HIGHLIGHTS CONVENTION

By VOLIE WILLIAMS, JR.

CHICAGO, Ill. (Special)—As delegates make their way to the international amphitheatre for their second day's deliberations, the weather is as hot as the fight over civil rights and the temper of a lot of Southerners after last night's fiasco about the "party loyalty oath."

It had been rumored that a compromise settlement on the "loyalty oath" was being worked out; however, if it was Senator Blair Moody and Rep. F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., knew nothing about it. Some delegates here from Florida are of the opinion that the passage of the "loyalty oath" rule last night is but a prelude to the inclusion of a strong civil rights plank in the platform. They are inclined to believe that last night's fight was a test of strength.

There is a feeling among many of the members of the Florida delegation that while there may not have been the necessary one-fifth of the delegates standing to demand a roll call on the final passage of the Moody amendment, Governor Paul Devereux was not exactly impartial in his demand. They also complained that on the final vote many of the visitors in the balconies cast their ballots too.

Coming in to the city last night after it was over, three delegates from Massachusetts stated to us that they thought the matter could have been better handled, and that Governor Devereux was not fair in some of his rulings.

For the first time, 54 year old bachelor Dick Russell entertained the delegates at a reception in the Conrad Hilton Hotel yesterday afternoon. His house was his dining room. Mrs. Russell, who is a dress and as she came into the room, Jo Adams, one of the Senator's press representatives, placed a blue-brimmed white sailor hat on her head. As ornaments, there were about 20 medals. Russell, President, buttons critics over the top and bottom of the hat, and two large "Nominattee" badges on top. You would think that such a hat would be worn with a demure; however, it was quite becoming on this gracious lady. Mrs. Spensard L. Holland and Mrs. John Spornman poured coffee for the guests.

Senator and Nancy Kefauver also entertained at reception in the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton yesterday afternoon. Several hundred of the delegates and well-wishers attended. Mrs. Kefauver appears to be a statesman's wife. Kefauver still leads in pledged delegates and yesterday he broke another political rule of long standing by setting himself as a delegate on the floor and stating that he would handle his campaign from there.

Former Senator Claude Pepper today denied that he was seeking the vice-presidential post as had been reported by some of the press. He stated that although he would seek the post, he was not a candidate. He added that he was not a candidate because he was working within the Florida delegation in support of a candidate who had previously endorsed the candidate and is active in his behalf at the convention. The purported compromise hinges on the Russell delegate supporting Kefauver, if after several ballots it appears that Russell will be eliminated, and if the five Kefauver delegates will swing their support to Russell if (Continued on Page 10)

D. C. Howard, left, was elected as the new Noble Grand for the second half of the year by Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Lodge 27, last night in a meeting in the IOOF Hall on Magnolia Avenue. J. E. Baker, right, was voted in as the Vice Grand. Noble Grand Howard announced the new slate of officers. District Deputy Grand Master, W. C. Lincoln of St. Cloud, officiated at the installation ceremony.

Falsone Reveals Legion's Child Welfare Work

Frank Falsone of Tampa, department commander of the American Legion, addressing some 100 Sanford legionnaires, distinguished guests and new members of the Post No. 53 last night, described the Legion child welfare program and noted the lack of suitable hospital facilities to accommodate the sick, disabled and mentally incapable.

At a business meeting following the Legion fish fry and preceding Mr. Falsone's address, two new members, Robert T. Ryan and Samuel U. Norris, were accepted for membership. The Legion baseball team was introduced to the group by Donny Cordell, commander of the post, who presided over the business meeting.

The team is to play in the tournament beginning at Tinker Field in Orlando today. Mr. Falsone, in his address, which was not prepared and "from the heart," told how much he enjoyed working for the Legion, especially for the disabled veterans and children's welfare parts of (Continued on Page 10)

Bomber Crash Takes 6 Lives At Marianna

B-47 Jet Plane From MacDill Explodes Killing 4 In Crew, 2 Children In Yard

MARIANNA (AP)—A B-47 engine jet bomber exploded in flight here today, killed its crew of four and set a suburban home fire that took the lives of two children. The children were Peggy Diane Williams, 5, and her 3-year-old brother, Rufus. They were playing in the yard of their home and suffered burns when a motor of the big plane crashed into the house and set it afire about 7:30 a. m. CST.

