were seventy-six escaped prisoners at large, in addition to the above. During the year there were received at the state prison farm 522 prisoners, 445 being pardoned or discharged during the year, and seventeen fled.

WILL PERMIT EBERT TROOPS RESTORE ORDER

IN OCCUPIED DISTRICTS OF THE RUHR VALLEY.

Paris, March 24 (By Associated Press) It is understood on good authority that the allies have decided to permit Ebert and the German government to send troops into the occupied zone to restore order in the Ruhr valley. All remaining to be decided about the matter is what guarantees are to be asked of Germany to insure that her army will retire as soon as the disorder is quelled.

Mrs. J. W. McCollum of Gainesville Honor Guest

ADDRESSED MEETING

AND GAVE THE LADIES A FINE TALK AND GOOD PROGRAM WAS ALSO REND- ERED.

At the regular meeting of the music and literature departments at the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. J. W. McCollum of Gainesville and state president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs was a distinguished guest.

A pleasing program consisting of two delightful papers on Canada and two vocal solos was rendered by members of the departments preceding the introduction of Mrs. McCollum. Mrs. Geo. Dickerson repeated by request a very fine paper dealing with the early history of Canada, that was read before the Literature department in November and was followed by Mrs. Geo. L. Maris with an excellent paper on Canada today. Both papers were wonderfully good, the writers having culled the best material to embody in the presentation of their subjects Mrs. Julius Takach rendered two charming solos written by English composers. They were "The Skylock" and "Cherry Pipe". Mrs. McCollum was then introduced and delighted her audience with her charming personality, graceful poise and the pleasing manner of her address. She opened her remarks with the statement that the goal for membership for which the State Federation had been assiduously working for several years had been reached and gone over the top, numbering now 10,175. She stressed the importance of the endowment fund of $1000.00 that would make every club member eligible to the higher offices, irrespective of their ability to finance the obligations entailed the touched on the test of service and dwelt upon the charge to keep otherwise the maintenance of the Royal Palm Park and the conservation of the beauties of its forest promenade, stating that it is conceded to have the grandest growth of Royal Palms in the world. Passing on to the reconstruction program of the Federation, she pointed out these subjects on study, Americanization, Thrift and Community service. She spoke feelingly on the pathetic condition of the Seminole Indian, Florida's own tribe and emphasized the importance of teaching.

American history and ideals by pageants, stories and poems, in the schools. The budget plan, for family expenditure, community spirit, community centers and community forums found a place in the bright inspiring address, full of interest and information to the Club women that lack of space prohibits publishing in full.

An informal social hour with refreshments was enjoyed at the conclusion of the program that gave all present an opportunity to meet their charming gracious guest.

Weather and Crop Conditions in Florida for The Week Ending March 23, 1920

Temperature. The temperature averaged 2 degrees to 3 degrees below normal in the southwest, and normal or somewhat above over the rest of the State. Midday temperatures were moderately high on several days, and much of the week was sunshiny.

Precipitation. The week was mostly dry. Showers occurred, however, on 1 or 2 days, but the greatest amount reported was but little more than one-half inch. The need of rain is most decided in south-central and southern counties.

Condition of Crops. The week, as a whole, was probably the most favorable of the season, and it might be termed a corn-planting-week, being given largely to that task. Replanted corn that is up is generally promising, although some complain of poor stand. This is confined, however, to portions of the central division, as the bulk of the crop was planted corn that is up is generally promising, although some complain of poor stand. This is confined, however, to portions of the central division, as the bulk of the crop was recently planted, or was planted this week in northern and western counties. Cane, peanuts and melons were, largely planted in central and northern divisions. Irish potatoes that were killed to the ground by frost early in the month are coming out very well; and a large acreage was planted in the northern and western counties during the week. Strawberry and citrus bloom are now blooming freely. Moderate quantities of berries are available. Citrus trees are showing new growth. Tomatoes recently set out in the lower counties are looking well, but truck is generally poor. Moderate quantities of beans and other truck are in market. All work is several weeks behind, and the vegetable crop will be very late as compared with average years. Moderate rains are needed over all divisions. Ranges are improving.

FRANKENFIELD.

Creator Grand Opera Gives Brilliant Presentation of Aida

Will Be Given in Orlando Mar. 29 Verdi's immortal opera Aida was brilliantly sung last night at the Grand by the Creator Opera Company and while a metropolitan company could carry a larger chorus, it is different to see how the principal roles could be better sung.

Agnes Delorme as Aida thrilled the audience with her magnificent soprano. Her voice has marvellous richness and purity of tone, and her singing especially in the duet and trio of the third act could not be surpassed. The two greatest voices among the men were Giuseppe Inzerillo and Rhadames and Greek Evans as Amonasro, the Ethiopian King. The famous tenor solo "Celeste Aida" was beautifully sung by Senor Inzerillo and his singing throughout was delightful.

