BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GREETING.—The Lord, bless and keep thee. The Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee. The Lord lift up thy countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.—Numbers 6:24-26.

PRAYER.—Father, as we enter another year, do thou accept our offering. Give us Thy Spirit, that we may reflect and lift up the living
Christ in all we say and do.

Karl Lehmann gets a mighty boost from the Times-Union.

England now has a coalition cabinet which should be pleasing to the coal miners, but probably won't.

Luke Lea has been found guilty, indicating for the first time in the history of the world
that it is as bad to steal a million dollars as it is to swipe a banana.

The motto of the N. Y. Times is, "All the News That's Fit to Print." The remainder is shipped to Hollywood", P. E. B. reminds us. And out there they use it in their sex cycle, we suppose.

We have men in Sanford who think they would like to try the Soviet system of government. But they would not like to give up their children, turning them over to the state to raise. In Russia they would have to.

Karl Lehmann is a frequent visitor in Sanford these days, attending civic luncheons and getting better acquainted with our people. He is not letting any grass grow under his feet as he prepares himself for the big job
that is ahead of him.

In the gas tax fight the big counties should remember that there are more of the little counties, but the big time politicians of the little counties, if any of them are thinking of running for any state offices, should also remember that there are more voters in the big counties.

A prominent bishop was delivering a sermon on the evil consequences of the use of cosmetics
by young girls and among other things declared: "The more I see of lipstick, the more distasteful I find it". The bishop should ask his girl friend to use Tangle

it's tasteless.

The DO-X, famous German
flying boat with twelve motors, crossed over Florida the other way from South America to New York. Miamians were excited about it and staged big rally in its honor, but most of them were rather blasé about it. We have gotten so used to seeing in this part of the state
we don't pay much attention to big flying boats any more.

Freedom of speech as well as freedom of the press, is practiced in Detroit. "We don't club them who do in New York," says a writer. "We let them talk unless tired." At which Arbistane reflects, "That's no boiler blows up while safety valve is working." It's when you try to shut people that you get in trouble. Men never hurt anyone.

My good folks who wouldn't violate the law, best allow their fine moral senses to interfere in any way with their pocketbooks. The betrayal in a little Texas town
Mexican border passed a law
their end of the inter-bridge at seven o'clock
evening so that some of the townsmen couldn't go
the river to gamble at
it worked fine for a few days. The Mexicans figured out of their own. They dose their end of the bridge in the morning
at night to keep Mexicans from crossing in the town over alone.

Dr. Lehmann, by his achievements in Orange County, and practically throughout the entire State of Florida, has proved his ability to lead movements and to inaugurate worthy enterprises that are of inestimable benefit to the people in particular localities and, in instances, to all persons in the State. That ability, and the proved results thereof, is not to be made the subject of comment
here; the facts are well known and provide the proof of the practicality, efficiency, and effectiveness of Dr. Lehmann's community and civic work. He, himself, knows and acknowledges that what he has accomplished has been the result of efforts put forth by the people directly concerned, by those who have worked voluntarily, and, as it appears,

Buying His Own Cotton

The Farm Board's proposal to plow under one-third of this year's cotton crop in order to stabilize prices has been met with a storm of disapproval throughout the South. Other suggestions, from withholding all planting next year to reducing the acreage by one-half, have been made in reply by the Southerners. The Manufacturers' Record has a suggestion which seems feasible and which is presented as follows:

"The American Cotton Co-operative Association announces an arrangement with the Farm Board whereby advances, within one cent per pound of value at time of delivery, will be paid on cotton delivered this season to the eleven state cotton co-operative associations. The move is a good one, and if acted upon as anticipated by growers will remove a considerable proportion of the crop from the market.

"As we said last week, it should be altogether possible for a similar movement to be undertaken through co-operative banking action with the result that even as much as one-half of this year's crop may be kept off the market, with the distinct proviso that growers taking advantage of such loans will agree to reduce their acreage next season by not less than fifty per cent.

