BASEBALL FANS SHOCKED WITH NEW SCANDALS

Commissioner Landis Makes Public Testimony In Gambling Involving Stars

Cobb and Speaker Also Accused

Is On Game Played in 1919 Said To Be Cause Of Charges

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Cobb and Tris Speaker linked today in an investigation conducted by Baseball Commissioner Landis in an alleged irregular game played in Detroit in 1919 said to be cause of charges.

Commissioner Landis with making any decision, made more than 100 pages of testimony taken in connection with Cobb and Speaker recently read as managers of the Detroit Cleveland clubs, respectively, which Leonard, once pitcher with Detroit club, and Joe Wood, former American League pitcher, were named in the investigation, which Commissioner Landis involved betting on result of game.

Today's scandal was the third to be played on the American baseball public within the last six months, and on the surface appeared as startling as the famous World's Series of 1919, at which eight stars of the Chicago White Sox were forever barred from organized baseball.

The volume of testimony Commissioner Landis made public in letters Cobb is purported to be written to Leonard, the Tiger.

Ed C. West, who is not immediately involved in connection with the scandal, also was named in the testimony.

What about the status of Cobb and Speaker? Commissioner Landis was asked.

These men being out of baseball, no decision will be made under unchanged conditions in the future, the commissioner said. He refused to amplify statement.

Cobb, here with Speaker for a fine granted by Judge Landis yesterday, declared today that he did not know of the bet, until long after and that the box score of the contest, which Detroit won 5-3, would show that neither Cobb nor Speaker could have been implicated in throwing the game.

Cobb related that "Dutch" Leonard, Detroit pitcher, and Joe Wood, Cleveland pitcher, had bet $600 that $420 that Detroit, then in second place, would win from the Cleveland club on September 25, 1919. Wood did not play in the game, Cobb said. Speaker accused of having knowledge of the plan for Cleveland to make three hits, two of which would double, while Cobb, charged with knowledge of a pre-arranged knockout victory, got but one hit five times at bat. Leonard bled for Detroit.

That ought to show," Cobb declared, "that neither Speaker nor Cobb did not bet on the game, he said. "I have played baseball for years," Cobb said with a catch in his voice. "I don't believe anyone ever played the game any other cleaner or squarer than I. My position is vindicated in the testimony and so is that of Speaker. I refer the baseball fans of the country to my record in baseball. I am proud of it."

Postoffice To Open Christmas Morning

The Sanford postoffice is to be open for a period of two hours on Christmas morning and will remain closed throughout the rest of the day according to an announcement made today by Postmaster J. P. Hall.

One general delivery in the city is to be made, Mr. Hall stated. There is to be no general delivery made on Sunday.

POLICE LOOKING FOR TEN BODIES IN RIVER MISHAP

Thirty Bodies Have Been Recovered Following Tragedy When 30 Or More Loose Their Lives

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Police and firemen today continued grappling among the ice floes of the Hudson River for the bodies of 10 men believed missing from among workmen in search of jobs, who were drowned yesterday when the launch Linsed King capsized. Thirty bodies had been recovered. Relatives who visited the morgue failed to find at least 10 they sought.

Twenty-seven of more than 60 men who crowded the 42 foot craft in its perilous trip across the river from 95th Street, New York, to Edgewater, N. J., were rescued after clinging to ice cakes and the sides of the ship for almost an hour. Captain John Rogweifer, 29 year old skipper of the craft, who swam more than a mile towards the Jersey shore before he was picked up, was under police guard at the Knickerbocker hospital suffering from shock and exposure and threatened with pneumonia. He was under technical charges of negligence and homicide.

Book From Pen Of Former Solon To Be Released Next Year

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A book written for the most part by a federal penitentiary by an ex-congressman, that will "interest and probably astonish a good many people of the country," probably will appear next year over the name of John Wesley Langley.

The 63-year-old man, who resigned as congressman from the tenth Kentucky congressional district to begin a two-year sentence on conviction of violating the national prohibition law, walked jauntily from the Atlanta prison yesterday, a free man. His parole was received from Washington in the morning.

The former congressman said he wrote considerably while in prison but he would not comment on the work.

He asked to be excused from an interview, and handed to newspaperman a statement, saying that while he probably would have something to say and write later, his first thought was of "home, wife, children and friends."

Milton Lipschultz, of Philadelphia, found guilty with Langley of a conspiracy to divert and sell liquor stored in bonded warehouses, and given the same sentence, also received a parole yesterday and left the prison with Langley.

SMITH ACCEPTS SEAT TENDERED BY GOV. SMALL

Senator Elect Is To Take His Seat Account Of Vacancy Due To Death Of Former Senator Last November

Appointment May Cause Big Battle

Governor Small Is Quoted As Saying "No Man Will Turn Down Offer From Him"

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Col. Frank L. Smith has accepted the senatorial appointment of Governor Len. Small to the seat made vacant by the death of Senator William B. McKinley and will go to Washington soon after New Year's day to present his credentials to the Senate, Governor Small announced today.

Smith, already Senator-elect to succeed McKinley, made known his acceptance, the Governor said, on receipt of his certificate of appointment, but the Governor said he had assurances before he made the selection that it would be promptly accepted.

Col. Smith was in the country near his home at Dwight, inspecting farm properties and his employees did not know where to reach him.

The announcement was made on the authority of Governor Small, who was quoted as saying Col. Smith accepted by telegram Sunday night after he received his certificate of appointment at his home in Dwight.

"No man ever refuses an appointment for the United States Senate by the Governor of Illinois," the Governor was quoted as saying.

The remarks were called forth by a query as to whether the acceptance was not contrary to the advice of friends that he decline rather than force, at this time, a battle upon his admittance because of slush fund charges, said the Journal.

Disappearance Case At Washington Is Puzzle To Officers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Admittedly baffled, Washington police turned with little expectancy of success today toward the icy waters of the Potomac for a solution of the disappearance of Mrs. Gladys W. Houck, wife of Dr. Knute Houck, young psychiatrist of St. Elizabeth hospital.

Mrs. H. K. Houck, mother of Dr. Houck, is of the opinion that her daughter-in-law, like her son, is of a mental disorder and has "wandered away." The younger Mrs. Houck, she said, had been studying very hard to keep pace with the brilliant progress of her husband, who was picked up Friday at Horpeli, N. Y., walking about in his underclothes and babbling irrationally.

Dr. Houck has proved an enigma even to his colleagues. At times he appears rational, but then gives disconcerting answers and diverges into other channels of thought.

Fellow physicians have told the police that he had shown signs of nervous and mental trouble recently but they regard the present attack as only temporary.

"I know I am still a bit crazy he said at Gallinger Hospital during a rational period, "but I am getting better."

FORMER CHIEF OF POLICE ISSUES A DENIAL ON STAND

Deposed Head Of Canton Law Forces Denies Having Had Conference With Accused In McLeod Murder Trial

CANTON, Ohio, Dec. 21.—(AP)—S. A. Lonnie, deposed chief of police, who acted as a defense witness in the trial of Patrick McDermott, charged with the slaying of Don K. McLeod, has denied the state's claim that he conferred with Ben Ruhner, one of McDermott's co-defendants, the night of the slaying. He testified yesterday he had not seen Ruhner at police headquarters for two years.

Further in dispute of the state's claim that the police department afforded protection to Ruhner, McDermott and Louis Mazer, the third co-defendant, Lonnie said he never had seen McDermott and knew little about Mazer.

Largely was dismissed by Mayor S. M. Swartz, following the slaying murder, on a charge of being "in contact with known law violators."

Mrs. Ethel C. Genard, operator of the lodging house where McDermott lived under the alias of Charles Thompson between July 9 and July 16, testified she heard McDermott go to bed at 10:30 the night of July 15, just before the murder was committed and that it would have been impossible for her to leave the house afterward without her knowing it.

Langley May Again Run For Congress

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Louisville Times in a special dispatch from Lexington, Ky., today, says that John W. Langley, former Republican congressman from the tenth district of Kentucky who was paroled from the Atlanta federal penitentiary yesterday, confidently expects to run for congress again from his district in the eastern Kentucky mountains. The paper holds Mr. Langley holds that it is not necessary for him to have his citizenship restored to make the race.

Gov. Ross Expected

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Gov. Nellie Ross, of Wyoming, will pay a social visit with Gov. and Mrs. John W. Martin some time in January, Gov. Martin was advised today. Gov. Ross will probably come to Florida from Memphis, it was stated.

Children Receive Reward Of Dollar For Assisting In Salvage Of $500

One dollar for assisting in the salvage of $50. That was the reward earned by several children living about five miles south of Sanford on the Orlando-Sanford highway last Thursday, according to Mrs. W. E. Steward, who reported the story to a representative of The Herald.

