Sheriff's website helps cops catch criminals

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is credited with helping to identify two traveling criminals recently arrested in Raleigh, N.C.

Tomasz Lipsa and Ewa Wesniak were arrested last week at a traffic stop in Davie County, N.C. by the North Carolina Highway Patrol with the assistance of the Seminole County sheriff's website.

"This is good example of how important electronic law enforcement is in policing communities," said Seminole County Deputy Chief Steve Harriett.

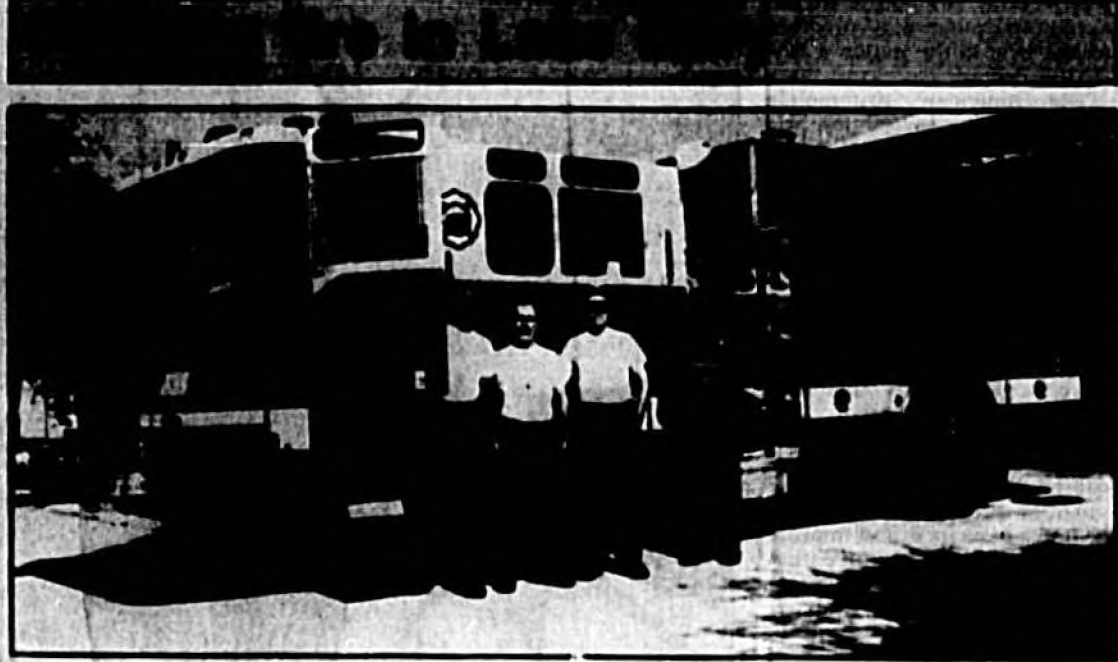

The website, which was instituted about a year ago by Lt. John Thorpe, contains photos and background information on traveling criminals.

Following a rash of home burglaries in the Markham Woods area, Thorpe started gathering information for a data base that was posted on the Internet, Harriett said.

The North Carolina agents were able to get positive photo identifications on the suspects through the sheriff's website, Harriett said.

"Traveling crime is very hard to identify," he said. "Communication is an integral part of law enforcement."

Too few hydrants, too many narrow roads plague firefighters in older neighborhoods

By SHARI BRODIE
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - The alarm came in to the Lake Mary fire station at 2:36 p.m. on the afternoon of Oct. 13. A structure fire on Washington Avenue.

Lake Mary firefighters were first on the scene, spreading water on the interior of the house, by 2:48, from a line attached to a fire truck.

Three units worked the fire that took almost three hours to extinguish. As firefighters exhausted the water supply from the tanks on the truck, a line was laid to the nearest fire hydrant, 1,200 feet away. The house was saved but there was extensive damage and the garage was a total loss.

Could the efforts of the firefighters been more successful if not hampered by having to maneuver narrow streets and lay lengthy lines to the first available fire hydrant, Lake Mary residents such as Sharon Bailey want to know.

"Why (are) our roads...not wide enough for two vehicles to pass each other? Why do we have inadequate water supply and fire hydrants?" Bailey asked in a letter addressed to the Lake Mary City Commission and presented by her husband, Bob, at the meeting just three days after the fire.

"As a taxpayer, homeowner and a builder, who has built many homes in Lake Mary, I would like to have these questions answered."

At the commission meeting Mayor David Meador asked Lake Mary Fire Chief Duane Mehl to brief the commission on the incident.

"In a first response (situation)," Mehl said, "the first truck in is the attack unit and (they) go in on tank."

The second unit came in from Sanford and hooked their tank to Lake Mary's tank. Eventually, the units had to lay

County shares funds to fight homelessness

By MARIA OREM

SANFORD - Seminole County is one of several in the nation that will share in $100 million in federal funds geared to help the needy.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has allocated $101,273 for Seminole County non profit and local organizations wishing to assist with non-disaster emergency needs under the Emergency Food and Shelter (EFS) national board program.

Although the amount allocated this year is slightly down from last year's $107,485, Carmen Hernandez, chairman of the FEMA board in Seminole County, said she was happy to get the money.

"I heard that some counties were cut out completely this year," Hernandez said. "At least we got the funds and were not eliminated."

"I would prefer to double that amount if I could. We could use

The Irish drop by

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Irish have landed in Seminole County.

An official delegation from Wicklow, Ireland arrived this week in Seminole County to share ideas on economic development and to attend a school dedication ceremony.

Under the efforts of then Seminole County Commissioner Larry Furlong, in 1992 Wicklow became Seminole's sister county. Since then, officials from both counties have traveled back and forth fostering the relationship and exchanging ideas, Furlong said.

"This relationship just made sense," Furlong said.

Furlong, who is of Irish American descent and has traveled to Wicklow many times, said there are many similarities between the two counties. Wicklow and Seminole share common concerns and also common natural resources, he said.

"Wicklow has a lot of tourism and that is a big part of the economy," Furlong said. "They have natural resources like we do here. One of the country's largest national parks is in Wicklow and we have the rivers and wilderness here."

Another similarity is that Wicklow serves as a film production center and many movies have also been filmed in Sanford.

"Wicklow is a suburban area and they have growth and school crowding problems like we do," said Furlong, who is also a member of the Seminole County school board. "We have a common language and some

County hears homeowners' concerns about lake flooding

By SHARI BRODIE
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - The concerns of homeowners who live on East and West Crystal Lake will take priority as data is gathered by Seminole County for a Lake Level Management Study.

"Our job," said Scott McClelland of Camp Dresser & McKee, "is to work the entire project with the public involved."

The engineering firm was hired by the county in July to do an evaluation of the Crystal Lake Basin, an area which saw flooding during heavy rains in late 1996 and early 1998. An information meeting was held Wednesday and the public was invited to voice concerns, issues and expectations for the future of the chain of lakes.

"We know the system isn't working because it's backing up," Bob Eckles, a Lake Mary resident, said at the meeting held at Idyllwild Elementary School in Sanford.

The natural flow of the chain of lakes is from West Crystal Lake to East Crystal Lake through DeForest Lake to the Smith Canal into Lake Monroe. Residents of the area have complained about breakdowns in every part of the system, especially after the extremely wet winter two years ago.

Homeowners are also concerned about property values of lakefront properties when lake levels are too low, or too high and about the decline in water quality.

Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris was present at the meeting and assured the homeowners that "every question will be answered." Morris said that a project of this nature had never been done by the county and he told the homeowners, "You are part of the government process."

In the $67,000 study, CDM will do a system inventory, of the land, soil and structures within the basin as well as an engineering

Entrepreneurs find a home in Sanford

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - As the new kid in town, Bart Rush likes to keep his customers guessing.

When shopping for something unique, Rush said his shop on 300 E. First Street fits the bill. And since he opened Fences Card and Gift Shop in September, Rush said he has all the business he can handle.

"I'm way too blessed in this business," Rush said, adding that the reception in Sanford has been nothing but wonderful.

Joining the burgeoning group of First Street merchants in downtown Sanford, Rush, 39, and his partner Keith McCann, 32, searched long and hard before moving here from their home in Jacksonville.

"We did a lot of checking before moving here in January," he said.

For Rush, being able to walk to work from his home in the historic district is a definite plus. McCann, who works in Heathrow, helps out at the shop on the weekends and holidays.

The gift shop is a bit of a departure for Rush who operated an interior design business for 10 years in Jacksonville. However, he said by January, he will expand the 650-square-foot First Street shop to include interior design services. By knocking down an adjoining wall, the shop will double in size.

"The entire building will be upscale and renovated," he said. "Right now it's like a holiday shop with three lines of greeting cards, gifts, books, Christmas decorations, framed art and more."

Service is key to business success

One of our clients at the Central Florida Incubation Center is from Europe and we have had several revealing conversations. It is interesting to view American business practices through the prism or foreign eyes. On several occasions he has expressed frustration about the service he has received from "professionals" such as attorneys and others.

I find myself defending the undefendable sometimes in our talks. Having traveled a lot during my business career, I am not unaware that lousy service exists throughout the world. But as we move into the information age and our country becomes even more dominated by services, I think some examination is in order. We were raised with the belief that if you have a better mousetrap the world will come to your door. This is simply not true today with the vast choices that are available.

Many times less advanced technological products succeed because of superior service. I define this service as responding to the needs of the clients. To often I see business people attempting to force clients to accept their wants and desires rather than meeting customer needs. In many cases this is simple laziness and a lack of desire to view the customer as king. Oh, I know we all say the customer is king, but is it really true?

One way to test your attitude is to think back to any time you are asking a customer to accommodate your lack of performance. Was this because of some truly unavoidable reason or was it from your failure? Did you let some consideration other than the customer needs influence events that allowed you to fail to deliver or accommodate? For example, I mean is your store open when retail customers want to buy or is closed at 5:00 p.m. because you don't want to be open at night?

Small Business

The other day I was at a prominent fast food location and eavesdropped on a conversation between the cashier and a customer. The customer asked if the chicken sandwich was made from pressed chicken. This resulted in a 10 minute exchange between the staff, the manager and the customer. This occurred with customers behind waiting to order. After the simple inquiry no one on the staff could give this woman the answer to her question. Finally another customer intervened and told her the answer to her question. What a shame if customers know your product better than your staff. Made me want to return, wouldn't it you?

