SECRETARY DAVIS FAVORS ARBITRATION FOR LABOR BEFORE STRIKES OCCUR

SAYS LABOR SHOULD BE SLOW TO STRIKE AND KNOW THEIR POSITION

NO LONG HOURS

Or Seven Days a Week Especially in the Steel Industry Says
the Secretary

WARREN, Ohio, April 5.—Secretary Davis, speaking before the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers today reaffirmed his belief in the trade union idea and urged labor to be "slow to use the strike weapon" and declared the twelve-hour day seven-days a week industry must go. "I have firm belief," the Secretary said, "that through trade union and its eternal principles of right and justice we can establish an era of good will in American industry." After discussing strikes and usual negotiations at the end of difficulties he continued, "Instead of conferences after months of industrial battle you should have counsel before the strike is called."

Chautauqua Program Will Come to a Close at Big Tent Tonight

Tonight closes the Sanford Roadpath five day de luxe Chautauqua, when the Laura Werno Ladies' Quartet, who gave their fine concert this afternoon, will open the evening program.

From the beginning to the close of their programs there is a wealth of musical entertainment and artistry. Especially notable in their repertoire are musical and dramatic numbers, given in costume, depicting the dress, manners and songs of the American colonial period, the civil war days, the early seventies and of the Quakers. The members of the Werno company play as well as sing. Instrumental trios and cello and violin solos are prominent on their programs. Clever readings by Miss Laura Werno, who heads the company, are always hailed with delight.

The type of program, the skill with which it is presented, and the poise and personality of the members of the quartet unite to make their programs genuinely enjoyable.

Following the musical program J. Franklin Caveney, crayon artist and clever modeler in clay, will close this year's Chautauqua, which has been pronounced by all as the best balanced program, every day a big day, that ever appeared in Sanford.

Caveney's genius is splendidly demonstrated when, amid a running fire of jests and anecdotes which keep his audience in uproarious laughter, he reproduces on a large drawing board many beautiful scenes and interesting faces. With equal dexterity, he models from a lump of clay the likeness of some familiar object or well known character.

The Caveney entertainment is distinguished by originality, wit and artistry of high order, and is an immensely popular platform number.

HARDING PURCHASES BIRTHPLACE IN OHIO

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio, April 5.—President Harding today purchased his birthplace—a farm in North Bloomfield township, Morrow county—where as a boy he spent his childhood days.

The deal was consummated through French Crow, postmaster at Marion, Ohio, a lifelong friend of the president, who acted as his personal agent. The deed was delivered to Mr. Crow by Harry Erickson, who has owned the farm for a number of years.

Plans now under consideration, it is understood, call for a complete rearrangement of the premises including a modern bungalow and golf course. Friends close to the president state he contemplates spending much of his time after his retirement from the White House on the old farm in writing and "getting back to nature."

GOMPERS WARNS REPUBLICANS AGAINST ANTI-LABOR CRUSADE, SAID TO BE FUTURE POLICY

Says President Harding Advised to Endorse the Open Shop

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A warning to the Republican party against any sponsoring by it in the next campaign of anti-organized labor issues was issued last night by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Gompers, just recovering from a severe illness, said he wanted to make the union clear, in view of the reports published recently that President Harding, while in Florida, had been advised by certain friends to endorse "open shop" policies in seeking re-election in 1924.

"Let the issue come, if it is to come," Mr. Gompers declared. "American labor will meet it on any field—political, or otherwise. It is only natural that the bankers, big business men, and railroad executives, who were responsible for the strikes of the working people last summer should advance the suggestions or proposals."

"Yet the injection of this issue, which cannot be touched by legislation seems to indicate that some one wants an assumption of power outside and above the law—something that bears comparison to the fascist movement in Italy. I wonder who they will choose to be the Mussolini of American reaction? I am sure the liberty loving American people are not willing to bend the knee to any such group. Organized labor will live after this group has gone by the boards, and has been forgotten."

"There has been nothing so fortunate since the close of the war for American life, physically and in a business way as the strike last summer which choked the wave of wage reduction. The great unemployment just previous was largely due to those wage reductions, since, when the workers' wages are reduced, their buying power is lessened, they consume less, they reduce purchases, and plants shut down. The main spring of the present revival was in those strikes. That they displace the bankers, the big business men, and their executives, however, who thought themselves monarchs of all, is not surprising."

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5.—The statement issued in Washington yesterday by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor about the 1924 campaign was received with surprise last night here by members of President Harding's vacation party.

Mr. Harding himself, had no comment, of course, to make on the labor leader's statement, but other members of the party close to him were plainly surprised. The attitude of the president's associates here is that the Republican party will take no such anti-labor position and this was made known informally immediately upon publication of reports that pressure had been brought to bear to have the party declare itself for the open shop.

SOME LEGISLATORS HEDGED ON NORTH DAKOTA RESOLUTION TO INVESTIGATE BOY'S DEATH

In Final Roll Call Only Three Were Against Resolution to Investigate

TALLAHASSEE, April 5.—Indications of a legislative investigation into the death of Martin Tabert of Meck, N. D., alleged to have died in a private convict camp in Dixie county, early in 1921, as the result of brutal treatment, were seen in the actions of both houses of the Florida body in the 2nd session of their biennial sitting yesterday.

