DEATH CLAIMS D.HOOD AFTER AN OPERATION

Prominent Citizen And Developer Dies Sudden- ly Tuesday Night At Orlando Hospital

Owned Valuable Property Here

Deceased Gave Liberally To Church And
Missionary Groups

J. D. Hood, one of Sanford's most prominent citizens and an outstanding developer, passed away suddenly last night at the Orange General Hospital in Orlando, following a major operation, which he had undergone the day before.

Mr. Hood's death was unexpected and came as a great shock to scores of friends, who mourned his death today as a tremendous loss to Sanford and Seminole County.

Although in a general way he had enjoyed good health, Mr. Hood was prevailed upon to submit to the surgeon's knife and was expected to remedy an ailment from which he had suffered considerably at times. He was weakened a great deal by the operation, but attending physicians believed he would recover. Last night the patient suffered setback and died shortly afterwards at 10:10 o'clock. With him when he passed away was Mrs. Hood.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed today, being delayed pending arrival of relatives from Georgia. While the body rested in the Miller-Erickson Funeral Home, the Hood residence near Paola was visited by scores of friends.

County Gives $300 To Bugle Corps For Trip To Convention

A donation of $300 with which to defray the expenses of the American Legion drum and bugle corps to the state convention, to be held this month at Coral Gables, was authorized by the County Commissioners at their meeting yesterday.

Senate Body Okeys Green For Judgeship

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—The nomination of Rep. William R. Green, (R) of Iowa, as a judge on the United States court of claims, was approved today by a Senate Judiciary sub-committee, which will report to the full committee next Monday.

The sub-committee voted two to one to confirm Green, whose appointment was under fire on charges that "big business" wanted him removed as chairman of the House ways and means committee, because of his defense of inheritance taxes.

ESTRIDGE, SPEER, HERNDON, TATE IN RACE FOR OFFICE

Four Candidates Announce To- day Two For Constable And Two For Justice Of Peace, All In Fourth District

The county political situation was enlivened today with the announcement of four more candidates, two of them for justice of peace and two for constable, all in district four. The group included Osborne P. Herndon and David Speer for justice of peace and L. H. Estridge and L. H. Tate for constable.

The mad scramble for these two offices followed the County Commissioners' failure to re-establish justice of peace district number one, which was combined last year with number four. It was generally expected that the Board would recreate the local district and yesterday's meeting was the time scheduled for the action. The matter, however, wasn't even discussed and the district will remain as it is now, including the eight precincts of Sanford, Lake Monroe, Lake Mary, Longwood, Altamonte, Paola, Forrest City.

Each of the four candidates announcing today is a resident of Sanford and well known all over the county.

Mr. Estridge has been a resident of this city for 17 years, coming here from Marion county, where he was born. He has been connected with the celery farming industry and has also engaged in the fertilizer business. He elected constable, Mr. Estridge promises an efficient administration. In commenting on his candidacy, he said:

"If the people of this district honor me with election, I promise to enforce the laws to the best of my ability, serving faithfully and efficiently at all times."

PRETTY WIDOW TELLS TALE OF SLAYING MATE

Velma West, Hammer Slayer Of Husband In Honeycomb Bungalow, Recounts Murder Before Starting To Prison

Lost Self Control In Fit Of Anger

Blonde Wife Literally Bent Husband To Death When He Fussed About Bridge Party

PAINSVILLE, O., Mar. 7.—(INS)—Smoking one cigarette after another, Velma West, the blonde flapper "hammer slayer," for the first time told her own story of the murder of her husband and of her life, fears and ambitions, in a remarkable interview with this writer in the Lake county jail just before she departed today for the Ohio reformatory for women to serve a term of life imprisonment.

The interview, which lasted more than two hours, was virtually a confession on Velma's part. The only other person present was Sheriff Edward Rasmussen who solved the murder of T. Edward West, the 28 year old husband whom Velma literally hammered to death because he would not allow her to attend a bridge party. It was Velma's story just as she would have told it to the witness stand had her case gone to trial.

Q.—(By this reporter)—Why did you kill your husband?
A.—I lost all control of myself. I hit him with the hammer again and again. I don't know how many times. I don't know what I was doing. It was dreadful. The memory of that tragic occurrence will always remain with me.

Q.—Was the murder premeditated? Did you have the idea of killing him?
A.—No. I had no idea of killing him. I was just in a fit of anger.

Heart Trouble Is Fatal To Jake M. Garrett Of Sanford

Jake M. Garrett, 69, passed away suddenly last night about 12:30 o'clock at his home, 1102 Oak Avenue following a heart attack. Mr. Garrett was stricken a few minutes before midnight and expired shortly afterwards.

Television Between Land And Ship Is Accomplished By Berengaria Operator

LONDON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—High interest was aroused in scientific circles today by the news that television between a transatlantic steamship and the shore was accomplished last night for the first time in the history of this latest radio invention.