If your basic motivation in a transaction with a customer is what is in it for you, it will be communicated. Long term this attitude will destroy your business, because clients want to feel the person they are dealing with has their best interest at heart. If this is not true for your business, rest assured that a competitor will arise to take your market share away.

College program best in the nation

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Community College was recently recognized for its automotive technology program as the best in the nation—a first for the college.

The American Automobile Manufacturer's Association and the American Vocational Association has given the 1997 Industry Council Award for Excellence to SCC.

"This is a fairly prestigious award" said Jim Cox, chairman of the automotive service technology department at SCC. "Considering the tremendous competition from colleges from all over the country this is a major accomplishment. It makes me feel good."

Cox, who has been at the college since 1978, said the program prepares students to be open to change and improve their math and communication skills as well as do the hands-on work necessary to keep vehicles on the move.

"Today's auto technicians a full-time business person who needs communication and computer skills as much as technical knowledge," he said.

According to Cox, since there is more market demand for automotive technicians than there are students in the program, some dealerships and automotive businesses want the students before they graduate. However, he said, certified and degreed students have the advantage and will move up in the ranks.

Student Joe Krieger gets hands-on experience in automotive engine operations as part of SCC's automotive technology program.

"There are so many job openings out there," he said. "We have a backlog of people who need automotive help in their businesses. The bottom line is to put people to work."

Cox said the real key to the college's success is its graduation rate of 85-90 percent and a 95 percent placement rate. Also, the automotive technology program rotates students between on the field experience and class work.

The educational program at the college operates out of an automotive center complete with 52 cars, all donated, tools, computerized works stations, cutaway engines, and automotive parts and equipment. The center also serves as a training center for General Motors.

Students may chose from a one or two year program at SCC. Lasting two years, are the Technician Automotive Career Training (TACT), that begins in August, and the Associate in Science degree for ASE certified technicians. Vocational credit certificates are offered for one year of study.

The award will be presented to SCC officials Dec. 10 in Las Vegas.

Business calendar

Seminole Community College will host a job career night Nov. 18 from 6 to 9 p.m. in the college's student center (Building C). SCC representatives will be conducting career seminars and answering questions relating to career outlooks, required training, financial aid and scholarship opportunities and resources at SCC. Free information will be available on about 100 associate in science degree, certificate and related associate in arts degrees offered at SCC. For more information, call 322-2655 or 2686.

Seminole Community College will hold a kickoff breakfast for its 14th annual Dream Auction Nov. 18 at 7:30 a.m. at the AAA building at Heathrow International Business Center. To date, supporters of the auction has created an endowment fund in excess of $1 million funding more than 450 scholarships. For more information, call 328-2031.

Deputies accuse armed robbery suspect of using AIDS threat

From Staff Reports
James Riley, 35, of Lake Crescent Road, DeBary, made his initial court appearance this week in the courtroom at the Seminole County Correctional Facility. He is charged with one count of armed robbery.

Investigators from the Sheriff's Office Major Crimes Section arrested Riley shortly after 3 a.m. Tuesday. He is accused of robbing the 7-11 store at 4085 West State Road 48 near Sanford about 2:50 a.m. Tuesday.

According to sheriff's spokesman, Ed McDonough, Riley walked into the store armed with a needle and syringe filled with red fluid. He told the clerk the syringe contained the AIDS virus. Riley told the clerk to hand over the money in the cash register. She complied. Riley fled in a gray Datsun pickup truck.

Seminole County deputy sheriff Ben Hartner stopped the pickup truck a few minutes later on State Road 48. He secured Riley. The 7-11 clerk was brought to the scene and positively identified Riley as the man who robbed the store.

Riley is suspected of robbing the same 7-11 store four times within the past six months. McDonough said the suspect used the same AIDS threat each time.

No syringe or needle was found on Riley or in his truck. He claims it was an inkpen filled with red ink. McDonough said Riley told deputies he threw the pen onto Upsala Road near Sanford. He says he does not have AIDS.

Riley is being held without bond in the Seminole County Correctional Facility.

POLICE BRIEFS

Retail theft

Iana Soto, 39, of unknown residence, was arrested Thursday by Sanford police. Soto was charged with retail theft, battery on law enforcement officer, trespassing after warning and resisting without violence. Soto was arrested in the 100 block of North French Avenue. ## Millionaire Swears Under Oath He Can Show Any Orlando Area Resident How To Build Wealth

Orlando—Self-made millionaire Russ Whitney of Florida has given several hundred thousand dollars to residents in Florida, Colorado, Vermont and Texas to buy real estate.

Incredible, But Actually Very Smart

Whitney, a real estate millionaire since age 27, says anyone can cash in big right now because it is an incredibly smart time to buy income-producing real estate.

Bird Dog Program

Whitney has scheduled six seminars in the Orlando area (among other cities) where he wants to buy properties. He will show interested area residents how and what to look for at the free workshops scheduled November 18th through 20th. He will then put up all the cash for qualifying properties and split the profits up to 50/50.

Proof That It Works

"It's a dream-come-true," says Heidi Dickman of Colorado Springs, a young single mom. "I went to the seminar and joined the Bird Dog network. I found a 24-unit building, and Mr. Whitney gave me $33,000 to purchase it. Together we made a $115,000 profit! People would have to be crazy not to at least go see how this works."

Want To Know More?

Here's how: There will be six free working seminars. At each you will learn:

- How to get cash from the Bird Dog Network to buy property. You find the deal, he shows you how. Split the profits with him up to 50/50.
- How to start a part-time business and make up to thousands from home. Start immediately.

- Create up to $1,500/mo. in passive monthly income
- Buy your first house and pocket up to $3,000.
- Buy properties with no credit.
- Make serious money with only a part-time effort.
- Gain security and wealth.
- Get start up cash
- Turn debt into cash
- Own a computer? At the workshop you'll learn how to make a fortune with it.

Free $100+ Gift For You

Just for attending the event you will receive a free gift valued at over $100. In addition, throughout the workshop there will be drawings for valuable, money-making gifts and prizes.

Coming To Orlando November 18th - 20th!

If you would like to hear more about these fantastic new wealth-building programs, call 1-888-938-7744 to attend the workshop listed below. Seating is limited, so register as soon as possible.

EDITORIAL

Sanford's decision on development

Sanford commissioners faced an emotionally-charged decision this past Monday night, when a packed house, many of them Kaywood and Hills of Lake Mary homeowners, lobbied for almost five hours concerning the proposed development of a 636-unit apartment complex on 52 acres on County Road 46A.

The vote for the future land use change squeaked by, 3-2, with Commissioner Brady Lessard declaring that he was in a quandary over the issue and preferred for it to be tabled to a future meeting. The controversy had continued to escalate for more than two months prior to Monday's meeting.

Mr. Lessard voted for the change in the end, and we encourage him to continue to do so in a timely matter when issues in controversy are before him. Mr. Lessard is in his first term of office, and it does take some time for politicians' skin to thicken. We hope this issue has taught him that when an angry crowd wants answers, tabling critical issues doesn't always solve problems, but usually only prolongs them.

Mr. Lessard will soon be faced with an even bigger issue, in his own district; the proposal for development of a lakefront hotel, convention center and possibly condominiums. We admire his determination to see all aspects of a decision, but we encourage him to do so in a timely manner. In the fourth down, it's either punt or run. No player just stands there in a quandary.

LETTERS

Adult entertainment in Sanford

I am writing in opposition to the proposed kind use change in three locations in the Sanford area that would allow adult entertainment to be put at those locations. These three areas include White Cedar Road North of Narcissus Avenue, the north end of Rand Yard Road, and Fifth Street east of Airport Boulevard. We happen to live about one half mile from two of those sites and certainly do not want any adult entertainment establishments near our residence!

Another thing to consider is the character of Sanford. One adult entertainment place tends to encourage other similar businesses. These "red light districts" tend to have bad reputations. All three of these sites are on roads accessible from Highway 46: "Turn here... Highway 46 is the main road into the Sanford Historical District from Interstate 4. Can you imagine what would be tourists and antique buyers would think? "Oh, I must be going through the bad part of town. I think I'll turn around and get back on I-4." That certainly is a poor first impression of Sanford and would negatively impact the value of Sanford as a historical district.

We urge everyone in Sanford to contact your county commissioners to oppose the change in zoning that would allow adult entertainment in any of these three areas. I understand Chulota residents came out in full force in opposition to any such zoning changes and won! Sanford can do the same if we act now!

Sincerely,
Tom and Donna Jimenez

Airport, noise and all

Having been a resident of Sanford for nearly 40 years, I have been very interested in the fast developing Orlando-Sanford Airport, (in my opinion it should be the Sanford-Orlando Airport) and the various citizens' complaints.

I cannot help but recall what it was like when my family moved to Sanford from Ft. Lauderdale in 1959. The Navy was a very important part of the Sanford community.

We lived in a lovely neighborhood called Pinecrest. We had many Navy families living there as it was very close to the Navy Base.

Pinecrest was located directly in the flight pattern, the Navy bombers would practice "touch and go landings" sometimes all day and all night, especially if they were getting ready to deploy on the six month cruises on the air craft carriers. Ladies and Gentlemen, it did get noisy!

Then guess what? The New Vigilante came on the Base. What a thrilling day when that new plane came soaring into Sanford one day! I will never forget how excited we all were to see it flying over. We all welcomed them.

The approach to the runway was, of course, from the west. The Navy pilots came in over Seminole High School, flew over Dreamwald subdivision, the first addition of Pinecrest (Pine Crest Elementary School was located here also) on over Sanford Avenue and on to the landing on the runway. Not the first time did I ever hear anyone complain about the

Political musings of Seminole County

The recent Sanford Herald guest column by Duke Adamson changed my mind regarding the name of the airport. I was glad that he took the time to explain how the name was chosen. Based on the explanation and examples given, I think the name Orlando Sanford Airport is the proper name.

Adult entertainment

Seminole County Commissioner Grant Maloy in last Sunday's Herald presented us with a challenge. We need to consider supporting the petition drive to collect the 10,000 signatures needed on the ordinance petition to create tougher codes regarding topless and bottomless dancing in Seminole County.