The house responded promptly to a resolution from the North Dakota legislature asking for a full investigation into the affair, by sending it to committee of five with instructions to report back tomorrow. In the speeches preceding this action, however, was seen the real temper of the lower body.

A motion to appoint the committee to study the resolution offered by Fred H. Davis of Leon brought opposition from Amos W. Lewis of Jackson, one of the leaders in the house who declared, a criminal investigation was a matter for the courts and grand juries and not the legislature. His attitude caused a flare up from all sides of the house. Speaker after speaker, apparently paying little attention to Mr. Davis, in his efforts to explain that his motion did not provide for an investigation but was merely a disposition of the North Dakota Resolution, indicating they knew of the details of the Tabert death, and wanted the house to make an investigation and that if Mr. Davis' motion paved the way for such action, they were in favor of it. The flights of oratory were accompanied by applause on the part of crowded galleries that had expected nothing more than a routine session.

Mr. Lewis fought mostly alone, although Ben C. Willard of Dade county, in seconding his motion, that the resolution be tabled, agreed with the Jackson county man that such an investigation was a judicial subject. On the roll call, Wallace Terwin of Manatee, sided with these minority two, the vote being 73 to 3.

Speaking in behalf of an investigation were J. Ed Stokes of Bay county, who is carrying around in his pockets a measure to abolish the county convict lease system. Forrest Lake of Seminole, L. E. Wade of Clay, John Clay Smith of Escambia, Eugene S. Matthews of Bradford, and

W. T. Hendry of Taylor county a neighbor county of Dixie, and attorney for the Putnam Lumber Company had Tabert under lease at the time of his death.

A. W. Weeks of Holmes county, who as a leader of the populist party 30 year ago held his seat in the senate until near the end, against the combined efforts to unseat him, and now back in the legislature after more than 20 years, lapse, threw his grizzled self into the fray, and let loose some of his old time fire in behalf of an investigation.

"What would we think if a Florida boy were removed from a train in North Dakota and sent to his death and a message from the legislature ignored?" he asked. Tabert was sentenced from Leon county for riding a freight train.

Mr. Lewis deplored the action of the North Dakota legislature in adopting its resolution, and said it was "unfortunate." Mr. Stokes agreed with him that it was unfortunate; that the whole affair was unfortunate, but that the "back" had been passed to the Florida legislature and it should not step from under it.

The North Dakota resolution later came before the Senate, and action was deferred until a committee had been appointed by the house. Members of the senate, commenting on the resolution, said that there were "horrible" details in connection with Tabert's death, and made known that as soon as the house had acted efforts would be made to provide for a senate committee, to join with one from the house in a joint resolution.

P. J. Coyle, of Coronado Beach, was in the city today and showed us a fine picture of his new apartment house that he recently built for rental purposes. Mr. Coyle says that Coronado is having a phenomenal growth and with the good roads from New Smyrna to the Osteen Ferry the people from Inland Florida will all go to Coronado this season.

Still, the house with the largest car parked in front of it may be the one with the largest mortgage on it.

HOTEL MAN DIED AT LONGWOOD RESULT OF FALL

LONGWOOD, Fla., April 5.—(Special to the Herald).—George E. Clark, the owner of the St. George Hotel here died yesterday morning at 9:00 o'clock. Mr. Clark suffered a fall Tuesday night while acting as host at a reception given by him to the town people of Longwood. Starting down a dark flight of steps he tripped and fell striking his head, the blow causing cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Clark was 51 years of age.

Mr. Clark was from one of the pioneer families of Strong, Maine, coming here a year ago, where he purchased the hotel. This past winter he rebuilt the structure transforming it into one of the best hotels in this part of the state. He also started a movement here that is resulting in the installation of a water works system for the town of Longwood. The deceased was also prominently connected in Wilton, Maine, having been with the G. H. Bass Shoe Company for 25 years, also president of the Kinowatha Camp, a summer resort for girls at Farmington, Me.

Mr. Clark leaves a wife and four daughters to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father.

Scores of telegrams of condolence are pouring in from the eastern states.

In his death Longwood has lost a man whose sterling qualities and high ideals have wrought a great work, both as a public benefactor and an up-builder of the public spirit of the place. He seemed to fill a large space which has been vacant for many years. The entire community has extended their sympathy and condolence to the bereaved family.

HOUSE COMMITTEE NAMED TAKES IN CONSIDERATION RESOLUTION FROM DAKOTA

SLAIN MODEL WAS MARRIED BEFORE DEATH

NEW YORK POLICE SCRUTINIZE
MARRIAGE RECORD IN JERSEY

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, April 5.—The marriage records in nearby towns in New Jersey were scrutinized today by New York police to determine if Dorothy Keenan, the slain model, had been secretly married under an assumed name to a young man of wealth shortly before she was chloroformed. Police were told the model had confided to a friend she had eloped to New Jersey at the age of an all night party and gone through the marriage ceremony. When friends pressed her for the name of her husband according to the story told police, she evaded a direct answer but named two men often seen in her company.

