Commuters may get relief

LAKE MARY — Interstate 4 commuters aiming for Lake Mary's business centers on Lake Emma Road every morning may find a traffic relief valve within a few months from the long wait to turn south at the intersection of Lake Emma Road.

Today, Seminole County commissioners were to consider giving control and maintenance responsibilities of Old Lake Emma Road to the city. The unused dirt road will be paved by Exxon, who will begin construction in a few days on a gasoline station lying between I-4 and Lake Emma Road, said Lake Mary Mayor Randy Morris. The paved road will serve as an entrance to the service station and to Corporate Point, to the south of it.

Morris said the road will serve as a back entrance for commuters seeking to avoid the Lake Emma Road tie-up every morning. There will not be a light at the intersection and Morris said it will probably be a right-turn in, right-turn out street.

Morris said the road will also serve residents of The Crossings, which lies further south on Lake Emma Road. Lake Mary commuters will be able to turn right at Old Lake Emma Road, bypassing the Lake Mary Boulevard-Lake Emma Road intersection, and emerge on Lake Emma Road close to entrances to the crossings.

Morris said the bypass will also help relieve morning congestion on Lake Mary Boulevard.

Teddy Bear Day at the zoo

SANFORD — The Central Florida Zoo will observe Teddy Bear Day this Saturday. An array of activities are planned for children and their bears.

Children are urged to take their toy bears with them to the zoo, as the HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital will be sponsoring a teddy bear clinic. It will not only provide visiting bears with a check-up and health certificate, but help inform children of the importance of health care.

Other activities include face painting, story telling, a coloring contest, hand-puppet making, clowns and a teddy bear contest scheduled for 3 p.m.

Sanford-bound bus rammed by truck; 16 injured, 1 critically

CASSELBERRY — Sixteen people were taken to area hospitals, one in critical condition, after a tractor-trailer driver rear-ended a stopped Tri-County Transit bus this morning on U.S. 17-92 between Dog Track Road and State Road 436, according to law enforcement and hospital spokespeople.

Seminole County Emergency Medical Services Manager Frank Kirk said six county transport vehicles and two Casselberry vehicles took the victims to four area hospitals after the bus-truck accident shortly before 7 a.m. near Concord Road on U.S. 17-92.

Sgt. Dennis Stewart of the Casselberry Police Department, said the driver of a Ploof Truck Lines Inc. tractor-trailer truck, Charles Graham, apparently rear-ended a fully-stopped bus which was allowing passengers to exit at 6:58 a.m.

Stewart said one passenger had exited and another, Eval Cummings, 49, was in the process of getting off when Graham's truck struck the bus.

Fifteen bus passengers were injured, Stewart said. Their names or addresses were not available this morning. Stewart said police officials were still at the scene late this morning.

Sniper injures 4 on I-4

By MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

DELTONA — Volusia County sheriff's investigators are searching for a sniper or snipers they believe fired a high-powered BB or pellet gun at four vehicles on Interstate 4, sending the four occupants of one car to Central Florida Regional Hospital for minor injuries.

The shootings occurred at about 11:30 p.m. last night, said sheriff's spokesman Cheryl Downs. The drivers of four vehicles traveling west on I-4 near the Deltona exit reported being struck by unknown projectiles, shattering windows. The driver of one car, Michael Peoples of Winter Park, and three passengers were taken to CFRH for treatment and released.

The drivers of the three other cars struck by the projectiles, Mark Scott, Orlando, John Miller, Bedford, Va. and William Horne Fayetteville, N.C., were not injured, Downs said.

Downs said a two-hour search by seven patrol deputies, a K-9 and a sheriff's helicopter failed to turn up suspects. An investigation is continuing. A similar incident occurred near the exit on Christmas Eve last year, Downs said.

Sanford puts citizen survey on hold

By NICK PFEIFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford City Commission discussed a citizen opinion survey last night. Too many problems caused it to be placed on hold.

A Select Task Force headed by Police Chief Steve Harriett, prepared the survey to determine voter attitudes with respect to various city services. Residents were to have been asked their attitudes regarding increasing or decreasing certain services, in the relationship between the services and the taxation they require.

The cost of the survey was the first stopping point. To send it out to 8,534 registered voters, the cost was estimated at $3,872.

Commissioner Whitey Eckstein commented, "The city staff should be able to figure out how to do this survey without spending almost $4,000. I don't think it would be a tool we could use anyway." Eckstein suggested, "All we will hear is that people want this or that, but they won't want to pay for it." Commissioner A.A. McClanahan agreed with the taxation comment. "I think the survey should ask more about taxation," he said.

Another question raised was about who would respond to the survey, Eckstein said. "I doubt people would really fill it out," McClanahan agreed. "If we just sent it out to people who voted in the last election, they would be more likely to fill it out." He added, "I think you'll find people who don't vote, wouldn't be interested in it."

Continuing the discussion on who would receive the survey, Commissioner Bob Thomas commented, "I think we could get volunteers to deliver it." He added, "I believe it would be good to see how the citizens feel about city service, without spending money."

Commissioner Lon Howell agreed with the intent of the survey. "I believe it's important that we send it out to the voters."

Eckstein responded, "The voters have an opportunity to discuss these things." Pointing to the many vacant chairs in the commission chambers he observed, "Here is an opportunity they could use, or they

Concerned citizens to discuss minority balance in schools

SANFORD — A committee of concerned parents and citizens from the Sanford community will meet this evening at 7 p.m. with the Seminole County School Board in a work session to discuss concerns they have with Sanford schools, especially Seminole High School.

Billy Higgins, chairman of the group, which calls itself simply "The Sanford Committee," said the members are angry but they want to deal with the problems facing Sanford schools in a positive, upbeat way.

"We have two main concerns," said Higgins. Higgins said they are concerned that the population of Seminole High School is presently 1,818 students and that minority population at the school is well above the limits set by the 1981 court ordered desegregation.

According to Higgins, the intent of the court order was to ensure that Seminole High School not be isolated from the rest of the county.

"Our question is, have we done that and if we have, why?" Higgins said. He added that the school board will be asked to go on record about what their policies are regarding schools in the north end of the county, especially those in Sanford.

According to Higgins, the minority population at Seminole High School is 44 percent. About 39 percent of that population, he said, is black. The

Jettliner passengers evacuated

WEST PALM BEACH — A USAir jettliner awaiting takeoff from Palm Beach International Airport filled with smoke, forcing the evacuation of 140 passengers, officials said.

The DC-9, bound for Pittsburgh, was evacuated about 1:30 p.m. Monday after an auxiliary power unit developed an oil leak, sending light smoke into the cabin, according to Palm Beach County Fire-Rescue officials. No one was injured.

The auxiliary power unit was repaired, and Flight 320 continued to Pittsburgh, arriving late, officials said.

Fugitive Florida couple caught

POINT PLEASANT BEACH, N.J. — A fugitive couple from Florida were scheduled to be arraigned today after police arrested them for fighting, then learned from each that the other was wanted.

Georgina Anderson, 25, and Christopher Anderson, 23, both initially reported they had been assaulted by the other after a fight early Friday, police said.

Then, each told police the other was a fugitive. A check with authorities in Sarasota County, Fla., showed Georgina Anderson has been wanted for aggravated battery and possession of a deadly weapon since July.

Christopher Anderson has been wanted since August for theft and worthless checks.

Georgina Anderson's charges stem from allegedly stabbing Christopher Anderson in the heart.

Point Pleasant Beach police determined this latest incident was an assault by Christopher upon Georgina.

Wrong man may be on death row

TALLAHASSEE — Defense attorneys say they have evidence another man committed the murder for which Leo Alexander Jones is sentenced to die. A request for a hearing is pending before the state Supreme Court today.

Jones, 41, is scheduled to go to Florida's electric chair Wednesday at 7 a.m. for the fatal shooting of Jacksonville police officer Thomas Szafranski with a high-powered rifle in 1981.

"We have good evidence that there is another individual who may have committed this crime," Larry Helm Spalding, whose state office represents death row inmates, said Monday.

Spalding said that notice of appeal was filed with Florida's high court on Sunday, but because of the Veteran's Day holiday a ruling was unlikely until today.

Police obtained a confession from Jones, but he later said it was forced by a beating.

Spalding said that several people, many of them prison inmates, are ready to testify that Glen Schofield of Jacksonville has bragged about committing the crime. Some residents of the area where Szafranski was slain also claim to have seen Schofield, unarmed with a rifle.

"I think we will at least get a hearing on this," Spalding said. "An innocence claim should never, ever be ignored."

