Milliot Mentioned For State Position

"It's too early to say anything definite," said the reaction of former Seminole County Sheriff Peter D. Milliot to a report that he will accompany Winter Park Police Chief Ray Reary to Tallahassee, when Reary assumes the job as state beverage director.

Milliot's name has been mentioned, along with Lloyd First, Reary's administrative assistant with the Winter Park police.

Today, Milliot commented, "I like the idea of going with Reary. He's a good man and if things work out, I will be happy to go along."

Milliot served as Seminole sheriff from November 1967 to January 1969, when he was defeated for election by John Polk.

Speculators close in the scene have mentioned Milliot and First as assistants for Reary, who is in Miami and could not be reached for comment.

Reary joined Milliot in several trails on county bolita operations when Milliot was county sheriff.

Negotiating With National Can Co. HLH Suspending For Study

By BILL SCOTT

Donna Seale, general manager of H. L. Hunt interests out of Dallas, Texas, was to announce this afternoon to employees of the HLH Products plant here the packing facility will suspend operations for an undetermined period of time to allow for an evaluation of plant equipment.

Speaking to The Herald, Seale said "We are suspending operations here for a complete re-evaluation of our equipment before deciding whether to continue our local operation."

Seale said the evaluation will determine when and if the local plant will be re-opened.

"Because we usually shut down at this time of the year anyway," Seale said, "we are going to take the opportunity to evaluate our equipment and we will not make any announcements until this is completed."

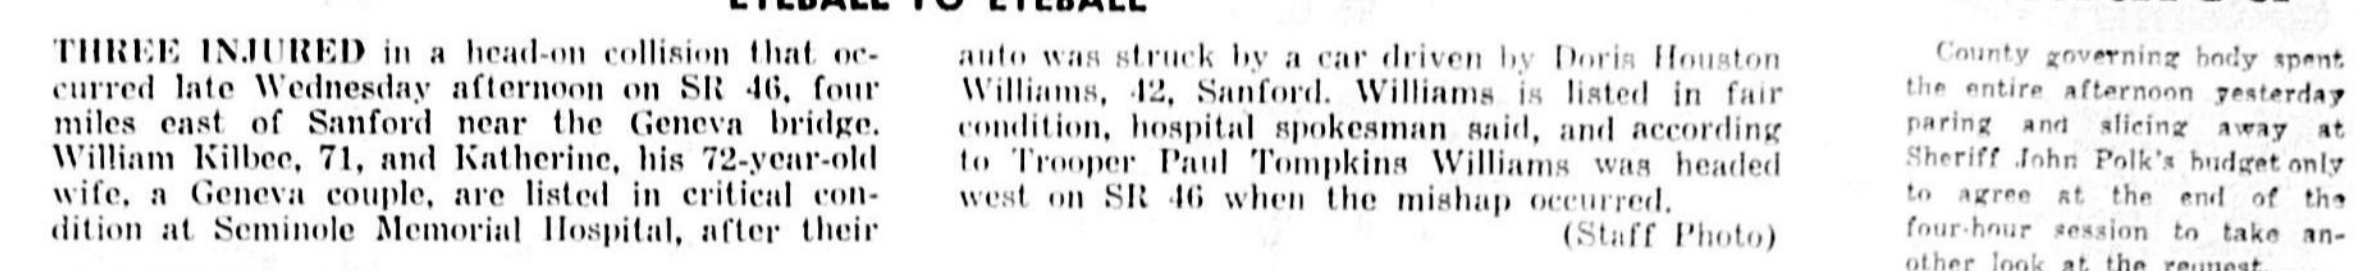

The official said discussions have been underway with National Can Company about locating a Florida operation near the HLH plant on Sanford Avenue.

He confirmed that a survey had been made by National Can here in cooperation with HLH to see if it is feasible for the construction here of a can manufacturing plant.

"We would like to have them here," he said, but gave no indication that a commitment had been made by the metal firm to build here or to locate in the present HLH plant if that firm decides to cease operations after the evaluation is completed.

William B. Butterfield is Sanford HLH plant manager.

Joining Seale at the local office were top HLH Dallas officials, G. Carl Rau, quality control, and John Brown.

Polk's Budget Studied

County governing body spent the entire afternoon yesterday parsing an alleged copy of Sheriff John Polk's budget only to agree at the end of the four-hour session to take another look at the request.

County Commissioner Greg Drummond remarked that funds ought to be added to permit growth of the department was $356,015.

Polk's request of $411,491.11 had to be increased some $20,305 to $431,796.11 to allow money for matching funds for social security and state retirement.

Current budget of the department is $295,104.

On first go-round, items such as $400 to replace the plush carpeting in the sheriff's office and requests for nine dozen pillows and 100 sheets and blankets for the jail, six extra (Continued on Page 1B, Col. 3) severed by mutual agreement this week.

The City Council in special session adopted a resolution giving the suspended head of its police force, George Kelsey, a general release of all liabilities of his suspension to the extent of his return for his resignation from the post and a general release of all liabilities.

The city's contract with Kelsey was to run to January, next year.

"Our action was taken in the best interests of the city and all concerned," Council Chairman William Martin told The Herald today.

Kelsey received a two-year reappointment to the post of chief of police in January, 1968. Shortly after the reappointment, the law officer, who also was serving as constable for the district which includes Oviedo, was suspended as constable by Gov. Claude Kirk.

The suspension was followed closely by indictments by the grand jury for alleged conspiracy to operate a gambling house, violation of liquor laws and bribery.

Kelsey then voluntarily went out of uniform as Oviedo's chief of police and continued to receive his regular salary. In mid-May, 1968, without the blessing of the city fathers Kelsey donned his uniform again as that city's chief law enforcement officer and was suspended by the Council from the post. His salary ceased.

In the resolution now adopted by the Council, it is noted that the city through its attorney, "has on a number of occasions urged the Circuit Judge and State Attorney ... to cause the speedy trial or disposition of (its case against Kelsey) ... pointing out to them the mounting contingent salary liability of the said city because of the delay in disposing of the cases against the suspended chief of police and the bad effect on the city."

County To Decide On Budget Friday

Tomorrow should be the day of reckoning for the County Commission when the members, exhausted from wading that heavy budget sea, will find out if the blade was sharp enough to keep taxes down for another year.

It is expected, however, that the board, despite its three-week long effort at reducing the fat from requested budgets, will find that it is necessary to raise ad valorem taxes for the 1969-70 fiscal year substantially.

The board may decide to take one more look at the tentatively approved department budgets to see if anything escaped their critical eyes on the three or four go-rounds given each request so far.

Next week if the same policy follows as has been done in the past, department heads will be called before the Commission to receive the word on what they will be allowed in the way of allocations in the new year.

The Commission has tentatively agreed to charge 25 cents per cubic yard to commercial users of the four sanitary landfills. The amount is up from the current 15 cents per cubic yard. The board has determined the increase to the garbage collectors will not justify an increase in rates charged by them to individual homeowners. The additional cost to the garbage companies will amount to two and one-half cents per household, it is estimated. One of the causes of the county's severe problems with the sanitary landfills is the use of Seminole's dumps by Orange County families and garbage companies.

Another of the problems met by the county for the new year has been the inability to cut budgets at all in some instances. Instead, at times, they have found it necessary to increase requests.

An example in the supervisor of elections request. Budget submitted was $75,065.43 up over last year's $15,506.40. Tentatively approved, though, was $86,742.