Socialists To Build Debs Radio Station

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The name of Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader, will be perpetuated in an act of some magnitude. The national executive committee of the socialist party has accepted proposals to erect a monument to their dead leader and to build a radio broadcasting station in his honor, it was announced today. The station is to be named "W. V. D. S."

Lawyers To Begin Efforts Today To Free Stephenson

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Attorneys for D. C. Stephenson, here today to file application for a writ of habeas corpus on his behalf, indicated their belief that they had evidence strong enough not only to gain their point in the first step, but also to obtain his release on bail pending final determination of the case.

Stephenson's petition filed on an alleged error in the transcription of the transcript of the case from the Marion criminal court to the Hamilton circuit court be granted. Stephenson probably would be returned to the sheriff of Hamilton county.

It was in the latter county that the former grand dragoon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan was convicted of the first degree murder of Miss Madge Oberholser, of Indianapolis, who took poison following her alleged abduction by Stephenson to Hamm, Ind., in March 1925.

Large Dividend Voted

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A 3,900 per cent stock dividend voted by the directors of the Union Fabric company of Derby, makers of covered steels and radio parts, became known yesterday with the filing at the office of the Secretary of State a certificate of increase of stock. Since it was increased in 1887 he company has had a capital stock of but $9,000 which would be increased to $360,000.

England Is Nearer Revolution, Avers Son Of The Premier

SMETHWICK, Staffordshire, Eng., Dec. 21.—(AP)—The declaration by Oliver Baldwin, socialist son of the conservative prime minister, that "we are nearer revolution today than ever before," featured the close of the campaign on Oswald Mosley, whose parliamentary candidacy was before the voters in a bye-election here today.

Young Baldwin, addressing a mass meeting, predicted that 50 years hence there would be only two parties in Great Britain—Socialist and Communist.

The result of the bye-election will be known about midnight.

STATE HEADS OF ITALY RESENTING POPE'S CRITICISM

Papal Declaration Said To Have Widened Breach That Exists Between Church And State Governments

ROME, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Italian government considers "strange, surprising and uncalled for" Pope Pius' pointed criticism of Fascism's religious policies contained in yesterday's allocution, the Associated Press today was informed by a government spokesman.

The papal declaration, which is felt to have eliminated any hope of a speedy reconciliation between church and state in Italy came as such a shock to political circles generally that the greatest reluctance is being observed, while the newspapers have not printed a single word of comment.

Incidents of violence against Catholic individuals and organizations, upon which the pontiff based his criticism, it was declared, are definitely things of the past, having occurred as a spontaneous and momentary reaction lasting for but a few days after the most recent attempt on Mussolini's life.

The true source of the Holy see's criticism, said the informant, lies in a recognition of the growing strength of Fascism organization for youth—the Ballilla—for boys of eight to fourteen, and the vanguardisti, for youths of fourteen to eighteen. These organizations, it was said, are feared by the Vatican as anti-religious, monopolistic and strong competitors of Catholic youth organizations such as the Catholic Boy Scouts.

Such fear is unfounded, the government spokesman said, as will be demonstrated by statutes governing the Ballilla and Vanguardisti which it is probable that Premier Mussolini will publish in the near future.

Fascism intends to continue to strengthen its training of the youth of the nation, but feels that black shirt boys, instead of clashing with Catholic boys, can live on terms of friendliness provided the latter scrupulously steer clear of politics, the spokesman stated.

Survivor Of Ill Fated Ship Loud In Crew's Praise

Rescued Sailor From Coast Guard Vessel Tells Story Of Heroism Among Men In Fighting Fire For Hours

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Battling a stubborn fire, with high seas running and little hope for rescue, eight members of the crew of the coast guard schooner Lincoln, which was destroyed by fire off Cape Lookout light early Saturday, fought a losing fight.

Gordon Schultz, motor machinist's mate, and Howard Carter, members of the crew of the ill-fated Lincoln, are at the local coast guard base after being taken off the British steamer Defender here yesterday, having been rescued by the vessel Saturday morning. Neither Schultz nor Carter were able to state how many men perished.

In describing his experience Schultz said that at about 3:30 o'clock a. m., Saturday, he was awakened by gas fumes. He left his bunk to investigate and notified the captain.

Before anything could be done to remedy the trouble an explosion was heard, which was followed by fire breaking out. The engine room of the Lincoln was immediately enveloped in flames and the captain gave the order to fight the fire.

When opposite Cape Lookout light the fog siren was sounded three times in an effort to call aid from the light vessel, which, as it developed from the report of Captain E. Maycock of the British ship Defender, immediately sent a searchlight and the steamer altered its course steaming to the location where the Lincoln was located. The vessel from the Lookout light vessel.

Pan American Flight Planes Take Off On Long Journey Today

Five Big Ships Leave Kelly Field On Trip Calling For Visit To 20 Southern Nations

Ten Men Comprise Flight Personnel

Slight Mishap To One Ship Delays Start For A Few Minutes

KELLY FIELD, SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Kissed by wives and mothers, and carrying the benediction of the nation's pilots of the army's Pan American air armada, departed today from Kelly field to blaze a trail of friendship to the hearts of 20 nationalities of Latin America.

A fire on the ship New York had a blowout as the plane was being jockeyed into position and was repaired.

Major H. A. Dargue, flight commander, laughed at the slight mishap to his ship which just washed broke a wing. When asked if he expected to go somewhere today he replied with some emphasis:

"Yes, tell them we're going. And that's final!"

As the flight ships were getting into position an air circus overhead gave spectators something to think about.

The weather continued to clear with a sharp breeze coming up to chase away fog which has veiled the fields for several days.

If the wind continued, Major Dargue said he expected to make Point Isabel, near Brownsville, Tex., in two and one-half hours for landing off.

The wives of six pilots said that farewells to their husbands, and the mother of the only bachelor of the ten, Captain A. B. McDaniels, of San Antonio, was present to wish her boy goodspeed. The six wives are: Mrs. H. A. Dargue, Mrs. C. Eaker, Mrs. D. S. Thompson, Mrs. L. D. Weddington, Mrs. J. W. Benton and Mrs. Charles McRobison.

The planes were taken from their hangars at 9 o'clock and wheeled down the concrete runway, along the smooth mile-stretch of which they were to take off.

It was announced that General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the service, planned to go up to meet the squadron for a few miles. He expected to fly about 15 miles in the reserve ship.

Man Who Shot Two Claims Self Defense

ALBEMARLE, N. C., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A belief that two Washington and Lee students planned to kill him caused C. C. Cranfield of Winston-Salem, to shoot first and then flee from the train on which the three were passengers. Cranfield declared in explanation of his flight from Salisbury, where the shooting occurred.

His wife's explanation of the affair is that Cranfield "has been a little off for the past two weeks." Mrs. Cranfield, also a passenger on the train, denied that E. Strelt, or N. R. Crozier, bothered her with their attentions, as her husband charged.

RUMANIAN KING WOULD QUIT IN CAROL'S FAVOR

Carol Is Willing To Assume Throne But Only Under Certain Conditions, He Says

Heir Wants Wife To Be Divorced

Prince Also Asks For New Cabinet Headed By Professor Jorga

PARIS, Dec. 20.—(AP)—King Ferdinand of Rumania, wishes to abdicate the throne and restore former Crown Prince Carol to the rights he renounced on Jan. 4, last.

The King made this known to his ministers at a secret council held in Bucharest last week, it is learned from a high Rumanian political source in Paris.

As a result of the King's ultimatum to his ministers, Gen. Goanda was sent to Paris and already has advised Ferdinand that Carol is willing to comply with his father's wishes, but under certain conditions.

These are first that King Ferdinand must abdicate to Carol's favoring Princess Helen and second, that before he ascends the throne, the present government must be thrown out and a Democratic cabinet headed by Prof. Jorga and leaders of the new national-peasant party, must be given power.

Wants to Quit Public Life "I am a sick, old man," King Ferdinand is reported as having told his ministers. I want to retire entirely from public life."

The secret council at which the King made his wish known was attended by Queen Marie, Premier Averescu, Jan Bradano, who is sometimes called "the uncrowned King of Rumania," Gen. Goanda and several other leading political figures.

Queen Wants Place on Regency. At the present time there is a sharp quarrel at the royal palace over the succession of power. Queen Marie, supported by Bradano and Prince Stirbey, the latter's brother-in-law, wants a place on the regency which is now made up of Prince Nicholas, the president of the supreme court and the patriarch of the Rumanian Church.

It is considered an absolute certainty that while the King lives, he will never consent to this, as it would mean the final exile of Prince Carol, since the latter's relation with his royal mother is believed to be worse than ever.

Loew Interests In Atlanta Increased By Theater Leases

ATLANTA, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Grand Theatre block, comprising a seven story office and another building in the downtown section has been leased by Loew's Inc. in a sixty year lease at a rental aggregating $9,000,000.