Another Bill Framed to Apportion Members Legislature

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, April 5.—Lack of familiarity with its provisions caused the electorate to turn its back on the constitutional amendment dealing with reapportionment at the November elections, according to Senator W. W. Phillips of Lake City, and he is planning to give them another try at the same proposition.

Mr. Phillips has prepared a bill following along the same lines as that adopted by the 1921 legislature. The senate membership would be eliminated to 38 as compared with 32 now, and would be apportioned if the plan is ratified in November 1924, by the legislature of 1925. The house membership would be apportioned as follows: Counties having 100,000 population or more, four members; counties having 30,000 or more under 100,000, three members; counties under 30,000 and having 10,500 or more two members each, and the remaining counties one member each.

It is folly to try and settle the question without a constitutional amendment, according to Senator Phillips, who points out that with the counties continually growing and new counties being created any limitation in the house membership would constantly be overrun.

STRENGTHENED DIVORCE LAWS AND UNIFORM LAWS GOVERNING BOARDS PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

Recommended to the Legislature by Attorney
General Buford

TALLAHASSEE, Florida, April 5.—Strengthened divorce laws and uniform laws governing the composition of county boards of public instruction and county commissioners were recommended to the 1923 legislature by Attorney General Rivers' H. Buford yesterday. The attorney general is required under the constitution to submit to the biennial session a report of recommended legislation based upon his observations during office.

Other recommendations made include the abolition of the county convict leasing system, provision authorizing the governor to appoint a sixth member of the supreme court, a two cent gasoline tax, one cent to go to the state and one cent to the county; laws to more effectively enforce prohibition; uniform speed laws, regulation of business operating under a "declaration of trust" franchise tax, and various remedies in legal procedure.

Mr. Buford stated: "It is my opinion that justice demands that this session of the legislature do proceed to reapportion the legislative representation throughout the state."

LEGISLATURE CALLING FOR INVESTIGATION OF DEATH OF MARTIN TABERT

ADDITIONAL TIME

To Make Report Granted—Constitutional Amendment Providing Special School Electors

(By The Associated Press) TALLAHASSEE, April 5.—The house committee named yesterday to undertake the consideration of a resolution calling for an investigation into the death of Martin Tabert of that state while under private convict lease in this state, today granted additional time to make report. Chairman Davis of the committee said he planned for the report tomorrow.

The house waived its rule for introduction of a bill by Representative Lewis to give effect to constitutional amendment adopted last November by providing elections in special school districts to determine increased tax millages. The bill immediately went through second reading where it was halted by amendment by Representative Miller providing elections could be instituted upon initiation of the county board of public instruction in counties over twenty-five thousand population.

Mr. Davis explained delay by saying the committee desired to go further into the resolution. Caucuses of members of committee showed they were in favor of a joint executive investigation and was considered virtually assured that its report will carry this recommendation, he said.

TALLAHASSEE, April 5.—Superintendent Crooke of Florida Anti-Saloon League made public a letter of his organization has sent to all pastors, civic bodies in the state calling for combined action against the reinstatement of the past several months by the governor. The letter named specifically Sheriff Dowling of Duval, Sheriff Baker of Palm Beach and County Solicitor Pine of Dade.

The senate ran ahead of the house in action regarding the death of Martin Tabert of North Dakota alleged to have died as a result of brutal treatment administered by a convict boss, voting 28 to 3 to appoint joint legislative committee to make an investigation. The committee would be composed of two members of the senate, three from the house and would be authorized to call upon the Governor of North Dakota for all evidence in his hands regarding the death of Tabert.

The "promiscuous procuring" of divorces is becoming "the greatest menace to the moral standard of our country, and it is my opinion that this tendency should be discouraged at every possible turn," the report acts forth.

He suggests an act that will require all testimony in divorce cases be recorded by court reporters, or under the direction of the court and become a part of the proceedings. The judge also should be empowered to direct the state's attorney to ascertain all the facts pertinent to the case and submit them to the court. The filing of divorce actions should be required in the county in which the defendant resides, (the attorney general continued and not permitted to be filed in the circuit as occurs now.

He recommends that the statutes be amended so as to eliminate the necessity of more than one parent endorsing an application for marriage where the applicant is under age, and that an act be provided making it a felony to wittingly deceive or attempt to deceive the county judge as to the identity of any person applying for a marriage license.