They died almost simultaneously five hours later at the Jackson County Hospital, just a block from the scene of the crash. A 6-year-old brother, first thought to be missing, was found unharmed. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Williams.

The house which burned was the home of the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Fort, Mrs. Fort, 61, and Mrs. W. C. Segers were hospitalized with burns.

It was the second fatal crash of one of the Air Force's latest, fastest and biggest jet bombers in three weeks. It was followed promptly by an order calling in all B-47s from training flights out of MacDill Field at Tampa for temporary grounding.

An Air Force official at Maxwell Field, Ala., said the big Tampa-based Stratofort exploded at an altitude of about 7,500 feet.

The concussion shook and alarmed this city of about 3,000, and wreckage of the plane was scattered over a wide area.

A wing fell on the high school campus, the engine struck the Fort House near the hospital. A freight train engineer said another piece of the plane nearly hit his engine several miles away.

Bodies of the three airmen were found in part of the fuselage which landed about 200 yards from the burning house. Their names were not immediately disclosed by the Air Force.

The case of James Lynn, charged with drunken driving, was continued, due to the transfer of a material witness by the United States Navy from the Sanford Auxiliary Naval Air Station to another station.

Defense Of Politicians

Through the years Americans have developed a cynicism about politics and politicians which may be responsible for some of the ills in our government at all levels. A common expression has it that "all politicians are alike." If all politicians are alike there is little sense in going to the polls and voting.

It is a thoughtful statement in a television news program that a Congressman from Illinois if it were possible for a man to remain honest and rise to the office of President of the United States, Senator Douglas replied emphatically that most of our presidents have been honest men and he added that politicians are no more dishonest as a group than businessmen or college professors.

It would be naive to deny that some corrupt men manage to occupy high offices in national, state and local governments. In the major political parties ruthless men sometimes gain power and use it for their own ends. Yet our history books tell of many men who were great politicians whose honesty has never been questioned.

There are political amateurs who manage to get elected occasionally but for the most part governors, congressmen and presidents have been professional politicians. Generalizations about the honesty of politicians would indict them all.

Politicians are not saints. Too many of them are unscrupulous and corrupt. But there are many politicians who honestly try to apply their talents to doing what is best for the people they serve. Cynicism is no answer to political dishonesty nor does it encourage good men to make politics a career.

New Klan Klub

The Ku Klux Klan in Florida has announced the formation of a new group to be called "The American Confederate Knights." Its members are pledged to defend what they call "Constitutional Rights" with guns if necessary. The name of the Klan-sponsored group is a sacrilege which will cause resentment among Southerners who honor the memory of the cause for which so many of their forebears fought.

The group, Klan leaders say, will be composed of white, Christian Americans. No follower of the doctrines of Jesus Christ could ally himself with the Klan or with any of the hate groups which draw their membership from the bigoted and the narrow minded.

The concern of the new Klan group with Constitutional rights is a surprise to those who have observed the Klan for long. There seems to be nothing in the Constitution granting the right to band together in lynch mobs, the right to whip other men or drive them from their homes. These "rights" are sacred to terrorists of the Klan and it is not to understand why they are ready to fight for them.

The new late venture by the Ku Klux Klan will probably fall flat on its face. There was a time when the Klan struck terror into the hearts of people everywhere. Today its significance has faded. Intelligent Americans in North and South both have raised the hood from the bully's head and have discovered the face of a fool and a coward.

Christmas In July

Toy Guidance Council, Inc. has announced that Christmas toys this year will deal with space travel and atomic energy. It may seem strange to talk of Christmas toys in the midst of summer heat but that is the time when manufacturers and retailers prepare for the Yuletide rush.

If it is to be space toys for the youngsters we will just have to make the best of it. For some time now the living-room has had all the appearance of a corral. Perhaps with children's imagination soaring through space their possessors will stop riding so wildly through the house.

We lived through the days of the wild west and we shall probably survive the youngsters' attempt to conquer space. As for atomic energy, it will be no new experience in any household with several children.

