

STRIKERS BLACK EASILY GUARD TROOPS

Operations Resumed In Miami City Speedily, Without Disasters

Sanford, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The strike of Georgia's commercial airplane pilots, who were on picket lines, who had been ordered to leave their homes, was no disaster as the strikers had a path for resumption of operations.

By Adjutant General Camp and L. C. Foy, five companies of National Guardsmen invaded Sanford at daylight and drove the strikers from the airport. Authority broke through that he held the strike for months.

Three miles long caravan of strikers descended first on the St. Johns and Range Counties. A group of pickets quickly crossed across the street under a shower of bayonets and machine guns. The troops scattered the strikers about the city.

When holding the strikers for the National Guard permit, they were to leave for their homes. There was no disorder as the strikers and troops exchanged no shots.

They are going to treat these strikers as we would like to be treated by them," Gus Latimer, chairman of the strike committee, said as he was herded into the rest of the strikers.

They asked for more money and got it and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the National Labor unions ordered a strike.

General Camp told the strikers that only three pickets would be allowed at the entrance of each street under martial law orders.

The strikers began mobilizing in Sanford, Fla. for the day after the strike on Tuesday after Sheriff Foy reported the situation.

They immediately set out on a strike. The strikers had been on strike for between 600 and 1200 days.

INSULL JURY HEARS BASIS OF INDICTMENT

The banker, grocer, salesman, and jobless—was sworn yesterday to all in judgment upon Samuel Insull and the 14 men who were masters, with him, of the $143,000,000 Corporation Securities Company now in ruins.

With their selection, the set was complete for the trial of those 17 big business men charged with selling that company's worthless stock by mail. The jurors, whose verdict might send the Insulls and their company's board of directors to prison, fine them or free them, presented a varied appearance. Next to an unemployed salesman, jobless for months, sat a former banker. Another was a retired factory manager who said he and his wife owned plenty of Insull bonds, but it wouldn't prejudice them.

Mr. Caldwell personally supervised removal of the several hundred long wooden poles that now are used as a road-bed leading into the Municipal Dump, and he is unusually proud of the fact that his crew completed the job in such a short time. The company offered to do the job for $850, payable in taxes, and the City Commissioners said "Go ahead."

PRICE FIXING TABOO UNDER REVIVED NRA

Trend Of New Set-Up Soon Heading Away From Emergency Acts of Last Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—Uncovering a probable change of course for the NRA, Donald R. Richberg, the President's Recovery coordinator, advised American business yesterday to leave the "toppled guild socialism" of price fixing and production control in favor of "the old competitive system."

He labeled an "iridescent dream" the belief of some industrialists that permanent prosperity can be obtained through the price fixing, production limiting method. At the same time he asserted such practices were justified in emergencies to prevent the waste of natural resources.

These statements, coming from the direction of the policy committee which is directing the New Deal's course, were interpreted immediately as pointing away from fixed prices and limited production in NRA codes. The gradual reopening of all major codes on these issues was forecast.

Business men themselves, Richberg said, should be prepared to meet the competition. (Continued On Page 6)

CLOTHING PRICES WILL BE HIGHER, SAYS WEINSTEIN

Prominent Merchant Says It's Wise To Buy For Quality Now

"It would be wise to buy quality merchandise now," stated George Weinstein, prominent First Street merchant this afternoon, as he sounded a warning that "Prices on quality merchandise will be a great deal higher within the next 90 days."

Mr. Weinstein's opinion is based on impressions secured and contracts made during his recent 10-day trip into the Northern markets. He returned Wednesday completing his round-trip motor tour.

"Conditions in the garment industry," Mr. Weinstein explained, "are very unsettled just at this time. The manufacturers are not gambling one bit. The strike came and went but its effect still is felt. Right now, the manufacturers are contemplating the 30 hour work week plan, and that will mean a rise in prices. It's safe to say that within 90 days the price of quality merchandise will be much higher than it is today. It's coming, and you can see it in the conditions and the attitude of the manufacturer."

