CHAPTER FIFTEEN

IN THE police car Sara sat in one corner, the young man between her and Sanders while the uniformed man drove. She made herself small, drawing her body away from any contact with the monstrous thing that sat beside her, the man who had tried to slip into the life and mind of another man. They drove without touching the siren, but traffic cops saluted as the car slid past. They stopped at an office building that overlooked Bryant park. The lobby was crowded.

"We three must get separated," muttered Sanders to Sara. "Take my arm. Let him lead the way."

The stranger walked to the first express elevator without hesitation. His step made an angry sound, hard and clear and even on the marble floor. As soon as Sara and Sanders had followed him inside, he said, "Sixteen, please."

He would know all this sort of thing, of course. He couldn't have attempted to supplant Gerry unless he did.

When the elevator stopped, Sanders let him go first, watching his every move covertly and keenly. There were two corridors running in opposite directions. He chose the one left of the elevator and turned south to a door with a frosted glass panel labeled "Hone-Peters Productions." He opened the door without knocking.

They were in a small anteroom—a rug, a bench, and beyond a railing, a girl typing—a girl with bleached hair piled in elaborate coils and black eyes that betrayed the bleach.

The girl looked up as the stranger reached the railing. Her thick-lipped mouth was at once mean and greedy, the mouth of a ruthless careerist. It curved into a smile as artificial as her hair.

"Hi, Mr. Hone! If you want Mr. Peters, he's already gone over to WXYZ—Studio 3. Shall I call him?"

Again they were crowded in the back seat of the car, three people all hostile to each other. The engine purred with suppressed power as the car slid through traffic. The ghastly sunshine officiously brightened every bit of glass and chromium and brought a look of indecent good humor to every face in the street.

"Let me see," drawled Sanders. "Where is WXYZ?"

"Broadway and 51st," snapped the stranger. "How childish can you get? Whatever his motives, his nerves were now stretched to breaking point."

The captain laughed. "Childish? Oh, I don't know. Seems to me we've all been fairly adult about this—so far. No hysterics yet."

"Just wait until Peters accepts me!" The stranger cast another malignant look at Sara. "He'll blow her top then. They can't stand having their pet delusions smashed."

"They?"

"Paranoiacs."

Sara clenched her hands. Why was he so confident? Peters had been the real Gerry's partner for over a year. Peters was well known to everyone in the radio world. An impostor couldn't hope to fool Peters and Sanders, now in the act of rehearsal at WXYZ, must be the real Peters...

"Fifty-second St. entrance," the stranger instructed the driver ostentatiously. The boy at the reception desk did not look up, and the elevator boy grinned and said, "Hello, Mr. Hone! Mr. Peters went up a moment ago. Studio 3. The east is all there."

"I know," the stranger glanced at Sanders with an unpleasant smile and now the captain was worried.

Another long corridor, low ceiling, dim-lit. A padded, sound-proof door with bronze letters: "Studio 3."

The stranger pushed the door open. They entered a plush-lined cubbyhole, something like a theater box. Through a plate-glass window they saw a large, bare room and a dozen people, their feet stepping, their lips moving, all in deathlike silence. His old-fashioned, voiceless movie.

The stranger led them through another door to the control room, where a man in shirt-sleeves sat before a panel of instruments as elaborate as the dashboard of a B-29. A third door and they were in the studio itself, shocked by the sudden bustle of steps and voices echoing loudly under the high ceiling. One man sat before a music stand with a flute resting in his lap. Another knelt beside a table set with a wooden foot, a revolver, and a tin plate filled with sound effects. At a large table, furnished with microphones, sat a girl of 10 and three men, each with a typewriter. The girl was speaking in the voice of a four-year-old child. "... but, daddy, I did see the man. He got away in the fog."

"One moment, please," said Sanders. "Mr. Peters?"

"For heaven's sake—another interruption!" The child of 10 spoke like a trouper of 40. "Heck, Mr. Peters, I was just getting it!"

"Okay, Daisy, relax!" One of the men, thick-set, bald-headed, stared at the intruders truculently. "What the devil do you want, Gerry? We'll be on the air in 35 minutes. Time's been changed again."

"Whew!" The stranger dropped into a chair and mopped his brow with a wilted handkerchief. It was the first human thing he had done. "Thanks, Jim."

"These fools think I'm not Gerry Hone. One of them is a police captain."

"Well, for crying out loud!" Peters eyed Sara and Sanders as if they were two-headed monsters. Sanders spoke wearily. "Any doubt about it, Mr. Peters?"

"Doubt?" Peters looked at the changing and grinned. "Gerry and I have had two shows on the air for over a year. When you've been through that many rehearsals with a guy, you kind of get to know him by sight. This is Gerry Hone, all right. Everyone at this table knows him. Am I right?"

"Sure" of course," "For the love of Mike..."

"Sorry to bother you, but—it happens to be important. There's a stolen ruby involved worth at least $50,000."

"Well!" Peters looked at the stranger. "You got it, Gerry? We wouldn't have to worry about a sponsor then?"

"Nope. I never even saw the thing."

"But you did!" cried Sara. "It was you who picked it off the counter in the 10-cent store and urged me to buy it."

"Oh, that." The stranger wiped his brow again. "But I thought it was junk then. I had no idea it was real!"

Sanders sighed. "Better call it a day, Miss Dacre. You can't beat this. Right?"

Sara was more exhausted than the stranger. She turned to him and opened her lips to mouth apologies—and closed them again, as he stretched out an arm, reaching for one of the typewriters.

"Now I'm here, I'll check the time for you," he said.

"We've done that already," Peters tapped the end of his nose with his forefinger in the old radio pantomime. "Right on."

"Any cuts?"

"Only two."

Already they were absorbed in their show.

"Let's go, Miss Dacre," whispered Sanders. Without a word, she followed him.

"Now that scene on the beach where Alice grabs—"

Mrs. Roy Mann Guest Speaker For Navy Wives

The Navy Officers Wives from all units on the base held a meeting Thursday at noon in the Dew Drop Inn Restaurant.

A delicious naptime lunch was enjoyed. Mrs. Roy Mann was guest speaker for the event who made a "most interesting and delightful" talk about Sanford. In her speech she included a brief history of Sanford and told of places of interest near here.

One member stated that "Sanford is friendlier to the Navy than any other town. It's a question of individual associations and here you find closer friends."

A brief meeting was held to include necessary business. Mrs. G. K. Tilley was acting president.

Employees, Families Of Foodmart Store Have All-Day Picnic

The employees of Foodmart and their families numbering nearly 80 enjoyed an all-day picnic outing at Rock Springs, yesterday. In spite of the threatening rain clouds, the motorcade, formed at the supermarket about 8 o'clock, loaded with a variety of food, cold drinks and expectant picnickers.

Games of all kinds were enjoyed with the most popular one proving to be, said "Chuck" Atkinson, a kind of "water volley ball." In this game, the participants found out that they had muscles they didn't know they had with the result that local drug stores are enjoying a big sale of "ointments, lotions and other pain relievers."

However, with the rain sparing the group, by "going all around us" as stated by Tony Trama, "a wonderful time was had by all."

Seating is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. with play to start promptly at 8 o'clock.

The executive committee meeting of the Seminole Association of Women's Missionary Union will be held at 10 a. m. in the First Baptist Church. Drinks will be furnished. Members are asked to take their lunch.

The film shown at the first meeting was entitled "Family First."

After the program, refreshments were served by the executive committee.

Fred Wilson Speaks To DAR's

Friday The Sallie Harrison Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution inaugurated the first National Constitution Week at a meeting in the home of Mrs. F. E. Rountree. Co-hostesses were Miss Irene Hinton and Mrs. St. Claire White.

After the usual patriotic ritual, the proclamation of President Eisenhower was read and it was explained that although Constitution Day Sept. 17, had been celebrated for a number of years, Constitution Week had just been started, due to the efforts of the NSDAR.

Fred B. Wilson then reviewed the historical facts leading to the formation of the Constitution of the United States and explained the necessity of the Bill of Rights and mentioned the amendments that followed along with the reason for their passage, the stability of the original tenets which received ratification by the necessary nine states in 1789 also received comment.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee Jr. announce the birth of a 3 1/2 lb. daughter on Sept. 18 in the Fort-Ad Laughton Memorial Hospital.

A roomy extra closet can be made into a partial or complete bathroom by installing one of the "pint-size" bathtubs now available. These come in lengths from 25 to 36 inches, are from 12 to 14 inches high. They are very good for showering and sit-up bathing, and are especially handy for bathing young children. One of them could also be used in a bathroom made by putting up a wall at the end of a hall that has stopped leading anywhere.

Wanton Waste Of Life Occurs Along Highways Of America

A wanton waste of life, limb, and property is now in progress along the highways of our cities, counties, and State.

Many thousands of words have been written about the subject. The very thought of accidents has been covered in editorials, news coverage, propaganda, written by specialists in the field of accident prevention, editors, writers, reporters and law enforcement officers.

There have been pleas, threats, gimmicks, and even entertainment, presented in various forms for the abortion of the reckless or careless driver.

All to no avail. What is there left to do? First place—you folks want to know what's going on. If there are accidents, arrests, warnings, or changes in traffic regulations or requirements—then you want to know what to do here at home—along the highway.