But after a Sunday hearing in Jacksonville, Circuit Judge A.C. Soud denied Jones' plea for a new hearing, saying the evidence cannot now be permitted in court.

Another fire destroys church

GAINESVILLE — As investigators tried to determine the origin and cause of a fire that destroyed the Westwood Hills Church of God, the church's pastor was blaming Satan.

The fire, suspicious in origin, left nothing but the charred walls of the sanctuary open to the sky and heavy damage to the rest of the two-story structure. Damage was estimated at $850,000.

A task force of local, state and federal agents was trying to determine if the fire could be linked to another 48 suspicious church fires reported around the state in the last 19 months.

"You know whoever did has to be an instrument in the hands of Satan," the Rev. Ronald Peoples said Monday after surveying the damage with investigators.

Peoples, pastor of the congregation for the past 9½ years, said he lost Bibles, personal records, sermons and other irreplaceable materials.

"We are going to begin praying God will help us find this person," Peoples said of whoever may have set the fire.

Just down the street from Peoples' church are the blackened walls of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, which was burned Oct. 22.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Vets parade small, meaningful

By Mark P. Papp
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The citizens honored their service men and women yesterday.

A parade and ceremony marked the observance of Veterans Day in Sanford, one celebration of many held across the state and nation.

While the observance is an annual event in the downtown Sanford area, the parade was short, and attendance low. Guest speaker Stephen Baumann told the gathering that more veterans and what they stand for should be honored.

Baumann, a retired U.S. Marine with 25 years of service, was the featured guest of the event. He reminisced about previous observances. "With the exception of the recent Persian Gulf War, we seemed to have more patriotism 15 to 20 years ago than we do today."

He reminded the spectators of the small flags that were hung in windows of homes across America during World War II.

"We used to have some with a blue star, indicating we were proud to say we had a family member serving in the armed forces. There were also some with gold stars, indicating we had lost a family member in the war, but we continued to display our flags, and continued our patriotism." "We all need to remember more," he said.

Mayor Bettye Smith, in reading the city's official proclamation of the Veterans Day observance, commented that "Veterans in Seminole County are 40,000 strong, and responsible for a great deal of the progress and growth in our county and city over the years."

Among the groups participating in the parade were the Air Force Junior ROTC Unit 872, National Guard Company B 2nd Battalion, Seminole County Sheriff's Explorer Post 517, the Seminole County Fire/Rescue Division, Fleet Reserve Association and their Ladies Auxiliary, and the event's host organization this year, American Legion Post 53.

Also in the parade were members of the Canine Companions for Independence, with 11 dogs decked out in yellow coats.

supplied by the Dixieland Rascals, which followed the parade on a flatbed truck. The band played traditional military songs, concluding with Yankee Doodle Dandy and the Stars and Stripes Forever.

As the marchers and the band reached the end of the parade route near the veterans memorial at the lake front, one band member commented, "We're getting near the water, let's play Anchors Aweigh."

Across the nation Across the state

President Bush, who visited Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia on Monday to place a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknowns, said America's victory in the Persian Gulf War had reminded a patriot that was "good for the nation's soul."

Elsewhere, the nation honored its soldiers with speeches, awards ceremonies and even a computerized memorial.

The computer, unveiled in Berkeley, Calif., contains the names of 1,864 local soldiers who died in battles dating from World War I.

Using computer terminals available at 10 locations, people may look up the names of loved ones or type in their own thoughts on war.

In New York City, 97 soldiers who survived the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor were presented medals, and soldiers from all wars were honored with a parade.

In Washington, D.C., thousands turned out for a ceremony in which 67 names were added to the granite blocks of the Vietnam Memorial, bringing the number of Americans known to have died in the war to 58,183.

Soldiers just back from Operation Desert Storm joined veterans of past wars in celebrations across Florida marking Veterans Day.

In Orlando, about 30 Kuwaitis attending local colleges were on hand to thank Desert Storm veterans during a ceremony at Woodlawn Memorial Park.

In Pensacola, several hundred people, some dressed in camouflage, turned out Monday to break ground for a park that will include a replica of the popular Vietnam War memorial in Washington.

There were parades and observances throughout the Tampa Bay area Monday to remember those who served from the Minutemen through Desert Storm.

Hundreds gathered at the Veterans Hospital at Bay Pines in St. Petersburg and paused in honor of friends and loved ones who didn't come back.

In Tampa, New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner led a 1½-mile parade of floats and marchers at Horizon Park, just north of Tampa Stadium.

Push on to raise smoking age to 21

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — State Rep. Lois Frankel has drafted a broad-reaching proposal intended to curb teen-age smoking in Florida by raising the smoking age from 18 to 21.

Sponsored by the House Health and Rehabilitative Services Committee, the legislation would license the sale of cigarettes, raise the smoking age and toughen enforcement, officials said.

If successful, Florida would have the nation's toughest state law on underage smoking. Some cities, including Chicago and Indianapolis, have attempted to curtail teen-age smoking with similar ordinances.

Frankel, the HRS committee chairwoman, said she wants to stop teens from getting hooked.

"What has gotten me so incensed is adults making money off the backs of kids," said the West Palm Beach Democrat. "The tobacco industry is going after young immature minds — people who aren't ready to make certain judgments — and getting them hooked. To me, it's immoral. As responsible adults, we have to do something about it."

—Rep. Lois Frankel

Last week, Frankel brought a parade of experts before her committee to present evidence about the prevalence of teen-age cigarette smoking.

Researchers from Florida universities, doctors, health officials and nationally recognized scientists presented data to the committee.

They said that 90 percent of all smoking begins before age 21; nicotine is more addictive than cocaine; and more than half of all 18-year-old smokers have tried unsuccessfully to quit.

Medical experts testified that tobacco kills more Americans each year than alcohol, cocaine, heroin, homicide, suicide, car accidents, fires, drunken driving and AIDS — combined.

In Florida, underage teens successfully buy cigarettes eight out of every 10 times they try, spending an estimated $92 million last year on cigarettes, officials said.

"If tobacco was illegal today, I think we would have a hard time trying to get it legal," Frankel told the Palm Beach Post for a story in today's editions.

Under Florida law, anyone who sells or gives cigarettes to a person under age 18 can be charged with a second-degree misdemeanor and fined up to $500. But the law is rarely enforced.

According to the Florida Division of Alcoholic Beverages and Tobacco, charges are filed only after the department receives a complaint.

He was taken into custody and transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held without bond.

Compromise probable on name for bypass tollroad

By J. MARK SANFORD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County environmentalists and expressway officials may have reached a compromise over the naming of Central Florida's eastern bypass tollroad.

Allen Clark, chairman of the Seminole County Expressway Authority environmental advisory group, said Thursday he received assurance this past week from Robert Mandell "Greene Way" would be an acceptable name for the beltway that will connect Interstate 4 near Walt Disney World and I-4 at the western edge of Sanford.

Mandell is chairman of the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority and has been leading the drive to name the expressway. Some feel the generally-known name of the expressway, the "Eastern Beltway," would be easily confused with the East-West Expressway and other Orange County roads.

"It's not what we want, but it helps to differentiate it from a greenway, which is something else altogether," Allen said.

A committee of expressway officials, including Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith, recommended "Greenway" as the expressway's name this summer. The environmentalists revolted, saying a "greenway" is a specific term for a natural corridor. The Wekiva River is a nationally-known greenway, according to the National Geographic. Expressway officials, however, adopted the name in May.

The committee changed their position over the objections, adopting the name "Greenway" to honor the Central Florida beltway's visionary, Jim Greene. SCEA officials adopted the Greenway name in September.

But Allen was angered last month by the release of "Opportunity Orlando," a Central Florida business promotional magazine published by the Economic Development Commission of Mid-Florida depicting the expressway as "The Greenway" and using a green line.

Allen said he preferred the tollroad be named the "Jim Greene Beltway" to clearly indicate it is named after Greene.