I would like to hear from the law firm that offered free legal representation. A guest column in this newspaper by that firm, may be just what is needed to really help with the petition drive now under way. I think that a column by that firm is needed to convince the public that the effort given by those in favor of tougher codes can be supported legally.

County races

The question that most people are asking me today is, "Do you think Randy Morris and Win Adams will be re-elected?" My answer at this time is yes. Morris took a calculated risk by supporting the Orange County penny tax. The problem I had was not on his position...everyone's entitled to their thoughts on these matters. The problem I had with his support was I didn't think that Seminole County was a good example of why anyone should vote for a penny increase in the sales tax. I also could not support, or will ever support, a mail out ballot. Having said that, I still believe that Morris will be re-elected, if he runs. At this time I believe he will. He isn't afraid to take risks. That can be good. Why he ever got involved in the raging debate in Orange County is beyond me.

Adams has more support than most think. I really don't know why there is a good reason to vote him out of office. He has done an excellent job in his district. The complaints against some of his positions aren't justified. What the voters should do is look at the entire picture, not one issue.

The entire County Commission has had to face some very difficult problems. I don't have a problem with any of them. All have their differing views, but I believe that the commission as a whole, has been effective.

Regarding the chairmanship of the County Commission, Morris is a risk taker. I think he'll be the chairman again. I don't believe he'll let his re-election bid get in the way. In my view it doesn't make sense to make a change at this time. Adams will be the chairman following his re-election. These are my predictions...for the moment.

Good things happening

On to other matters. There are good things happening in county government. The employees are listening and the leadership is people oriented. They are trying to be of service and the results have been excellent. We need to applaud these efforts and this much needed change. It's all about the philosophy of those at the top and the willingness to expand those views through the ranks and to give people the opportunity to improve their departments.

Right now it's working. If the county can keep the present mindset, which is quite different than in the past, Seminole County will be and is in many cases, a great county to live in. Recently one of our community leaders was sent an evaluation letter regarding an employee. It wasn't difficult to respond. The employee was doing a wonderful job. The problem the person had was in expressing the fact that they felt this employee was better able to serve because of the attitude within Seminole County and that credit needed to be also given to the director of the department. That department is the Office of Management and Budget. In this particular case, so what we see happening is a real revelation. We are experiencing government that wants to serve us! We must respond by saying, thank you! We are quick to criticize when something goes wrong. We must also give credit when credit is due.

Good debate

Who needs Democrats? The Republicans can't find anyone on the other side to debate so they're creating more factions within the party. That isn't bad. In many ways, it's good. Seminole County is a very intriguing place politically.

Sea voyage

Just a thought. Do we need to continue with the trips abroad to create whatever it is we're creating? I don't think so!

Beautification

The road right-of-ways are being well maintained, but the beautification program is falling short of what was promised. Without further debate I would hope that the commission would look at the documents regarding these matters and see that the written word regarding the beautification is carried out as originally presented. This is not a good time for another blunder.

We can have little faith that U.S. Highway 17-92 will be as promised if Red Bug, Howell Branch and other roadways fall so short of the vision presented. There is likely to be much less county wide support of the effort, or the belief that the 17-92 corridor will be any different. I believe that the intent is sincere, but the implementation of the process is really falling.

The communications from the commission to staff in this area, isn't getting through. With the effort now being given by most in the county, it is important that the few departments that have failed in the past do not create more problems now and in the future.

Seminole County: Mired in debt and giving money away

With the exception of Grant Maloy, it appears that the Seminole County Commission is not satisfied with plunging us into millions of dollars in debt, it seems that it has no idea that its actions have resulted in the school board also plunging us into more millions of dollars in debt. It is my understanding that the school board will receive about $47 million as a result of recent state legislative action. What a mess!

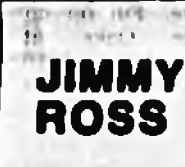

Growth just flat does not pay for itself, and the giving of millions of our tax dollars to foster more growth has literally contributed to ruining the bucolic atmosphere of Seminole County.

For certain, when these socialist-minded commissioners run for re-election, I doubt that we will see them bragging of taking X millions of dollars from us and giving it to mega-corporations under the guise of a jobs program. Nor will they brag and tell us in a brochure how much debt has been foisted off on the people during the past 20 years. No, no, they will brag about how many jobs they created but will remain silent on the debt and how much the public will have to pay for new schools, new roads, sewers, water lines, more judges, bureaucrats, deputies, retirement for public officials, etc.

It is absolutely ridiculous for government officials in various counties and cities to use ad valorem taxes (or any other public funds) to outbid one another to win the good graces of a corporation. What happened to good schools, good roads, a low crime rate, clean environment, and a cultured community with an educated work force as being the main ingredients to entice development that pays for itself? The answer is, of course, corporate welfare - the transfer of wealth from the less fortunate to others - that's what happened.

It is my judgment that most people in the business community oppose welfare and big government. Why then does business accept corporate welfare and encourage a bureaucracy to administer such?

Now we have the matter of establishing a community redevelopment agency (CRA) to enhance the beauty of 17-92 in Seminole County.

Should some areas be spruced up? You bet. Under the strict definitions of "blum" and "blighted areas," as used in the statute, does Longwood have a blum or blighted area on 17-92? I doubt it. If we do, I'd appreciate the press telling us exactly where one is. Instead of spending thousands and thousands on a CRA bureaucracy, the money should be used for a better purpose.

Will Longwood be forced to be a participant in this CRA that is being pushed? Most likely. The statute permits such. Thus, we will have the socialist-minded county commissioners forcing a tax increase in Longwood. How? By freezing the taxes on the property that will be in the CRA. Hey! The increases in the taxes must be made up somewhere.

These same county commissioners refused to permit Longwood to annex enclaves in our city until the property changes hands (maybe in 50 years) despite the fact that the statute states "that it is the policy of the state to eliminate enclaves." So much for adhering to State policy.

The Longwood City Commission deserves the support of the people for its statement that it will not even consider cooperation with the county on the CRA issue unless and until it permits annexation of the enclaves at a very early date. We provide services to these enclaves but get no revenue from them in the form of taxes.

to object!

After much discussion the vote was taken after one commission: needed more time to decide and wanted it tabled until another meeting. This, after it has been on the table since August 22, and even he acknowledged he had received many letters and phone calls opposing it. Has he not paid attention? Messrs. Eckstein and Lyons voted against the project. Mrs. Williams, Mr. Lessard and Mr. Dale voted for it. In actuality, their approval was for a broadly worded agreement which would permit not only apartments, but other construction (ROI meaning residential, office and institutional). The citizens of Sanford have been run over by a tank.

Regarding election in Lake Mary

This is in regard to the municipal election in Lake Mary, Tuesday, November 4, 1987.

I am grieved by the lack of voters turn-out of those that live in the Lake Mary city borders...and also the slander used by Mr. Al Crump who ran for Seat 4, City Commission. APOLOGIES do not erase a scar.

The bond issue of 1981 was of great concern

Special People

TONY TIZZIO

Tony Tizzio is an advocate for the disabled.

New kind of hero

No matter when any of us were born, we all grew up with certain heroes. They were icons if you will, and something that we all believed in. These heroes gave us inspiration and courage to go for whatever it was that we may have considered hard or difficult.

Speaking of courage, Compton's Encyclopedia describes a hero as: any person, admired for courage, nobility or exploit. Also, any person admired for qualities or achievements and regarded as an ideal. The heroes we have today are mostly sport figures, movie stars or musicians.

That's why today we're going to be talking about "A New Kind Of Hero" - the disabled person, and how or why someone who is disabled can be considered to be a hero. With all of the physical challenges a disabled person must face every day in just conducting their own business and personal activities, a disabled person's perseverance is sure to be admired.

Society looks upon the disabled person a little differently though. Most people see the disabled as less than heroic. Although no person best exemplifies the hero's philosophy of courage and conviction than a disabled person. Knowing this can inspire us all to meet our challenges.

Mickey Mantle, Hank Aaron and Humphrey Bogart are just a few of the heroes we might have had while growing up. These people were more than celebrities, they were our role models. They became who we wanted to be and went where we hoped to go. Unfortunately, however, most of us never got there.

Ironically, many of the actors or sport stars that are heroes to many people in this country today are looked at differently. Due no doubt to the highly publicized brushes with the law of some celebrities, that we have seen in the last several years.

Now I'm not saying that all of us in the disabled community exactly fit the traditional view of a hero, because this is not the same thing as idolizing a celebrity. At least the disabled person is demonstrating an act of heroism, and is not just an exercise of the Hollywood Publicity Machine.

As is the case of most things in life, it all comes down to what we learn when we are young and how we pass this down to our children. If we teach our children to admire someone for their temporary physical ability, or for their image on the silver screen, this is what they will grow up believing.

If though, we teach children to respect and admire someone for their ability to survive under almost insurmountable difficulties, the kids will learn what a real hero is. Therefore, this will help to reinforce their own ability to deal with life's trials and tribulations.

In Short: As you know, we here at "Special People" like to pose questions like

Commending sheriff, Ofc. Burkette

My mother lives in a condominium complex where more than 90 percent of the residents are seniors. Several months ago neighbors and friends were very distressed regarding a tragic accident that occurred with a senior couple. Although neighbors and friends were eager to help (care for the pet, offer encouragement) all attempts to contact and assist the couple were to no avail. Rumors were running rampant that neither would ever return home. I contacted Sheriff Don Estinger who contacted me with Mrs. Debbie Burkette, the Director of Elder Services for the Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. Burkette took time from her very busy schedule to meet me for breakfast. Without violating confidentiality, Mrs. Burkette was able to assure me, and in turn neighbors and friends, that this couple was being given the best care possible.

Because of Mrs. Burkette's diligence, working directly with local agencies, the husband was moved from a Seminole County facility to a medical facility and two weeks ago was returned to his home with caregivers visiting him daily. On Wednesday, this gentleman died peacefully in his sleep.

It is my understanding that Sheriff Estinger created "Elder Services" and appointed Mrs. Burkette to oversee this much needed service. We are saddened of this gentleman's passing, but it is my firm belief that his last days in his home and surrounded by neighbors and friends who loved him, would not have been possible without the passion and commitment with which Mrs. Burkette performs her responsibility.