This soft-talk that is being circulated from a central source in a regular stream of mimeographed pages has very little effect. It's that shoulder-to-shoulder description, with every detail vividly recounted, along with the "exact words" that the local law enforcement representative has to say about the catastrophe, most people want.

We've reported, in the columns of this paper, several incidents of "crackdown on traffic violators". Frankly, it isn't exactly a crackdown—the law enforcement representatives are merely doing their duty. They should be thanked, every day, for taking the driver off the road that is a menace to the motoring or pedestrian public.

The tax dollar is being used to pay the policeman, the sheriff, the patrolman and the trooper for carrying out the mandate of the law created by representatives of the people. You don't want to stand in the way of your own planning, do you?

It stands to reason that one person, two people, a small group of people, or even a large one, can't stop traffic accidents. It takes the combined will of every person that owns an automobile. If one steps out of line, the rest of them are liable to be hurt in an accident.

Safe driving is necessary. Watch the signs. Obey the law!

Valuable Experiments

There must be something of real value to these many thousands of experiments you hear about every day.

One under study right now, and mentioned prominently in the Atlantic Coast Line's Agricultural and Livestock "Topics", is "A Vegetable and Pasture Rotation System" for south Florida.

Recently, in talks before the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, this same system was mentioned as highly beneficial to the farmer and the outcome of his crops each year. Happily, the program for the farmer was recommended by first, a cattleman, and then by a farmer.

Now, a transportation company, interested in the welfare of the entire area that it serves, is promoting a study that might open the eyes of the farmer, that for years, has been using what he calls his "tried and true" methods of planting, cultivating, and producing.

For instance, in the opening paragraphs of the paper, written by Norman C. Hayslip and D. M. Coe of the Indian River Field Laboratory, we read, "many vegetable growers have used a 'migration system' to virgin soils in order to escape certain diseases, insects, nematode and weed problems which appear or increase under continuous cropping."

The entire release is devoted to this one study and a short article describing a new variety of grain sorghum.

The grower is certainly the one who will benefit first from these continuing studies in the field. And when the grower benefits, the Atlantic Coast Line believes they too, will benefit.

We're sure that J. D. Rozard, Agricultural and Livestock Agent for the ACL, here in Sanford and the Sanford area, is interested in many growers benefitting from the experiments conducted in their behalf.

It is a forward step taken by a forward looking company.

That's the kind of company A. McD. Davis wants the Atlantic Coast Line to be.

Finding Easy Name Minor Problem

WASHINGTON — Finding a name that's easy to say, and easy to fit into headlines, will be only one of the minor problems of the AFL and CIO after they merge in one big union next December.

The first major problem of the two groups when they sit down together will be to get along together. In spite of the present air of harmony, hard feelings run deep among the heads of the some unions which will be in the new AFL-CIO.

Although they will be working together in the new organization, the leaders of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations didn't want to give up their individual identities.

So, apparently without being much sleep over it, they agreed on a compromise. They will start out under this name: the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

That's a big mouthful to carry around very long. The labor bosses probably will agree later on something shorter for the outfit which puts under one tent 16 million AFL members and five million unionists of the CIO.

For one thing, there's the problem of trying to keep them from raising one another's unions for members.

For the sake of labor unity, Walter Ruther, president of the CIO, agreed that George Meany, president of the AFL, should be president of the new giant of American labor.

The ruling body, with plenty of power written into the proposed constitution, will be the Executive Council, made up of the president, Meany, a secretary-treasurer, and 15 vice presidents from member unions.

Another Safety First by Ford!

New Lifeguard STEERING WHEEL.

Research proves that the main cause of serious injury in accidents is the steering post.

Ford's new Lifeguard steering wheel with its deep-center construction acts as a cushion under impact... gives the driver extra protection against cracking the steering post.

You'll be Safer

Starting out, at least, the CIO will be in a minority. There will be only 16 CIO people on the 28-man council. This council has a big stick: it can investigate and suspend member unions for what it considers misconduct.

Since this council will meet only three times a year, perhaps the real power will turn out to be in the hands of an executive committee which will meet every two months and can get a lot of work done faster than the 28-man council.

The CIO will be outnumbered on the committee too. Three CIO men will sit on the eight-man committee.

But, by agreement, the CIO will name the director of organization. And organizing workers not yet in unions is one of the major tasks the new group has set for itself.

In addition Meany has given warning that the AFL-CIO will plunge into politics "to change the political picture that is developing against labor."

THE LATCHSTRING IS ALWAYS OUT

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY
 Faced with mounting opposition to its program of fluoridation of public water supplies from thousands of citizens who recognize the dangers that attend such practice, the Florida State Board of Health held a hearing in Jacksonville recently for discussion of the question.

Containing that the addition of fluorine to public water supplies will help reduce tooth decay in children, proponents have been urging Florida communities to adopt the practice. This amounts to compulsory medication as it means that every person or animal using such water supply must accept this poisonous substance whether they want it or not.

We are told that the quantity of fluorine used is so small that it is harmless, and since it may reduce the number of cavities in Johnny's teeth, all of us should take it and like it.

It is a matter of record that fluorides have been tried as drugs repeatedly and have been discarded as too dangerous when given in effective dosage. When added to our drinking water, even in small quantities, no one can definitely say it is "safe."

Some people drink very little water, a glass or two a day; others drink 10 or 12 glasses a day. Each glassful contains a certain amount of the poison. Isn't the person drinking the larger quantity of water getting a much larger dose than the individual who drinks little?

When little Johnny has a stomach ache and your doctor prescribes some medicine for him, he doesn't put that medicine in the family drinking water and say, "Now this medicine may help Johnny, so I want all of you to take it in your drinking water for the rest of your life," on his assurance that it won't "hurt" you and may do Johnny some good.

Yet, that is just what the proponents of fluorinated water are saying when they advocate the use of fluorine in our drinking water on the ground that it may benefit 18 per cent of the population and could prove disastrous to 82 per cent.

Any parent who believes that fluorine is good for his children and will reduce tooth decay, can secure it from his druggist, just as he can get any other medication; so why endanger the health of the entire community on the gamble that such treatment of your child might possibly be helpful and probably won't hurt your neighbors.

HAI BOYLE

Millionaires, Girls Much Alike

NEW YORK — Sidewalk reflections of a pavement plate: If there is anything harder for the average man to understand than beautiful women, it is millionaires.

Millionaires and pretty women have a great deal in common. They are self-complacent on the surface, full of secret fears, and unpredictable. They never quite act the way you expect them to. They rarely quite live up to the images of them you have in your mind before you get to know them well.

Women and millionaires (particularly new millionaires) brood a lot. Both are highly suspicious of any attention you pay them. Both want to be flattered not for what they have, but what they don't have: in the case of women, their brains; in the case of millionaires, their social charm.

Honestly never pays off in dealing with either. They years to be admired for some imaginary quality they think they have rather than the one they actually do possess. If you tell a woman she has prettier legs than Betty Grable she says huffily: "Is that all you see in me?" If you tell a millionaire, "the thing about you I like is your bank balance," he gets downright insulted.

But why? Anybody who has either beauty or hard cash has an edge in this world, and ought to be satisfied with either one or the other.

A poor man is disappointed with both lovely women and millionaires and for the same reason. Neither is as romantic as you expect them to be—or as spendthrift of their charms as you would like. They are cautiously determined to keep what they have intact, whether it be their beauty or their hoards.

Personally, I have found most millionaires being, fearful fellows afraid to live up to their station in life. My theory is that a millionaire should act like a millionaire and live a rich carefree existence.

Now if I suddenly got a million bucks I'd live up to it. I'd drop all my shabby pals and start mingling with a better class of people. I'd have a big white button in my lapel that said "I am a millionaire." And when anybody bent over to read what it said on the button I'd squeeze a hidden bulb and squirt water in his eyes.

I'd drink champagne in bed for breakfast, ride on horseback behind a pack of fashions down Broadway in the afternoon, and spend my evening pouring bubbly water down the backs of chorus girls at gay parties.

You wouldn't have to ask where

I am. You could follow me around town by the trail of $50 bills I'd let dribble out of a hole in my pocket.

I'd buy me an air-conditioned limousine of silver with diamonds for headlights, and I'd have as uniformed chauffeur the tallest, sultriest, red-headed showgirl in all America.

My bodyguard would be the smallest, toughest, meanest retired jockey I could find. He would go about with me wearing his racing silks and boots, and carry a riding crop in one hand to beat the peasants out of my path and a shiv in the other to cow anybody who wanted to make something of it.

You think people would hate or despise me? If you do, that's how little you know about people. They always admire a man with a grand manner, one who snubs kings but tips 20-buck goldpieces in a passing neighbor's hat.

That's the old-fashioned idea about millionaires. And the secret dream of most people today isn't to live like the millionaire — it's to live like they dream a millionaire should: high, wide and handsome.

I might die broke and be buried in a pauper's grave, but the man in the street would pay me this ungrudging tribute:

"The guy was a bum at heart, but at least when he had a million he didn't try to keep it a secret between him and the tax collector."

The trouble with most modern millionaires is simply this—they look and act too much like the rest of us pale prisoners of the weekly paycheck.

