Seminole ripped 16-1

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — The Seminoles were pounded 16-1 in a softball contest last night against Lake Brantley at Lake Brantley High School. Last year, the 'Noles were 2-18, but this year they have improved to 7-6 (1-6 in conference play).

Michelle Karr, who just missed hitting for the cycle, led the way for the Patriots by going three-for-four including a two-run homer in the last inning. She also tripled in a run during the three-run first inning.

Guest was too much

A woman who signed her letter "Enough is Enough" has had enough of her houseguest. It seems this woman needed a place to live while she found a new job. Our good Samaritan letter writer was only too happy to oblige, but to her horror, the guest won't find a new place to live, stays on the phone constantly, keeps odd hours and used her address on printed checks. Now she doesn't know what to do. What will Abby say?

Scott loses humane society job

SANFORD — Trish Scott, executive director of the Humane Society of Seminole County since 1988, has been terminated by unanimous decision of the society's board of directors.

Although Society president Bo Simpson said the decision was for the mutual benefit of the society and Scott, the former director declared in a recent letter the decision was based on "petty egos."

"Trish Scott is a very capable person and I thought the world of her," Simpson said. "I would recommend her to anyone as an administrator, but not in this business. This is a very stressful job, it always was and it always will be."

A new director is expected to begin soon, Simpson said.

Accident victim identified

DELAND — Jason Paul Stewart, 20, of Mims, was killed Thursday morning when his motorcycle collided with a car on State Road 46, east of Geneva, the Florida Highway Patrol reported today.

Charges are pending against Richard M. Arnold, 35, of Deltona, the driver of the eastbound Ford which collided with Stewart's westbound motorcycle at about 6 a.m., an FHP spokesman said. Arnold was passing another vehicle and was traveling east in the westbound lane of the road when the collision occurred, FHP said. He apparently didn't see Stewart's 1980 Honda until it was too late, the spokesman said. Stewart was ejected from his motorcycle and was dead at the scene, according to investigators.

'New' high school will be christened during special ceremonies tomorrow

By VICKI DESORMIER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — After almost $10 million and a year and a half of demolition, construction and landscaping, the new and improved Seminole High School is ready to be christened.

Tomorrow, the new Seminole High School will be rededicated during day-long ceremonies at the Georgia Ave. campus.

Morning activities, including an invitation-only luncheon, will be attended by district dignitaries, local business leaders and teachers.

"We're expecting 200 to 250 people at our morning activities," Carma Norman, an assistant principal at Seminole High School estimated.

Afternoon activities, which include informational booths hosted by members of the school's service clubs and sports teams as well as entertainment by the school's band, choruses and dance teams, will be open to the public from noon until 2 p.m.

"I don't know how many people we'll have there," Norman said, but she added that the school was anxious to "show off" for anyone who wanted to see what Sanford's high school had to offer.

Students, teachers and administrators have dodged the construction and tolerated the inconveniences along the way, but assistant principal Bobby Lundquist said that it has been worth it to have all the new amenities that are now available to the students.

"It looked like a war zone for a while," he said recently. "But it's turned into a better school as a result."

Lundquist, who principal Wayne Epps put in charge of overseeing the construction projects, said that the redesigned campus is not only more attractive, it also offers the students better learning facilities.

"With the new classrooms, science labs, media center, computer lab and graphic arts department," he said, "our students have more opportunities to learn."

In addition to the new areas, renovations were completed on the school's gymnasium and auditorium.

A new administration and student services building was built and the old facility was converted into live exceptional education classrooms.

Norman said that she believed that most of the work that needed to be done on the campus had already been completed.

"We need to put the new bleachers in the gym. Finish up the landscaping and put a coat of paint in a few spots," she noted, "but

Seminole realtors agree to join forces with Orange County

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — By this fall, the 37-year-old Seminole County Board of Realtors will no longer exist.

"The membership has spoken," said SCBR president Glenda Philpot, on learning the results of the vote Thursday. The group's members voted more than 2-1 to merge their 1,400-member organization with the 4,200-member Orlando Area Association of Realtors, creating the "Greater Orlando Association of Realtors."

In a separate election Thursday in Maitland, OAAAR members — who are primarily from Orange County — voted 166 to 31 to approve the merger.

The merger was touted as a benefit to both

New Lake Mary firefighting team off and running

By LACY DOMEN
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — Nearly three months after forming, Lake Mary's professional firefighters have become an important part of the county's public safety force. They have one of the county's only brush fire trucks which was used to fight a blaze in Sanford yesterday.

Lake Mary firefighters yesterday assisted area firefighters at a brush fire at Brisson and 20th Street in Sanford. Assistant Fire Chief James S. Chapman said the city's brush fire truck was used to help fight the sporadic blazes in the wooded area. "We had a little trouble with the unit but we got it there. We helped put some water on the perimeters," Chapman said.

Keith Urbanski, a Seminole County firefighter, said they appreciated Lake Mary's help. "The wind was blowing pretty good in a large field that hadn't been plowed under. We appreciate the help Lake Mary gave us. We worked together to get the job done," he said.

If the fire had occurred more than three months ago, a call to Lake Mary's fire department would have brought an all-volunteer force. But after January, the city hired nine of their volunteers as career firefighters.

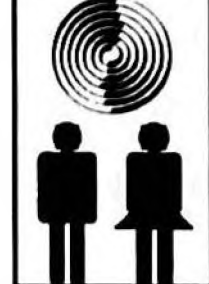

Chapman said Lake Mary decided to hire professional firefighters in January to increase the level of service. It was becoming difficult to

Census Bureau to begin delivering forms today

By ROBERT WAGMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In 1790, U.S. marshals spent 18 months counting the 3,929,326 residents of the 13 states. Every 10

This is the final installment of a 3-part series dealing with the Census years since then, this increasingly complex and expensive exercise has been repeated.

Sunday, April 1, 1990 will be the 21st Census Day in American history.

Today's Census is far more than a simple head count. It determines congressional representation, how billions in federal aid will be distributed, and provides demographic information on which a myriad of decisions are based.

Today, the Census Bureau will begin delivering via mail questionnaires to 166 million households, including an estimated 120,000 in Seminole County.

Five out of six homes will receive a short form questionnaire containing 19 questions. One house-

CENSUS CALENDAR

- Today: Census questionnaires will be mailed out to 166 million households (12 million of which are likely vacant).
- April 1, 1990: Census Day 1990 (date by which forms are required, by law, to be mailed back).
- Feb. to June, 1990: Census "enumerators" drop off and pick up forms in rural areas.
- April 1 to June 30, 1990: Census enumerators visit households that do not return forms or return incomplete forms (70 million are expected to be returned by April 1).
- Oct. 1990: All field work is completed.

hold in six will get a longer, 59-question form. By law they must be returned by April 1.

In 1980, about 83 percent of questionnaires were returned. This time the percentage is expected to drop to about 79 percent. So, starting on April 10, several hundred thousand Census takers will personally call on every household that failed to return a questionnaire. Census officials estimate they'll need about 100,000 enumerators in Seminole County for the task. They have about 750 on hand now.

By October, Census field work will be completed. On Dec. 31, the president will be presented with the data by which new congressional seats will be assigned. Then, no later than April 1, all states will receive the detailed figures they need to create new congressional and state legislative districts.

In Florida, four seats are expected

Some flood victims return to homes

CARYVILLE — Hundreds of Panhandle residents forced to evacuate their homes in the worst flooding in 80 years returned Thursday as Gov. Bob Martinez declared a state of emergency for the area.

About 2,200 residents of Calhoun, Washington and Holmes counties were forced out of their homes earlier this week by the flooding caused by heavy weekend rains in Alabama and Florida that forced the Choctawhatchee and Apalachicola rivers over their banks. Caryville, population 600, was left almost a ghost town when all but a handful of residents evacuated Tuesday.

State damage assessment teams were in the field Thursday, mapping out the affected areas, but officials said no dollar amount could be assessed until the water recedes.

Al Pyfron, director of emergency management services in Washington County, said most Caryville residents and others evacuated in the area were returning to their homes Thursday.

NASA debates satellite rescue effort

CAPE CANAVERAL — NASA engineers Thursday debated the possibility of a shuttle flight to repair or salvage a stranded $150 million communications satellite, and while no final decisions were made, such a mission would appear to be technically feasible, officials said.

Space agency engineers, officials with satellite-builder Hughes Aircraft Co. and the spacecraft's owner, the 118-nation International Telecommunications Satellite Organization, met all day Thursday to assess their options.

"Some of the issues raised included hardware development to accommodate the spacecraft, crew training requirements, orbiter configuration and weight constraints and safety factors," NASA said in a statement. "While the discussions were very preliminary, no insurmountable technical issues were identified."

But NASA officials said "no decisions were made as to whether such a mission could be accomplished." Additional meetings are planned to "further discuss aspects of the Intelsat 8 status and rescue options."

The Intelsat 8 relay station was stranded in a precariously low orbit March 14 when a wiring problem prevented the spacecraft from separating properly from its Titan 3 launch rocket, a major failure for America's fledgling commercial space program.

Audit: Dropout rate better than reported

TALLAHASSEE — Florida's dropout rate — rated one of the worst in the nation for the past several years — is not as bad as the federal government says it is, according to a state audit released Thursday.

The performance audit of the dropout prevention programs in Florida backs up claims by state educators that says the federal calculations for dropout and graduation rates are inaccurate and incomplete.

The Auditor General's report on the performance of the state's dropout prevention programs said the procedure used by the U.S. Department of Education to calculate dropout rates does not include students who receive either a special high school diploma, an adult high school diploma, a GED certificate or a certificate of completion.

"State graduation rates reported by the USDOE are often mistakenly interpreted to be indicators of the states' dropout rates," said the report.

The report said the graduation rate accounts for only those students who graduated with a standard diploma, and that many students seen as dropouts have actually never left school.

Because of those omissions, the report said, Florida's 1987 graduation rate reported by the USDOE does not account for 19.6 percent of the students who completed high school that year. In 1987, 33,724 of 492,754 students dropped out of Florida public schools for a rate of 6.84 percent.