The terms of the joint planning agreement were endorsed by the county and city commissioners in a meeting Aug. 27. If approved by the city and county, they would both coordinate development in the edges of the city, end county opposition to city annexations and establish a

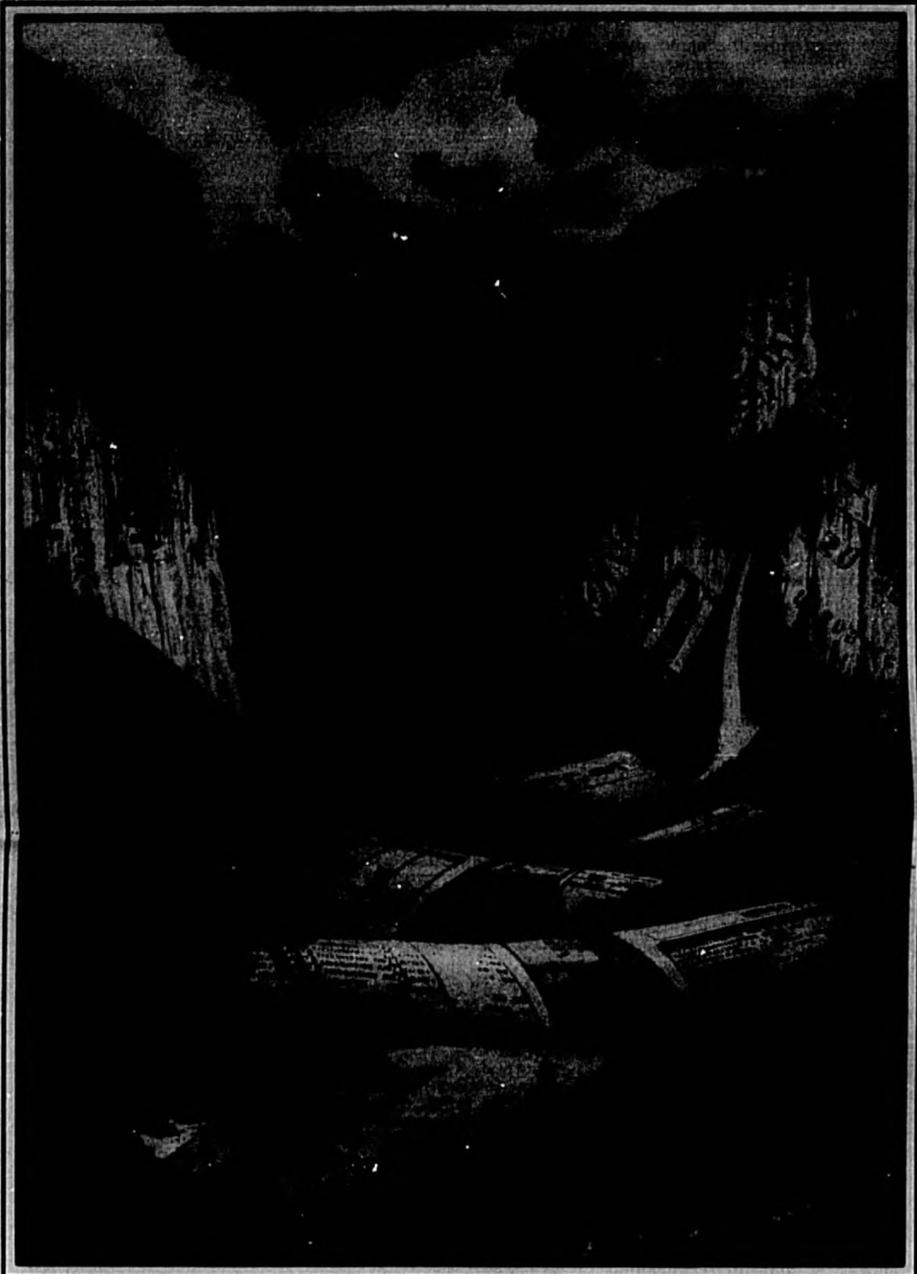

The agreement will be in effect for five years unless extended.

The city and county were often at loggerheads during the 1970s and 1980s over city annexations. The county sued the city several times over property annexations it considered illegal. When county commissioners Pat Warren and Jennifer Kelley took office in 1988, they pledged a "kinder and gentler" county relationship with the seven cities.

The first sign of change was the resignation of former county

Biotechnology

In an unprecedented move that could stunt the growth of the U.S. Biotechnology industry, federal researchers at the National Institutes of Health are seeking blanket patent rights for 340 human genes. What is unusual about the NIH action is that the federal researchers have yet to fathom the functions of the genes in the body or develop commercial applications for any of the isolated genetic material.

Until now, researchers have filed for patents only after they have ascertained a gene's role in the body and determined its potential commercial uses. The implications of a successful patent application by NIH researchers was one of the main topics of discussion at the annual conference of the Human Genome Organization, which met in San Diego.

The value of an enforceable patent to the biotech industry is apparent from a recent court dispute pitting Amgen Inc. of Thousand Oaks, Calif., against Genetics Institute of Cambridge, Mass. Genetics Institute challenged Amgen's patent rights to the drug erythropoietin, which is used to treat chronic anemia in kidney patients. When Amgen won its patent suit, thereby preserving its $300 million-a-year market, its stock skyrocketed 150 percent.

These are the tremendous stakes involved in the assignment of genetic patent rights. In fact, it is not unusual for a firm like Amgen to invest several years and millions of dollars researching a single gene in the hope that it will find a practical use for the material. Often several firms simultaneously investigate the same gene. But the rule has been that the first one to develop a commercial application is awarded the patent.

What the NIH is attempting to do, in effect, is to circumvent the rules of the patent process. If it is awarded blanket patents for the 340 genes, it will control the commercial rights to develop them, even though its researchers do not yet know how the materials might be used.

This could mean that biotechnology companies that are on the verge of commercial breakthroughs, after years of research into the genetic material the NIH wants to patent, would have to obtain licenses and pay royalties to the government in order to market the bioengineered product.

If the NIH obtains patent rights to genes it merely has isolated, that will provoke a rash of patent claims by speculators seeking blanket rights to genes in the hope that some biotech company will find a profitable use for them someday. The federal Patent and Trademark Office can discourage such speculation by rejecting the NIH application.

LETTERS

School incident sensationalized

On Nov. 8, 1991, the Sanford Herald chose to run a front page headline which read, "Lots of scuffles, weapons in class" referring to an unfortunate accident as a result of a scuffle between two Seminole High students. This type of sensationalistic reporting makes one wonder if the weapons are not in the hands of irresponsible reporters!

For the record, Seminole High School is a typical Central Florida high school. It is not the school depicted by Ms. DeSormier's front page story. Seminole High School is proud of its accomplishments, its faculty and students, and the community it serves.

EDITOR'S NOTE:The Herald erred in attributing to Assistant Principal Bobby Lundquist the quote that "many, many" weapons had been confiscated from students. Furthermore, Lundquist said later, regardless of who made the statement, it is false.

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Look into Democrat-Sandinista ties

You may recall that the Iran-contra foofraw broke out because the executive branch concealed from Congress certain things Congress thought it had a right to know, and even sought to further various policy objectives that Congress had by law indicated it opposed. These efforts to thwart the will of Congress allegedly created such a lesion in the universe that they had to be investigated by a joint committee of both Houses, and Lawrence Walsh was designated special prosecutor in the (largely unrealized) hope that he would march various malefactors off to jail.

Now it appears that, more or less simultaneously, various powerful Democrats in the House of Representatives and members of their staffs were engaged in private conversations with the Soviet-backed Sandinista government of Nicaragua, seeking to thwart policy objectives of the Reagan administration that were clearly within its constitutional prerogatives.

There are laws against that sort of thing, and you might suppose that the individuals in question would face prosecution under them. But so far the Democratic leadership of Congress, headed by Speaker Tom Foley, has stonewalled every attempt to investigate the subject, let alone initiate prosecutions.

It seems that, during the Nicaraguan civil war, American intelligence agencies managed to tap the phones, and even bug the offices, of high officials of the communist-dominated Sandinista regime. Imagine their surprise and dismay when they overheard discussions between the Sandinista officials and powerful Democratic members of the U.S. House of Representatives. Worse yet, these American congressmen and members of their staffs were apparently advising the Sandinistas on how to help Congress defeat administration proposals for aiding the Contras.

The legislators, in case you are wondering, were: former House Speaker James Wright, who subsequently quit Congress altogether when accused of financial misbehavior; Congressman Michael D. Barnes of Maryland, also now retired; and Congressman David E. Bonior of Michigan who, far from having quit, is now, as Majority Whip, the third-ranking Democrat in the House of Representatives. All of them, needless to say, were bitter foes of aid to the Contras, though Violeta Chamorro's subsequent election as president made clear just how unpopular the Sandinistas were.

There are laws against that sort of thing.

The Reagan administration seriously considered prosecution, but ultimately decided it didn't need extraneous quarrels with these powerful men, and the issue remained dormant until it surfaced in a New York Times article on Sept. 15 this year.