(Continued From Page One) The Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce also met yesterday to formulate plans for the 1955-56 fiscal year. Discussions surrounded the possibility of a complete survey for industrial development use to be made of Seminole County. The group also offered cooperation and full endorsement of a "Paint up—Clear Up Campaign" with a request that the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce put the campaign in operation. Only one committee of the Chamber of Commerce meets tomorrow because of the shortened day and early closing of business houses. The Waterways Committee, headed by Chairman A. W. Convicts Working To Help Youths Stop Delinquency

DALLAS (AP)—A group of federal convicts believe they know how to prevent what they say is one cause of juvenile delinquency. They're so enthusiastic they're anteing up from their meager earnings of $13 a month or less to prove their point. Their special project is Bruce Williams, 10, by no means a juvenile delinquent. But what chance did he have? His father was dead, his mother ill. He lived in a poverty-stricken part of Dallas noted for its violence and crime.

The convicts are in Seagovill Federal Correctional Institution, a "minimum security" prison near here. The idea came from the Personal Development Group, a club of about 60 prisoners.

J. W. Peterson, a Dallas businessman who works with the club, said the idea grew out of a discussion of child delinquency. Many of the men themselves had been juvenile delinquents.

The group concluded, Peterson said, that juvenile delinquency has its roots in the absence of some of the little extra pleasures in a child's life.

They kicked around the idea of contributing a little money into a fund for some child who didn't have much.

Warden Luster P. Gollaher suggested they work through a recognized agency. They picked the Salvation Army.

Army Maj. Kenneth Moss recommended Bruce, then 9, a well-mannered child who attended church but needed some financial help.

So happy was Bruce with the YMCA membership the money got him, as well as new shoes and clothes, that he wanted to meet his new sponsors.

So Bruce and his mother, now recovered, spent his 10th birthday at the prison. He was showered with presents, many made by the convicts.

Action

(Continued From Page One) ing of proposed plans to a municipal section through Castleberry and on into Fern Park. Meisch stated, "A meeting with Road Board Member William M. Dial, and District Engineer Richie Green has been set for Wednesday to determine if such a change in plans would be feasible. M. N. Yancey, head of the Highway Department's right-of-way division, had approved such plans if the change could be made in plans that have already been approved by the Federal Bureau of Roads. In making these changes, we would save between 75 and 80 thousand dollars."

Prior to discussion on the floor relative to the appraisal reported by the county-employed appraiser, Meisch stated that the costs submitted did not include the expense of employing appraisers, attorneys fees, or cost of condemnation. "What that cost would be," he said, "I have no idea."

J. Bralley Odham, chairman of the Citizens Committee, explained to the Board of Commissioners, "What we are fighting is time. There are four or five people along the highway that are going to force condemnation, and unless immediate action is taken the machinery involved will eliminate the building of a highway."

Appealing to the commissioners, Odham declared, "It is down to a matter of days. I would hate to consider getting a highway in face of what we have learned here this morning."

"The point I am trying to make is this, and I don't want to cast any reflection, but this is an important decision that must be made. I am afraid of what the answer will be," he concluded.

Referring to money being spent for right-of-ways and to the funds from which the money would be taken, a letter was read directed to the County Commissioners from William M. Dial, road board member from Orlando. Dial said in his letter, "Apparently the reporter who wrote the story is somewhat confused. The right-of-ways will be purchased from State funds but these are State Secondary funds and not primary funds. There has been no change in policy and to my knowledge no money is being advanced to any counties for the purchase of right-of-ways because the money just isn't available."

The letter was in answer to a communication from Meisch regarding news released concerning the construction of Highway 418 from Sanford to Samula.

Representative Velle A. Williams Jr. told the Board of Commissioners, "We're too close not to move on. Appoint your appraisers, set a cut off date and then take declaration of standing."

Odham remarked, "The greatest opportunity for growth and progress Seminole County has ever had, barring anything else, is before us."

Commissioner Otis Fouracre instituted the motion to employ additional appraisers and get to work immediately. Commissioner B. C. Dodd seconded the motion and was unanimously approved by the entire board.

The action met with the approval of a packed commission room where representatives of every section along the 17-92 highway had gathered to hear the discussion relative to what action would be taken today.

Bralley Odham stopped the discussion with the remark, "If you delay past two weeks in getting the appraisal and in getting to condemnation machinery in motion, the road is lost." Odham shouted, "Let's get down to business—this project to being killed

Hiley told the Commissioners and the audience, "I'm not going to give up on this hyacinth control. Let's get a hyacinth control stamp for our fishing licenses and go to work."

Henry Wight, a cattleman appearing with the group to hear Toler explain his program, asked the contents of the spray used for hyacinth. "We're interested in the chemicals that are injurious to our cattle."

Toler explained that the spray is a 24D mixture and entirely uninjurious to cattle. "We don't want to hurt anyone," Toler said. "We want the cooperation of everyone."

Bob Williams asked if it were possible to get cooperation from other counties bordering the Wekiva River.

Toler explained that Orange and Lake Counties would cooperate and use a portion of their funds to spray areas where three counties joined the same body of water.

Final action of the group resulted in the dividing of funds between Lake Jessup and the Wekiva River, with $4,000 used on Jessup and $2,000 used on the Wekiva.

W. A. Patrick, chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Roads Committee said, "Now we're getting somewhere."

Mississippi Tries To Convict Men In Youth's Death

(Continued From Page One) SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—The state of Mississippi sets out today to prove that two white men killed a 14-year-old Chicago Negro boy who, allegedly made offensive remarks and whistled at a white woman.

The evidence appeared to be heavily circumstantial — so much so the state doesn't plan to ask the death penalty.

Only two more jurors must be picked before the prosecution unveils its case against silent Roy Bryant, 24, and his balding half brother, 36-year-old J. W. Milam, who talks readily but seldom smiles.

State and defense attorneys, operating in the shirt-sleeve heat of a crowded courtroom, agreed yesterday on 10 jurors for the all-white jury.

Through the tedium of juror questioning, the principals in this publicized case sat quietly, frequently abandoning their silent contemplation of the steamy proceedings to tend their 2-year-old sons, whom they held on their laps for a time.

1-Year Contract Provides Pay Boost

BARTOW (AP)—A one-year contract with a pay boost of 10 1/2 cents an hour offered by Swift and Co. has been approved by union workers at its phosphate operations.

The employees are members of the International Chemical Workers Union (AFL). The old rate was 1.31 2/27 an hour.

These workers did not quit their jobs during the general stoppage of the union at Central Florida phosphate plants in June.

Acceptance of the contract leaves only International Minerals and Chemical Corp. without a contract.

Square Off Battle Railroads, Trucks Over New Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The railroad and the trucking industry square off today in the battle over a new national transportation policy.

A House Commerce subcommittee called as its first industry witness J. Carter Fort, vice president and general counsel of the Association of American Railroads. He was expected to endorse with enthusiasm the administration's plan for rewriting transportation law by relaxing government regulation of railroads and other common carriers.

The second witness, James Finckey, general counsel of the American Trucking Assn., was expected to denounce the proposals. The AFA contends they would give the railroads "a hunting license and ammunition to destroy competitors."

Through the tedium of juror questioning, the principals in this publicized case sat quietly, frequently abandoning their silent contemplation of the steamy proceedings to tend their 2-year-old sons, whom they held on their laps for a time.

Tentative Date Set For Report Hearing

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Community College Council has set Nov. 21 as the tentative date for a preliminary report on how studies of an expanded two-year college program in Florida will be carried out.

The council set the date at a meeting here yesterday at which it hired Dr. James L. Wattenbarger to direct the studies.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey told the council at its organization meeting that it has a "significant role to play in the future development of higher education in Florida."

Yankees See Flag Flying In Home Park

By ED WILKA
The Associated Press

Unless Hurricane Lane sends them sprawling, the New York Yankees figure they'll have the American League pennant in hand Friday at Boston.

Yet, it's possible the champion may not be decided until after Sunday's regular-season windup—which would provide an appropriately screwy finish for the screwiest race since Casey Stengel was a pup.

All sorts of things can happen between now and Sunday, but basically, here's the situation:

1. Any combination of New York victories and Cleveland defeats totaling five gives the Yankees and Manager Stengel their sixth pennant in seven years.

2. The Indians, with the world on a string just a week ago must sweep their five remaining games and hope the Yankees lose three of their remaining seven to gain at most a tie for the title.

New York could clinch it as early as tomorrow night. To do it, the Yankees would have to sweep their three games at Washington while Cleveland drops a two-game set at Chicago. Even the confident Yanks don't think it will be over that quick, however. They see themselves hauling in the pennant either the afternoon or night portion of their twin bill with the Red Sox Friday.

The storm knocked out last night's game between the Yankees and Senators. Could be done will wash out the whole three-game series in Washington—and if so, the Yankees may have to return to Washington after Sunday's "finish" at Boston to play the trio, which looms importantly in the pennant issue.

Stengel, hoping the Washington game comes off on schedule, is aiming for a quick clinch to give his veterans a rest before the World Series opener against Brooklyn a week from tomorrow.

Playing for a swift kick, Stengel sent Whitey Ford (17-7) and Don Larsen (8-2) against Washington in doubleheader.

The Senators, only 6-13 against New York for the season after whipping Cleveland 12-9 and slating the Tribe on a four-game losing streak that dumped them from the lead, will throw Bob Porterfield (10-17) or Pete Ramos (5-8) and Maury McLermont (8-9). Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, forced to win 'em all, will decide on either Early Wynn (16-11) or Herb Beera (15-10) against the "Boss" Billie Pierce (16-9) tonight.