S. W. Brown, wireless operator on the Cunard liner Berengaria, saw the face of his sweetheart, Dorothy Selvy, broadcast by the Baird Television Company from the company's laboratory in Long-acre, London.

The liner was in mid-ocean, about 1,500 miles from London. According to a message wirelessly by Brown the experiment was entirely successful. The operator reported that he had watched his fiancée's movements for 15 minutes upon a special receiving apparatus in the Berengaria's wireless room.

While progress is being made in the field of television, Senator Guglielmo Marconi, of Italy, the "wireless wizard," is devoting his genius to perfect wireless telephonic communication.

Senator Marconi is certain that it will not be many years before it is possible to talk around the world.

"The possibilities in radio are greater now than ever before," said Senator Marconi. "From the developments under way and contemplated we may look upon a 'wired world' in the next three or four years. I do not think it will be very long until Great Britain will be able to hold wireless telephone conversations with her colonies around the world. In a month or two wireless telephonic communication will be established between London and Canada."

Senator Marconi said a system has been devised to secure secrecy for radio messages.

NORRIS SHOALS PLAN DESTINED FOR ADOPTION

Proposed To Sell Plant As Power Project And Use Pro- ceeds In Fertilizer Experi- ments Gains Much Support

Jardine Puts Okey On Impending Bill

Scheme Would Be Big Boom To Farmers In Furnishing Them Cheaper Fertilizers

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—Debate over disposition of the Shoals project entered its closing stages in the Senate today with all indications pointing to the Norris plan.

The fundamental purpose of the plan, proposed by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, to dispose of Muscle Shoals as a power project and use all proceeds for experiments in cheap fertilizers, gained support in administration circles following its endorsement by Secretary of Agriculture, Jardine.

The latter declared the Norris plan would enable his department to render "agriculture the maximum benefit."

Norris proposed that the government operate the project, sell or lease the power generated to municipalities, counties or states, preferably, and lastly to private corporations. All proceeds would be used to establish fertilizer-manufacturing stations around the country for experiments in the cyanamide and synthetic processes. It would authorize the secretary of agriculture to determine whether nitric acid can be manufactured by use of coal at a price cheap enough to relieve farmers of their excessive fertilizer burdens.

Poincare Receives Vote Of Confidence

PARIS, Mar. 7.—(INS)—The Poincare government received a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies today when the radical Socialist amendment drastically curbing American oil importations into France was defeated by 318 to 292 votes.

The radical petroleum Socialists sought to have the amendment added to the petroleum bill which is now ready for passage. The measure, as proposed by the government, is in much milder form than the radical socialists wished it.

LAME DUCK BILL THREATENED BY NEW PROPOSALS

Amendment Lengthening Term Of House Members To Four Years Aroused Considerable Interest Among Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—The determined effort of a house clique to force an amendment to the Norris-White "lame duck" resolution lengthening the terms of house members from two to four years today threatened to overshadow all other phases of the fight on the resolution.

With debate suspended until tomorrow, the four-year term forces were busily engaged in lining up members for a roll call vote.

Worried by their campaigns for re-election every two years, many veteran members of the house have thrown their support to the amendment sponsored by Representative Bankhead (D) of Alabama.

The amendment is being opposed by the original backers of the Norris-White resolution, which changes the date of presidential inauguration to January 21 and abolishes the short session of Congress in which elected members serve. They fear it would cause state legislatures to refuse to ratify the "lame duck" proposal.

"I believe that the four-year term proposal would strengthen the resolution," said Bankhead. "I have heard of men who are for it. They dislike to see a member come to Congress and then immediately turn around and begin campaigning for re-election."

LEWIS SCORES COOLIDGE FOR STRIKE STAND

Mine Workers' Chief Reveals That Presi- dent Refused To In- tervene In Situation

Told Union Head To Go Into Court

Unpublished Letters Of President Read Before Probe Body

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—President Coolidge in 1925 refused to intervene to compel soft coal operators to live up to the Jacksonville wage agreement with the miners, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, revealed today at the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee's investigation of the coal strike.

Lewis appealed to the President to use his influence "to maintain the morality and integrity" of the agreement.

President Coolidge in reply urged the miners to take their grievances to the courts, saying "you would perform a distinct public service by getting an authoritative court decision on this subject," Lewis said. The union has filed no suits.

The Jacksonville agreement was negotiated in 1924. It provided a basic wage of $7.50 daily for miners. When it expired last March 31, the operators in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana refused to renew it and the present strike resulted.

The unpublished correspondence between President Coolidge and Lewis was read to the committee at the request of Senator Wagner (D) of New York.

Lewis appealed to the President after he charged the "largest coal production groups in the nation" (continued on page two)

Senate Prepared For Battle Upon Esch Appointment

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—With party lines destroyed, the Senate was prepared today for a battle over confirmation of John J. Esch, Jr., of Wisconsin, as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

An informal poll of sentiment in the Senate indicated Esch would be rejected through a coalition of western Democrats, border state senators of both parties and southern Democrats. His vote on the lake cargo rate case, which favored Pennsylvania and Ohio coal shippers over those of West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, was said to have insured his defeat.