Sheriff Estinger should be commended for his foresight and ability to realize this need, allocate the funds to make it possible and appoint someone the caliber of Mrs. Burkette to assist when the need is apparent.

analysis and then suggest corrections for any deficiencies found. A system analysis should be completed sometime in December and a full report will be made to the county commissioners in February. Two or three more public meetings will be held during the process.

The engineering firm will apprise the county of the environmental, regulatory and fiscal consequences of all of their suggestions. They will also suggest options for cooperative funding.

The majority of the basin falls within the city limits of Lake Mary, with a portion of East Crystal Lake in unincorporated Seminole County.

Mark Flomerfelt, chief engineer for the Stormwater Division of the Seminole County Public Works Department said that an interlocal agreement exists between the county, the city and the St. Johns River Water Management District. Small grants are available from time to time through SJRWMD.

Lake Mary has a Stormwater Utilities Fund, funded by a monthly charge on utility bills for city water users. Some of the money from that fund could be utilized to fix the problems identified by the study.

Flomerfelt said that, because the county does not have a stormwater fund, their portion will come from the general fund.

"Funding and efforts from various sources need to be brought together for a healthy revitalization of our regional community...." Phillip Lee, a Loch Arbor resident, wrote in a letter of suggestions presented at the meeting. "As a part of that community, the Crystal Chain of Lakes basin bears a special distinction. It's watery environment offers refreshment to the soul..."

Homeowners who have further concerns about the chain of lakes, or who were unable to attend the meeting, can call Brian Mack, CDM project manager at 660-2552 to contribute data to the study.

more help."

According to Hernandez, because of its low unemployment rate, Seminole County previously received only set aside funding from FEMA. Funding was increased several years ago, when it was shown that there were a lot of clients in need, she said.

The most common need, Hernandez said is for medical assistance for those who are uninsured. A large portion of the funding goes to people who have lost their jobs or are between jobs. FEMA money is used to help bridge expenses incurred and to help prevent homelessness.

Clients may use the money to help with food, utilities, mortgage or rent payments, said Heather Baldt, EFS specialist for the tri-county area Community Services Network, which includes Seminole, Orange and Ocala counties.

Baldt's office will distribute the funds to eight agencies in Seminole County. The funds will go to a food pantry, a seniors meals program, shelters and also to help with utilities and rent.

"The funds are used to help prevent homelessness," Baldt said. "The money is used to supplement low income families to help them pay for food and shelter."

In its 16th year, FEMA allocations are determined by unemployment and poverty rates. Since those rates in Central Florida are fairly low, Baldt said the funding could be disproportionately low considering how many $6 an hour jobs there are in the area.

Baldt said her office has not yet received official notification of the FEMA funding, however, when that does come in, it would take a few months before the money is distributed to local agencies.

desk and rubbed clean on Friday a six-year stay as a Seminole County deputy manager.

Grace's position was recently eliminated in County Manager Gary Kaiser's streamlining of government. Friday was Grace's last day of work.

"Kevin recently said that he felt he helped put the glasses on the county's new vision," Kaiser said. "That describes what he did well. Kevin met the challenges here well. He will be successful wherever he goes."

Grace, 38, said he hopes to have another job - preferably in government - by the end of January. He was hired as deputy manager in Seminole after serving 5 1/2 years in Charlotte County, Fla.

Grace, 38, said he hopes to have another job - preferably in government - by the end of January. He was hired as deputy manager in Seminole after serving 5 1/2 years in Charlotte County, Fla.

A fellow worker described Grace as a "kind, thoughtful person, who always took the time to be helpful to those who sought his assistance."

"I'm going to miss the people here," Grace said Friday. "This community is blessed with some very good government people. It's an excellent organization. My leaving will not change this opinion. Gary Kaiser's been fair to me. I have no bitter feelings."

Losing his job was the third hard hit for Grace this year. His dad, Bernie Grace died at age 82 the first week of July, and his younger brother, Roger, died at age 36. Roger had cerebral palsy. Bernie and Erlene Grace had nine children, whom they brought up in Dunmore, a small town (150 people) in western Kentucky.

Kevin Grace worked a number of campus jobs - in the post office, bowling alley and swimming pool - while gaining a bachelor's degree in geography (city planning) and sociology at the University of Western Kentucky. He graduated in 1981 and worked his way up in a drug store chain before returning to college for a master's degree in urban planning at the University of Illinois.

"I had a couple government job offers after getting my master's," Grace said Friday. "One was in St. Louis, the other at Charlotte County. After being in all the cold at Champagne, Ill., my wife and I saw the palm trees and decided we'd take Florida. My first job was as a city planner. Six months later, I became assistant county administrator."

Coming to Seminole County in 1991, Grace said one of his first duties was to handle complaints about land development and building. "A lot was going on and we've changed things - made the necessary improvements. We now get one or two complaints every two weeks or so. It's one of the success stories around here."

Grace said he was proud of his efforts to get and keep the county's soccer training center at Sylvan Lake. There were some federal and state complications that almost stopped this project, he said. This past year, Grace was involved in projects such as solid waste, emergency medical transport, and adult entertainment regulations. He rendered objective administrative skills in these areas as the county searched for major decisions.

"Kevin Grace was given some very difficult government tasks and he handled them well," County Commission Chairman Randy Morris said Friday. "He handled a wide-range of issues for the county, fairly and deftly."

Grace was gobbled up by the numbers. The county needed one - not two deputy managers. Cindy Coto remains, Kevin Grace does not.

common problems."

A direct result of the relationship, Furlong said, was that the Irish national soccer team decided to train at the Seminole County Sport's Training Center for the World Cup Games in 1994 and prior to the 1996 Olympics.

As part of his Irish guests' itinerary, Furlong said on Friday the group got a tour of their namesake school, Wicklow Elementary.

"It was real cute the way they had the school decorated," Furlong said. "There were flags and posters and some other things Wicklow officials sent from Ireland."

Furlong also noticed how the school had little street signs in the hallways with Irish street names.

"The special Irish touches were great," he said. "By giving the school a special theme, this helps promote an appreciation for everyone's heritage."

Furlong and the Irish delegation will attend a special dedication ceremony for the school on Sunday at 2 p.m. Prior to that at 11 a.m. there will be a tour of the Wicklow home development in Winter Springs at city hall.

Blaise Treacy, county manager from Wicklow had nothing but praise for the school and the county.

"We are most impressed and even jealous," Treacy said. "We can only aspire to such a great facility but finances prevent that."

Treacy credits Seminole County with attracting the film business to Wicklow. Using the county as model, gave Wicklow the courage to get into the film business, he said, noting that the Oscar-winning Braueheart was filmed entirely in his home county.

Also on Friday, Treacy attended an economic conference at Church Street Station in Orlando where Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris spoke and also Jack Wert, tourism director.

"It was a very useful experience," he said, adding that he would probably be back to Seminole County next year.

Fire

lines to a fire hydrant.

"It would be a good project," Mehl said, "to upgrade the water system."

As new development comes into the city, infrastructure needs such as sewer and waste water disposal systems and water lines that support homes as well as fire hydrants are installed before building begins. In the older sections of the city, the problem is finding the money and the means to retrofit these systems into neighborhoods.

The fire on Washington is an example of common situation Mehl sees when responding to emergencies in Lake Mary.

"A lot of these streets in the city look good on the map," Mehl said, "but they're more like trails." He said that some homes in Lake Mary only have one access, by private roads or drives. "Once you drop a line, it hard to get additional equipment and personnel in."

This is the situation on Washington. Although there is access from Third Street on the east side and Longwood-Lake Mary Road on the west side, it is little more than a private drive, Mehl said.

Public Works Director Rick Diaz has been directed to do a cost study on improving the situation on Washington Avenue. This would include widening the road to allow two vehicles to pass, laying water lines in order to install more hydrants and eventually paving the street to provide better conditions for emergency vehicles.

The first obstacle, Diaz said, is acquiring the land. There is no city owned property along the 2,737 feet of Washington. The city will be asking homeowners to donate some of their property for right-of-way. The cost of the project would be approximately $281,177, not including the cost of the land.

An 8-inch water line and a hydrant every 500 feet will be installed.

The project will take approximately six months.

In addition to many one-of-a-kind items, Rush designs and produces his own line of historic Sanford memorabilia. Modeled after historic pieces he has seen in the Sanford Museum and around town, Rush said his Sanford line, limited to no more than 25, is usually sold out within the first two weeks. A faux finish box containing anything from old post cards to Celery Avenue pins, is especially popular. Rush said he donates a portion of those proceeds to the Sanford Historic Trust.

A graduate of Temple University with a master's degree in fine arts specializing in stage decorating and design and a degree in interior design, Rush said in Sanford he has found what he was looking for - a simpler life with close community interaction.

"Keith and I have simplified our lifestyle in many ways," he said. "We are in touch with the community. That's what feeds me, the interface with the public."

In addition, Rush said customers and neighboring merchants have been very helpful and friendly.

"They all greeted us with open arms and we didn't find that in any of the other areas we looked at," he said.

Ever since he and Keith moved here in January, Rush said he has noticed many changes and renovations with people buying property in Sanford right and left.

Rush can be seen many times with a clipboard taking notes on what his customers want.

"I listen very carefully to what people say," he said.

Twice a year, Rush travels to places like New York, Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas and New Mexico to purchase the unique items displayed in the shop.

To keep customers on their toes, about every four weeks he moves things in the shop around.

"I want to keep them guessing."

Ritz offering, Godspell, to premiere

BY DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - At the beginning of this month, the Ritz Theatre announced the replacing of the musical Tri Types with the 1970s hit musical Godspell on November 21, 22 and 23.

The play will be performed at the Sanford Civic Center located at 401 East Seminole Boulevard. This production is in association with the Titusville Playhouse in Titusville.

"I think it's cool to be networking with other theater companies," said Fred Rogers of the Ritz Theatre.

The musical is based upon the gospel according to St. Matthew. It is complete with all the parables of the gospel. Godspell stays very close to Matthew's message.

Tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for seniors and students. Tickets are available at Delilah's Antiques, Our House Books and A Second Image Costumes all in historic downtown Sanford. Tickets are also available at the Titusville Playhouse in Titusville.

For group reservations, call 323-9421. There are special group rates for youth groups and churches. For more information, call 321-8111.

