

Medal Is More Of Test Than Match Play, Golfers Say

NEW YORK, June 24, (Special) —Consistent with the votes for wartime continuance of sports in previous meetings, Sportsmen of the people feel that the National Open and the National Amateur should not have been called off this year. However, amateur golfers ran contrary to the common trend by voting 67.7 percent in favor of the rules of the United States Golf Association which suspended the big championships for this season following the precedent established in 1918.

All the way down the line of the all-poll poll there was considerable divergence of opinion and considerable bickering by various blocs, which included in addition to the public, such interested groups as the sports editors, radio announcers, amateur pro golfers, and the like.

Forty-three of America's largest country clubs voted. For example match play came out ahead of medal play as a test of individual skill in 60.7 percent of the ballots, although the blocs of amateur and pro golfers voted 68.54 and 68.53 respectively. Paul Runyan said medal play was "the best test of skill, though match play may be the best test of competitive disposition."

A total of 68.28 percent voted that the shorter war-time golf ball would not diminish their pleasure in golf. Lew Scott of the famous Lakeside Country Club, Hollywood, suggested adaptation of a pneumatic ball. Stop-and-go took practice without supervision, was voted harmful by a small margin of .50.75 percent. Sam Sound came close to the consensus when he said "stop-and-go" is harmful for beginners, with instruction, but helpful to golfers who have good equipment.

The most interesting single factor in developing a good golf swing is practice, according to 21.20 percent of the voters. The pros rated correct grip first.

Cheek Evans said the most important thing is "keeping the best position on each swing."

"That golf presents more business opportunities than any other sport was supported by 77.36 percent of the voters. "The quiet, slow, well-executed shot that the links gives you the most pleasure," is the approach shot polled 49.67 percent, the drive 32.77 percent, and the putt, 17.56 percent. Another three-way question asked who would be most likely to help the Boston Red Sox to a 6-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the opener of a three-game series.

Tim Lauer and Peter Oscar Judd, 41-year-old rookie southpaw, also hit for the circuit in 10 hit assays on Paul (Humpy) Trout, who was charged with his seventh defeat against five victories.

Judd had a three hit shutout until the eighth when the Tigers clustered a double and two singles for their runs. It was Judd's sixth victory against four defeats.

Larry French Wins No. 6 For Brooklyn

BROOKLYN, June 24, (AP)—Lefty Larry French received credit for his sixth victory with a double in the night game he led out as the Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 2. The Dodgers broke a tie score by bunching five hits for four runs after two were out in the fifth inning.

The climax of the rally was a two-run double by Joe Medwick, extending his hitting streak to 21 games.

French, who relieved Whitlow Watt after two innings, started the decisive rally with a single after two were down. Pee Wee Reuss and Leo Dugay also pitched to load the bases when Pete Reiser brought in two runs with a single and Medwick doubled for two more.

Marchie Schwartz Gets Stanford Job:

PALO ALTO, Calif., June 24.—Stanford installed its third football coach within a few months last night with the appointment of Marchie (Marchie) Schwartz as acting re-

Long-Range Thinkers In Washington Have Bright Gleam In Their Eyes

By JOHN GROVER
Wide World Features

There's bright gleam in the eyes of long-range thinkers in Washington these days. The shape of things to come after the war is being altered by wartime industrial-scientific discoveries.

While these discoveries are vital in winning the war, their full effect may come later. Necessity is the mother of wartime invention, but the "children" grow up in peacetime. Radio and the airplane were babies of the last war.

Hard-headed industrialists, looking over the new environment, render obsolete by chemists' progress; violent dislocations in the production system as new goods replace failing ones;

U. S. Position In Second Front Is Established

Warning Is Given Of Impending Allied Attack On Nazis; Axis Troops Gain

(By Associated Press)
A warning to Hitler of an impending Allied second front came today with the announcement that the European theater of operations for United States forces has been formally established at Washington. It was said Major Gen. Dwight Eisenhower has been made commanding general for the American forces in Europe.

Hitler's field headquarters said Axis shock troops had killed deeper into the fortifications of Sevastopol today. Soviet dispatches pictured Russian troops as inflicting a terrible toll on the Germans.

The Nazis maintained furious pressure against shell-torn fortifications of Sevastopol. Here again equally sound numbers of men against guns but heavily out-numbered defenders. These attacks were repulsed by the Crimean defenders. It was announced early this morning.

On the Kharkov front where a heavy German attack opened Monday and forced the Russians to fall back on Tuesday, the Soviet defenders inflicted great losses in men and material on the invaders. The Soviet midnight communiqué said:

Despite this valiant defense, however, the Germans persisted in their attack, hurling hordes of infantrymen into the battle with the support of vast numbers of tanks.

The midday communiqué reported that Soviet warships operating in the Black Sea in the rear of the enemy's main port of 4,000 tons.

The whole Russian picture from the outside world seems to indicate the Nazi commanders had determined to pour out lavish the blood of shock troops and reserves to advance along the grimly blocked approaches to the Caucasus and its oil resources.

