HOOVER TALKS WITH DONOVAN OVER POLITICS

President-Elect Puts Aside Preparations For His Trip To Give Far To Big Problem

President-elect Hoover put aside elaborate preparations for his Latin-American friendship tour today for the first political conference since his overwhelming election last Tuesday.

With the arrival in San Francisco of Assistant Attorney General William J. Donovan, Hoover gave his attention to the budding problems of his own administration, in which Donovan is expected to be one of his closest advisers.

An ardent Hoover supporter from the early days of the pro-convention campaign, and one of the chiefs in the Hoover strategy counsel during the fight against Kansas City, Donovan has been mentioned frequently as a likely successor to Attorney General John G. Sargent.

Upon his shoulders, it is indicated, will fall the mantle of leadership among the Hoover presidential-elect in Latin-America.

Hoover's good will mission to the south will start from San Pedro, near Los Angeles, next Monday about noon. Accompanied by a party of 10, the mission constitutes the greatest gesture of amity and friendship toward the republics of the south in United States history. Entirely without diplomatic status and travelling merely as a neighbor and observer, Hoover plans to extend his trip on the return voyage up the Atlantic to at least three or four Central-American republics. Nicaragua may be visited.

Mexico City also is to be on the itinerary, starting from Buenos Aires, where Hoover will be afforded an opportunity to discuss the vexatious problems of Mexican relations with Ambassador Morrow. There, too, he will have an opportunity to discuss with Morrow the question of his probable successor in Mexico City in the event of his appointment to the cabinet as Secretary of State, a post with which his name has been frequently connected in the past.

The thorough going fashion in which Hoover intends to survey the entire range of Latin-American problems, diplomatic, economic and political, is indicated, according to reports.

Mount Etna Appears To Be Abating In Its Fury After 11 Days Of Causing Havoc

Historic Crater Ceases To Emit Streams Of Incandescent Rock Which Have Destroyed Many Fertile Acres

CATANIA, Sicily, Nov. 12.—Mount Etna from whose dark recesses has belched forth for eleven days a stream of lava which has claimed the lives of three persons and has laid waste to thousands of the most fertile acres in Sicily, today appeared to be abating in its fury.

The torrent of incandescent rock which has been flooding the eastern slopes of the mountain of fire, burying the homes of more than 4,000 persons, has only crept eleven yards forward within the past three hours. At its present rate it will not reach the town of Annunziata, the outskirts of which have been destroyed, Catania which yesterday seemed doomed, outside the danger zone and may still escape destruction, although its factors have been frustrated.

Present indications are that the eruption may continue another three weeks with diminishing violence. Within the last twenty-four hours the weight and velocity of the lava streams have decreased. An official estimate of the property damage done thus far (Continued On Page Four)

JURY PROBING NEW CHARGES IN AIMEE CASE

Evidence Shows Big Sums Spent Claim Is That District Attorney Withdrew Case For Payments

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—A jury today was probing the question of determining whether or not Asa Keyes' former district attorney withdrew money from Aimee Semple McPherson in her aides' interest before withdrawing charges of conspiracy to defraud which had been brought against the evangelist and her mother Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

The Los Angeles grand jury was today asked to grand.

What the jury found out or intends to find out it was not definitely revealed, but it was understood evidence tending to show that more than $100,000 was spent in an effort to free the Angelus Temple, the pasteurized body of Mrs. McPherson, who had been kidnapped by three persons and taken to Mexico and held for ransom as explained by her mysterious disappearance for a month more than two years ago.

Radis Mac called Kenneth G. Crispin, former radio man at the temple, who was alleged to have occupied a cottage at Carmel, Calif., with the evangelist during her absence, and Mrs. Lorraine Weisman-Sheff, others well known as "Miss X," who said at the time it was she and not Mrs. McPherson who was in Carmel with the evangelist, were taken as witnesses called to testify positively.

Investigation of the McPherson angle drew out new charges that Keyes took large bribes from persons implicated in the alleged frauds connected with sales of stock of the Julian Petroleum corporation. Several persons were indicted in connection with these alleged frauds but only one was acquitted. This led the grand jury to inquire whether there may be grounds for bribery accusations in other cases under Keyes' jurisdiction.

