Agnew's Resignation Anticipated By A 'Senior Republican Figure'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senior Republican figure says he is 99 1/2 per cent sure that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will resign, probably this week. The Washington Post said today.

The Post said that it has learned that Agnew has held lengthy discussions in the past few days on the advisability of resigning voluntarily.

The report was not flatly denied by Agnew's press secretary, J. Marsh Thomson, although he said it was "no better a story than the rumors that have been circulating about the vice president recently."

Thomson has declined to comment directly on the substance of the various news reports concerning Agnew's legal difficulties in a Maryland probe of alleged political corruption.

The Post said the unnamed senior Republican it talked to had spent two hours with Agnew last week trying to talk him out of resigning, but was convinced that he had failed and that the vice president would resign.

According to the article, the high-ranking Republican said Agnew is determined to prove that he is innocent of the charges that have been under investigation in Baltimore.

However, the newspaper said the vice president is considering resigning because of the intense pressure on his family and also because of indications that President Nixon wants him to resign.

Mayors Dump Veep

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors says the group will not use Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as a spokesman for the cities because of a possible grand jury probe into his finances.

Mayor Roy B. Martin Jr. of Norfolk, who earlier this year had suggested Agnew as a go-between for the nation's mayors in dealing with the White House on requests for urban aid, said on Monday that Agnew's efforts on behalf of the conference no longer would be needed.

IBM Ordered to Pay $352 Million In Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — The big, glamorous computer industry appears to be in for some major changes if Monday's ruling in the IBM-Telex antitrust case survives the appeal IBM was promised.

If it stands, industry officials and Wall Street analysts generally agree, the ruling from U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen is likely to draw new companies into some parts of the business and reshape its whole competitive structure.

The judge, in a ruling sent from his Salt Lake City office to the U.S. District Court in Tulsa where he heard the case, ordered IBM, the world's largest computer maker, to pay Telex $352.5 million in damages.

It also instructed IBM to make some changes in its pricing procedures and to disclose additional information about new products when it announces them.

"The decision foretells a different market in the computer world," said Lester Kilpatrick, president of California Computer Products, Inc.

Judge Christensen set a hearing for Oct. 16 to consider modifications for a new trial. And IBM responded quickly to the announcement of the decision with an announcement that it would appeal.

"As a result of a counter suit by IBM, Telex was ordered to pay IBM $21.9 million for infringement of IBM-copyright manuals and for hiring IBM employees to get trade secrets from them.

School Bus Drivers Preparing To Strike

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Thirty-nine of Seminole's 104 school bus drivers are preparing today to go on strike unless the school administration meets demands for immediate salary increases.

The demands are to be made at tonight's School Bus Association meeting at 8 at Sanford Middle School with Supr. William (Bud) Leyer, director of school transportation Fred Taylor and transportation supervisor Woodrow Burness.

Leyer told The Herald today the bus drivers and administration will discuss "some inequities in the salary schedule tonight."

Burness said tonight's meeting is not a special one. "I don't know how well-organized they are," he said, adding he has heard "some rumors."

Leyer at last week's school board meeting stated trouble would be ahead from the drivers in light of double sessions schedule at Teague Middle School.

Earlier this year, the drivers got a boost from 30 to 32 per cent of beginning teachers salaries, but dropped from 50 to 48 per cent of beginning teachers' pay for drivers with more than 10 years' experience. They had requested a raise to 52 per cent, according to Mrs. Eula Scott, spokesman for the drivers.

Mrs. Scott, beginning her 17th year with the school system, said, "Whether we strike is dependent on what Mr. Leyer says tonight."

She claims the majority of association members are behind the 39. "A lot of the drivers are the sole breadwinners for their families."

She said the drivers want a salary scale equal to that paid in Orange County. They are proposing pay for beginning drivers be raised from $3,055 to $3,350 and those with 10 or more years service from $3,500 to $4,124.

PLEASE GALS... don't call in your remarks before the game. I really do love you for what you are... women.

But, when you try to "kid us gents" that you're as good in athletics as we are... well you're talking to the wrong chauvinist!

And then to have Margaret Court "bug" me in those TV commercials that all you women should use so-and-so's product because they have contributed the difference in prize money to make it equal to the men's play...

Your game's not as exciting. Therefore, it should not carry the same remuneration — period!

Why do I look forward to Friday, you ask? Cause that's when a couple fish I have dangling on my pay-off hook will come forward and "make their offerings" to the great prognosticator. (Move over Howard Cosell...)

On Dog, Company

Don't be surprised when it's announced later that the sports stadium for Florida's next professional football team will be built right here in Seminole County. It'll be in the south end of the county... and the site has already been picked.

However, that's only one first of a double-barreled, economical shot to be announced.

The other will involve the northern part of the county and will involve such a big corporate investment that it'll prove to be "the biggest industrial announcement" in the history of Seminole County.

Are you glad you're a part of this tremendous growth?

County Considers Moves

The county is set to reconsider two controversial decisions today — one involving the life of a dog, the other a possibly dubious contract signed with an abstract company.

The fate of Mayor, the Cocker Spaniel mutt accused of biting at least 18 residents of the South Seminole Druid Hills neighborhood will depend on whether the board believes county pound officer Sam Martin can provide a safe home for the animal.

Several commissioners have indicated that if Martin cannot guarantee Mayor will restrain from endangering people, they will reluctantly impose the death penalty.

On the abstract company's hassle, Assistant County Attorney Howard Marsee is reportedly ready to file the board if it erred in granting a May 1 contract to Cover Manager Ron Bergman said Longwood Mayor Eugene Jaques is concerned about mosquitoes due to the last week's heavy rains.

In other business, the council delayed until next week action on back hoe bids. Utility Director John Lane recommended the low bid for the equipment be rejected and the second low bid from State Tractor be accepted. He said the low bid did not meet specifications.

The State Tractor and Equipment bid was $17,995.

Equipment Loan Is Approved

CASSELLBERRY — The city council Monday night unanimously approved the loan of mosquito fogging equipment, personnel and chemicals to the city of Longwood for two days for $380.