THE BRUMLEY PULESTON 4-STORY BUILDING IS NEARING COMPLETION

FIRST STEEL FRAME STRUCTURE TO BE ERECTED IN SANFORD AND IS A BEAUTY

Although the new building erected by Mr. L. A. Brumley and Dr. S. Puleston is not the first 4-story building for Sanford, and neither will it be the tallest building after the First National Bank is completed, it still has the distinction of being the first steel frame building completed in Sanford. To the ordinary man's mind this means nothing more than a new building, but to the man who studies the welfare of Sanford, it means a part of the marking of a new era in Sanford. The first sounds of a real city was the sounds coming from the driving of the rivets that went into this building. And now that this building is completed, it stands out as one of Sanford's prettiest business blocks, and will be a lasting monument to the two gentlemen that had a faith in the future Sanford. The two-story rooms fronting on First street will be a credit to any city many times the size of Sanford, and the room fronting on Park Avenue will be as neat as one would ask for any town. The upper floors will contain offices that will rank with the best arranged in the state.

Every citizen of Sanford should have that same faith in their city, look a little ahead and plan for a population of 25,000 in the next five years. And the person who takes advantage of the reasonable prices asked for Sanford real estate at this time will, in a few years from now, be sitting on top of the world. No matter how "hard up" we think ourselves at this time, some kind of an investment in Sanford real estate should be made, and big returns are bound to be realized on this investment. There are so many valuable lots, and improved real estate to be had in Sanford at this time, on the easy payment plan, that most every person can get in on the ground floor and let his investment take the nature of a savings account, add a little to it each month.

Maxwell & Britt, real estate agents, have several plans of this nature and can help you get started. From them you can get most any kind of a lot on most any kind of terms you can meet. At the present time, their listings contain, vacant lots, sub-division property, both large and small homes, houses that make an ideal rental investment, warehouse and side track property, business blocks and, in fact, all kinds of city property, that some day, and not long from now, will be worth many, many times the prices asked now.

Of course the fast going ahead of Sanford will mean that farm and orange grove property in and close to Sanford will jump in values as fast as the city real estate. And at the present time, Maxwell & Britt are in position to put you next to some buys in this kind of property that are real bargains. For instance, a ten acre, improved celery farm, located in the best celery district, with good flowing wells, on a good road, easily worth $1,000 an acre, if purchased within the next two weeks can be had for $6,000 and the owner will arrange terms. It has been proven what this farm will do and the man purchasing this place, can't go wrong.

Maxwell & Britt are at your service, no matter what your needs, and you are under no obligations to buy. They look after the interests of both the seller and the purchaser. If you have something for sale, list it with them—if you are in the market to buy—let them know it.

Maxwell & Britt's insurance department is one of the completest in the city. Your every need in this line looked after by an experienced insurance man that knows insurance. Don't think of real estate or fire insurance without thinking of

CHANGE OF LIFE

Florida Lady Was in a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful, and Got Well.

R. C. MAXWELL, Secretary of Seminole Securities Co. 9-7-14-21-28; 4-1

IT'S PLEASANT TO HAVE YOUR BAKING DONE

Altha, Fla.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during change of life, Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, of Route 2, this place, said:

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up."

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling."

"I would get depressed and out of heart."

"I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse."

"I had heard of Cardui, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results (of Cardui), then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up."

"Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well, and all right. Cardui did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

"Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by others. Cardui, and to recommend it to others. Sold everywhere. Try it. NC-146

The Jacksonville Journal is making a fight against dangerous railroad crossings and it is a fight in the right direction. Dangerous railroad crossings are a menace to life and limb every day in the year and this state is behind the times in this respect.

Sanford needs a million dollar tourist hotel and this is one of the greatest needs of this city today. Sanford will never make the progress it should make until tourists are invited to come here and spend the winter.

The Florida legislature is starting out with the right speed and it looks like we will get the right kind of legislation and there will be no loafing on the job. The members of the 1923 legislature are good men and we believe that without exception they can be depended upon to give Florida sixty days of real constructive legislation.

DAINGEROUS RAILROAD CROSSINGS.

We are gratified to note that many of the state papers are now taking up the question of having the railroad crossings made safer by building county and state roads either under or over the railroad tracks.

place where this rule was not in force—and we were struck with the small amount of accidents caused by railroads in England. We can poke fun at our English cousins upon many points but we will hand it to them upon their railroad systems and the system of road crossings. In this country and in our own state figures will show in this day of auto traveling that the majority of the deaths and accidents occur at the railroad crossings. We are quite sure the railroads companies would like to avoid these accidents, we are also sure that the county commissioners and the state road officials would like to avoid these accidents.

Albert Lasker, chairman of the Shipping Board, will handle the publicity for the Harding campaign next year when the campaign for president really opens. We do not know anything about Mr. Lasker, except that he made a good chairman of the Shipping Board. He will hold a most responsible position when he handles the publicity for Mr. Harding and the success of the campaign will depend to a great extent upon Mr. Lasker.

HAINES FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

And it is worth while for both Americans and Mexicans to make a note of the fact, for the Hon. Charles D. Haines is an old American, and only in his unusual views: He is above all American, intensely, aggressively, vehemently American, a man who believes in America for the Americans, who could no more care old world manners and fashions or follies, nor today to old world titles, who would no more transplant himself and his fortune to Europe than he would stand on his head at Lotta's fountain.

NEED OF MORE TIMBER.

The need for production of more timber has recently been given attention by leaders in agriculture and industry, and the hearing by the Re-forestation Committee of the Senate, held in Jacksonville on March 20, brought together representatives of a number of interests who outlined recommendations for a national policy of reforestation.