"The value of the human toil that has been put into this crop is more than the price it is now bringing. There is no doubt of the fact that a way will very likely be found to lift some of the burden, and the mere announcement of it will add many millions to the wealth of the Southern cotton grower. The withholding of a considerable part of the crop from the market will deter foreign growers from more active competition than is already threatened.

"The obstacle in the way of carrying out previous suggestions to drastically cut acreage is that the farmer saw only the immediate prospect of a lower income proportionate to the acreage eliminated. If the suppliers of farm credit will lend to the cotton grower enough to enable him to withhold one-half of his crop this year, he will be given the chance to realize on a probable rising market induced by the expected acreage curtailment and smaller crop next year. In effect, the farmer will be 'buying' part of his next season's crop instead of growing it, and therefore given an opportunity to make a profit on the acreage taken out of cotton cultivation."

Rules For Bus Drivers

With the beginning of September a matter of only a few days and the re-opening of schools throughout the country a question of a few weeks, the problem of safe transportation becomes more acute. School buses loaded with youngsters will soon be back on their old routes, and bus drivers, carefully selected, will be receiving instructions to protect their charges. The Safety Department of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, vitally interested in the protection of children on public highways, has recently prepared the following code for drivers which it recommends for adoption to various school boards:

1. A bus carrying school children must not pass a railroad crossing until it has been properly flagged. A railroad crossing is properly flagged when the bus comes to a complete stop at least twenty-five feet from the track, the captain gets out and stands at the crossing until the bus has crossed it. When no children are in the bus, the driver must stop at the railroad crossing, but need not get out.

2. The principal in charge of transportation will appoint captain for each bus. The captain's duty will be to assist the driver in keeping order, flag railroad crossings, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed.

3. No driver has authority to change the adjustment of a carburetor, governor, or any other part, unless in case of emergency, and then he must report the change to designated authority.

4. Busses are designed for use in transporting children to and from school, and should be confined to that purpose. No exceptions shall be made without official permit.

5. Unless instructed by the principal, the driver must not permit a pupil to leave the bus at any station other than his regular stop.

6. There shall be no jumping on or off a bus, or hanging on the steps or any other part of the bus, while it is in motion.

7. Loaded busses must not be run over twenty miles per hour, and operated at least seventy-five yards apart.

8. Drivers must be clean in their personal appearance when driving a bus in which children are being transported.

9. The use of intoxicating liquors at any time by a driver will be considered sufficient cause for dismissal.

10. Drivers will be required to report daily to the principal all misconduct of pupils on bus.

11. No bus shall be driven by any person other than a regularly employed driver.

12. Drivers must observe all commonly accepted "rules of the road."

13. The driver must not leave the bus while the motor is running.

Seminole County Makes Forward Move

FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

Congratulations are due the people of Seminole County, one of Florida's most progressive communities, on the engagement of Dr. Karl Lehmann to head and direct the activities of the recently organized Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. This action indicates but one thing which is, that the people of Seminole County have decided to join whole-heartedly, and practically, in a movement by which that county is to be placed in the very front rank of Florida's progressive and advancing counties.

Dr. Lehmann, by his achievements in Orange County, and practically throughout the entire State of Florida, has proved his ability to lead movements and to inaugurate worthy enterprises that are of inestimable benefit to the people in particular localities and, in instances, to all persons in the State. That ability, and the proved results thereof, is not to be made the subject of comment here; the facts are well known and provide the proof of the practicality, efficiency, and effectiveness of Dr. Lehmann's community and civic work. SANFORD FORUM

There Were Gangsters Before Prohibition
Editor The Herald:

Correspondence in the Boston Herald recently regarding Gangsters before Prohibition, evoked from Mr. L. M. Lord some facts which the whole country needs to keep in mind.

The information he gives is so important that it is here transcribed for the use of our readers when they encounter persons who think that so much of the racialism of our country has originated since the passing of the prohibition laws.

Mr. Lord says: For a hundred years gangsters have terrorized New York at intervals. The book gives the history of prominent gangs during the nineteenth century.