Before the equipment and personnel leave Casselberry, however, City Atty. Kenneth McIntosh recommended that Longwood assure both are covered by Longwood's liability insurance. McIntosh said Casselberry's insurance will not cover outside the city limits.

City Manager Ron Bergman said Longwood Mayor Eugene Jaques is concerned about mosquitoes due to the last week's heavy rains.

The ordinance will restrict the number of dogs or cats a citizen can keep on his property to three with exceptions to be granted by the police chief, who will be designated the city's animal control officer.

The commission hopes to make the leash provisions of the new ordinance effective Dec. 1 while licensing requirements and other provisions would be effective Oct. 1.

Commissioners said the city will keep impounded cats and dogs for seven days and then dispose of them if the animals aren't claimed by their owners.

Owners will have to pay a $10 fee to get unlicensed animals back plus $2 a day for each day the animals are kept in the city pound. Offenses after the first impoundment will cost owners more on a graduated scale yet to be determined.

Also, yet to be set are license fees that the city hopes will be collected by veterinarians

City Draws Law To Leash Cats

City Commissioners have budgeted funds for two dog-catchers starting Oct. 1. In Monday's discussion commissioners recognized that costs may rise since dogs and cats will have to be separated in the pound and in trucks used to transport them.

Commissioners noted that a cat catcher will have a more difficult job than that of catching dogs, night patrols and use of "stun guns" in apprehending fleeing unlicensed felines.

In other business, commissioners were told by Bill Scovell, DeLand petroleum distributor, that he is losing money under his contract to supply heating and diesel fuel to the city.

Scovell's contract expires Jan. 1 and calls for supplying fuel oil at 16 cents a gallon. He said he is now paying 25 cents for the fuel oil.

Scovell said he won't bid on a new contract and predicted there will be no bidders due to fuel oil shortages. He asked for a four cent per gallon price increase to enable him to complete the present contract and recommended the city negotiate fuel oil purchases next year on a month to month basis.

City garbage packers, heavy equipment and one fire engine use diesel fuel.

Cease-Fire Violations

Reds Making Mockery Of Agreements

By EDWARD NEILAN Copy News Service

WASHINGTON—As predictable as the replay of an old, old phonograph record, Communists in Asia are once again making a mockery of a peace agreement which they had signed on the dotted line.

Since the Paris agreement of Jan. 27, 1973, on ending the war and restoring peace in Vietnam went into effect, the North Vietnamese have continued to violate the cease-fire provisions of the agreement. More seriously, the Hanoi regime has expanded and extended at least 12 airfields inside Vietnam and set up several SAM 2 missile sites.

The South Vietnamese Embassy in Washington has accused the People's Republic of China of supplying military equipment, including ammunition, to aid North Vietnam in re-activating one of the airfields—Dong Ha—which is 20 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) which divides North and South Vietnam. Embassy Minister and Charge D'Affaires Phan Van Thinh told a news conference that China had sent equipment by freighter to a port near the airfield in Quang Tri province "within the last two weeks."

Thinh's remarks about Chinese air—which he said would help Hanoi in making all 12 airfields "operational overnight if necessary"—followed the disclosure in Saigon and Paris on Sept. 10 that South Vietnamese and the United States had officially protested Hanoi's airfield expansion activities.

The State Department said it had no way of gauging Communist intentions in repairing the air bases, but acknowledged that the bases gave the North Vietnamese an increased capability.

The only base among the 12 that was repaired and expanded by the Communists to handle jet aircraft was the field at Khe Sanh, scene of several dramatic battles during the 1960s when the base was held by U.S. Marines. Thinh said the Khe Sanh strip has been extended "to 1,900 meters, which means it can handle jet aircraft and large transports."

The other bases were repaired to handle light and medium aircraft.

The State Department's note protesting the buildup said:

"The United States calls upon the DRV (Democratic Republic of Vietnam) side to remove to North Vietnam those missiles and anti-aircraft units which it has illegally introduced into South Vietnam since Jan. 28."

Blue Box Baffles Bureaucrats

By PENNY LERNOUX Copy News Service

BOGOTA, Colombia—When my sister brought me a portable hair dryer from California, little did I know the problems it would cause.

"We'll have to keep this," explained the customs officer, "because the hair dryer is a luxury item and is not permitted to be imported into Colombia. Everything passed customs inspection except the hair dryer in the blue box."

"Report to customs next week," he said.

The following Monday, I appeared at customs with my hair dryer slip, only to be told to come back the next day because the "jeff" or boss, was taking inventory.

The jeff continued to be busy with inventory on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

On Monday, it was, "come back the next week." The jeff had died over the weekend.

By the following Monday, my voice and temper had risen perceptibly, and at last another jeff agreed to see me. "You're in the wrong place, senora," he said. "You'll have to report to the airport."

Back to the airport, a small, unattached customs officer led me to a lavatory where the blue-boxed hair dryer sat inconspicuously. "How come you didn't report for this before?" he barked, adding, "Call a guard."

This is because there is an incalculable volume of "off the books" enterprises operating at all levels of society — the neighborhood bawling sifter, the free lance auto repairman, the hustler are examples — says Prof. Louis A. Ferman of the University of Michigan School of Social Work.

This seldom noticed economic system, which he calls the "irregular economy," is most heavily concentrated in poverty areas, where people have less access to well-paying jobs and adequate goods and services than members of society at large.

Ferman and his wife, sociology Prof. Patricia R. Ferman of Eastern Michigan University, are preparing a book on the irregular economy, to be released late this year.

The existence of two side-by-side economic systems first came to their attention 15 years ago during research among 20 "hard-core" unemployed residents of the Detroit ghetto. They had hypothesized that these people would be alienated

As a tall, armed man came running up, I thought, well, this is it, you're not even going to have a head left to dry. The guard, it turned out, was to accompany me and the hair dryer back to the office of the jeff. "A hair dryer, huh," grunted the jeff. "Bring us a memorandum asking for its release on official paper."

Memorandum, schemo-gram, I thought, trudging over to the Ministry of Communications to stand in a long line to buy a 20-cent official paper.