When the Grand Theatre, was opened in 1893 by Paul De Giverson of Laurent De Giverson, Belgian consul to Atlanta, it was considered entirely too big for the city and was unamplifiedly referred to as "Jonah" to the De Giverson family.

Ed A. Schiller, vice president of Loew's Inc., announced the transaction yesterday from New York. A statement from Loew's Inc. represented Mr. Schiller as saying that the property will be supplanted with a new theater with a seating capacity of 4,000, "the largest in the entire South," and office building and department store.

Japanese Cheered By News That Emperor Is Improved In Health

TOKYO, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The three hopes of a nation which has devoutly prayed for the life of its monarch since Emperor Yoshihito became critically ill was shared today by the optimistic words of Premier Wakatsuki.

The premier told the hundreds of newspaper men who have besieged Hayama, where the royal patient is hovering between life and death, that there is some sign of improvement in his condition. Newspapers, encouraged by the return to Tokyo of Dr. Inada, court physician, and Premier Wakatsuki's statement, have forced the court that he is now in immediate danger.

North Florida Yields Over 2 Million Pounds Of Bright Tobacco, Is Recent Report

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 20.—(AP)—North Florida this year produced 2,434,484 pounds of bright tobacco, according to a census of the production, conducted by the bureau of immigration of the state department of agriculture.

Eleven counties, Jackson, Gadsden, Liberty, Lafayette, Madison, Suwannee, Holmes, Alachua, Hamilton, Leon and Jefferson, reported their bright tobacco production to the bureau. A total of 2,817 acres was planted to the crop, and the average prices received per pound ranged from 23 to 35 cents. Five counties, Jackson, Gadsden, Liberty, Lafayette and Hamilton, did not report on the average price received.

WALL STREET OPENING NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP)—An "old fashioned Christmas market" ushered in the new week on the New York stock exchange. Prices were bid up in impressive fashion, opening gains of a point or more being recorded by DuPont, International Telephone, Drugs and chemicals also displaying advances.

Reading crossed 101 to the highest price since 1920 but Aetna and New York Central were heavy on profit taking. Speculative interest shifted from the industrials to the rails soon after the opening. Prospects of higher or increased dividends on the common stocks of some of the country's largest railroad systems influenced the buying of those shares.

Chesapeake and Ohio extended its gain to four points before the end of the first half hour and "Nickel Plate" common, Canadian Pacific, Great Western preferred and Southern Pacific were among the dozen or so issues to move up a point or more, the last named touching a new high.

Heaviness of the Standard industrials was generally attributed to profit taking, probably influenced in part by the deficit in reserve shown in last Saturday's clearing house statement. New York Tractions were again in brisk demand in reflection of the plans underway for a solution of the city's transit difficulties. Establishment of a new 1926 high record by French francs above 4.05 cents featured the foreign exchange market.

Demand sterling was unchanged at 4.84 5-8 and most of the continental rates showed slight improvement. Cotton Review NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Cotton goods production continued very full and trading in cotton goods is seasonably quiet in the primary divisions. Denims have been reduced two cents a yard to a basis of 13 1-2 cents for 2.20s, slinkings are down one cent a yard. Glenghams have been continued on the fall price list basis.

This re-pricing brings values down to the parity of gray cloths. Print cloths and sheetings are somewhat easier than a week ago, bleached goods trade is quiet. Goods suitable for substitution for hosiery are being bought a little more freely. New prices on heavy knit underwear for fall delivery are down from 12 1-2 to 15 per cent. Prices current on cloths in primary markets are as follows: Print cloths, 28 inch 64 by 64, 8 1-8 cents; 64 by 60s, 7-8; 88 1-2 inch 64 by 64; 7 1-4 cents; brown sheetings, southern standards, 11 1-2 cents; denims, 2.20s, 13 1-2; slinkings 8 ounce 27 1-2 cents to 19 cents; prints 6 cents; Maple glenghams 9 cents; dress glenghams 13 1-2 to 15 1-2 cents.

Large Audience Is Present For Play At Sanford Church

The auditorium of the Congregational Church was crowded last night for the presentation of "The Adoration of Kings and Wlaemen" a religious portrayal of the discovery of Christ. Christmas Carols were sung by a large chorus, directed by Martin Stancipher, during the pageant.

Hundreds of Sanford and out of town visitors were turned away through lack of seating capacity and the auditorium was packed from door to door.

Written by Mildred E. Cook "The Adoration of Kings and Wlaemen" required a cast of 23 characters, supported by a chorus of 25 voices and it required several weeks of intensive rehearsal before its production last night.

Injuries Fatal To Basketball Player

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 20.—(AP)—James Connors, 21, died in a hospital last night from concussion of the brain received in a basketball game in Central Falls, R. I., Saturday night. Praying in a semi-professional game, he stepped to pick up the ball from the floor after a low pass. Turning sharply, he swung into a post. He did not continue play but returned to Fall River, refusing medical attention.

Seven White Prisoners Make Dash From Jail At Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 20.—(AP)—Seven white prisoners, two of them trustees, escaped from the Jefferson county jail today a few minutes after midnight after clubbing two guards and obtaining their keys.

Before city police could concentrate on the jail they were informed that two of the convicts had attacked H. M. Worthington, night watchman at a downtown garage, shot him five times and escaped in an automobile. Worthington was severely wounded.

The prisoners, all at liberty today, were: Louis and Willie Turner, awaiting trial on charges of robbing a filling station; E. C. Bennett, held for larceny; L. Lohnden, held on charges of obtaining goods on false pretenses; E. C. Winters, charged with forgery; James Burke, wanted on forgery charges in Florida, Georgia and Mississippi; and James Frank, charged with robbery and grand larceny. The two Turners are suspected of having attacked Worthington.

Man Kills Estranged Wife, Then Himself CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Angered at meeting his estranged wife, Elizabeth, at a roadside in company with another man, Jerry Fossett, 30 shot and killed her and then committed suicide in Willow Springs, a suburb. Fossett had followed his wife and her sister, Mrs. Ross Larson, a quarrel of a mile from the roadside, threatening them with a pistol after his wife had spurned his entreaties for reconciliation.

Body Of Noted Cotton Magnate Will Arrive In Memphis Monday

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 20.—(AP)—The body of Joseph Newburger, multi-millionaire, cotton magnate and philanthropist, who died suddenly in a New York Hotel last night, will arrive in Memphis Monday. Death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Newburger was born at Coffeyville, Miss., June 12, 1858. He was a Jew, educated in a Jesuit college, and was a director of the Methodist Hospital here.

He was president of the Newburger Cotton Company, vice president and one of the principal owners of the Federal Compress Corporation, president of the Memphis Packing Company and controlled 28 of the leading cotton compresses in the states of Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Crimson Tide Holds Last Workout Today

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 20.—(AP)—A final workout on Tannehill field before Alabama's Crimson Tide leaves for the Pacific coast is expected this afternoon. Coach Wallace Wade has his men in excellent condition for the trip to Pasadena where Stanford will be met in New Year's day in the annual Tournament of the Roses.

Chicagoan Admits Slaying Boy After Attempted Assault

(Continued from Page 1) made me angry," and again he related that he sent the boy for a sandwich "and he came back with the wrong kind." He told the police he had been drinking, but denied that he was drunk.

Several boys who have been accused by a man in the last few weeks have been asked to see if they can identify Croarkin on their mugshot. Croarkin has denied any knowledge of these attacks. He also told the state's attorney that he knew nothing of the fate of another boy, Richard Popishal, who has not been seen since Wednesday. Young Popishal used as a playground the riding academy where Schmitz was slain.

Six little playmates will be bodyguards at the funeral services today. In Croarkin's latest statement which followed a number of rambling declarations concerning the slaying he said that he asked Walter to go after some coffee. They had no bucket and another boy asked to go for one. Croarkin then went into the barn with Walter and after describing his action there he said that he became alarmed, having been told in a previous case in which he was named that his actions constituted a mortal offense. He then decided to play the youth and asked him to go to the second floor. Seizing a hammer he followed. He then dared the youth to climb into the loft. There, he related, he struck the boy and left him to die.

Without Food For 8 Days, Man Admits He Ate Companion's Flesh

AVAILON, SANTA CATALINA ISLANDS, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The startling admission that he had eaten the flesh of his dead companion whom he survived when the two were casta drift at sea in an open boat, was made here last night by E. L. Kelly, 69, a fisherman.

Kelly was picked up on the beach near here yesterday and brought to a hospital after drifting for eleven days. The mutilated body of his companion, James McKinley, 63, was found in the bottom of a small fishing yawl off the end of the island. Kelly said he had been without food for water for eight days. His

ALABAMA TEAM LEAVING TODAY FOR CALIFORNIA

Crusader Tide Warriors Are Off In Eight Coaches For Game With Stanford U. On New Year's Day In Bowl

MOBILE, Ala., Dec. 21.—A special train of eight coaches in immediate danger of being decorated and festooned with bunting for the Tournament of Roses, waited on the tracks this morning for the University of Alabama football team.