After the annual occurrence of cutting out Mrs. Camilla Bruce's request for a graphology machine to replace the old "monster" in her office and cutting out one part-time employee and approving but a small increase in salary for her full time workers, the board found that three elections rather than two will be held in 1969-70. In addition the same two marries, a general election will be held this November on a constitutional amendment, which will increase election cost. The School Board may take advantage of the situation by holding their bi-annual multi-age election at the same time thus cutting down costs for both boards.

Recent state law calling for one voting machine per 500 registered voters requires purchase of 26 new voting machines at a cost of $60,000. Current machines allow one for each 300 voters. The Commission has agreed to acquire the machines on a lease-purchase arrangement with $12,909 annual payments.

Sanford Held Not Ready For Buses

By CHARNER LEONE
 Why not a bus system for Sanford? Caselberry has just completed an arrangement with the Orlando Transit System to initiate bus service between that south Seminole municipality and shopping spots in Orange County beginning Aug. 1.

The service by the Orlando Transit Authority will be subsidized by the city of Sanford for a 30-day trial.

While the success of the Caselberry venture has yet to be proved, the question arises: why doesn't Sanford have its own bus system?

Charles Collier, who holds the franchise for a bus system in Sanford, says he has tried to operate a bus system here periodically over the last couple of years but that it has never been a profitable venture. In fact, he lost money on the idea. His last venture was in 1966 when he experimented with station wagons.

Collier is also the owner of seven taxi permits (three are in the city) and is the commission agent for Trailways Bus system for the area.

"I haven't found a town the size of Sanford with a successful bus system, even with mini-buses," he said when asked why he would have to compete with the taxi business. The taxi rates, while about twice the amount for the bus for a distance (for example, from the Marina to 19th Street, offers convenience that the bus does not. The elderly person who cannot walk to bus stop or the heavily laden shopper would be more likely to call a cab than wait at a bus stop.

Why then will it work in the Orlando area?

"There has been a great deal of growth in Orlando but this is not the primary reason for the success of that transit system. The airport greatly stimulated the activity in Orlando, promoting growth and thus the need for public transportation."

So what's in the cards for Sanford?

"I can't be optimistic until the town agrees that a bus system is necessary," said Collier. There is an initial outlay of $5,500 for the mini-bus that

Taxpayers Assn. Formed

Formation of a new association for the taxpayers of Seminole County was announced today by the temporary president, J. Vidal Jones, of Sanford.

Jones stated that the primary purpose of this organization is to protect the interest of the taxpayer, collectively and individually, to give aid and assistance to the little taxpayers, as well as the large ones, in their tax problems and otherwise, to work for legislation to benefit all taxpayers, and to join in other statewide and nationwide movements for the benefit of all taxpayers everywhere.

"We feel," said Jones, "that present-day taxes are entirely too high and that tax money is being spent without too much regard for the taxpayer. We feel the taxpayer should be better informed in this regard and mean to terrify out waste wherever it occurs, so as to save the taxpayers dollars. In response to a great demand, we have formed this organization."

"After several meetings, we decided to take steps to incorporate this group under the laws of the State of Florida. Accordingly, we applied for and obtained incorporation papers, as a non-profit organization, under the name of the Seminole County Taxpayers Association, Inc. of Sanford, Florida.

"Carroll Burke is the attorney representing the corporation. A state of temporary officers was necessary in order to apply for the papers, and I am happy to announce that DeWitt Hunter, well-known contractor, is serving as vice president and Mrs. Edna L. Norman is secretary and treasurer of the group."

"On the board of directors, we have Glenn Miller, of Elder Springs, Me. and Mrs. Claude Roberson, Sanford; Peter J. Bieto, Willie Bailey and Frank Bellamy, of Goldsboro; David Van Ness, of Sanford; and Hal Horvath, of Paola.

"I would like to stress that this organization was formed with the idea that it is for all the taxpayers of Seminole County, and we hope that members will join us from South Seminole and from the City of Sanford, and all the other towns within the county. We feel that every troublemaker should join in our effort, and we are naturally interested in getting a large group together, for in union there is strength.

"In the very near future we plan to hold a mass meeting for all members and prospective members. The time and place will be announced soon, and we hope all interested parties will attend."

Jones noted that this committee was successful in its efforts to prevent annexation.

Nuns Paying Mortgage

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — To meet a large payment soon due on their new St. Paul priory, nuns of the Order of St. Benedict are working this summer as typists, receptionists, file clerks and in a variety of other jobs with business firms in the Twin Cities.

The project was begun when the sisters found themselves without sufficient income to meet the payment, the size of which was not disclosed. The situation stemmed from a drop in the number of young women joining the order, combined with increased retirements.

Sister Rolaine, assistant to the mother superior, said the nuns were faced with finding the needed funds or else relinquishing a 3 per cent hike in interest rates, to 8 1/2 per cent.

One sister contacted a Minneapolis employment firm which specializes in temporary positions. A company official offered a free brush-up course in office practices before placing the sisters in jobs.

All of the salaries they earn are paid directly to the order.

The sisters wear conservative street clothes and black veils on the job. Sister Rolaine said the veils are removed if employers object strongly to them.

Most of the 253 nuns who reside at the priory are involved in the project, Sister Rolaine said.

Sister Mary Katherine, normally a high school teacher, is doing philosophy work for a Minneapolis synagogue. She said the position offers her "an excellent opportunity to listen to, and get to know, others."

Sister Carol, another of the nuns participating, said the experience has drawn the sisters closer together in terms of understanding the problems confronting the order.

For many of the nuns, who joined the order while in their teens, the project has given them their first contact with the business world.

"I think people are surprised to find we want to go out to work instead of begging for money," Sister Rolaine said.

Two color television sets were stolen in a break-in at Firestone Store Sunday night.

Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler said a rock was used to break a glass door panel permitting the burglars' entry.

The intruder was discovered at a 3 per cent hike in interest rates, to 8 1/2 per cent.

Sgt. Ralph Russell and Tom Heppen are working on the case.

'Show' Starts At 2:12 A.M. Monday Moon Walk Will Be On Live TV

By PAUL REICHER
 AP Aerospace Writer
 SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — America will be a country of sleepy people on Monday, July 21, and television will get the blame.

Man's first step on the surface of the moon will be telecast to earth and retransmitted coast to coast for home viewers. The first television show from the moon with live actors will start at 2:12 a.m. on the East Coast and end at about 4:52 a.m. or perhaps later.

That 2 hours and 40 minutes of television probably will have the poorest technical quality of any of the almost five hours of space television planned for Apollo 11. And it also will be the only part in black and white.

The telecast will begin just before Neil A. Armstrong steps from a ladder on the moon lander to the lunar surface.

As he comes down the ladder, he'll pull a ring which will turn the work bench in one side of the moon lander. The television camera is attached to the work bench and will start telecasting immediately.

The camera will catch a view of Armstrong's first step onto the moon, but the astronaut cautioned that the picture probably won't be top quality.

Forty minutes after his first step on the moon, Armstrong will move the television camera from the side of the moon lander, put it on a tripod and set it up about 30 feet away. The field of view will catch all of the activities of Armstrong and Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

There will include a view of Armstrong as he plants the American flag on the moon's surface.

Pictures from the camera on the moon are beamed to the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Parkes, Australia.

The signal then goes by microwave to Sydney, Australia.

From there, they are beamed to the Intelsat III satellite in space over the Pacific Ocean. The space center here receives the signals, processes them and releases them to home viewers.

The lunar surface camera transmits only in black and white.

Another Apollo television camera is on the command module, the lunar ship which stays in a 69-mile orbit of the moon.