Four members of the House GOP leadership, including Congressman Mickey Edwards of Oklahoma, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, thereupon addressed a letter to Speaker Foley, dated Sept. 17, calling for a special investigation of the apparent misconduct. To date Foley has not only not answered the letter, but informed sources report that he privately threatened that any attempt to probe the matter would simply solidify the Democrats'.

HODDING CARTER

Divided government to fail

Ours is a time of discomfiting contrasts. Overseas, the dramatic has become routine. Walls come down, history is rediscovered and possibilities are as plentiful as pitfalls.

At home, the world's most dynamic political and economic system is at a virtual stalemate. Gloom and sullen resignation, punctuated occasionally by angry outbursts of public resentment, have replaced confidence and vision. The routine is accomplished only to the accompaniment of high drama. The vital is seemingly beyond achievement.

Recent weeks have been filled with examples of both. In Madrid, what was previously unthinkable was, suddenly, a done deed. Israelis sat down face-to-face with Palestinians and Jordanians, Lebanese and Syrians. They didn't settle anything, but they did establish a precedent that had eluded them for over 40 years. Secretary of State James Baker's grim determination broke the bonds of a far grimmer history. Today, there is at least the possibility of incremental progress in an area in which for decades cold war had been interrupted only by shooting war (save for the Camp David accord between Egypt and Israel, an exception that seemed to prove the rule.)

The irony is that the American-brokered breakthrough in Arab-Israeli negotiations coincided so neatly with repeated breakdowns in the process of government in Washington. Almost lost in the speculation and headlines about Madrid, the following occurred in the nation's capital:

Congress and the president deadlocked on an extension of unemployment benefits at a time when unemployment is either static or climbing toward 7 percent and food stamps are now drawn by one American out of 10. When something is finally passed, it will be months late. That means real pain for millions of people.

A comprehensive energy bill, the result of years of discussion and months of laborious compromise, was killed in the Senate by a large margin. Opponents and proponents alike agree that in the absence of a national plan of some sort, America's dependence on foreign oil will rise dramatically and its waste of energy resources will continue to be an international scandal. The likelihood of such a plan is almost nil.

Unable to agree either on a populist banking reform bill or the original, administration-big bank version, the House coalesced around the simplest expedient: It killed the idea altogether. This at a time when at least some experts believe the nation teeters on the brink of a banking crisis whose ultimate cost could dwarf that of the savings and loan debacle.

After a lot of hulling and puffing on the Democratic side and massive indecision at the White House, it is now clear there will be no economic revitalization package passed before Congress closes down in December. No tax cut, no tax increase, no new spending on infrastructure, no new cuts of any significance in military or other programs — in short, no nothing.

It is at least arguable that none of the measures deserved passage. What is unarguable is that legislative and executive initiatives are clearly needed. The old saying "If something isn't broke, don't fix it" doesn't apply. Much is wrong, as measured by indexes ranging from economic to psychic. What is missing is political leadership and political will.

In its absence, we have government by sterile formula and hollow stricture. Take last year's budget compromise. It failed at its main task, which was to reduce the budget deficit. The fiscal year just ended produced the largest deficit ever, well over $200 billion, and next year's seems certain to go well over $300 billion. But that failure is almost trivial compared to the agreement's chief sin. It substitutes categorical negatives — "thou shalt not transfer funds from the military sector to the domestic and vice versa" — for policy. As a result, creativity is strangled in the crib.

None of this is lost on the American people, but what is being offered as remedies from the grassroots does not promise relief. For instance, term limits may be a way to punish officeholders, but the real crime is not length of service. One-term presidents and two-term congressmen seem as prone to government by posture as veteran legislators.

No, to beat a familiar horse, what is needed is responsible government — and that means a government in which one party holds power and can be held accountable. Divided government, which the American voter has persecuted for most of two decades, is an almost insurmountable barrier to coherent policy. It promotes paralysis and encourages the promotion of narrow interests over the general good.

If the Middle East Peace Conference had broken up in angry recrimination, Jim Baker and George Bush would have been saddled with the failure. It was their baby. Since it did not, they got and deserved the credit.

The simplest expedient: Kill the idea altogether.

Quayle's proving valuable to Bush

WASHINGTON — Most political pundits have dismissed Dan Quayle as a lightweight. If the truth be told, there have been times when he could have used a bigger mouth or a smaller foot. But not lately.

The handling of Quayle has been so masterful that he has been guilty of nary a slip in recent months. The pundits have greatly underestimated what a vice president can do when he has time on his hands, instructions to keep a low profile and plenty of political savvy.

Quayle has quietly established himself as George Bush's MVP, Most Valuable Politician. He came into office carrying the credentials to become Bush's intermediary with the Republican right wing. He has stroked ruffled feathers and explained the president's policies to hard-line conservatives. On one conservative issue, Israel, Quayle has done such a good job mending fences with the right that, as we reported recently, the Israelis consider him to be their best friend in Washington. They hate Bush and love Quayle.

Quayle has established himself as George Bush's MVP.

But Quayle has not simply carried water one way. He has reversed his role and become the conservatives' advocate inside the White House. At his Thursday luncheons with the president, Quayle pleads the conservative cause.

That has put him in a position to tap into conservative money and has made him the leading fund-raiser for the Republican Party. That is why it would take a major nose dive in Bush's popularity for him to drop Quayle as a running mate before the 1992 election.

The money flows into Quayle with strings attached. Few big contributors donate to their favorite politicians out of a sense of public duty and patriotism. They want a return on their investment. And it has become common in both parties to grant federal blessings for campaign contributions, or more bluntly — to trade favors for cash.

Bush has established a special vehicle for Quayle to use to help big corporate contributors. It is the Council on Competitiveness, and not much happens in federal regulatory agencies without the rules being routed past Quayle and his council to make sure American business isn't hamstringed.

The council was a natural for Quayle. He kept pestering Bush with complaints from industry that government bureaucrats were re-regulating the industries that Ronald Reagan had deregulated. So Bush authorized Quayle as the head of the council to ride herd on the regulators.

Quayle has used his new powers to obtain regulatory relief for various industries and industrial tycoons, and to make sure regulators remember that someone is breathing down their necks.

Big business loves the council almost as much as they love Quayle, and they will respond with even more campaign contributions to give the Republicans an edge next year. Bush needs all the help he can get. He is trying desperately to stimulate the economy and eliminate the primary complaint against his administration, that he let the country fall into a prolonged recession.

But even if the economy should still be stumbling in 1992, Bush will have one advantage over the Democrats. The recession will dry up Democratic coffers before it puts a dent in Republican wallets. Rank-and-file Democrats won't have the money to contribute to their party. Thanks in large part to Quayle, the Republicans should be able to out-spend the Democrats.

Quayle hasn't done all of this out of the goodness of his heart and loyalty to the party and the president. He expects his party's nomination to the presidency in 1996.

remainder is made up of Hispanics, Asians, Native Americans and East Indians.

The 1981 order, made when the school district was rezoned for the opening of Lake Mary High School, specified that Seminole High School was not to be "substantially more than 35 percent black" and to have a student population of "not substantially less than 2,000 students," according to Higgins.

He noted that the word "substantially" might be the key to solving some problems.

He added that the committee, which has both black and white members is not racially motivated in their questioning of the rising minority population at Sanford schools.

"We don't want anyone in the black community to think that there are any racial overtones to this," Higgins said. "We are concerned that both black and white students will get a better education if they are not in racially identifiable schools."

In addition he said, "We believe that Seminole County is doing an excellent job of educating the minorities in Seminole County, but there are other schools in the county that could

He said the committee doesn't believe the minority students in Sanford are getting the same educational opportunities as students in the rest of the county.

"The faculties (at Sanford schools) are having to devote more resources to having to overcome language and cultural barriers," Higgins said.

The committee also raised concerns that the minority populations at Hamilton Elementary School, 1501 E. 8th St. in Sanford and Goldsboro Elementary School, 1300 W. 20th St. in Sanford are now the majority. According to Higgins 58 percent of the students at Goldsboro and 51 percent of the students at Hamilton are minorities.

The group is concerned that the overall student numbers are dropping because as the number of students drop so does the amount of financial resources from the state. They plan to suggest that the district implement a number of magnet programs to try to draw students to the school.

Higgins said the Sanford Committee is concerned not only for the schools, but for the community as a whole.

"Let's face it," he said, "this doesn't just have to do with Seminole High School. It has to do with the growth and prosperity of Sanford. It isn't healthy for Sanford with regard to property values, home sales and everything that Sanford is."