After she discovered what Haldeman had done, Mrs. Nixon, who often has laid down the law to her strong-willed husband, insisted that the plane be re-designed to her own liking. As a result, the Air Force, which had faithfully followed the original Haldeman specifications, is now spending another $25,000 to conform to the request that the guest lounge be next to the Nixon quarters.

Footnote: A spokesman for Mrs. Nixon confirmed that Haldeman drew up the original plans but she was unable to say whether any of the Nixon approved them before the first $15 million was spent. The new plane, like its predecessor, will be called "The Spirit of '76" the spokesman said. Those who have seen it de-luxe comforts say it has little in common with the original spartan Spirit of '76 which George Washington and his troops showed at Valley Forge.

Chilean Machismo: Simple Latin-American machismo, or manhood, may have been a factor in the dramatic overthrow of President Salvador Allende in Chile. The Chilean Army violated a 42-year tradition of keeping out of Chilean politics when it crushed Allende's Marxist government last week. Long before the coup, and withdrawn from society, engaged in occasional job-seeking and leisure pursuits. To their surprise, they found that most of them were working regularly. If in an irregular way. Some were in criminal activities, such as prostitution or narcotics, but most worked at such conventional jobs as gardening, handicrafts, home repair or the selling of low-priced goods.

Further investigation has confirmed the existence of informal, sometimes invisible, occupation networks within many low-income communities. The majority of the work is not criminal, but it is illegal, since it goes unreported for licensing or tax purposes.

Jobs in the irregular economy thus offer some major advantages over jobs in the regular economy. They are not accountable to any legal authority, since no records are kept of them. The earnings tend to be larger and more predictable since no taxes are deducted. And since the worker can accept or reject jobs as he pleases, he enjoys a control over his economic fate unparalleled by most conventional employment.

Ferman stresses that the irregular economy is ancillary to the regular economy, not distinct from it. Some goods and services may even shift from one economy to the other, as liquor did after the repeal of Prohibition.

Although the irregular economy also operates to some extent in middle-class suburbs, in the ghetto it's more likely to be a survival mechanism. It offers, says Ferman, the only means by which some residents "maintain a level of existence similar to that of regular society." It is a means for redressing inequities.

Squabbling Over A Jet

by Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Treasury has already subsidized President Nixon's luxurious living at San Clemente and Key Biscayne. Now it is ponying up $1,785,000 to deck out his jet to suit H. R. Haldeman's and Pat Nixon's ideas of posh air comfort.

The White House recently ordered a new jet from Boeing to replace the well-traveled "Spirit of '76" as the President's lead plane. Haldeman personally took charge of the interior decorating and before he had finished, the bill had run up to $1.5 million.

When Pat Nixon found out about the appointments, she hit an air pocket. The former top White House aide, with typical Prussian efficiency, had put the staff quarters between the presidential suite and the quarters for extra family and guests.

This would have permitted top staffers to maintain their 24-hour-a-day access to the President, but the arrangement would have forced family and guests to squirm through the staff quarters to visit the President and First Lady.

After she discovered what Haldeman had done, Mrs. Nixon, who often has laid down the law to her strong-willed husband, insisted that the plane be re-designed to her own liking. As a result, the Air Force, which had faithfully followed the original Haldeman specifications, is now spending another $25,000 to conform to the request that the guest lounge be next to the Nixon quarters.

Footnote: A spokesman for Mrs. Nixon confirmed that Haldeman drew up the original plans but she was unable to say whether any of the Nixon approved them before the first $15 million was spent. The new plane, like its predecessor, will be called "The Spirit of '76" the spokesman said. Those who have seen it de-luxe comforts say it has little in common with the original spartan Spirit of '76 which George Washington and his troops showed at Valley Forge.

Chilean Machismo: Simple Latin-American machismo, or manhood, may have been a factor in the dramatic overthrow of President Salvador Allende in Chile. The Chilean Army violated a 42-year tradition of keeping out of Chilean politics when it crushed Allende's Marxist government last week. Long before the coup, and withdrawn from society, engaged in occasional job-seeking and leisure pursuits. To their surprise, they found that most of them were working regularly. If in an irregular way. Some were in criminal activities, such as prostitution or narcotics, but most worked at such conventional jobs as gardening, handicrafts, home repair or the selling of low-priced goods.

Further investigation has confirmed the existence of informal, sometimes invisible, occupation networks within many low-income communities. The majority of the work is not criminal, but it is illegal, since it goes unreported for licensing or tax purposes.

Jobs in the irregular economy thus offer some major advantages over jobs in the regular economy. They are not accountable to any legal authority, since no records are kept of them. The earnings tend to be larger and more predictable since no taxes are deducted. And since the worker can accept or reject jobs as he pleases, he enjoys a control over his economic fate unparalleled by most conventional employment.

Ferman stresses that the irregular economy is ancillary to the regular economy, not distinct from it. Some goods and services may even shift from one economy to the other, as liquor did after the repeal of Prohibition.

Although the irregular economy also operates to some extent in middle-class suburbs, in the ghetto it's more likely to be a survival mechanism. It offers, says Ferman, the only means by which some residents "maintain a level of existence similar to that of regular society." It is a means for redressing inequities.

Other Thoughts

A little over a year ago President Nixon and President Luria Echeverria Alvarez of Mexico ended a meeting in Washington with a pledge to settle once and for all one of the oldest problems along our common border—the salinity of Colorado River water flowing from the United States of America into Mexico. That pledge has now been fulfilled in an agreement that promises to benefit farmers on both sides of the border.

Nevertheless, the fact that even as good a friend of the United States as King Faisal of Saudi Arabia is mentioning the Israeli question in his talks with American oil officials gives these Middle East developments an ominous note. At this point it is becoming difficult to distinguish between Arab actions that might stem from anti-Israel motives, and those that might reflect the genuine concern of Arab states for the economic problems posed by their abundant petroleum reserves. King Faisal, for instance, can argue that meeting U.S. demands for oil is swelling his treasury with more dollars than he can spend and stripping his desolate country of a natural resource that eventually will be depleted. He has a logical reason to argue for a slowdown in oil production while industries are developed in Arabia to make better long-range use of those petroleum reserves.