Forty minutes after his first step on the moon, Armstrong will move the television camera

'God Pity Man With 1 Dream'

By HARRY F. GUGGENHEIM
 President and Editor in Chief,

 Distributed by The Associated Press

Our thoughts are crowded these weeks with the prospect of man's greatest space adventure, the courage of the astronauts who will make it, and the skill of thousands of scientists and engineers on whose efforts Apollo 11 will ride to the moon.

For some of us old enough to remember the earliest attempts at flight in this country, there is a special place in our thoughts today for Robert H. Goddard. He was to the moon rocket what the Wright brothers were to the airplane. Without him we might still be seeing the moon as early romantics did, "a ghostly globe tossed upon cloudy seas," and not as another station in man's endless pursuit of the unknown.

He has been dead now for almost 25 years. He died without the fame that accrued to the Wright brothers in their lifetime. But he died still believing that man would one day shatter the fetters of earth's gravity and stride majestically into the vast reaches of space. I wish he were here now to share this moment. It belongs to him.

MORE THAN A DREAM

This youngster dreams a boy's dream of adventure to far away places, to outer space. Yet even as he gazes past the toy rocket, man's greatest adventure has unfolded—the landing of the first human being on the moon.

To chronicle this most fantastic, first-time event in all history, The Associated Press has produced for readers of this newspaper "Footprints On The Moon." It is the complete story of how man forged the tools to free himself from the bonds that hold him to his native planet, and of the moon landing itself.

"Footprints On The Moon," written by AP space specialist John Barbour, chronicles the saga of America's space race—and how it was won—in 70,000 words and more than 100 of the most exciting color photographs ever taken.

"Footprints On The Moon" provides a master countdown on the final day, hour and second of the final shot—and the first moon landing.

This is a book that belongs in everyone's home, for parents and their children.

It can be yours at a special price of only $5 through this newspaper.

THE BOOK, INCLUDING THE FINAL MOON LANDING BY THE APOLLO 11 TEAM, CONTAINS:

- 228 pages, 9 1/2" x 12 1/2" hardbound edition, with dust jacket.
- 70,000 word manuscript by AP space specialist John Barbour.
- More than 100 full-color illustrations, from the first space efforts in 1950s through to Apollo 11.
- Edited and produced by the world's largest news-gathering organization, The Associated Press.

Prospects Reviewed For More Troop Withdrawals

Top Military Studies Slowdown Of Vietnam War

SAIGON (AP) — The fall in the Vietnam war spread today as top American military officials met to consider the significance of the slowdown and prospects for more withdrawals of U.S. troops.

Emphasizing the fall, the U.S. Command announced that the number of Americans and enemy killed in combat last week were the lowest since the first week of the year, while the number of South Vietnamese soldiers killed was the lowest in six months.

U.S. headquarters said 148 Americans were killed in action, well below the weekly average for the year. Enemy dead totaled at least 2,651, the command said, and 32 government troops were reported killed.

Americans wounded last week totalled 1,612, slightly above the recent average. This was believed to be the result of a 30 per cent increase in the average daily number of contacts by small American units, but a predicted increase in battle deaths because of this did not materialize.

Military spokesmen reported 16 enemy shelling attacks Wednesday night and today, with 16 of them causing damage or casualties. Two American installations were targeted, including the U. S. 9th Infantry Division base at Dong Tam, but there were no American casualties.

In one of the few American ground actions reported, troops from the American Division's 11th Light Infantry Brigade killed six enemy Wednesday in an attack near Quang Nai City, 300 miles northeast of Saigon. U.S. casualties were two wounded.

Armored troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division reported killing nine enemy, with no casualties of their own, in a skirmish 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported government troops killed 77 enemy in a series of small fights in the last day and a half, most of them in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, opened his first full day of conferences and briefings at U.S. headquarters at Tan Son Nhut Airbase outside Saigon.

Conferring with Wheeler were Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S.

commander in Vietnam, and Adm. John S. McCain Jr., U.S. commander in the Pacific.

Wheeler, who arrived Wednesday on a trip that apparently was hastily arranged, is scheduled to spend part of the next three days visiting field locations and conferring with subordinate commanders.

The U.S. Command reported Thursday that slightly more than 4,000 Americans have left South Vietnam since Nixon's order, with another 750 slated to leave Friday.

Senators Nix Spiro's Mars Shot Suggestion

By JACK BELL, Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's top leading Democrats today urged a U.S. effort to put a man on Mars by the end of the century.

Sen. Mike Mansfield and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, reacting to a suggestion by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the next major U.S. space goal be Mars.

Both senators said the nation should make its top priority solving earthly problems—hunger, housing, poverty and education—before undertaking more costly space ventures.

"The needs of the people on earth, and especially in this country, should have priority," Mansfield said.

"We have important and demanding needs here on earth that demand early attention," said Kennedy, who suggested that after reaching the moon the space program "ought to be fit into our other national priorities in an orderly manner."

Significance was given to Agnew's statement, made at Cape Kennedy, Fla., following the launch of the Apollo 11 moon ship, because he heads a presidential committee on reevaluating the nation's long-space space goals.

Mansfield and Kennedy, the latter considered a potential 1972 Democratic presidential candidate, speak for a group of liberals already working to cut military spending in favor of increased funds for domestic projects.

The Senate Space Committee, heavily weighted with Pentagon supporters, has approved a $3.75 billion space program—exactly the amount the Nixon administration proposed — for the current fiscal year. It cut $250 million from the authorization previously approved by the House.

This figure does not include, however, $2.21 billion allocated to the Defense Department, $102 million to the Atomic Energy Commission and smaller amounts to other agencies, bringing the overall space program to $5.88 billion for the year.

This figure is likely to come under heavy attack from the senators who question the value of further manned probes into space after scheduled additional moon explorations over the next two years.

However, the Mansfield-Kennedy position wasn't entirely accepted by other Democrats, Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the House Democratic whip, said it "would be like telling the Wright brothers to stop after they flew a couple of hundred feet."

"I don't see how you can say 'go slow now on the space program,'" the Space Committee mentioned only a "low cost mission to the planet Mercury in 1973" as a likely future project.

Space Flight Is Eyed By Medical Pioneer

By RICHARD HEENE, Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Quietly following the progress of Apollo 11 is a man who began laying medical groundwork for such a flight before the moon-bound astronauts were born.

Dr. Herbertus Strughold, 71, regarded here as the "father of space medicine," watched the start of the voyage this week as a guest here of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

As he hears the voices of the crew on the way to the moon, the apy space expert can recall the days when he conducted crude tests of weightlessness by stunting in early airplanes.

Or he'll remember how he spent hours scanning the heavens as a boy in his native Germany, keeping his eyes "more on the sky than on the earth."

Or his thoughts may go back to 1927, when he delivered his first lectures on flight physiology.

Strughold retired last year as a top scientist at Brooks Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex., after 21 years of civilian service with the Air Force.

During the late 1920's, he began studying the physiological effects of aviation.

He conducted some of the first simulated altitude experiments at Wuertburg, Germany, in 1927, staying inside a "metabolic chamber" for as much as an hour in an atmospheric pressure corresponding to 21,000 feet. Two years later he was aboard a plane again for more experiments with weightlessness. This time he nimbly his hips with an anesthetic, cocaine, to get the full effect.

"I felt unafraid. I had no feeling," he recalled.

Except for a brief visit to the United States to conduct research, he remained in Germany until after World War II.

HOUSTON (AP) — It was almost dark in suburban El Lago where every lawn looks freshly mowed when Janet Armstrong and her dead-tired sons arrived home Wednesday after a long, long day.