Panther plan meets with opposition

GAINESVILLE — Opponents of a federal plan to capture endangered panthers and breed them in Florida zoos are threatening to go to court in an effort to stop the program.

"We are not going to allow this to happen, and we hope that the (U.S.) Fish and Wildlife Service considers this very carefully," said Holly Jensen, a leader of a coalition of environmental groups.

The federal plan is a last resort because state and local governments are no longer trying to protect the panther's natural environment, Jensen said Wednesday.

A better way to protect the panthers, she said, is to simply stop development and pollution of the Everglades, restrict hunting and increase environmental protection.

Jensen has already put together a letter-writing campaign to the Fish and Wildlife Service office in Atlanta, where office spokeswoman Vicki Boatwright said hundreds of letters have already been received.

The Fish and Wildlife Service is talking about capturing most of the 30 or 50 panthers it estimates remain in the wild. Most of the big cats live in the Everglades.

POLICE BRIEFS

Casselberry man charged with abuse

CASSELBERRY — A man who allegedly grabbed and bruised his 2-year-old son's arm and battered his wife during a family dispute involving four other relatives has been charged with child abuse.

Casselberry police also charged Bryan Allan Smith, 29, 309 Diane Circle, Casselberry, with battery-spouse abuse. He was arrested at home, the scene of the incident, at 9:20 p.m. Thursday.

Victim reportedly hit with shovel

SANFORD — City police here report arresting two men allegedly involved in a fight in which a third man was hit in the head with a shovel.

Police report the shovel broke when it was used against David Hanson in the parking lot of Captain Nemo's, 3639 Orlando Drive, at about 12:45 a.m. Friday. Wade Clifton Huff, 26, 2510 Country Club Road, Sanford, was charged with aggravated battery, and Allen Wayne Blank, 28, of the same address, was charged with battery and resisting arrest without violence. They were arrested at the scene at 12:49 a.m.

Cops say pot plants were in bedroom

CASSELBERRY — City County Investigative Bureau agents with warrant who searched 1321 Sterling Oak Drive, Casselberry, Thursday night reported finding four marijuana plants growing in the bedroom of Rodney Paul Elliott, 26.

Elliott was charged with cultivation and possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Kimberly Gail Brill, 31; and Bradford Lee Fordam, 26, of the same address, were charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Two arrested on DUI charges

SANFORD — The following persons face a charge of driving under the influence in Seminole County:

- Alvin Glen Long, 27, 188 Tracy Road, Lake Mary, was arrested at 2:28 a.m. on Sun Drive, Lake Mary, after he was seen driving erratically. He was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.
- Thomas Converse Bright, 24, of Valdosta, Ga., was arrested at 3:18 a.m. Thursday on Interstate 4, Lake Mary, after police received a report of a suspected drunk driver.

County Chamber of Commerce and elected officials from the county the five cities touched by the highway.

Task force members hope to turn the 14-mile-long U.S. 17-92 in the county's Main Street during the next 15 years through landscaping and redevelopment of businesses along the road. Sanford will become the northern anchor of the project, with task force plans to promote the city as the lakefront historical upscale community of the county.

Task force members want to have the southern third of the road as the business and commercial center of the county — a downtown of sorts. But they want the downtown to have trees and other greenery that softens the harshness of the buildings and pavement. They want tree-lined sidewalks where shoppers can stroll from store to store, perhaps pausing on a shaded bench.

Creation of that downtown could prove more challenging than any other goal the task force has because with the exception of less than a half dozen vacant parcels, the entire buildable area on either side of the roadway is completely developed.

North and central portions of the corridor have more vacant areas which lend themselves to businesses that can be constructed along task force beautification concepts, as yet to be decided.

Although a number of the businesses in the southern portion of the road were built in recent times and have moderate to extensive landscaping, many of the buildings are 30 years old or older and are often little more than buildings surrounded by concrete and asphalt, many showing little or no greenery.

Several 7-11 convenience stores and Burger King restaurants in the five-mile stretch have more landscaping than larger businesses.

Longwood, which borders about 1.5 miles along the west side of U.S. 17-92, has begun to impose tighter restrictions calling for fewer and smaller signs and more landscaping. Many of the small dealerships and other businesses already are moving in this direction with small hedges and short trees.

City Planner Chris Nagle said Longwood soon will consider a new ordinance that eventually would reduce the number of smaller dealers of cars, trucks, boats and other motorized vehicles.

Nagle the ordinance would require larger dealership lots and wider spaces between other dealerships and homes. If approved, Nagle said several dealerships, if ever closed by their present owners, may never return to vehicle sales because the lots would not meet the requirements of the ordinance.

Longwood Mayor Gene Farach, a member of the task force, said the city needs sign restrictions and landscaping requirements, but more importantly, the city needs a overall beautification plan.

"You got to have a plan, that's the number one priority," Farach said.

Farach said Longwood is beginning to develop a city-wide beautification plan that would build upon the theme of the city's historic district. Farach said he would like to see a portion of the town developed into a retail attraction rivaling Church Street Station in downtown Orlando.

The city's plan would complement the U.S. 17-92 task force plans, Farach said.

Farach said the plan may call for businessmen to pay to erect new facades on their buildings and plant landscaping on their property to meet the plan's requirements.

"I am hoping the business people will see it will benefit everyone," Farach said.

Casselberry city limits lie on either side of U.S. 17-92 for a length of about 1.75 miles south of Longwood. The city suffers the reputation among task force members of having most of the eyeore development along U.S. 17-92.

Casselberry Mayor Andrea Dennison, also a task force member, said she supports landscaping and other beautification activities, but she is interested in redevelopment of her community's portion of U.S. 17-92. That way, new office and retail sites can be developed with more greenery and "open spaces."

One of Dennison's main goals is to have the Seminole Plaza site developed into a multi-story office and government center. She said the decaying, nearly vacant shopping center at the northeast corner of U.S. 17-92 and State Road 436 is an eyesore. Dennison said the location lends itself for a southern branch for several county services, such as a place to buy tags and titles.

But David Hall, president of the company that owns Seminole Plaza, doesn't share Dennison's vision.

"We see that site as being prime retail land," said Hall, president of Kensington Gardens Builders Corp. "We've had several big retailing developers try to buy that spot from us."

Raborn to run for school board

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — M.L. "Sonny" Raborn announced today he intends to be a candidate for the Seminole County School Board District 5 seat now held by board Chairman Ann Nelawender.

District 5 represents Crooms School of Choice, Geneva Elementary School, Goldsboro Elementary School, Hamilton Elementary School, Idyllwild Elementary School, Lakeview Middle School, Midway Elementary School, Pine Crest Elementary School, Sanford Middle School, Seminole High School and Wilson Elementary School.

Raborn, who has lived in Sanford since childhood, attended Seminole County public schools and graduated from Seminole High School in 1945.

After retiring as the owner of a dry cleaning business in 1972, he spent a dozen years as a realtor before going to work as a bookkeeper at Sanford Middle School.

In a press release, he said he has been "greatly disturbed by the activities of the present school board" and he believes he can "make a positive contribution to making the necessary changes needed to provide quality education to our young people while maintaining fiscal responsibility and sound planning for the future."

Raborn pointed to his business experience as a necessary quality of a board member. "The school board needs members who have a business background," he said in the press release.

"Having owned and operated my own business for over 25 years, I have that business background necessary to make the tough business decisions necessary to run this multi-million dollar business."

He also announced that if he is elected to the board, he plans to introduce a motion that would put the issue of whether or not the superintendent should be elected on a future county-wide ballot.

Second class service

The U.S. Postal Service says its proposed 20 percent jump in the price of a first-class stamp — the largest single increase ever requested — is necessary because of the rising costs of delivering the mail. That is true, to a certain extent. But much of the postal service's fiscal problem is due to decreasing efficiency as well.

The service's board of governors has approved an increase in the price of a first-class stamp from 25 to 30 cents. The plan still needs approval by the independent postal rate commission. But the increase, which would affect all classes of mail, is likely to take effect in less than a year.

Assistant Postmaster General Deborah Bowker asserts that, "If our service is good, consistent and reliable," Americans will not object to paying an average of $11 more in postage per year for the average household.

That's a mighty big "if." No one would begrudge the Postal Service reasonable increases if its service were improving. But its own statistics show that first-class mail moved 15 percent more slowly in 1988 than it did in 1969, and current Postal Service plans call for a further slowdown in the 1990s. Moreover, it is primarily because post office productivity declined during the 1980s that the cost of first-class postage is rising at twice the rate of inflation.

John Crutcher, a member of the Postal Rate Commission, has described postal workers as "the highest-paid semi-skilled workers in the world," earning an average of more than $20 an hour. He told a recent audience that the postal service was inefficient, costly and lacking in the work ethic. He should know.

The service is expected to suffer a record loss of about $1.5 billion this fiscal year. Commissioner Crutcher's common-sense answer is to open the Postal Service to more private-sector competition in order to increase efficiency. The place to start is by ending the postal service's monopoly on home delivery of junk mail. Private firms could be subcontracted, through competitive bidding, to run this and other services.

Also in need of a thorough overhaul is the bureaucratic structure of the Postal Service, which has slowed its adaptation to advances in electronic communications. And in the background, as always, is the problem of strong trade union control and a bizarre system under which almost all management salaries rise according to increases in union wages. Naturally, there is every incentive for management to condone large increases, for union workers and for themselves.

The rising cost of a postage stamp would be a lot easier to accept if the Postal Service were subject to the same competitive pressures that help to improve service and hold down costs in the private sector.

Walter Annenberg gives a historically generous gift

Walter H. Annenberg's breathtaking donation to the United Negro College Fund was an example of philanthropy at its finest. Perhaps Annenberg's "significant and marvelous example," as President Bush called it, will inspire others.

Annenberg, the 82-year-old former ambassador to Britain whose father founded a publishing empire that once included TV Guide and the Philadelphia Inquirer, gave the fund $50 million. It was the largest gift ever made to black colleges, surpassing comedian Bill Cosby's $20 million gift to his alma mater, Spelman College, in 1987.

In explaining his donation, Annenberg said it was "obligatory that young blacks have a fair opportunity so as to get into the mainstream of economic affairs of the country." Bush, a supporter of the fund since his senior year at Yale University 42 years ago, said it exemplified "the very best of what I call the thousand points of light," a reference to public service and volunteerism.