But the magnificent baritone of Greek Evans seem to especially please the audience, which really enthused for the first time, at the marvellous and thrilling finale of the second act. The principals had three curtain calls after this act.

Dorothy Pilzer sang the role of Amneris with great charm. She has a clear sweet mezzo soprano of wide range, that was especially beautiful in her dramatic duet with Aida, when she realizes that the slave is her rival for the love of Rhadames.

Nino Ruisi gave much pleasure as the King of Egypt with his fine voice and Miguel Santacoma sang well the music of the high priests. The scenic effects in the third act, the river Nile in the moonlight was wonderfully realistic, but the other scenery was disappointing.

It is unnecessary to state that the work of the big orchestra led by Creator was magnificent and was worth the price of admission if there had been no opera company to sing with them.

Creator's genius as a leader was never so evidenced as in his wonderful control of the orchestra and the singers at the same time.

His eye seemed to be on every singer and every instrument and his inspired baton to lead them all to most glorious crescendos, and climaxes of wonderful sound.

The cast embraces some wonderful voices—the orchestra plays brilliantly—the entire company is composed of artists—but it is the individual genius of Guiseppe Creator that produces the magnificent ensemble of gorgeous sound, heard last night by those who were fortunate enough to hear the Creator Opera Co. in Aida. BOARD OF TRADE MEETING which he is secretary. This association has built several hundred houses in Sanford already and could build several hundred more if the business men of Sanford would take stock in it. All that is necessary is for every man in Sanford to take ten shares in this association and the money for the building of homes will be available at once. President Miller will appoint a committee to solicit these men at once and Sanford will be one city in the world that will solve the building problem this summer.

Representatives of the Nu-Style window sash were present and gave a demonstration of this remarkable window sash patented and ready for the sale of the patent to some firm that will buy the device and put up a factory to make the sash. It is undoubtedly one of the greatest conveniences ever devised and the representatives were requested to come back to Sanford in a few days and some means will be adopted to form a company here to make the patent window sash.

E. R. Smith asked for the privilege of placing the Sanford Board of Trade on the exchange list of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce as he intends to go to Detroit soon and his request was granted and the Sanford Board of Trade members will be entitled to all the courtesies of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

After the regular meeting the Board of Trade the board of governors were called into a meeting by president Miller and the naming of important committees and the location of the office for the Board of Trade and other matters were taken up at the meeting mention of which will be made later.

The meeting last night was well attended and was full of dash and energy and the Sanford Board of Trade is getting down to a fine working basis and about fifty members paid up their dues last night and signified their intention to become not only paying members but good active and live members of the board with the desire to put Sanford on the map in big letters this summer and next fall and winter.

The Hillyer Contracting Co., of Jacksonville, has been awarded the contract for the construction of the $1,000,000 apartment hotel to be built in Orlando by Harry S. Hand and associates. Mr. Hand could not be prevailed upon to go into details on the subject. It is understood that actual work will be begun in the near future. The company in command of the enterprise was incorporated last fall under the laws of Illinois. There is considerable local capital interested but, it is said, the bulk of the financing will come from northern interests. The structure will be located at the northwest corner of North Orange avenue and Jefferson street.—Orlando Sentinel.

Ballo's In Ford-Newberry Election To Be Recounted

Washington, March 2—Plans for a re-count of the ballots cast in the Ford-Newberry election in Michigan were taken up temporarily by the senate privileges and elections committee with counsel for both sides present. It was stated that the count would not be begun for at least 30 days, as it would take that much time to assemble the ballot, and fetch them to Washington. The counting will be done by 10 boards of two members each, and a time limit would be set on their work. The sergeant at arms will be empowered to employ not more than 20 deputies to collect the approximately 400,000 ballots now in possession of approximately 1,700 city and town clerks.

MORE COUNTY DIVISION

Want To Divide DeSoto Into Five Counties

Wauchula March 24.—The legislature halls at Tallahassee have in recent years been the scene of many interesting county division fights, these resulting from the phenomenal growth of the state, and particularly of the southern section, and because of which those favoring division have generally won their battles—yes, even at times when "politics" seemed to make their cast hopeless.

DeSoto county has more than once figured in these battles, but at the next session, with progressive men from all localities organized in behalf of division; the most comprehensive movement of this kind—that which shows the growth of south Florida to best advantage—will be presented for consideration of the senate. In short, it is planned to make five counties from the immense area of DeSoto, which runs 60 miles east and west and 60 miles north and south, and the varied soils and crops of which have warranted the organization of the DeSoto county division executive committee, of which C. J. Carlton, cashier of the Carlton National Bank of Wauchula is president and W. M. Beck of Avon Park is secretary. The organization is supporting former State Senator Fran Cooper of Punta Gorda for the senate and H. K. Still of Crewsville for the house. Both gentlemen are avowed divisionists.