There is much documentary evidence before the jury in the McPherson case. Much of it is said to have been turned over by newspaper men.

The newspaper men said they got the evidence from Mrs. Kennedy who has been at odds with her daughter for some months.

Atmos Up In Arms

Mrs. McPherson stated in a message to a close associate here today that "I am thoroughly testifying. I've told my story many times and it remains the same." The Angelus Temple leader, who is in Europe, referred indignantly to the present investigation of the Los Angeles county grand jury into the McPherson case, it was indicated by followers who have heard from her, is "not in arms" over the opening of the case and has informed them she will not appear to testify before the grand jury unless absolutely ordered to do so.

Every time there is a political flare up," the evangelist's message said, "or any other kind of an investigation in Los Angeles they drag my case into it. I can't see why they want to keep investigating a case that is long closed. I have told them all I can tell them and all I am ever going to tell them."

Rescue Ships Account For 300 Drifting Helplessly In Lifeboats Of Sunken Liner

Wireless Messages Tell Story Of Epic Bravery Of Crew On Foundered Liner

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(INS)—A story of the heroism of the crew of the liner Vestris, which was lost at sea after four hours of the fiercest storm in the history of the New York harbor, was told today by a group of the crew who were rescued by the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Itasca.

The Vestris was a 10,000-ton liner which was en route from New York to Buenos Aires when it was caught in the storm on Sunday night. The ship was last seen on Monday morning, and was presumed to have sunk.

The crew of the Vestris, which numbered 150, were rescued by the Itasca and other rescue ships. The crew members were found in lifeboats, some of which were drifting helplessly in the sea.

MANY PROMINENT PERSONS LISTED ON LINER VESTRIS

Diplomats, Newspaper Correspondents, Race Drivers Aboard

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(INS)—A list of the prominent passengers of the liner Vestris, which was lost at sea after four hours of the fiercest storm in the history of the New York harbor, was today made public by the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Itasca.

The list includes diplomats, newspaper correspondents, race drivers, and other prominent persons. The list also includes the names of the crew members who were rescued.

Heroic Race Thru Turbulent Sea Reward As American Boat Locates Survivors

50 Persons Still Unaccounted For

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(INS)—All of the passengers and crew of the British steamer Vestris, except those in one lifeboat and one raft, have been rescued.

This cheering word came over the navy radio at 6:30 o'clock this morning from the shipping board vessel, American Shipper.

The Vestris sank yesterday about 275 miles east of Cape Henry, Va. The 120 passengers and the 210 members of the crew put off in 14 small boats and in rafts. They drifted in the open sea throughout yesterday afternoon and during the night.

The survivors were picked up at four o'clock this morning by the American Shipper, one of the dozen vessels which had raced to the scene of the disaster.

Then at frequent intervals, other boatloads of survivors were found and rescued by the ring of ships which had circled in wide sweeps throughout the night near the spot where the Vestris sank.

The first word of the thrilling rescue of sea of most of the survivors came in this radio at 1:30. "One boat and one raft still missing, American Shipper."

Later dispatches said the rescue ships had located a concerted maneuver to locate the two missing boats. Not more than 30 passengers and crew were believed to be in the unlocated lifeboat and raft.

The Vestris, bound from Hoboken by Buenos Aires by way of the Barbados and Rio de Janeiro, left New York on Sunday afternoon. Several passengers and freight ships near the course immediately altered their positions to go to her aid. The Navy and coast guard quickly dispatched rescue ships on the way from New York and Norfolk. The battleship Wyoming, at sea, was ordered to proceed under full steam.

The coast guard destroyer Davis, from New York, kept in constant radio communication with the Vestris during the four-hour search.

The Vestris told of listing 32 degrees to starboard. Then the boat was spotted under water.

Shortly after noon the passengers, men, women and children, were ordered off in the 14 lifeboats and rafts. The Vestris' plight yesterday morning, and the minutes viewing the animals at the zoo in the Sabknot, after which they formed a double file and with two local Boy Scout drummers leading them, marched south on Park Avenue to First Street, turning on First the party moved to Magnolia where it halted for the youngsters to sing "America."