The United Negro College Fund is a consortium of 41 private black colleges. It raised $45.8 million last year.

Annenberg's gift is a bonanza for the organization, whose slogan, "A mind is a terrible thing to waste," has been an effective fund-raiser and promotional tool for many of the nation's black colleges for years.

In his prepared statement, Annenberg described the black institutions as a "major force for positive change" for their role in giving blacks "an opportunity to realize their full potential."

In oblique reference to the fund's slogan, he added, "As a society, we cannot afford to waste our most valuable resources — our citizens."

Annenberg is right. He has helped the cause of education in America immeasurably by his donation. His generosity should be long remembered.

ARNOLD SAWISLAK

Why Bush may like Rosty's deficit plan

WASHINGTON — Current talk about a post-Cold War "peace dividend" recalls the verse, "Last night I saw upon the stair a little man who wasn't there. He wasn't there again today: Oh, how I wish he'd go away."

As of now, there isn't any peace dividend and in the best of all possible worlds there isn't likely to be substantial defense spending savings for several years.

The simple reason for that is that cutting military spending is like stopping an ocean liner — it takes a long time after you decide to do it.

This makes folks who have big plans for spending the peace dividend unhappy, but even if the administration decided to send half the men and women in uniform back to civilian life this afternoon, the savings would be months, perhaps years, down the line.

The peace dividend, when it does arrive, also might turn out to be a lot smaller than expected by people who look at the $300 billion defense budget and think it ought to be possible to save a third or more of that total now that peace is breaking out all over.

But it doesn't do President Bush much good to explain all that. For purely political reasons, he has to have a plan for the peace dividend, no matter when it arrives and how big it is.

The president has had a huge political advantage ever since he declared, "Read my lips,

No new taxes." His position left opponents to play the unenviable role of candidates who insist taxes have to be raised to finance important social programs.

And, as the returns of the 1988 presidential election demonstrated, that argument was about as popular as cock-matches.

But now that the decline of Soviet influence has raised the possibility of cutting U.S. military spending, the Democrats have rushed to propose ways to use the savings on education, child care, environment and other domestic programs that were blocked by the conservative tide and the huge deficits of the 1980s, which continue into the 1990s.

This idea may have some appeal. A sizable portion of the public has told pollsters it believes domestic problems have been ignored by the government and the peace dividend seems to hold forth the prospect of trying to deal with some of those social ills without raising taxes.

That may be why Bush surprised most everyone in Washington by expressing interest in, rather than condemning, Democratic Rep. Dan Rostenkowski's recent deficit-cutting plan last week.

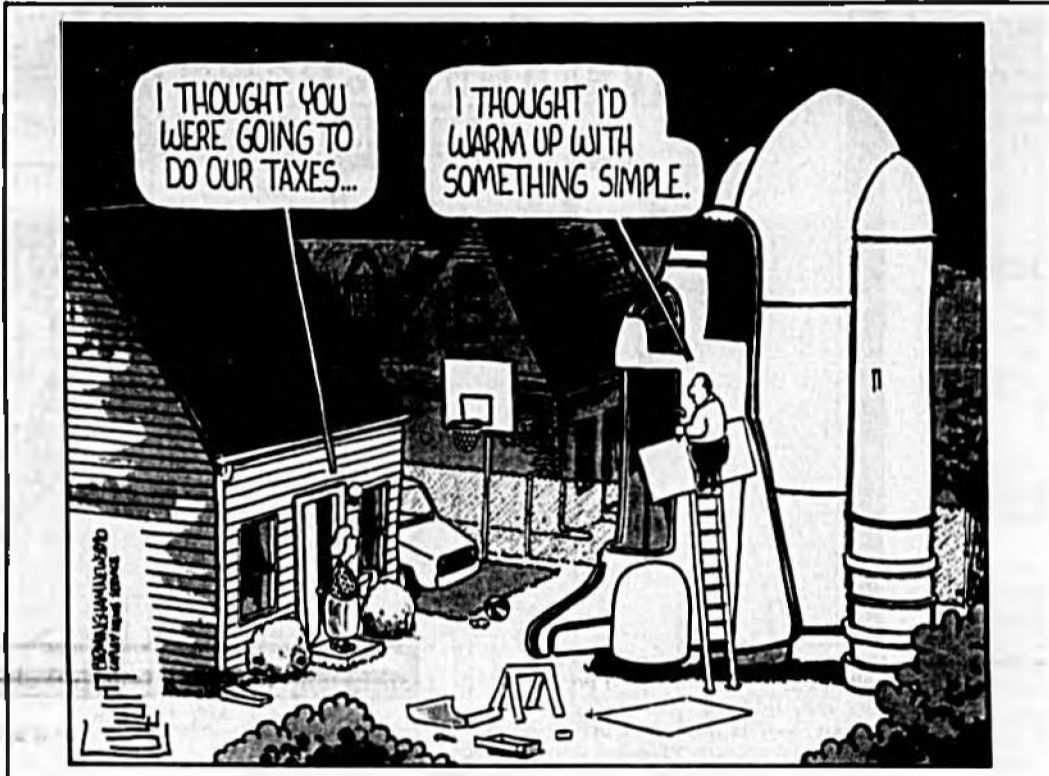

It is true that Rostenkowski, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, wants to raise taxes on some higher income people and opposes Bush's capital gains tax cut, but he proposes no general tax increase or retreat from the tax structure adopted in 1986.

But perhaps most important, the Illinois Democrat proposes to spend the entire peace dividend to reduce the federal budget deficit. That probably sounds good to Bush, and he might even be willing to agree to some tax table adjustments in order to keep the money saved in defense cuts out of new federal social programs.

Rostenkowski stuck out his neck in making his proposal, although it probably does not endanger his political position at home. Getting an influential Democrat to offer controversial items such as a freeze on Social Security cost-of-living increases and a ban on new spending probably is the best opening offer Bush can expect.

He has to have a plan for the peace dividend.

ELLEN GOODMAN

The sad death of Bruno Bettelheim

BOSTON — In the first reports, his death seemed benign. Bruno Bettelheim had died at the age of 86 after a life rich with accomplishments. Who could ask for more?

The psychoanalyst had spent this century trying to understand and communicate the meaning in human life. He had wrestled meaning out of his experience in a concentration camp, resurrected it out of the minds of the autistic children he worked with. Finally, in his later years he had reassured anxious Americans that they could be, in the title of his book, "A Good Enough Parent." His was more than a good enough life.

But the later bulletins cast a different shadow. Bettelheim had killed himself. He was discovered on the floor, sleeping pills in his system, plastic bag over his head. Death hadn't taken him. He had taken death into his own hands.

Almost immediately, suicide changed the context of the death of this remarkable man who had written so much about survival. Mourning turned to mystery.

Clues were collected from friends. The death of his wife. A stroke that limited his work. A move from one coast to another. A shift from independence to a retirement home. Even rumors of an estrangement from a child. Did all these clues add up to a reason? Are there good and bad reasons for suicide?

Bettelheim, who never asked easy questions and never offered unambiguous answers, left this legacy. In his memory, in his name, we inherit a moral dilemma of our own era. When is suicide rational? When can we accept it as other than tragic?

"Suicide," they say over the prevention hot lines, "is a permanent solution to a temporary problem." Suicides among the young, the healthy, the melancholy, are tragedies of waste that leave others guilty and rudderless.

But problems aren't always temporary. Slowly, we have come as a society to exempt certain people from the moral imperative of living. We give them our understanding if not our permission to die if they are old enough, if they are sick enough. And then we argue over questions: What is enough? When is enough enough?

Attitudes toward suicide are changing in part because of medicine. The miracles of survival are balanced with its horrors. As respirators and feeding tubes and surgeries save lives, our attention shifts to the qualities of those lives.

Today, fear of the dying process may exceed fear of death. Parents go to court for the "right" of their comatose child to die. AIDS patients debate the moral posture of those who secure and swallow pills.

Among the elderly, official suicide rates have risen over 25 percent this decade. White men over 85 have the highest rates. Men of this age are 12 times more likely to commit suicide than women — but even these figures are surely low. Suicide is often unknown or hidden for shame, privacy or insurance.

More of us have come to reject what psychiatrist and ethicist Willard Gaylin provocatively calls "the tyranny of survival." He says: "One can simply get to a point where the pain and grief of life is in excess of the joy and pride."

These were not strange thoughts to Bruno Bettelheim. In "Surviving," the Austrian-born Jew wrote eloquently about the challenge that a concentration camp posed to the will to live. "So intricately, so inextricably interwoven are death and life that when life seems to have lost all meaning, suicide seems the inescapable consequence."

He went on to write: "To have found meaning in life is thus the only certain antidote to the deliberate seeking of death. But at the same time in a strange dialectical way, it is death that endows life with deepest, most unique meaning."

However profound his understanding of the motives for survival, Bettelheim was also a member of the Hemlock Society. It was Socrates who drank hemlock when he was condemned to death. This man may have "chosen" death from the same options.

I don't suggest that we adopt a casual, callous attitude toward suicide. Even among the old and infirm suicide can be the result of reversible depression. I hope that we always need a good reason to accept this death. It's too easy to go from understanding suicide to subtly promoting it. This is your life. Love it or leave it.

But this elderly man of the mind chose his own death no more and no less than he chose his own life. As Dr. Gaylin weighed in: "He paid his dues. He tolerated suffering. He understood life and exercised his privilege to leave it."

This time, enough was enough.

Suicide changed the context of the death of this remarkable man who had written so much about survival.

Law firms cashing in on thrift debacle

WASHINGTON — Not everyone is mourning the catastrophic failure of the savings and loan industry. Lawyers, the vulture capitalists of this disaster, are making a bundle off the carcasses of dead financial institutions.

The man hiring law firms to represent the taxpayers is William Seidman, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. Our sources say that Seidman expects to pay a whopping $500 million this year to lawyers for legal work relating primarily to thrift matters.

Seidman privately lamented to a group of bankers last week that the FDIC and the Resolution Trust Corp. may "single-handedly be responsible for the first lawyer shortage in U.S. history."