Jim Allenby Sets Record In Weekly Shoot Of Gun Club

Shooting with a new "Colt Shooting Master," a .38 calibre in a 44 frame, Jim Allenby established a new high mark at the Seminole Gun Club range yesterday with a perfect 100x100. Flying Colors record this morning, Allenby, who also won the weekly shoot last week, duplicated this performance with a .22 "Colt Woodsman" with another 100x100.

A number of spectators witnessed the shooting at the lake front. All scores were made at 25 yards by fire at Police "L" targets. (The scores: Allenby 100x100, H. Williams 99, Smith 98, Whittaker 93, Webb 92, Butler 92, E. R. Truluck of Orlando 92, Miller 79, Johnson 78 and White 77.)

Alma Of Free French Defined By DeGaulle

LONDON, June 25, (AP)—Defining the Free French political aims for the first time, General DeGaulle founded upon the principles of the Atlantic charter and providing for the election of a national assembly by the French people to determine their own future when the Germans are driven out.

The five points of the declaration were understood to have been approved by leaders of resistance to the Nazi occupation of France through four months of the most remarkable secret negotiations yet conducted between England and the conquered homeland of the Free French.

U.S. May Scrap All Metal Fences, Gates

WASHINGTON, June 25, (AP)—War Production Board Director Nelson W. Peltz told Congress that metal shortages are admittedly due in part to a too little and too late policy that apparently might force the scrapping of metal fences, gates, stanchions and other decorative articles.

The survey for important materials concerning which the government does not need to take positive action, Niles declared to the Senate Office of Investigation Committee.

The alternative, retrenchment, is proposed only in the state of Pennsylvania.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

YOU NEED NOT BE DRESSED UP, NOR WEALTHY, NOR LEARNED NOR FASHIONABLE, NOR YET A SAINT, COME AS YOU ARE. Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me, for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light. Matt 11:28-30.

Pied Piper
(From The Christian Science Monitor)

Pied piper of the field, the plow folds his furrow neatly. And on the earth,
moist and moist the young shoots
as the wail
in line, following the spaded earth
behind the friendly man.

H. P.

Thoughts
Sometimes close my eyes and
I suddenly

A door swings wide upon me in a far sight,
Where mirth and love and glee
Fly back to me.
And hidden thoughts that never came to light
And strangely all around me
A restless bird
That circles endlessly in the room.

The room is filled with wings and living words
Dart back and forth across the
curtained gloom
Then I reach out with groping
hands and score
Their swift bright splendor, eyes
in their fluttering,
and still their wings, that all may see and share
The silent, unshamed beauty
that has them singing
For thoughts in me are strange and lovely birds
And poems cages for imprisoned words.

the newspaper screamed, "Hangs

Ice Cream In A "Balance Wheel"

"Ice cream serves a very important place in the economic stability of the whole dairy industry," states Milton Hull, president of the National Dairy Council. Because of its refreshing characteristics its greatest appeal to the human appetite is in the summer months. During the months of May through August when the production of milk is highest, the ice cream industry utilizes a substantial portion of the excess production.

Some idea of the magnitude of this industry is gained from the fact that the product of more than one million cows annually goes into the manufacture of ice cream. About five and a half billion pounds of milk were needed to make the 370 million gallons of ice cream consumed in the United States last year. If placed in 5000 gallon capacity tank cars, the milk going into ice cream manufacturing in the United States last year would completely fill a train reaching the 772 miles from Washington, D. C. to Chicago and leave enough milk over to fill a row of 10 gallon cans end side by side, reaching from Chicago on to Los Angeles. Even after that, there would still be nearly a quarter of a million gallons of milk left over.

Ice cream is rapidly coming to be recognized for its protective qualities, its food value, and its economy. Within the past eight years, consumption has risen from about four and one half quarts per person to more than ten and one half quarts last year. Its popularity is causing consumption to continue to increase rapidly.

A Bloody Front

The German army may succeed in taking the important Russian naval base of Sevastopol, but not without tremendous losses. In the past seven days, it is reported more than 100,000 Germans have gone to their death as they made a desperate attempt to seize this ancient citadel. German losses, so far in the Russian war, if half as great as the Russian report, are staggering.

"Today, on the last day of the first year of their campaign in Russia," says the New York Times, "the German invaders still hold the majority of the good city and are to return at dawn on June 22, 1941. Behind them in the greatest victories and the severest setbacks ever to come to Hitler's Wehrmacht, the Russians have estimated upward of 100,000 Germans killed, wounded and captured. Berlin has admitted 150,000 German fatalities."

In the initial two months of the year the German invaders created 300,000 square miles of devastated countryside people. In five months of winter warfare, one-fifth of the conquered area to Sevastopol came under the control of the German troops. The cost of the campaign to the German invaders is estimated at 100,000 Red Army casualties. More recently, has admitted close to 300,000 lost. Yet in these months of fighting the Russians found a technique of resistance which, if applied, blunted the Blitzkrieg and forced on the German Fuehrer a standstill.

Last week in the Soviet soldier power of resistance was again evident in two battles raged in South Russia. It enveloped the citadel on the south-western coast of the Crimea, was still in Russian hands after more than seven days of siege. For more than two weeks the Germans had pitted tanks and guns and planes in an all out attack against the city defenders encircled in the limestone hills.