Senator Fletcher of Florida; Harrison of Mississippi; McNary of Oregon; and Couzens of Michigan were the committee members present. Senator McNary and Couzens were very much surprised to learn of the rapid growth made by some species of pine in Florida, when given protection from fires, but they could not comprehend why the business men in the state are so indifferent to the uncontrolled burning of cut over lands by the cattlemen, resulting in millions of acres now being barren of trees or having only a sparse stand of second growth pines.

The people of Maine are very careful to protect their forests and cut over lands from fires and consider their timber crops as one of the state's greatest assets. At the Festival of States held in St. Petersburg on March 21, the Maine winter population in that city entered an elaborate float in the parade. On one side was this message: "Maine's Forests; protect its water power; harbor its fish and game; support its industries; stabilize its agriculture." On the opposite side of the float was this statement: "Agriculture and recreation are a good combination for Health, Wealth and Prosperity."

WHAT THE SCHOOLS SHOULD DO

The school should be made to fit the student, not the student the school, says Superintendent of Schools Frank Ballou, of Washington.

Would there were more educators who made this a slogan, and less who were so concerned with administrative duties and a "good system."

For one of the crying needs of our educational system is that it be pulled away from too thorough a standardization.

Certain things are fundamental in any education; reading, writing, mathematics, history, geography; these are among the essentials. But when school children have been grounded in the fundamentals of an education, it is no more sensible to direct all of them in the same way, and to take the same course, than it would be sensible to try to educate all men to be doctors or bricklayers or storekeepers.

The old idea of education was "time enough to begin to specialize when primary school, higher grades, high school, and college had done their best." Today it is being more and more recognized that there is too much waste of time in an educational system which insists upon all pupils who go through the high schools having a choice of but a few different courses.

PARTY REGULARITY.

A question of party regularity came before the caucus of Democratic members of the legislature, in effecting the organization of the two houses. It was determined in favor of strict party regularity.

Representative F. W. Nolte, of Glades county, applied for admission to the Democratic caucus. Mr. Nolte was elected as an "independent Democrat." The regular nominee of the primary in Glades incurred the displeasure of many citizens after his nomination, on account of his connection with a banking institution which failed. Those actively opposed to the regular nominee induced Mr. Nolte to make the race. As the regular nominee refused to withdraw his name from the ticket, the new candidate had to run as an independent. He was elected, defeating the regular nominee in the general election by a substantial majority.

As the question came before the legislative caucus, Mr. Nolte was not a regular Democrat and could not be considered a regular Democratic member of the legislature, although himself a lifelong Democrat and elected by Democratic votes. He was not the primary nominee; in fact, he opposed the primary nominee and defeated him. Regardless of how Democratic members felt personally about him, no matter how desirous they have been to recognize him as a Democrat, they could not do so without violating party regularity.

It was an unfortunate situation but one which a strictly Democratic caucus could decide in only one way—and the caucus "hewed to the line." Democrats must be either regular Democrats or Democrats for convenience. They must either adhere to the principles of Democratic party organization or disregard such principles and let down the bars to any and everybody. The party cannot preserve its integrity and, at the same time refuse to recognize party rules.

A SUCCESSFUL CHAUTAUQUA.

Tonight will close the 1923 Chautauqua and it will close in a blaze of glory. Not only has the program been of high order and one that has been thoroughly enjoyable but the people have come forward in their support as never before making it possible to report a substantial sum on the right side of the ledger. The Herald wishes to state that much of the success of the Chautauqua has been due to the earnest efforts of a group of ladies of Sanford who were not satisfied with the showing made last year and this season determined they would put the Chautauqua "over the top" or die in the attempt and they are living and they have made good. The men have assisted in no small degree in putting Sanford on the Chautauqua map but the ladies were tireless in their efforts to sell sufficient tickets to guarantee the sum it takes to put the Chautauqua over. They also saved the guarantors from going down in their pockets to pay the deficiency that always existed up to this year. The success of the Chautauqua also demonstrates that the good people of Sanford want good attractions and they will have them every year. The Herald has been a consistent booster of better attractions and of Chautauqua. We say, "consistent" because the Herald believes in all kinds of attractions that come under a certain line—others are barred—and we are a friend of the show people the world over but there are shows that need cleaning up and the Herald is assisting the Bill Board and other theatrical magazines in this work or will assist them in the years to come. We are all on the right road toward better amusements, toward cleaner amusements, for better things, for a better and cleaner world in which to live and last but not least a cleaner and better world for our children to live in after we have passed beyond.

And when it comes to cleaner and better amusements the Chautauqua is the thing in every way. Let us have the Chautauqua every year and make it more successful as the years roll round.

MATTERS FOR THE LEGISLATURE TO CONSIDER.