Mrs. Peeble Mourns Barkley's Fall, Cheers Roosevelt Rise At Chicago

By HAL ROYLE
CHICAGO (AP)—Dearest Wilbur, Politics is cruel. You give your vote to the people, and when you look them a twilight favor—they look the other way.

I feel both sad and proud to say that as if I were the daughter of Vice President Barkley, and the sister of young Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

At the Convention Hall Monday saw the political death of "Dear Wilbur," and the birth of a national political figure of President Roosevelt's son. In a single day I saw the sun set for one man of 74 years—and the sun rise on a man who has lived just half that long.

I went to the evening session as a guest of a dubious Texas delegate. I believe I mentioned him in my first letter to you. He is a very courteous gentleman and says he owns a "small oilfield—not more than half the size of Illinois. He sent an orchid to my room for me to wear. It was a small orchid—not more than half the size of Chicago, but colored prettier.

Well the Democrats got to squabbling like Republicans, and fought the Civil War all over again trying to get the Dixiecrats to take a loyalty oath to support the party's candidates. Lacking either a Robert R. Lee or a Stonewall Jackson, the South lost out fast.

In the midst of the battle word spread around that Vice President Barkley was withdrawing from the race for the presidential nomination.

The lady next to me was from Kentucky, and she started crying. "That grand old man," she said, "they have broken his heart, and he gave 47 years to his country. It was cruel to remind him of his age. He still has a younger, kinder heart than most anybody here."

Without you, you know I'm an old totter. I started crying, too, and we traded handkerchiefs. Then this lady and I started talking, and it turned out she has the same kind of refrigerator as we do. I guess it is a small world after all. We are going shopping together tomorrow.

It looks to me like the Democrats have decided youth must be served, as the old saying goes. The young Democrats here have taken up and taken over the party's first unboosted convention in 20 years. It was a coalition of three politically young men who put over the "loyalty oath" designed to keep the South from bolting again. They were Sen. Blair Moody, Gov. G. Mennen Williams—a handsome, clean-shaven fellow—and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.

But it was young Roosevelt who took the convention by storm. The delegates sprang up cheering when he was introduced as "the great son of a great President."

It was as if a giant pulse of electricity had swept the great hall, that politically magic name. He had the famous Roosevelt vest of the head. The sweeping Roosevelt gesture. . . a voice rougher and more booming than his father as he said:

"We do not want to drive Democrats out of the party with force. We want to keep them in the party."

As he spoke he looked up at a portrait of his dad at the other end of the hall. I know I am being sentimental, but I thought you could actually see the face of his father break into a small secret smile of pride in his son—just a crinkling at the corners of his mouth. Am I being silly, Wilbur?

Anyway, the convention now is humming with word that young Franklin made himself into a national figure in his first speech at a party convention.

But the latest news is that he may be nominated next year. He said one enthusiastic delegate, "and keep her son in both balls until 1960 and run him for President."

Such reports, officials had said earlier Monday, are coming in faster than at any time since the initial flood in 1947. The current average is about 100 sightings a month.

The flying saucers over the capital were reported late Monday, about 36 hours after the incident actually occurred.

HUGH HOTEL PLANNED
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Plans to build a huge new luxury hotel costing eight to 10 million dollars on the late Harry Winston's estate were announced here Monday.

The report said the estate, fronting 700 feet on the ocean north from 44th Street, sold for $2,000,000.

The late automobile tire magnate used to entertain Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison and others in his mansion, which included 18 bedrooms.

Harry Mulson, associated with Ben Novak in the purchasing group, said the new hotel would be "twice as big as anything now on Miami Beach."

The flying saucers over the capital were reported late Monday, about 36 hours after the incident actually occurred.

The Navy identified the vessel as Ensign Robert Lavon Odum, 21, and Ensign Eugene Steadman, 21, said the men were last seen in Anderson Jr., Jacksonville.

Tower Operator And Radar Sight Queer Objects

CLEVELAND (AP)—A control tower operator said today "golden lights" have been sighted over Cleveland and on one occasion he sent an airplane to look for something that appeared on a radar screen.