Orlando City Ballet group pirouettes into Pine Crest

BY DAVID FRAZIER

WINTER SPRINGS - Pirouetting into Sanford's Pine Crest Elementary this Thursday, is a ballet group based out of Winter Springs known as the Orlando City Ballet, Central Florida's foremost pre-professional dance company. Dancers will present their first performance of their annual play The Nutcracker. It will start at 7 p.m.

Orlando City Ballet is a non-profit organization dedicated to bringing classical ballet, as well as modern, character, and ethnic choreographies, to the community at low or no cost. The dancers of OCB are, for the most part, high school and middle school students from area schools. Some of the dancers go on to careers in dancing. Others have plans to major in dance at various colleges throughout the nation. And for others, dance provides a major creative outlet. President of OCB W. R. MacDiarmid said that for some of the major productions such as The Nutcracker, the company does bring back some graduates which are currently pursuing professional dance careers for the more difficult roles. The dancers return to OCB for the additional experience and the quality training.

Each year, The Nutcracker is presented at a variety of venues by OCB. This year, in addition to Pine Crest, the group will perform with the Space Coast Pops Pit Orchestra at the Henegar Center for the Arts in Melbourne; at Valencia Community College; and at the amphitheater at Lake Eola.

The vast majority of OCB's performances are free to the public. Funding comes in part from a grant from the United Arts of Central Florida. In addition, OCB dancers and their families hold numerous fundraising events throughout the year. The Pine Crest performance and the Lake Eola performances are free. While there is an admission for the Valencia performances, the proceeds go to Valencia in return for the use of their facility and the technical staff. And at the Henegar performance, OCB will be sharing whatever proceeds result with the musicians from the Space Coast Pops.

Performances for Valencia Community College's East Campus is Saturday, Dec. 13, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 14, at 2 p.m. Tickets are $6 to $8 and are available at the box office at 275-1803 or Orlando City Ballet at 686-7958.

Officials with OCB said that the Pine Crest show may already be sold out. For more information, call 686-7958.

Guild supports opera in Central Florida

From Staff Reports

In 1980, the Orlando Opera Guild, as it is known today, was formed to assist the Orlando Opera Company in achieving its financial and educational goals, and to encourage the appreciation of the opera.

Volunteers of the Guild try to enrich the cultural community of Central Florida by assisting in bringing the best of opera to this area.

The Opera Guild offers many activities throughout the year. Membership is not required for participation in the various events.

Luncheons are held at Mason & Jardin beginning at 11:30 a.m. The cost is $20. The next luncheon is Nov. 20.

The Guild sponsors a Designers' Showcase House annually. The 25th showcase house will be presented in March 1998.

The Orlando Opera Company will present the first opera of the season on Friday, Sunday and Tuesday, Nov. 21, 23 and 25. Tosca, one of the world's most popular operas. Other scheduled operas include, Falstaff, Feb. 13, 15 and 17; and Die Fledermaus, March 13, 15 and 17.

For more information about the Guild or Opera Company, call 426-1717.

Da Bomb!

What's up in and out of the classrooms of Seminole County

Seminole County, Florida - Sunday, November 14, 1997 - 7B

Da Bomb hears all...

Is there anything worse than trying to get into the Seminole High parking lot when school is letting out? Somehow Da Bomb always seems to end up in that mess.

It isn't easy to root for a team without a win but Da Bomb thinks it's pretty cool the way the Pep Boys keep it going at Lake Mary.

Attention AH at SHS. Stop pickin' on Da Bomb!

Congrats to Winter Springs and Seminole for puttin' on some great fall carnivals. Too bad it rained on ya Thursday night, but Da Bomb's headin' over tonight.

Da Bomb sees Sabal Point and Heathrow Elementaries are in good hands with Mr. Townsley and Ms. Jenkins, a couple principals at new schools.

Heathrow kids want a cleaner planet

By JEFF BERLINICKE
Herald Staff Writer

A lot of people complain about the environment but the kids at Heathrow are doing something about it.

Fourth- and fifth-graders at Heathrow have launched the school's brand new Ecology Club to help make its members aware of topics affecting the environment.

The club is off to a great start already. They held their first meeting less than a month ago and already have been doing their part to clean up the environment.

Fifth-grade teacher Susan Hildes is one of the teachers pioneering the project but the kids are making quite an impact already. Since the inception of the program, they have improved the trail leading to the outdoor classroom by placing wooden logs along the sides of the trail to lead to the classroom in the woods. The kids are working on a butterfly garden outside the school parking lot but are now talking about building another one along with a bird sanctuary inside the outdoor corridor at the school.

More importantly, the kids realize that, although they are making the school look great, there are other matters and reasons for their projects.

For one, Heathrow is determined to win the county phone book recycling drive. Most of the county elementary schools are competing to see which school can collect the most phone books for recycling. Heathrow has already collected nearly 1,000 and wants to win.

They have also participated in a snake awareness activity and made scarecrows out of natural debris and recycled clothing. The scarecrows are placed around the campus to let the rest of the students (there were so many interested that some kids had to be turned away) see their work.

A few weeks later, the club met again to focus on building environmental awareness. Students learned to use four of their five senses to become familiar with the outdoor habitat and then made name necklaces using recycled plastic lids with natural materials.

They may be in elementary school, but some of the club members are determined to make an immediate difference.

"There's too much pollution in the world," said Sebastian Franz. "It's fun because we get to help the Earth."

The kids have also been learning about plants and what they do for the Earth.

"They give us oxygen and carbon dioxide," Wade Meyers said. "We have a greenhouse effect that is happening because cars are making so much pollution and the sun rays get trapped in the atmosphere."

Not bad for a fifth-grader who educated his visitor the other day.

The kids have also been picking up trash at their school, not that there's really that much. They talked about how important it is to protect the natural environment.

"Instead of always cutting trees down, they should leave them along and stop putting up buildings everywhere," Sebastian said.

Devon Lopez agreed. "People should pick up their trash and start planting more flowers and plants," she said.

Wade had a better idea for saving the atmosphere.

"Everybody should ride skateboards and bikes to work and to school and that could save the environment," he said, adding that, even when he turns 16, he'll still be riding his skateboard to school.

When it came to building their trail, the kids thought of everything. While they used the big logs to line the trail, they also found a use for the smaller twigs, especially after a rainstorm last week did its work to the woods behind Heathrow.

"We want to pile the twigs way up high so the lizards can use them to make a home," Devon said.

Sebastian said he wants to extend his learning about the environment to his home.

"I want to build a garden for butterflies so they can have a home," he said. He also suggested laying out sunflower seeds to attract birds and butterflies to the gardens at Heathrow.

Originally, some of the plants were less than a foot tall when they started it last summer. Now some of the plants have grown to over five feet tall and there are butterflies everywhere, attracted by the colors, Wade said. By the way, they also attract plenty of bumblebees. If the Heathrow Elementary Ecology Club has its way, the future of the environment is as bright as their new plants on their campus.

Winter Springs carnival world

It rained all night but that didn't stop Winter Springs High School students from enjoying the first night of the school's carnival. It continues through Sunday at the WSHS campus.

Lake Mary never gives up

The Lake Mary Rams finished the season 0-9 but that didn't stop a group of students from forming the Pep Boys which makes their presence felt at every Lake Mary home game.

Is it too tough for county students to make 'A' team?

By COURTNEY LEFFEW
Herald Correspondent

A change for the better or worse?

This year in the Seminole County school system there is a new plan that has been established to make it a tad bit tougher for students to get those straight A's.

With this fresh, new year off and running the schools have issued a new grading policy and higher graduation requirements.

The system which did state that a 1.5 GPA was required to graduate now states that nothing under a 2.0 will be accepted. The stricter grading policy has been changed to:

- A- 94-100
- B- 85- 93
- C- 75- 84
- D- 65- 74
- F- Below 65

"I think if people really want to graduate, they will make the 2.0 GPA and if they can't maybe they are not ready to graduate. Extra schooling will probably help them more in the long run," said Seminole High senior Andrea Hays.

This change makes it difficult for the border line students to get those favorable grades they will need to walk across that stage in May.

"You throw the kittens in the river, if they drown, then there's more room in the litter box," said Seminole High senior Andy Marlette.

It may be puzzling to understand why a mere point there or here would matter that much but to most students it has brought them a new meaning to working hard for their grades.

There is no more just doing homework twice a week, not studying and skipping an assignment. That extra time at the library or reading the chapter three times if need be, is what is going to begin to divide the graduating students from the failing ones.

"I think it is unfair that for the last three years of high school the grades were scaled one way and now I have to work harder to uphold them," said Seminole High senior Christina Whiddon.

Are these new changes going to bring the class of '98 to a higher learning level?

I feel it will. The requirements will enforce the students to work harder and more intelligently to earn that diploma. This policy will also prepare students for college.

I think students can be classed together in three categories. First, the students that will always do their best and receive those good grades no matter what the policy is. Secondly, the average students. These kids fall between success and failure. Some students don't achieve to their potential. If a 1.5 GPA is required they will not try to do any better but with this increase the students are forced to do more. For some of them a little push in the right direction is all they need. Finally, the students that will never try to make straight A's or even B's.

This policy will hopefully influence the first two groups of students to be a success. For the students who don't try, it is only themselves they will be disappointing.

"I don't believe that the school should have changed it so suddenly. It effected several seniors when it comes to graduating. They should have only applied it to the incoming freshman," said Seminole High senior Dean Wygant.

A little bit of hard work never did anyone any harm.

Thumbs Up!!

The Lyman High School Marching Band and Guard performed in district competition last week and received Superior Rating in all categories. In addition, four Lyman band members - Jey Bratcher, Mariah Richardson, Denise Goggin and Jason Kai - have been selected to perform in the Tri-State Band Festival at Florida State University.

There's been some big news at Oviedo High lately. Three students - Tony Leaser, Megan Rutherford and Dede MacDiarmid - placed in the top 3 at the Great Day in the Country Art Show. Also, April Reese was the recipient of the Great Day Scholarship. Oviedo also accepted the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Gold Medalist Award for the 1996-97 school year.

The way we were: SHS football, 1916

While looking in the 1916 and 1917 SHS Salmagundis trying to identify the people in the 1916 football team, I came across an account of the 1916 football season which I thought you would enjoy.