Only two games were scheduled yesterday in the National. St. Louis overcame a 5-0 deficit to beat the Chicago Cubs 4-5 in 12 innings. Detroit, riding high after taking three straight from Cleveland, shut out Kansas City 4-0 behind rookie Bud Bly's six-inning shutout.

The Cubs' Ernie Banks, who recently set a record for shortstops with his 40th home run of the season, knocked off another major league record with his fifth grand-slam homer of the year. Only 10 sluggers, including Babe Ruth, ever had been able to hit as many as four bases-loaded shots in one season before. Banks now has 41 home runs.

Exhibition Season Ends For Nationals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League wound up its exhibition season over the weekend with the Philadelphia Eagles just about the hottest team in the 12-club circuit.

The Eagles whipped the Los Angeles Rams 35-21 Saturday for their sixth straight victory. Before the Rams, they beat Baltimore, Detroit, Chicago's Bears, Green Bay and Pittsburgh.

Adrian Burk, who shares the quarterback spot with Bobby Thomason, pitched three scoring passes to veteran end Pete Pihos and another to halfback Bobby Walton. The Rams played without their No. 1 quarterback, Norm Van Brocklin, who appeared only in passing roles.

In other exhibition games, Detroit turned back the New York Giants 27-17. Baltimore's Colts edged the Pittsburgh Steelers 44-17 and the Green Bay Packers ended a four-game losing streak at the expense of the Chicago Cardinals 47-20.

UCLA, Terps Meet Saturday

By F. T. MACFEELEY
GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Getting ready to meet Georgia Tech footballers here Saturday will give the University of Florida Gators plenty to do this week.

Tech conquered Miami Saturday while Florida was floundering before Mississippi State except for four long runs that produced three touchdowns and a 20-14 victory.

If Florida is to continue on the road in the Southeastern Conference, Woodruff will have to correct a lot of mistakes from the Saturday opener.

Tech can't have any more spirit and drive than Mississippi State did. But Tech is known for being alert and certainly won't throw the wobbly kind of pass that Florida's Jackie Simpson intercepted and ran 100 yards for the touchdown that turned the tide.

Tech's secondary also is rated too good for Florida to depend on many of the long runs such as Simpson's 66-yard dash to the first yarder, Jim Rountree's 48-yarder that set up the third and Bobby Lance's 22-yarder that scored it.

So the Gators' job is to develop an effective passing attack, better blocking, phors up the defense and get back the punting "swass of USF.

Against Mississippi State, Florida completed only one of six passes for a mere three yards. There were only five Florida first downs, three of them on long runs by Jim Rountree, a sophomore playing his first college game.

The Maroons were able to gain 274 yards rushing through Florida's line, mostly through the tricky plays and maneuvering of quarterback Bill Stanton.

Partly, too, Woodruff said it was because Florida stacked its defense against Art Davis, most valuable player in the SEC last year.

"We stopped him, too," the coach reminded, "but they saw where that defense left us open and took advantage of it."

Taking a puny 15-yard punt by Florida's Richard Allen, State moved 44 yards to a touchdown in the first quarter without hesitation. Jim Tall's running covered most of the ground and he scored.

State, without much of a passing attack, was even able to break the 3-year Florida string of games in which no opponent scored on a pass.

Stanton tossed to Ron Bennett on a 21-yard play for the touchdown that broke the string.

On his two touchdowns, Simpson already has half the total of 24 points with which he led Florida in scoring last season.

Skipper Figures Pitchers

By ED CORRIGAN
BROOKLYN, N.Y.—Already assured of his job for another year, Manager Walt Alton of the Brooklyn Dodgers today began thinking of his pitching rotation for the World Series.

The thoughts turned out to be disturbing.

Five members of his hurling corps are ailing or below par: Don Newcombe, the big fellow, is just getting over a virus; Carl Erskine still isn't "100 per cent" according to the manager; Karl Spooner is laid low with a virus; Billy Loes has an aching arm; and Johnny Podres has a rib injury.

"I'm going to pitch Newcombe in one of tonight's games against Philadelphia," said Alton, "and see how he has come around. But we do have a problem. We're coming out of our hitting slump all right, but I don't know as I'll ever try to scout the Yanks. I think I'd rather stay with my own pitching."

Podres and Spooner may not be able to pitch in the series, but Alton hopes Erskine and Loes come around.

"I thought Erskine did pretty well in his last start although he won only six innings," observed Alton. "The important thing is that his arm is all right."

Alton indicated he wouldn't pitch Loes any more until the series unless he goes an inning or two against the Pirates because "layoffs don't seem to bother him."

As for his retention as manager, Alton said he was happy that President Walter O'Malley had confidence in him. First, O'Malley hinted that Alton would be back at a victory dinner for the Bronx and their winner Sunday night.

Then he confirmed it last night when he said: "I know this isn't December when he usually announces his manager but Alton has little worry—in fact, no worry—over his job next year. I like the way he has handled everything."

Alton won't sign a contract until after the World Series.

Kroll Wins Big One With 30 Foot Punt

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ted Kroll, who says he's lost four playoffs in the past three years, won a big one Sunday when he sank a 30-foot punt on the first extra hole of a sudden death match with PGA champion Doug Ford to take $1,000 first money in the Daily News Open Golf Tournament.

Kroll was four strokes behind Ford, the leader, as Sunday's final round started but shot a one-under-par 67 while Ford scrambled for a 71 that left them knotted at 272 each for the 72 holes.

Kroll, from Bethesda, Md., and Ford, who plays out of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., took a 10-minute break and then teed off for the short sudden death match. Kroll's drive was 230 yards and Ford's was 213 yards. Their second shots left Kroll 10 feet closer and after Ford's 40-yard putt was 3 feet short of the cup, Kroll ended the match. Ford won $2,300.

UCLA Holds Top Spot

UCLA, the preseason pick of the experts, held its place as the nation's No. 1 college football team today in the first regular-season Associated Press poll of the country's sports writers and sportscasters.

The Yellow Jackets defeated strongly rated Miami 14-6 in their debut.

Tech's meteoric climb shoved Oklahoma and Michigan down 5 notch to third and fourth, respectively, while Maryland retained its fifth spot despite a close call in its 13-12 victory over Missouri.

The rest of the top 10 was made up of Ohio State, last year's No. 1 team, Pittsburgh, Mississippi, Southern California and Navy.

The leading teams with first-place votes in parentheses...

1. UCLA (34)
2. Georgia Tech (3)
3. Oklahoma (10)
4. Michigan (8)
5. Maryland (7)
6. Ohio State (5)
7. Pittsburgh (4)
8. Mississippi (3)
9. USC (1)
10. Navy (1)

The Second 10:

PLenty LUCK!
LET ALL BAD CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Luther Steele took his boy Lloyd, 11, fishing and they had plenty of luck—all of it bad.

On arrival yesterday at Hales Bar, 15 miles from home, they found they'd left their fishing tackle box at home. They found their boat half full of water and then while the father was trying to bail it out the boy accidentally shot himself in the foot with a 22 rifle.

Marvin Panch of Oakland, Calif., was third; Fony Flock, the winner's brother, was fourth; and Tim Massey of Burlington, N. C., was fifth.

Fleming, Brumley Meet Again Friday Night On Opposite Sides

By B. HUGH ANSLLEY

Not many years ago Bill Fleming and Herman "Foots" Brumley tore up the turf at Seminole together. "Foots" opened the holes and Bill ran through. Friday night at Sanford's Memorial Stadium these two ex-teammates oppose each other as mentors. Both coaches use the same formation, but one will look through the eyes of a lineman while the other is backfield cunning.

Both are anxious not to come in second in the gridiron race. Coach Herman "Foots" Brumley is mentor for the Hastings Spudsters, and he is fielding his heaviest team in his six-year career.

The Spudster mentor is faced with a series shortage of experience as he whips his team into shape for the 1955 season opener Friday with the Feds. The Spudsters will field a team averaging 170 pounds, and six lettermen will be on hand to spearhead their attack.

Brettenstein warned that Florida State is tough, aggressive and hard to handle up front. He said they will test Miami's pass defense which had no real opportunity against Georgia Tech.

The varsity, at full strength with the return of Don Johnson to end, may start scrimmaging tomorrow with the emphasis on pass defense.

The third and fourth units spent yesterday tangleing with the frosh and may get more of the same today.

The Spudsters boast a "comparial" backfield, two small tieral sizes, one regular size, and one large economy size. Speedsters Fred Williams, 115 pounds, and Gil Bailey, 140 pounds will be the men to catch in broken field running, while 160 pound quarterback Joe Barnes will be tossing most of the passes. Mike Johnson, at 205 pounds, is hard to stop and will be trying for those inches that count.

Up front veteran Bill Timell, six foot two-inches and 160 pounds, and Trenton Harvey, five foot 11 and 155 pounds, will anchor down the end.

At tackle will be James Godwin, 207, and Milton Horne, 190, a couple of veterans.

Outweighed 189 to 160, Jimmy filled backwards and sideways, and ended behind the beautiful Jerseyie. Usually when slatkins Archie figured he had caught up with Slade, Jimmy would jab him in the nose or hook him to the jaw or stomach.