George Heister, senior operator on the midwest shift of the control tower at Cleveland Hopkins Airport, said "One night six of us switched from the darkened tower room while a light hovered north of the field. We don't know what it was. All six of us saw it."

"Another time I actually saw a light making a circular pattern over nearby Alyria. I picked it up on the radar screen and watched it.

On another occasion a tower operator and an incoming pilot both reported seeing a light that "blinked and traveled in an easterly direction much faster than the normal operational speed of any aircraft known to be in this vicinity," said Heister.

Convention

building for the nomination, said he would stick it out.

Sen. Estes Kefauver also showed no signs of pulling out.

The loyalty rule, slammed through in the early hours of today, is aimed to require that delegates pledge to do all they can to get the convention's nominees on the ballots in their states as the rightful Democratic candidates.

Georgia and South Carolina delegations voted formally that they wouldn't take such a pledge. They contend it would be in conflict with state laws and state party rules.

Louisiana's delegation also took the same attitude.

All rejected the idea of walking out of the convention.

Their strategy instead was to take their seats and leave the next move up to the Fair Dealers who put in the rule.

Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia put it this way: "Our next step is to return to the convention and take our seats as the sovereign state of Georgia."

The governor said this meant that they would "sit it out" until they are either seated or thrown out.

Former Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the 1948 States Rights presidential candidate, also stated he expected to be thrown out.

He told reporters, "It looks like they are not going to seat us unless the convention reverses its decision (on the rule)."

Gov. James F. Byrnes said: "The Democratic Party of South Carolina prefers to affiliate with the national Democratic Party but its delegates are unwilling to pledge themselves to support whatever action may be taken here after by those in control of this convention."

There was considerable anger even among some of the Southerners who felt the rule was not in conflict with their state laws or rules and were not formally rebelling.

The North Carolina delegation, after warm discussion, voted to inform the convention Credentials Committee that under North Carolina law the names of the convention's nominees would be placed on the ballot in November.

But the North Carolina delegation balked at taking any formal pledge.

Sen. Willis Smith told the delegation he didn't believe "the men running this convention believe in honesty and fairness" and he cautioned the delegation to be alert to fight, he said.

"We have got to let the goons of New York, Massachusetts, Michigan and other states know we're not going to goose step at their crack of the whip."

Virginia's delegation denounced the loyalty rule and appointed a committee to draft a statement of Virginia's views. This is to come back for delegation consideration before final action.

There was some hot talk at the meeting of the Virginians. Slapping at the rule, former Gov. William Tuck, state chairman, said: "I am opposed to jumping through political hoops provided by political hoodlums."

The loyalty rule was presented to the convention by Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan. Gov. Paul A. Devine of Massachusetts, president of the convention, presided and gave the rule through without a roll call vote. One of those making an impassioned speech for it was Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. of New York.

The big row over the loyalty rule came to a floor climax late tonight with a report from the Credentials Committee as to which delegates have given it a

Chinese Recapture Old Baidy Crest In 5th Day Of Battle

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Chinese infantrymen today recaptured the crest of Old Baidy in the fifth day of a seven-day battle that has cost the Reds more than 1,000 casualties.

United Nations infantrymen still held the southeast slope of the bitterly contested hill west of Chon Baidy overlooks both the U. N. and Communist main lines of defense.

Associated Press Correspondent George McArthur at the front said about 200 Chinese pushed through heavy U. N. tank and artillery fire and retook the shell-scattered height.

U. N. troops reached the top of 230 m. (1230 ft.) Monday EST but were forced to pull back down at 9:30 a. m. in the face of heavier attacking Chinese and heavy Red artillery fire.

Once the Chinese had regained the top of Old Baidy, McArthur reported, U. S. Fifth Air Force planes plastered the area with flaming gasoline.

U. N. tanks and artillery shelled the area with a tremendous barrage.

Chinese artillery knocked out three tanks in the morning fighting.

U. N. fighter bombers again hit a railroad repair center and cement factory between Sandung and Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

The Fifth Air Force said about 50 Thunderbolts destroyed three buildings, damaged a tunnel and made six direct hits on a locomotive repair shop.