Some stark facts are emerging for consideration by the American people. We are relying now on Middle Eastern oil for 6 per cent of our fuel needs. As the mix of foreign and domestic fuel sources is projected into the future, that ratio is set to rise to 30 per cent by 1980. The outlook at best is for steadily rising prices as the Arab countries exploit their seller's market. At worst, we could face the kind of choices Col. Khadafi is trying to give us—where our dependence on foreign oil would rob us of the freedom to base our foreign policy on what we believe to be right.

We can neither predict nor dictate the policies that the new Arab oil barons will follow. However, there can be no excuse for the kind of inertia that has characterized our approach to this challenge to our long-range energy needs. The nuclear technology at our disposal, the offshore and Arctic oil resources waiting to be tapped, the oil reserves elsewhere around the globe inviting development—all present opportunities to make the United States far less dependent on Middle Eastern oil. If we can convince the Khadafi of the Arab world we do not need their oil as much as they think we do, they would quickly change their tune.

"You now advocate using our oil as a political weapon. How do you know you're not an agent of the Alaskan pipeline people?"

U.S. District Judge David Middlebrooks ordered a preliminary injunction against the call-up after a Monday hearing in the case of David McMullen, Ben Sellers and Gary Gray.

The three were given unsatisfactory attendance ratings at drills on Aug. 18 and 19 and were recommended for active duty because of an alleged violation of haircut regulations. The reservists contended that their hair was no longer than it had been at other drills and that they were being called up because of their outspoken opposition to the regulations.

Middlebrooks said he was shown no evidence that their hair was different in August than at other drills. "Evidence in this case convinces me that these three persons were victims of discrimination — that the Marine Corps in this instance has not followed its own regulations," the judge said. "Therefore, I should enter a preliminary injunction."

Attorneys said the injunction would stand until challenged in court. Capt. Alan Ryan, Marine legal officer, said a decision on whether to appeal the ruling would be made in Washington. McMullen cannot be called up after Oct. 9 when his six-year enlistment ends.

MURDER TRIAL GOES — F. Lee Bailey joins a dozen other defense attorneys today in trying to convince a jury that he will try him, Orlando businessman Glen W. Turner and seven others on federal mail fraud charges.

Bailey, the noted criminal attorney from Boston, is accused along with the others of using the mails to defraud purchasers of franchises in Turner's cosmetics and personality development firms.

Three attorneys who represented Bailey in pretrial hearings with Monday as jury selection began. "We are continuing to help him with jury selection; then we will be out of the case," Theodore Koskoff of Bridgeport, Conn., said of himself and two colleagues. "It was all amicable."

The defense used nine of its 29 preemptory challenges and the government used four of its 10 in the first day of examining jurors. Another 28 prospective jurors from an original panel of 191 were excused for personal or business reasons.

Bailey's decision to defend himself came as a surprise. U.S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat revealed it while introducing attorneys to the prospective jurors and said Bailey was acting as his own lawyer. The judge has ordered defendants and attorneys to avoid discussing the case with newsmen.

While Bailey bustled himself in jury selection procedures, Turner quietly laughed and talked with two fellow defendants.

Posting Of Drug Prices Expected To Be Opposed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Chairman Law Brantley of the Senate Commerce Committee says that despite strong opposition he will push for legislation to force the posting of prescription drug prices.

The Jacksonville Democrat's prescription posting suggestion met a cool reception Monday during a hearing on a recent statewide drug survey conducted by the committee's staff.

The survey of 160 pharmacies showed the prices of some prescription drugs varied as much as 200 to 500 per cent across the state.

"The reception today leads us to believe the lobbyists are stronger," Brantley said after the meeting. "We're going to have some legislation unless the pharmacy association comes forward with some."

Sen. Ken Plante, R-Oviedo, told the committee that he hadn't heard "where anyone has been refused a price in a drug store."

Contempt Citation Possible

State Probing School Contracts

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The joint Legislative Auditing Committee may ask that St. Petersburg attorney Robert Bussey be held in contempt if he refuses to testify about his role in companies receiving state education contracts, chairman James Redman says.

Redman, D-Plant City, said Monday that Bussey's attorney has indicated his client will refuse to answer a subpoena to appear today before the auditing panel.

"I haven't made up my mind what I'm going to do," Redman said. "We could go to court to ask that he be held in contempt."

Redman said Tampa attorney David Maney, representing Bussey, advised him last week that Bussey would not answer the subpoena. Maney contends that his client is immune because of a protective order issued in a separate federal court suit,

Maney declined to elaborate Monday, saying only that "undoubtedly there may be other action filed."

Redman said he hoped the incident would not delay his panel's probe into contracts for development of a reading system issued by Education Commissioner Floyd Christian.

Christian requested the Times investigation last September after a St. Petersburg Times series said research and development contracts totaling $1 million were given to corporations whose principals included Bussey, identified as a long-time friend and former business associate of Christian.

Christian claimed the stories were part of a campaign of "character assassination and personal harassment" by the Times.

Redman said Christian had cooperated fully by giving the panel access to Education Department records.

"I hope we'll be able to wind this thing up shortly in the next month," Redman said. House Speaker Terrell Sessums asked Redman's committee to investigate the Christian-Bussey allegations in February. But action was delayed when the panel started an investigation charged of misconduct against Lt. Gov. Tom Adams.

"This (Bussey-Christian) just got kind of shoved to the back," said a committee spokesman. Florida's oil spill law and offshore oil drilling in the Gulf of Mexico will be discussed by other legislative committees today, during the first series of meetings in preparation for the 1974 legislature.

Marine Corps Reservists Win Round In Hair Battle

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Marine Corps has been told by a federal judge that it did not follow its own regulations and therefore cannot call three reservists to active duty for violating haircut regulations.

U.S. District Judge David Middlebrooks ordered a preliminary injunction against the call-up after a Monday hearing in the case of David McMullen, Ben Sellers and Gary Gray.