"I don't feel historic," she said.

Husband and father Neil traveled some 30,000 miles toward the moon in the Apollo 11 spaceship while his family spent five hours in a private plane flying 1,049 miles from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Hardly had the car bringing them from the airport stopped when 12-year-old Eric and 8-year-old Mark piled out to go inside and to bed.

Eric, better known as Ricky, was planned to play in an all-star baseball game.

"I think you're too tired," said Janet Armstrong, as mothers will. Ricky didn't argue.

Early in the morning they had been aboard a friend's boat on the Banana River near the Cape Kennedy launch center, where the view is fine and the viewing is private.

"It was a tremendous sight," the wife of the command pilot said. "I was just thrilled."

She once summed up her philosophy about Armstrong's work as "what we can't understand, we tend to fear." She understands flying and the extremes to which her husband is taking his skill.

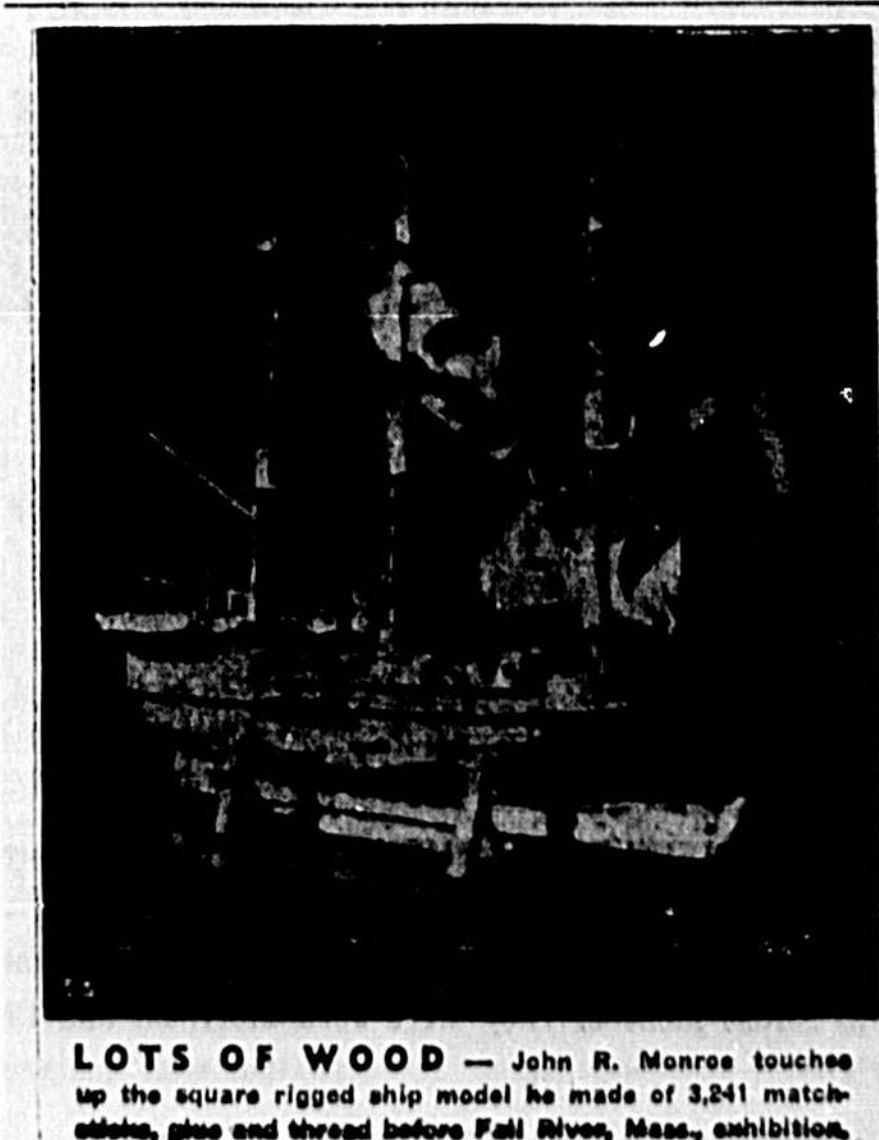

Still No Decision

"No decision has been made. The matter is still under advisement."

Assistant State Attorney Thomas Speer made this statement today when queried by The Sanford Herald concerning the progress being made into the investigation of charges against Constable Robert Jane.

The Seminole County Republican Party has requested investigation into private business in addition to his official duties and has hired deputies or guards.

Speer said the "matter is in status quo. The grand jury is in recess."

Solon Resumes Fight On Mental Center

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The battle of Dorr Field is not over, says Rep. Granville Crabtree.

The Sarasota Republican made the pledge even though the last patients were moved out of the state mental retention facility near Arcadia Wednesday.

"They were moved as a result of action of the 1969 Legislature, which called for the closing of the facility as a mental retention center and its reopening for future use by the Division of Corrections to house prisoners.

A recent court suit, challenging the closing of the facility, did not stop transfer of patients, but left in doubt when the Division of Corrections could move in.

The phasing out of Dorr Field had been recommended for director of the Division of Mental Retardation.

"I still think Dr. Foshee was wrong," Crabtree said.

Crabtree said the Dorr Field problem is now the direct responsibility of Gov. Claude Kirk and Dr. James Baz, whom Kirk has appointed to head the new Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

"I think the governor is going to have to face the issue squarely," through Baz he said. "It is my intention to contact him and

Power Probe Launched

The commission has received many complaints from persons concerning the rates charged them by their landlords or lessors for electric service which is usually re-metered and resold to them by the landlords or lessors. Such complaints have been received with increasing frequency; the three member commission stated.

It said its statewide probe will begin Sept. 2, with a hearing in Fort Lauderdale, West Palm Beach, Cocoa, Daytona Beach, Ocala, Winter Park, Lakeland, Fort Myers, Sarasota, Tampa, Clearwater, Pensacola, Panama City, Marianna and Tallahassee.

The commission said that a "major objective" of the probe is to determine if trailer parks, condominium housing units, apartment complexes, shopping centers, markets and other such businesses or persons which resale electricity to the public should come under the commission's regulatory jurisdiction.

It stated also that possibly four of the major electric public utilities which were not named — have violated tariff provisions already approved by the commission which prohibit them from selling electricity to their customers for the purpose of resale.

Submariners Tune In Aerospace Blastoff

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — Gliding 65 feet beneath the ocean's surface on their own expedition, explorers aboard the submarine Ben Franklin Wednesday tuned into their aerospace colleagues' blastoff to the moon.

The submarine was drifting 650 feet down about 35 miles off Fort Pierce when they heard the radio broadcast of the rocket launch, said Walter Muench, director of the Ben Franklin program for the Grumman Aerospace Corp. "Their surface ship, the Privateer, reported it had a bird's eye view of the rocket."

The crew, three days into their planned 1,200-mile underwater exploration of the Gulf Stream, is headed by Jacques Piccard, Swiss designer of the Ben Franklin, and Capt. Donald Kazmitz, an American.

The 105-foot submarine began her journey Monday night after being towed 26 miles into the Atlantic east of West Palm Beach. Friday, the Franklin will be told whether she may go ahead and complete the full 30-day cruise that is planned to end when the sub breaks the surface 300 miles southeast of Boston.

"She's making about 2 1/2 knots an hour and is about a mile-and-a-half east of her planned course along the core of the Gulf Stream," Muench said. "The crew said they are beginning to settle down and catch up on their rest." He stated, "They were pretty excited the first few days and didn't sleep too well."