The committee will meet with the board tonight in the school board meeting room, 1211 Mellenville Ave. in Sanford.

immediately at home in their new classrooms.

"The reason we got there," Townsley admitted, "was that everyone got involved. That was super-rewarding."

Teachers went to the school every day last week after they wrapped up their duties at the old school and decorated classrooms, distributed materials and made sure everything was in place for the students.

"The parents came out over the weekend and vacuumed and put desks together and fine tuned everything," Townsley said.

He noted that a pair of 10 hour days with parents bringing their own equipment and working with no expectation of payment.

"They were just working to make sure that everything was ready for the students," the principal said.

Townsley said he had hoped to move the students in on Friday to coincide with the transfer of students into Partin Elementary in Oviedo, but the parking lot was still being paved so they were forced to wait until Monday.

Once they were in the building, however, Townsley rated the move and the new facilities as a 9.9 on a scale of 10.

"Nothing's ever perfect," he said.

Stewart said Cummings was taken to Florida Hospital-South. Kirk said Cummings was in serious condition. Kirk said Graham had to be extracted from the truck and was taken to Florida Hospital-North with multiple fractures.

Ten bus passengers were taken to Florida Hospital-North, Winter Park Memorial Hospital and South Seminole Community Hospital, Kirk said.

Stewart said the bus was stopped and Graham had no reason not to stop. Careless driving charges are pending against Graham, Stewart said.

Tri-County dispatchers said the bus was on a north-bound

Orlando to Sanford route, but were unable to give any additional information on the number of persons on the bus at the time of the accident, nor specific destinations. Tri-County officials spent most of the morning hours at the scene, investigating the collision.

Winter Park Memorial Hospital in Winter Park accepted two patients with injuries from the accident. According to Meloye Hendrix, media relations coordinator for the hospital, Giovanni Gerardi, 40, and McEaron McClendon, 33, were still being evaluated late this morning.

Delores Kastl, community relations coordinator at Florida

Hospital in Altamonte Springs, said late this morning that six individuals had been transported to that hospital. She did not have their names, but said their injuries were all being evaluated and that no further details were available.

Danielle Andrea, a spokesman for the public relations office at Florida Hospital in Orlando, reported that a 61-year-old man had been brought to the hospital in critical condition. He had possible head injuries and possibly some abdominal trauma, Andrea said. She said that he was still in surgery late this morning.

Herald staff writers Kelley Mitchell, Vicki DeBorner and Nick Pfeiffert also contributed to this report.

could use, or they could call any of us commissioners."

In response to a question of how much it would cost to supply each voting household and each business with a copy of the survey, City Manager Bill Simmons reported it would be in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Following considerable discussion, Simmons observed, "From what I hear, we should put this matter on hold, and work on the various comments that have been made." He added he personally had several questions about the proposal as well.

The proposed survey would have asked resident opinions on 31 separate city services, from crime prevention to mosquito control. Responses would be in various levels including, very satisfied, dissatisfied, or no opinion. They would also respond to questions regarding how the many services should be paid for, through tax increases, user fees, or with no increases.

With agreement by the commission, Simmons said he would work on restructuring the proposed survey. "I believe we can finish it and attempt a closure on it by the next meeting," he observed.

Will implants remain on the market?

GAITHERSBURG, Md. — A Food and Drug Administration advisory panel is trying to determine whether silicone-gel breast implants, which have been used for nearly 30 years, are safe enough to remain on the market.

The advisory committee was beginning a three-day meeting with testimony today from more than 100 consumer groups, physicians and women on both sides of the issue — those whose implants caused illness and disability, and others for whom they proved a great benefit.

More than 2 million women have had the implants, but critics say they should be banned because of risks of infection, hardening of surrounding breast tissue, false mammography results and silicone leakage. Questions also have been raised about long-term dangers of immune reactions and cancer.

Plastic surgeons and many of their patients, meanwhile, argue that the psychological benefit of the implants far outweighs the risks. The risks are small and mostly minor, and the possibility of serious disorders is remote, they say.

Congress may pass crime, highway bills

WASHINGTON — Congress is trying to pass crime and highway bills that President Bush demanded last spring before it completes a so-far lackluster legislative session.

But strong partisan disagreements make those bills still tough to pass before the planned Thanksgiving adjournment. Legislation expanding unemployment benefits, reworking the banking system and mandating unpaid leave for family emergencies are in similar difficulty.

Almost certainly left for next year, the election year, will be the fight over tax breaks that Democrats want to use in their run for the White House.

Congress also has failed to complete the annual spending bills for fiscal 1992, even though the fiscal year began Oct. 1.

Social, economic factors control illness

ANAHEIM, Calif. — People with few social or economic resources had triple the heart disease death rate of those with money or someone to confide in, a study shows.

"If you are a patient with heart disease, and you have neither love nor money, your prognosis is worse," said Dr. Redford B.

Williams of Duke University.

In a separate study, researchers reported what they said were disturbing findings that women were treated much less aggressively for heart disease than men. Both studies were scheduled for presentation today at the annual meeting of the American Heart Association.

Williams said that people who were not married and had no one to talk to had three times the heart disease death rate of people who were not socially isolated.

Calcium wards off heart trouble

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Youngsters who consume plenty of calcium, largely by drinking milk, have significantly lower blood pressure and may be warding off heart trouble later in life, a new study suggests.

Although researchers have found a tentative link between calcium intake and blood pressure in grownups, the new research is the first to show that pre-school children seem to keep their blood pressure down by consuming milk and other calcium-rich food.

The research found that for each glass of milk — or similar serving of calcium — they regularly consumed each day, youngsters' systolic blood pressure was four points lower.

Ron, Arnold and Ken, standing in front of their mother's pictures, respectively, the inspirations for their restaurant.

It's "Ma's Kitchen" But Pa's Cookin'

There was a time that a man in the kitchen was unheard of. To some women today, that is still a frightening thought. Wouldn't they be surprised to find three men running a home-style restaurant in Lake Mary, named of all things, Ma's Kitchen.

Ma's Kitchen is the creation of three retired gentlemen, who came to Lake Mary, some eleven years ago, from north of the Mason-Dixon Line. After various part-time jobs (no one works full-time after officially retiring and moving to Florida) which included landscaping and managing a convenience store, the three got together and opened the restaurant in April of this year. When asked why they would take on such a task as running a restaurant, the answers vary; "something different" or "something to do," but all three seem dedicated to the idea of bringing home cooking to the Lake Mary/Sanford area.

Home cooking means "scratch cooking" to many people and that's just what you'll get at Ma's Kitchen. Real mashed potatoes, real home fries, meat loaf, pot roast and even the liver and onions your mom always tried to get you to eat. For lunch, there's "Hotta Dogs" and "Hangaburgers", fresh soup and platters of egg, tuna or chicken salad.

And breakfast is pretty much the standard fare of eggs and toast and bacon and coffee, all hot and hardy to help you start your day off right. Two pages of the four-page menu are dedicated to the many breakfast choices, if you look hard enough, you'll even find "grits" as one of the side orders.

But the pride and joy of owners Ronald Lutinski, Ken Dever and Arnold Dauven are the desserts. "Secret family recipe" peanut butter pie, banana pudding, rice pudding and other goodies. Now, when was the last time you saw rice pudding on anybody's menu.

If you time your visit right, you might even see Arnold sit down to a late lunch of the special of the day. Yes, they eat their own cooking.

Ron, Ken and Arnold are helped out in the kitchen by Scott and Gary, and in the dining room by Wilma. If you're a fan of TV sitcoms, you might find a resemblance between Wilma and her television diner waitress counterpart, "Flo". Wilma even played the part at Halloween, big earrings, bright handkerchief, popping gum and all.

Speaking of the dining room; the owners took this decorating opportunity to experiment with the current rage in country decorating, sponge painting. The attractive results of the two-tone pink and two-tone gray walls are accented by plants and other country paraphernalia, including "Ma" and "Pa" dolls and a miniature rocking chair. There is even "Pa's Study" and "Ma's Celler", cleverly disguising the office and the storage room. But the crowning glory of the rooms are the three pictures hung on the back wall, one of each of the owner's mothers.

Ma's Kitchen, as would be expected, serves breakfast, lunch and dinner, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., six days a week. The pa's do close at 3 p.m. on Monday and only serve breakfast on Sunday, from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Take-out orders are available by phone at 333-2001. Beer and wine are served, and there is a 10% senior citizens discount. Ma's Kitchen is located in the Lake Mary Centre, 3817 Lake Emma Road, behind Burger King, but not far from "home".