New Yorkers are really Florida-conscious, Mr. Weinstein revealed during a short interview. "There's a feeling up there that Florida will have its best since this winter," he said, "and the tourists are coming early. I saw more people on the road to Florida this year than at any other time, and it appears that we'll be taxed to capacity very soon."

One of the reasons why the state may expect an influx of winter visitors this year, Mr. Weinstein said, is that experts are predicting the most severe winter in years.

Again, "Florida has been advertised to such an extent that people who have never been attracted to its advantages now are interested, and they're coming along with the older and earlier winter visitors."

Brightest spots in the South today, Mr. Weinstein believes, are those in North Carolina and South Carolina. Business appears at top speed, he said, and it is very apparent to the motorist passing through those states.

POLICIES OF NEW DEAL ARE AGAIN SCORED

Recovery In Steel, Allied Industries Said Held Back As Result Of Program

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—Declaring that "no business is willing to spend a dollar except for immediate requirements," T. M. Girdler, chairman of the board of the Republic Steel Corporation, declared last night the policies and philosophies of the "New Deal" are holding back recovery in steel and allied industries.

Girdler, addressing the American society for metals, criticized the monetary policy of the Roosevelt Administration, saying: "When business has some assurance as to what the dollar may be expected to be worth a year from now, then business may venture to plan a year ahead. But until that time, it will make no commitments except for immediate needs."

"I have no argument to make either for or against inflation. That isn't the point. The point is, that which way are we going, and how far? When I know that, I can plan accordingly. I think business should demand from the Administration a concrete answer to that question."

The second "difficulty," Girdler declared, in progress in the steel and durable goods industries is "the hesitation with respect to long term financing and distribution of investments."

Girdler said, in his opinion, the new securities act "is not the principal deterrent to the flotation of new capital issues" adding that "from my understanding of this act, I believe that it will, especially when modified by practical experience, prove to be helpful."

What is "holding back the issuance of new securities," the steel man said, "is not so much the new securities act, as the often expressed New Deal philosophy with respect to redistribution of wealth, and the discouragement of the opportunity of business to make a profit."

Being the steel industry was in complete sympathy with the efforts of the Administration to shorten hours and raise wages, Girdler declared: "Unfortunately for the New Deal, it is one of the simple rules of economics that in order for money to be paid out, that money must be taken in."

Cary Grant, Film Star, Treated For Poison

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—A man identifying himself as Cary Grant, movie star, was given emergency treatment at Hollywood Hospital today for poisoning. He was able to leave unassisted after treatment. His physician, Dr. C. E. Cornell said, a stomach pump had been used to save Grant's life.

Located at his home later, Grant refused to comment other than to say the doctor would have to do the talking.

Dr. Cornell said the actor was suffering from a deadly poison. Grant last week came into the public eye when he announced that he and his wife, Virginia Cherrill, also of the screen and a one-time leading lady for Charlie Chaplin, had separated. He had announced, however, that he hoped to patch up their differences.

Grant was treated for alcoholism early today by emergency doctors who had responded to a call that he had been poisoned.

SCHOOL BOARD JAYCEES TO ASK ACTS TO STOP COMMISSION TO GROWING EVIL LIGHT UP CITY

Pupils Must Attend School In District In Which They Live

Immediate enforcement of the state ruling which requires that all children attend schools in the districts in which they reside unless special permission is otherwise granted was agreed upon by the Board of Public Instruction during its October meeting yesterday, as being needed to correct an evil which is growing yearly.

Accordingly, Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawton today instructed all bus drivers not to transport pupils, who are known to be residents of one district, into another district for the purpose of attending school.

One exception was made, however, and that is that any pupil in any district may secure free transportation if he or she wishes to attend Seminole High School in Sanford.

Cases are many where pupils living in one community, are found enrolled in another community, even though it may be 10 or 15 miles away. Such practice, the Board agreed, is not only unnecessary but it places an additional burden and responsibility upon the driver.