The RTC is the stepchild that came into being last August to sell off ailing thrifts which the government has been forced to take over.

By one estimate, the government has seized 393 thrifts with $193 billion in assets. Another 157 thrifts with $113 billion in assets are insolvent and 400 more with $360 billion in assets are sick and probably on their way to the grave.

That explains why the RTC, which didn't exist a year ago, now has 2,400 employees and will probably have 5,000 by the end of this year.

The assets that the RTC will handle make it the largest financial institution in the world, the largest single owner of real estate and junk bonds and the largest auction firm in the country.

The combination draws lawyers like birds to carrion. One source at the RTC told us the government will be involved with an estimated 80,000 lawyers this year over savings and loan matters. That covers lawsuits filed by the government and against the government surrounding the disposal of thrift assets.

The FDIC and the RTC have a pool of 400 qualified law firms from which to choose, and the agencies divvy out the work to those on the approved list based on expertise and location.

The law firms making the most money are those with offices in the depressed areas of the country, such as Texas. We have obtained a confidential internal FDIC memo listing the top 20 law firms and the legal fees paid to them by the FDIC in 1989.

At the top of the list is Hopkins, Sutter, Hamel and Park, a Chicago firm in the ideal position of having strong offices in Dallas and Washington. Hopkins, Sutter earned $3.58 million from the government in legal fees last year, according to the internal memo.

Here are the rest of the top 20 firms in descending order:

Milberg and Weiss of New York, $2.74 million; Sidley and Austin of Chicago, $2.5 million; Morrison and Hecker of Kansas City, Mo., $2.37 million; Jenkins and Gilchrist of Dallas, $2.29 million; Mayer and Brown of Chicago, $2.18 million; Leonard and Marsh of Fort Worth, Texas, $2.16 million; Morrison and Foerster of San Francisco, $2 million; Carlton and Fields of Tampa, Fla., $1.96 million; Brown and Maroney of Austin, Texas, $1.53 million; Jones and Day of Dallas, $1.52 million; Morton and Lewis of Knoxville, Tenn., $1.51 million; Reid and Priest of New York City, $1.5 million; Stuzin and Camner of Miami, $1.46 million; Gable and Gotwals of Tulsa, Okla., $1.36 million; Sachnoff and Weaver of Chicago, $1.3 million; Miller and Martin of Chattanooga, Tenn., $1.14 million; Dorsey and Whitney of Minneapolis, $1 million; Kemp and Smith of El Paso, Texas, $996,000; and Adams and Howe of Des Moines, Iowa, $787,000.

Lawyers, the vulture capitalists of this disaster, are making a bundle off the carcasses of dead financial institutions.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Hazelwood acquitted on serious charges

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Although Exxon Valdez skipper Joseph Hazelwood faces up to 90 days in jail for a minor pollution conviction arising from the nation's worst oil spill, defense lawyers said they would ask that the captain be allowed to go home without serving a day in an Alaska jail.

Hazelwood, 43, of Huntington, N.Y., was accused of being drunk, reckless and the person most responsible for the spill of 11 million gallons of crude off Prince William Sound, but he was convicted Thursday only of a relatively minor count of negligent discharge — the only allegation to do with spilling oil.

Maryland abortion filibuster ends

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — The state Senate cut off an eight-day filibuster early Friday morning by adopting two dramatically different abortion bills and proposing that Maryland voters decide which one will become law.

Under increasing pressure to resolve the filibuster, the Senators agreed to the complicated compromise that gives legislators on each side of the issue what they wanted: one bill that would sharply restrict abortions and a second that would allow abortions under most circumstances.

If the bills are passed by the House of Delegates and signed by the governor, legislators expect outside parties to raise enough signatures around the state to bring either or both of the measures to referendum, with the voters choosing which one would be enacted.

Idaho OKs toughest abortion law

BOISE, Idaho — A bill that would give Idaho the most restrictive abortion law of any state in the nation would drag the state into a "holy war," one opponent said, but a supporter said the issue is not one of religion but of civil rights.

As he has with other pending legislation, Gov. Cecil Andrus would not say whether he will sign the bill into law, but Andrus is a foe of abortion.

Gloria Estefan undergoes back surgery

NEW YORK — The prognosis for Latin pop singer Gloria Estefan is excellent and she was expected to be on her feet in a few days following successful surgery on her back, injured in a Pennsylvania highway accident.

"She is sleeping, she's comfortable. Surgery went exceptionally well. She was awake for many hours," said Mary Costello, a spokeswoman for the Hospital for Joint Diseases in Manhattan. "It looks good."

Meese testifies for Poindexter

WASHINGTON — Former Attorney General Edwin Meese, testifying in the Iran-Contra trial of John Poindexter, says the former national security adviser never lied to him during the initial investigation of the scandal.

In U.S. District Court on Thursday, Meese tried to support the defense argument that so much confusion surrounded original testimony and revelations about secret U.S. arms-for-hostages deals that no one knew the whole truth.

Census

to be created, possibly one in Seminole County. The county may gain an additional state representative from reapportionment.

For the last five years a virtual war has been fought by competing interest groups over what questions to include on the 1990 questionnaire.

Perhaps the big winner this time around are groups representing the disabled. The 1990 Census form asked two questions about a person's ability to work and access to transportation. This year — after fierce lobbying by disabled rights groups — the question about transportation has been replaced by one seeking to identify all the disabled and the extent of their handicaps. The disabled hope the result will show a greater need for funding for the handicapped.

This year the Census Bureau wants to focus on the growing number of "blended" families in the U.S. population. So a detailed question will be asked. Homosexual rights groups won a major battle to include "unmarried partner" as a category that two non-relatives living in the same household can use to identify their relationship. Gay rights groups hope that by combining gender-identification statistics with those who list themselves as unmarried partners, the Census will show that larger numbers of gays live in many communities and thereby increase their political clout.

Some special interests, though, failed to get their questions on the form. The electronics industry and cable TV people fought for a question about VCR ownership and whether households were wired for cable. Pet food manufacturers and veterinarians wanted a question on pet ownership. Some previously asked questions that have been dropped include ones on marital history, air-conditioning and the number of bathrooms in a household. However, questions about home equity loans, solar energy and pension income did make it on the form.

This will be the most highly automated Census in history. About 25 percent of the completed questionnaire forms will be fed directly into microfilming devices that can photograph 130 forms a minute. These will then be fed into another machine that will electronically read and tabulate answers.

The Census' biggest problem is getting people who are naturally distrustful of government to answer honestly, or answer at all. Thus, the Census Bureau insists on the confidentiality of the data it collects.

Any Census employee releasing information is subject to a $5,000 fine and up to five years in jail. Further, U.S. law specifically forbids any government agency — including the FBI, Internal Revenue Service, Immigration Service, law enforcement, courts or the military — from obtaining Census information about an individual or a specific household. All such information will be locked away until 2062, when it will become available to historians and social scientists on a limited basis.

The Census Bureau must find some 315,000 temporary workers. Most are hired in mid-March for up to 90 days and are paid anywhere from $4.50 to $8.00 per hour.

This year — with unemployment at a 15-year low — hiring will be difficult. In the past, many Census workers have been housewives, but this pool of workers has shrunk as more women are working full time.

Increasingly, the Census Bureau will look to retirees. To this end a law was enacted last year that keeps postal, federal and military retirees from losing retirement benefits if they work as Census takers. Welfare recipients, however, can lose welfare benefits if they work for the Census.

Merger

Realtors and clients. Proponents said that clients would have their properties advertised in a much larger property listing service by having one organization. Seminole County Realtors, who previously joined both organizations to have access to the larger listing service will now only have to pay only one membership fee.

In the Seminole election, a total of SCBR 749 ballots were cast, more than half the organization's membership. The tally took more than two hours due to large number of ballots counted, officials said.

A total of 515 members voted for the merger and 219 voted against. SCBR attorney Kirby Moncrief said 500 votes were needed to approve the merger. Fifteen ballots were disqualified, including some members who voted by proxy also voted in person at the meeting in the Altamonte Springs Hilton, Moncrief said. One OAAAR member who voted was also disqualified, SCBR officials said.

Several SCBR members Thursday morning questioned what they perceived to be plans by the Orlando Realtors to use $414,000 in SCBR assets to build a new headquarters — even before the merger was approved.

"Last night I got several calls from Orlando area members who said 'We're not being told the truth,'" said Patty Holley, SCBR member.

However, merger proponents said Seminole County assets would be combined with the OAAAR assets and used for its construction of a new building only if the merger is approved.

"The Orlando Board CPA said they would only consider using our assets if the merger goes through," said past SCBR president Hermandra Thakkar. "But it is not assured."

"It was never discussed and I think it is being taken out of context," said Nan Wohlwendler, SCBR secretary-treasurer, to applause.

Bobbie Boehmer, OAAAR president, said her organization's plans to build a new headquarters began in 1988, long before the merger was proposed last summer. She said the SCBR assets will not be included in any plans unless the merger is approved.

If approved by both SCBR and OAAAR today, state and national Realtor association approvals are virtually assured, said Glenda Philpot, SCBR president. The merger could be finalized as early as July or as late as November, she said.

Many SCBR members joined OAAAR to list their client's properties in the larger OAAAR listing service, Philpot said. SCBR's "multiple listing service" has less than 1,000 listings, compared to OAAAR's MLS which has more than 10,000 listings. Philpot said a single group would end the double dues payments by SCBR members seeking to use the larger MLS.

keep a volunteer staff in a city with growing needs, Chapman said. "Most people work hard for their money and don't have the time or energy to volunteer," he said.

Lake Mary still maintains about 25 reservists who fight fires and answer emergency calls but do not get paid for their services. "We're all professionals. Some of us just don't get paid for it," Chapman said.

Chapman is a paid firefighter in Orange County and volunteers as Assistant or Operations Chief in Lake Mary. He also works part time for the Lake Mary police force. He is one of nine triple-certified persons in the city's Department of Public Safety. Triple-certified personnel are certified as firefighters, police officers and emergency medical technicians. "I work for the city. It doesn't matter if it's a police action or a fire call. I go," Chapman said.