The guests then marched to the Milano Theater, where through the courtesy of Manager J. L. Maronetti, they enjoyed the Vitaphone film, "Wings." Following the show, they marched to the Scripps Creamery Company store on First Street, where each was served with ice cream. Return to the cars, the children were taken back to the orphanage.

Kiwanians who had the entertainment in charge, today expressed appreciation to local people for their assistance in furnishing an escort to the party.

C. D. Wolfe and the Boy Scouts for their assistance. They to the following names, outside of the Kiwanis Club, who furnished cars for transporting the children: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schmidt, Mrs. Helen Morse, Mrs. Helen Chesney, Mrs. Joseph L. Lewis, Mrs. Helen Hall and L. D. Martin.

HUNTERS ANNUAL WOODS' TREK TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Navy Will Urge Fleet Exceeding Others In World

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(INS)—Following closely the declaration of President Coolidge that the United States needs additional cruisers, the Navy Department today made public a statement of its policy to establish a navy fleet not exceeded by that of any other world power.

The policy has been revised in many details for the first time since the Washington arms conference in 1922. Secretary Wilson asserted that the revision was made with respect to the elimination of obsolete projects and the expansion of the aviation branch of the navy.

"The fundamental naval policy of the United States," in the general opinion of the navy states, is the maintenance of the policy, "in that it should be maintained in sufficient strength to support United States policies and commerce, and to guard its territorial and overseas possessions."

It was pointed out that the naval policy necessarily must conform with treaties limiting naval armament. The board, however, said the building and maintenance policy is to "build and maintain an efficient well-balanced fleet in all classes of fighting ships in accordance with the capital ship ratios and to preserve these ratios by displacing replacement ships and by building of old ships in accordance with continuing program to make superiority of armament in their class an end in view or, to provide for great readiness of action in all classes of fighting ships."

Relative to cruisers the policy was outlined, "to support the fleet and protect our commerce, replace all old cruisers with modern cruisers of 10,000 standard tons displacement, carrying eight-inch guns and, in addition, to build modern cruisers at a rate that will maintain effective cruiser tonnage in conformity with the capital ship ratio as established by the Washington treaty limiting naval armament."

Pickets Go To Jail Rather Than To Pay Fine For Parading

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—With the declaration that they would pay no fines imposed by the capitalistic courts of America, a group of 15 men and 10 women yesterday went to jail to serve alternate sentences imposed for parading without a permit.

The group was arrested Saturday as they were marching by the state and was detained in the Washington jail, Judge Jesse Pitt sentenced seven of the leaders to pay fines of $100 or serve 30 days in jail. The others were sentenced to pay $50 or go to jail for 20 days. They all went to jail.

Among the leaders of the group were Carl Jones, negro of the Philadelphia, Charles Miller of the Bronx, and prominent leader Paul Coughlin of the anti-imperialist league; Benjamin S. Thomas of the workers' communist party of America, and Carl Roever of the international labor defense.

Important Arrest Kiwanis Club Gives Expected In Case Entertainment To Of Noted Gambler Orphans Yesterday

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(INS)—An "important arrest" in the Arnold Rothstein case is imminent, it was intimated at police headquarters today as authorities were spurred into action by a flurry of cables over their failure to solve the sensational murder. Mayor Walker today personally gave the order to police heads to "get the murderer."

A man sought since the shooting of Rothstein, the nationally known gambler, in room 349 of the Park Central Hotel a week ago last Sunday night was reported to have telephoned the police that he was "coming in" to headquarters.

George McManus and Willie McCabe, Broadway gamblers who are wanted for questioning, were also reported as ready to surrender. McManus is supposed to be the "key witness" in the shooting of Rothstein who was lured to the hotel by a telephone call and there confronted with a demand that he pay a $20,000 poker debt. After the shooting a top cop bearing the label "McManus" was found in the room. McCabe, however, has sent word to the police that he was not present—that at the time of the shooting he was on a boat en route from Savannah, Ga., to New York.