For the next sixty days the attention of the people of Florida will be focussed on the legislature which began its biennial session yesterday in the capitol at Tallahassee. The people naturally look to the legislators they have chosen to right whatever wrongs, errors and faults may have crept into the body politic. These men who meet at Tallahassee are supposed to be the cream of the population in their respective districts. They are supposed to be sent there to represent the interests of their constituents, and of the people of the state as a whole. Upon their decisions, whether right or wrong, the people must stand for the coming two years. It is of supreme importance then that they should consider every measure with the utmost care, and from every possible angle. They should study it from the viewpoint of the state's welfare, as well as from its effect on their own particular district.

It would be idle to talk to say that this is one of the most important sessions ever held. That has been said of every session since Florida became a state. To say it now would be merely repetition. Nevertheless, there are subjects of great importance which are certain to come up and demand the best attention of the members. Florida stands now, virtually, at the parting of the ways. Some of the oldtime methods, those which were well enough for the pioneer days, must be sloughed off, and replaced by others more in accord with the spirit of the age. Some of these methods relate to taxation, a question which touches most intimately every citizen of the state. We are working now under an antiquated system which is neither adequate nor just to every citizen. It needs revision to put us in line with sister states, who have generally discarded it. It will take careful and extensive study to avoid the mistakes, if any, and give us the very best system of attainable.

The reapportionment question is always with us, and will be until it is settled right and in accordance with the terms of the constitution. When an apportionment is made which gives to every citizen his equal and proportionate right with every other citizen, on the basis of population, as the constitution commands, the question will disappear, and with it the talk of state division.

Good roads is another question likely to come before the present legislature. Their value is universally conceded, and any legislation which will aid in their building and preservation will be approved.

Cattle dipping and fencing are problems which will demand action from the legislature. Special privileges dies hard, and the cattle men will make a determined fight to retain their ancient "right" to run their cattle on the open range. It is a privilege which they seized in the old days when there was none to protest, and hold still without authority of law. It is against their own interests, for it makes the improvement of their stock impossible, adds to the difficulty and expense of eradicating the tick, which if not done cuts us off from every market. Local option, which is favored by some, will not solve the problem. On the contrary it will introduce wrangling and confusion all over the state. Wild cattle have little respect for boundary lines and fences, and seek their food wherever it looks most inviting. Make the cattlemen responsible for whatever damage his stock may do to fences or crops, and the problem will settle itself. That is only fair and right, and right must prevail in the end, if we assume to be a civilized country.

There are many other problems which will come up to puzzle the legislature, but if it will settle the few enumerated above, we shall be ever grateful, and the state will progress as never before.—Tampa Times.

MODART CORSETS Front Laced. That "Something" You either have or haven't in Dress. Many a woman is accepted or rejected long before one catches the color of her eyes. Hatted, booted and gowned in the height of fashion, yet something either is or isn't lacking in the ensemble. Men sense it, but only women will tell you that the missing "something" is—the proper corset. What a simple thing to achieve those lines of grace—that is, if you know the secret. And the secret is a Modart Corset. Such a splendid garment is the Modart so individual in design, so free, so personal in its feeling, that there isn't any corset like a Modart. Think of the pure joy of possessing such a corset that makes others conscious of the effect, but never reminds you of the fact that you have it on. FOR SALE BY Yowell Company. SCOTCH LIQUOR SHIPPED AS TOMATOES FLORIDA TO CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, April 5.—One of the biggest seizures of contraband whiskey in the history of local prohibition enforcement was made by federal operatives under Chief Prohibition Agent Charles J. Burns today, when they confiscated a refrigerator carload of approximately 4,800 quarts of Scotch and rye whiskey, disguised as a consignment of grapefruit in the Big Four railroad yards.

An armed federal agent had stood guard over the car all night. According to the bill of lading the shipment was consigned to the Eagle Produce company here by the "Burton Fruit company," of Prairie, Fla. The shipper's described it in the bill as "4,800 crates of tomatoes."

The federal agents could find no tomatoes. When the crates were opened they found a single layer of grapefruit and below that about a dozen bottles of whiskey to each case. Chief Burns said several arrests would be made today.

DUPONT WOULD INVEST.

United States Senator Coleman T. du Pont of Delaware recently stated in an interview that he with other wealthy capitalists will invest millions of dollars in developing the cattle industry in Florida as soon as the cattle fever ticks are eradicated and a stock law enacted, but they will not put any money into the cattle business in this state under present tick infestation conditions and open range as neither is conducive to developing an improved cattle industry.

Then comes the week end feature, "Foot of My Heart" tomorrow and Saturday.

This is the story of the O'Connell's, of Ireland, and the kingworth's, of Chester, of England. A fiery, eloquent O'Connell marries a beautiful young kingworth.

And then when Peg comes along, business picks up and the dramatic incidents, comedy and the happenings of Peg, together with her Irish jargon, makes this one of the banner attractions of the season.

This fine picture will be shown at the Princess two nights only and will be followed each night with some added attractions that will make it a program supreme.

Russia May Enter The Olympic Games

Its Athletes Will Not Be Barred, Board Rules at Paris Meeting

PARIS, April 5.—Athletes representing Russia as a country will be allowed to compete in the 1924 Olympic games to be held in Paris. This decision has been reached by a majority of the International Olympic Board, which begins its sessions next Saturday.