Siege was believed larger than the "Big Bertha" of the First World War had shelled Sevastopol's defenses, which had been attacked repeatedly by tanks and foot soldiers. The city's people had lived out countless nights in deep caves cut into the cliffs. "To the last and last," had sworn to die before surrendering.

"Before Kharkov, a second German offensive launched eleven days ago appeared to have been halted along the Donets River. The Wehrmacht's newest drive had been launched to objectives held to eliminate Russian pressure on the Nazi flank and to prepare the ground for an all out campaign across the Donets Basin with its feeding industries, toward Kirov gateway to the Caucasus. From there the German might swing south onto the oil-richithons from Kerch, easternmost point of the Crimea."

Stopping Trains

There are a lot of ways to stop a train, admits the M-K-T Magazine. Chairman Tom Connally of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has his own technique, as illustrated by his recent telegram to the Katy Line:

"Am on B. & O., which is late. Imperative that I catch Texas Special for important speaking engagement at Dallas tomorrow, otherwise shall miss engagement with nation wide hoop up. Please hold your train until B. & O. arrives in St. Louis.

"Am lifelong patron of the Katy railroad. First train I ever saw was Katy. My mother sold butter and eggs and milk to workers on railroad as it was being built from Waco south when I was a little boy. Hope it can serve her boy in his old age. Urgently request that you hold train. Thanks, Tom Connally, U. S. Senator."

The Texas Special was held, and Senator Connally reached his destination as nearly on schedule as the late departure from St. Louis would permit.—Wall St. Journal.

Among my heritages is a daguerreotype, taken nearly a century ago, of my father. As early as 1834 two Frenchmen, Nièpce and Daguerre, began experiments on the effect of light on certain chemicals. They found they could transfer, and fix, an image on a prepared plate. Only Daguerre had put his name, in 1840 Prof. Nièpce died, in New York.

Then Nièpce's widow sold the patent to Daguerre. From this date to the end of the 19th century, there was perhaps another generation of inventors, artists and scientists, but a similar process was developed in America, and the two methods were in competition. In 1850 the first process of

Raid England

LONDON June 25.—(UPI)—German raiders swooped down on West Middle Towns with heavy bombs early today in the first such attack to score more than a year since a number of bombers had been shot down over London. Later a long plane flew low over London, dropping incendiary bombs into streets and for 10 minutes but did no bombs.

Earlier carrying out the bridal theme, wedding bells were hung from the archway between the living room and dining room and the dining table lace covered held a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple and surrounded by bridal wreaths. On either side of the central arrangement were white candlesticks holding lighted tapers.

Several games were enjoyed with prizes being won by Mrs. Winona Bragg and Mrs. L. A. Phillips. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. John Miller, little Jeanne Lee Miller, dressed in a white bridal gown of white silk, marched from the room and tossed a bridal bouquet into the bride-elect's lap. Miss Taylor was then invited to follow the rainbow which led to the pot of gold filled with the gifts.

The hostesses assisted by Mrs. M. Reeves, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. P. Hollister served bride's cake and ice cream to their present.

The guest list included Miss Taylor, honoree, Mrs. E. B. Taylor, Mrs. D. B. Hodges, Mrs. L. Burke Steele, Mrs. F. H. Ashdown, Mrs. Y. C. Bellinger, Mrs. E. C. Benton, Mrs. Victor Greene, Mrs. Winona Bragg, Mrs. S. C. Graham, Mrs. J. M. Hamby and Mrs. W. L. Harrison.

Braves Crack Slump By Taking Doubleheader From Cardinals

BOSTON, June 25. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals' pennant hopes suffered rude jolt yesterday when the Boston Braves pulled out of a prolonged losing streak by sweeping a doubleheader from the second-place Cardinals, 6-2 and 3-1.

Jim Tobin, who had dropped seven straight starts since he belted out three home runs to win his last game on May 13, gave the Cardinals 11 hits during the opener. He managed to keep most of them scattered in all but the seventh inning, when Jim O'Dea homered after Stan Musial had collected his third straight single.

Paul (3000 hits) Waner collected the 1,000th pass of his 17-year career off Howie Kist in the sixth inning of the first game. The Braves scored their first run off Gumbert in the fifth inning and then drove him from the box in the sixth by unleashing a three-run rally on three singles, a pass and an error.

Lefty Bill Donovan limited the Cardinals to five hits while giving his first win of the season in his ninth. The Braves collected six off Ernie White but hit only a single. Frank Demaree and Chet Ross provided all the runs.

The Cardinals now have lost six of their last seven starts. The double triumph did much to revive the Braves' spirits which had dropped after suffering 17 losses in their last 19 starts.

French Is Paid For Number Of Innings Worked

BOSTON, June 25. (AP) — Some Brooklyn fans are complaining that Lefty Larry French has been worked too hard by the Dodgers because they see him in the bullpen nearly every day.

They don't know that when French settled his holdout last spring he made a private agreement with the club to pitch in the number of innings he wanted.