The purposes of the trip, Muench said, are to make new discoveries in biology, test new equipment and provide a better knowledge of the bottom terrain. In addition, the cruise is expected to test the ability of men to spend long periods of time in a small space within a hostile environment, he said.

Teenager Guilty Of Murder

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A Negro teenager was convicted Wednesday of the firebomb death of a white youth during disturbances following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

A Circuit Court jury recommended mercy, allowing James Colbert, 19, to escape the mandatory death sentence.

The jury found Colbert guilty of the April 4, 1968, first degree murder of Travis Crow III.

Crow, a student at Tallahassee Junior College, was trapped in a bedroom over his father's grocery store when a firebomb ignited the building. The youth's father, mother and younger brother escaped from the burning building.

The store was located in a white business district near a Negro section in the southwest quarter of Florida's capital city.

Another youth, Billy Ray Oliver, 26, was previously convicted of first degree murder in connection with the firebombing and sentenced to life in prison.

Circuit Court Judge Ben C. Willis withheld sentence of Colbert, pending a presentence investigation.

Tallahassee was one of several Florida cities torn by violence in the aftermath of King's assassination on a Memphis hotel balcony. Crow however was the only person killed in the Florida disorders.

Elsewhere in the nation, at least 45 persons were killed, 2,600 injured and more than 21,700 arrested as bursts of gunfire cracked in the streets and pillars of smoke spiraled out of gutted stores in at least 125 American cities.

New Exec Named By Council

Dr. Ann Alarman, president of the Central Florida Council of Boy Scouts, has announced the employment of Kenneth M. Drupiewski as Scout Executive replacing Gally Caldwell, who retired June 1 after many years of service in that position.

Drupiewski comes to the council with a long record of outstanding accomplishment in the career service of Boy Scouts of America. Before beginning professional service he was a Scout in Sacramento, Calif., and a Scoutmaster for several years in Waycross, Ga., later becoming a Field Scout Executive in that city in 1952.

In 1956 he was promoted to Scout Executive for Asheville, N.C. In 1960 he was named Deputy Regional Scout Executive for Region Six, assisting in developing sound financial plans and long range plans throughout the Southeast.

He and his wife have five children. The oldest daughter is married and the others are in college and high school. The family will move to Orlando in August upon his return from the National Jamboree.

Businesslike Astronauts Speeding Toward History

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Guiding themselves by the stars, America's Apollo 11 astronauts soared past the halfway point of their journey to the moon today with men and machines operating almost flawlessly.

As they sped toward their date with history, Russia's Luna 15 zipped into orbit around the moon on its mystery mission. A Moscow report said the craft had become a lunar satellite but there was still speculation the unmanned vehicle might attempt to land and scoop up moon samples and return them to earth before Apollo 11 can bring back a cargo of rocks.

Spacecraft commander Neil A. Armstrong, Air Force Col. Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins reached the midpoint of their outward trek at 10:33 a.m. EDT when his spaceship parachutes were jettisoned and the vehicle crashed.

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins remained tight-lipped, the least talkative Apollo crew yet, as their earth shrank in the distance. The craft coasting uphill, the spaceship gradually has slowed from its initial speed of 24,200 m.p.h.

In Washington, President Nixon announced the astronauts will leave behind on the lunar surface next Monday medals awarded to the Soviet cosmonauts who participated in the space program.

The medals were given to astronaut Valeri B. Gagarin and Vladimir Komarov.

Gagarin, the first man to fly in space, was killed in a plane crash. Komarov died in 1967 when his spaceship parachutes were jettisoned and the vehicle crashed.

Collins concentrated on star sightings with the sextant and other navigation equipment. He reported excellent results, in contrast to Wednesday when changes in spacecraft attitude caused the stars to seem to "move."

During one test today, the crew did display emotion.

"It's really a fantastic sight through the sextant," Collins reported. "The reticle just swept across the Mother's Milk star. I could see all of North Africa, absolutely clear all of Portugal, Spain, Southern France. All of Italy absolutely clear. Just a beautiful sight."

All Moonstruck

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Europe is moonstruck by the Apollo 11 mission.

Newspapers throughout the continent filled their pages with pictures of the Saturn 5 rocket blasting off to forge earth's first link with its natural satellite, and headline writers taxed their imaginations for words to hail the feat.

"The greatest adventure in the history of humanity has started," declared the French newspaper Le Figaro, which devoted three to six pages to Apollo. One newspaper issued a special edition.

The tabloid Paris Jour declared the whole world tells them "Bravo."

The Communist daily L'Humanite led with a launch page to an enthusiastic moon report, describing the countdown and launch, the astronauts' wives and families and backgrounding lunar activities.

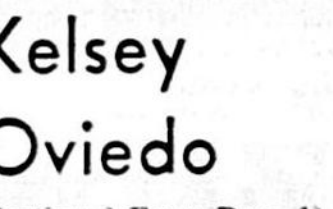

Britain's five-million circulation Daily Mirror used two-inch high type to herald the launch. "Real cool out there in space—the three quiet Americans cut the small talk as they set out on their greatest moon adventure," it declared.

Most British newspapers stressed the relaxed attitude of the spacemen in their radio contact with mission control.

The Communist Party of Great Britain said the mission was "a step toward the realization of the dream of a united world."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a Safeguard foe, had indicated he would introduce at today's closed session material compiled by an aide who recently visited the Pacific island of Kwajalein, where Safeguard components are being tested.

Senate Body Divided In Income Surplus Bill

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee, with its members ready to charge off in three different directions, was called behind closed doors today to start a course for dealing with extension of income surtax.

The position of Republicans on the committee, at a 10-7 disadvantage, was that the panel immediately start drafting legislation to extend the surtax.

Long had proposed his panel hold quick hearings on reform proposals next week, and 80 into executive session to vote on provisions of the House bill and the reform amendments. The chairman said it was his intention that some significant reform amendments be added to the measure.

This schedule still would permit the Finance Committee to get the bill to the Senate for debate by the end of this month in time for final action before the recess, he said.

And, he contended, it would meet at least in part the demand of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee that meaningful tax reform must be considered along with the surtax extension.

Bulletin!

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted 9-8 today to approve the House-passed surtax extension bill without change and send it to the Senate floor for debate.

The vote represented a first-round victory for President Nixon in Senate consideration of the bill.

STRONG WINDS accompanying last night's thunderstorm uprooted trees in Sanford and ripped off part of the roof on a barn at a Harold H. Kautner Company farm off West First Street. Hailstones were reported, varying in size from pea to golf ball.

Wage-Price Controls Nixed

By FRANK COHRIE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, moving to stamp out speculation led by his own treasury secretary, has all but ruled out wage-price controls as a weapon against inflation.

Pres. secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, after conferring with Nixon, said Wednesday "The administration has ruled out wage and price controls as a way of dealing with inflation under the conditions that are now foreseeable."

Last anyone conclude that the "foreseeable" reference was intended to be a loophole, Ziegler added.

"Looking into the future with the knowledge and experience of this administration has led me to believe that the various alternatives that could be used in the future, wage and price controls would not be considered."

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy has on several occasions made statements regarding the matter, along with the sequence of the White House pronouncements on the matter indicated the confidence over the issue.

Ziegler at a morning news briefing made the first reference to presidential opposition to mandatory wage-price restraints. This was followed by a Kennedy news conference about 1 p.m., when the specter of controls was again raised. This in turn was followed by the strong statement issued about 2:30 p.m. by the White House at regular afternoon press briefing.