Until he tired after the seventh round, Slade's boxing lesson wasn't too hard to take. But after the seventh he tired and contented himself with loafing and holding. The few fans in the house who had braved a threat of hurricane lone then bowed Jimmy for his lazy tactics and McBride for his ineptness.

The votes of the officials, all favoring Slade, were: Judge Bill Reehl, 7-2-1, Judge Leo Burnbaum, 6-3-1, and Referee Mark Conn, 5-4-1.

Miami Squad Told Not To Overlook Power Of Gators

MIAMI — The University of Miami football squad was told today not to look past Florida State to prepare for Notre Dame a week later.

Bob Brettenstein, scout for the Hurricanes, told the squad Florida State can be a real handful the night of Sept. 30—and since most of the regulars and first string reserves have tussled with Florida State in a game last fall and in a spring test, Brettenstein didn't have much trouble convincing them.

Slade Fast Mover Once He's Started

NEW YORK (AP)—When Jimmy Slade feels like moving, he's hard to catch. The shifty New York heavyweight was in the mood to move last night when he easily outpointed lumbering Archie Mc Bride of Trenton, N. J., in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Tempo VII Emerges Winner Of Regatta After Mixed Final

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tempo VII emerged the winner of a President's Cup Regatta after a mixed-up final heat that saw both apparent leaders disqualified.

Tempo, the Guy Lombardo boat driven by Danny Foster, was third across the finish line in the 15-mile race Sunday—a mile behind the Dossin Brothers' Miss Pepsi and 50 yards behind George Simon's Miss, United States.

But officials ruled that both Chuck Thompson, driving Miss Pepsi, and Simon, piloting Miss, United States, had jumped the starter's gun.

That gave the President's Cup in Foster, who himself got off to a poor start when he missed a buoy on the first lap and had to back-track. Miss Pepsi had been regarded as a near-sure winner in the 24-year old regatta because of the points she piled up in winning two heats Saturday.

Trailing Tempo at the finish were Miss Thriftway, the Seattle boat driven by Bill Muncy, and Gale V. driven by Lee Schoenith, son of owner Joseph Schoenith of Detroit.

Tempo showed her stuff on Saturday too when she smashed the regatta's 15-mile heat record with a 1:02:09 m.p.h. average, and the 3-mile lap record with a 1:03:47 m.p.h. run.

First Aid Manual Is Great Help

By ALTON L. BLAKESLUE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK. — How to deliver a baby, and how to help someone having a heart attack are told in a comprehensive new book on first aid.

Designed as a practical manual in handling all types of emergencies until a doctor arrives, "The Complete Book of First Aid," (Rantam Books) is written by Dr. John Henderson, medical director of the pharmaceutical firm, Johnson & Johnson.

The advice on delivering a baby is simple language. It describes each step in assisting at a birth, and caring for baby and mother afterward.

With heart ailments the No. 1 killer, the section on saving lives, as much by telling what not to do, as what to do.

Perhaps the commonest heart emergency is acute coronary thrombosis, in which a clot in a narrowed artery blocks blood flow to the heart muscle.

The victim usually has a severe vise-like pain in the chest, perhaps extending down through the arm, or through to the back. He collapses, often becomes unconscious, his face pale. His pulse may be either slow or fast.

DON'T MOVE the victim unless he's in some hazardous spot, and don't lay him down—keep him in a semirecumbent position. Dr. Henderson advises: Loosen all clothing, give oxygen when available. If the person is conscious, try to reassure him. Give nitroglycerine or amyl nitrite if it's available.

Angina pectoris—caused by a spasmodic narrowing of the heart — brings severe, crushing pain; the attacks usually follow great stress or excitement. The victim may have trouble in breathing, or be gasping for breath.

In these attacks, Dr. Henderson says, the victim should be placed in a semirecumbent position, with his head on a pillow or other raised object. He should be protected from any exertion or emotional strain, including keeping any curious onlookers away. Don't try to move him until the attack has passed.

If it's not his first attack, he may well have medicine with him. A nitroglycerine tablet can be put under his tongue to dissolve there, or a vial of amyl nitrite can be broken and held under his nose.

In 200 pages, illustrated with drawings, Dr. Henderson tells how the human machine works, how injuries, how to treat fractures, to apply bandages for various injuries: snake bites, bee stings, burns, black eyes (fold compresses first followed by hot packs), much strong epinephrine is good; how to treat shock, repair a dislocated jaw or shoulder.

One chapter deals with care of burns and blast injuries in case of atomic bombings, and describes effects of poison gases.

Yankees See Flag Flying In Home Park

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Unless Hurricane Ione sends them sprawling, the New York Yankees figure they'll have the American League pennant in hand Friday at Boston.

Yet, it's possible the champion may not be decided until after Sunday's regular-season wrap-up which would provide an appropriately screwy finish for the screwiest race since Casey Stengel was a pup.

All sorts of things can happen between now and Sunday, but basically, here's the situation:

1. Any combination of New York victories and Cleveland defeats totaling five gives the Yankees and Manager Stengel their sixth pennant in seven years.

2. The Indians, with the world on a string just a week ago must sweep their five remaining games and hope the Yankees lose three of their remaining seven to gain at most a tie for the title.

New York could clinch it as early as tomorrow night. To do it, the Yankees would have to sweep their three games at Washington while Cleveland drops a two-game set at Chicago. Even the confident Yanks don't think it will be over that quick, however. They see themselves hauling in the pennant either the afternoon or night portion of their twin bill with the Red Sox Friday.

The storm knocked out last night's game between the Yankees and Senators. Could be lone wild wash out the whole three-game series at Washington—and if so, the Yankees may have to return to Washington after Sunday's "finish" at Boston to play the trio, which loom importantly in the pennant issue.

Stengel, hoping the Washington series ends up on schedule, is aiming for a quick clinch to give his veterans a rest before the World Series opener against Brooklyn a week from tomorrow.

Playing for a swift kill, Stengel sent Whitey Ford (17) and Don Larsen (8-2) against Washington in doubleheader.

The Senators, only 8-13 against New York for the season after whipping Cleveland 12-9 and starting the Tribe on a four-game losing streak that dumped them from the lead, will throw Bob Porterfield (10-17) or Pete Habiak (8-8) and Maury McDerrett (9-9).

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, forced to win 'em all, will decide on either Early Wynn (16-11) or Herb Scarf (15-10) against the "Sears Roebuck" Billy Pierce (16-9) left-hander.

Only two games were scheduled yesterday. In the national, St. Louis overcame a 5-0 four-game losing streak that dumped them from the lead, will throw Bob Porterfield (10-17) or Pete Habiak (8-8) and Maury McDerrett (9-9).

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, forced to win 'em all, will decide on either Early Wynn (16-11) or Herb Scarf (15-10) against the "Sears Roebuck" Billy Pierce (16-9) left-hander.

UCLA, Terps Meet Saturday

By F. T. MACFEELEY
GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Getting ready to meet Georgia Tech footballers here Saturday will give the University of Florida Gators plenty to do this week.

Tech conquered Miami Saturday while Florida was floundering before Mississippi State except for four long runs that produced three touchdowns and a 20-14 victory.

If Florida is to continue on the road up in the Southeastern Conference, Woodruff will have to correct a lot of mistakes from the Saturday opener.

Tech can't have any more spirit and drive than Mississippi State did. But Tech is known for being alert and certainly won't throw the wobbly kind of pass that Florida's Jackie Simpson intercepted and ran 100 yards for the touchdown that turned the tide.

Tech's secondary also is rated too good for Florida to depend on many of the long runs such as Simpson's 68-yard dash to the first touchdown, Jim Rountree's 48-yarder that set up the third and Bobby Lance's 22-yarder that scored it.

So the Gators' job is to develop an effective passing attack, better blocking, shore up the defense and get back the punting prowess of 1954.

Against Mississippi State, Florida completed only one of six passes for a mere three yards. There were only five Florida first downs, three of them on long runs by Jim Rountree, a sophomore playing his first college game.

The Maroons were able to gain 274 yards rushing through Florida's line, mostly through the tricky plays and maneuvering of quarterback Bill Stanton.

Partly, too, Woodruff said it was because Florida stacked its defense against Art Davis, most valuable player in the SEC last year. "We stopped him, too," the coach reminded, "but they saw where that defense left us open and took advantage of it."

Taking a puny 13-yard punt by Florida's Richard Allen, State moved 44 yards to a touchdown in the first quarter without hesitation. Jim Tall's running covered most of the ground and he scored.

State, without much of a passing attack, was even able to break the 3-year Florida string of games in which no opponent scored on a pass.

Stanton tossed to Ron Bennett on a 21-yard play for the touchdown that broke the string.

On his two touchdowns, Simpson already has half the total of 24 points with which he led Florida in scoring last season.

Skipper Figures Pitchers

By ED CORRIGAN
BROOKLYN — Already assured of his job for another year, Manager Walt Alton of the Brooklyn Dodgers today began thinking of his pitching rotation for the World Series.

The thoughts turned out to be disturbing.

Five members of his hurling corps are ailing or below par. Don Newcombe, the big fellow, is just getting over a virus; Carl Erskine still isn't "100 per cent" according to the manager; Karl Spooner is laid low with a virus; Billy Loeb has an aching arm, and Johnny Podres has a rib injury.

