Girl Scout cookie theft solved

BANDUSKY, Ohio — A former police officer pleaded no contest Wednesday to stealing Girl Scout cookies he was supposed to distribute to scout troops. He resigned from the police department as part of a plea bargain.

Kenneth Hutton, 35, faces up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine for petty theft. No sentencing date was set.

Hutton was accused of stealing the cookies March 5. He and other off-duty officers were paid by a transport company to deliver them to Girl Scout troops. About 10 officers participated in the distribution.

Police Chief Gerald Lechner said Hutton also agreed to cooperate with an investigation into whether other officers took cookies.

Officers found eight full cases and two empty cases of cookies in a search of Hutton's home earlier this month. The cases were valued at about $30 each.

Take the bus

WASHINGTON — It may be a bore, but the odds are that the safest way to get from here to there is by grabbing a big, fat, city bus.

There are only 1 in 500 million chances of being killed on a bus ride of up to five miles — and that's 100 times safer than the family car, according to a new book, "What the Odds Are: A to Z Odds on Everything You Hoped or Feared Could Happen."

Expressway shifting

Gerald Brinton, executive director of the Expressway authority, points to changes in the proposed road.

SANFORD — Center Mall, the former Empire Federal Savings and five homes will be needed for the latest proposal for the final segment of the Seminole County expressway between U.S. Highway 17-92 and Interstate 4.

Several Hidden Lake residents opposed the plan which would move the expressway closer to Lake Ada, saying there will be little to block them from the busy expressway.

Seminole County Expressway Authority members set a May 5 public information session at Sanford City Hall for residents to view the proposed changes to 1988 designs for the six-mile section of the expressway. See Expressway, Page 5A

Industrial complex in Lake Mary?

By MICK PEPEAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — A new industrial complex may be in Lake Mary's future. So far, the identity of the operation is being kept a secret.

Before the property can be developed, rezoning will be required. That step will be taken Tuesday night at the Planning and Zoning Board meeting.

If approved, this will be the first property within the Lake Mary city limits to be zoned for heavy commerce.

The request, from Paul Waters, representing the Coven Family Trust, owners of the property, is for rezoning of slightly over 40 acres of land from A-1, Agricultural, to M-2A, Heavy Commercial/Industrial.

The land is located between Rinehart Road and Interstate 4. It is to the north of the Siemens Stromberg-Carlson property, and south of the postal center.

According to City Planner Matt West, "Mr. Waters is looking for a re-zoning of the property, with the intent of selling it for development."

West commented, "He has told us the people with whom he is dealing for purchase of the property will be a really big name, and at one time he indicated it could be a headquarters for the operation, but he would not mention any names at this time."

The application for the change of zoning indicates the purpose of the request is for "Wholesale Distribution and light manufacturing."

West said, "There is some indication Mr. Waters may reveal the name of the prospective buyer during the P&Z meeting, or he may not say anything until it comes up before the City Commission next month."

This morning, Waters said he was under an agreement with the prospective buyers not to reveal their name at the present time, but believed information would be available by the meeting time.

The site has over 1,400 feet of frontage on Interstate 4 and is accessed from Rinehart Road on an old access road, which was transferred to city control last year.

In the application, Waters is calling for the building of a roadway into the property along the access road. It would begin at Rinehart Road, and extend toward the Interstate 4 area, ending with an 80 foot diameter turn-around area.

Disney honors programs that provide service to community

By VICKI BOESCHNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Two continuing education groups at Seminole Community College were among 60 winners in the Walt Disney World Community Service Awards competition.

Nancy Williams, director of the college's GED program, said she was "extremely excited" when it was announced at Tuesday's awards luncheon that her program was one of 10 programs to win $7,500 in the Special Judges Awards category.

More than 400 non-profit organizations in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties applied for the awards based on the accomplishments during the 1991 calendar year.

Harriet Little, director of the Learn to Read adult literacy program at SCC, said she jumped with excitement when her program was singled out for a $2,500 award in the educational category.

Little said she was pleased to be honored in only the second year of eligibility.

Though Disney has been awarding their community service awards for 21 years in Central Florida, Seminole County groups have only been eligible to submit their qualifications for the last two years.

The Midway Citizens Against Drugs (MCAD) also took home $2,500 in prize money. They were honored in the Social-Community Service category.

MCAD president Johnell Jackson said he was pleased with the award, but more than that, he garnered some ideas from the other winners. See Awards, Page 5A

Chiles thinks of alternate taxation plan

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Lawton Chiles said he's looking at a plan by Secretary of State Jim Smith to lower the state sales tax to 4 cents and extend it to most things except prescriptions and electric and phone service.

But no decision has been made yet, Chiles said Wednesday.

The proposal by Smith, a Republican who is considered to be a possible gubernatorial candidate in 1994, would raise about $1.3 billion.

The state reaps $1.5 billion a year from every penny of its 6-cent sales tax. But for every dollar in income the state collects it forgoes another dollar due to exemptions.

During the regular session, Chiles proposed eliminating certain sales tax exemptions, imposing a $500 fee on doctors a $500 tax on businesses to raise $1.4 billion. The plan got 100 votes. See Chiles, Page 5A

City mulls commercial trash

By MICK PEPEAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The City Commission will discuss a proposal from Industrial Waste Services Monday night. If approved, Sanford will take over all of the IWS commercial waste collections within the city.

For some Sanford businesses, the cost of commercial waste service will be reduced, while others may have a slight increase.

According to City Manager Bill Simmons, "Last year, we found IWS had 34 commercial accounts in Sanford which were not included in their service contract with us." He continued, "As a result, we started meeting with the IWS people to find out how this could be resolved, and decided the best way would be to assign all of the IWS commercial garbage customer contracts to the City's Solid Waste Division."

If the proposal for the take-over is agreed upon by the Commission, the change will go into effect on May 1, and Sanford will take over waste collection at 110 commercial establishments presently served by IWS.

"Some of the commercial agreements with IWS have already expired," Simmons said, "while

The new rate may be lower than what IWS charged for some, or be higher for a few of the businesses.

-Bill Simmons, city manager others are nearing their end."

He explained, "When IWS contracted with the various businesses, they negotiated with them on an individual basis. Therefore the rates vary. With the City," he continued, "we charge a flat rate to all commercial establishments. The amount may be lower than what IWS charged for some, or be higher for a few of the businesses."

In presenting the proposal for the City Commission, Public Works Director Jerry Herman explained, "The agreement will expedite the process of the City consolidating commercial solid waste services within Sanford." Herman is requesting approval of the request for the City Attorney to draft a formal agreement with IWS.

"There will be additional income to the City from these added collections," Simmons explained. "The money however, goes into the Solid Waste Enterprise Fund, which is a not-for-profit operation. It will however, help us to balance the cost accounts on the fund's budget."

Simmons could not estimate the total increase the fund would receive from the take-over. "This will still not give the City all of the commercial collections," he said.

"There are still two other haulers who deal with some businesses, Western Waste and Waste Management."

Regarding the question over the 34 accounts which were omitted from last year's IWS listings, attorneys representing IWS are asking the City to, "...forgive any and all unpaid franchise and recycling fees allegedly owed by IWS for the months of October, 1991 through April, 1992."

If the take-over is found agreeable by the City Commission, the attorneys are also requesting the City to pay IWS $13,500.

Simmons explained, "The $13,500 is to take over the remaining contracts IWS still has current." He added, "I believe it's a fair amount considering the situation."

If the Sanford City Commission agrees, See Trash, Page 5A

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Spring breaker's thumb severed

DAYTONA BEACH — An Ohio youth had his thumb severed when he fell three stories from the balcony of a beachside motel, police say.

Doctors later reattached the thumb. Chad J. Carico, 19, of Brookville, Ohio, said he was sitting on a balcony rail, lost his balance and fell backward from a balcony at the Reef Motel late Monday. He landed on the roof of a car.

Carico's left thumb caught in the railing during the fall and was severed, said police spokesman Al Tolley. Doctors at Halifax Medical Center reattached the thumb, he said.

Carico, vacationing in Daytona Beach, is the second person to be injured in a balcony fall this year. James McDermott, 18, fell from the second floor of a motel March 16 and suffered minor injuries, police said.

NAACP wants investigation at school

EUSTIS — The head of the state NAACP has prompted an investigation into an incident at Eustis High School in which a ninth-grade student was arrested for singing.

In a report of the arrest last month, deputy sheriff Arthur Lewis, a school resource officer, said the student "uttered sounds aloud with the rhythm of a song."