Other planes flew close support missions along the 155-mile front which was relatively quiet except around Old Baidy.

representatives of the 82nd Congress, as far as applicable.

"Be it further resolved this convention believes in the great American principle of majority rule. No delegate shall be seated unless he shall give assurance to the Credentials Committee that he will exert every honorable means available to him in his official capacity he may have to provide that the nominees of the convention for President and vice president through their names or those of electors pledged to them, appear on the election ballot under the heading, name or designation of the Democratic Party.

"Such assurance shall be given by the chairman of each delegation, and shall not be binding upon those delegates who shall so signify to the Credentials Committee prior to its report to this convention."

He would accept, Schrick, replied: "He put it this way—he said if it came to him he couldn't turn it down."

Stevenson, in comment on Schrick's statement, said he had not seen the Indiana governor since a breakfast meeting of governors Monday.

Stevenson added in a statement: "I have no comment on anything he may have said except that I told again that I wanted to run for governor of Illinois and I hoped he would help me do so."

Here in this Amphitheater, the convention swung into its second day with more speech-making.

The delegates also got second lead.

General Henry S. Sanford

By ED RAY
Orlando Sentinel

There is a general very much in the news over in Sanford and for the moment his name isn't Eisenhower, it's Sanford.

Inspired by the DAR and other civic-minded groups, the City of Sanford has launched a campaign to raise a fund which to construct a fitting memorial to the late Gen. Henry S. Sanford, founder of our neighborhood community.

What makes the memorial of particular significance is the fact that it will be a fire-resistant building in which to house the general's priceless collection of books, antiques and objects of art which are to be given to the city by his daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Sanford Dow, of Derby, Conn.

Initiated are some 2,500 volumes—law books, diplomatic works and various classics in ancient and modern languages, a portrait of the general himself, the famous Belgian artist, J. M. W. Turner and a portrait of Gen. Sanford by Louis Gallait, painter of the Belgian royal family and numerous other paintings, bric-a-brac as well as three barrels of high-quality china and silver ornaments, Florentine draperies and antique chairs, desks, and buffets and other furniture gathered in the capitals of Europe.

HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Alan Ladd was the victim of thievery, but he has failed to register a complaint.

The culprit was Akim Tamiroff, character actor who has returned to the screen after a year absence. Using all the wiles he learned at the Moscow Art Theater, the actor stole a scene right out from under the handsome Ladd profile. But Ladd failed to squawk. In fact, he suggested a line to pad out Tamiroff's part. "Aren't you worried about having that scene thieved from you?" I asked Ladd when he exited from the set.

"Not at all," he replied blandly. "Tamiroff can do all the stealing he wants to. If it makes the picture better, that's all right with me."

Ladd's attitude is not completely altruistic. He has more than a passing interest in the film, which is one of those North Atlantic things called "Desert Legion." He will take half of the picture's profits and the other half goes to the studio. Universal international is a sentimental return for Laddie boy. He got his screen acting start on the lot way back in 1933.

"Universal had a fine program in those days," he explained. "The studio had talent hunts all over the country. They'd take kids out of college and bring them to the studio for the summer. The young stars would have two months of extensive training and put on a show every week for the executives. We didn't get paid anything, but it was great experience."

"I was picked because I had played Koko in 'The Mikado' at North Hollywood High School. All one of our shows old Carl Lamme, the head of the studio, said: 'What's that boy saying?' 'I can't hear him. The boy was me, and I was dropped after the two months."

Ladd suggested that the studios should institute such programs now.

"Hollywood will have to do something about finding new talent or the industry will be in serious trouble," he remarked. "This business is based on stars, but most of the studios are doing almost nothing about finding and developing new personalities."

"My old lot, Paramount, is an example. I saw 'Star Spangled Rhythm' the other night, and it made me realize how the talent roster has changed. That picture had stars like Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Paulette Goddard, Ray Milland, Sonny Tufts, Fred MacMurray, Dorothy Lamour, Veronica Lake, Betty Hutton. Now most of them are gone. And there doesn't seem to be any young talent coming up at Paramount."

"Universal is about the only studio making an attempt to build new stars. And it is paying off."

noted child psychologist; and one of the largest manufacturers of cosmetics in the country.