Dear Abby

Can a man tell if she's had silicone implants?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Can a man tell if a woman has had silicone implants to enlarge her breasts? (I don't mean by looking, I mean by touching.)

I've talked to two girls who have had it done, and one says a man would have to be awfully dumb not to know because hers feel like grapefruit. She said she's not sorry she did it because they look fine.

The other girl said nobody could tell she had anything done. Are there any telltale marks? What do your experts have to say about this?

DEAR CONSIDERING: The girl with the "grapefruit" must have had her implants some time ago when harder materials were used. Softer materials are now used that feel like the real thing.

To answer your question: Whether a man could tell if a woman had had a breast implant would depend on the amount of breast tissue she had before surgery and the way she healed. The only telltale marks are the scars under the breasts, which in time become practically invisible. And if a layman tried to prove that a girl had had it done, he'd have his hands full.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound like I'm bragging, and I suppose I am, but this is the way it was:

A couple of weeks ago I was walking past my husband's chair in the living room when he reached out and took my hand and said: "Honey, will you marry me?" [We were married in 1951; I said: "Are you trying to tell me we aren't married after all these years?" He grinned and replied: "Oh, we're good and married. I'm taking an early retirement, and we're going to start all over again, just the two of us, like we did 38 years ago. If you'd like to go thru another wedding with me, I'd like it, too."

"Well, I sat down and howled. I called a local minister and explained it to him, saying I hoped he wouldn't think it was funny. He said he didn't think it was funny at all, he thought it was beautiful, and he agreed to perform the ceremony for us. [We didn't need another license or blood test.]

My sister, who lives in Bishop, Calif., was my bridesmaid when we were first married, so I called her when I asked if she'd do it again. She said: "Tell me when you want me, and I'll be there if I have to take a bus." My brother will be our best man.

This may strike you as nothing special, but it sure means the world to me.

DEAR MARRYING: I think it's beautiful. Congratulations and God bless you. More couples should celebrate their marriage vows.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Remove Scuff Marks From Heels Easily

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Chris wanted to know how to repair scuff marks on her plastic heels. For years I have bought small bottles of auto touch-up paint that comes with a little brush like a fingernail polish brush. This lacquer comes in many colors and dries quickly. When shoes are scuffed again you have plenty of paint left for another touch-up. — MRS. G. W. A.

DEAR POLLY — Chris will find that a PERMANENT-WATERPROOF felt-tipped marker will cover the scuffed plastic heels on her shoes. These pens come in different colors and can be bought at drug and stationery stores. We use such pens to mark our plastic coolers, lawn chairs and even picnic drinking glasses and find the marking stays on even after going through the dishwasher. Just be sure you get WATERPROOF-PERMANENT. — HELEN

DEAR GIRLS — One big shoe repair place said they ream the entire heel so it all looks uniform but that this cannot be done at home successfully. Another says a spray for plastic must be used because other paints will not dry on plastic. So take your pick if you want to see what results you get. WATERPROOF-PERMANENT. — HELEN

DEAR POLLY — I hope someone can tell me how to remove an oil stain from indoor-outdoor carpeting that does not have a rubber backing. I have tried numerous detergents, but to no avail. — THERESA

DEAR POLLY — I have a P.S. to Esther's Pet Peeve concerning shopping carts. I agree that it is ignorant of shoppers not to return the carts to designated areas but it is also the responsibility of the stores to collect stray carts and keep them off the streets. We are now in the midst of a suit over damage done to my husband's car while it was in the bank parking lot. Somebody had evidently rolled the cart from a nearby grocery to his own car in this lot and left it there. Within 15 minutes three cars were damaged. The grocery refuses to pay the damage. They say the cart was not theirs but they were not to be negligent. Just the other day I passed the same store and decided they were going to sue me for rolling off the curb right into the path of a car that had to swerve out of the way and luckily was not hit. Someone has to assume responsibility for that kind of negligence. — VERA

DEAR POLLY — I have a P.S. to Esther's Pet Peeve concerning shopping carts. I agree that it is ignorant of shoppers not to return the carts to designated areas but it is also the responsibility of the stores to collect stray carts and keep them off the streets. We are now in the midst of a suit over damage done to my husband's car while it was in the bank parking lot. 'Kids' Look Up To Chapin

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Chapin is a man a lot of kids look up to as the star of ABC-TV's "Make a Wish" Sunday children's series. Off-camera, he's looked up to by most adults, partly because he stands 6 foot 5.

He was a basketball star at New York's Plattsburgh State College and could have turned pro. Instead, he chose to carve out a career as a singer-guitarist, having performed professionally since age 14.

Chapin, 26, is into what you'd call the folk-rock bag. When interviewed last week, he was working on a band with a folk singer.

He was accompanied by two of the guys in the band — his brother, Steve, who plays bass, and Bob Hinkel, a guitarist. They all grinned now and then as Tom explained how he got into the television business.

"I was playing with a group called the Chaplins, which included Steve and myself and two other guys," he said. "We were working on a band with a folk singer."

He heard the "Make a Wish" people needed a host. "I'd gone through most of the actor types in New York and couldn't find anybody. I'm not even sure if they knew what they were looking for, but they were calling around the folk (music) houses and looking for a folk singer."

Chapin, a friendly, unpretentious minstrel, said he immediately presented himself at ABC and "met this woman and she sort of just looks at me. Then she sits me down and starts walking around."

"She says, 'Very interesting' and calls in another woman and they both look at me. Then we do some screen tests with a bunch of other dudes ... and they finally decide on me."

Chapin now is in his third year as star of "Make a Wish," a series that has won a Peabody Award and his recommendation for viewing by the National Educational Association, according to ABC.

Gay said Doris?

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Please interpret Doris Day's theme song. The words sound like "Gay said I, said I" or something like that. And tell me if her sometimes vicious screen temper is just put on, or is it natural in real life? — JENNIE TERRELL, Mobile, Ala.

Holiday Canceled In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The military junta relaxed the curfew for an extra hour in Santiago tonight, until 8 p.m., in honor of the 16th anniversary of Chile's independence but planned no official celebration in the tense, uncertain capital.

