Backers of the ERA began Wednesday what they hope will become a seven-state effort to get women to boycott Florida citrus products until the legislature ratifies the 27th amendment to the U.S. Constitution If the boycott catches on, it could hurt the state's $1.1-

Colorado, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts, according to Jean L. King, an Ann Arbor

"I wonder if they realize how many women work in the citrus industry? I wonder if they know how many women own citrus groves in Florida and hold stock in citrus processing plants," he said. Peterson, whose district includes a large citrus growing area, said the boycott wouldn't change his 'no' vote on

Ford Ready To Reveal Decision On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford, facing his most sensitive political judgment since the pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon, will make a nationally broadcast address tonight to announce whether he'll sign or veto the $24.8-billion, tax-cut bill. The President scheduled time at 7:30 p.m. EDT for a 10-to-15-minute speech on national television and radio. Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the address would deal with the tax-cut measure and other broader economic matters. An hour after the address, President and Mrs. Ford will leave for a nine-day Easter holiday in Palm Springs, Calif. The working vacation will include four business and speechmaking side trips.

Potato Giveaway Planned

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Idaho potato farmers plan a giveaway of 100,000 pounds of potatoes in a parking lot today, continuing a protest of low prices that started with a fourhour free-for-all in Boise, Idaho. "I love baked potatoes, and we'll have fried potatoes every morning and french fries any time we want them," said Martin Evans, a young Idaho father who went home with an 80-pound sack from the Boise giveaway on Friday. He was among scores of people who brought plastic bags, gunny sacks, cardboard boxes and garbage cans for the handout. In addition to the protest, farmers have been dumping two million pounds of potatoes a day - either by feeding them to cattle or unloading them in remote areas - to ease the surplus, said Del Ray Holm, a protest leader. He said the nationwide surplus has been estimated at 2 billion pounds.

CIA Perspective: Time For Change

Allegations that the Central Intelligence Agency was involved in plots to assassinate foreign leaders are, as President Ford has said, a proper BILL CURRIE target for investigation by a congressional committee already probing charges of unlawful domestic spying by the CIA.

But any conclusions relating to CIA misdeeds must be shaped within the uncertain limits of the CIA mission. A definition of CIA goals may be the greatest challenge facing the investigators. The disaster at Pearl Harbor in 1941 is generally attributed to a woeful incapacity in Washington to evaluate the harvest of U. S. intelligence-gathering activities. The World War II Office of Strategic Services (OSS) was created to fill the gap.

And the CIA, chartered by the National Security Act of 1947, has its roots in the OSS. The CIA charter, however, is vague, apparently placing strict limits on agency operations, but making it available to special assignments designated by the National Security Council, which is directed by the president of the United States himself.

It is the CIA's "secret charter" under council jurisdiction that has kept it from public view. Manpower, budget, scope of activity and performance of the CIA have been issues avoided in the past by a nervous Congress.

The American people have heard whispers of CIA influence in Greece, in Cuba, in Latin America and in Southeast Asia in connection with bloodless coups and bloody revolutions. Confirmation efforts have failed to penetrate the shadows.

The CIA operation, if we accept at face value costs a sponsor the ridiculously high price of $192 the accusations leveled at the agency in recent months, is totalitarian in nature and incompatible with the ideals Americans hold sacred.

Health Care Limit

Secretary Caspar Weinberger of the Department of Health. Education and Welfare was accused by some congressmen of being "hardhearted" when he objected to legislation that would have the federal government pay health insurance premiums for the unemployed. However, Mr. Weinberger is simply a prac-tical man and one sensitive to potential inequities in welfare

This plan would add between $1.5 and $2 billion to the already swollen costs of recession-relief programs. A House committee has considered half a dozen different ways to try to dminister such a program, and has not found one that would be air in providing assistance on a fair basis only to those whose health care is clearly jeopardized by unemployment. Many unemployed workers continue to receive health insurance through labor unions or other organizations. Some can be covered by the insurance of members of their families who way you're treated while shopping, drop a penny are still working. Some can afford to pay for health coverage out in one of the ballot cans placed on the respective of their unemployment benefits.

The federally financed Medicaid program already is geared to provide medical care for those whose income falls below the poverty line. Some of the unemployed will doubtless have to seek that form of assistance until they return to work. Mr. Weinberger is right in insisting that a new federal health insurance program is not justified nor is it likely that Congress decided not to push for the closing of SR 427 so Browning said. Irvin Hunter defended the lime could come up with one that is not an administrative nightmare. they could hold a street dance.