DELAWARE HAS DECIDING VOTE

If She Ratifies Women Will Vote For Next President

Dover, Del., March 23.—Whether the women of America will participate in the forthcoming presidential primaries and in the November presidential election as provided for in the proposed amendment to the federal constitution apparently rested today with the Delaware legislature in extraordinary session here. All but one of the necessary two-thirds of the states have acted favorably.

Both the suffragists and those opposed to the ratification of the amendment have made a hard fight in Delaware and both sides today appeared confident of victory.

Notwithstanding the support received by the suffragists by the national leaders of both the democratic and republican parties, the anti-suffragists declare the amendment will be defeated.

"DRIVEN TO BURGLARY BY LOVE NOW CORRECT PHRASE, "TO DRINK" IS ANTIQUATED

New Source of Relief for Desperation Is Pictured with Laughs and Thrills in "Burglar By Proxy."

With the coming of prohibition practically assured prospects are extremely unlikely that love affairs will drive men to drink. However, in "Burglar By Proxy" the latest Jack Pickford picture which will be seen at the Princess tomorrow, love drives a young man to burglary.

Taking the part of Jack Robin, in love with Dorothy Mason, Pickford is taken into the Mason home when he is found apparently unconscious with his head resting on a blown-out automobile tire in front of Dorothy's house. A three day period of invalidism ensues which gives Jack a chance to get well acquainted with Dorothy.

But several days later, Dorothy is awakened at midnight to find Jack in her boudoir. Covering him with a revolver she informs him that he stole valuable business plans while he was in the home before and that she has absolutely no respect for him. Jack denies this and explains his presence by pointing into the court below where two gunmen are awaiting his return, de manding either his plunder or his life.

Dorothy half-way forgives him, lends him her gun and watches him put the burglars to flight. Later in the night she is awakened by a noise of shots and fighting downstairs. Jack had determined to recover the stolen plans, win Dorothy and her father's esteem, but it does not prove to be as easy a feat as he imagines. Episode No. 4 of "Adventures of Ruth" also.

Musical Treat Extraordinary At The Princess Tonight

Today at the Princess Theatre will offer a big double program, when in addition to a very attractive movie program, Vierra's Hawaiian Singers and Players will present a delightful musical program portraying the witchery of fair Hawaii, Queen of the South Sea Isles, in weird and enchanting native songs and beautiful melodies interspersed with the latest popular American songs and ragtime.

From everywhere this company has appeared come enthusiastic praises from theatre managers and press and it is said the business done has only been limited by the seating capacity of the theaters.

The Petersburg (Va.) Evening Progress of November 25th, says "Vierra's Hawaiian Singers and Players made a big hit at the Columbia yesterday. The theatre was packed at every performance and the big double bill of music and the pictures proved a great treat. These are the genuine Hawaiian singers and not a troupe of Americans going around posing as Hawaiians. The program is one of the best that has ever been offered at the Columbia and Manager Moss is to be congratulated for giving such a treat at such modest prices."

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

Rev. E. W. Edwards, our Presbyterian pastor from Jacksonville, sends word that he expects to be with us for service next Sunday. He says that the press work kept him from coming earlier in the month and that this will be just before Presbytery meets. Those that feast on the strong meat of the Gospel, will be well repaid in coming out to hear him, in our humble opinion. Sunday school meets at 2:00 with Alfred Ericson as leader, while service begins at 3:00.

Those who have given so freely for the repair of the church roof, will be glad to hear that the necessary amount $25.00 is about all in, so the work can soon go ahead, thanks to them. We appreciate all the help given.

Mrs. A. L. Campbell and her two little ones spent Friday with Mrs. Volie Williams in Orlando.

Mrs. A. F. Westerlick and her friend Mrs. Clute of Sanford spent Wednesday in helping Mrs. Parkison of Osteen.

Mrs. Krell and baby, Dorothy Matilda, called to see Mrs. Ballinger Friday.

Mrs. Jack Vaughn was a caller Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jesse Thomson.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. May Eaton and babe of Sanford and extend our sympathy to her relatives here in Sanford. We knew her as a little girl, when with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Foster, they lived with her grandfather A. J. Thoppson for a while. It was then that we learned to love her and she has always merited it.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thompson and the twins attended her funeral afterwards calling on some of their old neighbors in Grapeville.

Garnet is January Stone. The garnet is the birthstone for January. Consequently it is the luck stone for all born in that month. According to old authorities "the garnet exercises a calming influence and takes away anger and discord. It is likewise a sovereign remedy for hemorrhages and protects the traveler from all dangers when traveling. When the figure of a lion is engraved upon a garnet, it will protect and preserve the health of the wearer and cure him of all diseases."

"An all-around good shot—that's us" —Chesterfield

WHAT we're aiming at, is that it takes both skill and precision to blend tobaccos the Chesterfield way.

Blending, by Chesterfield's method, brings out a new richness of flavor and mellowness of taste that other and less skillful blending methods fail to "discover."