Despite being told to stop, deputy Lewis said, student Vic Wright continued to make noises in the classroom and provoked the disorder of other pupils. The deputy took Wright to the Lake County Jail, charged him with disrupting a school function and released him.

T.H. Poole, president of the Florida chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asked Sheriff George Knupp to remove Lewis from his school duties. Knupp said Tuesday an inquiry will be conducted.

Proposal would pay for port expansion

JACKSONVILLE — The Jacksonville Port Authority should be given the $24 million refund the city is receiving from the Cross-Florida Barge Canal, U.S. Rep. Charles E. Bennett said.

The port has been seeking money to build a third terminal to meet the needs of an ever-growing shipping clientele.

"Somebody ought to tell the mayor and City Council to give some consideration to giving a substantial amount of it to our port," Bennett said Tuesday.

Later, he said, all the money should go to the port because the local funding of the barge canal was essentially for port-related activity.

The proposed barge canal would have connected the port in Jacksonville with the Gulf of Mexico via the St. Johns River and a canal. It was deauthorized by Congress in 1986 and the six counties in Florida which contributed $32 million in tax money and land will be reimbursed.

Diplomas won't be awarded on stage

MIAMI — Students won't be allowed to receive their diplomas on stage at Florida International University's commencement, but school officials say it's not because President Bush is delivering the graduation speech.

Planning Monday's ceremony, the public university discarded a 20-year tradition of undergraduate students shaking hands with the school president and accepting their degrees in front of an audience of thousands.

But officials say it's because of growth — not presidential security.

Some students aren't so sure. "We feel we have earned the right to walk," said senior business major Suzanne Battle. "It's not Bush day or campaign day, but our day."

Only a dozen doctoral recipients will be allowed on stage for hooding ceremonies. About 1,800 bachelor's and master's degree recipients will be asked to stand when their college is called and be recognized as a group.

Burglary suspect dies

PENSACOLA — A burglary suspect, who was in a coma for a month, has died three days after the elderly man who shot him March 19 suffered a stroke.

Robert Lee Rhodes, 82, was listed in stable condition Wednesday at West Florida Regional Medical Center where he was admitted Saturday.

The burglary suspect, Thomas R. Ferris, 48, died Tuesday at the same hospital where he had survived on life support systems.

Rhodes shot Ferris after finding him sitting in the utility room of his Pensacola home, authorities said.

Escambia County sheriff's investigator Wendell Hall said he will probably recommend no charges be brought against Rhodes. His recommendation will go to the state attorney's office.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Fewer Florida babies dying

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Fewer of Florida's babies are dying in their first year of life with the state's infant mortality rate dropping from 9.7 per 1,000 births in 1990 to 8.9 last year.

For the first time, Florida's rate is the same as the nation's rate, according to provisional figures released by the National Center for Health Statistics.

The United States ranks 24th among industrialized nations in infant mortality. Japan is the best nation for infant health, with a death rate of only 4.6 of every 1,000 live births.

But Gov. Lawton Chiles said he was delighted by the drop in Florida's rate. "I think that's tremendously good news," he said.

The governor said the reduction in the state's infant mortality rate proved that investing money in preventing problems pays off. One of the leading causes of infant mortality is low birth-weight, which can result from a lack of prenatal health care.

In 1991, 1,722 Florida babies died in their first year of life. In 1990, 1,930 did.

"I think a lot of things have come together for us," Dr. Charles Mahan, the state's health officer, said Tuesday. "We've been working on this in increments since 1982. It's a heck of a drop when you consider that we've been working against a tremendous (population) growth rate."

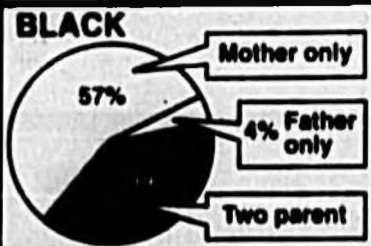

In 1982, the year lawmakers started spending more for maternity care, Florida's infant mortality rate was 12.8.

Prenatal care is among the items that will be reduced if the Legislature sticks with its proposed "no-new-taxes" budget. Mahan said he hopes that Tuesday's news would inspire the Legislature to keep improving state programs in maternal care.

Over the years, the Legislature has expanded public health benefits to more "working poor" women who previously had not qualified for Medicaid, but who could not afford to pay for prenatal care themselves. In 1982, the state paid for prenatal care for only 18,000 women, compared with 80,000 women today, Mahan said.

SINGLE DADS STILL SCARCE

Distribution of family groups with children, by race and type, 1990

There are disparities among America's racial groups in the percentages of families headed by two parents, or by a mother only. However, for all racial groups, less than 5 percent of families are headed by fathers only.

Man admits listing ways to kill wife

Associated Press

LARGO — A Dunedin man was sentenced to 15 years in prison after pleading guilty in the attempted slaying of his pregnant wife, for which he systematically made a list of possible methods of killing.

A spiral notebook found in Christopher Harper's home revealed a ranking: blunt trauma, suicide, hanging, drowning, strangulation, fire and poisoning.

Harper, 25, pleaded guilty Tuesday to attempted first-degree murder and conspiracy for plotting with a friend in the attack on 21-year-old Jacqueline Harper.

"She was seven months pregnant, and he didn't want responsibility of the child," said prosecutor Thane Covert, adding that Harper was considering leaving his wife and didn't want to pay child support.

The Harpers were divorced last May.

14 getting rabies shots

Associated Press

PENSACOLA — Fourteen people who came in contact with a pet dog that was attacked by a rabid raccoon two weeks ago are getting rabies shots as a precaution against the fatal disease.

The peek-a-poo dog, a pekinese-poodle mix, may have to be killed, owners William and Evelyn Cooper said Tuesday.

"We're not going to let her endanger anybody else," Mrs. Cooper said. In the meantime, the dog named Honey has been quarantined.

None of the 14 people were bitten, but each had some contact with the dog or raccoon, said Escambia County Environmental Health Director Richard Dunlap.

The Coopers, other family members, the dog's veterinarian and assistants are getting the shots. The series of five shots takes about 14 days to complete, costs up to $800 and must begin within eight to 10 days of being infected.

The Coopers said they didn't have Honey inoculated against rabies because they didn't think she would be exposed to other animals.

"She never goes outside our fence," Mrs. Cooper said. "Who would have thought a raccoon would come in our yard?"

After the dog was bitten and scratched, the raccoon climbed into a tree behind the Coopers' home.

Former employees say attraction fired them because they're black

Associated Press

OCALA — Silver Springs attraction has systematically tried to weed out its black workers, charge two fired black employees who have asked the state to force the nature park to give them back their jobs.

Both of the longtime employees allege that Florida Leisure Acquisition Corp., which has owned the attraction since 1989, not only fired its black work force, but refused to hire new blacks.

"This company has, in the past, never discriminated, and I don't discriminate now," responded Bill Sims, Silver Springs' president and chief executive officer. He refused comment on specifics of the complaint. Though no review date has been set, the Florida Commission on Human Relations is expected to rule on the matter within a few months, a spokeswoman said.

The discrimination complaint was filed by David Faison, 60, of Fort McCoy. He who had been a glass bottom boat captain at Silver Springs since 1957.

Park officials maintain Faison was fired in 1989 for insubordination because he failed to memorize a prepared tour script.

Faison's petition was joined by Emma Hawkins, a food and beverage supervisor fired in 1990. Faison's attorney, Mary O'Rourke of Tallahassee, said the terminations were "evidence of a "pattern and practice of discrimination."

Historically, the boat captain jobs had been filled by blacks. At the time Faison was fired, there were seven black boat captains. By November 1990, there were only three. Of the 95 boat captains hired since Faison lost his job — including 39 glass-bottom boat captains — only one was black, and he lasted only three months.

Edgar A. Freaen, former associate professor of economics at Florida State University who now works for the state Department of Revenue, testified that he reviewed the park's applicant log and payroll records. "The probability of there not being discrimination is extremely remote," he said.

Earth Day

150,000 kids sworn in as environmental cops

Associated Press

MIAMI — More than 150,000 elementary school children, vowing to protect the environment and arrest waste, were given badges and sworn in as "Enviro-Cops" in Dade County.

"We now have the largest green police force on the planet," said Edmund Benson, who heads the ARISE Foundation which organized the event.

Wednesday's ceremony, broadcast live to classrooms on educational television, was part of Earth Day activities across the Sunshine State.