SOFTBALL

Paddy McGee clinches tie

CASSELBERRY — Paddy McGee's Mice of Oviedo got back on the winning track Monday night as they whitewashed the New Girls on the Block 12-0 in the final regular season game of the Seminole County Recreation Department Women's C League at Red Bug Park.

The mother-daughter duo of Connie Thomas and Teresa Walburger combined on a five inning no-hitter as the Mice finished 9-1.

Phyllis Baynes led the offense with three hits. Jackie Janowiak, Terri Mann (three-run home run), Jackie Suggs and Mindy Kracht added two hits each and Walburger ripped a triple and had three RBI.

If Crickets won a game played later last night, they would take on the Mice in a 6:30 p.m. playoff game next week. If Crickets lost, the Mice are the champions.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Miami starter suspended

CORAL GABLES — Miami coach Dennis Erickson has suspended running back Martin Patton and receiver Jonathan Harris from the team after a weekend motorcycle accident that led police to file charges.

Patton, a redshirt sophomore, was arrested early Sunday after a fight with Coral Gables police officers. He was jailed on charges that included battery on a police officer and resisting arrest with violence.

Patton was arrested while officers were investigating a motorcycle accident involving Harris, a backup wide receiver. He said the fight started when officers pushed him away from an ambulance that was transporting Harris to Doctors Hospital.

PRO FOOTBALL

Wrestler dies

INDIANAPOLIS — Richard Afflis, a former Green Bay Packers offensive lineman better known as "Dick the Bruiser" during four decades in professional wrestling, has died at age 62.

Afflis died Sunday of internal bleeding, according to a spokesman for Suncoast Hospital in Largo, near his winter home. His widow, Louise, said her husband had been weightlifting at home and ruptured a blood vessel in his esophagus. He played four seasons with the Packers in the early 1950s.

PRO BASKETBALL

Barkley to honor Magic

PHILADELPHIA — Charles Barkley plans to wear Magic Johnson's magic number on his Philadelphia 76ers jersey this season as a tribute to his friend.

Barkley said he wants to switch his number from 34 to 32 to honor Johnson, the superstar Los Angeles Lakers guard who retired Thursday after 12 seasons because he is infected with the AIDS virus.

Magic's number, however, has been retired in Philadelphia. No. 32 was retired to honor 76ers great Billy Cunningham, a player for 12 seasons and a coach for two. Barkley said he already had Cunningham's permission and the team's approval to make the switch.

BASEBALL

Seven more file

NEW YORK — World Series MVP Jack Morris of Minnesota and suspended outfielder Otis Nixon of Atlanta were among the seven players who filed for free agency Monday to raise the total to a record 99.

The total of free agents broke the previous record of 96, set last year. Others filing were third baseman Mike Pagliarulo, second baseman Al Newman and catcher Junior Ortiz of Minnesota, pitcher Steve Ontiveros of Philadelphia and outfielder Max Venable of California.

Rams host Regional

Dr. Phillips at Lake Mary for 4A-5 matchup

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

LAKE MARY — The Lake Mary girls volleyball team will be sailing uncharted waters again tonight when it hosts Orlando-Dr. Phillips for the Class 4A-Region V championship tonight at 7 p.m.

After three years as district runners-up the Rams were able to win their first ever 4A-District 9 crown last Thursday night by downing Lake Howell 15-13 and 15-1 to earn the right to host the regional championship.

While the regional game is unfamiliar to Lake Mary the Panthers should feel right at home after winning their fourth straight 4A-District 10 title. Dr. Phillips whipped Winter Park 15-9 and 15-5 in the district finals to advance.

But even though the Panthers have been to the regional three times, they have never gotten to experience the thrill of victory after losing to Lake Brantley twice and Oviedo.

"I hope we're ready to go," said Rams head coach Cindy Henry. "I feel for Dr. Phillips, but we want to hand them their fourth straight regional loss. Everyone is healthy and we have a couple of scouting reports.

"It's playoff time, everyone is playing and working hard, we'll just go out and take our best shot."

If regular season games mean anything, Lake Mary would appear to be favorites. While the two teams did not meet in the regular season.
See Regional, Page 2B.

Senior Duo Tara Calvin (No. 00, left photo) and Melissa Orlando-Dr. Phillips. Calvin and Mau have helped the Rams compile a 32-1 record this year. The game will be played at Lake Mary High School starting at 7 p.m.

SANFORD HERALD PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Anush Collins

Editor's note: Lake Mary's Anush Collins rushed for 307 yards and three touchdowns to be named this week's Sanford Herald Player of the Week.

Other players considered were:
Seminole's Johnny Golden, who played the best defensive game of his career.

Oviedo's Leon Lowman, who rushed for 353 yards and one touchdown and also caught a pass for 12 yards.

Lake Howell's Pat Jorgensen, who rushed for 215 yards and two touchdowns.

Lake Brantley's David Sprinkle, who rushed for 100 yards and three touchdowns.

Lymann's Bobby Washington, who rushed for 60 yards and one touchdown and accounted for 72 yards of total offense.

'King' Collins' big game garners weekly honor

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

LAKE MARY — The third time proved to be the charm for Anush Collins.

After being edged out twice by teammates earlier this season the king of Lake Mary's Homecoming Court rushed for a school record 307 yards and three touchdowns last Friday night as the Rams bounced DeLand 29-23 to earn at least a tie for the 5A-District 4 crown.

For his efforts, Collins is this week's Sanford Herald of the Week.

The 5-foot, 8-inch, 175-pound senior carried the ball 32 times and scored on runs of 48, 55 and one-yard. His performance broke the existing school record of 242 yards gained in one game by Bob Menello in 1989.

In the second quarter alone the two-time defending Seminole Athletic Conference 100-yard dash champion gained 158 yards and two touchdowns.

Collins' effort moved him into third place in the county in rushing with 806 yards. Only 1,000-yard plus rushers David Sprinkle and Pat Jorgensen have done better. He is also tied for second in the county in scoring (56 points) and touchdowns (nine).

The "King's" big night overshadowed two other outstanding outings in a night filled with great games for Seminole County athletes last week.

SCC basketball teams play road doubleheader tonight

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

FT. PIERCE — Seminole Community College will take its basketball show on the road tonight.

The men and women's teams will both travel to Ft. Pierce tonight for a doubleheader with Indian River Community College. The women will take to the floor at 5:30 p.m. with the men swinging into action at 7:30 p.m.

Both teams are off to a good start as women's head coach Heana Gallagher saw her team win its season opener Saturday with a 63-59 triumph over St. Petersburg Junior College at SCC's Health and Physical Education Center Saturday afternoon.

The men of head coach Bill Payne are off to a 2-1 start and will be looking to bounce back from a disappointing 95-94 loss to Brevard Community College in the finals of the Raider Tournament at the Health Center.

While Payne was disappointed with the loss, he was not upset with his team, which came back from horrible foul trouble and a 17-point deficit to get a last second shot at victory that just would not go in.

Tonight's action should be exciting as the Pioneers and Raiders have staged some of the best basketball games every seen in Florida on both the men and women's level.

After tonight's action both teams will stay on the road with the women playing at Clearwater in a return matchup with St. Petersburg Friday night at 7 p.m. and the men traveling to Ft. Lauderdale to take on Broward Community College at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The next home action for the Raiders will be next Tuesday when SCC hosts a doubleheader. The women will host Hillsborough Community College at 5 p.m. and the men entertaining St. Petersburg Junior College at 7:30 p.m.

Newcomer Brandy Friedman, a 5-foot, 11-inch sophomore from St. Petersburg, led the Raiders against her hometown team with 18 points and 11 rebounds. Another ex-St. Petersburg, freshman Monique Hayes, also had a big game with eight points and 10 rebounds.

Also playing well on the front line were returning sophomores Pamela Williams and Carla Letbetter. Williams, a forward from Sanford, had eight points and 10 rebounds, while Letbetter, a center from West Palm Beach, tossed in 12 points and hauled down 10 boards.

All told, the Raiders outrebounded St. Pete 55-23.

Running the show from the guard position is the trio of returning starters Michelle Kumpf and Brandie Groves and Lake Howell freshman Elizabeth Mills.

The men have been led by sharp shooting sophomore guard Brian Nason.

Lake Mary did defeat Winter Park twice while the Panthers lost a pair of regular season contests to Lake Howell.

The Rams have been almost untouchable this year in posting a 32-1 record. They have been pushed to three games only a handful of times and their only loss came in a match in which they had a big lead but then relaxed.

Three-year senior starters Tara Calvin and Melissa Mau have carried the brunt of the load for Lake Mary this year, both with their abilities and leadership.