Lake Mary is unique in Seminole County because both police and fire operations are housed in the Department of Public Safety building on Rinehart Road. "We are a true department of public safety, because our fire and police services are combined," Chapman said.

Volunteers come from all walks of life, Chapman said. All of them are required to complete a 30 hour state firefighting course. Career firefighters complete a 200 hour course and EMT training.

Lake Mary firefighters average 60 calls a month, but few of them are fire calls. "About 90 percent are EMT calls," Chapman said. "We haven't had a structure fire yet. The biggest fire we've fought was a motor home that caught fire on the interstate," Chapman said.

ON YOUR FEET

DR. MICHAEL LALIBERTE Podiatrist
RUNNER'S ANKLE AND FOOT PAIN
 If you've been running for awhile, no one has to tell you how important healthy feet are for comfort and full enjoyment of the sport. But if you're feeling any abnormal discomfort, your feet may have a structural imbalance that needs correcting. You may not notice any problem when you first take up the sport, when you're making short runs. But as your endurance builds, stress caused by improperly balanced feet will send you a clear message. If you have an unstable heel, for example, Morton's foot (flattening of the longitudinal arch) you will begin to feel the pain. Sometimes an unstable heel will develop a condition known as "logger's ankle," causing pain on the outside of the ankle. This can happen when a foot rolls outward and leans on the ankle excessively. Each time you follow the curve of a road or track your feet have to bear up to six times the weight of your body. This can injure the ligaments if there's a weakness in your ankles. Structural imbalances in your feet can be controlled by your foot specialist, alleviating the pain and discomfort and helping to improve your performance.

Rockets need winning streak

The Houston Rockets knocked off the team with the best record in the NBA Thursday night, ending the Detroit Pistons' 12-game winning streak, but they can't stop to enjoy the 115-110 triumph.

The Rockets need a winning streak of their own to get into the playoffs.

"It was nice to win against a team like Detroit," said Rocket forward Otis Thorpe after the home victory. "It's a good move in the right direction if we don't want to take an early vacation."

The Rockets are 2 1/2 games behind Seattle in the race for the final playoff spot in the Western Conference.

The victory, which stopped the Pistons' NBA record third-longest winning streak, came on Rocket coach Don Chaney's 44th birthday.

"The script couldn't have been written any better," Chaney said. "I think the game had a playoff-like intensity and the players really enjoy a game like that."

Elsewhere in the NBA, San Antonio edged Portland 107-106, Seattle stopped Denver 121-118 and Dallas overcame Orlando 116-106.

Seminoles stay undefeated

SANFORD — Jimmy Chumot pitched a six-hitter as the Seminole junior varsity baseball team upped its undefeated record to 10-0 by defeating Lake Howell 7-0.

Chumot struck out six and walked none in his six innings.

Seminole pumped on Lake Howell early, with Scott Ferguson's two-run single highlighting a three-run first inning. One run in the second and three more in the third rounded out the scoring for Seminole.

Phillip King and Mack Freeman each had two hits for Seminole while David Eckstein, Chumot, Ferguson, Demetry Beamon, and Robbie Meyer each added one hit.

Opening day festivities set

The Sanford Recreation Department will conduct its Little Major Baseball League opening day ceremonies on Saturday at Fort Mellon Park.

All players are requested to show up at the park in full uniform at 9:30 a.m. for the festivities, which will include introductions, photo opportunities and the throwing out of the first pitch.

At 11 a.m., there will be a softball game between the parents and coaches from the American League against the parents and coaches from the National League. A 16-inch "mushball" will be used to make things fair for all.

For further information, contact Rocky Ellingsworth at 330-5697 or contact the coach of your son's team.

HOCKEY

Season enters home stretch

With little more than a week to go in the NHL race, the time for final pushes and last-minute miracles is at hand.

The Chicago Blackhawks climbed back into first place in the Norris Division Thursday night with a 6-3 win over New Jersey, while the Minnesota North Stars won a 5-1 battle with the Detroit Red Wings, the team they are fighting for the final playoff berth in the Norris.

The Boston Bruins padded their overall point lead in the standings with a 7-3 rout of Quebec, and the resurgent Philadelphia Flyers served notice to the Patrick Division that they are still in the race for the playoffs by beating Pittsburgh 5-3.

In the other game, Los Angeles beat the New York Islanders 3-1.

At Chicago, Steve Thomas recorded the first four-goal game of his career to power the Chicago Blackhawks back into first place in the Norris Division. Thomas tallied once in each of the first two periods, then scored two key third-period insurance goals in a 6-3 win over the New Jersey Devils.

Preps will hoop it up

From staff reports

ORLANDO — The Family Christian Association of America Inc. (FCAA) will sponsor boys and girls' high school basketball all-star games at Valencia Community College's West campus Saturday night.

The game will feature players from Seminole and northern Orange County against players from Orlando and South Orange County. The girls' game will start at 6 p.m. with the boys' game set to start at 8 p.m.

At halftime of the girls' game will be a three-point shooting contest while the boys will have a half-time dunk contest.

The girls' North squad will be made up of Emily Anderson and Sheri Reddicks from Seminole, Lori Bruce and Tara Gibson from Lake Brantley, Becky Miller and Lisa Noyol from Lake Howell, Conya Johnson from Apopka, Mimi Shorts from Orangewood Christian, Kim Hall from Winter Park and Kim Edwards from Evans.

Reddicks and Johnson both played in the coaches' state all-star game in Jacksonville last week.

Coaching the North team will be John McNamara, Robin Higgins, Chris Marlette and Julius Francis, who led Seminole High to a 24-3 season this year. Coaching the South squad will be Ron Fournell from Dr. Phillips High School.

The North team in the boys' game will also feature mostly Seminole County players. Making up the squad are Robert Moore and Bernard Eady from Seminole, Jeff Draughton from Lake Mary, Robbie Cramer and Brad Bolton from Oviedo, Rodney Stokes from Apopka, Cory Chandler from Class A state champion Wymore Tech, Jason McIntyre and Sean Fitzgerald from Bishop Moore and Darrell Gay from Evans.

Chris Davidson from Lake Mary had been chosen to play in the game but was forced to withdraw because of a leg injury.

The coaching staff for the North team will be the Seminole high trio of Greg Robinson, Stan Adams and Sylvester Wynn that led their team to a 20-win season.

Coaching the South team will be Ron Smith from Oak Ridge, who is expected to bring several of his players, including his super senior Willie Fisher, as well as players from Metro Center, Powers Boone and West Orange.

Lake Brantley routs rebuilding Tribe

AT LAMONT, SPRINGS — After taking over a team that went 2-18 last year, first-year Seminole softball coach Greg Register looks for little things from his team.

For example, in his team's contest Friday night with Lake Brantley, Register saw his team hold the Patriots scoreless for two innings.

But unfortunately for Register, the other four innings were disastrous as Lake Brantley ripped 19 hits en route to a 16-1 pounding of the Seminoles in front of 250 fans at Lake Brantley High School. We're rebuilding," stated Register after the loss which dropped his team's record to 7-6 (1-0 in Seminole Athletic Conference action). "We've got a lot of young girls and they're learning. It was a real good game."

FCC-J stops Raider win streak at two

From staff reports

JACKSONVILLE — The Seminole Community College baseball team failed in its attempt to win its third straight game, dropping a 7-6 decision to Mid-Florida Conference leading Florida Community College Jacksonville Thursday.

The win raises the Stars' record to 12-2 in the MFC while the Raiders falls to 4-21 overall and 3-10 in the MFC.

SCC will play non-conference home games today and Saturday. Today at 4 p.m., the Raiders will take on South Florida power Indian River before playing Pasco-Bernardo in a doubleheader starting at 4 p.m. Saturday.

The Raiders took a 5-2 lead by scoring four runs in the fifth inning. The big blow was an RBI double by Daks Rodriguez and run-scoring singles by Danny Sellman and Kevin Monahan.

But the Stars came back with a run in the fifth and two in the sixth to tie the score 5-5. FCC-J took the lead for good with a pair of unassisted runs in the seventh.

The Raiders tried to make a come-back in the ninth. See SCC, Page 2B

Tem-Dale, Creative Invasion keep pace

From staff reports

SANFORD — Tem Dale Company and Creative Invasion both scored victories in the Sanford Recreation Department Thursday Night Softball League at Chase Park to keep Tem Dale one game behind Invasion going into next week's final game.

Tem Dale posted a 9-5 triumph over the Wrecking Crew and Creative Invasion smashed Crazy Wings 17-5 in six innings. Invasion is now 9-2 and Tem Dale 8-3 with Wrecking Crew and Crazy Wings trailing at 1-7 and 1-10 respectively.

In the final games next week, Tem Dale takes on Invasion at 6:30 p.m. with Tem Dale needing a win to force a playoff for the championship and the Crew challenging Crazy Wings at 7:30 p.m.

Tem Dale pumped out to a 9-1 lead over Wrecking Crew, but the Crew scored four runs in the sixth inning to make things interesting. But that was as close as the Crew would get.

Providing the offense for Tem Dale were Jay Johnson (double), single, two runs scored; Joe Erym and Dale Yates (two singles and two runs scored each); Jimmy Sheffield (two singles, run scored); Chad Braden (triple, run scored); and Tom Ely (double, run scored).

Tarpley leads Maverick fourth-quarter surge over Magic

United Press International

ORLANDO — Roy Tarpley scored 11 of his 22 points in the fourth period to propel Dallas past the Orlando Magic 116-106 Thursday night.

The defeat was Orlando's sixth consecutive loss at home.

Tarpley took the Mavs from a 84-82 deficit at the onset of the fourth period to a 90-90 advantage with eight minutes remaining. Dallas then got a pair of free-throw threes.

At 10:02, Magic first break came by way of Brad Davis, who got a fortunate bounce

Rolando Blackman then picked up three of his game-high 32 points on a play that left Orlando trailing 104-94 with six minutes showing.

Blackman scored Orlando's late, with three straight free throws at the three-minute mark that improved the Mavs' cushion to 109-98.

Eric Harper scored the last two of his 27 points to take the lead to 113-102.