The program encourages youngsters to bring the green message home. Students are taught about different sources of pollution, methods of household recycling, and poison control.

The message hit especially close to home at Skyway Elementary in Northwest Dade County.

At the school, students helped to force the closing of a large garbage-to-compost plant located just across the street. Children, parents, and administrators complained of foul odors emanating from the Agripost Inc. plant, and county officials revoked the permit for its operation.

The company claims a nearby landfill, not the plant, was responsible for the smell.

But students, like 10-year old Travis Hightower, say they'll always be good environmentalists.

"We know how to shut down things that will hurt the environment," he said, holding his green-and-white Enviro-Cops badge.

Travis and other fifth-graders took the oath and applauded their new responsibility for the environment.

Peter Sanchez, 10, leaned across a school desk to explain why people had to keep the planet clean.

"If you don't start recycling, landfills will get higher and higher."

In classrooms, students hand-fashioned paper maps of the globe with the caption "Save the Planet."

Goff will run for school board seat

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Bob Goff, former chairman of the school district's Business Advisory Board, has announced that he is running for the District 3 school board seat currently held by Joe Williams. Williams has not yet announced his intentions regarding a reelection bid. Goff, 44, of 413 Prairie Lake Dr. in Fern Park, said the school board, especially with a soon-to-be-hired appointed superintendent, needs strong leadership. "And there hasn't been any leadership from my district," Goff said this morning. "There has been a rubber stamp." Goff, who has lived in the same location for 17 years, began his career in Seminole County as a physical education teacher at Lyman High School in Longwood in 1978. He also coached the swim team while he was there.

After several years in the education field he changed careers, going into the real estate business with his uncle at Elmer Bakalla Realty in Fern Park. Having been involved in both the educational and the business side of the school district, Goff believes that the leadership is weakest in the business area. "The system is not broken," he said. "When you're taking in 1,000 incoming freshman every year and graduating 970 of them four years later and sending 60 to 70 percent of them to college, that's not broken."

The problem he said is an administrative one. "The system is fat, lazy and stuck in the 1950s, business-wise," he said. "We need to tighten it up, slim it down and bring it into the 21st century." Goff earned his bachelors degree at the University of Alabama and has done graduate work at Georgia Southern, at Memphis State University and California State-Northridge. Goff said he is not afraid to give his opinions on any matter. As chairman and as a member of the Business Advisory Board, he has spoken out on matters that he believes in. Goff is divorced but has three children. One is graduated and the other two attend school in Sanford. The older is a eighth grader at Sanford Middle School and the youngest is a fifth grader at Hamilton Elementary School.

Steady course

Britain's Conservative government won a surprising fourth straight parliamentary election victory recently, albeit with a House of Commons majority that shrank from 86 to 21. Prime Minister John Major confounded the pollsters and pundits who saw him as too bland to fend off a rejuvenated Labor Party that has moderated its socialist doctrine in recent years.

Voters had made it clear that they were unhappy after 13 years of bitter economic medicine administered by Margaret Thatcher, whom Major succeeded 17 months ago. That unhappiness, combined with recent voter defections from the status quo in Germany, France and Italy, pointed toward a Labor victory.

But the experts may have overlooked an equally deep-seated aversion in Britain and elsewhere, to socialist solutions based on more redistribution of wealth through higher income taxes.

Labor has not shed all its leftist baggage: It vowed during the campaign to raise taxes on high incomes from 40 percent to 59 percent, roughly where rates were before the Tories took power in 1979; to spend more on health, education and welfare; to decentralize government and reform election law by introducing proportional representation, which in much of Europe produced a badly splintered political spectrum and often unworkable coalition governments. In the end, British voters decided not to run such risks.

The result is good news for the Bush administration, as an apparent endorsement of conservative economic policies and as a signal that U.S. foreign policy will continue to have strong British support on issues ranging from keeping a strong Western military alliance, to taking a hard line against Third World dictators to free-market-oriented trade policies.

Yet neither the results nor British voters' preoccupations warrant any complacent long-term assumptions. For one thing, Labor cut deeply into the Tory majority; for another, the economy remains mired in recession, with high unemployment and inflation and fiscal policies that favor the rich.

Responding to popular discontent, Major has shown greater compassion to the poor than his predecessors by moderating a harshly inequitable property tax introduced by Thatcher, and he strongly endorsed welfare-state institutions during the campaign.

Now, having won his own mandate, he has replaced some Thatcherite Cabinet hardliners with moderates. At the same time, Labor Party leader Neil Kinnock, having lost twice to the Tories, is stepping down and is likely to be succeeded by a moderate.

It's doubtful that this implies a trend toward consensus in Britain, if that were to happen, Britons might come to complain, like so many Americans, that there's not a farthing's worth of difference between the two major parties.

Judging by the recent election, that day has not arrived.

Betrayal of Democracy

On Wednesday evening April 15th at 9 p.m. on Channel 24 I watched Frontline, "The Betrayal of Democracy."

Our elected officials are in the pockets of big business and big business controls Washington.

How we vote in either party doesn't matter. Once in Washington big business takes over.

It will continue on this way if we do not get control again. How do we do it? I don't know.

The liberals' Big Lie marches on

By now, the liberals' Big Lie about the extent of communist and pro-communist influence in the United States during the 1930s and '40s, and about the efforts to combat it in the 1950s, has become such a familiar part of what passes for American history that our friends are getting dangerously careless about how they toss it around.

One spectacular recent example is Jonathan Schell's review, in The New Republic for April 27, of Robert Newman's biography of the late Owen Lattimore. Since it will be read by far more people than Newman's heroic 689-page whitewash, and is typical of other recent liberal attempts (e.g. Tom Wicker's) to rewrite the Lattimore story, it deserves your attention.

Owen Lattimore was raised in China, and by the mid-1940s was widely known in this country as a tireless apologist for the Chinese Communists. He was a prominent member of the Institute for Pacific Relations, a major communist front, and played a leading role in its successful drive in the 1940s to depict Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists as corrupt tyrants and the Chinese Communists as innocent "agrarian reformers."

Small wonder, then, that Joe McCarthy, challenged by the Tydings Committee in 1951 to name in public the leading purveyors of the communist virus, put Owen Lattimore at the top of the list. It was, as Bill Buckley and Brent

Bozell were to write in "McCarthy and His Enemies," "his 'best' case, i.e. ... the one with respect to which McCarthy was in a position to adduce the most damaging evidence."

Needless to say, the Democratic majority on the Tydings Committee brushed that evidence aside. But thoughtful men in both parties were by now seriously concerned at the extent of communism's influence in this country, and in 1950 the Democratic-controlled Senate had created an Internal Security subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee to investigate and monitor the problem.

In 1951 and 1952, the subcommittee conducted an extensive investigation of the role that the Institute of Pacific Relations and its leading members had played in shaping this country's disastrous policy toward China in the 1940s. So far as concerned Lattimore, the subcommittee's principal (and unanimous) finding was that "Owen Lattimore was, from some time beginning in the 1930s, a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet-conspiracy."

The subcommittee also decided that Lattimore had perjured himself at least five times in testimony before it, and he was subsequently indicted. The fact that several of the counts were subsequently dismissed by a liberal judge as "too vague," and that the prosecution was dropped as a result, was hailed by Lattimore's defenders as "clearing" him. But it did, of course, no such thing.

With this brief tour of the relevant history, let us now return to Mr. Schell's review. He can, of course, be confident that not one reader in a thousand will know the above facts.

So he entertains us with the usual gaudy animadversions against Joe McCarthy, Louis Budenz, John T. Flynn and other dependable hot buttons. The words "Internal Security subcommittee" appear just once in his 4,000-word article, as having held some "hearings." Of the subcommittee's unanimous finding concerning Lattimore, Mr. Schell says not one blessed word.

It is typical of liberal attempts to rewrite the Lattimore story.

Clinton is getting a raw deal

It was a noble fight, Mr. Clinton, but I guess you had better pack up your posters and slink on back to Arkansas.

What else can you do now that Time magazine has taken an in-depth look at your character and pronounced it wanting? Time is America, Bill. They know what's going on in the heartland because they ask us. They teamed up with CNN and polled 937 people and discovered that 53 percent of them did not believe Bill Clinton is "honest and trustworthy enough to be president."

That's a whopping 498.1 people, Bill. No wonder Time felt compelled to run a major story analyzing "Why Voters Don't Trust CLINTON" and a cover featuring a ghastly photographic negative that makes you look like you just ate a radioactive moon pie.