Calvin is an outside hitter who thrives on the setting of Mau. Mau is one of the best setters ever in Central Florida and is being highly recruited by several major colleges.

Dr. Phillips (23-5) was not really expected to be back this year what with changes in coaches and personnel.

New coach Nancy Gibb, who replaced Beth Smith who took the women's volleyball at the University of Central Florida, thought the season would be a rebuilding one. But the girls responded well to doing new things and have come together well as a team, with no one girl being dominant.

Senior Brooke Hampton rose to the occasion against Winter Park winning four service points in the first game and then serving seven straight points in the second game as the Panthers broke away from a 4-4 tie.

The winner of tonight's game will host the Section III championship match Friday night. They would play the winner of the Region VI championship game between Vero Beach and Boca Raton-Spanish River.

The G-foot, 4-inch guard from Memphis, Tennessee is averaging 27 points and five rebounds per game while shooting 73 percent from the floor, 70 percent from three-point range and 87 percent from the free throw line.

Nason put on an unbelievable shooting exhibition for the home fans in winning the Most Valuable Player award for the Raider Tournament.

In the two games he scored 80 points, including 32 in the championship contest, and made 21 of 27 shots (77.8 percent) from the floor. He also hit 10 of 14 from three-point land and made eight of 10 charity tosses.

Also earning All-Tournament honors was sophomore Darnell Robinson who scored 36 points in the two games and pulled down 20 rebounds.

For the season the 6-foot, three-inch forward from Anderson, Indiana is averaging 17.3 points and 10 rebounds per contest.

Also posting big scoring and rebounding averages is freshman Deon Gavin. The 6-foot, 4-inch forward from Cleveland, Ohio is averaging 14 points and 8.3 rebounds per game.

Joining the trio in the starting lineup is 6-foot, 2-inch freshman Troy Brantley (3.3 assists and 2.0 steals per game) and Lake Mary freshman point guard Jason Hamelin (3.7 assists, 2.0 steals).

Making a big contribution off the bench is another freshman from Lake Mary, Mike Merithie. The 6-foot, 2-inch guard is averaging 4.7 assists and 2.0 steals per outing. He has also helped out on the boards with 10 rebounds in the three games.

Also garnering a lot of playing time is sophomore center Billy Freeman, who came off the bench to score seven points and grab four rebounds against Brevard.

Jorgensen carried the ball 36 times for 215 yards and two touchdowns as Lake Howell knocked Mainland out of the district race 28-24 and Leon Lowman carried the ball 23 times for a remarkable 353 yards and one touchdown as Oviedo won a wild game from Spruce Creek 35-33.

Jorgensen's three-yard run in the second quarter started the Silver Hawks' comeback and his four-yard touchdown scamper in the fourth quarter sealed the win as Lake Howell remained alive in the district title chase.

Lowman's 77 yard touchdown run was just the opening score of a game that saw the Lions and Hawks combine for 936 yards of total offense. Lowman also caught a pass for 18 yards giving him 371 yards of total offense.

Gulf War recounted for DAR

Support group rallies for county's troops

SANFORD — Sallie Harrison Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution held its November meeting at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Judy Osborn, a resident of Sanford for 21 years, recounted in a moving way the development of the Yellow Ribbon Support Group for Operation Desert Storm.

"Tears came to her eyes as she told of her Marine son being sent to Saudi Arabia, and we choked up with her," Beatrice Buck said.

Osborn said she spoke with other mothers who also felt they must actually do something for these sons and daughters. A meeting was called to which 30 came to make small yellow bows. The second week 100 concerned people came. Attendance grew weekly.

"People just came out of the woodwork to offer anything," Osborn told the DAR.

One man even offered the use of his airplane.

Family and friends who attended the meetings shared letters, information and comfort. They showed videos of the area and shared knowledge through guest speakers.

Osborn said the items most wanted by service men and women included wet wipes, toilet paper and chocolate. Eager parents and friends raised money with bake sales and a huge yard sale.

Everyone became well acquainted and close to everyone else's family.

Finally a Welcome Home Committee and a Parade Committee jumped into action. The grand parade, June 15, 1991, featured 130 floats including those for veterans of World War I and II, Viet Nam and Korea.

"It was a touching day for all," Buck said.

Two thousand people were served a picnic lunch.

The Yellow Ribbon Support Group became an almost miraculous network for all kinds of help and resources, Buck said. Everyone volunteered enthusiastically, Osborn said. She said deep and lasting friendships were formed throughout Seminole County.

Osborne thankfully reported that no lives were lost from Seminole County.

Regent Charaline Luna conducted the business meeting. At the conclusion of the meeting she read an article about the signers of the Declaration of Independence, Buck said. She said Luna reported that the signers' signatures cost many of them dearly. They suffered poverty, imprisonment, deprivation, and even death as a result. Esther Anderson and Myrtle Lassiter were hostesses for the social time.

Judy Osborn speaks to members of the DAR.

Trip to mailbox ends in march to altar

DEAR ABBY: Congratulations, you've done it again! You can now put another notch in your "success column" for Operation Dear Abby.

Last Thanksgiving, I wrote a letter to "Any Serviceperson" and sent it to the Persian Gulf as a part of your letter-writing campaign. I never really expected a reply, but I received one from a Lt. Patrick E. Fortune, which I answered promptly. We soon learned that we had a lot in common: His name is Patrick, my name is Patty; he's Irish-Catholic, I'm Irish-Catholic; he's one of seven kids, I'm one of seven kids; he went to an all-boys Catholic school, I went to an all-girls Catholic school; we both have dreamed of biking through Ireland. We also share many of the same beliefs about God, family and values.

When Pat returned to the states, we started talking on the telephone. We have had three-and-four-hour long conversations (Don't ask about our telephone bills!) I finally broke down and told him that I was absolutely nuts about him! He then confessed that he felt the same way about me.

We finally met in Cincinnati over the Labor Day weekend and had a sensational time. We knew there was no doubt about it — we were right for each other.

Pat sent me a plane ticket so I could visit him at Fort Bragg, and our romance flourished. He will get out of the service in about six months, after which he plans to move to Milwaukee and make spooling me a full-time job. That's wonderful because he's the most important person in my life.

So, Dear Abby, that's the saga of Pat and Patty. How can I ever thank you?

PATTY TREACY, GREENFIELD, WIS.

DEAR PATTY: You just did.

DEAR ABBY: My best friend and I have been friends for 6 1/2 years. I am a single man who has never been married, and my best friend is a married woman with two children. Her husband's job allows him to be home only three nights a week. I even stay at their home about 50 percent of the time. Her husband has no objections to my staying in their home. In fact, we get along very well. The problem is that everyone thinks it is abnormal for us to "hang out" as much as we do. We do not have sex, and never will; we are not attracted to each other sexually at all. We are just good friends and that's all.

So, what do you think, Abby? Is our relationship normal or not? I hope you will print this so our friends will know that two people of the opposite sex can be good friends — and that's all.

BUGGED IN BARSTOW
DEAR BUGGED: It is indeed unusual for a single man and a married woman who are not romantically involved to spend so much time together. It is also out of the ordinary for the woman's husband to be as secure and generous about his wife's close friendship with another man.

And, yes, people of the opposite sex can be friends — and that's all. It is not necessarily "abnormal," but it is unusual.

DEAR ABBY: I recently remarried. My new husband was also previously married. How should I introduce my first husband's relatives who are my former in-laws? I am very friendly with my ex-husband's nieces and nephews, too.

SECOND TIME AROUND

DEAR SECOND: There is no reason to call attention to the fact that you were formerly related by your marriage. Just introduce your ex-in-laws — nieces and nephews — as "dear" or "old" friends, and save the explanatory details for subsequent meetings.

DEAR ABBY: We are a retired couple. During a recent heat wave, we mostly stayed in the house. My husband kept saying, "Do you hear a baby crying?" (Our neighbor across the street heard it, too.) I walked around our back yard, and a couple of houses down, I saw a baby sitting in a stroller, screaming! The sun was beating down on that poor little thing while the mother watered the yard. She never even looked at the baby.

I felt so sorry for that child, I walked over there and said, "Excuse me, but it's too hot for that baby to be out in this heat with no bonnet for 20 minutes!"

She said, "B-----, I work at a children's hospital and I know what I'm doing — besides, he's been out only five minutes!"

I said, "Don't call me a b-----. He's been screaming for 20 minutes, and what you're doing is child abuse!" Then she called me a name you couldn't print, and aimed the water hose right at my face! As I walked away, she aimed the hose at my behind!