She praised the ideals of Pilot which has as its basic principle, "Friendship and Service" and declared that its objectives, "to develop friendships as a means of broadening the field of opportunity for service and to encourage and promote international peace and cultural relations" were playing a big part in helping to make the women of Japan much happier than they had ever been, and in cementing peaceful relationships between the United States and Japan.

Mrs. Esther McCall, president of the Orlando Club introduced Miss Marion Higman, St. Petersburg, governor of District Four and the presidents of the other clubs including Sanford, Daytona Beach, Deland, Winter Park, Winter Haven, Bartow, Ft. Pierce, all organized by the Orlando Club; and the Lake County Club, organized by Deland, and Coral Gables, organized by Jacksonville. The presidents in turn introduced their members and a charter member of each club gave a brief history of her club since its inception. Mrs. M. B. Smith presented the highlights for the Sanford Club.

The "Code of Ethics" was impressively given by Miss Mildred Davis and Miss Peggy Batten led the group in singing a number of songs throughout the evening to the piano accompaniment of Miss Johnnie McIntyre, noted organist and pianist of Orlando. The invocation was given by Mrs. Edna "Miss Fuller" of Orlando. Decorations consisted of Japanese prints, Ming trees in various colors, and a large colorful Japanese scarf which was draped across the speaker's table.

Those from Sanford attending were Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. G. A. Stine, Mrs. O. W. Touchton, Mrs. E. H. Laney, Mrs. Ruth Scott, Mrs. V. C. in production deals these days. He just completed a Warner picture, in which he has a percentage of the profits. He'll spend the rest of the year making two other films which will also deliver him a healthy slice of the proceeds.

One is "Red Heat," for which Commando raids will be re-staged in England and France. The other is "The White South," which is not a film about problems below the Mason-Dixon Line. It's a story of whale fishing in the Antarctic and will be filmed down yonder.

Ladd is not interested in problem pictures at this point, and his film schedule proves it. He subscribes to the old Hollywood saying, "Let Western Union carry the messages."

Lees and LeGettès Entertain Couple

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Charles LeGettès of Orlando entertained last night at 8:00 o'clock with a supper honoring Miss Nancy Williams and Kenneth Berry, bridal couple, at the Lee home at 2417 Laurel Avenue.

The group gathered in the summer house in the lovely gardens at the Lee home. Supper was served buffet style from a long table decorated with greenery and studded with hibiscus in shades of pink and rose. Hibiscus and sweetheart roses were used in decorating the rooms.

For the occasion the honorees wore a frock of black and white checked nylon silk with black accessories. During the evening the couple was presented with a crystal hostess tray.

Those invited to be with Miss Williams and Mr. Berry were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Estridge and son Sonny, Mrs. Nancy Dohbins, Mrs. Raymond Butler of Miami, Mrs. Hugh Darden and daughter Miss Betty Walker of West Point, Ga., Mrs. O. W. Strife-Plagued Demos Turning To Stevenson

Convention Approves Ambiguous Rule To Keep Southerners From Bolting Party

By JACK BELL.
CONVENTION HILL, Chicago (Special)—Democrat turned today toward Bible-quoting Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois for the nomination made which might dispel the lowering threat of a Dixie walkout.

The Stevenson friends professed to find a possible presidential nominee who could draw the string of a wound opening defeat for political Southern Democrats in the convention. The shouting and shouting during the early hours of the convention, the rule which would effect that delegates must give assurance they will not bolt, "honorable means" to see that the convention's presidential and vice-presidential nominees get on their state's ballot.

It was shown down the throats of protesting Dixie delegations that Blair Moody of Michigan, newspaperman turned politician, would put them in the position of violating their state laws of party organization instructions.

made other commitments. The vice president said that leaders of certain big state delegations who had been egging him on to run had "found it expedient to withdraw their support."

There wasn't too much doubt in anyone's mind that these delegations were moving toward Stevenson. Even New York's 48-vote group, the bulk of which has been committed to W. Averell Harriman, showed signs of wavering.

This put Stevenson under more and more compulsion so far as the nomination is concerned. He has said he wants only to run for re-election as governor of Illinois and has urged delegates not to put him in nomination.