I sort of wish Time had included me in their survey, though. If they had, there would have been only 495.1 people who are convinced you are a schmuck, and that's only 52.8 percent and you might still have had a fighting chance.

I haven't decided who to vote for yet, but I am convinced that Clinton has been getting a raw deal. When I review the things he has been accused of and compare them with the trespasses of other politicians — including our current leader — I see a tabby in a lair of tigers. To wit:

The Woman Thing. So far, the case against Clinton consists of charges made in a lawsuit by a former state employee who was fired, and an utterly uncorroborated tale offered up in a sleazy tabloid by a woman who was paid for her story. Clinton has confessed marital "wrongdoing" but rightfully says it is a private matter between Hillary and himself.

Put it another way: When it comes to hanky-panky, Clinton is in the same league with Franklin Roosevelt and Dwight Eisenhower, and John Kennedy makes him look like a milkop.

The Draft Thing. So he didn't want to go to Vietnam, and he flirted with ROTC and flimflammed his draft board. If that's a sin, a few million people my age are bound for hell. Vietnam was a gross war stoked by scurvy politicians to further their scurvy agendas. I was an army officer during those years, but I served stateside. I recall many sleepless nights of worry about being ordered to Vietnam, and I don't know what I would've done had it happened. All I know is that I hated that sunny war, and I can't blame Clinton for trying to stay out of it.

The Dope Thing. Clinton was repeatedly asked whether he had smoked marijuana. He evaded the question and finally said he had done it but hadn't inhaled. Tricky answer, right? Funny thing is, given his father's alcoholism and his fear of addiction to anything, I believe him. (I also find myself wondering what Jerry Brown smoked and whether he ever exhaled, but I suppose that's beside the point.)

Experimenting with marijuana puts Clinton in the company of tens of millions of his fellow citizens, including lawmakers and judges.

Getting a little technical about it puts him in the same boat as many others, including columnist William F. Buckley, who said he

The Conflict-of-Interest Thing. Clinton got into a land deal with a businessman who later bought into an S&L, and Hillary is a partner in a law firm that does a modest business with the state. Give me a break: The deal lost money and Hillary has a fundamental right to work where she wants.

You want conflict-of-interest? How about George Bush risking national bankruptcy because Congress wouldn't restore capital gains tax cuts, while Bush himself exploited capital gains breaks to save $50,000 a year between 1980 and 1988.

Compared to other unprincipled, scheming, rapacious politicians, Bill Clinton is clearly a piker. That's my analysis, anyway, but I guess it is flawed. Time magazine tells me it is, and Time cannot be wrong. They know America.

They polled .00038 percent of it.

They know what's going on in the heartland because they ask us.

Greider sings the bipartisan blues

William Greider, who a few years ago unmasked the Federal Reserve in an epic best-seller, has long been too fine a thinker to be labeled just a reporter. And too fine a reporter to be labeled just a thinker.

So he confounds the compulsive labelers among us every time he stitches together patches of seemingly unrelated truths to create quilts that reveal what is really happening — and why. And he confounds the labelers doubly if they insist on forcing his work into a political pigeonhole. Yet, that's what happened the other day, after PBS aired his "Frontline" special, "The Betrayal of Democracy," a video adaptation of his new book, "Who Will Tell the People."

It was conservative adviser/writer Vic Gold, a right thinking-man's thinker, who uncorked his irrefragable ire after watching, back-to-back evenings of PBS specials hosted, he felt, by certified liberals. On Tuesday,

Gold — co-author of President Bush's autobiography, press secretary to Vice President Spiro Agnew, press deputy to 1984 GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater — watched Bill Moyers' special on the roots of the recession, based on the Philadelphia Inquirer's excellent series by Donald R. Bartlett and James B. Steele, investigative types of no known political persuasion. On Wednesday, Gold watched Greider's special, based on his own reporting, a look at how the Washington system — the polis, lobbyists, journalists — fails us. Especially: how the Democratic Congress and the Reagan-Bush White House conspired to conceal the cost of the huge S&L bailout until after the 1988 elections.

On Thursday, Gold vented his views to Washington Post TV columnist John Carmody, who noted that Gold is a Corporation for Public Broadcasting board member. Gold called Greider's special "an unrelenting, unremitting portrait of America as the equivalent of Ceausescu's Romania," adding: "This is an election year. If they want to run the Moyers show, run the Greider show, let them have it, but let's see them run something from the other side."

Actually, The Other Side was fully aired in Greider's special — by Greider. In showing what is wrong with the system, this writer who is labeled a liberal was tougher on Democrats than Republicans.

When Greider talked to folks on the streets, he heard complaints familiar to all outside Washington: "I think politicians are like lovers. They chase you — and then they get what they want and they forget about you." When he talked to former Senate aides, a Republican and a Democrat, he got nearly identical indictments of why Washington's best efforts fail in the heartland.

When he talked to Democratic and Republican congressmen, he got nearly identical explanations that the special interests call the shots and that senators and representatives are trapped in a system requiring senators, for example, to raise $3,000 a day, every day, to finance their next campaign.

When Greider and his award-winning producer, Sherry Jones, turned the cameras on the special interests, they chose fat-cat Democrats, not Republicans.

Now think about the politics of all this: Whose campaign themes were echoed in Greider's PBS special? Just one — the tune we've heard sung in three-part harmony by Ross Perot, Pat Buchanan and Jerry Brown. It is the Song of the Outsiders of '92 — a bipartisan blues that will be on everybody's lips until we agree to take private money out of our public elections.

He confounds the compulsive labelers among us.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Abortion protests end in arrests

AMHERST, N.Y. — A scuffle erupted outside the home of Buffalo's anti-abortion mayor after a day of protests led by Operation Rescue resulted in about 200 arrests.

An anti-abortion protester rushed toward Mayor James Griffin's house in Buffalo on Wednesday evening and began hitting abortion-rights demonstrators who stood in front of the house. No additional arrests were made.

Last year, Griffin, a longtime abortion foe, invited Operation Rescue head Randall Terry to Buffalo to stage protests modeled after those in Wichita, Kan., last summer. Demonstrations outside clinics there led to 2,600 arrests.

More protests were planned today in a bid by Operation Rescue to shut down Buffalo's five abortion clinics over the next two to four weeks. Abortions also are performed at some doctors' offices and at least one hospital.

Public session on abortion animated

WASHINGTON — Abortion-rights advocates are talking about the Supreme Court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade ruling in the past tense, even though it is still unclear whether the current court will use a Pennsylvania case to overturn the landmark decision legalizing abortion.

The justices asked animated questions during an hour-long public session Wednesday, giving some insight on their thinking on the Pennsylvania abortion law, as well as Roe vs. Wade. A ruling is expected by July.

Only two of the nine justices have expressed strong support for abortion rights.

One legal scholar who listened to the high-court arguments said there was little doubt the 1973 ruling, even if not explicitly overturned in this election year, will be left in tatters by the justices.

Perot speaks

DALLAS — Ross Perot says voters should expect an unconventional and "very active" campaign if he runs for president as an independent, which the Texas billionaire says he may do even if he fails to get on all 50 state ballots.

"Common sense would prevail" if a massive petition drive comes up a state or two short, even though he earlier vowed to not run unless his name won a spot on every ballot, Perot said in an interview Wednesday with The Associated Press.

Sounding increasingly like a candidate, Perot said he would actively seek support from minorities, steer clear of negative television advertising, and avoid the "show business, mud wrestling (and) tricks" that he said taint other presidential campaigns.

Russia may resume nuclear tests

WASHINGTON — U.S. officials suspect that Russia intends to resume nuclear weapons testing this year, a move likely to strengthen President Bush's opposition to a global test ban.

Russia is complying with a one-year testing moratorium imposed on Oct. 5 by former Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev. But at the end of March, Russian President Boris Yeltsin ordered his Ministry of Nuclear Energy and the military high command to ready the former Soviet test site at Novaya Zemlya for testing — should he decide not to extend the ban.

Earthquake rocks Southern California

LOS ANGELES — A strong earthquake shook Southern California, damaging utility lines and desert towns, causing minor injuries and raising official worry that the catastrophic Big One could be on the way.

The quake struck at 9:50 p.m. Wednesday and measured 6.1 on the Richter scale. Buildings swayed in downtown Los Angeles, and tremors were felt as far away as Arizona and Nevada and from San Diego to Santa Barbara, 200 miles up the coast.