Ministers Meet In Dublin

DUBLIN (AP) — Prime Ministers Edward Heath of Britain and Liam Cosgrave of Ireland met for nine hours in Dublin but came up with no new ideas to get the warring factions in Northern Ireland together. However, they agreed to keep in touch.

Saigon Says 46 Killed

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government claims 46 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed in clashes Monday, more than half of them in the central highlands. Saigon said it had no casualties in 56 clashes in Cambodia, only small-scale fighting was reported around Kompong Cham, with the Phnom Penh command claiming only five insurgents killed in a clash near the airport.

ANIMATION — The Mitsukoshi Department store on Tokyo's Ginza Street has recently erected huge neon lights on walls, symbolizing fireworks complete with sparkle and sound.

New Holes Sought In Iron Curtain

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and its allies will be trying to punch new holes in the old iron curtain when they join the Soviet bloc and the rest of Europe today for the resumption of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

The Soviets will be seeking first of all an accord on the "inviolability of frontiers" to strengthen their position in Europe and the position of their East German allies.

The first phase of the conference ended in Helsinki in July with agreement on general principles. The task of the second phase is to work out agreements translating those principles into concrete terms, and the job is expected to take months.

"This is the phase that will determine the success or failure of the conference," said Andre Dominic, the Swiss executive secretary of the conference.

George Vest is heading the U.S. delegation. A. G. Kovalev, a vice minister of foreign affairs, leads the Soviet group. Each of the 35 participating governments has a veto on all decisions, at least in theory and often in practice. Little Malta, for example, held up the preparatory work in Helsinki for days in an attempt to get a hearing for some of its friends on the southern shores of the Mediterranean.

Most of the work will be done by more than a dozen committees and subcommittees meeting four or five at a time, at least until Oct. 1. Then the coordinating committee will meet to see whether the smaller committees, which have only a few delegates, can keep up the pace.

Western delegates think it will be February or March before he became premier, and last year, when he likened the American bombing of North Vietnam to Nazi massacres in World War II, the State Department told the Swedish government its new ambassador-designate to the United States would not be welcome in Washington. The Nixon administration also has kept its embassy in Stockholm without an ambassador since June 1972.

Swedish Premier Facing Critical Political Battle

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Olof Palme, Sweden's premier for the past four years and a severe critic of U.S. policy in Indochina, is facing the most critical battle of his political career.

Palme, who succeeded Tage Erlander as chairman of the Social Democratic party and as premier in 1969, comes from an upper-middle class family.

"I was born upper class, but I belong to the labor movement," he told an interviewer recently. "I joined the labor party by working for the working class on its own conditions and by adhering to a movement which desires liberty, equality and fraternity between people. As far as I can see, it is more important where I stand today than where I came from." Palme said his main political aims are to prevent technological advances causing undesirable social consequences, to work for equality in society, to work for broader democracy in all spheres and to give the people joint responsibility and joint influence.

Both Germans Get UN Status

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — East and West Germany gain full membership today in the United Nations, the world organization created at the end of World War II by the conquerors of Nazi Germany.

Germany only because the Communist regime refuses to pay reparations for Nazi crimes against the Jews and is militantly pro-Arab.

The United States and other allies of West Germany dropped their long-standing opposition to East Germany as a result of the Big Four accord on Berlin and the normalization treaty between the two Germanys last year.

19 Nabbed In Duval On Drugs

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The arrest of 19 persons on drug charges has made a substantial dent in the hard narcotics trade in northeast Florida, a Duval County sheriff's office says.

Investigator Matt Touchton said local officers and federal narcotics agents made the arrests Monday after working together over the past five months to identify major drug dealers.

Sports Spotlight

We're anxiously awaiting aerial photos and maps of the Merritt Island Wildlife Refuge from U.S. Representative Bill Chappell's office in Washington showing the area where the dike roads are to be constructed to allow area sportsmen access once again to the area. Word from the Capitol late last week concerning the beach has hit the area like lightning.

HOPE IT'S REAL

"All I can say is, I hope it's real," said Ellsworth C. Harper, Sanford, who came into the office to talk about the new developments. Harper had previously given us a "stinging" interview about why the dike roads solution would not be workable, as did several other area sport fishing aficionados. But with the new light shed on the situation — placing the parking lots nearer the beach by way of straightening the road out from 15 to 6.5 miles — answers just about every fisherman's prayer.

AREA BOXER APPEARING

Central Florida boxing fans certainly have a lot to be proud of when thinking of the accomplishments of the Naval Training Center Boxing Team, which has been helping youngsters polish ring skills for important state and national recognition. Among those youths who've added their names to the growing list is 17-year-old Robbie Barfield.

TITLE BEATER ALREADY

Last March he took the Florida AA U Junior Middleweight champ and August he finished second in the nation in the program, as well as second in golden gloves fighting. Rob's dad, who recently "unretired" from the ring to fight on the same card with his son, said he was only thinking of that one fight, but the idea seems good to him and we may get the chance to see both in action again soon.

Dave Johnson Ties Mark Hank Hits Another, Count Is 711

By FRED ROTHENBERG Associated Press Sports Writer Hank Aaron hit another home run and there was a homer record tied in Atlanta.

In the other National League game, Montreal edged St. Louis 5-4, then the Cardinals beat the Expos in 12 innings 5-3; Pittsburgh overpowered New York 10-3; Houston downed Cincinnati 5-2; Los Angeles pounded San Francisco 7-1 and the Philadelphia-Chicago game was rained out.

Expos 5-3, Cards 4-5 Felipe Alou's two-out ninth inning pinch single tied the score and Alou came around to score the game-winner on a weird single by pinch hitter Ron Woods for a 5-4 opening game victory.

Aaron Still Has A Shot

ATLANTA (AP) — Hammerin' Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves picked a nasty night before a tiny crowd that included the baseball commissioner to lower the magic number to three in his chase of Babe Ruth's all-time home run record.

"You're a show off," Kuhn told Aaron as the two met in Braves' Manager Eddie Mathews' office to have a picture made with Dave Johnson, the Atlanta infielder who cracked his 40th home run later in the eighth inning to tie the record for most homers in a season for second baseman set by Rogers Hornsby in 1922.