The Magic' stall ending high following the victory at New York Tuesday, erased a 24-20 deficit with a 13-2 run in the final 4:49 of the fourth period to make a 104-106 comeback in the second quarter.

Silvey Green, perfect on all five field goal attempts in the first half, scored eight points in Orlando's offensive surge.

Blackman scored eight of his 14 first-half points in the last 4:30 of the second quarter to trim a 52-44 Orlando lead to 61-58 at the half.

Scott Skiles, whose triple double played a pivotal part in the Magic's win over New York, scored eight of his team-high 22 points in the fourth period but was overwhelmed by Tarpley and Blackman.

Nick Anderson added 22 points.

Hammonree was pleased with his team's sixth place performance.

"Our kids did good for being as young as they are," said Hammonree. "To finish sixth out of a field of 20 teams is just great."

The Rams controlled the boys' events, picking up firsts from Alex Green in the pole vault (11.2), the two-mile relay (8:41.51), the mile medley (3:48.79) and the distance medley (11:34.83). They got seconds from Carlos Smith in the discus (143' 2") and the 440-relay team (44.55).

Lake Mary also took third, fifth and sixth in the pole vault, Jason Likens finishing third, Craig coming in fifth and Ed Scheer taking sixth. Picking up fourth place finishes were Bob Menello in the discus, Sean Smith in the high jump and Carlos Smith in the shot put.

Placing in the top four for Lake Howell boy's were Jamie Furbush (first in the 120 hurdles at 15.4), the two-mile relay team (second), the 330-intermediate hurdles relay (second), Bobby Read (third in the high jump), Adam Toth (third in the discus), Cruzada (fourth in the pole vault) and the distance medley relay (fourth).

Scoring in the top four for Oviedo were Mike Goins (second in the high jump and third in the triple jump), the two-mile relay (fourth) and the 440 relay (fourth).

Seminole chose to send its freshman and sophomore team to the event but still picked up a pair of fourth place finishes, Peterson in the 120 hurdles and a time of 18.1 and the mile medley relay team with a time of 3:54.39.

"I thought we did very well to get this meet over in four hours," said Hammonree. "I never expected to have 20 girls teams show up. Last year, only 10 teams were here. But we're the only thing running this week this year. It took me three days to put this together, trying to figure out the seeding for each event. But all in all, I think it went well."

Buddy Garrison, the Lake Howell boy's coach, had similar sentiments about the boys' draw.

"I felt everything went smoothly," he said. "The addition of St. Albans from Washington, D.C. made it a very competitive event. They had Lake Mary and Apopka sweating for awhile."

"With the season getting into the home stretch, this type of event, a relay meet, is great. It lets teams work on things it needs to polish up on and also allows the coaches some room for experimenting, maybe run a person in an event he normally doesn't do, etc."

Finals set in East, Midwest regions

United Press International

Connecticut's Scott Burrell, who has a 90 mph fastball, threw one of his finest pitches Thursday night.

Burrell hurled a floor-length pass to Tate George with one second left, and George hit a turnaround jumper at the buzzer to lift the Huskies to a 71-70 victory over Clemson in an NCAA East Regional semifinal at East Rutherford, N.J.

The final play started with Clemson leading 70-69 and one second left. After a timeout by each team, Burrell, who was drafted by the Seattle Mariners as a pitcher, inbounced under Clemson's basket, hurling a long arching pass to George in the right corner. The 6-foot-5 senior spun, putting his back to the basket before holating a shot that caught only net.

Clemson rallied from a 59-40 deficit with 12:36 to go, after spending all of the first half and much of the second caught in the vise-like pressure of Connecticut's foulcourt press.

The Tigers, down 65-49, seized the momentum and went on a 18-2 run. Dale Davis of Clemson followed up a shot to draw the Tigers to 69-67 with 2:32 to go. Clemson had a chance to go ahead but failed on three consecutive possessions before David Young buried a 3-pointer to put Clemson up 70-69. Its first lead since 7-6.

George missed from the top of the key with three seconds remaining. Sean Tyson of Clemson was fouled on the rebound, but he blew the front end of a one-and-one.

That left matters to Burrell and George.

The No. 3 Huskies, 31-5, will face Duke, a 90-81 winner over UCLA, in Saturday's final.

Phil Henderson provided a 3-point barrage in the second half, sinking four of his six long-range shots to provide Duke with enough offense. The senior finished with 28 points for the third-seeded Blue Devils.

Arkansas had built an 11-point lead and the Tar Heels, 21-13, got no closer than eight the rest of the game.

The Razorbacks made the tournament's final eight teams for the first time since 1979 and will carry a 29-4 record into Sunday's regional championship game against Texas.

In addition to Howell's 25, Mayberry scored 19, as did center Oliver Miller, Day, who like Mayberry and Miller is a sophomore, added 18.

The Tar Heels were paced by senior center Scott Williams with 20.

Arkansas will meet Texas, which beat Xavier 102-89.

The Longhorns' "BMW" attack accounted for 86 points. Travis Mays scored 32 points, Lance Blanks had 28 and Joey Wright 28.

Blanks had all his points in the second half to help Texas erase a 16-point deficit and stun the Musketeers, who shot 60 percent in the first half and whose front line outscored their Longhorn counterparts 45-8 and dominated the boards 22-15.

The tournament resumes Friday with the Southeast and West regional semifinals.

Southeast Region At New Orleans

Both Syracuse, 26-8, and Minnesota, 22-8, are teams that pack most of their punch up front. The Orangemen are led by center Derrick Coleman, 19 points, 12.1 rebounds, and forward Billy Owens, 18.3. Willie Burton has led the Golden Gophers for three years, and had a career-high 36 points against Northern Iowa.

In the second game, Michigan State's man-to-man defense, meets "Lethal Weapon III" of Georgia Tech, 26-8; Dennis Scott, 27.6 points; Brian Oliver, 21.8; and Kenny Anderson, 20.1. The Spartans, 28-5, held opponents to 42.5 percent during the regular season, and limited their two tournament victims to 36 and 33 percent.

West Region At Oakland, Calif.

The matchup of Alabama and Loyola Marymount pits a team whose offense is its defense against one whose defense is its offense. The Crimson Tide, 26-8, have limited opponents to 61.4 points per game, less than half the Lions' season average, 125.2. The Lions, 25-5, are paced by the nation's leading scorer, Bo Kimble, 35.8, and run a perpetual fastbreak offense.

Nevada-Las Vegas, 30-5, takes on Ball State, 26-6. The Runnin' Rebels, 30-5, won 17 of their last 18 games, and all five starters score in double figures, led by Larry Johnson's 20.7.

SCC

when Mike Fuller reached on an infield hit and scored all the way from first when Neillum's grounder got through the shortstop for an error. But Neillum was thrown out attempting to reach third and the next batter struck out on a 3-2 pitch to end the game.

Stacelo and Andrews both went 2-for-4 to lead the Stars while Rodriguez, Monahan, Nellum and Joey Fisher all drove in runs with hits for SCC. Rodriguez and Fisher had doubles.

Rebuilding

Michelle Karr, who just missed hitting for the cycle, led the way for the Patriots by going three-for-four including a two-run homer in the last inning. She also tripled in a run during the three-run first inning.

Kelly Hartman added three hits for Lake Brantley while Nicole Rathburn, Christy Wilson, and Krista Schroeffer each pounded out two hits.

Spectacular defense by shortstop Argle Walker kept the Seminoles in the game early. Two consecutive leaping catches by the Walker in the third inning snubbed a Patriot rally.

But Lake Brantley turned up the heat in the fourth inning. Singles by Karr, Schroeffer, Hartman and Michelle Davis, two fielders' choices, a sacrifice fly by Jennifer Maslarelli and a Seminole error netted the Patriots four runs.

Shelly Sturdivant lined a two-run single to highlight a four-run fifth inning, scoring Wilson and Karr. Mandy Renteria singled home Wilson and Hartman followed with a single to score Renteria.

Karr's homer was a line drive to center field which got between Seminole's right and left centerfielders. Maslarelli and Hartman knocked in the final two runs of the contest.

Seminole's lone run came in the sixth inning when Walker doubled to right field and scored on an error by the Patriot pitcher.

Softball

Getting the hits for Wrecking Crew were Tony Cox (triple, double, run scored), Steve Cooper (double, single, two runs scored), Ronnie Wirth (two singles, run scored), Heath Short (two singles), Steve Pridden (single, run scored) and Chip Campbell and James Stern (one single each).

In the second game, Creative Invasion scored six runs in the first inning before watching Crazy Wings peek away and cut the lead to 7-5 going into the bottom of the fifth. But Creative Invasion put an end to the excitement with nine runs in the fifth and a single run in the sixth to stop the game by the mercy rule.

Contributing to the 19-hit invasion attack were Ron Lasage

(triple, double, two singles, three runs scored), Steve Noble (double, three singles, three runs scored), Cliff Partlow, Bryan Hartman, Blake Murray and Kirk Allen (two singles and two runs scored each), Nick Ferpes (double, run scored), Joey DiBartolo (single, run scored) and Jerry DiBartolo and Kyle Brubaker (one single each).

Doing the damage for Crazy Wings were Tom Kelly (three singles, run scored), Rocky Ellingworth (triple, single, run scored), Greg Hensley (two singles, two runs scored), Russell Holloman (two singles, run scored), Jim Smith and Ron Appel (two singles each) and Scott Kern (single).

Repertory Concert coming

Ballet Theatre to spotlight diverse dance styles

WINTER PARK — Southern Ballet Theatre's Repertory Concert will spotlight the company's diverse styles in two performances, Friday, March 30 at 8 p.m. and Saturday, March 31 at 1 p.m. at the Carr Performing Arts Center, 401 W. Livingston St., Orlando. The concert will include selections of classical ballet, neo-classic ballet and modern dance, including:

"Black Swan Pas de Deux," the most famous excerpt from the full length ballet "Swan Lake," featuring returning guest artist Charles Hagan, formerly with the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre, and SBT company member Teresa Hillman.

The romantic Pas de Deux from Act II of "Swan Lake," a world renowned classical pas de deux performed with the SBT corps de ballet.

"Rococo Variations," an abstract, neo-classic work choreographed by SBT's Russell Sultzbach to the music of Tchaikovsky.