Witnesses' estimates of the quake's duration ranged from 10 to 60 seconds.

"It was a terrible shaking," said Mary Gibson of Desert Hot Springs. "We were just getting ready to go to bed, and the whole house just shook. It felt like an eternity."

As dozens of aftershocks rumbled through the region, officials warned residents to be ready for an even bigger one. But the risk of that happening diminished within hours.

Mall roadblock may be removed

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

HEATHROW — A major "roadblock" is about to be removed from the development of a major mall here.

Next week, Seminole County commissioners will consider accepting a settlement of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council's Jan. 31, 1991 appeal of the proposed Heathrow Town Centre, a proposed 1.2 million square foot retail center west of Interstate 4 and Paola Road. Commissioners approved the mall Sept. 25, 1990.

The ECFRPC voted in February to dismiss their appeal of the mall after deciding they didn't know how to impose a policy that served as the foundation of the appeal.

Barbara Lutz, spokesman for mall developer The Hahn Co., a San Diego, Calif. company, said company officials were pleased the council dismissed the appeal and said they are still pursuing department store "anchors" for the mall. Seminole Town Center developers Melvin Simon Co. have already announced several major retail "anchors" for the nearby Sanford mall at I-4 and State Road 46.

The ECFRPC appealed the development approval because the county didn't require the mall developers to make any improvements to I-4, although almost 40 percent of the traffic between County Road 46-A and Lake Monroe would either be going to or from the mall. Mall developers Jeno Paulucci and The Hahn Co. of San Diego, Calif. anticipated an I-4 interchange at CR 46-A to serve the mall.

Greg Gologowski, director of ECFRPC project review, said the council had a policy that developers should pay their "fair share" of the traffic impacts to state roads caused by their developments.

But at the same time, the council was uncertain how to actually impose the state road improvement requirement because they had no assurance the Florida Department of Transportation would use the money for improvements needed for specific projects, said Gologowski.

According to ECFRPC records of the council's Feb. 19 meeting, council members voted not to appeal an Orange County development, in part, because it decided not to impose the state road contribution requirement. Following a 29-3 approval, council attorney Gerald Livingston recommended dropping the Heathrow Town Centre appeal since it was based on the same policy.

Council member Sandra Glenn, a former Seminole County commissioner, called for a vote to dismiss the appeal. County commissioner Jennifer Kelley, who also serves on the council, joined the call for the vote, which was approved unanimously.

Still remaining to be resolved is a Florida Department of Community Affairs appeal of the county's Heathrow Town Centre development approval, which was also filed with the state on Jan. 31, 1991.

along the south side of the road to Old Lake Mary Road. Brinton said the change will save the estimated $9.5 million expense of Bridgewater Apartments and the $2.5 million expense of moving Airport Boulevard as originally planned. The changes will have minimal impact on the Seminole County Public Health Unit and Howell Place.

But Hidden Lakes residents decried the 50- to 100-foot loss of trees between Lake Ada and the expressway.

"There will be nothing to stop all that traffic noise from coming right across the lake to our homes," said Rusty Riegert, owner of a lakefront home on Alder Court.

"It sounds like a brother-in-law deal to me," exclaimed Riegert's neighbor, Gene Clavadtacher. "It sounds like somebody's brother-in-law is involved."

Expressway designers said no relatives of expressway officials owned property in the U.S. 17-92, Airport Boulevard vicinity. Residents also told expressway designers there was an active bald eagle's nest near the northwest shore of Lake Ada in a site planned for a drainage pond. Designers said they would search for it, although they have completed two surveys for eagles previously without finding it.

The expressway will continue westward south of Airport Boulevard, crossing Live Oak Boulevard and Old Lake Mary Road before crossing County Road 46-A 100 feet east of the original crossing point to avoid a deep muck pocket, saving $1 million in additional construction requirements. The bridge will still be built within previously-approved right of way.

The expressway will then curve to the west by Ravenna Park, severing Country Club Road, Bungalow Place and passing north of Idylwild. About a half dozen homes on Bungalow Place will still be needed for the expressway path.

As a result of the change, all nine homes on Satsuna Court will now be needed for the expressway, said Brinton. Under former plans, two of the homes would have remained, he said. With the changes, Brinton said about 1,000 feet of Smith Canal will have to be relocated, instead of 4,500 feet under the former plans, representing a $900,000 savings.

($2,500 each in the Service for Senior Citizens category).

Current designs are complete to Rinehart Road, which now calls for an interchange. In 15 years, 24,000 cars per day would use the interchange, according to design information. The interchange would serve the proposed Seminole Town Center and other high-intensity development in the west Sanford area. The interchange will occur at the point where the nearly-complete extension of Rinehart Road crosses the vacated CSX railroad pathway.

The entrance and exit ramps for the new interchange will have to be built east of Rinehart Road so they don't conflict with the I-4 interchange, said Brinton. As a result, three rural homes east and southeast of the proposed 43-acre interchange will be bought to make way for the road.

Brinton said designs aren't complete for the I-4 interchange.

Tax reform fails to get on ballot

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — A commission created to reform Florida's tax system has failed to place anything meaningful on the November ballot, defeating proposals for an income tax and changes in sales tax exemptions.

"We moved off the constitutional agenda and into oblivion everything of significance," said commissioner Bill Bryant of Tallahassee at the Tax and Budget Reform Commission's next-to-last meeting Wednesday.

The defeat of the income tax, and the failure of an initiative allowing removal of sales tax exemptions in return for an overall rollback of the sales tax, means the commission will likely submit no major tax proposals for the November elections after nearly two years of work.

Its deadline is May 7. The panel did pass a proposed constitutional amendment allowing city and county governments access to another cent of sales taxes if local voters approve. Also passed was a taxpayers' bill of rights and a measure to allow property taxes to be collected on certain land that is now exempt.

Those measures are headed for the November ballot for voters to consider. The panel defeated an attempt to change the way lottery funds are distributed as well as an effort to extend the corporate income tax to some companies that are now exempt.

The commission initially defeated the income tax proposal on April 8 but decided to reconsider, partly because of Florida's chronic tax shortfalls.

The members came under intense lobbying pressure from politicians who didn't want to run for re-election on the same ballot as an unpopular income tax.

nowhere and the governor vetoed the $30 billion spending plan passed by lawmakers for the fiscal year that starts in July.

The Legislature meets next month in a special session to take its second shot at writing a budget.

Smith said Tuesday he has updated his plan to eliminate most sales tax loopholes but retain exemptions on prescription medicine, electric and phone service and purchases made by churches.

The state could then reduce the sales tax rate from 6 percent to 4 percent and cut property taxes the state requires local school districts to levy, he said.

Senate Minority Leader Ander Crenshaw, R-Jacksonville, said he remained opposed to any tax increase, as do most Republicans and conservative Democrats in the upper chamber.

Sen. Winston "Bud" Gardner, Appropriations Committee chairman, had his doubts too.

"I have not wanted to appear to be throwing cold water on any type of proposal," Gardner, D-Titusville, said. "But I'm not sure we can deal with that in a special session."

Endeavour's inaugural flight set

By Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL — The expected inaugural space flight of Endeavour, NASA's replacement for space shuttle Challenger, has been moved up a day to May 4.

The launch date was tentatively changed from its original target of May 5 because preparations are ahead of schedule, said NASA spokeswoman Lisa Malone.

Barring technical or weather delays, Endeavour's seven astronauts will lift off at 8:34 p.m. EDT on an ambitious seven-day mission that includes a rendezvous with a silent communications satellite.

The satellite, owned by the 122-nation Intelsat consortium, has been stranded in a unusually low orbit since a Titan III launch mistake in March 1990. Astronauts will attach a new motor intended to propel it to its proper orbit 22,300 miles above the Earth. The tricky satellite rescue will involve the first of three back-to-back spacewalks. Astronauts will also be asked to test five self-rescue devices, including an updated Gemini propulsion gun. If Endeavour blasts off on schedule, it would land May 11 at Edwards Air Force Base in California. Challenger exploded shortly after liftoff in January 1986, killing all seven aboard.

Spacecraft discovers key evidence about creation

By LEE SHIBEL
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES — A NASA satellite has found huge ripples of matter near the edge of the universe, a momentous discovery that explains how stars and galaxies evolved from the "big bang" that created the cosmos, scientists say.

"What we have found is evidence for the birth of the universe," said George Smoot, an astrophysicist at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory and the University of California at Berkeley.