High School Girls And Boy Scouts To Help In Annual Red Cross Roll Call

Sanford and Seminole County today joined other Florida communities in inaugurating the annual roll call of the American Red Cross, which Raymond G. Fox as chairman and a corps of assistants actively selected, the campaign is expected to move along rapidly until the quota of 5000 has been reached. The drive will formally close on Thanksgiving Day.

This afternoon a group of Boy Scouts and a body of high school girls were to take to the field for the first caravan. The city has been divided into districts, with each group having a certain section to cover. In this manner an intensive appeal will be conducted under the personal supervision of Mr. Fox. Chairman of the appeal committee.

Officials: Snider, referee; Knight, field judge; Rawson, umpire; Hollis, head linesman.

The real hero of the day as far as Sanford was concerned was Bob Yancy, giant tackle, who gave his best performance this season and who, sensing that other parts of the line were being torn wide open, ripped through and smothered any number of plays that were headed for long gains. Yancy seemed to be all over the field, blocking here, tackling there, and at times taking the work of two or three men in his own hands. No other exhibition on the part of a linesman on the squad has stood out as much as Yancy's work in this crucial game and it is a must go to the lion's share of the victory.

Hansell and Ball played the game of their lives as they also knew that the highly touted Orlando line was performing in a tagged manner, and they battered the opposition into the earth with a ferociousness that was worthy of taking to sea. And if ever a set of ends played better with the opposition, Edenfield and Miller's ends look like pieters, for these two boys, though they had their hands full during the first half of the game, out played and out boxed the best that the visitors had to offer.

Captain Edenfield always starts his aggressive play from the moment the ball is first kicked off, and though he was stopped dead in the first quarter, mostly through the fault of the entire line, when over and wherever the play was the hardest and the action the hottest, Edenfield would come up out of the pack with somebody in his grip.

Pat Miller had plenty of trouble too, the Orlando back taking him out of the play often, but his work was deadly when he did get in a play and in the last part of the game he was perfect. "Tiny" Hyatt, Holtzclaw and Pat Partin took 75 of hard knocks, bearing up in good shape.

Stodie Vestel, hard driving full back, was the big threat as far as Orlando's ground game, though strength was concerned, he was in his first first down when they were headed, and ripping great holes in the local line. He especially possesses a pair of strong, powerful legs and plunges dead and sure into the turf at every step. Yochum, famed as second man for Orlando, made the last set game of the day with runs of 18 and 12 yards off tackle, but he was closely watched after that and was stopped in his next four tries, leaving the game as the end of the first quarter because of injuries.

Cal Langston at half back looked good during the first half, but he was stopped short at the line in the latter part and his passes were batted down at will. Rogers, star back, failed to enter the contest, which considerably weakened the Orlando attack, and Whitaker, with a fine reputation this year, was given even odds chance with the ball, outside of trying to catch a pass or two.

The Orlando line was a patched up affair, especially so after Cliff Caldwell, sterling tackle was injured in the first quarter, but they were a hard fighting pack, and they stopped most of the threats that way.

NOT ON THE SCORE BOARD!

Langston got 2 yards at right end. Vestel went over left guard for 5 yards. Willie Hall saved the day by kicking a 35 yard field goal for Sanford. Langston's pass to Vestel was intercepted by Hester. Vestel kicked off 30 yards to Stinoff who returned the ball 10 yards to the Sanford 39 yard line. Stinoff was held for no gain at center, and was again stopped on the same place, however, Orlando was held 15 yards for Hyatt. Spencer was stopped at left end but the play was called back. Sanford taking a 15 yard penalty for unnecessary roughness, Hester was replaced by Brennan for Orlando.

It was his first down, 25 yards to go for Sanford, with the ball on the Sanford 42 yard line. Tatterton got 8 yards at left tackle, and one more yard in the same place. TRAFFIC JAMS COMPEL FRENCH TO CURTAIL EATING