Twenty-three young men of the Crusader Tide hurried preparations to leave at 11 o'clock, bound for Pasadena, Cal. On New Year's Day Alabama will play Stanford University in the coast championship.

Coaches suggesting a celebration on the train to July fourth were present. Scores of persons from surrounding towns and cities were gathered for the team's departure.

Coach Wallace Wade, leading an eleven into Rose bowl for the second time in as many years, brought back on the 20 to 10 victory over Washington University a year ago and agreed with supporters that "they are ready."

Coach Wade, a preacher of the gospel that a team either becomes more effective, or deteriorates over a period of days, said his players were in the "best condition of their career."

Captain Emilie Barnes, quarterback, and Captain-elect Freddie Burkard, guard, led the following into the train:

Robert Brown, Archie Taylor, Marvin Vines, Dick Hamner, Herndon Caldwell, Jimmy Johnston, Ed Smith, Harry Holder and Dave Rosenfeld, back; Hoyt Winslow, Billy Morrison, Raymond Peck, and Ben Ellis, ends; Clarke Pearce, Ellis Hagler, guards; Sherlock Holmes, center; Claude Perry, tackle; and James Bowdin, James Skidmore, Leslie Payne and Roy Dismukes, substitutes for the line, among whom the other tackle berth will be filled.

Central Florida Gun Club Holds Its Shoot Of The Season Near Maitland

MAITLAND, Fla., Dec. 21.—Trapshooters from Daytona, Cocoa, Haines City, Winter Park and Orlando participated in the first shoot, on informal affair, of the Central Florida Gun Club at "The Oaks," on Lake Faith, Maitland.

The net shoot is scheduled for Dec. 23 at which time all lovers of the sport are invited to visit the home of the Central Florida Gun Club at "The Oaks."

Cocoa's delegation joined the club 100 per cent, while H. C. Stutz, formerly president of the Stutz Motor Company, and now a resident of Winter Park, won the distinction of being the first shooter to become a member of the Central Florida Gun Club.

A. G. Forcher of Cocoa, christened the new traps by breaking the first pigeon thrown. This launched the Central Florida Gun Club and began the first shoot.

Everyone who attended the impromptu affair was delighted with the shoot and especially pleased that central Florida is to have such a delightful place for its club as "The Oaks."

The ladies present enjoyed their visit immensely. It was decided that the members would extend ladies day to their wives and sweethearts to the Thursday shoot which will mark the regular weekly shoot of the club, starting at 2 P. M.

The following were the scores made:

Out of 50 shots: Harry Johnson	44

DePalma Conducts Tests Of New Car By Studebaker Firm

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 21.—Speculation that has been current this week as to why Ralph DePalma, the racing star and a member of the Studebaker engineering staff, was driving a competitive make of car on the Indianapolis speedway was cleared up yesterday when it was learned that DePalma was conducting special tests on the new Erskine Six Studebaker's new 2 1/2 liter car.

The competitive make car piloted by DePalma was in reality an Erskine Six chassis equipped with a camouflage body. The racing driver was at the track to carry on certain tests amplifying the work he has been doing at the 800-acre Studebaker Proving Ground near South Bend, Ind.

The incident emphasizes the extreme secrecy that has characterized the development of Studebaker's new car, which will be introduced at the National Automobile Show in New York Jan. 8. Notwithstanding the fact that the Erskine Six has been brought out in Europe, where it made its debut at the Paris Salon in October, no details of its design or construction have been made public in the United States.

Man Held On Charge Of Shooting Pair Of Students In Station

ALBEMARLE, N. C., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A man giving the name of C. C. Cutley, was held for preliminary hearing here today while Salisbury police investigated a charge that he shot two Washington and Lee University students in the Southern railway station there Saturday night and fled in two automobiles commandeered at pistol point.

Edward M. Stell, brother of G. W. Stell, Jr., former Auburn football star, was in a Salisbury hospital today, wounded, but not severely hurt. A companion, whose name was not learned, continued his journey with a minor wound. The youths were on their way to Birmingham, Ala., for the holidays.

Cutley was captured here yesterday by a negro who frustrated his effort to obtain a third automobile. Police quoted him as saying he shot the students in resentment of remarks they made regarding his wife, who was a passenger with him, between Winston-Salem and Charlotte, N. C. The woman remained on the train and today had not been communicated with by police.

MEMPHIS BANKER DIES
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 21.—(AP)—James Maney Vandaman, 30 years old, vice president of the Union and Planters Bank and Trust Company of Memphis, died suddenly of heart disease at his home here today. Mr. Vandaman was the son of James K. Vandaman, former governor of Mississippi and United States senator.

Spring Waters Of Big Horn In Wyoming Favorite Haunt For Evil Or Sick Indians

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo., Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Big Horn hot springs, among the largest in the world, are a favored haunt of the Great Spirit and possessed of miraculous powers, if old Indian myths are to be believed.

Today large numbers of Shoshones, Arapahoes and Springs camp in numbers near the springs, invoking the aid of the Great Spirit in ridding them of their ailments. They also believe these waters will bring them protection against evil.

Source of Rituals
Harry Lange, an old Indian fighter, recently visited the springs and recalled that 50 years before he, as a member of a scouting party with a cavalry detachment guided by Arapahoes, had crossed the Big Horn at the present site of Thermopolis. Before the Indians would proceed, Lange said, they threw themselves into the pools below the big spring and went through religious rituals. They urged the soldiers to do likewise, declaring the waters were blessed by the Great Spirit and that bathing in them would ward off evil.

A legend almost as old as the Shoshone tribe itself says that back in the beginning of things Ishawoon, a chief who ruled all the Indians of this section, alone knew of the springs and visited them annually, thus keeping his power and health. But when old age finally came he directed his braves to take him to these waters and allow him to die in them so his spirit would be blessed by the Great Spirit.

Chief's Heir Made Strong
Ishawoon's only son, Wapiti, Thermopolis. Before the Indians

would never be able to assume his father's leadership. But as he died Ishawoon confided to Wapiti the secret of finding the Great Spirit's favor by bathing in the hot springs. It was thus that Wapiti became strong and eventually an even greater chief than his father.

Generations later the great Shoshone chief, Washakie, submitting to the advance of the paleface, ceded the Big Horn hot springs to the United States and the state of Wyoming on condition that a portion of their waters be reserved for free use by the weak and sick of both peoples.

EMPLOYEES SHARE MELON
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Sixty thousand employees of the U. S. Steel Corp., it is estimated will share to the extent of about $22,000,000 in the 40 per cent Christmas stock dividend authorized. The stock held by these workers is figured at around 657,000 shares. The exact stock holdings of employees and the extent of their participation in "the melon" is expected to be made known shortly.

Here's Christmas News From Santa Claus, Indiana

SANTA CLAUS, Ind., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Is there a Santa Claus? Yes.

Since you never heard of Santa Claus before—perish the thought—let me tell you about him in the right hand corner of this county, not far from the river. It's right there, in the words, stories that are told at the north pole are true.

There is a store, which also is a blacksmith shop, where you can get a milk and a blacksmith together with 97 Santa Clauses who call this place home, and who are as indisputable witnesses to the fact.

Santa Claus has been here since 1866—and right happy he is.

Santa Claus lives here all the year, like God, little Aeneas, and the rest of the Santa Claus school, puts it.

Julius Bockstaler brings the story to Julius.

A spry old man with a red nose and a white beard, Bockstaler is the only Santa Claus resident who doesn't assemble with the rest of the party in the little house on top of the hill.

Everybody else is there, beaming and smiling, and presently old Bockstaler makes his appearance in a scarlet coat, shining whiskeys boots and all that—Bockstaler!

However, knows there is a Santa Claus.

Hard to get the kids to believe in Santa Claus, nowadays, but in his deep, German voice he says for me it is one, and it's a good one, the people of the world, aren't for the Christmas once a year, what sort of a Santa Claus would it be?

Santa Claus' suspicion! It is a suspicion that removal of the whiskers and red hat, which the Santa Claus wears at the annual party, might reveal the secret, but it never has been revealed.

Santa Claus is near Lincoln, Ind., where Abraham Lincoln was born. The folk from Santa Claus have nearly all visited to see the Nancy Hanks Lincoln Memorial.

Master Martin is one of the best citizens in Santa Claus, and gets the mail along about Christmas every day. He and Bockstaler and the rest of the Santa Clauses sit up late at night writing out the letters to Santa Claus that pour in from all over the world.

Answers as many of them as possible—sometimes sending a card.

There is one of the Santa Clauses here. He is a great one, and in the whole year he gets a "Pop" away from Santa Claus on the night of the Christmas.