J. C. Hutchinson had come to the Sanford High School in 1915 to teach mathematics and also coach athletics. He had graduated from Wofford College and knew the SHS principal, Prof. Ezell, while in South Carolina.

Soon after the start of school in 1916, Coach Hutchinson began drafting recruits for a football team. Only three members from the previous year were back, so the new team had practically no experience.

Sanford vs. St. Augustine
Sanford's first engagement was against the old and firmly founded St. Augustine squad. Their opponent's heaviest man weighed 215 pounds, while SHS's heavy weight tipped the scales at 165. Despite the odds heavily against SHS, they played hard and held the score to St. Augustine 6, Sanford 0.

That evening, the SHS boys, junior and senior SHS girls and the St. Augustine players assembled at the Empire Hotel and enjoyed dancing, chatting and having a good time.

(According to the 1917 city

GRACE M. STINE - CIPHER

directory, the Empire Hotel was located at 402 West First Street. Joseph E. Wathen was the manager. Was this the same J. E. Wathen who was later traffic manager for American Fruit Growers and lived at 819 Palmetto Avenue? He and his wife Evelyn had several children: Mary, Betty, Joe, Barbara, Jeanette and Shirley. They moved to Ft. Pierce about 1947. Mr. Wathen would have been pretty young in 1917. Also listed as living at the Empire Hotel were Augustine and Ida Wathen, perhaps Joseph's parents.

Sanford vs. Kissimmee
In SHS's first clash with Kissimmee, the teams were more evenly matched, but the cow punchers had great speed. One SHS player threw himself wholeheartedly into the game and bucked the interference until he was knocked almost senseless and had to be taken from the game.

On the following Friday, Sanford played the same team in Kissimmee. O. W. Spencer secured the ball on a fumble and made 60 yards before being tackled. SHS lost both games.

SHS Travels to St. Augustine
On Wednesday, November 29, the Sanford squad boarded the train for St. Augustine. A dance had been planned for them that evening, but Coach Hutchinson set curfew at 8:15 p.m.

Thanksgiving morning was spent sightseeing around the Ancient City taking in the fort, the beach, museum and lighthouse. After enjoying a light turkey dinner, they went to the YMCA to prepare for the game. They were in better condition than for their first meeting with this team, but there were three inexperienced substitutions.

The St. Augustine team made three of their five scores by long passes. Murrell of Sanford caught several passes, but never managed to cross the goal line.

O. W. Spencer intercepted a long pass and made a brilliant streak for about 75 yards, then he stubbed his toe in a gopher hole and went sprawling. That game was lost also.

That night they were guests at a turkey banquet given in the Royal Cafe. They also enjoyed a dance in company of many pretty girls.

Sanford vs. Orlando
The write of this piece claimed that he had never seen such a big, fit and husky team in any high school in Florida as the Orlando team. He recalled an incident in that game in which SHS was on their own 10 yard line and were forced to punt. The ball was rolled part way to the full back who ran up and got it and tried to make a hasty punt. The punt was barely over the line and an Orlando player caught the ball. He immediately began running for the wrong goal. Some Sanford players came up behind him and urged him to go make a touchdown for Sanford. The crowd finally persuaded him to turn and go for his own goal but it was too late.

Although Sanford was beaten in this game, on the day those amid pouring rain, they sang songs and gave yells for good old Sanford High, showing that their spirit was not broken.

Team Members
Members of this 1916 team were Robert Greene, O. W. Spencer, Robert Robinson, Wallace Lipford, Tom Meredith, ? Melich, George Arthur, Virgil Smith, ? Allen, Oliver Murrell, ? Washburn, Percy Packard, Harben Mison, Robert Cobb, Leslie Hill, Max Stewart and Israel Kanner.

Those who were awarded block letters were: Spencer, Arthur, Robinson, Lipford and Murrell. Those receiving monograms were Smith and Mer-dith. Robert Greene was awarded a star for having served two years.

SHS Football 1917-29
In looking through some of these early Salmagundis, I found that Sanford's football team had a dismal record until 1922. In 1918 there was no football team as several of the boys were off serving in World War I. In 1920 it was decided to dispense with football and concentrate on basketball.

Salmagundis Needed
As you can see, I use SHS Salmagundis quite often in my research and it is a huge help to have them at hand rather than having to go elsewhere. I do have a large collection as both my mother and I attended and taught at Seminole High and I have been given a few others. But I have a "wish list" for several more to fill in the gaps. If you have any of the following Salmagundis and are willing to give them up, I would appreciate them! Those I need are: 1908-1915, 1916, 1926, 1927, 1930, 1936, 1937, 1938-1941, 1945, 1946, 1948-1950, 1955, 1956 and 1961.

An agent of the South Carolina Department of Law Enforcement, who had been called to assist with the case, had recalled seeing the sheriff's website at a law conference in Cocoa last month. The website provided background and photos of the suspects, who are currently being held under $1 million bond each in DeWitt County.

A search of the vehicle Liza and Wozniak were traveling in turned up several thousand dollars worth of jewelry that was later identified as property stolen during a residential burglary in Atlanta, Ga. A total of $600,000 worth of jewelry was taken.

Harriett said the two could be a part of large band of traveling criminals, made up of immigrants from Eastern European countries.

Harriett stressed the importance of keeping up with the electronic system.

"This is a developing trend and we need to be a part of it," he said.

The sheriff's office website contains information and photos of more than 50 traveling criminals as well as crime prevention tips. The address is <http://www.seminolesheriff.org>.

Extra Points...

Despite final score, Peters leaves Rams as a winner

LAKE MARY - A good man said goodbye last night.

Doug Peters coached his last game last night after nine sometimes bad, usually successful seasons at the Rams' helm.

Was he a good coach before he resigned two weeks ago?

That can be debated. Certainly he had his detractors and they were starting to howl as the losses mounted week after week this year, culminating in a heartbreaking 7-6 overtime loss to arch-rival Seminole last night in a game that meant nothing to the playoff-bound Nokes but everything for a team that wanted to win one, just one, for its coach.

All season long, the Rams played with little or no emotion as the losses mounted and Peters took the high road, resigning before something worse may have happened. Communities like Lake Mary want winners and as soon as possible.

But they had a winner. Peters' players made the grades, stayed out of trouble and the Lake Mary team, at least inside the locker room and on the sidelines, were a family.

That is something that will be missing next season. Sure, the Lake Mary administration will bring in a big-name coach to try to turn things around. Several names have been mentioned including some prominent names from the past and present of Central Florida's football powerhouses.

But will it be the same?

If you examine coaching changes at almost any level, first you realize that change is inevitable. Peters wasn't going to be at Lake Mary forever and neither will his replacement. Schools tend to replace so-called nice guys with stern, tough in-your-face guys.

Peters was never an in-your-face coach. Instead, he was a friend who earned his respect in different ways than screaming and through intimidation.

That usually works, at least for a little while. But it's tough for high school kids to look past the wins and losses and friendship and loyalty only go so far.

Was the loyalty there at the end? On the sideline, if you saw the Friday night religious crusade against Seminole, it was. The players and coaches and managers and trainers closed the doors around them, and it was just a team unit and there was love on the sidelines from a team giving its father figure one final glorious way to go out.

If it were a Disney cartoon, the Rams would have won the final game. Somehow, the Rams would have put some points on the board during regulation and the game never would have gone into the dreadful overtime that left Lake Mary drained and in tears.

Lake Mary would have made that extra point or Seminole would have missed that desperation final touchdown pass on fourth-and-12.

But that's not the way things work in sports and the good guys don't always win.

Which brings us back to Doug Peters.

Peters will be on a sideline somewhere down the road. The guy can coach quarterbacks and a fresh start may be the most important thing for Peters.

A new school will get a class act that doesn't leave anything left on the field after 48 minutes or more. He leaves his energy and sometimes, win or lose, his tears.

There were plenty of those Friday. There

LAKE MARY - Lake Mary and Seminole have played some classic football games in the past 16 years but last night will go down as the most classic, yet.

Filled with more story lines and sub-plots than an episode of Schindler, Seminole pulled out a 7-6 win in overtime that crushed Lake Mary fans everywhere and gave Seminole fans reasons to ponder their playoff hopes as they prepare for Merritt Island in the first round next week.

For once, the story wasn't about who won; Seminole was heavily favored by the Sanford and Lake Mary oddsmakers. It was about who lost.

Lake Mary coach Doug Peters resigned as coach of the Rams two weeks ago and his team came into the

Oviedo tunes up for playoffs with win

By TONY DESORMIER

DeLAND - Oviedo High School expected a cat fight when it met up with the Panthers ... but not until next week, when the Lions meet Dr. Phillips in the first round of the Class 6A state playoffs.

This past Friday night, however, the 2-8 Deltona-Pine Ridge Panthers threw a scare into the playoff-bound Lions (7-3) in the regular season finale for both teams at Spec Martin Stadium before falling to Oviedo, 35-20.

"Pine Ridge is a good 2-8 football team," said

Oviedo coach Greg Register. "We knew they would be ready for us and give us a good game. But we got off to a slow start and really didn't get anything going until the second half."

After scoring the game's first touchdown, Oviedo fell behind, 14-7, in the second quarter. The Lions scored twice in the third quarter to forge ahead, 21-14, but Pine Ridge scored a touchdown seconds into the fourth quarter. A failed two-point conversion left the Lions with a slim 21-20 lead with 11:55 left in the game.

"This game really had no meaning," Register said. "The kids knew that. We were concerned that after beating Lake Brantley last week, they might be looking ahead to Dr. Phillips next week. That's only natural. It's always tough, especially for teenagers.

"But the kids came through. I'm pleased with that."

After Jay Rogers' touchdown cut Oviedo's lead to 21-20, the Lions came right back with a five-play drive that covered 62 yards. Leroy Jackson covered the final 17 yards, scoring at 9:22 of the fourth period.

About four minutes later, Alvin Hudson bowled into the end zone from five yards out for Oviedo. Dan Dyke's fifth extra-point kick capped

Seminole, Wymore advance in Classic

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - Wymore Tech exploded for a 23-point fourth quarter to pull away for a 75-63 victory over Crooms Academy and host Seminole outlasted Lake Brantley 73-68 in overtime in the opening round action of the Seminole Tip-Off Classic at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium Friday night.