Lack Of Time Will Force Shorter Lunch For Luncheon People
PARIS, Nov. 12.—(AP)—More and more automobiles mean thicker traffic jams soon compel the conservative Frenchman to abandon his honored two-hour luncheon and adopt the English "snack day."
From time immemorial French men and women have been able to get their lunch in the middle of the day devoted themselves to a French meal. They really do it for their early breakfast always consisted of nothing more than coffee with milk, and a roll. The lunch-hour has been a sacred institution, and are put up on every door where the work will begin at 1 o'clock, much to the amazement of the American tourist, who not like it but can do nothing of it and every worker rushes to catch his street-car or subway.
Up to the present time, those living at far distances are able to get home and back to work again within the two-hour period, and nearly every Frenchman did it rather than eat in a restaurant which means more and more food.
Within the past few months things have been steadily more difficult. Even those who are able to get home and back to work in the middle of the day, are now unable to eat their lunch in the middle of the day, and are forced to eat in a restaurant. This is a great inconvenience, and many are now unable to do so.
Those who can afford it, go to small restaurants. Many of these are able to get home and back to work in the middle of the day, and are forced to eat in a restaurant. This is a great inconvenience, and many are now unable to do so.

Car Owners Show Marked Knowledge Of Auto Features

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 12.—Auto mobile salesman, as well as service managers declare that the great majority of the car owners of today, as well as the car buyer, can no longer be classed as ignorant of automotive mechanics. In this connection service managers state that in most cases where a car is brought in for adjustment or repairs, the customer is able to advise the mechanics of the probable cost of the trouble, thus adding the service men in a "spee" diagnosis of the car's condition.
"This same knowledge holds true in the case of most buyers," automobile salesman say. As a rule, the prospective buyer is well acquainted with the features of a car, its outstanding qualities, its performance rating, and its general reputation in the automobile field.
In the case of the new Whiplet Six which was introduced by the Willys-Overland Company about six months ago, following more than a year of extensive tests and experiments by engineers of the company, it is pointed out that in most cases buyers had previous knowledge of the car's ability and its mechanical features before calling at the dealer's showrooms.

Women Get Credit For Herb's Victory Avers Statement

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The women's national committee for law enforcement, comprising 10 national organizations gave the following statement today through its president, Mrs. Henry W. Probody of Massachusetts:
"The action of Herbert Hoover as the winner of the cry for a referendum on the 18th amendment. The voters have declared they want more, not less, prohibition—more, not less, enforcement of the 18th amendment."
The statement described Hoover's victory as the result of "women's outpouring to the polls to prevent a head-down by law enforcement and said his election should launch forever from American politics the liquor controlled politician."

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

Mark XVI, 10. He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much, and he that is unjust in the least, is unjust also in much.

DING-DONGING With old hours all better heads are filled, as with thoughts...

Chimes of forgotten hours More and more are played While bells stare into space...

Wonder what happens when a bear loses his bearings—Times Union. He is laid bare to the elements.

Almee Temple McPherson again makes the headlines. She should be able to draw bigger crowds than ever now.

No use to boom Franklin Roosevelt, or any other Tammany Democrat for the presidential nomination in 1932. The South is fed up with Tammany.

The Herald would feel pretty badly about its football selections if we had not seen fifty or sixty others from some of the smartest men in town that were worse.

Ten American's have annual incomes of five million dollars or more. And just think two years ago we had at least ten right here in Sanford who made that much.

The Fort Myers Tropical News has received a letter from a pick-pocket who operated in Fort Myers last winter in which it was declared that he would pay back every cent he had stolen. Now there's a good bet for some one who lost on the election.

Duyls Carleton's plan for party harmony should be heard. Smith Democrats should forgive Hoover Democrats, and Hoover Democrats should forgive Smith Democrats.

How long would it take one man to dust the books in the British Museum? An attendant there has been working on this job for fourteen years and at the present time there are just exactly 15,790,000 volumes that he hasn't gotten around to yet. At that rate it will take him 7,329 years to get through.

Praising Florida

In the past two years there has been a decided change in the attitude of out-of-state journals, agencies and individuals toward the progress, prosperity and future of Florida.

Recently the Wall Street Journal, more friendly now than ever, gave much praise to the financial condition of this state, commending its method of imposing taxes and condemning the inheritance taxes and income taxes of other states.

The Chicago Journal of Commerce, a publication similar to the Wall Street Journal, eulogizes Florida's government in a most impressive manner.

This is saying truthfully that so far as finances are concerned Florida is the best governed state in the union, and in saying that there follows the inevitable conclusion that its controlling political influences—citizens and politicians—are the most enlightened in the country.