"I'm going to pitch Newcombe in one of tonight's games against Philadelphia," said Alton, "and see how he has come around. But we do have a problem. We're coming out of our hitting slump all right, but I don't know if I'll ever try to scout the Yanks. I think I'd rather stay with my own pitching."

Podres and Spooner may not be able to pitch in the series, but Alton hopes Erskine and Loeb come around.

"I thought Erskine did pretty well in his last start although he went only six innings," observed Alton. "The important thing is that his arm is all right."

Alton indicated he wouldn't pitch Loeb any more until the series unless he goes an inning or two against the Pirates because "layoffs don't seem to bother him."

As for his retention as manager, Alton said he was happy that President Walter O'Malley had confidence in him. First, O'Malley hinted that Alton would be back at a victory dinner for the Browns and their wives Sunday night.

Then he confirmed it last night when he said: "I know this isn't December (when he usually announces his manager) but Alton has little worry—in fact, no worry—over his job next year. I like the way he has handled everything."

Alton won't sign a contract until after the World Series.

Kroll Wins Big One With 30 Foot Putt

PHILADELPHIA — Ted Kroll, who says he's lost four playoffs in the past three years, won a big one Sunday when he sank a 30-foot putt on the first extra hole of a sudden death match with PGA champion Doug Ford to take $1,000 first money in the Daily News Open Golf Tournament.

Kroll was four strokes behind Ford, the leader, as Sunday's final round started but shot a one-under-par 87 while Ford scrambled for a 71 that left them knotted at 273 each for the 72 holes.

Fleming, Brumley Meet Again Friday Night On Opposite Sides

Not many years ago Bill Fleming and Herman "Foots" Brumley tore up the turf at Seminole together. "Foots" opened the holes and Bill ran through. Friday night at Sanford's Memorial Stadium these two ex-teammates oppose each other as mentors. Both coaches use the same formation, but one will look through the eyes of a lineman while the other is of a lineman himself. Both are anxious not to come in second in the gridiron race. Coach Herman "Foots" Brumley is mentor for the Hastings Spudsters, and he is fielding his heaviest team in his six-year career.

The Spudster mentor is faced with a series shortage of experience as he whips his team into shape for the 1955 season opener Friday with the Feds. The Spudsters will field a team averaging 170 pounds, and six lettermen will be on hand to spearhead their attack.

Brumley, starting his sixth year as Hastings coach, will operate from the Split-T. He has used this formation with much success in his five years at Hastings but this year he has had to modify it against Georgia Tech.

The varsity, at full strength with the return of Don Johnson to end, may start scrimmaging tomorrow with the emphasis on pass defense.

The third and fourth units spent yesterday tangleing with the frosh and may get more of the same today.

The Yellow Jackets defeated strongly rated Miami 14-6 in their debut.

Tech's meteoric climb shoved Oklahoma and Michigan down a notch in third and fourth, respectively, while Maryland retained its fifth spot despite a close call in its 13-12 victory over Missouri.

The rest of the top 10 was made up of Ohio State, last year's No. 1 team, Pittsburgh, Mississippi Southern, California and Navy.

The leading teams with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. UCLA (34)
2. Georgia Tech (3)
3. Oklahoma (10)
4. Michigan (6)
5. Maryland (1)
6. Ohio State
7. Pittsburgh
8. Mississippi
9. USC (1)
10. Navy (1)
11. The Second 10
12. Notre Dame
13. Texas Tech
14. Rice
15. Army
16. LSU
17. Arkansas (1)
18. Baylor
19. Purdue (1)
20. Florida (1)

Twenty-four cars finished out of 45 starters.

Marvin Panch of Oakland, Calif., was third; Fenty Flock, the winner's brother, was fourth; and Tim Massey of Burlington, N. C., was fifth.

PLENTY LUCKY BUT ALL BAD
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Luther Steele took his boy Lloyd, 11, fishing and they had plenty of luck—all of it bad.

On arrival yesterday at Hales Bar, 15 miles from home, they found they'd left their fishing tackle box at home. They found their boat half full of water and then while the father was trying to bail it out the boy accidentally shot himself in the foot with a 22 rifle.

Miami Squad Told Not To Overlook Power Of Gators

MIAMI — The University of Miami football squad was told today not to look past Florida State to prepare for Notre Dame a week later.

Bob Breitenstein, scout for the Hurricanes, told the squad Florida State can be a real handful the night of Sept. 30—and since most reserves have tussled with Florida State in a game last fall and in a spring test, Breitenstein didn't have much trouble convincing them.

Breitenstein warned that Florida State is tough, aggressive and hard to handle up front. He said they will test Miami's pass defense which had no real opportunity against Georgia Tech.

The third and fourth units spent yesterday tangleing with the frosh and may get more of the same today.

Slade Fast Mover Once He's Started

NEW YORK — When Jimmy Slade feels like moving, he's hard to catch. The shifty New York heavyweight was in the mood to move last night when he easily outpointed lumbering Archie Meade of Trenton, N. J., in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Outweighed 180 to 160, Jimmy flitted backwards and sideways and often behind the bewildered Jerseyite. Usually when stalking Archie figured he had caught up with Slade, Jimmy would jab him in the nose or hook him to the jaw or stomach.

Until he tired after the seventh round, Slade's boxing lesson wasn't too hard to take. But after the seventh he tired and contented himself with loading and holding. The few fans in the house who had braved a threat of hurricane Ione then booed Jimmy for his laziness.

McBride for his ineptness. Reehl, 7-2-1, Judge Leo Birnbaum, 6-3-1, and Referee Mark Conn, 5-1-1.

Atlanta's Flock Averages 77.88 mph

LANGHORNE, Pa. — Tim Flock of Atlanta led from the 80th mile Sunday to win the 250-mile National Circuit Championship late model stock car race, establishing a record speed average of 77.88 miles an hour.

Flock drove his 1955 Chrysler over Langhorne Speedway in an official time of 3:12:35, a one-mile dirt track record for the distance.

Herb Thomas of Sanford, N. C., winner of the Southern 500-mile stock car race finished second, one lap behind Flock. Thomas set the old record of 3:30:42.89 last year.

One accident marred the event. Axel Anderson's car blew a tire and flipped upside down on the fourth turn, sending him to Lower Bucks County Hospital with face cuts and suffering from shock. Anderson is from Patchogue, Long Island.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Luther Steele took his boy Lloyd, 11, fishing and they had plenty of luck—all of it bad.

On arrival yesterday at Hales Bar, 15 miles from home, they found they'd left their fishing tackle box at home. They found their boat half full of water and then while the father was trying to bail it out the boy accidentally shot himself in the foot with a 22 rifle.

Tempo VII Emerges Winner Of Regatta After Mixed Final

WASHINGTON — Tempo VII emerged the winner of the President's Cup Regatta after a mixed-up final heat that saw both apparent leaders disqualified.

Tempo, the Guy Lombardo boat driven by Danny Foster, was third across the finish line in the 15-mile race Sunday—a mile behind the Dassin Brothers' Miss Pepsi and 50 yards behind George Simon's Miss United States.

But officials ruled that both Chuck Thompson, driving Miss Pepsi, and Simon, piloting Miss United States, had jumped the starter's gun.

That gave the President's Cup to Foster, who himself got off to a poor start when he missed a buoy on the first lap and had to backtrack. Miss Pepsi had been regarded as a near-sure winner in the 24-year old regatta because of the points she piled up in winning two heats Saturday.

Trailing Tempo at the finish were Miss Thriftway, the Seattle boat driven by Bill Muncey, and Gale V. driven by Lee Schoenith, son of owner Joseph Schoenith of Detroit.

Tempo showed her stuff on Saturday too when she smashed the regatta's 15-mile heat record with a 100.769 m.p.h. average, and the 3-mile lap record with a 103.647 m.p.h. run.

A tackle will be James Godwin, 207, and Milton Horne, 190, a couple of veterans.

Sweat, 200, will span the guard posts. Jerry Masters, 145, will open at center.

First Aid Manual Is Great Help

THE SANFORD HERALD
Tues. Sept. 20, 1955 Page 7

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK, (AP) - How to deliver a baby, and how to help someone having a heart attack are told in a comprehensive new book on first aid.

Designed as a practical manual in handling all types of emergencies until a doctor arrives, "The Complete Book of First Aid," (Bantam Books) is written by Dr. John Henderson, medical director of the pharmaceutical firm, Johnson & Johnson.

The advice on delivering a baby is one unusual feature. In clear simple language, it describes each step in assisting at a birth, and caring for baby and mother afterward.

With heart ailments the No. 1 killer, the section on aiding heart victims might well save lives, as much by telling what not to do, as what to do.

Perhaps the commonest heart emergency is acute coronary thrombosis, in which a clot in a narrowed artery blocks blood flow to the heart muscle.

The victim usually has a severe vise-like pain in the chest, perhaps extending down through the arm, or through to the back. He collapses, often becomes unconscious, his face pale. His pulse may be either slow or fast.

DON'T MOVE the victim (unless he's in some hazardous spot) and don't lay him down—keep him in a semi-sitting position, Dr. Henderson advises. Loosen all clothing, give oxygen when available.

If the person is conscious, try to reassure him. Give nitroglycerine or amyl nitrite if it's available.

Angina pectoris—used by a spasmodic arteries leading to the heart—brings severe, gripping pain; the attacks usually follow great stress or excitement. The victim may have trouble in breathing, or be gasping for breath.