"I thought it was going foul for a while," Aaron said of his 38th homer this year. "It was a slider that didn't break. It just stayed inside. Those are the kind that usually fall foul. If there had been any kind of wind, it probably would have blown it out foul."

Packers Rip Jets, Namath For 23-7 Win

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ken Ellis, who led the NFL in yardage last year, completed 16 of 22 passes for 233 yards against the Jets in a 23-7 victory.

But after the Jets' first drive which ended in a missed 41 yard field goal attempt by Bobby Hunter, the Packers thrashed the Jets past midfield until 7:41 remained to be played. By that time the Packers had sacked Namath three times and intercepted him once in rolling to a 23-0 lead.

"I was throwing early," a disgruntled Namath said. "After our first series, they (Packers linemen) started coming good. I wasn't throwing worth a damn, anyway."

Ergoties Grigley (25) provides some protection to Carli against Richard Lavender (72) and Robert Raulerson (87). The Seminoles won 20-0, and trek to Gainesville Friday to meet the Purple Hurricanes at Florida Field. Oviedo travels to Rockledge.

Trojan Mentor Reverses Self On Grid Poll Stand

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California again is the No. 1 team in the Associated Press college football poll. That's no surprise, since the Trojans have owned the top spot since the first week of 1972.

What is surprising is the capricious reaction of Southern Cal's coach, John McKay.

"I don't know or care whether we're rated No. 1 next week," he said Saturday night after the Trojans had recorded a 17-0 victory over Arkansas in their opener. "I didn't even think we should have been No. 1 last week."

McKay changed his line Monday, saying that USC deserves the top spot. A poll of 60 sports writers and broadcasters who participated this week gave the Trojans 38 first-place votes and a total of 1,196 points.

But Nebraska, Ohio State and Alabama, the next three ranked teams, will be out to challenge Southern Cal as the college football season enters its second week.

McKay was skeptical of the teams' chances of jumping USC from the lead, however, especially those of Ohio State, which defeated Minnesota 56-7.

"I'm not impressed with Minnesota," McKay said wryly. "I'm not won about three games in 10 years."

Nebraska, idle last weekend, received eight first place points and 995 points overall, and the Buckeyes took third with 11 votes for first and an aggregate of 944.

Last week the spread between the first three teams was 1,168-1,121-838.

Alabama jumped from sixth place to fourth by virtue of their 45-0 rout of California. The victory earned the Crimson Tide two first-place votes and 809 points.

Michigan topped Iowa 31-7 to retain its hold on fifth place with 666 points. Texas, which doesn't open its season until Friday night, fell from fourth to sixth with 613 points.

When Arcoett first came to the Goldenrod school in January of 1969 there was not even a soccer ball on the premises; much less a varsity team with experienced players.

The then first year instructor decided to go up to the Headmaster and ask about starting a soccer club. The boss said "OK" and the ball started rolling from there.

Arcoett made an announcement and 30 "players" showed. Only two had ever played a soccer game in their school lives. The coach took them to a Hollins varsity field and explained what all those "idiots" out there were doing and came back to Trinity for practice.

Evidently the veteran coach has not done all that bad. As a matter of fact all three teams he has fielded have been winners with the 1971 edition winning a division championship and losing a heart-breaking (1-0) decision to Four-A outfit Winter Park Wildcats.

The most heart-breaking part of the story is that the game had two regular overtimes and eight (yes eight) sudden death periods.

The Saints came back the next year and took the Central Florida Conference title with a final game victory over the Evan Trojans. And after the school year the team traveled to England and Scotland and found out how the folks over there get their kicks.

The boys and the coach feel they have learned a great deal from the trip and local booters competing with the prepsters had better be ready for the blue and gold or they just may be blown right off of the field.

Arcoett made an announcement and 30 "players" showed. Only two had ever played a soccer game in their school lives. The coach took them to a Hollins varsity field and explained what all those "idiots" out there were doing and came back to Trinity for practice.

Evidently the veteran coach has not done all that bad. As a matter of fact all three teams he has fielded have been winners with the 1971 edition winning a division championship and losing a heart-breaking (1-0) decision to Four-A outfit Winter Park Wildcats.

The most heart-breaking part of the story is that the game had two regular overtimes and eight (yes eight) sudden death periods.

The Saints came back the next year and took the Central Florida Conference title with a final game victory over the Evan Trojans. And after the school year the team traveled to England and Scotland and found out how the folks over there get their kicks.

The boys and the coach feel they have learned a great deal from the trip and local booters competing with the prepsters had better be ready for the blue and gold or they just may be blown right off of the field.

The Saints head soccer man has ten veterans returning from last year's ball club, and he has

'I Am Very Healthy Again' Billie Jean Ready For Riggs

HOUSTON (AP)—"I saw Bobby Riggs on television with Howard Cosell the other night," said Peggy Michael of Pacific Palisades, Calif. "He made me sick."

The girls on the ladies' tennis tour are closing ranks and lining up behind Billie Jean King in Billie Jean's $100,000 match at the Astrodonne Thursday night against the 35-year-old hustler from Newport Beach, Calif.

"They're all flaming buttons which read: 'Billie Jean is No. 1!'"

"I think we'll all die if she doesn't win," said pretty, 20-year-old Kristian Kemmer of Los Angeles. "She just has to win."

"I'm sure she will, too. I've never seen her play better," Miss Kemmer was one of Billie Jean's two victims as the 29-year-old champion of the feminist movement warmed up for the $5 million court spectacular by winning a doublesheader in the women's tournament at the outlying Net Set Racquet Club.

Orioles Magic Number Down To Six

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here is Manager Earl Weaver, leading the rest of baseball's American League East Division by so many games that his Baltimore Orioles don't even make Pennant Races At A Glance. And he tells you how tough things are for him these days.

"This was a big one, no doubt about it," explained Weaver after the Orioles had reduced the magic number for clinching their title to six Monday night by defeating the New York Yankees 5-4 in 10 innings at the Yankees' home run.