Chesterfields sure do "satisfy"—and not in flavor alone, but in value, in quality, also in their extra wrapping* of moisture-proof, glassine paper that keeps the cigarettes in every package firm and fresh.

Today, ask your dealer for these "satisfy-smokes."

Forrest Lake is shelling the woods Joe Sears better hurry.—Palatka News.

Despatches state that Monroe, Louisiana is without lights and water on account of the destruction of the plants by fire. Monroe, you have our sympathy. Only those who have been deprived of these necessities can appreciate your difficulties.

Forrest Lake will give Joe Sears a run for his money in the Fourth; Smithwick will show all opponents his heels in the Third; Frank Clark is capering unbaited in the pastures of the Second; while in the First Congressional District Herbert Jackson-Drane is going to make George Wilder than he ever was, by running clean over him!—Tampa Tribune.

The town of Hastings is certainly becoming more liberal—I might say most liberal. Heretofore the town marshal has been receiving the munificent salary of $15 a month—but at the last meeting of the council the members voted "to a man" to double the wages. And now, with $30 coming every pay day the mar-? shall spit out on air.—Palm Beach Post.

Congratulations to Orlando. They will build a million dollar hotel down there and a quarter of a million dollar apartment house and many other buildings this summer. Orlando recognizes the need of more hotels and apartment houses and Orlando people go ahead and build them despite the high prices of building material. Great is Orlando and great are her people. They do things.

The present print paper famine is not worrying the Herald. We have enough to last us all summer by careful conservation and careful conservation will be used as far as the free press notices are concerned and other matters that are not important. If the big city dailies would be forced to cut out their special Sunday supplements there would be plenty of news print paper for everyone. The Herald can run all summer and is not worrying a bit about paper as yet.

"HERD LAW" FOR FLORIDA Robert Leach, editor of the Leesburg Commercial, than whom no man wielding the pen in Florida has oftener been the first to advocate changes and betterments which are fast coming common, sees the difficulty we will have in getting a drastic no-fence law through the next legislature, and proposes, as an alternate for counties wishing it, the old "herding law" so common in states further west when farms began to encroach on pastures.

It is interesting to know that, so far, two Florida papers have expressed opposition to the no-fence law. These are listed by the Leesburg Commercial, are the Gainesville News, "which does not attempt any justification of its position," and the Bradford County Telegraph, which the Commercial believes will "join us in the proposal of an alternative 'herd law.'" From the Commercial we quote:

"That no county of our state may feel that it has been unjustly treated by the remainder of Florida in the passing of a no-fence law which will compel cattle owners to keep their cattle under fence, we propose that the Florida Legislature, at the next session, pass a law for statewide fencing of cattle, holding the owner of cattle, and, in case he cannot be located the cattle themselves, responsible for any damage to crops, property or persons, but—

"With provisions for an alternative local option measure for any county in the state which desires to substitute for the strict fencing of cattle a herding law that will hold the owner equally responsible for damage but will permit him to have his cattle herded instead of fenced.

"After we had planned this out elaborately in our own mind along came a friend and informed us that we had constructed a plan that was tried out and worked successfully in Illinois in the early days of the no-fence law in that state. Therefore, we are not offering something hypothetical but something that has been tried and proved a success, for surely no one will consider the State of Illinois other than a success as a farming and cattle raising state!"—Tampa Tribune.

FOREST LAKE

The following editorial in the Palm Beach Post written by Hon. Joe Earman, editor, is a great boost for Hon. Forest Lake and shows he is running some:

The candidates are coming around They are FREINDLINESS PERSONIFIED.

Forrest Lake, candidate from the Fourth Congressional District, has been in West Palm Beach for five days.

I have been sick in bed at home for the past ten days. Yesterday he blew into my office and said: "Howdy, Joe, old friend! I have been hanging around this city five days losing valuable time, but I could not leave here without having a CHIN FEST with you."

Of course I knew that this line of talk was PURE POLITICS.

OF COURSE, IT SOUNDED GOOD

Forrest Lake is forty-eight years old.

He was born in "SOUSE CAROLINA."

He was raised on a RICE DIET, which accounts for his PATERNAL and VENERABLE appearance.

He is a campaigner FROM WHO LAID THE RAILS.

He has a good political record.

Said record being a member of the house of representatives in the Florida legislature for THREE TERMS

Membership of the Florida legislature is usually a political grave.

Forrest "AIN'T" UNDER THE POLITICAL SOD.

In addition to being an adroit politician, Forrest Lake is a successful business man.

He is president of the Seminole County Bank, located at Sanford, and charges eight percent for money that he lends.

He was very careful to inform me that he did not charge MORE THAN EIGHT PERCENT and TABOOED ALL TEN PERCENT LOANS.

He is president of the Florida Bankers Association.

Somebody told me that he POLITICKED around to get this job for the influence that goes with it, as he anticipated being a candidate for congress.

He is also a member of the executive committee of the American Cotton Growers' Association.