The discovery by NASA's Cosmic Background Explorer spacecraft caps a 28-year quest for the solution to one of science's most vexing puzzles: How did matter that was uniformly spread out in the newborn universe start clumping together to produce stars, galaxies and clusters of galaxies?

Smoot and colleagues were scheduled to announce the finding today at a meeting of the American Physical Society in Washington.

If the research is confirmed, "it's one of the major discoveries of the century. In fact, it's one of the major discoveries of science," said physicist Joel Primack of the University of California at Santa Cruz.

Michael Turner, a University of Chicago physicist, called the discovery "unbelievably important. The significance of this cannot be overstated. They have found the Holy Grail of cosmology. ... If it is indeed correct, this certainly would have to be considered for a Nobel Prize."

Smoot said the ripples, which are extremely wispy clouds of matter, are "the largest and most ancient structures in the universe," stretching as long as 59 billion trillion miles and dating to almost 15 billion years ago.

That's only 300,000 years after the big bang, the cataclysmic explosion scientists believe created the universe, he said.

The ripples were created by the universe's rapid expansion after the big bang, Smoot said. Once the ripples formed, gravity made increasing amounts of matter clump together, eventually creating galaxies, stars and clusters of galaxies, he said.

"What we have found solves a major mystery, revealing for the first time the primeval seeds that developed into the modern universe," said John Mather, chief scientist of the $400 million mission at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md.

"It tells us how the universe developed from an almost featureless explosion to something that's been broken up into huge clusters of galaxies and huge empty spaces."

Evidence collected by the satellite also supports the theory that up to 90 percent of the universe is made of invisible "dark matter" that scientists haven't yet been able to identify, Smoot said.

Decisive, Nobel Prize-winning evidence supporting the big-bang theory was discovered in 1964 when Arno Penzias and Robert Wilson detected the big bang's "afterglow" — microwaves known as cosmic background radiation.

The Earth-orbiting COBE spacecraft made more than 300 million measurements since its 1989 launch from Vandenberg Air Force Base. It detected nearly imperceptible variations in the temperature of the radiation, which measures 454 degrees below zero.

Those variations — only about thirty-millionths of a degree — represent slight differences in the density of matter at the edge of the universe, basically ripples of wispy clouds surrounded by slightly less dense matter, Smoot said.

The smallest ripples stretch across 500 million light years of space, or about 2.9 billion trillion miles, Smoot said. Until now, the largest known structure in the universe was the "great wall," an arc of galaxies about 200 million light years long, he said.

New Dialing Directions for the Information Generation.

Because Florida's growing so quickly, the supply of telephone number combinations is running low. But the answer to this problem is simple. And it won't cost you a dime.

Now, when you dial a long distance number within the same area code, you need to dial it like any other long distance call — by including the area code.

This new dialing plan will dramatically increase the supply of available telephone numbers. So, remember to dial the area code on all long distance calls within your area code. And, remember to re-program speed-dial numbers, programmed FAX machines, computer modems or alarm systems affected by this new dialing system.

Fund-raising time again for July 4 fireworks

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Independence Day is over two months away, but Steven Alford is starting to raise money already. The money will be used for the annual fireworks display.

For the third consecutive year, Alford, who considers himself as "just an average citizen," is taking it upon himself to raise funds with which to purchase fireworks for the annual 4th of July observance on the Sanford lakefront.

Alford started the project in 1990 after the City decided to no longer finance the showing. Working with the assistance of local business owners, civic groups and private donations, he managed to raise $4,185 for what he called, "The First annual People's Fireworks display."

Last year, Alford became a member of the Sanford/Seminole Jaycees. "It's such an active group and the people are so interested," Alford said, "they just joined right in and worked with me on this." He added, "They'll be working on this again this year."

For 1991, Alford raised $5,285 in donations.

Although Alford hopes to obtain possibly six or seven thousand dollars for the 1992 observance, he is not giving himself a quota. "If I raise $3,000," he said, "we'll have $3,000 worth of fireworks. If I raise $7,000, we'll have that much bigger show."

Alford considers the 4th of July event just as important as other celebrations in the area. "We have the most beautiful area in Central Florida to accommodate such festivities," he said, "and just think of what it would be like to not be able to have the Christmas parade, St. Lucia Festival and other celebrations."

Although the past two years have seen the fireworks display just north of the New Tribes Mission area in the eastern end of Seminole Boulevard, Alford commented, "I've been discussing the matter with the Holiday Inn on the lakefront, in the hope that we might be able to hold it somewhere near there."

The Jaycees and Alford have set up a bank account on a continuing basis, at the Navy Orlando Federal Credit Union, 218 S. Park Avenue, in Sanford. Alford suggests donations be made out to "4th of July Fund", account #2044500.

Local Jaycees one step ahead

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Florida Jaycees have announced an environmental partnership with the Keep Florida Beautiful program. The agreement will make beautification a priority project for the Jaycees.

In Sanford however, it will not bring about any change. "We've already been doing that for over a year," said Brent Adamson, president of the Sanford/Seminole Jaycees.

In a statement released earlier this week from the Tallahassee headquarters of the organization, it was announced that the Florida Jaycees voted overwhelmingly in favor of combining the group with the beautification program.

"We are pleased that the Florida Jaycees have joined forces with our organization," said Keep Florida Beautiful Chairman Jim O'Connor. "This move gives our organization over ten thousand motivated, dedicated volunteers working toward environmental solutions."

Adamson, president of the Sanford/Seminole Jaycees, commented, "I'm pleased that the move is now Statewide, but it doesn't change things here in Sanford." He added, "We have been conducting a Keep America Beautiful campaign since January of 1991."

The local group maintains the program along Highway 17-92, from the Zayers Plaza north to 13th Street. "We go out there four times a year," Adamson said, "and clean up the entire area." He commented, "This is a project we are very proud of. It not only helps the environment, but it beautifies the city's physical appearance and provides a great and immediate feeling of accomplishment."

In Tallahassee, Lt. Governor Buddy MacKay applauded the united effort. "Taking two strong and respected organizations and making them joint participants in a statewide and ongoing environmental effort is so important. If we are to achieve true and lasting changes in the way we care for our environment."

Keep Florida Beautiful, Inc., is a non-profit statewide environmental organization created by the Florida Legislature as part of the Solid Waste Management Act.

The Jaycees meet on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 8:30 p.m., at their building in Jaycee Park, 427 S. French Avenue in Sanford. Adamson used the State announcement to put in a plug.

The new facility also has an eleven bed gynecological unit to accommodate various healthcare needs of women.

The open house will include guided tours of the new services, refreshments, free teddy bear balloon art, door prizes and special gifts for visitors.

The actual Family Unit will begin formal operation on April 27.

The open house will be held on the fourth floor of the main hospital, 555 West S.R. 434 in Longwood between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. this Saturday.

IN BRIEF

LOCALLY

Sanford umpires clinic Sunday

SANFORD — The Sanford Officials Association will host a one-day ASA Softball Clinic this Sunday at the Downtown office of the Sanford Recreation Department starting at 8 a.m. The clinic is for all those interested in becoming an A.S.A. (Amateur Softball Association) certified umpire. Umpires who are already certified can attend the clinic for free while newcomers must pay a $20 registration fee. For more information call: Duane at 333-4947 or 330-5897.

AROUND THE STATE

Bucs on the outside looking in

TAMPA — Once again, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers will come away from the NFL draft wondering what might have been. Thanks to one of the worst trades in league history, the losingest team of the past decade won't have a first-round pick Sunday for the third time in 10 years. To make matters worse, the club has nothing to show for a 1990 decision to deal what turned out to be the No. 2 selection overall to the Indianapolis Colts for Chris Chandler, a backup quarterback who spent less than two seasons with the Bucs. The Bucs have nine selections in the draft, beginning with the fourth pick in the second round — No. 32 overall.

Heat preparing for Bulls

CHICAGO — Miami coach Kevin Loughery knows his Heat players will have their work cut out for them against the Chicago Bulls in the first round of the NBA playoffs. "We're going to have to come up with a few different defenses, and we're going to have to score against this club early in the games to be competitive," said Loughery, whose team opens its best-of-five series Friday in Chicago. The Heat is 0-14 against Chicago, including 0-4 this season when the Bulls set a franchise record with 67 victories after winning their first league title a year ago. "Naturally, we're a big underdog. They're going to come out and really try to hammer us. We've got to be prepared for that," said Loughery.