Why was it big? After all, Baltimore is leading the division by 7 1/2 games with less than two weeks to go.

"If we had lost three out of four to the Yankees, we would have had to play over 500 ball to clinch," said Weaver. "Now, we don't."

Big 'D' Means Defense In NFL Play

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

The 1973 National Football League season is likely to be the year of the Big D. The D stands not for Dallas but for defense, and preseason performances in both NFL conferences seem to bear this out.

The teams that won in the six-week preseason combat were those whose defensive lines and linebackers were in the right place at the right time.

NFL coaches recognize the new emphasis on defense perhaps more than the players. Washington Redskins Coach George Allen, after his team walloped the Chicago Bears 17-3, observed:

Middies Open At Home With Four Way Meet

The Sanford Naval Academy will open its 44th homecoming meet today at 4 p.m. behind the Junior School at 13th Street and Mellenville Avenue.

The Middle Harriers, who finished fifth in the "Big School" Greyhound Invitational Openers last week, are making a run for a state title this season in the Single A division, according to Coach Tim Pray, led by Junior star Kenny Evans, who fell to Arch rival and running friend Kenny Durcan of Lyman in the Hound Opener, will lead the SNA runners against other Single A opponents. In the meet today are Melbourne Central Catholic, Montverde and Lake Highland Prep of Orlando.

The youngsters will go a 2.2 mile route in this meet, but will soon be hitting a 2.6 mile trail, said Pray.

Baby Patriots Open Year Tonight Against 'Jackets'

Lake Brantley's junior varsity opens its season tonight at 7:30 at Lyman High football field, hosting the Leesburg back, Randy Fowler and Kyle Yellowjackets' freshman team, Peters; fullback, Steve JV coach Kelley Wainwright and Shackleford.

Starting ends will be Danny Williams and Brian Winchester; tackles, Joey Malson and Danny Meles; guards, Darrell McClair and Michael

Quarry-Kendall Battle Set For Orlando Sports Stadium

By LEE GEGGER
Herald Correspondent

Central Florida fight fans will be treated to what appears to be one of the best offerings ever to hit the area when Mike Quarry and Andy Kendall come together at the Orlando Sports Stadium Oct. 3.

On paper, the upcoming bout looks like the best ever to be made by promoter Pete Ashlock and matchmaker Melcom) Taite, who arranged the 10-rounder.

Although both are ranked nationally, victory is essential at this crossroads in their careers. In this desperation should heighten the titanic struggle that looms ahead for these west coast fighters.

Sanford's Vic Perez is also slated to appear in an eight rounder on the Quarry-Kendall card. His opposition is not known at this time, but

...Bob Timmers offers unusual printing services

The Print Shop For The Personal Touch

When Bob Timmers retired from his printing business in Wisconsin he moved down to Florida to spend his leisure days.

Before long, however, he found he was missing the familiar bustle and bustle of the printing business, and the stimulation of something new every day. So he returned to Wisconsin, loaded up some machinery, and hauled it down to DeBar.

The Print Shop at 205 Benson Junction Road, DeBar, is the result.

Timmers is enjoying his printing business more now than ever. He says he has the time to print those extra special, personalized things most print shops are too busy to do.

Best of all, in today's busy world when nobody has time to wait for things, The Print Shop offers one-day service. Consult with Timmers in the morning, give him your order, and you'll usually be able to pick it up that same afternoon.

He has just started printing paper place mats, and not only

WATER SAFETY LESSON

Jackie Caolo watches as Jennifer Hoening, not quite two-years-old, rolls on her back and floats contentedly in the heated pool. At the Caolo Swim School children learn the water can actually hold them up if they relax and allow it to. Under Mrs. Caolo's firm and encouraging instruction they soon gain confidence and learn to enjoy the water. The emphasis at the Caolo pool school is primarily on water safety; style swimming comes second.

Water safety is the first concern at Mrs. Caolo's swim school—she begins by teaching children how to conduct themselves in and around the pool; they learn to know and understand the water as well as enjoy it; and they learn survival swimming.

Only when children are completely water-safe does Mrs. Caolo teach them different swimming strokes and concentrate on swimming style.

It is delightful to see a Caolo Swim School session in action. There is no running, yelling or horseplay. The children know how to use the diving board one at a time, and never to grab at another child in the water. In her firm, encouraging manner Mrs. Caolo teaches the children to relax and allow the water to support them—then soon learn to regard water as something to enjoy, rather than to fear.

Parents of the youngsters are always surprised and delighted at how soon Mrs. Caolo produces results.

It's a treat to watch a pool school in action. From 18-month-old infants, to pre-school toddlers, to elementary school children, they are like little waterbabies, quite at home in the water.

The Caolo Swim School is not limited to young children, however. Mrs. Caolo makes appointments for older children and adults too, any time.

Her basic schedule during the fall and spring is pool school for pre-school children in the

Caolo Pool School Fall Swim Season Starts

Now, more than ever, is the season in Florida to go swimming.

The unbearably hot, sun-burning days of summer with their electrical storms are over, and we can look forward to long weeks of clear, sunny days.

The seaside, lakes and pools remain the focus for weekend picnics and vacation fun throughout the fall season.

There is no need for your enjoyment of waterside activities to be spoiled because there are young children in your party who cannot swim.

Jackie Caolo's Swim School, at 131 East Woodland Drive in Sanford, is as active during the fall and spring as it is in the summer. Should the temperatures dip a little low on occasions, swimming in the constant 90 degree water of the Caolo pool is still comfortable.

HYPNOSIS - FACT OR FICTION?

PEOPLE WITH PSYCHOSOMATIC ILLS ARE MENTALLY UNSTABLE OR WEAK.

FICTION—hypothesis on mental stability has no bearing on a person's susceptibility to psychosomatic illness (having no organic origin). Tension, worry, anxiety, etc., can and do produce physical symptoms that in just as real as those having an organic origin. Anesthetics, a great 19th century physician said, "imagination can fascinate and modify a man's body—either making him ill or restoring him to health." This is just as true today as it was then. As the prevalence of "thing" increases day by day, so does the incidence of psychosomatic illness.