At times gangs were known to bar the streets. These gangs made great fortunes. For example, we read that Peter Mitchell, a gang leader, who amassed more than $350,000 in two years from the profits of a saloon and an assignation house. Like today liquor was not the only means of racketeering. Counterfeiting, confidence men, bunco and other various forms of swindling made fortunes for these gangsters.

It is rather noticeable that gangsterism has not been so prevalent of recent years as it was during the nineteenth century.

To the Editor of The Sanford Herald:

I would appreciate it very much, and I feel that you would be doing a public service, if you will kindly publish this letter in the "Sanford Forum" as a warning to persons, like myself, who are so unfortunate as to own homes or houses and have to be pestered with high-pressure, terror-instilling salesmen of TERMITE EXTERMINATING TREATMENTS to say nothing of sleep lost and grey hairs accumulated over such little matters as Taxes, Bonded Indebtedness, Paving Assessments, Depreciated Values, Depressions, and the City being run by the corporations.

I have recently been inveigled out of some hard-earned dollars by one of this gentrified from our neighboring, neighborly City of Orlando (right now I can hear some of my acquaintances say "the guy must have been GOOD") in exchange for TERMITE EXTERMINATING TREATMENTS administered to four frame houses at a charge of something or other per square foot, amounting to enough to have given these houses a coat of paint, which they still need much worse.

I am reliably informed that some of my friends have also been induced to believe that the dread TERMITE, or old fashioned

No community can thrive and prosper unless its people have the proper spirit and desire to move forward and accomplish worthy things and purposes. Any community in which this spirit is manifested, where there is loyalty and determined action, of the proper sort, cannot be kept back or stopped in its forward march. Therefore, this is the time and this is the opportunity for showing to the world what the people of Seminole County can accomplish under the leadership of a competent and experienced leader, whose enthusiasm is not of volatile, fickle or impractical character, but that is inspirational and thoroughly practical.

The suggestion, if it may be offered to the people of Seminole County, is, first of all, to get the spirit of its chosen leader and then to join with him for the carrying out of the work which the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has set itself to do. If this is done there can be no doubt concerning the many good and worthy things that the people of Seminole County will be able to accomplish. They have every natural advantage at their command. Already they have made a very good beginning, mainly as individuals. Now it is for them, in organized capacity, to show what can be accomplished.

At the same time, let it be understood that there can be no advancement if there is holding back by individuals and by groups. Let it also be understood that advancement cannot be made without whole-hearted support of the chamber of commerce and its secretary in the work that organization is proposing to perform for the benefit of Seminole County, as a whole, and for the people as individuals.

Let it be repeated, that here and now, Seminole County has the greatest opportunity of its corporate existence.

I was very much impressed, two days after investing in the TERMITE Extermination treatment, to see on the front page of the United States Daily, printed in Washington, D. C., a two column article by authority of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, warning home owners not to be misled by the extravagant claims of men selling TERMITE EXTERMINATING TREATMENTS because these treatments were of very little, if any value in actually ridng the house of the termites and that the only effective thing the home owner could do about them was to take precautionary measures, when building his home, toward keeping them out.

Trusting that this warning may save someone some money and thanking you for your courtesy in printing it, I am

Stabbing Involves Notorious Figures In New York Life

(Continued from Page One) In the night club; that a man known only as "Abe" was with him; that a pitched battle broke out and that "something happened" to McCabe.

Police said they were convinced the well-known McCabe for a considerable length of time, that she knew all the details of the stabbing and could fully identify the man he called "Abe."

The stabbing was preceded by an attack of three gunmen on a card game in the rear of an east side dry goods store. The owner of the place, Theodore Nadel, was killed. The players escaped.

The outbreak ended the 48 hours of quiet that had followed the killing of six persons in a bank house, the shooting of two men and the wounding of two others by gangsters in Brooklyn, and, several weeks earlier, the killing of one child and wounding of four others in another underworld shooting.

The Manhattan legislative committee yesterday began an investigation of the bank chase and the underworld execution.

In the last 24 hours 250 men have come into the police dragnet, while not one man is known among eight more plain-clothesmen. John Kinane, and Thomas Stumbaum, were charged with the killing. Anthony LaCava is a third suspect.