There has been much discussion among the French committee which is preparing for the games as to the advisability of permitting Russians to participate. Those opposed argued that the present Russian government is not composed of Russians but of usurpers. The Olympic committee, however, ruled that it was not dealing with the Soviet but with the Russian Olympic Committee, which has been represented on the International committee since its creation.

RALPH KING

Ralph King, the champion light-heavyweight wrestler, weighing 170 pounds, will be seen in action tonight at Lake Mary Skating Academy...

At the present time the odds are about even on these two wrestlers as they are both top notchers, and as this match is a fight to the finish, with the best two out of three falls, an exhibition of real merit is promised all that attend. Lake Mary tonight.

Another way to be satisfied with your lot in life is to keep the back part of it cleared of rubbish.

LESS BLINDNESS IN COUNTRY

Figures Reveal a Gratifying Decrease of Terrible Affliction Throughout the United States.

Imagine, if you can, a city of 120,000 inhabitants, where every single soul is totally blind; where doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, along with the rich man, poor man, beggarman and thief, are all in the same boat—sightless!

It is encouraging to note, however, that blindness in America has decreased more than 20 per cent since glasses have become more common. Every other country has a far greater percentage of blindness, and they show a yearly increase. Three of every ten Americans wear glasses.

BRUSHES FOR HOUSEHOLD

They May Be Divided Into Three Classes, Which Are Bristle, Hair, and Fiber.

There are two classes of brushes, those with backs and those without. These come in bristle, hair and fiber. It is fiber and bristles that are of special interest in discussing household needs.

The backless brush has the advantage of being usable in any position and thereby being at least twice as long-lived as the brush whose only working surface is one side. These brushes are marvelously made and the bristles, hair, fiber or fabric (mops) are so fastened in as to make a falling bristle almost an impossibility.

The fiber brush, though a cheaper brush, is adapted to things for which the bristle brush is not adapted. The fiber makes a good scrubbing brush, but the bristle would not be stiff enough. Many fibers are made to look like bristle, but the bristle test will save you from a rash purchase.

Radium From Bohemia.

Government-owned mines at Jachymov, Bohemia, are turning out uranium ore, rich in radium, and the known supply is said to be sufficient for 20 years at the present rate of production.

"Partners."

In these days of bonding companies and enormous corporations the old phrase, "His word was as good as his bond," has a lonely sound, and little tales of long partnership with never a hand and fast legal instrument naming what is his and what is other's, seem like old tales out of the past.

Caribou Swarm in Yukon.

Tens of thousands of wild caribou are reported to be swarming over the hills through the suburbs of Dawson, Y. T., for a radius of 50 miles. The great herd, which annually treks through the district, is now moving northward.

Lost Souls.

A spiritist tells us that people play golf in the life hereafter. If they use the same language while playing it that they do here, we think we know in which division of the hereafter the game is played.—James J. Montague.

AKERS IS TRUSTEE

Frank Akers has been appointed trustee of the Bel-Jar Coffee Company and has moved the roasting and grinding machines and plant from the Pico building to his place on West First street where it is hoped all the patrons will continue to bring their business.

Jack Ross, the champion wrestler of Florida, arrived in the city at noon today from Jacksonville and he is confident that he will put it all over Ralph King, who now claims Sanford as his home, but King's admirers say otherwise and will back their judgment at the ringside at Lake Mary tonight.

Jack and Ralph are well matched and the bout tonight should be one of the best ever witnessed in this part of the state.

ROME, April 5.—Pope Pius and Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, discussing the advisability of formally protesting before the world against the execution of Monsignor Butchkevitch, Vicar General of Roman Catholic church in Russia. They are also considering what form the protest should assume.

Europeans are not as bluff and hearty as Americans, but they are just as good as a hearty bluff.

Noted Health Experts Join In A National Crusade To Make Life Safe For Mothers and Children

COURTENAY DINWIDDIE

As officers of the American Child Health Association, Courtenay Dinwiddie and Dr. Thomas D. Wood are associated with Herbert Hoover, the president, in a great undertaking, the slogan of which is "To Save the Mother and Child." Mr. Dinwiddie is the general executive of the Association and Dr. Wood one of the three vice-presidents.

Both these officials are splendidly equipped for the tasks they have undertaken. Mr. Dinwiddie was connected from 1904 to 1907 with Bellevue and its allied hospitals of New York, whence he went to Duluth, where for three years he was active in developing social service and health bodies. He was superintendent of Public Welfare there and was responsible for its celebrated housing code.

From Duluth Mr. Dinwiddie went to Cincinnati. At first he was superintendent of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, but later fathered the Public Health Federation. He was also associated with a health experiment in the Mohawk-Brighton district, which established new standards and methods for the protection of the health of babies and younger children especially.