The Wymore Bearcats showed why they are a perennial Class 2A power in boys' basketball as they took a 38-28 lead at halftime against the Crooms Panthers, which is fielding a varsity team for the first time in 28 years.

The Panthers made a slight comeback in the third period, outscoring the Bearcats 19-14 to cut the advantage to seven points entering the final eight minutes.

But Wymore turned on the jets and had its biggest quarter of the night, outscoring Crooms 23-8. Dempse (28 points), Hall (25 points) and Bynum (15 points) led the Bearcats, while Terrance Perkins paced the Panthers with 17. Lee added 12 for Crooms.

Lake Brantley led 34-31 at halftime and outscored Seminole in three of the four tightly fought quarters, but a 14-9 third quarter scoring advantage for Arrow Force V forced overtime with score deadlocked at 62-62.

Seminole then pulled out the victory, outscoring the Patriots 11-6 in the extra period.

Daryl Redding led all scorers with 22 points for Arrow Force V, while Terri Patrick added 13 points and Zeke Seymore and B.J. Pratt contributed 10 points each.

Tonight, Crooms and Lake Brantley will meet in the Consolation Game at 6 p.m. and Wymore will battle Seminole for the championship at 7:30 p.m.

Anderson awakens from doldrums as Magic routs Denver

By DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writer

ORLANDO - Orlando Magic coach Chuck Daly wondered who number 25 was on his team. Who was this member that took the spot of the injured superstar? Where has this player been?

Yes, Nick Anderson - the real Nick Anderson - came up big in the third quarter and helped the Magic secure a victory against the visiting Denver Nuggets, 103-85, at the Orlando Arena Friday.

"The real Nick Anderson showed up," said Daly. Anderson ended the game with 16 points (on 8 of 13 shooting) and nine rebounds. He was 5 of 8 from the floor in the third quarter.

Also helping the Magic was a strong offensive performance by power forward Horace Grant. He led all Magic scorers with 21 points on 10 of 15 shooting. In fact, nine out of 10 Magic players were on the board Friday - only Tim Kempton did not score.

Johnny Newman, the first offensive option for the 0-7 Nuggets, scored 23 points. Newman led four players in double figures. Denver led at 10:57 in the first quarter 2-0. The Magic tied it twice, and then took the lead for good at 9:16 in the first.

Also helping the Magic this evening was Charles "Bo" Outlaw, who started in Penny Hardaway's absence. Outlaw made the most of his starting role by posting 18 points, 11 rebounds, five assists and five steals.

But Anderson was the story of the game. "I was not going to push it and just let it come to me," said Anderson. "I love my two spot no question about it."

Coach Daly was so surprised by Anderson's play that he came up to the Magic's first ever draft pick and re-introduced himself to him.

"He [Daly] said it's nice to meet you, and then shook my hand," Anderson said.

Howard, Knight were born to run

By KELLIE WERNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Together, they have scored most of their team's touchdowns.

Together, they have racked up well over 1,000 yards rushing.

Together, Deon Howard and Joe Knight have carried the Seminole High School football team out of a 3-7 season and into a secured playoff position in the District 5A-Class 5 in just one year.

"We don't think about last year," Knight said. "We have all worked really hard and give everything we have in every game. What matters to us is what we accomplish this season, not what happened last year."

All of the team's accomplishments are the result of an intense summer program that included hours in the weight room, miles of running and a team commitment to dedication.

Howard and Knight were leaders in that effort.

"We knew that if we didn't get ready for the season over the summer, we wouldn't make any changes," Howard said. "The whole team decided that we wanted to have a winning season this year and all of us have been working toward that goal. We want to go to the state playoffs and only hard work is going to get us there."

And a few more stellar performances by two of the best running backs in the county.

That title has not come easily to Howard and Knight. Knight wasn't able to play Pop Warner when he was little because he was too big. Howard, on the other hand, was able to play for a few years.

Both of them knew that they wanted to play football once they reached high school, however. And while they never played football together and are a year apart in school (Knight is a senior, Howard is a junior), they did grow up friends.

"We knew each other because we've gone to school together all along," Knight said. "We were friends but we have really gotten closer since we've been on varsity together."

Has the fact that both Knight and Howard are doing well created competition between them?

"Not at all," Howard said. "We want each other to do well. If we both perform, the team has a better chance of winning. That's all that matters. Not who goes in the end zone. Only that someone does."

Howard and Knight have found the end zone many times this season and don't plan on stopping there.

They both understand that they owe at least some of the credit for their success to others on the team.

Mostly, the offensive line.

"If those guys weren't making holes for us to run through, we'd have nowhere to go," Howard said.

"They have really been there for us and we want to give them credit," Knight added.

Also, the running backs want to give credit to first year Seminole coach, Jim Worthington.

Worthington came to the Sanford school from a winning program at Pine Ridge in Volusia County and immediately began to make improvements. He established the summer program, which is completely voluntary, and also gave the players the motivation to succeed.

"Coach Worthington has done so much for us," Knight said. "He has given us the necessary tools to succeed and has given us confidence. It's not hard to have confidence when a player's team is 7-1, has a guaranteed spot in the district playoffs and has never lost a game when their two running backs have acquired over 100 yards rushing.

Over-confidence, however, is not a problem for these backs, either. Despite the hype surrounding Howard and Knight's performances, they both have a good grip on reality and haven't let it all go to their heads. There is still a lot of football left for both the running backs and their team. Especially if they intend to go all the way to the state playoffs.

If Howard and Knight continue to wreak havoc on the defenses that they encounter, that goal might just be getting a little closer.

game with an 0-8 record, not the perfect way to take on the Seminole Athletic Conference champions.

The team had been less competitive as the season went along and came into last night just looking to send Peters out with a win.

They almost did. Almost.

The game remained scoreless through regulation before a nearly packed house at Lake Mary's Don Reynolds Stadium. Seminole's vaunted ground attack had been shut down by an inspired Lake Mary defense, but after a strong start by Rams' running back Robbie Randall, the Seminole defense countered and the game was scoreless going into the first overtime.

In the State of Florida, overtime games are decided by the Kansas Tiebreaker. Each team gets possession at the opposing 10 yard line and gets four chances to score. Each team gets an equal number of chances until a team comes out on top.

The Rams lost the toss and had possession first. On the first play of overtime, Randall darted 10 yards down the sideline for a touchdown but the extra point never came close to clearing the Seminole Line. It was 6-0 Lake Mary when the real fun started.

A quick penalty moved Seminole back to the 15 and coach Jim Worthington inserted Tim Raines at quarterback.

Raines carried twice to the 11 to bring up fourth down with the game on the line.

Seminole quarterback Garrett Goldsmith, who had completed only one pass all evening, fired to the end zone and found Erick Smith for the tying score.

"I felt bad about the way I played tonight," Goldsmith said. "I had to redeem myself."

For Smith, it was his first but most important catch of the night.

"I had to make that catch for the team," Smith said.

Jason Armstrong kicked the conversion and the 'Noles had an improbable win that made the Rams 0-9 on the season.

"You can't take them for granted," Worthington said. "You can't let them come in thinking they can win."

If the 'Noles were looking ahead to next week, it seemed pretty obvious.

"We still have a lot of confidence," Armstrong said. "We were kind of looking ahead to next week."

The Seminoles could have put it away early. Seminole marched to the one with a third down but running back Deon Howard was stopped twice, first by Justin Wright and on fourth down, by Cam Carter who was one of a host of Rams who had a big night on defense.

That was as close as either team came to scoring until overtime.

Seminole has next week at Merritt Island to look forward to. Lake Mary only has a frustrated season with an almost fantasy ending took look behind at. Among the Lake Mary seniors playing their last game were Tim Spivey, Tony Martin, Randall, Mike Stevenson, Shaun Gray, Dustin Lord, Alex Moore, Tramine Gaines, Jason Boehm, Richard Quinones and Matt Fanning.

Peters will look back at his final game at Lake Mary fondly.

"These guys are all champions in life," Peters said. "That was a great way to end the season."

HERE'S TO THE WINNERS

The Lake Mary High School Booster Club and athletic department have designated an area adjacent to Don T. Reynolds Stadium to honor team and individual athletic records of Lake Mary High School graduates. The area was named the Raymond the 35-point effort.

Gaines Records Park after the current principal and one of the Rams' biggest fans. School Board Chairman Sandy Robinson joined with Tom Marcy, Carl Wright and other members of the booster club.

While Register was pleased with the win -- "I'll take 7-3 every year," he said -- there were several important aspects of the game that made the final outcome almost incidental.

To begin with, eight different players ran the ball for the Lions. Jamie Scott again led the Oviedo ground game with 75 yards and a touchdown on seven carries while Kevin Quintero rushed nine times for 48 yards and a touchdown. Erik Wilson and Larry Grayson, who both missed games due to injuries this season, had some good runs Friday.

Quarterbacks Josh Cullen and Kevin Starling combined to complete 13 of 20 passes to eight different receivers. Leading the group was senior Chad Garrett, who caught four passes for 63 yards. It was Garrett's first action since suffering a knee injury in preseason. Scott two passes for 45 yards while Justin Holmes had a 32-yard touchdown reception.

With a near-full complement of skill players at his disposal for the first time this season, Oviedo offensive coordinator Troy Kessinger had the Lions trying a little bit of everything against Pine Ridge.

By the end of the night, 15 different players had run, passed, caught, or kicked the ball for the Lions. Five different players -- Holmes, Scott, Quintero, Leroy Jackson, and Alvin Hudson -- scored touchdowns.

"We were able to get a lot of players in tonight," said Register. "Garrett is just coming back from a knee injury. And Jamie is such a good athlete, we need to get him the ball any way we can. That gives us an added dimension, something extra going into the playoffs."

It also gives Dr. Phillips a little more to worry about in preparing for next week. Considering that the undefeated Panthers are ranked No. 7 in the most recent Florida Sports Writers' Association's Class 6A poll, Oviedo could use every edge it can get.

"That was another consideration, to give Dr. Phillips some different things to look at," said Register. "We're finally back healthy and that allows us to spread the offense around. We're the healthiest we've been since the opening week of the season."

Next Friday's first-round playoff game will be played at Dr. Phillips High School.

were tears for an incredible effort in a meaningless game, there were tears over an 0-9 season, there were tears for having given every ounce of energy to a program that simply fell into a funk.

A lot of people will remember Peters last two seasons of 5-5 and 0-9.