They do not raise any cotton in Seminole county, or in the Fourth congressional district.

I DO NOT GRASP THE POLITICS OF THIS COTTON BUSINESS.

Forrest Lake is going to put it over Joe Sears and be nominated by the Democrats from the Fourth congressional district of Florida.

This district extends from Duval county to Key West, being known as a "Shoe-string District," and includes the interior counties, Putnam, Seminole, Orange and Osceola.

I am not a prophet, nor a son of a prophet, but with Forest Lake's ability to shake hands, coupled with his business qualifications and the further fact that he has had a LONGING and HANKERING to be a Florida congressman for twenty years and the PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT having arrived, he will be lined up with other new members to be sworn in when Congress convenes March 4, 1921.

I do not know who Forest Lake's political connections are in Palm Beach county.

I HAVE MADE NO TRADE WITH HIM.

WE LIKE JOE SEARS FROM A PERSONAL STANDPOINT.

We like Forest Lake from both a PERSONAL and POLITICAL standpoint.

THERE IS A REASON FOR EVERYTHING.

The reason that we are going to support Forest Lake is because Bob Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald, a patriot who laid down his editorial pen to serve as a private soldier in the great war, wrote Herbert Conkling and me requesting support for his friend and neighbor as a special favor to him.

We will go a long way for Bob. Fellow citizens of Palm Beach county, Hon. Forrest Lake, candidate for congress from the Fourth district, is presented for your KIND CONSIDERATION.

THINKS WELL OF SANFORD

Wichita man Sees Many Good Things For This Section of Florida.

The following letter from Judge Piatt of Wichita, Kansas to Jno. D. Jinkins, of this city, shows what one of our visitors thinks of the Sanford section:

"You may be interested to know what became of us and what was our impression of Florida, after leaving Sanford. We first stopped at Palm Beach and took a look in for one night only. It takes something for a "lookin" now at Palm Beach, as you may know. From Palm Beach we went to Miami. There we spent two very delightful weeks. The weather was ideal and with nothing to do except to just be as lazy as you wanted to be it really furnished me a very high class of entertainment.

"Miami is a play ground pure and simple. While the climate is delightful, like middle May here at home, it is a tourist haven. While the scenery is beautiful and while the citrus crops are very fine, to a jay-hawker like I am, used to seeing large corn fields, wheat fields, stock ranches and lots of things for a man to eat, it does not impress me like a section of country around Sanford. Your celery, lettuce and pepper fields were very pleasing to my eye. I have often remarked, and since my last visit to your town, I have not changed my opinion, which is that I do not know of any spot on this continent where a man by industry and intelligence attention can produce more from an acre of ground than at Sanford.

"Nor did we find anywhere oranges which were equal to the oranges we bought in Sanford, not even the Rockledge nor Miami. Say you can very readily see that I am not in any humor to give away my Sanford holdings. If I were a young man I would confidently expect to clear that land and make a home on it. Sincerely, ROBT. M. PIATT.

Farmer's Hard Luck.

Earth in the upper peninsula is so kind that, tuckle her with a hoe and she laughs with a harvest, but there are some drawbacks, it seems. A farmer down at Au Train put out cabbage one year, and grew perfectly marvelous heads weighing, every one of them, forty pounds or less, but dog-gone the luck, next year the piece was just like cut-over land again, and it took the farmer all season to clean out the cabbage stumps.—Detroit News.

DUG GRAVE FOR CATERPILLAR

Resourceful Ant Performed Last Rites and Probably Provided Future Source of Food.

A lady seated on a porch one summer day witnessed a performance by one of those industrious little creatures, the ants, that she would hardly have credited if she had not observed it for herself.

As she rocked back and forth near the edge of the porch she noticed a dead caterpillar lying on a hill of sand below the house. It was a fat caterpillar and doubtless in life had been a vivid green color, but now it was faded and rusty looking. Large stones surrounded the mound of sand, and presently it appeared that there was another spectator of the caterpillar's last sleep. A huge ant ran up over the stones, back and forth, nearer and nearer, encircling the caterpillar several times, as though on a hasty tour of inspection. Apparently satisfied, it then disappeared, but not for long; it had only been surveying the outlook lower down. There, in a sheltered spot near a big stone, it suddenly began making queer movements in the sandy clay. Digging—that is what it was doing.

With eager haste it threw up little bits of sand with its legs, and so fast did it work that a tiny hole began to show itself in the sand. The lady leaned over the balustrade of the porch and watched with eager interest.

Was it possible that the industrious little insect was digging a grave for the caterpillar? And, indeed, as it seemed, without a moment's rest it dug and dug, the sand forming little piles all around it. In what seemed an incredibly short time a deep hole appeared in the sand and the busy ant desisted in triumph.