Debate On Safeguard Creeps Toward Vote

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Forces on both sides of the Safeguard missile defense controversy have urged any material unveiled in a secret session of the Senate will bolster their cases as the debate moves slowly toward the voting stage.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a Safeguard foe, had indicated he would introduce at today's closed session material compiled by an aide who recently visited the Pacific island of Kwajalein, where Safeguard components are being tested.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., a Safeguard backer and chairman of the Armed Services Committee, planned to discuss top-secret intelligence information on what he considers a seriously increasing Soviet threat.

The secret session is the fourth in recent years.

Similar sessions on Defense Department funds were held in 1963 and last October, while a 1968 closed-door debate centered on efforts to set up a special committee on intelligence operations.

The rules for today's closed session permitted only senators in the chamber. All staff members, including those of the Armed Services Committee, were ruled out in an effort to prevent leaks.

Senators said they hoped that one session of four or five hours would conclude the secret debate, and that regular, open sessions can resume Friday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee, with its members ready to charge off in three different directions, was called behind closed doors today to start a course for dealing with extension of income surtax.

The position of Republicans on the committee, at a 10-7 disadvantage, was that the panel immediately start drafting legislation to extend the surtax.

Long had proposed his panel hold quick hearings on reform proposals next week, and 80 into executive session to vote on provisions of the House bill and the reform amendments. The chairman said it was his intention that some significant reform amendments be added to the measure.

This schedule still would permit the Finance Committee to get the bill to the Senate for debate by the end of this month in time for final action before the recess, he said.

And, he contended, it would meet at least in part the demand of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee that meaningful tax reform must be considered along with the surtax extension.

Insurance Agencies To Probe Car Gripes

TALLHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Are complaints about auto insurance justified? The Florida Association of insurance companies has started an experimental program to find out. So far, the project has operated in a limited way, soliciting the gripes that are sent to newspapers and legislators. But Steve Martin, who is setting up the program, said a decision will be made soon on whether to expand the program and perhaps advertise for direct letters from the public. "We, as a business, want to know what we are not doing to adequately serve the public, if that is true," he said. "Or how to better serve the public." Martin said the complaint center has not been flooded so far. But he admitted he did not know whether this indicated that the public was happy or that the center was just not getting the messages.

Hike Seen On Bonds Interest

C. Howard McNulty, Seminole County chairman for U. S. Savings Bonds, was today queried about the Treasury request to Congress to remove the interest rate ceiling on Savings Bonds and other government securities. McNulty said the Treasury request is approved, the interest rate on Series E and H Savings Bonds will be raised from the current 4.25 per cent to five per cent, if held to maturity. The increase would be retroactive to June 1, 1968. All outstanding E and H Bonds would also benefit from the new five per cent rate, beginning with the first semi-annual interest period, which starts on or after June 1. Series E Bonds will have their maturity period reduced from seven years to five years, 10 months. H Bond maturity will remain at 10 years. Both E and H Bonds would enjoy an automatic extension period. The present five per cent rate on Freedom Shares would continue unchanged until they are removed from sale six months after the proposed legislation becomes law. Authority to extend Freedom Shares at maturity is included in the Treasury's request. McNulty said that the Treasury's proposal "should give new impetus to the Savings Bonds Program throughout our area."

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The temperature on the moon varies 500 degrees. In sunlight, the temperature is about 250 degrees Fahrenheit, in darkness it drops to about 230 degrees below zero. A special water-cooling unit in the portable life support system will protect the astronauts from the extreme heat. Their suits are insulated against the cold.

PESTICIDE RESIDUE was the main topic of over 60 pesticide specialists who gathered in Sanford for the past three days for the sixth annual Florida Pesticide Residue Conference. Shown speaking to the group during one of the seminars in University of Florida pesticide specialist Willis Moya. (Herald Photo by Tom Alexander)

Pesticide Conference Attended By 60 Here

Some 60 people ranging from pesticide chemists to inspectors are presently in Sanford for the Sixth Annual Pesticide Conference being held at the Sanford Holiday Inn. The conference started Sunday and concluded Wednesday afternoon following some 27 workshops on the subject of pesticide residues. Doyle C. Golden, chief of the Pesticide Residue section of the Florida Department of Agriculture was in charge of the meetings hosted by the FDA. Representatives from all over the Southeast dealing in pesticides were on hand. The U.S. Department of Agriculture also had representatives at the seminar along with the U.S. Public Health Service. Discussion ranged from methods and problems with pesticides to the latest research now going on in the highly technical field. Several University of Florida personnel were also at the conference representing the U of F's Pesticide Research Laboratory. Different instrument displays were exhibited by companies dealing in pesticides. Some 35 noted speakers took part in the series of programs dealing with pesticide control. Discussion stressed many aspects of pesticide use around water and what happens to fish once they come in contact with a pesticide.

Spacecraft Visible To Telescopes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Amateur astronomers might be able to see the Apollo 11 spacecraft tonight if their telescopes are strong enough to pick out the tiny craft against the black background of deep space. Manned Spacecraft Center officials offered the following celestial coordinates—declination and right ascension—where the spacecraft is expected to be located. All times are Eastern Daylight.

10:32 p.m., declination 4.50N, ascension 170.88E; 11:30 p.m., 4.38N 171.08E; 12:32 a.m., 4.29N 171.24E; 1:32 a.m., 4.18N 171.41E; 2:32 a.m., 4.08N 171.59E; 3:32 a.m., 3.98N 171.76E; 4:32 a.m., 3.88N 171.93E; 5:32 a.m., 3.80N 172.04E.

The moon will not be visible in certain parts of the country during the Apollo 11 flight, officials said, because a launch time had to be selected which will place the astronauts at their landing site with the sun at the correct angle. While on the moon, whose day is approximately 14 earth days long, the astronauts will be in an area close to the lunar dusk. The sun's angle is expected to be about 15 degrees above the horizon.

Osteen Firemen Install

Osteen Volunteer Fire Department installed new officers in ceremonies that took place at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Osteen Fire Hall. Officers to be installed are Richard Brooks, president; Andy Marsh, vice president; Danny Bowen, secretary; Helen Pell, treasurer.

President To Stay Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — When astronaut Neil A. Armstrong takes man's first step on the moon Monday, two of the early morning viewers tuned in by television will be President and Mrs. Nixon. "I wouldn't miss this for anything in the world," Mrs. Nixon said Wednesday in disclosing that she and the President would be staying up for the 2:21 a.m. lunar show. Of Wednesday's launch of the Apollo 11, which she also watched by television, Mrs. Nixon commented: "It went off so beautifully—and it went with my prayers."

Appointive officers for the department are Edward Pell, chief; Albert Stone, assistant chief; Tom Lemon, captain, and Herman Bowen, 1st lieutenant; and Albert Pell, 2nd lieutenant.

Albert Stone, outgoing chief, served as installing officer.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — To minimize the danger of later contamination, the Apollo 11 astronauts plan to bag and jettison to the lunar surface such equipment as lunar boots, portable life support systems, cameras, a lunar tool locker.

Cross County Site Brings $1 Million

The 75-acre tract on the north side of SR 436 at Palm Springs Road, just outside Altamonte Springs, on which a giant new shopping center is to be built, was sold for $1 million today by University Terrace, Inc. and Crane Roost, Inc. to Michael R. Sudakov.

With conveyance of the property, construction date for the Cross County Shopping Center, planned to be one of the largest in the southeast United States, is expected to be announced. It is planned to have the center with enclosed, air-conditioned mall containing approximately 75 stores ready for opening in the fall of 1971.