The combination opposing Esch apparently had a majority control on the Senate, having been instrumental since before in rejecting confirmation of a commissioner-designate—Cyrus E. Woods, of Pennsylvania—who was believed friendly to the Pennsylvania-Ohio coal shippers. Esch also had additional opposition from the insurgent group, who favored his appointment during the Harding administration because they believed him a progressive. Since then, the insurgents have looked upon Esch as a convert to conservatism.

Mexican Bandits Sought For Murder

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Mar. 7.—(INS)—Federal troops were scouring the dense brush country today into which eight bandits fled after killing four men and a woman in the holdup of a huge passenger bus near Jalapa.

Thirty passengers in the bus were panic-stricken when the bandits suddenly appeared upon the highway and opened fire without warning. The first volley killed four passengers, one a woman. Ten other persons were wounded by the bullets which crashed through the glass windows.

Prince Averts Fall By Good Horsemanship

LONDON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—The Prince of Wales narrowly escaped a serious fall today while riding in a point-to-point race at Bicester when his horse, Lady Doonee, stumbled and the Prince lost his stirrups. The accident took place at the last fence on the course. The Prince was thrown heavily across the horse's neck but clung tenaciously to the animal's mane and to the saddle.

French Airman Hop Off For California

ROCKSPRINGS, Wyo., Mar. 7.—(INS)—The French round the world flyers, De Gaulle Costes and Joseph Le Brix, hopped off from here at 9:05 a. m. today for San Francisco, weather permitting, the aviators will make a non-stop flight to the coast in about eight hours, arriving there late this afternoon.

Costes and Le Brix left Chicago yesterday morning, planning to fly to Salt Lake City in two hops, landing in Cheyenne, Wyo., for fuel. Because of their rapid speed of 100 miles an hour, they did not land until they reached Rock Springs, but failed to take off again for Salt Lake City last night.

SALEBRO—Work will begin at once widening Dixie Highway through here.

Woolen Attends N. C. Democratic Meeting

RALEIGH, N. C., Mar. 6.—(INS)—Significance was attached today to the visit of Evan's Woolen, regarded as Indiana's "favorite son" presidential candidate, to Raleigh on the state Democratic executive committee.

Woolen, who is the guest of Governor McLean, will meet all the committeemen this evening at a buffet supper given them at the executive mansion two hours before the committee session.

Woolen, who was associated with Governor McLean in an insurance corporation work, has been spending several weeks at Tryon, N. C.

England Sends New Ultimatum To Egypt

LONDON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—With war clouds hovering over the near east, Great Britain has sent a new ultimatum to the Egyptian government, according to a Central News dispatch from Cairo today.

The new note is reported to state that Great Britain will not tolerate the introduction of any laws calculated to hamper the British administration in Egypt or so worded as to hinder British officials in their duty to protect foreigners. The note further insists upon the maintenance of British control in the Egyptian army by the presence of British troops.

Power Probe Gets Under Way Thursday

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(INS)—The Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the electric light and power industry of the nation, ordered by the Senate, will get under way here tomorrow.

The Commission announced today it will hold a preliminary hearing tomorrow at which officials of the National Electric Light Association and the American Gas Association, will appear and identify certain documents which will be introduced to outline the scope of the investigation.

The "cash and carry" bootleggers are giving way to the higher class distributors who handle their business with a selected list of customers through telephone orders and efficient delivery methods. The raid of an extensive telephone and delivery bootlegger den in New York disclosed that in virtually all cities this system is now being employed.

Increased Salaries For Dry Agents Recommended By Anti-Saloon League

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 7.—(INS)—A congressional appropriation for the purchase of intoxicating liquors, increased salaries for dry agents and pensions to families of prohibition officers killed by the line of duty were favored by the southern division of the Anti-Saloon League of America, in session here today.

Various national leaders of the league urged the resolutions committee to prepare an appeal to congress asking for more money for prohibition laws.

Undercover work of dry agents met with the approval of the Senate's forces, it was declared at the open forum session today. The South Carolina Delegate on special duty voiced their approval of "under cover men" and urged that congress be asked to appropriate funds to purchase liquor for sale.

Killing him on the back of your head?

A.—No, it all happened so suddenly. We had quarreled. One word led to another. He struck me. I picked up the claw hammer and hit him on the head. He fell back on the bed. I hit him again. He fell to the floor. I lost my head. I hit him again and again. Finally he lay quiet. I went to the dresser and took a ball of twine and tied his hands and feet so that he could not come back after me. I used my finger nail clipper to cut the twine. I had bought the twine that afternoon in Pineville to fix some draperies. I saw a bandana handkerchief on the dresser table and I tied it across his face.