He is 15 and the biggest in the Santa Claus school.

Body told him once that all the Santa Clauses talk so much about the mail, that he was inclined to believe it.

At the little Aeneas Corner to the right of the Santa Claus school, there is a Santa Claus, and his name is "There certainly is." Maybe you don't see him, but his spirit is here all the time—just like God's!

He never said anything about the Santa Clauses that "Tracher" is popular.

All young men live in Santa Claus, but only one, young "Fry," the school teacher, is popular? You bet!

Very oldest native of Santa Claus is Mrs. John Poellian, who was a Santa Clausian for 57 years. She says it's the best town in the world.

Traveling men who "make" their money in Indiana have discovered much, too.

They make special trips to Santa Claus every year to mail their greetings to their friends and customers.

"Santa Claus, Indiana," post-office attracts swift attention, and is learned.

Court Ruling Over Plea In Oil Cases Expected Thursday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Motions to dismiss the Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome conspiracy indictments were taken under advisement today by Justice Jennings Bailey after the conclusion of Columbia Supreme Court.

Justice Bailey will rule on the motion Thursday. Meantime arrangement of the defendants and the fixing of a trial date will be delayed.

Littleton contended that the oil magnate had been singled out by the Senate for special prosecution, inasmuch as Independence counsel had been appointed to conduct the case. He described the Senate resolution of February 8, 1924, directing President Coolidge to appoint the special prosecutors as unconstitutional and constituting an abridgement of rights of due process of law as defined in the Constitution.

Levi Cook, in behalf of Fall, said the 68th Congress was a "grand inquisition" and that any trial based upon its actions was in the nature of the case not due process of law.

"If Mr. Fall faces trial in this honorable court and is acquitted he and his counsel are denounced as shysters—in the Senate of the United States," he said. "If we make a motion, we are accused of seeking delay. If we do nothing we are guilty."

What the Supreme Court calls GOOD WILL

The United States Supreme Court recently defined good will as "the disposition of the pleased customer to return to the place where he has been well-treated."

Here are five ways in which we try to merit your good-will: 1. Quality always the highest; 2. Prompt, dependable deliveries—whether the quantity is large or small; 3. Advice in selection of materials; 4. Helpful suggestions on your building problems; 5. Prices always fair.

We submit our case to the very highest court—the court of Public Opinion!

As Christmas Comes

To celebrate the birthday of Jesus Christ—Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, The Prince of Peace, Everlasting Father, as Isaiah, the prophet foretold Him—some men are planning to get gloriously drunk!

They have hunted up their bootlegger. They have asked him to violate their country's laws again, and to take another step lower into the degradation where sneaks and crooks are bound to land.

Just before Christmas the liquor will be slipped into the back door some night. A bottle will be opened Christmas Eve, and while the carol singers are telling of that sacred night in Bethlehem, while the Christmas bells are ringing out the message of the Yuletide, the man of the house will be guzzling the liquor that is to make him a beast on Christmas day.

And there will be Christmas Eve parties for which a supply of liquor has been provided. Young men and maidens will be given "dainty flasks" filled with whiskey as souvenirs of the occasion. "Spiked" punch will be served with great hilarity. And along toward daylight, about the time little children are stirring in their sleep, or sitting upright in their little beds straining their eyes to see if Santa Claus has come, the older boys and girls with flushed faces and unsteady steps will fumble their way into the house to bring a day of sadness to all who love them.

Whiskey at Christmas time! Drunkenness, debauchery, wretched quarrelsomeness, as part of the celebration of the day on which the Christian world speaks their joy for the coming of that Man of Galilee!

Men who cannot afford to buy their families ordinary comforts will pay fifty dollars for their Christmas liquor. Men who contribute nothing to charitable organizations, and do nothing for wistful little children who are likely to have no Christmas joys at all, will buy themselves a case or so of what they call "Oh-be-joyful," and for themselves and their friends they will provide what they think is a fine time.

There is no way of which The Herald is aware that a complete stoppage of Christmas liquor buying and selling can be effected. But surely there is a way for some people to be persuaded to eliminate their booze this year.

Christmas time should be such a kindly time. Its celebrations should be such innocently happy ones. Things that are unclean, things that are sordid, things that are cruel should be pushed out of sight, and on the morning on which "the herald angels sing, Glory to the new-born King," everywhere there should be the kind of joy that can come out in the open as an example of the Christmas spirit loving joyousness that leaves sweet memories.

The Oil Scandal

The government is the loser in the first of its prosecutions of those responsible for the conspiracy involved in the leasing of certain naval oil reserves. Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, have been freed of complicity in a scheme which brought into Mr. Doheny's possession oil property valued at $100,000,000 and to Mr. Fall's depleted bank account a "loan" of $100,000.

The result of the trial which ended last Thursday is not in the least surprising. In view of the circumstances a verdict other than the one reached by the jury was out of the question. The government stood no chance to win its case and it might just as well have withdrawn the indictments in the first place and saved the federal coffers $100,000, the estimated cost of the trial.

The oil scandal from its inception has been an incomprehensible mass of entanglements. It has involved directly or indirectly scores of men prominent in the business and political life of the country. It resulted in the disclosure of a graft-grabbing Republican administration and led to the resignation of three men from the cabinet of President Harding.

As the De Moines Register points out, the Fall Doheny trial "from the beginning resolved itself into a look passing game." Leasing of the reserves was the business of everyone in general and no one in particular. Fall tried to place the blame on his assistants in the interior department, Admiral Robison defended Fall and Rear Admiral Griffin opposed him. It developed that the cabinet as a whole didn't know anything about the lands or about the leases and yet President Harding was more or less informed of the situation.

The government had a good case as far as it went, but it was hard to prove the existence of a conspiracy. The two defendants stand vindicated in the eyes of the court but not in the minds of their fellow citizens. There will always be a question about that "loan." To begin with Fall hedged in his testimony, declaring before the Senate committee that the hundred thousand was advanced by Edward B. McLean, Washington publisher. Doheny said that it was purely a favor given by him to an old friend. The signature had been torn from the note Mr. Doheny declared to save Fall from embarrassment in the event of Doheny's death. This act alone creates the suspicion that the two men were fully aware that their transaction was crooked.

Fall and Doheny may rejoice at their acquittal at the bar of justice but they have no reason to believe that this means acquittal at the bar of public opinion. Mr. Fall showed that he was grossly unfit to have held public office of any kind and Mr. Doheny demonstrated that in dealing with public officials he had no sense of decency. The whole case is a blot on American public life and is a stigma on the lives of two men that will never be lived down.

THE PEOPLE OF the United States are not jealous of the amount their Government costs, if they are sure that they get what they need and desire for the outlay, that the money is being spent for objects which they approve, and that it is being applied with good business sense and management.—Woodrow Wilson.

TO PITY DISTRESS is but human to relieve it is God-like.—H. Mann.

THE RUSH FOR FLORIDA

A tale of the movement to Florida is told by the Charlotte (N. C.) Observer of Dec. 12 issue when it says: If any part of the public had come to conclusion that Florida business this winter isn't going to amount to much, it is not that part of the public living along the lines of the Seaboard Air-Line Railroad, for that company in this season running more and finer through trains than it ran in any past season.

The Seaboard's Florida business was normally opened the first of this month, when four new through trains were put on the lines, all four running out of New York, splitting, when Florida is reached, two down the east coast and two down the west coast.

Furthermore, the highway traffic is about as heavy as last season, for there is re-annetment of the familiar scenes of luggage-laden automobiles spilling along each day, Florida-bound.

Indications point to the fact that Florida will this winter be more closely packed with people than it was last season. The rush is now fairly started.

As Brisbane Sees It

Spandauer Wealth. Fire Greatest Men. To Modify Killing. Japan Need Not Worry. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright, 1926, Star Co.)

SECRETARY WORK, of the interior department, who studies and understands national problems, has a big task as chairman of the mineral oil conservation board.

His problem is to prevent wastes and early exhaustion of this country's oil resources upon which 22,000,000 automobile owners, and millions of farm engines, depend.

The country now is using its oil about as fast as a young spendthrift uses an inheritance acquired without work.

HERE IT WAS said, "Beethoven is one of the five greatest men that ever lived." William Anglis, of Detroit, who makes wire iron work and brass, asks, "Who are the other four?"

They are Archimedes, science; Shakespeare, writing; Michael Angelo, art; Newton, mathematics.

What name would you substitute? Not Alexander, Caesar or Napoleon, who will be classed with the hooded cobra when men become civilized.

You might want a philosopher, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, or Bacon. But greatness in philosophy is a matter of opinion. You might want one of the great star men, Copernicus, Tycho-Brahe, Kepler, Galileo. But the five chosen will do. Try to beat them.