"One's a Crowd," a modern dance piece about society, relationships, and resolutions choreographed by SBT company member Ernest Miller to the music of various 20th century composer.

"Samba!," an original work created especially for the SBT company by guest artist Peter Anastos, choreographed to traditional ballroom music recorded by pianist Carmen Cavallaro and his orchestra.

According to SBT artistic director Barbara Riggins, the Repertory Concert is a taste of what the company is all about. "Repertory is the best example of how a dancer can go from one style to another," Riggins said. "It's about our company — who we are — and the diversity of our dance technique."

"Repertory is eclectic — romantic and realistic; classical and modern; new and old. There's something for everyone."

Repertory Concert tickets range from $11-$24 for Friday evening and $10-$18 for the Saturday matinee. Tickets can be purchased from any TicketMaster outlet, 407/839-3900; or the Southern Ballet Theatre Box Office at 407/828-0133. Discounted tickets are available at the matinee performance for students, seniors, military personnel, and large groups. Guarantee premium seating for SBT's final performance of the season, "Coppella" (May 25-26) by ordering tickets now. Call SBT for details.

Concert features ballet, modern dance.

Guest a little too much at home

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine — I'll call her Sara — asked if she could stay with me temporarily until she found employment and an apartment. (She's relocating.)

She had no trouble getting a job because she's well-qualified in her field, but she hasn't found an apartment yet. She says she's looking, but I doubt if she's looking very hard.

Sara is not the ideal houseguest. She's on the telephone constantly, comes and goes at crazy hours and has friends calling her all through the night. I just discovered that she had checks printed with my address!

I think she's abused the free room-and-board privileges long enough, which is where I need your help. Please tell me how to get her out of here.

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH
DEAR ENOUGH: Tell Sara that you both need your space, and she appears to need more space than you can give her, so you would like her to be out of your apartment in "two weeks," or "three," or "30 days." (Give her a deadline.) Anyone who would have checks printed using the address of a friend without that friend's consent has nerve she hasn't used yet.

DEAR ABBY: when I read the letter from "Fed Up," I had to write. My situation was almost identical. From the day "Don" and I were married, we had one of his friends staying with us — and it continued for eight years!

I was the medical miracle who was walking around with no brain and no guts. I should have spoken out sooner. I finally filed for divorce when my husband refused to ask his buddy to leave, and the buddy refused to leave. It became apparent that my husband preferred his friend's company to mine.

You're right, Abby, assertiveness training can give a person courage she never knew she had. I feel like a new person since I learned to speak my mind without being defensive.

Keep up the good work. People need to be told that they don't have to live in abusive situations — that help is out there if they have the guts to leave, and go for it.

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

IN CONTROL IN FAYETTEVILLE, N.C.

DEAR IN CONTROL: Congratulations for taking control of your life. And to those of you who don't know where to find a course in "assertiveness training," inquire at your local college or university, or your local mental health association.

DEAR ABBY: Very briefly, my question is this: If both the donor and the recipient of a gift are in the same room when the gift is opened, and if the recipient expresses sincere gratitude for the gift — and even gives the donor an appreciative hug — is it still necessary for the recipient to send a written thank you note?

ME IN TORRANCE, CALIF.
DEAR ME: Very briefly: Yes.

DEAR ABBY: Fiddledeedee, none of those explanations of "Mind your P's and Q's" is the proper one.

The expression harks back to the days when type was set by hand, letter by letter. Of course, the letter on each piece of type looked "backward" in order to print "forward"; hence it was very easy to mix up lowercase "p's" and "q's" — hence apprentice typesetters were constantly admonished by their masters to "Mind their P's and Q's."

NANCY CAREY, A LONG-AGO TYPESETTER

DEAR ABBY: You really hit a nerve today regarding those who are perpetually late.

All my childhood memories are peppered with, "We have to wait for Peggy." No matter where we went or what the occasion, the family stood at the front door "waiting for Peggy."

Abby, please don't advise people to lie to those who are always late by telling them the party is half an hour earlier, thus permitting them to perpetuate their tardiness.

I solved my problem one Christmas. I told Peggy's family that I was going to serve dinner at 5 p.m. Peggy was not there at 5 p.m. so we sat down to eat without her. While we were well into our dinner, Peggy and her family arrived. Shocked and hurt, she said, "You didn't wait for us!"

I told her that since the roads were bad and her husband was a volunteer fireman, I wasn't sure if there was a big fire or they had been involved in an accident. I didn't want bad news on an empty stomach, and in any case, the food was ready.

This happened about 30 years ago. She has never again been late for a meal in my home.

It's nice not to have to "wait for Peggy." Perhaps others still do, but not I. Her loving sister...

Confidence
Probably nothing in the world expresses such perfect trust as a dog. He has absolute confidence in you, and if you are like most people, you never willingly let him down.
In fact, you may find yourself wishing that you had someone to rely on as your puppy does on you. But that's not the fate of humans. God gave us intelligence and ability so we could be self-reliant.
However, God gave us also the chance to find a faith to sustain us all through life. And He gave us His house--on earth--in which to begin to understand that faith.
Are you a regular member in that house?

Mercer Singers come to Sanford

SANFORD — The Mercer Singers from Mercer University in Macon, Georgia, will be in concert at Westview Baptist Church, 4100 Paola Rd., Sanford, March 26 at 7 p.m. This concert is one of several the group is giving in Florida and Georgia and is open to the public free of charge.

Six members of the choir are from Florida. The singers have toured in Europe and Mexico as well as in the southeast United States. They were the featured college choir at the state meeting of the American Choral Directors Association this year and they sing annually at the Georgia Baptist Convention.

The program will include choral music from many periods both accompanied and a cappella. Cornerstones of the concert will be the "Solemn Vespers" of Mozart, "Four Songs" by Brahms, and a set of traditional American spirituals. In addition, Montverdi, Schumann, Stevens, Montgomery, Bizet and Rutter will be represented.

Conducting the Mercer Singers is Edward Byrom, director of choral activities and assistant professor of voice at Mercer University. Byrom is in his fourth year at Mercer and holds degrees in choral conducting and sacred music from Southern Methodist University and Perkins School of Theology and Music Education at West Virginia Wesleyan College.

Each year several Mercer students are finalists in the National Association of Teachers of Singing state and regional contests and are frequently engaged as soloists by churches and choral groups in the area. Fifteen were invited to join the Atlanta Symphony and Chorus in their production of "Belshazzar's Feast" last spring.

How to live your life to the fullest

When the fun-loving, multimillionaire publisher Malcolm Forbes died recently, Elizabeth Taylor said, "I feel like a great light has been turned off." We would all, I suppose, like our friends to say that when we die.

I prefer what a clergy friend of mine said when a beloved son in whom he was well pleased died in an auto accident.

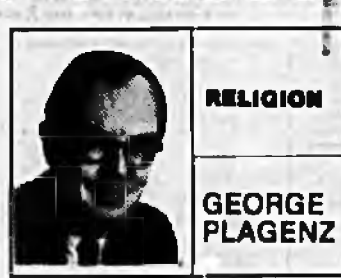

"If a light went out down here on that murky night," he said, "it was because a light went on in heaven." More important than whether our friends will be sad to see us go is whether the angels will be glad to see us come.

Will there be a light burning for us in the sky?

Forbes once said, "It's not how much money you have, but what you do with it." (Well, we know what he did with $2 million of his fortune. He threw a big birthday party in his own honor for 1,000 guests in Tangiers, Morocco, last fall.)

I prefer what somebody else said about stewardship: "It's not what you give that counts, it's what you give up." There are a lot of rich people who give generously to numerous good causes, but it involves no sacrifice on their part.

Jesus was unimpressed when the rich dropped large sums in the temple poor box because what they gave was "but a little of their extra fat." He saved his immortal commendation for the poor widow who gave up "her whole livelihood," although it was only a penny.

Malcolm Forbes, they said, "lived life to the hilt." Every hedonist would agree. He loved lavish parties, yachts with gold fixtures and circling the globe with movie stars and heads of state.

I prefer the ways others have lived life to the hilt. Let me name two:

William Saltonstall was a member of one of the best families in Massachusetts. (A relative, Leverett Saltonstall, was governor of Massachusetts and later U.S. senator.) Bill Saltonstall could have taken his pick of the careers open to the privileged young men of his day.

As emperor of Rome in the second century, Marcus Aurelius lived life to the hilt. He was rich and powerful beyond limit. But he was more interested in developing character. His "Meditations" have provided Lenten readings for thousands, though more may read Forbes.

His best-remembered injunction is "Live each day as if it will be your last."

The miracle of the cross is strong after 2,000 years

By S. EDWARD JOHNSON
Guest columnist

SANFORD — "And I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself." John 12:32

That is the miracle of history, through 19 centuries, Jesus has done that. It is not just simply that he has drawn all men to his interpretations of life, he has done that. It is not because he has heightened immeasurably man's estimate of his own worth and possibilities, or because the historic Jesus has lifted men to believe in the possibility of moral reclamation and renewal, this he has done and we must ever declare it. Nor is the miracle of history to be understood by saying what is the indubitable truth — that he has given the world its loftiest ethical ideals.

The miracle of history is this: Jesus has supplied an object of loyalty for the noblest devotions of the generations since he came. Men do not fall in love with and devote themselves to the divine purpose in the abstract. It must become embodied so that they can see it. It must be live so that they can adore it. The simplest, deepest, most searching way of expressing the finest consecrations of men since Jesus came has been devotion to him. It falls into the category of miracle: so to live a life so illustrative of all that men in their best hours aspire to be that they can find no finer way of phrasing their noblest devotions than in terms of personal allegiance to the one who lived it. It is an achievement which would be utterly incredible if we did not know it had been done.

"The devotion of a leader to his men and to his cause," wrote Monrore the Jew, "Jesus shared it." The devotion of the led to their leader, Jesus inspired it. He kindled a flame that was to burn more brightly after his death than ever before in his lifetime. "For the sake of Jesus of what fine lives and deaths has not this motive been the spring and the sustenance." The miracle occurred first in the mind of Jesus' that is, the transfiguration of the cross began in the mind of the master even before the cross was past.