Velma's slim form quivered as she talked. She inhaled her cigarette. She smoked. Evidently the subject interested her.

"What was the quarrel about?"

"About my girl friend, Mabel Young."

It was to the home of Miss Young, a pretty 24 year old stenographer in Cleveland, that Velma dashed in her green roadster immediately after the crime. Her husband, Velma said, had been intercepting letters she had received from Mabel and they had quarreled about that. Velma said Mabel was her "dearest girl chum—I love her as a sister."

Q.—What were your feelings after you had killed your husband and were plotting to Mabel's bridge party?

A.—I was frightened. I drove furiously. My mind was in a whirl. I stopped only once on the 33 mile trip. That was at Wickliffe where I stopped to buy a package of cigarettes.

Q.—Is it a fact that you were "the life of the party" that night?"

A.—No, I did play and sing at the party because the girls insisted that I should, but I certainly wasn't lively that evening."

Velma accepted another cigarette.

Q.—Does your conscience now trouble you?

A.—It does. I think of it all the time. I can't hardly sleep.

When this reporter first asked Velma why she killed her husband, she said: "He said something that made me mad. He was condemning Mabel Young." Then turning to the sheriff, she asked: "Where is Mabel?"

The sheriff wanted to know just how intimate had been the friendship between Velma and Mabel.

The 21 year old girl slayer was evasive still. After a dozen questions she admitted that they were "rather affectionate" toward each other.

Q.—Were you a member of any cult?

A.—I never knew what the word cult meant until the other day when I read it in the Cleveland newspapers. I was not.

Velma said she did not want to talk about Mabel Young because the newspaper stories about their alleged relationship "almost killed my mother." She was handed a four page typewritten statement made to the sheriff by Miss Young. Velma read it carefully, and then, asked how much of it was true, replied:

"Only part of it."

She then showed a touch of bitterness toward Mabel, saying:

"Why should I get so much blame, rather than her? She was the same toward me as I was toward her. She wrote me letters as bad as I wrote to her. I don't see why she should get out of it."

sophisticated she was. For instance, did she like liquor as well as she enjoyed cigarettes?"

"I used to drink a little at parties," she admitted.

Asked to comment on the ultra-flappers of today, she thought for a while and replied:

"This present jazz age is all wrong. Too many girls are living too fast a life. They do too much drinking and petting. I will admit I've spooned a bit with the boys but it's not the thing to do."

"Do you think you'll spend all your life in prison?" she was asked.

"No, I think I'll get out in about eight years. At least that's what my lawyers think. I'm not worrying about that, though. I have committed a crime and I think I should be punished. If I could, I would not walk out a free woman today because I don't believe it would be right. I must pay the price. You see, I'm going to try and be good now."

Miners Charged With Inciting Coal Riot

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 7.—(INS)—Charged with inciting a riot and unlawful assembly, John Brophy, former district United Mine Workers president, and Patrick Toohy, former local leader of the union in the Canonsburg district, were at liberty in $1,000 bond each today.

They were arrested when state troopers broke up a strikers meeting at Trénton. State police said the nature of their speeches constituted a violation of the sheriff's proclamation restricting activities of strikers and their assemblies.

position. This was his plan for operation of the project without any provision for a lease of the whole property to private concern.

Senator Harrison (D of Mississippi), offered an amendment, giving the secretary of war authority to either lease the project or "sell at the switchboard the current generated." Harrison also would allow the secretary to sell the power to municipalities or corporations, without preference to either group, but with a guarantee that all states within transmission distance receive an equal share of the benefits.

Secretary Jardine rather surprised senatorial circles by approving the Norris plan in its original form.

"I am in favor of those provisions in the resolution," said Jardine, "which provide that the power and fertilizer phases of the project should be handled separately, and that the income from the power be dedicated to agriculture, and used to introduce improved fertilizers and better fertilizer practice."

Mr. Hood was 49 years old and was born at Sandersville, Ga., where he spent his boyhood. For a number of years he lived at Macon, moving from that city to Sanford in 1910. Mr. Hood owned extensive property interests, including citrus groves and other farm lands. He was president of the Lakefront Improvement Company, which owns considerable property on Sanford's waterfront. Mr. Hood's holdings on the waterfront have undergone considerable development and today are regarded as among the most valuable properties in the city.

FRIENDS NEITHER DENY NOR CONFIRM REPORT THAT COLONEL LINDBERGH WILL TAKE REST CURA AT JOHNS HOPKINS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plane was still in its hangar at Bolling Field this morning, and Col. Lindbergh himself was sequestered in the Racquet Club, neither confirming or denying reports from Baltimore that he is planning to enter John Hopkins Hospital for a rest.

The capital has seen nothing of the trans-Atlantic flyer since he swooped out of the misty dawn yesterday morning completing the fastest aerial round-trip to Scott Field, near St. Louis on record. When he arrived at the field, after flying all night, Lindbergh said he was tired and wanted rest. He was taken to the club, and there he has remained sequestered in his room.