The Board approved contracts for bus transportation with the following: George Long of Chuluota, and... (Continued on Page Two)

HAYES REPLIES TO CHARGES OF NOTED EDITOR

Dr. Leach Assailed By Legion Commander For His Indictment Of National Group

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, charged in a speech prepared for delivery last night that Dr. Henry Goddard Leach was guilty of "abysmal ignorance or an intention to deceive" when he accused the Legion of "plundering the public treasury."

The Legion chief, replying sharply to the charges of the noted editor of the Forum Magazine, answered a series of questions put to him by Dr. Leach in an address Sept. 18.

Hayes did not directly refer to either his opponent or the Forum Magazine. In a preface to his speech he said this was intentional because he believed Dr. Leach was "looking for money from additional sales of your so-called magazine."

"Figuratively," Hayes answered "you sift in the faces of the compensated war veterans of the World War and insult 63 Senators and 310 members of the House of Representatives."

Dr. Leach described the Legion as "presumptive, gouging and grasping" with a lobby that "intimidated and cajoled senators and congressmen with promises of votes."

Hayes said all the Legion ever sought was compensation for service disability and that only eight percent of the World War veterans were receiving such compensation.

Dr. Leach asked if it wasn't true that the war insurance act introduced by Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, was intended to eliminate such demands as the Legion was making.

The insurance act, Hayes replied, covered only death or permanent total disability.

"Surely," he said, "you do not accuse our splendid wartime secretary of having intended that such a paid-for policy would discharge our government's obligation to those who did not die but were partially injured."

The National Legion commander said that of the $40,000,000 made available by Congress for service-incurred disability $30,000,000 was money taken from wartime comrades under provisions of the Economy Act.

"You, like others who spout words conceived by a mind blinded by the fog of unwarranted suspicion, are confused when you ask whether the Legion sponsored adjusted service compensation under the thesis that it would eliminate service pensions."

Dr. Leach asked Hayes to (Continued On Page 2)

Cross-State Canal Plan Killed By PWA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—Prospects for a Public Works allotment for the proposed Atlantic-Gulf ship canal across Florida virtually were wiped out yesterday by a report of a special board of Army engineers and PWA officials that the project was outside "the normal self-liquidating requirements under PWA regulations for repayment and amortization."

The board reported the canal could earn operating and maintenance expenses but would not return a bond issue even at 2 percent interest, within a reasonable time and that the loan necessary for construction could not be repaid without interest, in less than 99 years.

For Those Who Like Avocados This Is Great

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—The avocado, an alligator pear, product of an up-and-coming orchard industry in Florida and California, now appears on tables of select Washington homes in cocktail form to whet the appetites of diplomats and government officials.

"To make a delicious cocktail with avocado or alligator pear use one cup catsup; one teaspoon of onion juice; juice of one half lemon; one half teaspoon appetizing sauce.
Peel and dice the alligator pear, having it very cold. Mix the other ingredients. Then mix with the pear, chill thoroughly and serve in a crisp lettuce leaf, or in a cocktail cup, in a setting of cracked ice.
The same newspaper recommended other choice dishes made from Florida products, under the heading "Orange and Avocado Popular Dessert." "Orange Short Cake

Is Topping Dish," and "Orange and Lemon or Aids Gingerbread."
"White Collar" Idle Forgotten By FERA
JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 5. (AP)—Jerome A. Connor, assistant FERA administrator, said last night all regional administrators had been informed no federal funds had been made available this month for "white collar" projects.
These projects—which include various statistical surveys, recreational activities, and other similar employment—automatically were outlined, Connor said, but definite action was left to the regional administration.

THROUGH WITH EDWARDS
BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Oct. 5. (AP)—Miss Margaret Crain, Endicott music teacher, told The Associated Press Wednesday that she would not resume her relations with Robert Edwards, her erstwhile fiance, if he is acquitted at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., of a charge of slaying his childhood sweetheart, Freda McKechnie.