As executive secretary of the National Child Health Council, a group of six big organizations formed in 1920, he was prominently identified with the first successful step in the coordination of National health activities, a movement which led directly to the recent amalgamation which brought about the American Child Health Association. Dr. Wood long has been recognized as an authority on child health and has devoted much of his time to this work. He is college physician and professor of physical education at Teachers' College, Columbia University. As chairman of the joint committee of the American Medical Association and the National Education Association he has been especially active in developing standards for the health of school children.

The American Child Health Association has taken the "Children's Bill of Rights," drawn up by Mr. Hoover, as a declaration of its purposes. The American Child Health Association's national headquarters is at 532 Seventeenth Street, Washington, D. C. Applications for membership may be made to the treasurer, Courtenay Dinwiddie, at that address.

At the present time 80 per cent of all the motor trucks in service in the United States are one ton or less. This has grown from 48 per cent in the last six years and in view of this record of ascendancy of the one ton truck is ample justification to expect that the 80 per cent ratio will be materially increased during the present year.

The business man or firm today seeking to speed up and make more efficient a delivery or hauling system has no pioneering work to do. It is no longer a matter of experiment in costs. Experience of others brings the answer in dollars and cents.

Time was when the business firm adapted the big truck because of its load carrying appeal. Morning saw it leave the loading station filled to maximum capacity and more, and with driver and helper aboard. Half a day passed before it returned, covering perhaps half or more of the delivery route with only part a load and coming in, more than often, from considerable distance, empty, but with just as much energy used, just as much fuel consumed and just as much wear and tear as if it were carrying full load. And in the meantime operations at the loading platform had all but reached a standstill with resultant delivery delays and loss of time for loaders.

The turn to the use of the one ton truck came quickly. Business firms keenly awake to reducing costs and speeding up deliveries, soon discovered the efficiency of the one ton truck. It was found that three or four one ton trucks could be secured at less investment than that required for a truck of greater carrying capacity.

Delivery routes were changed to make hauls graduating in distance; delivery zoning systems were organized. Though all trucks left the loading platform at the same time at the opening of the business day, distribution of deliveries was such that for the major portion of each truck's route it carried an average load. Further, trucks employed in the shorter hauls were quick to return and thus activity continued at all times at the loading terminal. Then the element of emergency delivery, often a big item in business, was protected in that trucks always were within easy reach for such urgent calls.

SMUGGLING OUGHT TO BE STOPPED SAYS SENATOR DIAL OF SOUTH CAROLINA

WASHINGTON, April 4.—She citizens of the United States demand prompt action by utilizing all facilities at its command to suppress rum running, and smuggling along our coasts, Senator Dial, of South Carolina, declared in a statement today. It is an outrage, worse than a farce, he said that the administration cannot find adequate facilities to enforce the prohibition laws.

"I have been noticing the large number of ships doing a contraband business in, and around American waters," Senator Dial stated, "and they seem able to carry on their illicit trade although the United States Shipping Board has something like 1,000 idle ships, to say nothing of the navy, the coast guard, and other government agencies. There is no reason with the government facilities at hand why such a state of affairs should longer continue. It ought to be stopped at once."

"Reports are constantly appearing in the public press of the large number of rum running vessels off our coast attempting to smuggle liquor into this country," the senator stated in prefacing a discussion of the constitutional power of the federal government to enforce the prohibition amendment. He charged in the conclusion that the duty was imposed on the president to faithfully exercise the laws, and that with "enormous facilities at the hands of the government" it should "protect itself against these affronts to its sovereignty."

Selling Citrus Fruits

A business institution administered by business men, the American Fruit Growers Inc. is serving a fast increasing number of growers solely because of its efficient performance.

Its definite, conservative charge per box for selling; its extensive market representation; its large corps of experts; its national advertising; its exclusive method of trademarking each individual fruit—each are factors in its success; but it has achieved by applying recognized business principles to all its activities.

After all, the business of marketing resolves itself into getting for the grower his due share of the ultimate dollar. Sentiment has its proper place in business, but it cannot be a substitute for accomplishment.

...MAGIC NAMES...

The influence of advertising is apparent in every turn of my daily life. I find I cannot disregard it. It is always with me, guiding me in my pleasures and in my duties, telling me what I should eat, wear, and use and what I should buy for my family.

I find that there is on the tip of my tongue a multitude of names the mention of which will bring from some shelf nearly everything that I can use in my daily life and in the daily life of my family.

In every instance that name means a very definite promise and assurance of something substantial and which will make me feel completely satisfied about having exchanged my money for it.

Let me say a few things which these names—these old friends of the newspaper and magazine pages—mean to me.

They mean good taste. For certainly I desire to do the thing that I believe discriminating people have judged best.

They mean convenience. It is not necessary to describe the thing I want. Even the most intimate articles may be purchased without embarrassment since the advertisers have given us handy names.

They mean assurance in shopping. There is no indecision. Even before I enter the shop I know what I want to buy.

And certainly they mean satisfaction. For the advertiser whose product is not good cannot continue to advertise. The fact that I have seen a name repeated over and over again assures me that it stands for a product of quality. In speaking that name to the clerk I know I am asking for the best.

I am a more judicious shopper because I buy advertised goods. I patronize the shop that sells them.