His associates are as uncommunicative as the Colonel himself concerning future plans. Some of them said they had heard the reports from Baltimore, that he was contemplating entering the hospital for a rest and medical examination and considered them "probably authentic." Others denied that the Flying Colonel had any such intentions.

Col. Lindbergh has secured the seclusion and quiet he wants on the occasion of this visit to Washington. He left instructions that his properties in the city. In addition to his varied business interests, Mr. Hood was keenly interested in the growth and development of Sanford. He was an ardent supporter of progressive measures and an enthusiastic believer in Sanford's future.

He lent his support to every effort to improve the St. Johns River water supply. Sanford of better water supply, sanitation facilities, and also championed other important movements for pushing Sanford ahead.

Mr. Hood was prominent and active in church circles. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and contributed generously to its support. He was particularly interested in missionary work and was responsible for the maintenance of two church workers in Chile. Because of his interest and Mr. Hood's holdings on the waterfront have undergone considerable development and today are regarded as among the most valuable

Movies Plan To Make Film Depicting Operations Of Intricacies In Submarines

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 7.—(INS)—While nations quarrel over the status of the submarine, the movie-makers are preparing to take the life of the sea-borne boats so that the public may be known how they operate.

Burnet, noted short story writer, arrived here to develop a picture of the daring men who live their lives below the sea's surface. Burnet comes direct from the Navy sub base at New London, Connecticut where the "Dolphin" and "Albatross" are the only submarines of the United States Navy.

"The submarine is on trial before the world. It is the best kept and least-known thing in the world."

With every nation on the edge of serious decisions regarding submarine warfare, I feel that the film industry owes the world a sincere effort of assistance in the solution of the most absorbing question of the century.

"I thought we have been so long with the interested sympathy of high naval officers. They have been handicapped by the ignorance and misconceptions of the public."

hey feel, with us, that the visual power of the film can clarify a problem which threatens further world discord, if decisions "made in the dark" are not just and fundamental."

Ronald Colman, has been chosen personally the type of men who command America's submarines. Burnet is the latest well-known author to desert the magazine and the stage for the screen.

Write of Bravery

"I picked on submarines as the subject of my first attempt to write for the screen because I felt it is a topic which belongs to the future, to the printed page, rather than to the screen. I could write thousands of words—and nothing to what has already been said. I can do a picture and make folks actually feel what I felt when the sub I was in submerged. I saw through a periscope, I saw the surface from a distance, I saw the surface from a distance, I saw the surface from a distance."

"I want to write, not of heroes, but of bravery, not of dangers, but of achievement; not of isolated instances but the full story of the submarine. In other words, I feel the submarine is entitled to a full hearing."

GENERAL BUSINESS CONDITIONS

From the Monthly Bank Letter for February Issued by The National City Bank of New York

LED by the automobile and steel industries, the trend of industry since the first of the year has been towards betterment, according to the monthly review of economic conditions prepared by The National City Bank of New York. The policy of reducing stocks on hand, a recent and general industrial practice, has resulted in building up a backlog of unsold demand in many branches which is beginning to be translated into orders.

Of chief interest at present are the advances in the redemptive rates of the Federal Reserve banks at Chicago and Richmond, steps which the review believes have been the natural result of events tending toward firmer interest rates. Nothing in the evident change of policy on the part of the Reserve banks can be taken as a suggestion that business may not continue to count upon having all the funds needed for legitimate purposes at moderate rates for an indefinite time ahead.

"There is no prospect of a shortage of credit in the country," the review asserts. "The change, however, does convey the implication that money supplies are likely to be more closely adjusted to demand than they have been in the past and that rates are headed for somewhat higher levels."

Discussing the abnormally easy money rates of the past year, the review notes as contributing factors the substantial imports of gold in the early part of the year, a decline in the commercial requirements for credit and currency and the easy money policy of the Federal Reserve banks.

"Looking back into the coming months, it does not appear likely that these factors will continue to be influential," the review says. "Our gold export movement has slowed down with the reaction of the foreign exchange, but gold imports on balance in any substantial volume are at least not an immediate prospect. The country's credit and currency needs are likely to expand as general business increases in activity and volume. As to Reserve bank policy, the Reserve banks by selling of Government securities and advances in rates already have given notice of modification.

"With Reserve bank policy" revealed in terms of dearer money, speculation naturally centers on the likelihood of advances in rates in other districts and particularly in the New York district. Doubtless further action will depend on a good deal upon the results achieved by the steps already taken."

Regarding the movement of gold, the review points out that imports and exports of the United States in January came nearer to offsetting each other than in any month since last October, total exports for the month being just short of fifty-one million dollars, against imports of slightly more than thirty-eight million dollars, leaving a net export balance of twelve and a half millions, against sixty-seven millions in November.