But now was to come the hardest part of all, and if I had not been an eye-witness I should not have believed that an insect could have accomplished such a task. With an occasional shove, and many pulls, it drew the caterpillar's body along until it hung over the yawning hole. Then the ant disappeared down the opening, and I held my breath. What would happen next?—Had she given up her project? But no—slowly, slowly, the body of the big caterpillar began to move downward into the hole, and I realized that the clever insect was below and drawing it down. In a few seconds the entire caterpillar had disappeared from view. Then the busy ant returned to the surface and again began its miniature shoveling, only this time the clay was thrown back into the hole. The burial was finished—but wait—not quite complete. From somewhere near another ant had appeared upon the scene and together they carried tiny stones and placed them over the mouth of the hole as though to mark the place, then the two hastily disappeared, to look for further industry. I am told that the ants sometimes lay caterpillars away thus, to serve as future food for their young.

It has been said that those who do not believe in an overruling providence should watch such actions as these on the part of ants and beetles—Kathleen Wheeler Ross in Our Dumb Animals.

Irish Linen Industry.

Irish linen acquired national importance in the seventeenth century. During the reign of Charles II the extension of the Irish woolen manufacture appears to have made such rapid strides that the jealousy of English manufacturers was aroused. Consequently, an act was passed by the British parliament prohibiting any export of wool from Ireland, except to England and Wales. Not content with this, another act was passed later forbidding any export whatever of wool or woolen manufacture from Ireland. The woolen trade being thus reduced to the quantity required for home consumption, rapidly declined, and its place soon taken by linen manufacture.

The old Irish name for flax was flin, closely resembling French lin, the Latin linnum and the English words flax and linen. Linen dyed yellow was much worn by the ancient Irish, the brigalds, or farmers, being obliged to learn to practice the cultivation of flax.

The Similarity.

Ray Bright was Santa Claus on Christmas eve at the Thompson kindergarten at Terre Haute. His little daughter is in the kindergarten, so he was very careful to change his voice and actions as much as he could. But when he went to slip on his Santa Claus suit he forgot all about the white handkerchief around his neck which he wore to keep his collar from rubbing the holl underneath.

And after the party was over and he had again donned his citizen's clothing he went after his little daughter. Happily she said, "Oh, daddy, Santa Claus was here a little while ago," and then her voice became sympathetic, "and, oh, daddy, he has holes on his neck, too."—Indianapolis News.

HELD UP BY WOMAN

Female Bandit Uses Gun and Secures $7,000.

Feminine Footpad Chatted as She Frisked Pittsburgh Banker.

Pittsburgh.—Adam Eidemuller, secretary of a building and loan association, was held up by a polite, heavily veiled woman footpad and robbed of $7,000 while almost within sight of his home.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," the woman said as she bumped into Eidemuller.

He hastened to pardon her, but saw in her hand a small pistol. The warning she issued was quiet but stern, Eidemuller told detectives.

Keeping the pistol in position, she moved closer to Eidemuller and drew from his hip pocket a wallet, fairly bulging with money and checks he had taken in at a meeting of the loan association.

Then with a smile she started a conversation concerning the "funny weather Pittsburgh has been having," keeping the revolver pressed close to her victim.

Eidemuller was forced to join in the conversation, he said, and after several pedestrians had passed she reached into his vest pocket and removed his watch.

She unclasped this from a watch-chain, and again continued her conversation about the weather.

"You just keep going," she warned Eidemuller as she had slipped the watch and wallet into a large muff.

HEART MISSED MANY BEATS

Bullet Wound to Civil War Veteran of Pittsburgh Caused Abnormal Action.

Pittsburgh.—Andrew C. Gibson, seventy-seven years old, a member of Company I, Fourteenth Pennsylvania cavalry, during the Civil war, who died at Midway Sunday evening, had the distinction of having had 317,571,000 less heart beats in fifty-seven years of his life than does the normal man.

Gibson was wounded during the Civil war at the age of twenty. The bullet passed between two ribs and close to the heart, spreading an artery and vein. In some way it affected his heart to such an extent that that organ missed one beat in every four of a normal heart.

According to calculations, Gibson's heart missed 1080 beats each hour; 15,120 beats every twenty-four hours; 5,518,800 each year, and 317,571,000 in the fifty-seven years following his injury.

IS WHISKY BEST REMEDY?

Question for Kentucky Doctors Prescribing It, Says State Health Officer.

Louisville, Ky.—Physicians in Kentucky who prescribe whisky for ailing patients will have to prove to the state license board that no other medicine is better, or their licenses are liable to be revoked, according to Dr. A. T. McCormack, state health officer. A meeting of physicians will be held in Lexington, he said, to form a drastic ruling on the prohibition amendment in so far as it applies to the medical profession of this state.

The American Medical society, Dr. McCormack asserted, has gone on record as believing whisky as a medicine is not necessary and wherever it could be used there is some other remedy equally good or better.

In Confidence.