In these attacks, Dr. Henderson says, the victim should be placed in a semi-reclining position, with his head on a pillow or other raised object. He should be protected from any exertion or emotional strain, including keeping any curious onlookers away. Don't try to move him until the attack has passed.

If it's not his first attack, he may well have medicine with him. A nitroglycerine tablet can be put under his tongue to dissolve there, or a vial of amyl nitrite can be broken and held under his nose.

In 300 pages, illustrated with drawings, Dr. Henderson tells how the human machine works, how injuries, how to treat fractures, to apply bandages for various injuries, snake bites, bee stings, burns, black eyes (cold compresses first followed by hot packs much (strong epsom salts is good), how to treat shock, repair a dislocated jaw or shoulder.

One chapter deals with care of burns and blast injuries in case of atomic bombings, and describes effects of poison gases.

WHAT WERE YOU AND SARGE HOLLERING ABOUT, BERTLE?
HE TRIED TO MAKE ME DIG A TEN-FOOT TRENCH IN ONE HOUR!
I TOLD HIM HE WAS CRAZY AND I WAS GOING TO TELL THE CAPTAIN SO!
HOW MUCH TIME DO THE CAPTAIN GIVE YOU?
TEN DAYS!
STOCKADE!

SARGE, I DON'T WANT ANYONE WHO'S SICK TO MAKE THAT LONG WALK BACK TO LOG CAMP! YOU CAN DRIVE THEM TO THE HOSPITAL!
YES, SR. I'LL ANNOUNCE IT.
HEVI! WAIT A MINUTE! ARE ALL YOU GUYS SICK?
NO BUT WE WILL BE BY THE TIME WE GET INTO THE HOSPITAL!

Plans Started On Yule Parade

'Planning Galore At Ten, Two, Four' Is Keeping Up Pace

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade Committee held its first organizational meeting yesterday, setting plans for the annual Christmas Parade.

Ed Hunt, chairman, revealed that the date, officially decided and agreed upon at their noon meeting yesterday, would be Wednesday Nov. 30, at 2:30 p. m.

Discussion was held on various phases of the parade with emphasis on ways by which the parade could be made longer and more entertaining.

Hunt, chairman of the Jaycee group, announced that committee members have been appointed so that preliminary plans could be completed and work started on putting everything in readiness for the event.

Ralph Pezold has been appointed Parade Marshal, said Hunt, and with the assistance of Sanford Police Chief Roy Williams will have charge of setting up each section of the parade, the establishing of a route and setting of route markers, and the appointing of assistant parade marshals.

Warren E. Knowles and Jimmy Powell have been appointed chairmen of the committee to put into perfect running condition the 25 small floats which are pulled by hand.

Sid Richard will have charge of the committee which will put the big Santa float in first class condition.

Hunt said that the overall committee has come to the conclusion that pulling the small floats is too big a job for youngsters to perform. Ralph Cowan was appointed chairman of the committee to secure adults to pull the small floats.

Ernest Cowley has been appointed coordinator of bands. The Seminole High School band director will complete all details for securing bands to take part in the gigantic parade to be staged this year.

Decorating the small floats will be in charge of Cliff Ables and Herb Roller.

Chairman Ed Hunt said today that the Jaycee committee would greatly appreciate suggestions from citizens. Suggestions for improving the parade may be brought or phoned to Mrs. Raymond Lundquist at the Jaycee Information Booth, phone 1372.

Serving on the Jaycee Christmas Parade Committee with Ed Hunt and meeting with him at noon yesterday were Police Chief Roy Williams, Ernest Cowley, City Manager Warren E. Knowles, A. B. Peterson Jr., Ralph Pezold, and Ralph Cowan.

FRANK MEBANE GETS down to business at his desk at the Mayfair Inn as he plans the 1955-56 season for visitors here. (Staff Photo)

Mebane Arrives Here To Run Mayfair Inn

A native of Central Florida, well-known in Sanford for his management of the Mayfair Inn arrived yesterday to take over his duties at the plush New York Giants tourist hotel.

Frank Mebane, his wife Elizabeth, and daughter Shelley, came to Sanford from Elizabethtown, N. Y., yesterday.

Mebane immediately got down to business and started the whirlwind preparations prior to the winter opening of the Mayfair Inn early in December.

The new manager said that there will be many improvements and additions to be announced as details for their completion are reached. Mebane said, "We will have an orchestra playing every night at the hotel and one night at the Mayfair Inn Seminole County Club."

In addition, there will be changes in the staff that will create a more friendly atmosphere for the enjoyment of Sanford citizens. "For instance," said Mebane, "many of the staff that Sanford folks know so well at the Mount Plunknot Hotel will be here to renew their acquaintances and to add to the cordiality this winter."

Mebane came to Sanford from Hotel Windsor at Elizabethtown, N. Y., where the temperature, he reported, was 45 degrees when he left. "And he quickly added, "though the weather is mighty warm, I'm happy to be back home again."

Commenting on the many changes and improvements to be completed before the season gets underway, the Mayfair Inn manager said, "I hope that Sanford and Central Florida friends will take advantage of these changes and help us enjoy the greatest season ever experienced at the Mayfair Inn."

A native of Orlando, and his wife a native of Sanford, the Melbanses are at home as he assumes his duties as manager of the Mayfair Inn. Mrs. Mebane is the daughter of Fred Compton and Mrs. Fred Dylon. Their daughter, Shelley, is 8-months old.

Lone Travels Alone On Atlantic Ocean; Hilda Leaves Chaos

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While Hurricane lone whistled loosely over the Atlantic today, shattered towns in North Carolina and Mexico counted a sad toll of death and damage wrought by her sister storm, Hilda.

Mexico was left with at least 106 dead and 100 missing in the Gulf port of Tampico and surrounding area where Hilda hit. Clinging floods threatened to raise this toll. With refugees crowded together and water supplies doubtful, authorities were fearful of epidemics.

In North Carolina, which took the brunt of lone before she veered out to sea, five persons were dead and property damage was in the millions.

Lone turned to a northeast course yesterday and missed the northern coastal states that for two days had steered themselves against the advancing tropical storm.

The Washington Weather Bureau, tracking lone over the open sea, reported she is still a dangerous storm and advised caution for all shipping in the area. At 5 a. m. she was centered 150 miles southeast of Halifax, N.S., traveling at 45 miles per hour.

Godfrey Performs Delayed Opening

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey finally got around to his part in the opening of the new West Side Airlines terminal but he was nearly a week late and a mile away from the terminal.

It originally was planned for him to land a helicopter on the roof of the terminal at its opening last week.

The stunt was vetoed by City Marine and Aviation Commissioner Vincent A. G. O'Connor, who said the terminal, on 42nd Street near the Hudson River, was too close to the West Side Highway for safety.

So the helicopter flight was transferred to the roof of Pier 87 farther down the river at 15th Street. After Godfrey brought the aircraft down yesterday he was awarded a scroll from eight airlines praising him for "his contribution to the progress of aviation."

Chief M. Cleveland To Address Jaycees

Sanford Fire Chief Mack N. Cleveland Sr. will speak to the Jaycees Thursday at their noon luncheon meeting.

The meeting, held at the Yacht Club, will be a prelude to Fire Prevention Week activities during the week of Oct. 9.

Garfield Willette, chairman of the Fire Prevention Week program, is busy completing all details for the week-long event.

Woods, Grass Fire Leaves No Damage

A woods and grass fire was reported early last night at the corner of 20th St. and Myrtle Ave.

The Sanford Fire Department answered the alarm shortly before 7 o'clock.

The blazing underbrush and grass was brought under control quickly with no property damage.

Fringe Area Meet Has Varied Feelings

Weir Accepted Group Member In Atlantic City

Harry Weir, administrator of the Seminole County hospital, returned yesterday from Atlantic City where Sunday at the national convention he was accepted as a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators as the organization met with the American Hospital Assn.

T. E. Tucker, chairman of the local Hospital Board of Trustees, in congratulating Weir on the achievement said that he felt that it was further evidence of the fine caliber man heading the operation of the institution and expressed the opinion that the new medical center was fortunate to have this recognized ability to guide it.

It was pointed out that there are three types of affiliation with the national group of hospital operators, all of which must be approved by the membership. Two years experience in an accredited hospital is one of the basic requirements, it was said. To become a member, the second phase, the candidate must pass a comprehensive written and oral examination on the elements of hospital administration. The final elevation in the organization is that of Fellow.

The ceremony of induction, a cap and gown affair, is quite impressive, according to Weir, and of course, is attended by members from the entire country.

Search Continues For Missing Infant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Worried officers in three counties searched intensely today for baby Robert Marcus, who was snatched from a hospital crib Monday, presumably by a busman blonde with a craving for motherhood.

L. Donald Scott, chief of San Francisco's general police detail on the case, said it was "very possible" the woman had been seen at San Jose, some 50 miles south of here in Santa Clara County.

But he also pressed the hunt in San Francisco and in Marin County to the north.

Robert, just 3 days old when kidnapped from the nursery at Mt. Zion Hospital, is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus.

In San Jose, Mrs. Henrietta Guerrero told police she opened her door yesterday morning to a blonde woman who wanted to heat milk for a tiny, screaming baby.

Hong Kong Border Says None Cross

HONG KONG (AP)—No Americans arrived at the Hong Kong border today aboard the daily train from Red China, border police reported.