The recent approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the reorganization plan for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad is a development of outstanding importance in the financial world. No small measure of satisfaction has been expressed by the reorganization interests over the accomplishment after almost three years of court action and counter action. The review expresses the belief that the recapitalization of the new company is an honest one, fully supported by actual property values and that the growth of population and the growth of the company's territory follow a normal course there is every reason to expect that the new organization will be justified and the company will have a prosperous career.

From Kono, where a mother fought for hours to save the life of her only baby. The woman was driving a sleigh on the outskirts of the village of Malay in the early afternoon when she became aware that a pack of wolves were following her.

Whipping the horse into a gallop, she headed for the village; but the wolves, led by what appeared to be a young one, easily caught up with the horses and while the majority of them nipped at his legs, two leaped upon his back and brought him down, devouring him almost immediately. They then attacked the woman and managed to drag her along away from her, divorcing it from the village, responding to the woman's screams, arrived and managed to save her, although she was badly injured.

In Slovakia eleven girls are reported to have fallen victim to the beasts. They left the village of Marmores Siget on Christmas afternoon from walking trips and failed to return. A few weeks ago parts of their clothing and bones were found near a den of wolves. As three, supposedly different, packs had been riding the cattle in this district, it is believed the girls must have run into one of them. While the wolf is a savage beast

Boy Captures Full Grown Wolf Alive In Thrilling Battle

SMITH CENTER, Kansas, Mar. 7.—(INS)—Henry Clutcher, a 10-year old farmer boy of Smith Center, fearlessly attacked a full grown wolf and captured the beast alive. The only weapon was his overcoat.

The lad was trudging through a field enroute to school when he spied an object lying flat on the ground. Approaching it noiselessly young Clutcher discovered it to be a full grown wolf.

Still treading softly the boy pulled off his overcoat. When he got close enough to the wolf he dived at the animal's head pinning it to the ground with his overcoat.

Then began a savage combat between wolf and boy.

The beast, so rudely awakened fought desperately, biting and clawing.

The youngster rapidly was getting the worst of the fight when two men going along a nearby road saw the battle and rushed to the boy's assistance. The wolf was subdued and bound.

The boy was given first aid treatment for some gashes he received on one of his arms.

The men, strangers to the boy, were so taken with the lad's courage that they offered him all the money they had, $4.00, for the wolf. The youngster accepted. Then he continued his way nonchalantly to school proudly jingling his newly found riches in his pocket.

should confer an honor that has seldom been conferred by the Sanford paper to this candidacy, Mr. Herndon said:

"The office of justice of peace is not regarded by many people as one of the most responsible in the county. If properly administered, it is of great value and service to the people, and if I am elected, I propose to make of it the one which the citizens can be proud to have in their midst."

LEWIS SCORES COOLIDGE FOR STRIKE STAND

The Pittsburgh Coal Company, the Consolidated Coal Company, the Bethlehem Mines Corporation and the coal interests of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad were tramping upon and dishonoring their wage agreements.

"Their actions have been destructive of all confidence between employer and employee and constitute an unwarranted, irresponsible blow at the universally recognized principle of collective bargaining," Lewis wrote.

Mr. Coolidge replied that while federal agencies were instrumental in bringing about the Jack onville meeting, "the government can in no sense be considered a party to the contract."

"I profoundly deplore the breaking of any contract, whatever this is, especially as the faithful compliance with agreements between employers and employees is the sole hope of collective bargaining—a principle now accepted in American life," said the President.

Lewis cited numerous precedents for federal intervention in coal disputes.

"Why didn't the union go out on strike?" asked Senator Coughlin (R) of Michigan.

"We found no practical means," replied Lewis. "We would have been compelled to put up a tremendous bond and we didn't have it."

"Haven't you had experiences with the courts recently?" asked Wagner.

"We have been harassed tremendously by the courts," replied Lewis. "No other labor group has been treated so unfairly."

Lewis declared that one out of every six miners is injured each year.

"We kill more men in our mines than any other country," he said. "We do it because our industry, in its present state, can't afford not to kill men, paralytic as it may seem. Many of the operators have not the money to install safety devices. We pay an awful price for our present condition."

Lewis said the Pittsburgh Coal Company, "generally recognized in the financial world as a Mellon company," abrogated the union wage agreement in August, 1925.

BRITISH PROTEST AGAINST RULING MUZZLING RADIO

English Postoffice Prohibits Broadcasting All Controversial Matter Well Known Author Forbidden To Speak

LONDON, March 7.—(INS)—Muzzled by a Post Office regulation which prohibits the broadcasting of "controversial matter," attempts of the British Broadcasting Company to deliver to the English people much interesting material are being frustrated.

The latest case when in the effect of the Post Office restriction is the cancellation of a projected broadcast came recently when Philip Goodella, the well-known author and at present a Liberal candidate for Parliament, objected to what he termed an infamously untrue report of a recent speech.

Seemingly more hungry than in previous years, the wolf pack spread terror on England, which cries have not been heard for years. For the first time in fifteen years they invaded Britain this year, causing heavy damage to cattle.