EFFORT MADE BY LUKE LEA TO SAVE SON

Colonel Leo, former United States senator and commander of an artillery regiment in the World War, arranged bond of $20,000. Young Law gave bonds of $20,000 and Davis $10,000. Judge Barnhill allowed 40 days for perfection of their appeals, which would be reached by the supreme court in regular order early in December.

Assuming full responsibility for the Tennessee and of the various transactions, Colonel Leo asked Judge Barnhill to set aside the jury's verdict applying to young Leo, offering to accept two additional years on his own sentence and to pay the $25,000 in order to remove the stigma of a felony conviction from his son.

Judge Barnhill later informed newspapermen that he had told colonel Leo, if the latter would make his offer include a promise to withdraw his appeal, and to start on the sentence at once, the jurist would "suspend" sentence of Luke Leo, Jr.

This offer was rejected by Colonel Leo on the ground that a suspension of the sentence would not relieve his son of the felony conviction.

"Luke Leo, Jr., worked under my instructions and he should not be held criminally liable," said the trial-winner father. "I am willing to assume the fine and the additional sentence if only this verdict can't be set aside as to my boy."

"I don't admit that I have done any wrong, but I do insist that those transactions were my own not my son's. I believe the supreme court will uphold our contention."

M. P. Charlot, business executive of the Leo, was acquitted of all charges.

REFUNDING BONDS ORDERED ISSUED BY MIAMI HEADS

Refinancing Plan Is Declared Model Of Economic Solution

MIAMI, Aug. 27.—The Miami city commission yesterday adopted a resolution authorizing issuance of $16,238,000 of refunding bonds under a plan worked out after more than a year of conferences between investment bankers and C. H. Reeder, Miami city commissioner and former mayor.

No better course could have been adopted for preserving the city's credit rating, E. C. Romph, president of the First National Bank of Miami, and F. B. Childers, vice president of the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, told the commission in a discussion following adoption of the plan.

It is expected that it will be a model for the solution of difficulties of other Florida cities and will do much to stabilize Florida securities on the market and improve general business conditions, they declared.

The refunding bonds will mature over a period of 32 years and will be issued by more than 30 bonding houses at a cost of one per cent, as contrasted with 3½ per cent, paid by Jacksonville and a per cent paid by Tampa for similar issues. Cost of the total issue will be $182,360.

In addition, the bonds are callable in numerical order at 101 on 30 days notice. There remains a municipal bonded indebtedness of about $15,000,000 which must be paid within the next 20 years.

Mr. Reeder moved the adoption of his refinancing plan, and Commissioner Harry E. Platt seconded. All votes were ayes. Commissioner John C. Knight, who was not present when the motion was made, later appeared to cast his vote in the affirmative. Mr. Romph and Mr. Childers also appeared shortly to offer congratulations and to confer with the commission. Their banks will aid in the refunding plan details.

Mr. Romph characterized the plan, with the details of which will be familiar, as a step which will stabilize the market price of the securities. In response to Mr. Reeder's query, "Do you know of any other plan which might have been adopted instead?" he answered simply, "No."

Mr. Reeder then asked Mr. Childers if there was any alternative which might have been arranged to greater advantage for the city, and Mr. Childers answered, "none."

Mr. Childers is a representative of the Municipal Securities Corporation through his bank's affiliation with that organization. Approval of this corporation is a prime requisite of the issuance of the bonds by the many bond houses interested.

"Your action should make Miami's refunding plan a model for use by other Florida cities," Mr. Childers said. "We faced the same difficulty in Jacksonville, but we are not getting out of it as cheaply as you have arranged to do. We paid 3½ per cent in Jacksonville for a similar service, and Tampa paid 5 per cent, or $50 a bond against $10 a bond for Miami."

"It will even be possible for Miami to make money on this refunding plan. Let me suppose that the owner of a block of $100,000 of the bonds wishes to dispose of them while the market price is at 90. In such a case, many of which doubtless will arise, the city will make $10,000 if it acquires the bonds through the sinking fund being set up."