SPORTSMEN HUNT CATS and other destructive animals destroy because they kill so many game birds. They are like the boy that wouldn't let his smaller brother kill the big blue bottle fly; he wanted to kill it himself.

SHOT GUNS CARRYING many cartridges, ingenious "blinds," and decoys give the poor birds slight chance. Proud sportsmen are photographed with scores of dead birds in rows behind them.

MR. J. GUNDLACH suggests that sportsmen devote some energy to taxonomy, mounting skill fully, which they can easily learn to do, their finest specimens.

If they would devote 10 per cent of their time to mounting what they kill, that would give the birds and deer a chance and incidentally, prolong for some years the pleasure of killing.

AS THOUGH JAPAN has not had enough trouble with her earthquakes, Lewis Noble, of the United States geological survey, says the Japanese islands will eventually disappear completely below the water of the Pacific.

Japanese scientists reveal the fact that an island in Kyushu bay existed 100 years ago, drowning 5000.

HOWEVER JAPAN MAY sink, she will never be a water-borne nation, some other countries, scientists show that South America, not so long ago, geological periods ago, was completely under water. The mud of the ocean was made of mud, and the bottom of the sea. And you find oyster shells on high mountains, lifted up from the ocean's bottom.

Fortunately these things happen slowly and have had no effect on real estate values. Our North Pole performs its circle only once in 10,000 years. When it last pointed to our present North Star, the humidity race was still 1000 years from the end of the stone age. Our lives are so short that nothing much matters, except doing the best we can.

ADMIRE THE WISDOM of Mussolini. The birth rate is falling in Italy, and although that country is constantly seeking foreign population outlets, Mussolini does not intend that the Roman blood polluted by the Italian people shall fade away.

After January first any bachelor under 60 will be taxed. Mussolini will prove that two can live as cheaply as one, by making it more expensive for one.

Unmarried women will not be taxed. Mussolini knows that a majority of them would be married and do their duty—if the right man came.

AMUNDSEN AND NOBLE disagree unpleasantly about the trip of the Norge to the North Pole. Established facts are that the Italian, Noble, directed the building of the Norge, planned it, commanded it, during its successful flight, with everybody on board under his orders.

Excepting the compass, without which the trip couldn't have been made, the chief credit goes to the Italian.

YOU HAVE NOT heard of one fine champion, whose name was Maggie Mackin when she came here from Ireland. Now she is Mrs. A. P. Hyatt, "champion telephone operator of the world." An institution where telephone girls rest or recuperate after living is named for her. She began giving the right numbers when Chicago had a few telephones and it was realized that girls were better operators than boys because "girls have more patience." To be champion telephone operator, requires extraordinary physical and mental equipment, and above all, divine patience. Therefore, honor the champion.

The can opener was first brought out by the can book publisher, Fort Wayne, Ind. Sentinel.

A Rude Awakening

MASTER AND SLAVE TAMPA TIMES

Perhaps we are a bit sentimental if so we are not sorry that any rate we were impressed by the short A. P. story coming out of Washington of a southern member of congress having saved a negro church in the capital city from the auctioneer's hammer because the treasurer of the congregation worshipping in it is the son of an old slave on his father's plantation.

Nothing has ever been more distorted than has the relationship which existed between southern masters and their slaves. To be sure there were bad masters and bad slaves, and the twain produced some bad conditions. As a rule, however, both masters and slaves were good. The result was that while their relationship was not ideal human slavery can't be ideal.

It was very satisfactory. Their attachments were close and their interests common, affixed down to bottom. With a few exceptions, here and there, this feeling has passed down from fathers to sons. What that southern member of congress did is just one more evidence that it is so.

One of the best friends the writer has is Levi, an old negro who was his father's slave. Levi would fight for him. Levi has done that a number of times. And there is nothing that gives him more pleasure than to see, so far as he can, that Levi's needs and reasonable wants are provided for. He had rather have Levi's "little boss" than to be called king. He is sure that there are many other cases that are parallel with his and Levi's.

It is still true that the southern white people are the negro's best friends, and still unbelievably attached to him.

There never has been and never will be trouble between whites and negroes who understand each other. Trouble is brewed by the other sort. And in almost every instance the most of it is brewed for the negro.

A mean negro is almost as mean as a mean white man. But the mean ones of either race are not generally found among former slave owners, or among their sons and daughters. If the whole matter were left to them, there wouldn't be any vestige of "race trouble." This story out of Washington goes far toward proving that. It is the latter day generalizations and well meaning but ill advised friends of the negro who raise the devil. Certainly they ought to stop it. But will they?

Echo answer, that they most probably will not at any time soon.

Anyway, we are glad that our father was a slave-owner, though we were glad still that there is no more slavery—for his being so gave us Levi. By the way, Levi refused to be freed when he was declared so. He stayed on with his "old master" until his death and has since stayed on with one of the "little bosses" or "little mistresses." We do not believe that he would be any wiser if he had anything by doing so.

Oh, Yes, we forwarded Levi's Christmas present last week. And that commonplace thing makes us wonder how many of those who abuse former slave-owners and their children for ill treatment of negroes send a negro a Christmas present, just as what was done in Washington, lead us to speculate upon how many of them have ever sent a negro church from the nation block.

Methodists To Have Week Of Christmas Activity At Church

This week will be well filled with activities pertaining to the approaching Christmas holiday by the different organizations of the Methodist Church.

On Wednesday evening there will be a prayer meeting service with music by the League.

Thursday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, the Sunday School will have an old-time Christmas, in the form of a tree for the children of the school, and the more modern form of Christmas celebration in the carrying out of the White Christmas idea, when the children will not only receive, but give gifts for those less fortunate than themselves. The gifts from the White Christmas service will be given to the Orphanage at Benson Springs.

Those partaking in the White Christmas service will not be confined to the children or to the members of the church, but any one who wishes to make a donation of any kind to the orphans are invited to bring such to the Methodist Church at 7 o'clock p. m. Thursday.

Friday evening the members of the Senior Epworth League will have a service of carol singing and a social hour afterwards. After this they will convey to the home at Benson Springs the gifts received Thursday evening.

On Sunday, at both services, there will be special music by the choir, anthems and solos. Mrs. Victoria Robertson, Edward Huhman and Miss Catherine Bahman will be the soloists on these occasions. Dr. Huhman, the pastor, will preach at both services on subjects appropriate for the occasion and season.

SOCIETY VAUDEVILLE AT WOMANS CLUB IS DELIGHTFUL SUCCESS

One of the cleverest as well as artistic programs ever presented in Sanford, was that of Monday evening when the Sallie Harrison Chapter N. S. D. A. R. presented their "Society Vaudeville" before an appreciative audience at the Woman's Club.

A Grecian duet, the first number of the program, by Miss Audrey Roberts and Miss Louise Tatum Hungerford, displayed the grace and artistic rhythm of these two talented artists. Both of these young women have had a great deal of experience before the footlights and possess unusual talent.

Miss Lucy Johnson, a dainty Juvenile star, won her audience with the singing of two old favorite ballads, "Love Sends a Little Gift" and "Smilin' Thru". Responding as an encore, with a ukulele specialty, she sang, "Let Me Powder My Nose".

A local artist, Miss Eleanor Herring, talented young violinist, artistically rendered two violin solos, "Meditation" from Thais, and "Valse" by Levenski. She was accompanied by Mrs. R. R. Deas pianist.

An Oriental dance, which displayed the difficult athletic dancing, was rendered by Miss Virginia Britt. Miss Britt is also a ballet dancer of unusual merit, and later appeared on the program in a delightful toe dance.

Sanford's own Lion Club quartette, S. R. Dighton, Claude Howard, Joseph Graham and Paul Enge which is always received with enthusiasm, were rendered several times. Their interpretation of "Mary Had a Little Lamb" and "A Settlin' Around the Fire" were received with rounds of applause. "La Rosta", a lovely Spanish

Club Officials Ask Names Of Guests To Annual Social Event

Attention of the members of the Social Department of the Woman's Club, who expect to have guests at the Annual Ball, is called to the fact that the names of the guests in writing with the remittance must be turned in at once to the invitation committee, Misses Katherine Wilkey and Edith Teague, so that the invitations can be mailed not later than Saturday, according to officials of the club.

The annual ball, which is one of the most brilliant social affairs of the season, will be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 28, at the Hotel Forrest Lake, with Mrs. James G. Sharon and Mrs. Forrest Lake as hostesses.

Miss Jean Maxwell, who is attending Maryville College at Maryville, Tenn., returns home Wednesday to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Maxwell.

Miss Maxine Young, who is a student at Tallahassee, spent the week-end here with her sister, Miss Katherine Young, en route to her home at Ovid.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Galbraith of Plant City spent the week-end here as the guests of Mrs. Carrie Worthington.

Mrs. W. A. Holt, Evelyn, Carolyn, Howard and Douglas Holt of White Springs, Fla., spent the week-end here as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Conley.