He saw the spiritual victory which lay in apparent failure. He saw deep and far into the nature of things, and understood the peace of those who at any cost did the divine will; he knew that the sacrifice was not to be fruitless, that the corn and wheat was to have its harvest from all lands, at all times. That is why Jesus has changed history more than anyone who ever lived. He backed up his ideals of love with absolute self-sacrifice. Some men had lived for beauty, truth and goodness, none had climaxed their words with daring to die to show that the heart of the universe is love. He heard the climbing multitudes coming up the steps which he had cut. Those who had heard and heeded his words: "If any man would lose his life for my sake, the same shall find it." (Matthew 16:25)

The cross which was so transfigured for the master, was no sooner past than it began to be transfigured also for his disciples. No part of the new testament is without witness to this fact: the hymns of the Christian church from the Te Deum onwards are unending witness to this. The place of the cross in Christian architecture — why is it found in our churches and held up as the highest ideal of our lives? It means more than enduring hardship: it means voluntary sacrifice for others. Whoever gives up prosperity, comfort and ease, for sin, sorrow and suffering of this world, enters the fellowship of the cross.

This will give a clue to the power of the cross, and the life of which the cross is the symbol: the cross attracts the strong by its appeal to the heroic. Once so dark and meaningless, the cross has become the mightiest appeal to the highest element in the human heart, under the spell of the cross, man has risen above clay and has taken unto himself a nobler and more majestic stature.

But the cross does something beside compelling us to sacrifice for others. If it did only that, it would have become merely a new and sublime commandment, hard, high and challenging. Men have seen it in the supreme appeal of the infinite compassion: it provides not only a pattern for the brave, it is a secret of rest and healing. It brings us into fellowship with God.

If we yield ourselves completely to the fellowship of the cross we shall discover that Christ lives within us, and give us power to do what has seemed to us to be impossible. Possession does not give us that fellowship, that courage. "Beneath the cross of Jesus, I fain would take my stand, the shadow of a weary rock with a weary land; a home withing the wilderness a rest upon the way, from the burning of the noontime heat, and the burden of the day." Once this radiance is felt and acknowledged, nothing is more wonderful than the way in which it attracts souls of all types. The cross that once gathered around it chaos and old night, has become to all men who know their need the promise of morning and the signpost of the homeward way.

Civilization is coming to the close of an era. Amidst all the confusion of change, the builders of a better world will be those who have enlisted in the fellowship of the cross. The dawn of a new day will not burst upon us until we have lived bravely through the dangers of the night, and only as we take up the adventure in the spirit of one whose symbol of victory is the cross. Can we do that? Now we are going to look back toward calvary and gaze, it may be, upon the pattern of perfect self-surrender, at the discolor of compassion and help.

For many of us the Lord's supper should bring us there, and being us healing for our wounds. For others it will mean that our rebellious wills shall be subdued.

But I think that for most all of us it will mean renewal of our vows, a fresh buckling on of our armor for the warfare in which there is no discharge. As we pass through the days of Lent and Easter once again, may we not only admit the miracle of history, but make a fresh promise that for a better Sanford and a better world, you, we together, will try to bring the things of health, justice, and love to pass; that we will try to enhance on Earth the kingdom of God. May the love of God constrain us.

Rev. S. Edward Johnson is pastor of the First Christian Church, 1607 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford.

Film gives new life to former Mormon capital

United Press International

It could only happen in the movies.

A band of hardy settlers persecuted for their religious beliefs makes a triumphant return to their hometown after being driven out following the death of their charismatic leader 144 years earlier.

That film fantasy has become fact in the western Illinois town of Nauvoo, once the capital of Mormon founding father Joseph Smith's city-state on the Mississippi River.

In a windswept grove of maples on the river's shore, Nauvoo residents are working shoulder to shoulder with Utah filmmakers to shoot "Legacy," the saga of the Mormon prophet's martyrdom and his followers' great trek west.

The 40-minute film will be the centerpiece of a new theater in the Mormon Church's visitors' center in Salt Lake City. The multimillion dollar production is the most ambitious effort ever made to tell the story of the conflict and tragedy accompanying the founding of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, said director Keith Merrill.

"The story, oversimplified, is really a search for a new home. A young 13-year-old girl meets the Prophet Joseph Smith and he speaks to her of a promised land — a Zion, a place of peace," Merrill said. "We pick them up in Missouri and follow them as they are driven from place to place before they settle in Salt Lake City."

In 1839, Smith and thousands of converts thought their peaceful place would be Nauvoo. After a series of bloody conflicts with neighbors forced them to leave New York, Ohio and Missouri, they built a riverfront community of 12,000 residents that soon became the largest town in Illinois.

Mormons printed their own money, began work on a massive temple overlooking the Mississippi and formed their own army, the Nauvoo Legion.

Politicians courted the Mormons and their monolithic bloc of voters. But the converts' unorthodox religious practices and rumors Smith planned a military takeover of Illinois again led to bloodshed.

An angry mob killed the Mormon prophet and his brother in 1844 when they were called to the nearby town of Carthage to answer charges of treason, murder and arson. The Mormons abandoned Nauvoo two years later.

Today the town has dwindled to less than a thousand people, many of whom make their living serving the needs of modern Mormon pilgrims who flock to the restored remains of Joseph Smith's Zion.

Nauvoo was in its post-tourist winter doldrums when History Films of Salt Lake City came in November. Production crews converted vacant warehouses into sound stages and production offices and built a replica Mormon village on the banks of the Mississippi, hiring hundreds of townspeople as construction workers, cooks and extras.

"In some way I'm sure everyone in town's had something to do with the movie," said Nauvoo native Bonnie Trapp, who is working on the film along with eight members of her family. "It's put a lot of guys back to work."

New therapies work to help hypertension

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 57-year-old husband has been prone to high blood pressure. His doctor requested he eliminate salt from his diet, and I carried it further by cutting out pork, sausage, bacon and meats with high fat content. Recently, he developed hypoglycemia. The diet his doctor placed him on recommends that he eat butter, sausage, bacon and the like to meet his fat quotient. Help!

doctor should consider anti-hypertensive medication, rather than relying solely on salt restriction. You might be interested in learning that some hypertensives can be helped by eating additional calcium (low-fat milk and milk products) and potassium

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR READER: This is a complicated issue, which I'll categorize for simplicity. Salt: Most Americans eat too much salt. However, salt is dangerous for only a few — those with high blood pressure. Mild hypertensives can usually lower their blood pressure readings by eliminating the salt they add to their diets. I advise such patients to put away the saltshaker (or use potassium salt in place of table salt) and avoid salty foods, such as potato chips, pretzels, salted nuts, anchovies and so forth. More stringent salt restrictions — such as avoiding processed meats and frozen foods — are not necessary. You needn't carry your husband's salt restriction to extremes. High blood pressure: Often termed the "silent killer," hypertension is a dangerous disease that should be treated. Many years ago, the only useful therapy was bed rest and strict restriction of dietary salt. However, new therapies are so effective in controlling high blood pressure that prolonged rest and elimination of salt are no longer the sole treatments for hypertension, although some mild hypertensives may choose salt restriction as a first step. Medicine — such as beta-blockers (Inderal) calcium channel blockers (Calan, Isoptin) and angiotensin converting enzyme inhibitors (Vasotec, Capoten) — consistently lower blood pressure without dietary restrictions. I believe your husband's

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Bridge critics are by and large an unmerciful lot, quick to condemn errors by others but full of excuses for their own misdeeds. Take West, for example, who had a problem after he had cashed the K-A of hearts against four spades. Of course East, who had played a low heart at trick one, might now play the nine as a suit-preference signal for a diamond lead. In the absence of such direction, West had to guess. If East held Q-10 of clubs and only the diamond king, a club shift was necessary. But as we can see, a club play here would go around to declarer's queen, and now the club trick would be lost. A diamond shift would be best, but that might lose when declarer held J-x of diamonds and nothing in clubs. Ah, the travails of defense! Eventually West waseled out by playing a trump. Declarer won in his hand and played the queen of clubs. West covered and dummy won the ace. Declarer came back to his hand with another trump and played a club to the nine. East took the 10, got out with a club and eventually took the setting trick with the king of diamonds. Declarer missed his opportunity when West failed to shift to diamonds at trick three. The queen of clubs play was fine, but after the cover South should come back to his hand with a trump and lead the 10 of diamonds. If West is not able to cover with the jack, declarer can play low from dummy and East will be stuck on lead. Whatever the return, into the A-Q of diamonds or the J-9 of clubs, declarer will have 10 tricks.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
March 24, 1990
The course you are presently pursuing could be the one that will lead you to success and fulfillment in the year ahead. Do not alter direction if things are moving smoothly. ARIES (March 21-April 19) A rather unique goal you've established for yourself can be achieved today, but not necessarily through the use of traditional tactics. Let your ingenuity to devise the plan. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't hesitate to speak or write that which you think today, because telling it like it is will be very effective. Frills will not be required to make your points with others. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although you might not see any visible ways of getting something material you've been wanting, unforeseen circumstances could be instrumental today in helping you fulfill your desire. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your judgment could be a trifle keener today than the analytical powers of persons with whom you'll be associating. Listen to what they have to say, but don't discredit your own feelings. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Some assistance is now likely in a matter you've had to handle solely on your own until this point. From this day on, progress should be more substantial. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your ideas will carry considerable weight with others today and they will act on your presentations. Be extra careful that your concepts are well thought out. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today it might be necessary for you to take the lead in an arrangement where you share a mutual interest with another. You're well equipped for this role, so do not be reluctant to assume it. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be very fortunate at this time in making new friends. In fact, today you might meet someone with whom you'll have much in common. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A matter that could be meaningful to you financially is shaping up rather well at this time. Several loose ends which have been left dangling may be tied down today. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today you might be called upon to help a friend who lacks your imagination and experience and is in dire need of guidance. You are the right candidate for getting your pal back on track. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Conditions could be rather exciting for you today and there is a possibility you might gain in some manner from a situation that has been engineered by another. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Whatever you do today and wherever you go you'll operate with an ambience friends will find extremely charming and pleasing. This should be a very nice day for you. (C)1990, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