While it is quite usual in the case of severe winters for wolves to invade the villages in Russia and the bordering states, attacking not only farm animals and children, but man as well, it is seldom they become so daring outside their own territory. This year, however, they came up as far as London where they were driven from the city by a report of attacks upon three flags. Dozens of those flags were found and scattered about the city.

Destruction Of Hundreds Of Cattle And The Lives Of Several Children Are Laid To Deprivations Of Animal

LONDON, Mar. 7.—(INS)—With a list of human victims to his credit which numbers fifteen, and accused with the usual charge of slaughtering hundreds of cattle, the Wolf has again this winter been on the rampage in Central, Northern and Eastern Europe.

Negro Slays Wife In Love Quarrel, Then Kills Himself

The eternal triangle was blamed by police for a murder and suicide occurring shortly after noon today in Lachhart quarters, a narrow section of Sanford.

Following a prolonged argument over the alleged attentions which he accorded his wife of paying to another, Sam Coleman secured a shotgun and fired at Jessie Coleman, the load entering her back. Killing the woman instantly, Coleman fired but missed. He reloaded and shot himself in the chest, dying before police officers could reach the scene.

Coleman was arrested Monday night after he had beaten his wife in an argument over her alleged lover. He was placed in jail where he twice attempted suicide yesterday, once by swallowing a small quantity of mercuric iodine and again by eating glass. Police handcuffed him to his cell after the second attempt.

In Municipal Court this morning, Coleman was given a suspended sentence for assault. Police authorities tried to effect a reconciliation between him and his wife, but the woman refused to live with her anonymous and Coleman said he wanted to die. The judge said he would have returned Coleman to his cell in the death of his wife.

When Temple Graves in Jacksonville Journal:

The Trail Of Oil

The deeper the Senate committee delves into the affairs of the defunct Continental Trading Company, the more startling are the revelations. The enormous profits it made without special financing and the sources to which those profits ultimately found their way constitute one of the most amazing transactions that have come to light in connection with the celebrated oil scandal.

The Continental Trading Company was a Canadian corporation organized by Harry F. Sinclair and his associates. The company reaped profits of more than three million dollars by purchasing a large quantity of oil at a dollar and a half a barrel and reselling it at a dollar and seventy-five cents to other concerns.

An inquiry into the corporation's manipulations has revealed the sources of more than two million of its gains. Albert Fall received $233,000 from Sinclair after Fall as Secretary of the Interior had leased to Sinclair the Teapot Dome. Sinclair turned over to the Republican National Committee a total of $260,000 of which $100,000 was eventually returned.

In trying to find out where the other bonds went to, the Senate group is experiencing difficulty because those involved will not talk, although they have been urged by John D. Rockefeller Jr., to disclose all the facts.

A Mountain Out Of A Mole Hill

In view of the avowed candidacy of Senator Thomas Walsh for the Democratic nomination for the presidency the story of a "fatal slip," which he is alleged to have made several days ago during the course of a debate in the Senate chamber, furnishes an amusing view of his chances for nomination as expressed by a writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

It seems that during the debate on whether Senator-elect Smith of Illinois should be seated in the Senate, Walsh attacked the argument of Senator Dimeen that Smith was entitled to his seat because Illinois had elected him to the office.

And the four words in this little speech, which the Philadelphia writer thinks have ruined Senator Walsh's chances for the nomination, are "technically guilty of treason." He insists that the word treason is quickly rejected by the Southerner and that any reference to the Civil War as the war of rebellion is also strenuously objected to by those behind the Mason-Dixon line.

The conclusion is laughable. A mountain has been made out of a mole hill and when one considers the public service Senator Walsh has rendered in the Senate, the little remark is so trivial as to make it inconsequential.

DIVORCE MILLS

The "divorce mills" in Florida are grinding at an alarming rate, advertising the many, many times that "marriage in many cases is a failure." The great trouble of these divorce mills is that they are not only grinding at an alarming rate, but they are also grinding at a loss.

Each man who realizes that he is a failure, a hot-blooded, giddy and society-craved, with interior intellectual powers, avoid these attentions craved by "divorce mills" and they, too, seek the society of others in harmony with their own sense of ability.

MADISON—F. Fox opens new ferry route and filling station on Harvey Green line as first road building construction in Florida since the war.

FLORIDA BANKS

This is always a prolific subject for comment, for Florida banks are somewhat in a class by themselves. The manner in which they conducted themselves and their business during the boom did more to prevent a catastrophe than it seems possible for many people to imagine.

A consolidated statement covering all state and national banks in Florida prepared by the state banking department reveals that at the close of business at the end of last year these institutions held resources of $517,432,000.

That is over half a billion dollars. Likewise it is $40,000 for each and every one of Florida's 1,263,549 people counted in the 1925 state census.