Miss Sarah Wheelless returned home Saturday evening from Tallahassee, where she is a senior at Florida State College for Women. She will spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wheelless.

Upsala & Grapeville

Mrs. Webster and family were shopping in Orlando Tuesday.

Mrs. Fry and mother, Mrs. Bengston were callers on Mrs. Ballinger. Mr. Fry is again engaged at Windermere for the orange season and spends his week-ends at his home here.

Mrs. Snyder is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Albert and sister, Mrs. Thompson and little daughter for the winter. They arrived on Dec. 7.

Sunday school meets at 9:45 o'clock with Alfred Ericson as leader. Rev. J. S. Clark will be there for service at 11 o'clock.

The Dorcas Union meets this Thursday with Mrs. Leonard-Vihlon. The ladies were very much pleased at the results of the bazaar Saturday. Many helped to make it a great success but Mrs. Lundquist, Mrs. Borall and Mrs. Pierson had special charge. Over $65 was realized.

Rev. Eckardt and wife came all the way from Pierson, a number coming from Sanford and Lake Mary.

Miss Brown and father made a trip to Osteen on Sunday.

Miss Miriam Orvitz, who is attending University of Georgia at Athens, Ga., will return home Wednesday to spend the holidays with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mac Donald and Mrs. F. G. Sage of Eustis spent the day here Tuesday with friends. Jack MacDonald, who has been spending the past two days in Sanford, accompanied them home.

Miss Elizabeth Whitner, who is attending Cathedral School at Orlando, returns home Wednesday to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Whitner.

Misses Pratt and DeLand

Misses Pratt and DeLand, spent the week-end in Sanford as the guests of Mrs. John Leonard.

Hornsby Sent To N.Y. In The Biggest Deal In History Of Baseball

Cardinal Manager Is Given In Exchange For Jim Ring And Capt. Frank Frisch Value Of Swap Is About $350,000

Trade Follows Trouble Of Bredon And His Pilot To Agreement

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The biggest deal in modern baseball history, involving players whose diamond worth is estimated at more than half a million dollars, brings Rogers Hornsby, of the world's champion Cardinals, to share the metropolitan spotlight with Babe Ruth.

The transaction was completed last night over the telephone after Hornsby and President Sam Bredon, of the St. Louis team, had failed to bridge a gap resulting from Rogers' demand for a three-year contract.

Baseball men today insisted that Hornsby was worth more to the Giants than the two players McGraw gave in exchange—Infielder Frankie Frisch and Pitcher Jimmy Ring. They maintained that a cash payment of at least $100,000 in addition to Frisch and Ring would be required to satisfy the Cardinals. President Bredon and Charles A. Stoneham, of the Giants denied however that any money payment had been involved. Hornsby's value is estimated at $350,000.

According to President Stoneham, Bredon broached the trade to him, suggesting Frisch and Ring in payment.

For several years McGraw has cast longing eyes on Hornsby, six-time National League batting champion. A few years ago the Giant manager offered $250,000 and several players for the great Cardinal second sacker.

Had Frisch remained with the team he would have been shifted to third base next season, McGraw indicated not long ago. After a disagreement with the Giant pilot at the height of the 1925 campaign, Frisch quit the team and returned to his home in Fordham.

The Yankees have entered the trade market with a series of transactions which have not yet been fully completed.

Alexis Ward, second baseman thus, been slated for the Chicago White Sox in exchange for Catcher Jack Grabowski and an infielder. Another trade called for Pitchers Sam Jones and Walter Beall to go to the St. Louis Browns in return to Outfielder Cedric Durst, a left-hand pitcher, and other players.

The club also announced the purchase of Julian Wara, third baseman of the St. Paul American Association club. The price is reported to be two players, $25,000 in cash and the use of a third athlete during the 1927 campaign.

BILLY EVANS Says

Inside Stuff
Is it possible to try to play too much inside baseball?
Positively yes!
As a matter of fact, it is a very easy matter to overdo the strategy stuff in any line of sport.
Baseball, football, hockey and all other sports have certain fundamentals that must be mastered. A team well coached in these, having in addition great natural ability, will get somewhere regardless of the inside stuff.
The strategy of any sport is really of secondary consideration. No manager or coach can think for his players or execute the plays.

Career of Rickey

One of the brightest baseball men I ever talked with is Branch Rickey, who managed both of the St. Louis clubs.
Rickey has a keen mind. He knows baseball. Yet Rickey has never met with much success as a manager. In truth, I am of the opinion that Rickey knows too much baseball for the good of his players.
The one thing that kept Ty Cobb from being a great manager was his inability to get on a level with his team mates. Cobb could think quickly and execute his thoughts just as rapidly.

Smart Manager

Rickey, as an American League manager, knew the weakness of every opposing batter. It was hard for him to understand why his catchers and pitchers didn't have the same knowledge on their finger tips.
Rickey knew the signs used by every other club in the league. He knew when the hit-and-run, steal or sacrifice was on, and even went so far as to have some word sign whereby he could impart that knowledge to his catcher.

The failure of teams managed by Branch Rickey was not due to his lack of baseball knowledge on the part of Rickey but due to the fact that he tried to win with too much theory rather than sticking to the fundamentals. Moriarty's Plans
I note that George Moriarty, new manager of the Detroit Tigers, says his club will try to win ball games with the least possible number of signals.
His observations as an umpire have taught him the lesson that the slashaway style is the best way to get runs, particularly if you have a team that can hit.
Moriarty rightly feels that he has such a combination in the Tigers and he intends to make the most of the team's natural ability rather than cram the player heads with theory on how to win ball games without base hits inside stuff.

Too Many Signs

Speaking of having too many signals on a ball club always reminds me of the New York Yankees under "Kid" Elberfeld.

The "Kid", a mighty smart player insisted on having a sign for everything. In those days it was not unusual for a pitcher to catch a runner napping at third.
Wid Conroy, playing third for New York, had a sign when he was to cover and the pitcher would count three slowly after getting the sign, then heave the ball to third.
Conroy's sign was passing the right hand over the forehead. It worked well in the spring but trouble happened the first warm day in June. With no intent to give the sign for a snap throw to third, Conroy wiped the beads of perspiration from his brow and the next moment was hit in the side of the head with a snap throw by Pitcher Jack Warhop.
He was rendered unconscious, the ball roller into left field and the winning run crossed the plate.

WILLIAMS BACK AS COACH

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Dr. H. L. Williams, creator of the "Minnesota shift," in the years he was football mentor at the University of Minnesota, will return to the coaching lines. He has accepted the post of advisory coach for all athletics at St. Thomas college here. Dr. Williams has been chief examiner of the Veterans Bureau in Minneapolis since he quit coaching at Minnesota after 22 years of service.

Rogers Hornsby Goes To Giants In Baseball's Biggest Deal

Announcement of a trade between the champion St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants which brings Rogers Hornsby to Gotham in exchange for Frankie Frisch and Jimmy Ring, was confirmed by Sam Bredon, president of the Cardinals, last night. The deal, the biggest in baseball's history, involving $300,000, is claimed. Two years ago John McGraw traded $250,000 outright for the St. Louis star, who last year as manager for his second season gave the Cardinals their first world championship flag.

County Schedule Calls Rural Schools Into Fray For Basketball Honors

The second series of basketball games in the county schools athletic league is to be played on the afternoon of Jan. 7, according to officials of the Seminole County Y. M. C. A., which is supervising the athletics of the rural schools.
The first games were scheduled for Dec. 17 but only one set of games was played, owing to poor weather conditions. Geneva played against Oviedo and the latter won both senior and junior class games. The Geneva Senior girls won their game.
All of the games were refereed by "Pop" Lamkin, physical director for the Y. M. C. A.
Following the basketball season plans are to be worked out whereby a basketball and volley ball series of play among and between the boys and girls of the county schools may be an added feature at the school year, according to officials.

At the end of the school year, an aquatic track and field meet between the schools of the county is being planned. The "Y" has offered to furnish cups and ribbons for the winners of the various divisions.
The basketball season schedule is as follows:
DECEMBER 17, 1926

ST. LOUIS OWNER IS CASTING ABOUT FOR A NEW PILOT

R. Bresnahan, Giant Coach, Linked With Job But Sam Bredon Denies That Job Has Been Offered To Him

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Minus the services of Rogers Hornsby, second baseman and playing manager, and with two New York Giant players added to his roster, Sam Bredon, president of the world's champion Cardinals, today turned in search of a manager.

Among those linked in gossip as possible successors to Hornsby is Roger Bresnahan, a Giant coach, but Bredon insists that Roger has no "inside track to the job," and "right now is being considered above the other men who will come in for consideration."