We do not always agree with Arthur Brisbane, especially in his comments on politics and business, but we always find him interesting. The other day he told a story about gambling which ought to be passed on to everyone who thinks he is smart enough to beat the game.

"One who knows the dead man and his methods relates this concerning him: He met at a prize fight a certain unfortunate young rich fool eager to be one of the fighters. The actual odds were two to one. The gambler said to the fool, 'don't bet any such crooked odds. How much do you want to bet? I'll take your money, even, no odds.'"

"Later that 'honest gambler' took more than half a million from the rich young fool, whose name is omitted out of sympathy for his relatives. The fool is now in the insane asylum and the 'honest gambler' is in his grave, sent there by other gamblers for cheating them."

SINCE 1860 THE population of our country has increased from 31,500,000 to 118,000,000; wealth from $16,000,000,000 to $350,000,000,000; foreign trade from $785,000,000 to $9,000,000,000; railroad mileage from 31,000 to 249,000; manufactured products from less than $2,000,000,000 to nearly $63,000,000,000. What a record!

TO LOWER TAXES

MIAMI HERALD

Much had been said in this state recently about the necessity for lowering the taxes imposed upon the people. Newspapers of Florida have discussed the subject and it received much attention from the various candidates for office during the spring primary campaign.

Obviously, one way to reduce state and county taxation is for the authorities to spend less money. During recent years Florida has seen the necessity for pushing forward great improvements. Those undertaken by the state, itself, must be paid for by the state constitution does not permit the bonding of the state for public improvements.

Florida has built a wonderful system of good roads and has paid for them. That is one reason why taxes on real estate, personal property and especially gasoline have been high.

Counties are permitted to bond themselves for public improvements, and during the boom of three years ago almost every county discounted the future and created public improvements for which there was really no call. But they have the improvements which are now valuable and will be for years to come. Meanwhile taxation is made heavy by the fact that interest on bonds issued for public improvements must be provided as well as a sinking fund to meet the principal of bonds when they become due.

Here is a clergyman that I liked and loved. Here is a clergyman that wears a clerical collar, who is not a clergyman, but a clergyman's wife.

Now that Governor Smith has been elected, and has retired, surely the Republicans are going to have a happy warrior who has won a great victory. A spirit of gallant and patriotic war has been kindled in the hearts of the people.

Mark Sullivan figures it out. He says that the Republicans are going to win the election in Florida. This is far from being a religious or political prediction. It is a prediction based on the facts of the election.

Florida is a land of opportunity. It is a land where every man can find a chance to make his fortune. It is a land where every man can find a chance to improve his condition.

SOUTHERN EDITORS ON THE ELECTION

The Saturday Evening Post, Florida in its issue of October 27, 1928, carried a long and interesting article by the author of the 'South' column. The article is a welcome review of the election in Florida.

For one reason or another... or all of them... you'll like Snowdrift. Many people say the nicest thing about Snowdrift is that it makes such delicious things to eat. But a great many others say they like it particularly because it is easy to use - so creamy and quick to blend. Unless you've used Snowdrift you don't realize how much difference it makes to have your shortening all creamed for you. It actually takes minutes of the time you need for stirring up cake. Snowdrift's whipped-cream fluffiness makes cake unusually light and fine-textured, too. And you'll love its snow-white, clean, fresh look when you open the handy, air-tight can. That's another reason women like to use it in all their baking and frying. Marble Cake is an old-fashioned recipe that is fun to make with Snowdrift. 6 Tablespoons Snowdrift • 1 Teaspoon Dissolved Egg • 1 Teaspoon Salt • 1/2 Teaspoon Soda • 1/2 Teaspoon Baking Powder • 1/2 Teaspoon Cream • 1 Egg • 1/2 Teaspoon Cheese • 1/2 Cup Flour • 1/2 Cup Milk • 1/2 Cup Sugar. Stir the Snowdrift and gradually add the other ingredients. Beat the egg well before adding it. Beat the mixture until it is thoroughly blended and has a fine texture. Bake in a 100 degree F. for 15-20 minutes.