But when he signed off for a few hours sleep early today, he referred newsmen to Matthew 28:30 which says: "O, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless, not as I will but as Thou wilt."

The Stevenson boom had a spontaneous air but it gave some politicians the impression that there was more behind it than met the eye.

Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa, a diehard Barkley supporter, said he knew what was going on because a dozen button-holding Democrats had been around in see him about the possibility of dressing up some Stevenson votes among Iowa's 21 "An attempt is being made to stampede this convention for Stevenson, but I don't think it will succeed," he declared.

ever, would offer two men who have said repeatedly they aren't interested in the job for which they were campaigning.

In all this topsy-turvy jockeying, the wishes of President Truman remained unknown. It began to look, in some respects, as if Mr. Truman might become the forgotten man of the convention, so far as the nomination is concerned.

He had made his weight felt, however, in the adoption of the Moody proposal. He would be heard from, many delegates thought, if the convention did go down the line for a strong civil rights plank.

But Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told a reporter he doesn't believe Mr. Truman's views on the nominee will be made known to the President's scheduled arrival here Thursday to take over the Missouri delegate seat warmed by an alternate, Thomas J. Gavin, Kansas.

The nomination battle might be all over at that point. In fact, there was some talk of Stevenson as a first-ballot winner.

Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana favored Stevenson from the now daily day when Chief Justice Fred Vinson made it known he wouldn't step off the Supreme Court, the Illinois governor has been about as expected at the convention. He said he doesn't believe Mr. Truman will indicate any choice for the nomination unless a deadlock develops.

Jacksonville Journal Cameraman, Reporter Asked To Leave

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—City Councilman James C. Merrill smashed a Jacksonville Journal photographer's camera at a Council committee session Monday and ordered a Journal reporter from the meeting.

Just trying to send the bill to me and see what happens," Merrill told Photographer Jim Chester after he slammed the equipment to the floor.

Merrill is president of the Merrill Stevens Dry Dock and Repair Co. large shipyard facility on the St. Johns River here.

The value of the ruined photographic equipment was fixed at $203 by Chester.

The camera smashing incident came when Chester prepared to take a picture soon after the Council members went into session.

"I don't want my picture taken," Merrill said.

Two Test Runs On Highway 1 Reveal Improvement Need

Tallahassee On Two recent time-test runs down U. S. 1 from Jacksonville to Miami definitely show the need for more highway facilities along the East Coast, a New York engineering firm said today.

The firm—Parsons, Brinckerhoff Hall and McDonald—said the first 100-mile run took more than nine hours and the second more than 10 hours. The engineers estimated the trip could be made in six hours by observing maximum speed limits without any traffic delays and without normal conditions.

The firm in the third installment of its 8-chapter report on the state's future highway needs, still made no direct reference to a toll turnpike between Jacksonville and Miami, although the survey was ordered by the State Road Department primarily to determine the feasibility of an East Coast turnpike.

The report said heaviest passenger car traffic is along the East Coast between Miami and Jacksonville but that truck traffic generated by the West Coast region in the vicinity of Tampa and St. Petersburg approximately equals that generated by Miami and other southeastern regions.

The engineers also said Orlando, Ocala and the Plant City-Haines City areas "are large generators of passenger and truck traffic."

The final chapter of the engineers' report is due July 25.

Alfred McKeithan, chairman of the Road Department, said the board will meet here July 22 to make its own report and recommendations on the engineering firm's findings.

It appears that Kefauver will be eliminated. Since last night's small expression, the Florida delegation has yet not caucused. However, about 3:30 a.m. this morning I went over to the Morrison Hotel where the delegation is staying and talked with several of them as they came in from the convention.

Here are some comments of delegates and alternates. Mrs. C. H. Taylor, Jr. of 4th district, "We don't go home and crawl under the bed. The surely stepped us in the face." Mrs. Thelma Sheffield, St. Petersburg, vice-chairman, State Democratic Executive Committee, "It seems to me that the proponents of the amendment were high-handed—and although this may help the candidacy of Senator Kefauver whom I am supporting—I don't like railing against anyone who is the engineer."