I am not a person who calls the police or children's services, but what should I have done? Covered my ears, eyes and mouth like those three monkeys?

UPSET IN OKIO
DEAR UPSET: Your neighbor has an ugly temper and a mouth to match.

You were right to speak up when you learned why the child was screaming. Although your neighbor's "abuse" was more due to ignorance than deliberate cruelty, the woman could certainly benefit from some instruction in parenting. Being an employee of a children's hospital doesn't automatically make one a good parent.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)

Duke's foes hammer at his racist roots

By KEVIN McALL
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS — David Ernest Duke is now the image of the mainstream conservative, clean cut and business-suited. But his opponents continue to hammer away at his 20 years of radical racism, portraying him as a political crackpot.

He has, over the years, given them plenty of material to work with.

In 1976, he sauntered into the state House of Representatives leading a white companion in blackface on a leash to disrupt a ceremony honoring a Reconstruction-era black governor.

Over the years, he's paraded in a Nazi uniform, worn the white robes of a Ku Klux Klan leader, founded the National Association for the Advancement of White People, and been linked to a failed plan to set up a white supremacist government on the island of Dominica in the Caribbean.

Now he's vying to become governor of Louisiana in a runoff Saturday that pits him against Democrat Edwin Edwards, a former three-term governor who left office in 1987 after being tried and acquitted on corruption charges.

Duke, a nominal Republican whose candidacy has been repudiated by President Bush and the Republican Party, placed second after Edwards in the Oct. 19 open primary. Gov. Buddy Roemer finished third.

Duke, 41, was born in Tulsa, Okla., the second of two children. The family later moved to New Orleans.

His mother was an alcoholic and his father a petroleum engineer who frequently traveled away from home, according to a biography by Michael Zatarain, "David Duke: Evolution of a Klansman," cited in The New York Times.

His interest in Nazism and the Klan began in high school, and a neighbor recalled seeing a Nazi flag on the wall of his room. When he went to Louisiana State University in 1966 he dressed like a Nazi and became a follower of Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell.

After college, he joined the Ku Klux Klan and in 1975 became a leader, or grand wizard.

In 1980 he left the Klan amid allegations that he was videotaped trying to sell the organization's secret membership rolls. That same year, he founded the National Association for the Advancement of White People, which advertises racist and Nazi books.

He sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1988 and when it was denied him he won the nomination of the radical Populist Party, whose members include neo-Nazi, Klansmen and skinheads.

In 1989, Duke became a Republican and won a narrow victory in his virtually all-white district in Metairie for a vacant state House seat.

Last year, he won a surprising 44 percent of the vote in a U.S. Senate race against powerful Democratic incumbent J. Bennett Johnston.

His campaign rhetoric against taxes, affirmative action, minority set-asides and welfare has been most successful among white working-class voters shaken by Louisiana's decade-long recession. Duke, who had plastic surgery to change his looks, is often mobbed at rallies by supporters as though he were a movie actor or rock star.

He has repeatedly distanced himself from his past, chalking up his involvement with the Klan and Nazi groups to youthful indiscretion. He says he's matured and become a born-again Christian.

Duke's claims of a Christian conversion were recently challenged by critics who discovered that the church where he said he worshipped in a Nov. 2 televised debate didn't exist. Last week, Duke admitted he didn't belong to a specific church but said he participated in a Bible study group that meets in its members' homes.

Critics point to a 1986 discussion he had with avowed Nazi sympathizer Joe Fields.

Is colon disorder linked to stress?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have irritable bowel syndrome, diverticulosis and asthma. The problem I face each day is wondering what to do about eating. Everything I eat affects my breathing or my stomach. When I have a severe case of diarrhea, I usually have an asthma attack. Asthma leads to diarrhea. Could this be stress related?

DEAR READER: Yes, it could.

Irritable bowel syndrome is a poorly understood, cyclic colon disorder, marked by abdominal distress, gas and either diarrhea or constipation. It is worsened by stress.

Asthma, too, was previously thought to be a stress-related disease. However, experts now believe it is caused by bronchial infection or inhaled allergens (material to which people are allergic). In any case, asthma itself is a source of extreme stress. Therefore, I'm not surprised that your irritable bowel syndrome is aggravated by asthma attacks.

I think you should work with your doctor to control your asthma with bronchodilator drugs. Once you have accomplished this, the bowel problem may improve. Remember, too, that diverticulosis may worsen the symptoms of irritable bowel syndrome.

Most asthmatics are not bothered by food. Rather, the primary problem seems to center around what's in the air. For example, pollen, smoke and animal dander can often trigger asthma attacks.

On the other hand, certain foods — such as spices and chocolate — may, in some patients, lead to symptoms of irritable bowel.

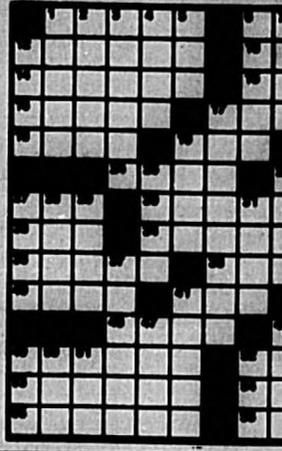

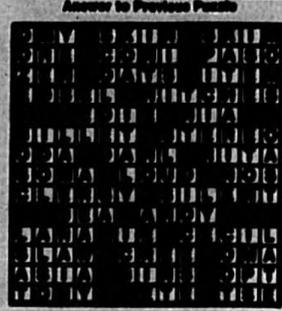

I think you need to work with your doctor — and, perhaps, a nutritionist — to sort out your intolerance to various foods. Maybe something as common as

By Phillip Alder

The match between Control, the spy organization representing goodness and niceness, and Kaos, the spy cartel for evil, was into the third rubber, with Kaos vulnerable. On the second deal, Leadsid was in four hearts.

North, Siegfried, opened one club; South, Leadsid, responded one heart; and Maxwell Smart, Agent 86, sitting West, overcalled two diamonds. At this point, Siegfried made a splinter bid of four diamonds, describing heart support with a singleton or void in diamonds. Harry Hoo, the Hawaiian detective, doubled to show his diamond length in case Max wished to sacrifice in five diamonds. But Leadsid's four-heart rebid ended the auction.

Max led the diamond king, and Hoo stopped to consider the defensive prospects. His four low clubs suggested that that suit would run for declarer. If the defenders had a trump trick coming, it wasn't going to run away. But if they had no trump winner, they had to take three spade tricks immediately to defeat the contract.

It was clear that he should overtake the diamond king with the ace and switch to a spade — but which one? The normal lead from J-7-3 would be the three, but Hoo saw that this wouldn't be good enough unless Max had three automatic spade winners. South would play low and eventually get discards on dummy's clubs.

Hoo did better: At trick two, he switched to the spade jack. Now Leadsid had to lose the first four tricks.

"That was a strange switch you made there, Hoo," said Smart. "I was always told to lead low from an unsupported honor. "Amazin'!"

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 13, 1991

Ideas you get in the year ahead for ways to make additional money should not be treated lightly. They'll have potential, but if they are not utilized, they'll count for nothing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't be indifferent to the suggestions of others in your commercial dealings today. By the same token, do not discount your own bright ideas, because they might be superior. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Scorpio's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's best not to use an intermediary today to pass on critical information to another. If you have something important to say, use direct lines of communication.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Frequently, tips given to us by others on ways to make or save money are unreliable. However, today you might receive some inside information that's worthy of further investigation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your words carry a lot of weight today with those who both trust and respect you. You're the one who can awaken the enthusiasm in a friend who's been down in the dumps lately.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An important objective can be achieved today — if you take things one step at a time. Be sure you're on solid footing before making each move.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might have an opportunity today to teach a friend how to do something that has been successful for you. You're a good instructor, and the knowledge you impart will prove most helpful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) To be successful today, you don't have to be bolder or stronger than your competitors, just smarter. Let them use their muscles; you use your mind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Keep an open mind today, because someone you'll be involved with might have better ideas than you do for advancing a mutual interest.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be reasonable about the size of returns you expect for your efforts today. What you do will be acknowledged in small ways, not necessarily on a grand scale.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be an asset at social gatherings today; you will know how to put others at ease and get them to talk about themselves. Your tactics will make you popular, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Thoughtfulness toward those you love will be deeply appreciated today. It will be the little things you do for them that show you have their interests at heart.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could have the proper skills today for working on endeavors that require creativity and imagination. Be sure to use your assets in some constructive manner. (C)1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