The ancient Greeks dedicated the rose to Harpocrates, the God of Silence, and garlands of roses were draped over the doors of rooms in which debates or conferences were taking place in token that words which were spoken "sub rosa"—under the rose—were secret and not to be repeated outside. Hence our use of the term to denote something told in confidence.

"THE STORE THAT IS DIFFERENT"

FEED FOR THE HEN

Many poultry feeders have a very meager idea of the feed required for one hen a day. This information would enable them to feed more intelligently and more economically.

The question before all poultry growers is how to feed their chickens more economically and yet get satisfactory results. In making changes in rations one must remember that any quick or marked change will have a bad effect on the hen. Changes should be made gradually. It takes a month for a hen to respond to a new method of feeding and if this new method can be adopted generally no ill effects are likely to follow. Frequently a new ration is criticized, when the fault is not with the ration but with the feeder in making the sudden change. The University of Missouri college of agriculture recommends corn, two parts, and wheat, one part, for scratch food. This constitutes two-thirds of the ration. A mash consisting of equal parts by weight of bran, shorts, cornmeal, and beef scrap is recommended for the rest of the ration. At present prices for corn and wheat the scratch food mentioned will cost about $4 a hundred. At present prices for mash constituents—bran about $1.60, shorts $2.60, cornmeal $4 and beef scrap $4—the mash would cost $3 a hundred.

If a hen requires 70 pounds of feed per year, 50 pounds scratch food and 20 pounds mash, the cost for grain and mash would be $2 and 60 cents respectively. Thus the total food cost per hen per year would be $2.60.

Handwriting Regarded as an Index to Mental State

That handwriting is regarded as an index to certain mental conditions is well known. If you have ever consulted a nerve specialist one of the first questions which he will ask is, "Have you paid any attention to the way you write? Do you notice that your hand does not act with freedom or is uncertain in its action? If so, it will help me to arrive at a better diagnosis of your case." His years of experience tell him that any variation in script may have some special significance, that a nervous quiver or vagary has a story to relate concerning the nerves and their relation to an individual's mental state and thus he is able to treat his case with greater exactness. A little scrap of paper, but how significant!

Loses Pension for Bravery.

Tokyo, Japan.—The Japanese rickshaman who saved the life of the former Emperor Nicholas of Russia, when an attempt was made to kill him on his visit to Japan as czarovitch in 1891, has lost the pension which was paid him for many years for that service to the Russian ruler. This is the result of the death of the former emperor and the Russian revolution. Nicholas was attacked by a Japanese policeman with a saber. Interference by the rickshaman enabled him to escape with a slight wound. While receiving his pension the rickshaman lived in luxury, but now has returned to the work of hauling his ricksha.

Kept Busy on Social Calls.

The wife of a member of congress can discharge her social duty in the cabinet in nine calls, but a cabinet woman must pay more than 500 if she makes only one call during the season on each senatorial and congressional household.

New Kind of Linen.

Textilit consists of a paper thread and a fiber thread twisted together, and, though the percentage of long fiber is very small, it is claimed to have yielded products that the uninitiated cannot distinguish from the former linen and jute fabrics.

STUCK TO HIS CAR

Yankee Kept Long Vigil in Deep Baltic Snow.

Soldier Abandoned by British Officer, When Auto Failed to Buck Drift.

Paris.—Richard Kelly of El Paso, Tex., one of the American doughboys recently recalled from duty in the Baltic country, now is in a hospital in Paris nursing frost bites and restoring lost tissue as the result of a lone vigil with his car in a Baltic snow-drift. During his tour of duty in the Baltic, Kelly was assigned to drive for a British officer one of the big yellow American cars, which, it is supposed, can go anywhere. One of the last things his superiors told Kelly was "stick to your car whatever happens."

What happened, was that during the drive in the rural districts near Riga, Kelly's machine, officer and all, became stalled in a snowdrift. No horsepower or ingenuity was able to budge it. The British officer with his adjutant fought their way to the nearest town for aid, leaving Kelly alone to buck the snowdrift. For some reason the officer failed to return.

Though Kelly might have surrendered and sought shelter, he remembered his instructions and gamely stuck. Night fell; so did more snow. No one came along the road and no twinkling light told of the nearness of human beings. Kelly, hungry and forlorn, curled himself up in the car and slept. While awake he soled himself with cigarettes.

He spent a second day in the same drift, determined to stick. That day a peasant came along in a sledge and towed Kelly to a nearby village and there he left the car, returning to his base by train, later passing through Berlin to Paris. Now he is spending his off hours looking for that "blatant" British officer.

SAVES MUCH HARD WORK

It is a well known fact that water will not run uphill and the owner of this North Carolina home found that toiling up a steep slope of several hundred feet with buckets of water several times a day was a back breaking job. So he turned an inventive mind to work and stretched a cable from the spring to a windlass built against a tree near his home. A pulley arrangement permits the bucket to travel down the cable to the spring, where it fills itself and then is drawn uphill to the house by the windlass.