Lightning passes over Dome

TAMPA — The Tampa Bay Lightning, which announced earlier this year that it would play its first NHL season in St. Petersburg, changed its mind Wednesday and signed a lease making the Florida State Fairgrounds Expo Hall its temporary home. Lightning president and general manager Phil Esposito said the expansion team expects to play at least two seasons in the 10,400-seat facility in Tampa before moving into the proposed Tampa Coliseum. Talks between the team and St. Petersburg's Florida Suncoast Dome stalled, in part, because of the Lightning's concerns that its $500,000 portable ice system might not be able to provide NHL-quality ice for an entire season in atmospheric conditions inside the Dome.

AROUND THE NATION

SunRays split with Mudcats

ZEBULON, N.C. — Fred Cooley went 3-for-4 with an RBI and a run scored as Orlando took the second game of a Southern League doubleheader with the Carolina Mudcats 6-1 to make up for an error which cost the SunRays the first game. Alberto De Los Santos scored on a fielding error by Orlando shortstop Pat Mearns as the Mudcats won the first game 6-5.

Top seeds advance in unusual fashion

By TONY DeBONNIE
Herald Sports Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — That was odd. Save Lake Howell's 14-1 rout of DeLand in the nightcap, the first round of the 4A-District 5 slowpitch softball tournament didn't go quite as expected. Sure, the top four-seeded teams won. And yes, all but one of the games were close.

But it's debatable if anyone could have predicted that Lake Brantley would have to score a run in the sixth to beat Spruce Creek 4-3, that Lyman would battle for seven innings to top Mainland 4-1 or that Oviedo would out-play Lake Mary and lose 1-0.

Odd. It continues tonight with the semifinal round at Lake Brantley High School. At 6 p.m., second-seeded Lake Howell plays third-seeded Lyman before top-seeded Lake Howell takes on fourth-seeded Lake Brantley at 8 p.m. The district championship game is scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday at Lake Brantley.

"Any one of these four teams would be a good representative of the district," said Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano. "I can't remember a district like this, one that is this balanced."

And her team won its first game 14-1. LAKE BRANTLEY 4, SPRUCE CREEK 3 Shelly Davis hit a three-run home run in the fifth inning to give Lake Brantley a 3-0 lead. But after the Patriots committed four errors in the next two innings to help Spruce Creek tie the score, Stacie Stuller singled home Julie Helmers in the sixth to advance Lake Brantley to the semifinals.

"The two times we played Spruce Creek during the regular season, we beat them 11-0 and 6-1," said Lake Brantley coach Reny Betris. "Neither game was ever in doubt."

"But when we put runners on second and third in the first inning and couldn't score, I knew it was going to be one of those games. It's tough when you've beaten somebody twice. The kids don't realize that anybody can beat you on a given day."

Providing the offense for the Patriots were Tania Diaz

(2-for-2, one run scored), Davis (2-for-3, home run, three RBI), Helmers (2-for-3, one run), Stuller (1-for-3, one RBI), Jen Soost (1-for-2, one run) and Jennifer Masciarelli (1-for-3).

LYMAN 4, MAINLAND 1 "That was just ugly," said Lyman coach Christy Tibbitts. "We're not going to go any further playing like that. Needless to say, I'm not very happy with that one, even if we did win."

Making a variety of the basic mistakes that turn young coaches old in a hurry, the Lyman Greyhounds were saved more by the fact that the Mainland Buccaneers out-errored them than their own play.

For instance, Jamie Mendelsohn reached on a one-out error to open Lyman's two-run rally in the fourth inning. Susan Willis, Jill Mendelsohn and Melissa Luak followed with consecutive singles, Jamie Mendelsohn scoring when the throw in following her sister's hit went awry and Willis riding home on Luak's hit.

In the Lyman fifth, Michelle Bishop opened with a walk. Mainland retired the next two Greyhound hitters before Gina Bazler, Carrie Scranton and Jamie Beland.

OVIEDO — Both top-seeded Oviedo and No. 2-seed Lake Brantley barely survived the first round of the 4A-District 9 baseball tournament Wednesday night, advancing with one-run victories.

At Oviedo High School, the Oviedo Lions eliminated the Lyman Greyhounds 3-2 while the Lake Brantley Patriots, playing at home, bounced the Lake Mary Rams 2-1.

Tribe campaign ends in shutout

From Staff Reports

SPARR — Just when it looked like the Seminole High School softball team was ready to roll, its offense disappeared and with it, the season.

Playing in the first round of the 3A-District 4 tournament at the Jerry Gantt Complex, Seminole managed just three hits — two by Carrie Dryden and one from Val Wilks — in a 10-0 season-ending loss to Ocala-Vanguard. Seminole ends its season 12-15.

In other games played Thursday, Stark beat Ocala-Forest 13-2 and North Marion edged Gainesville 14-12. Palatka and Gainesville-Eastside played in the late game.

Today's schedule has Stark taking on Leesburg, the Eastside-Palatka winner playing Vanguard, and the Stark-Leesburg survivor facing North Marion.

The championship game is scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday.

Mayor: Get involved in government

SANFORD — The Daughters of the American Revolution featured Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith at the April meeting in the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Although her assigned topic was "Women in Government," she preferred not to separate citizens into groups like Black Americans, White Americans, Women in politics, etc., for she said we are all Americans together. However, she said women tend to bring a special sensitivity to moral values, and are adept at consensus-building among people with whom they work.

She told a little story. In 1920, the vote for women's suffrage hinged on Tennessee. A certain mother admonished her son as he left, "Now, son, remember to vote the right way." It was his vote that carried the issue.

The mayor brought the Sanford annual financial report to assure us that we are financially sound. The law requires a balanced budget and we have it.

She held up a large booklet one-and-a-half inches thick labeled "Comprehensive Plan for Sanford." As a former Summa Cum Laude student from U.C.F., DAR members said they knew she had assimilated its contents and is at work for betterment.

She recommended "Florida City and County Government," a fine resource book for local government that is available in all the schools and in the Sanford Public Library. She challenged members to become knowledgeable about local government where they can see it work, to attend commission meetings, to serve or to encourage those who do serve, to pray for those in authority (Romans 13), to accept civic rights, obligations and responsibilities. Serving in politics is an honorable profession, and those who do so are like us -- for we chose them, she said.

Charaline Luna, chapter regent, welcomed members and guests.

Virginia Mikler briefly reviewed Phyllis Shafley's article on "The Dangers of the New World Order," warning us to study all the provisions of United Nations treaties, being particularly alert that we do not risk losing our own constitutional rights.

The installation of new officers will take place at a luncheon meeting at the Maison et Jardin on May 8. This meeting will be held jointly with the William P. Duval Chapter NSDAR of Winter Park. Submitted by Beatrice Beck

Help find 'Best Mom' in county

The Sanford Herald is searching for an area mom deserving of our annual 'Mom of the Year' title.

We need our readers to help by writing letters of nomination, to be reviewed by our panel of judges.

Judging will be based on sincerity and clarity, with specific examples or anecdotes about why your nominee is a special mom a plus. Your nominee need not be your own mom.

Only residents of Seminole County are eligible to be nominated but their nominators need not live in Seminole County.

Here's how to enter: Write us a letter about a special mom, telling us why she's so special. Letters should be typed or printed legibly. Include the nominee's name, street address, city, and daytime phone number at the top of your letter.

At the end of your letter include your name address, daytime phone number and age, if under 18.

Deliver or mail to "Mom of the Year," Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford, Fla., 32771.

There is no maximum length limit on letters.

Entries are due at the Herald office by 1 p.m., Friday, May 1.

The top three winners will be featured in the Mother's Day edition of the Herald, Sunday, May 10.

Smart mall shoppers must beware

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and am terrified to go to the mall. At our local shopping mall, crimes have been going on that are never reported in the newspaper because there are so many of them.

A friend of mine had been shopping and was just about to get into her car, when a man who had been hiding under her car grabbed her ankles. Another man, working in cahoots with the man under the car, was hiding behind another car nearby, and he jumped out and grabbed my friend's purse, and the two of them got away and were never caught.

The security guards never

ADVICE

seem to be around when you need them. Please warn people, Abby.

DEAR AFRAID: Since the crime rate at the mall appears to be more than their security can handle, it might be better to consider shopping someplace that is better policed.

If that's not possible, do not go to the mall unless you are accompanied by at least one friend. Ad do not enter the parking structure unless it is daylight, or well-lighted, or you are carrying a flashlight powerful enough to illuminate the underside and the interior of your car from a distance (and large enough to be used as a weapon should you have to).