"It will be about a year before you can expect to get the issue exchanged for the outstanding transactions. Colonel Leo asked Judge Barnhill to set aside the jury's verdict applying to young Leo, offering to accept two additional years on his own sentence and to pay the $25,000 in order to remove the stigma of a felony conviction from his son."

Judge Barnhill later informed newspapermen that he had told colonel Leo, if the latter would make his offer include a promise to withdraw his appeal, and to start on the sentence at once, the jurist would "suspend" sentence of Luke Leo, Jr.

This offer was rejected by Colonel Leo on the ground that a suspension of the sentence would not relieve his son of the felony conviction.

"Luke Leo, Jr., worked under my instructions and he should not be held criminally liable," said the trial-winner father. "I am willing to assume the fine and the additional sentence if only this verdict can't be set aside as to my boy."

"I don't admit that I have done any wrong, but I do insist that those transactions were my own not my son's. I believe the supreme court will uphold our contention."

BACHMAN THINKS GEORGIA WILL BE BEST DIXIE TEAM

Says Florida Will Be Fair But Does Not Look For Big Year

By RED NEWTON

TAMPA, Aug. 27.—Coach Charles Bachman, of the Florida Gators, yesterday nominated the University of Georgia Bulldogs as the most likely 1931 candidate to succeed to the Southern conference football honors, shared jointly last season by Alabama and Tulane.

The Gator coach, here to attend Tampa's annual Florida alumni club, was non-committal concerning his team's chances. He limited his comment on the Gators' outlook to such discreet remarks as "we'll have a fair team," and "we have a host of inexperienced sophomores and the hardest schedule in Florida's football history."

Bachman offset his caution in discussing the Florida team by waxing eloquently upon other conference players. He rates Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, and Tulane as potentially the strongest teams in the south this fall. But he thinks Georgia, held to a scoreless tie by the Gators last season, is the team to beat.

"It looks like Georgia this year," he said. "Georgia had a great team last year. They should have a better team this year. Every one of their varsity stars are returning, and most of them have played together for three seasons. Barring bad breaks, it looks like a Georgia year."

"Don't underestimate Alabama because 10 of their 11 first stringers graduated," he continued. "Those second stringers made that varsity last year, and they're certain to be dangerous this season. Tennessee will have another powerful team. Tulane has enough of their unbeaten 1930 team returning to guarantee them a winning eleven. Vandy's great sophomore team of last year will be experienced Juniors this season. Say, these southern football teams should be the class of the country this year."

Bachman announced that he had issued the first practice call for Sept. 7, and that the Gators will do their early training at Gainesville this year, instead of the customary fall camp at St. Augustine. He said that about 10 half of them sophomores, had been invited to the early practice.

Faced with the task of filling eight gaping holes in his 1930 starting line-up, Bachman said much of Florida's success this year will depend upon the 20-odd sophomores. Only Hall and Parcell, ends, and Rogers, halfback, are left from last year's Florida varsity. This trio made up the Gators' passing combination last year, and it is likely that the Florida offense will be built around their airtight this fall.

"I can't say what we will do this year," Bachman said. "Our success depends altogether upon how the sophomores come through. We have far from a championship team, although I rate our prospect fair. We have some good prospective football players among the recruits from last year's freshman team, but it's a big jump to the varsity. We will have to rebuild our line from tackle to tackle. And we will have to find three good backs, not to speak of capable reserves in both departments."

"Furthermore, we are facing the toughest schedule in Florida's football history. Beginning with North Carolina State, there isn't a soft spot on the schedule. North Carolina, our second opponent, comes as one of the good teams in the conference. Syracuse 'will be tough, and Auburn appears to be stronger this season. Georgia is the most dangerous team on our schedule."

"Alabama at Birmingham had just as hard to beat as at Gainesville last year. South Carolina, the team we play in Tampa, will be bolstered by a great 1930 freshman team. Tech will be the cinch it was last year. The trip to California, alone, will give hard with our team. We wind up with Kentucky, a tough spot on anybody's schedule. And there you have it, an impossible schedule."