U. S. consular officials had expected the return from Communist captivity of Dilmus T. Kanady, Houston, Tex., still man. He is the only one still to come of 10 American civilians whose immediate release from prison or home arrest the Reds promised at the Geneva ambassadorial talks.

Kanady was arrested in Shanghai in April 1951 and sentenced in 41 years imprisonment on Red charges of tax evasion, currency blackmarketing and hiding arms.

Tavern Hazard

BOSTON (AP)—A tavern owner is responsible for the safety of a customer who gets in a fight resulting from a television program, Supreme Court Justice Harold P. Williams ruled yesterday. He upheld a lower court award of $3,000 to Pasquale Greco who had called upon a brawling fellow-patron at Sumner Tavern to be quiet during a television program. The man broke Greco's leg in the ensuing battle. The jurist said the tavern owner should have exercised reasonable care for Greco's safety.

Sanford Officials Inspect Equipment

City Manager Warren E. Knowles is out of town today, along with two of his department heads, looking over heavy equipment authorized for purchase by the Sanford City Commission.

Accompanying the city manager were Sid Richard and Eddie Griffith.

According to information received this morning, the trio plan to visit Orlando and Kissimmee in order to see demonstrations of the various items of heavy machinery the city is planning to purchase.

Officials Of City Present

Audience Adds Heckling Remarks

Heated debate, calm discussion and heckling were all included in the agenda last night as fringe area residents and Sanford City Commissioners met at the Sanford Farmers' Auction Market last night.

Chairman T. V. Brown said at the opening of the meeting: "The fringe area residents are poorly represented." There was a total of 55 people attending the called meeting.

At the session, to answer questions from fringe area residents and to answer questions of the out-of-city citizens, were Mayor Denver Cordell, City Commissioners John Kautler, E. D. Scott, and Earl Hightsham, and City Manager Warren E. Knowles.

Mayor Cordell, at the outset of the meeting, told the group, "we're trying to do a good job. After you met with us at the last commission meeting and explained your side of the water rate question, we realize that we had merely pulled a figure out of the hat. It was then that I asked you to postpone this meeting for from four to six weeks to give the City Manager an opportunity to go through the ledger sheets of water rates to come up with a correct figure for water rates outside the city limits."

Other than the water rate increase, basis for argument between members of the fringe area residents and an attempted explanation by city officials, the subject for discussion was an agreement, either signed or rejected by purchasers of new homes in several areas of the city.

Mrs. Edna Heckler contended that the agreement was null and void.

West Nervously Eyes New Treaty For East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—Deep in Communist territory, West Berlin today nervously eyed the new Russian-East German treaty.

In Moscow, where the new pact was signed yesterday with the announced purpose of restoring East German sovereignty, East German Communist boss Walter Ulbricht threatened a new traffic stoppage on West Berlin.

Ulbricht, deputy premier and East German Communist party secretary, talked with correspondent after Soviet Premier Bulganin and East German Premier Otto Grotewohl had signed the new pact in the Marble Room of the Grand Kremlin Palace. Ulbricht warned that new traffic measures around Berlin may be necessary "unless the government of West Germany and West Berlin abandon their cold war attack against our Communist German Democratic Republic."

Grandma Answers $32,000 Question On Baseball Greats

NEW YORK (AP)—Grandma Myrtle Power, the baseball sage from Dixie, has kept up her perfect batting average by hitting safely on the $32,000 question.

Drawing on her amazing diamond lore again last night, she identified six major league players who collected 3,000 or more hits in their careers.

Hal March, master of ceremonies on The $64,000 Question CBS television show, gave her Ty Cobb as the first of the seven who made that mark and asked her to name the others.

Slowly but without missing a swing, she named them — Cap Anson, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Napoleon Lajoie and Paul Waner.

Mrs. Power, who wore the same black dress she had worn in previous appearances, explained: "Ballplayers don't change their undershirts when they're on a winning streak."

Military Chiefs Decide America Holds Sound Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States military chiefs have decided that this country holds a sound lead over Russia in the atomic arms race and can maintain it until 1960. They are not at all sure what will happen after that.

As a result, informants said today, the finding of ways to prolong this country's superiority in design and production of nuclear weapons is a top priority, including long-range rocket missiles, has become a major project.

The White House, the State and Defense departments and other government agencies are at work on it.

A report recently, completed for President Eisenhower by Dr. James R. Killian Jr., president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is now in the hands of Eisenhower's scientific advisers.

Windstorm Levels Carnival Midway

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A windstorm whipped through the Tri-State Fair last night and leveled the carnival midway, injuring at least 20 persons.

Those who were injured were believed to be in a condition.

Bill Evans, midway operator, said a range of more than 500,000 lbs. of equipment was blown through the Panhandle city. Wind was measured at up to 45 miles per hour.

Roofs and roof damage was heavy.

All Citizens Invited To Boat, Ski Club

The Sanford Boat and Ski Club, at a recent meeting of the group, has set the second and last Friday of each month as its meeting nights until further notice.

Included in the new plans for the group of boat and ski enthusiasts will be a picnic on the Sunday following the last meeting of each month. This, club officers say, will be a continuing affair of the organization.

The club will meet at 8 p. m., on its meeting nights in the rooms occupied by the Civil Air Patrol over Touchdown Drug Company.

Officers of the club have extended an invitation to the general public to attend the meetings. Contrary to popular belief, the Sanford Boat and Ski Club is open to all citizens interested in either boating or skiing, members do not have to own boats, they said.

Members of the local boat and ski club are planning a cruise to Astor Park, Sunday Oct. 2. The distance of the cruise to Astor Park will cover about 44 miles and will be made in approximately 2 hours, with the return trip taking the same time.

Those interested in making the cruise, with members of the club, are asked to bring a picnic lunch with them and be ready to leave Monroe Bridge at 9 a. m., Sunday, Oct. 2.

Calling Weepers: Tears Are Needed For Smog Research

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Calling all weepers.

The UCLA Medical Center wants tears for smog research.

Dr. Robert Brunish announced today a study of the chemical makeup of tears may yield a clue to the irritating factor in smog.

The UCLA scientist says he has plenty of children's tears on hand. They flow profusely for science from his own children and in the children's ward of the UCLA hospital.

But he's short of adult tears, even women's.

Dr. Brunish has a theory that tears shed in pain, sorrow or anger differ from those prompted by onion peeling or smog. He hopes to get plenty of both kinds for comparison.

Crocodiles need not apply.

Draft Regulations Change Considered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is considering a change in draft regulations aimed at getting younger men into uniform.

The proposed change is prompted by the rising average age of draftees — now up to about 23 — and is coupled with the administration's new military reserve program.

Officials said the proposed changes, designed to be more "lenient" with older draft-age men, are being circulated among interested agencies for review and comment. They said they did not expect early action.

At present, the practice is to draft from the top down — that is, to take the oldest men first in the eligible 18-to-26 age group.

News Gets Around Of Enforced Laws

NEWS of the tightening up on parking meter violations seems to be getting around.

Yesterday, a traffic violation notice, usually left under the windshield wiper of the automobile concerned, was received at the Sanford Police Department from Fort Myers.

However, distance wasn't the only factor involved in the rare appearance of the ticket. The yellow envelope was dated Oct. 6, 1954.

Police Chief Roy Williams said, "Just a few days short of a year in getting here, but certainly bearing the evidence of the job we're doing in rounding up parking meter violations."

New Witnesses On Tap For Today

SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—New witnesses with "absolutely newly discovered evidence" will be on tap today when the state begins the task of trying to prove that two white men murdered a 14-year-old Negro boy.

Their evidence will strengthen the state's case, which is mostly circumstantial evidence, said Robert B. Smith III, a special assistant attorney general assigned to the prosecution. He gave no details.

Smith and Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham will call the state's first witnesses in the trial of 24-year-old Roy Bryant and his 26-year-old half-brother J. W. Milam.

Peace Agreement Is Won By Rebel Army, Navy Forces

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The rebel forces of the army and navy won a peace agreement today from the loyalist successors of Juan D. Peron.

The rebels established one of their leaders, Eduardo Lonardi, as provisional president of the nation.

Lonardi was a major general when Peron retired him in 1951 on the suspicion that he was plotting against the government. He directed the rebellion of the last few days in the Cordoba district.

Signing of the peace pact was announced in a communique from the junta which took control of loyalist held areas after Peron fell.

A broadcast from the rebel station at Cordoba earlier today mentioned a provisional national government and said Lonardi would head it. He will take over tomorrow in his new post here.

Sheriff Department Continues Practice

The Seminole County Sheriff's Department is continuing its crackdown on highway traffic violators.

Three arrests made yesterday included Myrtle W. Benham, Casselberry, for "passing a stopped school bus" 12 miles south of Sanford on 17-92. The charge was made by Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans at approximately 4 p. m.

Mary E. Greenhaw of Pendleton, S. C., was charged with driving at "excessive speed" five miles south of Sanford on 17-92. Deputy Evans said Mrs. Greenhaw was traveling at a rate of 70 to 75 miles per hour when charged with the violation about 6:30 p. m.

Annie Lois Bryant of Sanford was charged with "improper passing" according to Evans' report when she passed on a solid line in heavy traffic on 17-92 about 4:15 p. m. yesterday, 10 miles south of Sanford.