And yet, Easter began with the brutal murder of a 33-year-old man who sought to teach his eople things like love, understanding and a eligion based on hope.

Everyone is taught that Jesus Christ "died" during Easter; that He was crucified along with two criminals near Jerusalem, betrayed by one of His closest associates. Most modern textbooks of ancient history, in dealing with Jesus, give a condensed account of his life and relate he was crucified on orders of Pontius Pilate.

But the textbooks - along with many religious "experts" - shun dealing with the real Easter phenomenon — the Resurrection.

This is generally passed over in silence or with qualifications, shifting at once to the growth of the early church in Jerusalem and elsewhere. with scarcely a clue to explain what actually fired that sudden extraordinary growth.

If one reads the Bible closely, the entire life of Christ transpired for one purpose - His death and the Resurrection to pave the way for new understanding among the peoples of the world. The experts may dodge the issue, but Dr.

Attack Against Da Nang

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Viet Cong claimed today their forces, "led by civilian residents," were attacking South Vietnamese government positions and bases inside the city of Da Nang. There was no confirmation of the report from the South Vietnamese government but earlier in the day the Saigon military command had described the situation in Da Nang as critical with thousands of refugees trying to flee the city on South Vietnam's northern coast under North Vietnamese artillery fire. A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said the United States would begin an emergency airlift of military and medical supplies to South Vietnam. Another attempt to fly refugees out of Da Nang apparently was aborted by World Airways, the firm contracted by the U.S. government to take out civilians.

Rebels Cut Defense Line

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) - Rebel forces have stabbed into Phhom Penh's northern defense line at several points, military sources said today, but there was no sign of any sustained attack. According to the military informants, the Khmer Rouge insurgents pierced the defense line at Kap Srau, eight miles northwest of Phnom Penh. The sources added that Cambodian forces had pulled back about a mile and came under heavy mortar and artillery bombardment. A United States airlift of food and military supplies resumed after a 24-hour halt because of rebel fire on the city's airport. The U.S. airlift of fuel, ammunition and rice resumed after the postponement of flights Friday because of rebel artillery fire

More IRA Suspects Freed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) - The British were to release 20 more suspected IRA terrorists from prisons today as a sign that the Irish Republican Army's ceasefire in Northern Ireland was holding firm. On Friday 20 prisoners were released on orders of Britain's ad ministrator for Porthern Ireland, Merlyn Rees. That leaves 370 IRA suspects held without trial under the internment policy introduced in August 1971. Rees promised more will be freed if the 48-day cease-fire produced "a genuine and sustained cessation of violence." British army sources say they are satisfied that the Provisional nationalist wing of the IRA is genuinely observing the cease-fire. The death toll has dropped sharply the last four months in Northern Ireland.

Xi Epsilon Sigma Is On The Move

February and March have been active months for members of Xi Epsilon Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. They entertained their Valentine Sweetheart, Amoret La Rosa at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlour with a snack and Farrell's Zoo. Amoret received a heart necklace engraved, corsage and several small gifts. Then followed the Valentine Ball at which all attending had a tremendous time. This ball was the best ever, was the consensus of opinion.

The Feb. 11 meeting was at the home of Ruby Carter. Plans were formulated for "Rush" and discussion held on a project of selling charms by City Council on the Bicentennial Theme. Perhaps you were lucky enough to catch a glimpse of the merry young band of paraders as they sauntered along the Sanford lakefront and wound their colorful way around the Court House and back downtown, Thursday morning? It did one good to see someone getting into the spirit of the season with such enthusiasm. And not only the kids although they were as proud and excited as spring chickens with their flowerbedecked hats and Easter egg-filled baskets. But the teachers, too, wore sunshine smiles and a pastel rainbow of fanciful bonnets which said loud and clear: Spring is here, tell the world and rejoice with us. SUPER COMPACT, BUT LIVABLE

Plan HA876R is designed for maximum efficiency and minimum upkeep and maintenance. The 20-foot-wide front living room faces the street as does the porch and carport. The L-shape kitchen counter is centrally located to allow a dining alcove in the living room plus a space for a breakfast table next to the door to the carport. Economy of plumbing is achieved by the grouping of bathroom, kitchen and utility room fixtures. All major rooms have cross ventilation in this 616-square-foot home. Anyone interested in learning the cost of the blueprint can write to Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd Street North, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33710, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