The club president was outspoken in his announcement that failure to agree with Hornsby was the cause of the trade. Bredon had offered the playing-manager a one-year contract with a yearly salary of $50,000, but Hornsby remained firm in his demand for a three-year term with the same remuneration.

"I am sorry that I could not come to terms with Hornsby, but I felt that the best thing I could do was to make the best trade I could get for him."

Hornsby said that "it doesn't Net, (Smith) $5.60, $3.40; Cayne, (Cheatham) $2.80.

Supreme Court Has Granted Rehearing In Welfare Killing

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 21.—(A)—The State Supreme Court today granted a petition for rehearing in the case of L. Raymond Osteen, sentenced to five years for manslaughter in the circuit court for Suwannee county, versus the state of Florida.

Osteen was charged with killing Herbert F. Welfare on March 19, 1923. He was first tried for murder in the first degree, and a mistrial resulted. He was then tried for manslaughter and given five years and the Supreme Court a few days ago affirmed the judgment of the lower court.

The action of the Supreme Court today was taken for the purpose of permitting Osteen's attorney to file a reply brief to that of the attorney general. Two defense attorneys had figured in the case, one at Liveoak and the other at Jacksonville. The attorney general's office sent the state's brief to the Liveoak attorney, when it should have gone to the one at Jacksonville and the latter had been given no opportunity to reply, it was stated at the Court.

Sage Tea Keeps Your Hair Dark

Gray hair however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance; Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, for only 75 cents." This is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

MANY RECENT BOOKS ARE ADDED TO CITY LIBRARY COLLECTION

The following are among the best books received at the Municipal Library:

Non-Fiction

Barrie: "Representative Plays." A collection of the favorite plays of this representative English author, which have proved successful on the stage.

Beebe: "Jungle Days". Fascinating studies of jungle life in British Guiana, showing the authority of the naturalist and dramatic skill of the writer.

Crane: "Janitor's Boy". These beautiful poems show a wide range of reading, a sense of humor, and a rhythm and imagery indicative of poetic ability.

Cridland: "Practical Landscape Gardening". Gives planting and working plans, useful to the landscape gardener, with photographic illustrations and sketches.

Dillon: "Blossom Circle of the Year in Southern Gardens". A book especially recommended for Florida gardens, with authoritative information for both the amateur and expert gardener.

Durant: "Story of Philosophy". One of the most widely read books of the year, in which the author combines with a popular style a knowledge of his subject which is in demand at the Library.

Eberlein (A. P.) McClure: "Practical Book of Period Furniture". One of the most complete and best written books of its kind, dealing with English, French, and American Colonial and post-colonial periods.

Fiske: "Excursions of an Evolutionist". The theory of evolution treated in these essays, dealing with a variety of subjects.

Fiske: "Studies in Religion". Contains his essays Through Nature to God; Life everlasting; and other allied studies of religion and philosophy.

Friedel: "Training for Librarianship". Helpful to prospective librarians, showing the aims and opportunities of library work and the study of library activities.

Gilkey: "Faith for the New Generation". "An attempt to relate the essential Christian convictions to the view of the universe now held by the so-called 'college group'."

Hauptmann: "Sunken Bell". Called a perfect fairy drama, as blends in a highly idealized way the real with the ideal and the mystical with the spiritual.

Johnson: "Songs everyone should know". A useful collection for home and popular use.

Lindsay: "Collected poems". The poems of this representative American poet distinguished for their rhythm are presented as chants similar to the old time minstrel.

Maurice: "Robert E. Lee, the Soldier". An appreciative biography by an English soldier, dealing with the plans, intentions and opinions of the great General.

Mims: "Advancing South". A southern viewpoint of progress and recession, revealing a clear view from a new South in an excellent and well balanced summary.

Popovic & Johnson: "Applied Eugenics". A comprehensive treatise, giving concrete facts and illustrations.

Starrett: "Charm of a Well Mannered Home". Deals in both a practical and inspirational way of the importance of right upbringing and the real value of fine manners.

Stevenson: "Home book of verse". An indispensable collection of American and English poetry from 1580 to 1920. The most complete collection of the kind.

Thompson: "Hound of Heaven". A beautifully illustrated of this widely read poem, with explanatory notes and criticisms.

Wilson: "School Library Experience". The importance of well organized and well equipped school libraries is the theme of these selected articles from various sources showing the rapid development of school libraries.

Vietoria Book of the Opera. Well illustrated edition.

Fiction

Bojer: "Prisoner Who Sang". The spiritual and psychological characteristics of the author are again portrayed in this realistic story, showing a lyrical quality.

Crane: "Sunken garden". A remarkable piece of writing, by this youthful writer, whose abilities are claiming the attention of the literary world.

Dell: "Runaway". A story more mature than the author's earlier works, with excellent characterizations.

Evarts: "Painted Stallion". White Blanket, a wild mustang, and his capture, form the plot of this western story.

Fisher: "Her Son's Wife". The conflict between a refined woman and her ordinary daughter-in-law. Well written, and up to the author's standard.

Haggard: "Treasure of the Lake". Another story of Allan Quartermain and his adventure on an ivory expedition to Central Africa.

Haou'k'ew chuan: "Breeze in the Moonlight". A translation from the Chinese of the experiences of the noble lovers, Pure Jade and Icy Heart. This 14th century romance is decidedly modern and up to date in style, unreal yet true.

Herrick: "Chimes". This satire of university life shows the conflict of educational ideals, and suggests needed reforms and gives a vital picture of the life of educators.

Irwin: "Seed of the Sun". A frank picture of the Japanese situation in California.

Kyne: "Understanding heart". A western story, in which the heroine, a mountain girl and forest ranger encounters innumerable adventures.

Johnston: "Great Valley". Pioneer life in the Shenandoah Valley forms the background of this vivid story.

Leacock: "Nonsense Novels". Another of the writer's keen observations of present day follies, written with his usual charm of style.

Maughan: "Moon and Sixpence". The "divine tyranny of art" is shown in this story of a painter who succumbs absolutely to the power of his genius.

Omons: "Whom God hath Suffered". A novel of literary merit, and a striking piece of work, condensing three of the writer's well known novels into one book.

Pendexter: "Harry Idaho". Miss Harry Idaho is the dashing heroine of this Western tale, depicting the later gold rush to Idaho in 1865.

Smith: "What is to be". A

LONDON LETTER

LONDON, Dec. 17. (AP)—Sleeping car strewn are a menace to travellers in some parts of Europe. Wealthy Americans are said to be frequently their victims.

Good looks, beautiful clothes, a mixture of tears and coquetry, a card case containing names of famous persons of Europe and a fearful tale of a lost purse or railway ticket enable these adventuresses to extract large sums of money from male travellers.

Jugo-Slav police recently arrested a young woman of 24 who for the last three years has been levying toll from wealthy travellers on the famous Siam Express, which rubs across the continent from Paris to Constantinople.

Christmas cargoes of the British Empire are the choicest products, are better borne across the seven seas to the crowded millions who people the mother country.

Mr. Dickens is abroad from early December to the arrival of Christmas delicacies and Christmas visitors. The canneries flood England in the summer; British colonial products are images to the land of the fathers at Christmas tide.

Canada is selling ship loads of apples, cheese, hams and wheat for John Bull's Christmas dinner. Australia and New Zealand are sending cargoes of dried fruits, butter and poultry, and this year is offering greater quantities of wines and spirits than ever before. South Africa likewise is contributing fruits and wines. India and the east are providing the spices. Scotland stands by with great reserves of whisky which can be rushed south to England if the normal supply gives out.

Former King Manuel of Portugal who, like ex-King George of Greece, still cherishes a strong hope that he again may sit on his throne some day, spends much of his odd hours seeking bargains on London antique shops. Queen Augusta Victoria, too, has a keen eye for old time furniture and often accompanies her husband on these trips. King Street, St. James' the mecca of connoisseurs, oddly enough, is one of the thoroughfares where King Manuel is seen frequently.

King Manuel lives rather a retired life during the summer, spending much time in the country, but with the opening of the opera season, he returns to the city. Both the ex-king and his wife are inveterate opera goers.

Their box at Covent Garden is always occupied by themselves or friends. According to Portuguese sources here the royal party in Lisbon has been more active than usual of late and is in constant communication with the exiled sovereign, whom the party members always address as "his majesty, King Manuel."

Gilbert K. Chesterton, the author, thinks the south seas have become a sort of quarter Latin since Ganguin invaded the peace of the savages.

Discussing the "savage in art" at the Kensington art center, he said he believed "the fine frivolity and the splendid levity of the savages has hoaxed the missionaries and the learned professors who went to interview them."

The inventor of "Father Brown" suggested that the walls of the dominion pavilions at Wembley should have been covered with frescoes of the savage mythologies, such as the story of the New Zealand Hinawata, who finished New Zealand out of the sun with a hook and phased the sun across the sky until he caught it.