Major tenant of the facility, according to earlier announcement, will be Jordan Marsh along with two other major department stores. The Jordan Marsh store is planned for opening in the spring of 1972.

Stores in the center will include specialty shops, boutiques and apparel shops, gift shops, restaurants, a twin theater, banking institution and supermarket as well as automotive services and other service-type organizations.

It has been reported that firm leases are signed for some 40 of the 75 businesses to be in Cross County already.

In a feud developing between Sheriff John Polk and County Commission Chairman John Alexander (both Democrats), by the way, Polk indicated he will appeal to Tallahassee if the County Commission slashes too much from the sheriff's budget. "Do you have room in your car for five county commissioners, Sheriff?" asked Alexander. "No, sir," replied Polk, "only enough room for the press."

Sanford Commission will begin budget hearing Monday night and according to City Manager W. E. Knowles, "it's a balanced budget, with no room for making cuts."

Mayor Les P. Moore said commission might have to add to the budget this time instead of the usual slashing.

From now on, persons convicted in Sanford Municipal Court will have an additional $2 added to their fines.

The extra money will go toward funding various costs of educating state law officers and the addition was required by state law.

Drummond Reprehends Hospital Board Demands Hospital Up Room Rates

By DONNA HERTES

Administration of Seminole Memorial Hospital came under fire from County Commissioner Greg Drummond during budget hearings late yesterday afternoon.

The district 3 commissioner, criticizing the need for some $103,000 in tax moneys during the next fiscal year, declared, "If their rates weren't one dollar cheaper than any other hospital in Central Florida they wouldn't operate at a deficit and wouldn't need so much tax money."