Such a per capita of bank resources for each individual inhabitant of a state—native born and foreign born; the young in their cradles and the old passing through life with their feet on the sunset; white, black and colored—is somewhat unusual.

Of this more than half a billion $425,950,000 represents deposits. It is entirely superfluous to say that this shows a pretty healthy financial condition for a people and a state described by some who either do not know what they talk about or do not care what they say as being "banked." So long as the number of people comprising Florida's population have so much in bank deposits there will be no fear of reason for general bankruptcy.

Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the entire matter, however, is found in the fact that on the date named the banks of Florida held actual cash in the sum of $113,153,000. It would be impossible to have more convincing proof of the splendid condition of our banks.

There is a marked disposition to criticize Florida banks for carrying so large an amount of cash on hand. On more than one side can be heard the declaration that a considerable portion of this $113,153,000 should be placed on loan and "put to work," some representatives a great deal more than the current local assets.

Under different conditions here might be force in the objection, but with conditions as they have been in Florida it must strike thoughtful people that the state's bankers have conducted an masterly business.

A TEST YEAR

Fort Myers Tropical News

Florida's test year is now under way. It is a year of trial and error, of hope and disappointment, of struggle and triumph.

The situation in Miami is interesting. At Miami Beach half a dozen large and luxurious hotels were started so late in 1925 as to have no time in that boom season.

Both in St. Petersburg and in Miami the first real test is now being made of the vast equipment installed for the care of winter residents. In every other city and town in Florida the same thing is being done, although perhaps on a less impressive scale.

We think it will be found to be always secondary in importance to the exploitation of our natural resources, chiefly in the field of agriculture. We have really only started the tourist business on its way to great success and each year from now on should show an enormous increase in this activity, but each year also will show productive energy in other fields producing an increasingly large share of our aggregate income.

Can a Woman Really Love Two Men?

A SECLUDED beach. Two young men and a girl—a stony-eyed girl with a mouth made for kisses. The girl thivers. "I'm cold. I should have brought a wrap."

Both men, madly in love, leap to their feet, but it is Lawson who hurries up the beach to the cottage colony. Quickly he returns, Stanley, his hitching post, his back-die, rears at his approach.

What a fool he had been to listen to their pleadings to make his own choice. Why had he yielded to the temptation to say "I'll be yours" to both of them?

 Bureau of Agricultural Economics co-operating with the Florida State Bureau of Markets. — R. E. Corbin, Local Representative

Ninety four cars were shipped from the Sanford District yesterday. Sixteen went out from Matanzas which made the total for Florida 110 cars. The U. S. market was steady yesterday with sales mostly on the $2.60 basis for four to eight dozen sizes for field run stock. Selected sizes 6 and 8 dozens were selling at $2.25. Large sizes and and celery of only fair quality was discounted 25 to 50 cents.

Fifty-three cars were reported during the 24-hour period ending at 8 A. Former Emperor Of Japan Has Modern Type Of Amusement
 PEKING, Feb. 29.—(INS)—The host of the Dragon Throne shaken off his Imperial robes. Hsuan Tung the last Chinese Emperor is not in mourning, as he is in his 40th year, according to the local broadsheet, but in the United States where he lives in a "private" concession, with wife and children.

In the United States, where his father, the former Prince Tuan, and his younger brother, Prince Tuan Chieh resident, there is also installed a radio receiving set and highly insular erstwhile rulers of China, enjoy the music and singing from the Chinese theatre, which composes the chief part of the broadcaster's program.

These programs do not amount to very much as yet, since it has been but a few months that the government restriction on radio was lifted in North China.

The number of sets in private homes throughout China can be estimated as practically nil. Available figures indicate that there are only forty or so receiving sets in receiving stations of large size in all of China. Of these the Chinese own twenty-five, the Japanese twelve, Britain and America two each, the French three, Soviet Russia one and a form of Sino-Japanese joint control marks one more.

New radio plants are constantly being erected by the Chinese, outstanding among those being the ones at Shanghai and Nanking. In Peking negotiations continue between the American Minister and the Japanese Minister and the Chinese government in an attempt to straighten out the tangled diplomatic threads which will permit the American Federal Wireless Company to execute its contract to build for the Chinese a high powered station at Shanghai with lesser plants at Peking, Hankow, Canton and Harbin.

According to reports reaching here today.

Despite the strict censorship which has been clamped down along the border, reports trickled through that the bodies of the four Americans had been taken to Pina Juana and placed in the municipal coroner's office there and that Mexican officials planned an investigation into the armed encounter which resulted in their death.

AVIATOR KILLED
 TOKYO, March 6.—(INS)—Japan's first aviator, Yukiya Goto, was killed in a crash landing today. Goto, 34, was flying a biplane over the sea when it crashed into a rocky island near the coast of Kyushu.

Four Americans Are Slain At Pina Juana
 SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 5.—(INS)—An report was called today from Pina Juana, Mex., over the bodies of the four Americans who were slain in a desperate battle after escaping from a jail in Ensenada.