Your letter is thought-provoking. Readers, before getting into your cars, look under them, around and behind you!

DEAR ABBY: Five years ago, my husband and I moved to Hawaii from Illinois. We wanted to get away from those terrible winters.

Now our life here in heavenly Hawaii has become a disaster -- the weather is marvelous, but it's a financial disaster. Why? It can be summed up in one word -- visitors. In 1988, there was only one month in which we had no visitors -- September. Some months we had two sets of visitors, with only two or three days between them.

We can't afford to run a hotel anymore. Our water and electric bills have doubled. Our grocery bills are astronomical. Also, because we have two cars, our houseguests never rent a car for themselves -- they just assume that my husband and I can "double up" so they can use one. (They do buy their own gas, but that doesn't pay for the wear and tear on the tires.)

All of our guests send us effusive thank-you letters, and for some good reason, they send us orchids! We don't need orchids. (I don't particularly like orchids anyway.)

We don't need thanks or orchids. We need money. No one need be embarrassed about offering us money. At this point, I wouldn't be embarrassed about taking it.

Please print this right away because we are booked through August. Sign this...

A PAUPER IN PARADISE

DEAR PAUPER: I'll print your letter, but I can't promise it will bring you any relief until you learn how to be more reluctant to put out the welcome mat, and speak up and say, "Sorry, we can't accommodate you."

DEAR ABBY: My pet peeve: responses that do not match your questions. Here's a good example: "Would you like more coffee?"

"No thanks, I'm fine." I usually say, "I didn't ask you how you are. I asked you if you wanted more coffee."

CECELIA R. DELBACCO-GREEN

DEAR ABBY: In response to the nursing home administrator who once again chastised those of us who have parents in convalescent hospitals who don't visit long enough, or often enough:

I, for one, am tired of having stones thrown, from the likes of her, at those of us who have parents for whom we were caregivers for many years, until we could no longer handle the problem at home. (The "problem" being a parent who had numerous strokes that deteriorated her brain to the point that she completely lost all control of her bodily functions, and particularly one who no longer knew who we were.)

My loving mother's slow "death" began 12 years ago. Today, she hasn't a clue who I am, nor does she know her other daughter, son-in-law, grandchildren or great-grandchildren.

Yes, my visits are not very long. But I come often to make sure she is clean and comfortable, and that she has everything she wants and needs. The nursing home in which we have her is of fine quality, and I will not even go into the expense involved. I am not wealthy, nor are my sisters or brothers, but we regard this expense as a necessity -- not a luxury. (We economize on other things.)

To visit our mother is no joy. It is extremely painful. I am a stranger to this lady who was once a dynamic, beautiful, brilliant woman. Now I cling to the memory of the person she was.

My mother "died" several years ago.

DOING MY BEST IN SAN RAFAEL

DEAR DOING: I believe you. And I wonder how many people will read this and say, "I could have written that letter." Bless you.

DEAR ABBY: My son is being married in six months to a lady who also has a fully equipped house. How can we suggest to their wedding guests that they need almost nothing, but are planning a tour to Europe next year, and cash gifts would be very much appreciated toward their trip?

I think it's sinful that so many gifts are inappropriate, some are duplicates, and much time is spent shopping and wrapping, and the gifts go into a closet waiting to be used as gifts for someone else!

Abby, can't you start a campaign to make checks socially acceptable as wedding gifts?

RATES WASTE IN CHULA VISTA, CALIF.

DEAR RATES WASTE: Checks are always "socially acceptable" -- when they are offered; never should they be requested!

They're tops

Take Off Pounds Sensibly members recently held their installation banquet at the Carriage Cove Clubhouse. A low calorie dinner was served to about 60 guests. The club enjoyed a net loss of 98 pounds. New officers include,

Get answers about an enlarged uterus

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 40-year-old female in good health. However, last June my gynecologist indicated my uterus had become enlarged. A six-month check found it had become slightly larger still. I do not plan on having children and was told not to worry about it unless my menstrual cycle becomes shorter than 21 days. I'm not in a financial position to afford a second opinion and find myself unable to put my fears aside.

DEAR READER: You need more answers from your gynecologist. For example, is your uterus growing because of muscle growth or something within the womb itself? As women age, they may be told (on the basis of routine examinations) that they have a small degree of uterine enlargement. This is harmless and can be ignored. However, fibroids -- benign growths of the uterine muscle -- can cause significant enlargement and, in my experience, can be difficult to differentiate from uterine cancer, on pelvic examination. Therefore, you need a pelvic ultrasound test to delineate what is going on. If, after further testing, the diagnosis is still in doubt, you should have a biopsy.

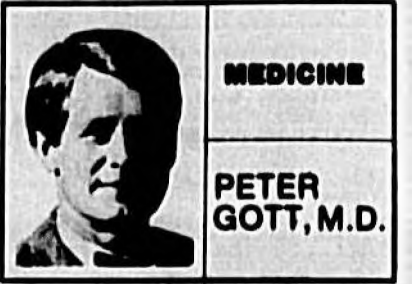

By and large, an enlarged uterus in a woman your age is not a cause for concern. Nonetheless, I would feel more comfortable -- and so, I judge, would you -- if the reason for your uterine enlargement were more accurately documented. Ask your gynecologist to clarify the situation.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been married for 28 years and have been on the pill most of that time. How do I know I am in menopause, and how do I know when I can stop taking the pill?

DEAR READER: Because

birth control pills contain female hormones, you will not experience menopause as long as you take them.

If you are menopausal and stop the pill, you will no longer menstruate. When you have not menstruated for a year, you are considered to be safe from pregnancy and need no longer use protection.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
Today's hand is another from "Test Your Card Play 4" by Hugh Kelsey (Gollancz, $8.95, 212-866-5860). This mini-quiz-book will improve your game as long as you spend time working out the answers. Don't expect to get them all right. But if you study the solutions of the ones you get wrong, you will learn how an expert analyzes a deal.

Cover the West and South hands. Against four spades, your partner leads the heart nine: three, king, 10. Plan the defense. North's first two bids, a strong, artificial and forcing two clubs, followed by two no-trump, showed a balanced 23 to 24 points.

West cannot have a singleton heart, because that would give South four hearts. With 5-4 in the majors, he would have used Stayman instead of bidding three spades. Anyway, you must assume that West has the club ace, since the contract will surely make if South has that card.

This makes things too easy. You lead a club to West's ace and get a club ruff in return. The spade ace will be your fourth trick.

What is the snag? How does partner know you have a singleton club rather than a doubleton? If you have two clubs, he must duck the first round to retain communication.

The answer is to cash the spade ace first. By giving up trump control, you leave your partner in no doubt that you have a singleton club, not a doubleton.

When defending, always try to anticipate any problems partner will have, and try to find a way to help him make the correct play.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Ouel
YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 24, 1992

Advancement in your chosen field of endeavor is a strong possibility in the year ahead. Your road to the top might be rather bumpy, but you can make it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your efforts to fulfill your ambitious objectives today, don't attempt to take credit for things you didn't do. These are the tactics of a second-rater, not someone who evokes respect. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for Taurus' Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Size up situations realistically, but, if it isn't the case, don't consider yourself the underdog. Your greatest enemy today is negative thinking.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There's a possibility that a disagreement might arise today between you and a close friend with whom you frequently do business. Don't let it jeopardize your relationship.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In situations that directly affect your resources, think for yourself today. Don't rely on the opinions of others. You're the one who will have the best handle on things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Even though you might not effectively use what you have at your disposal today, it looks like you'll still be able to achieve your objectives, thanks to Lady Luck.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There is a definite line of demarcation today between business and pleasure. If you try to mix the two, there's a strong chance something negative could result. Be careful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your intuition today could have as much or more validity than the logical assumptions of an associate operating from a sophisticated database. Don't discount hunches.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec.

21) This is not likely to be a productive day for you -- if you function at extremes. Find a happy medium that isn't all work and no play, nor all play and no work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Situations that have a direct effect on your financial position shouldn't be treated casually today. Indifference on your behalf could be costly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In order to succeed today, you must be totally committed to achieving your objectives. If you act otherwise, you're not likely to be even numbered among the front-runners.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually, when someone treats you thoughtfully, you reciprocate in an even more generous manner. However, this noble quality might not be operative today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Continue to closely monitor non-essential expenses, because these could prove to be the budget-breakers. Limit your spending to critical needs. (C)1992, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