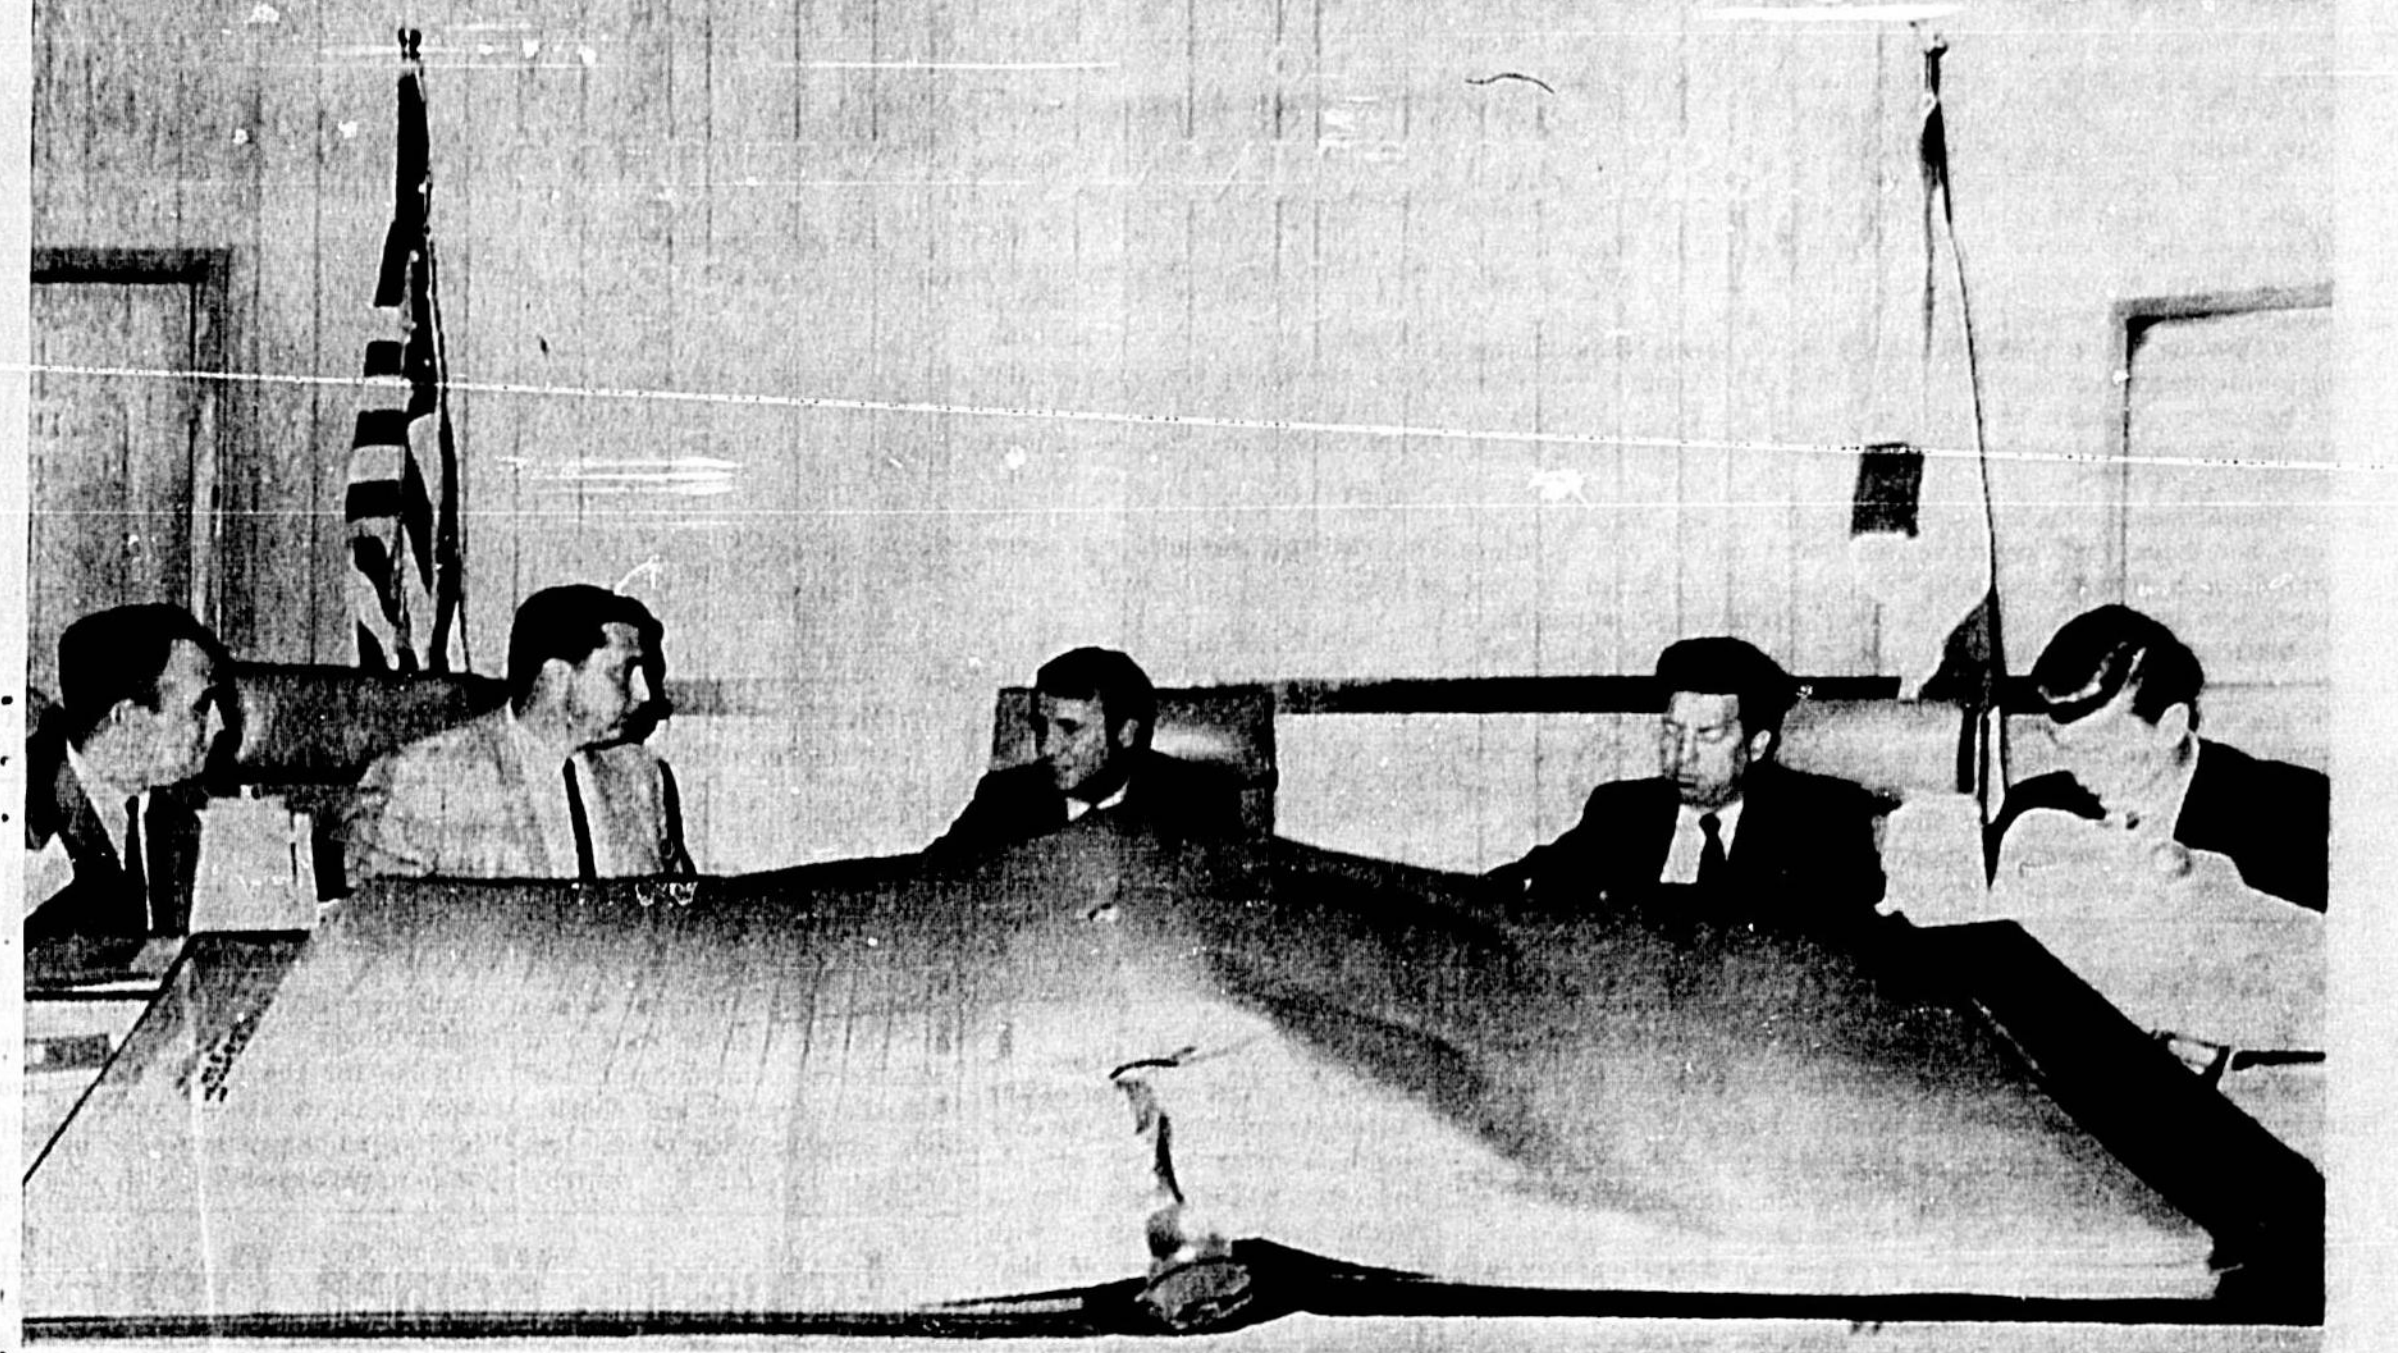

"I think we are deviating from the intent whereby the hospital was created," Drummond insisted.

He also urged that the county go to the hospital board of trustees and in a "respectful manner" urge that the room rates be increased. "We should use all our energies to see that this is accomplished," the commissioner suggested.

"I, like . . . had some misgivings about the deficit operation at the hospital," Committee Chairman John Alexander stated, as he reported on the attorney general's opinion received a year or so ago that the county could do nothing but levy the millage requested by the hospital.

Alexander said, according to the opinion, the hospital is not a taxing entity but that the county must still levy the millage requested.

Changing the subject slightly, the chairman asked that information concerning the excellent Medicare will pick up indigent care be obtained.

HOW TO DIVIDE $2 INTO $1

THEIR BIG BOOK (foreground) has been a headache for weeks for the Seminole County Commission. It contains the budget requests for all county departments and the Commission members have had to figure out to obtain $2 worth of service for every $1 of the taxpayers' money. Ed Yarborough, Greg Drummond, Chairman John Alexander, Robert Parker and Dan Pelham (from the left) were to solve the problem today.

May Lose $114,000 On Bonds Schools Hit By High Interest Rate

By BILL SCOTT

In order to sell the remaining $3.8 million in school construction bonds and because of the poor bond market, the Seminole County Board of Education yesterday voted to discount by three per cent and run the risk of losing $114,000 in interest if the bonds are sold.

The board's action must be forwarded to Tallahassee for state approval before the advertising can begin, according to Kirk Gunby, fiscal bonding agent.

Gunby spoke to the educators and advised them to "protect themselves" and provide a cushion since under the six per cent interest rate limit imposed by the state, it is not possible to sell the bonds.

At the same time, Walter Teague, finance officer, advised that a local bank had been working to put a par bid together but thus far had been unsuccessful.

Allan F. Keeth, board member, moved to prepare a resolution for presentation to the state education department asking for permission to discount the bonds.

Advertising for the sale will start after state approval and continue for a 30-day period before bids will be taken, Gunby said.

Expected $100,000 cost for furniture for second phase of Lakeview School and furniture for other schools under construction will have to wait until the bonds are sold, Teague said.

John Angel, county superintendent, said board needs $500,000 in additional money and hopes to get needed funds from a November millage election, borrow money from a bank or draw on the contingency fund.

The superintendent recommended to the board that a millage election or public approval for additional school building funds.

Board Split TV Time

Unless School Supt. John Angel can convince two board members to go along with his recommendations for spending $621,843 of the $20.3 million school budget for 1969-70, there may be a delay in the approval of the school budget, which must be submitted to Tallahassee by Aug. 1.

The problem evolves around what is the best way to spend the almost $600,000 which Angel has recommended to use partly in employing two curriculum coordinators, while Jean Bryant and Pat Buis want to use the funds to give pay raises to school maintenance and transportation employees.

A two-to-two vote developed over yesterday's special board meeting when both Buis and Mrs. Bryant refused to second a motion by Allan F. Keeth to approve the budget as submitted.