"VIRGIN" WAS ONLY SHADOW

Priest Solved a Mystery Which Caused Excitement Among French Villagers.

Metz.—Excitement among the people of Noyent, a small village near here, over the supposed appearance of the Virgin near a church yard, has been calmed by an investigation conducted by religious authorities. It was said the apparition appeared at a certain time each day, seeming to stand on the steps of a little villa.

Bishop Ruch of Metz, commenting on the case, said when it was explained to him: "We must not expect too many miracles. We have just witnessed one of the greatest miracles of all times—the return of Lorraine to France—and we can afford to wait a little while for another."

Beyond His Control.

Robert had entertained his cousin for two or three days, but at the end of the third day, a discussion arose and a hand to hand fight ensued. His mother, hearing the commotion, quickly rushed to the scene and admonished, "It isn't nice to fight, Robert," she said, "especially your own relation and guest," but her son in the heat of passion, replied, "It don't make any difference whether he is my 'ation or not, my mad feels just the same."

GAMBLED WITH GRIM DEATH

The old overland journey from Edmonton, Alta., to the Klondike was a trail of tragedies. A weather-beaten skeleton of an old wagon of the prairie schooner type, the woodwork rotted and only fragments of the wheels remaining, recently was found in the rugged Liard river country. On a piece of tattered canvas that once had been the wagon cover, printed in black paint in letters a foot high half effaced by the rains and snows of years, were the words "Klondike or Bust."

Many stories are told by old-timers of the argonauts who found tragedy instead of gold on the north trail which began at Edmonton. Thousands of men from all parts of the world flocked to the town in 1896 during the Klondike rush. They outfitted at the Hudson Bay company two-story frame store which then was considered the greatest store in western Canada. Today, when the company has thrown open all its lands to farm settlement and is centering its energies on the fur trade and general merchandising, a big modern department store rises on the site of this ancient emporium in the heart of Edmonton.

Turning their faces toward the Yukon, the gold seekers struck out on a perilous journey of 2,000 miles across an untracked wilderness of forests, muskegs, mountains and mighty rivers. Of the thousands who started, only a few ever reached their destination. Many turned back disheartened to Edmonton. Many beat back to civilization by way of the British Columbia coast. Still greater numbers were swallowed up in vast unknown northern land never to be heard of again. They gambled with death who traveled that trail.

From time to time in succeeding years the bleaching bones of the adventurers who followed their dreams over the rim of the world, the battered relics of old camp outfits and the wrecks of wagons and pack saddles have been found in lonely northern places, grim reminders of the old days when men went mad for gold.

Omens of Good Luck.

It has been explained that we need to be prepared for bad luck, but that good fortune does not require to be guarded against.

All the same, it would certainly add to the cheerfulness of life in general if lucky omens were more widely known, says a writer in London Tit-Bits. How much brighter things look to us if we have reason to hope that something good is coming to us!

Everybody, of course, knows that it is lucky to pick up a bit of iron or coal. So it is to pick up a pin if its head is toward you; if not, let it lie.

It is a sign of good fortune to put on some garment inside out, but only if it is done by accident and the garment is allowed to remain reversed during the day. William the Conqueror put on his mail shirt back to front on the morning of the battle of Hastings, and we all know what luck he had on that occasion.

If you find your keys or other steel articles rusting, do not be annoyed about it; it only shows that somebody is putting money by for you.

It is luck to be followed home by a stray dog. Still better is it if a strange cat comes to stay at the house. Speaking of cats, pessimists, of course, assert that when it tears the furniture with its claws it is a sign of rain; but others hold that she is "scratching luck" to her masters.

Female Trees.

After nearly twenty-five years of argument and discussion about the abatement of the cotton nuisance, the city commission of Albuquerque, New Mexico, has ordered the cutting down of all female or cotton-bearing cottonwood trees within the city limits.

A large proportion of the shade trees of many western cities are cottonwoods, writes Aldo Leopold in the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The individual trees are of two sexes and the female trees bear annually a most prolific crop of cotton, which acts as a mechanical irritant to sufferers from hay fever, and which during the months of June and July litters the streets, screen doors and plastering with unsightly masses of soiled cotton.

Seek American Rule.

The people of the Virgin Islands are begging to be Americanized. Now that they are under the American flag, they have a right to be dissatisfied with the old Danish laws and customs. One of these makes it necessary for a man to have an income of $300 a year in order to vote. This law gives only about 300 people in the islands a chance at controlling legislation.

Strictly Correct.

Ernest and Henry go to a minister's home every day to do little odds and ends for him. One day Ernest came home and said: "Mother, me and Henry were over to the minister's house today." "Ernest," I said, "you should have said, 'Henry and I,'" to which he quickly answered, "Well, I got there ahead of him."

Got Him Worrying.

Tom—You don't really imagine that girls actually propose sometimes, do you?
Dick—Well, all I know is that this is leap year and some girls are getting married who never got married before.—Boston Transcript.