That's not a good way to remember Doug Peters. Remember him as the guy who coached his heart out and came a missed conversion and a fluke play from winning the greatest game of his career.

Remember Peters being carried off the field after the loss, being doused with the water bucket and sharing hugs and tears with his teammates.

He gave it everything he had all the time.

Doug Peters is a winner.

Last Second Shot: Is there any player in Seminole County, boys or girls, that sacrifices more of her body on the basketball court than Kris Dedelow at Winter Springs High School? Against Oviedo Thursday, she spent more time diving out of bounds or on the court than anyone I've ever seen.

WHAT'S UP IN THE NFL 1997... WEEK 12

SANFORD Welcome back folks. You have no idea how close we came to not being published this week. After last week's disappointing results in the LOCK category, I had to take an EMERGENCY trip to Las Vegas to straighten some things out with Vinny. I also missed my flight as I had to make a last second "heavy play" on this week's LOCK OF THE WEEK.

I was terribly disappointed to see Bill Parcells, a coach that I admire, start Glenn Foley in a game that I had released as a LOCK OF THE WEEK.

It seems that Coach Parcells and Neil O'Donnell had an argument prior to last Sunday's kickoff. No offense Bill, but when I select my LOCK picks, I do under the assumption that everyone will act like an adult. The childish argument that you and O'Donnell felt was essential, cost me a few dollars, and a lot of pride.

My patented LOCK record fell to a still impressive 10-2, but the hurt you caused me will not be easily forgotten. In my next attempt to even the score, I refuse to comment on the Jets this week.

Taking a quick look around Florida, let's zero in on the Jacksonville.

The Jaguars earned some much needed respect as they pummeled the Elvis-less Kansas City Chiefs.

The nice thing about this game was the fact that the Jags proved they can run the ball for an entire game. The Chiefs defense was totally confused when Brunell didn't have to resort to the scramble. If Jacksonville can continue improving on the running game, look for them to be major contenders in late December.

The Dolphins squeaked out another win, but have little to be proud of.

The New York Jets were plagued by bad play and worse officiating, in a game that I feel should have gone the other way. If Jimmy Johnson cannot get his offense going, this team will not have a chance in the playoffs.

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers continue to live on the edge of oblivion.

BRADY LESSARD

Early in the game, the Atlanta Falcons gave us a scare, and that is nothing to be proud of. The Bucs need to re-kindle the fire that led them to a 5-0 start this season. Since the quick start, Tampa has beaten two teams, the Falcons and the Colts. Combined records? 2-18. The Bucs face a real test this week as the struggling Patriots come to town in search of a return to the Super Bowl.

Let's take a look at today's schedule and find some winners.

NEW ENGLAND (-2) AT TAMPA BAY

I don't care what the "experts" say, there is only one possible outcome in this one. The Bucs roll to victory and leave the Patriots wondering what happened. Look for Warrick Dunn to run for a million miles against this depleted defensive line. Buccaneers 27, Patriots 18.

JACKSONVILLE (-6) VS TENNESSEE

Conventional wisdom says to take the Jags in this one. I refute this logic and say the Oilers are easy money. When Jacksonville has had trouble this year it has been related to the run. Eddie George, for the Oilers, has had a great year, and will have a great day tomorrow. Oilers 28, Jaguars 14.

DALLAS (-4) VS WASHINGTON

This my friends is a money line. The Cowboys still stink, but the betting public obviously feels otherwise. Take the points and jog to the bank.

Redskins 18, Cowboys 12. DENVER (-3) AT KANSAS CITY

The Broncos feel confident going into this one, but I'm not so sure. The Chiefs are infamous for bouncing back from big losses, and I'm sitting this one out. Broncos 28, Chiefs 27.

PITTSBURGH (-10) VS CINCINNATI

This my friends will be one of the more exciting games of the week. The Steelers have been hot, and don't look to cool down against the worst defense in the league. Sounds easy, but Blake is furious and plans to score 45 points. Can Kordell keep up? Steelers 42, Bengals 40.

SEATTLE (-6) AT NEW ORLEANS

What did I tell you about the Seahawks? Not only are they going to have a winning season, they're going to the playoffs. The Saints are a very low hurdle in their quest for a bigger picture. New Orleans can appeal to the Pope all they want, they are going to get whipped, Cajun Style, tomorrow. Seahawks, 48, Saints 17.

ST. LOUIS (-4) VS ATLANTA

The Falcons are not that bad a team, but neither are the Rams. If Chandler starts for Atlanta look for this one to be a shootout. If he doesn't, it's anybody's game. Rams 31, Falcons 28.

NEW YORK GIANTS (-5) VS ARIZONA

Look for the Giants to rebound today as the hapless Cardinals come to town. It amazes me that certain fans in New York still feel the Giants can make the playoffs. As Troy Aikman would say, "Get real." The Giants stink, and will for years to come. Giants 24, Cardinals 21.

SAN FRANCISCO (-10) VS CAROLINA

What in the world happened to the Panthers? They have gone from first to worst in less than a year, and face a very good team today. My only question is whether the scoreboard at 3-Com Park can handle triple digits. I doubt it. 49ers 99, Panthers 23.

SAN DIEGO (PICK) VS OAKLAND

The Cheaters, I mean Raiders, have been a giant disappointment to me this year. I've never felt you could buy a championship team, and the Raiders prove it. They spent a billion hundred million thousand dollars this year and came up empty. We'll be looking at a totally different team next year, so make sure to watch this one. Chargers 31, Raiders 28.

MIAMI (-6) VS BUFFALO

This Monday Night game has it all, a vicious defense and a bitter rivalry. Look for Levy to have the Bills go to the air early and often. If the Dolphins are allowed to close up the run early, this game will be over early...My beloved Bills need this game to stay in the race for the playoffs. Bills 19, Dolphins 16.

Each week I issue what I consider to be the best selection against the spread in the schedule. This is the game that after research and contemplation, I feel most comfortable releasing as a "heavy play" selection. We've been incredibly fortunate this year with our LOCK record sitting at a comfortable 10-2.

Today I'm going with the SEATTLE SEAHAWKS (-6) OVER THE NEW ORLEANS SAINTS. The Saints are terrible, and I still say the Seahawks are going to make the playoffs. Coach John Smith "flips out" and retires to his place in Atlantic City after this one. Take Seattle and start counting the money before kickoff, the game is just a required formality.

Have a great afternoon, and thank you to all the Veterans that have made this country possible for us, we really have it pretty good.

UCF comes up short in opener

By RYAN ANDERSON
Herald Correspondent

ORLANDO Despite a record crowd of 3,814 screaming fans behind them, the University of Central Florida Golden Knights men's basketball team fell, 70-63, to the Auburn University Tigers in UCF's season opener at the UCF Arena Friday night.

"It wasn't easy to come in here with the atmosphere," Auburn coach Cliff Ellis said. "It was loud. We were on the road and Central Florida had three weeks to think about this game. We had yesterday on the plane to prepare for this game. That's what is good about this win for us. Without taking anything away from Central Florida, we had only one day to get ready."

In a game which the Golden Knights never led, the tone seemed set early on as Auburn took the opening tip-off and raced to an 8-0 lead before senior guard Mark Jones put Central Florida on the board with a driving layup four minutes into the game.

"I'm very disappointed, obviously the team wanted to win this basketball game. We felt that we could win this basketball game," Jones, a transfer from the University of Minnesota, said. "It hurts to lose. We are not a team that believes in moral victories. When we left the locker room our number one goal was to win this game."

Although UCF never led the game, the Golden Knights came close on several occasions. A three-pointer by Sanford native Brad Trains pulled Central Florida to within a point of the Tigers with 1:14 left in the first half, however, Auburn again got hot and took a 36-32 lead into the locker room at intermission.

The Tigers shot 48% from the floor in the first half, making 15 of 31 field goal attempts, while UCF shot 43, making 13 of 30.

The Golden Knights rallied early in the second half and tied the game at 38-38 on a pair of three-point shots by Trains, who converted on five of eight three-point attempts in the game.

The score did not remain tied for long, however, as the Tigers ran away to a 14 point lead midway through the second half.

"We came out in the second half and just lost our focus and we broke down defensively," Trains said. "Offensively we had some bad possessions and they got a 14-point lead on us. That's pretty rough to come back from, but we did a solid job."

Indeed, the Golden Knights did play solid, battling all the way back to cut the Auburn lead to one point, 64-63, on a free throw by Jones with 0:24 to play in the game. Jones' second free throw, which would have tied the game, fell short.

The Tigers then hit six straight free throws to close the game.

"Missing that shot really hurts. I knew when I released the ball that it was short," Jones said. "I guess I'll be working on free throws during practice."

Another factor which hurt the Golden Knights in their quest for victory was turnovers.

While both teams were near even in the number of turnovers, UCF seemed to have more costly turnovers.

"We turned the ball over on critical possessions late in the ball game and we can't that," UCF coach Kirk Speraw said. "We have got to be able to handle that better. Obviously, that is a credit to Auburn's defense, but we have to get our guards to step up and handle things."

Jones led both teams with 24 points, while Trains was the only other Golden Knight scoring in double figures, posting 18 counters on the night.

Scott Pohlman led the Tigers with 20 points. Randy Hughes and Bryant Smith also scored double figures for the Southeastern Conference power with 17 and 12 points, respectively.

"I'm very proud of our guys' effort," said Speraw. "From the beginning to the end I was impressed with our poise. When we got into a hole, we didn't get antsy. We didn't get shook. We just stayed with things and got back into the ball game. They jumped on us 8-0 and from that point on it was an uphill battle every second of the ball game."

Despite the outcome, one player feels it was not a lack of effort which cost UCF the game.

"We did play hard but we lost focus on a couple of possessions and when you lose focus against a big-time team like Auburn, that can cost you a game and that's what it did tonight," said Trains.

After posting a 2-0 record during the pre-season exhibition season, UCF begins the year 0-1, however, Speraw does not feel it is cause for too much concern.

"This is the first time out of the box. It is hard to play the first game of the year against an opponent of the caliber of Auburn. We are going to get better," Speraw said.

The Golden Knights will get their chance Tuesday night when they travel to Gainesville to take on another formidable SEC power, the Florida Gators, at the Stephen C. O'Connell Center at 7 p.m. The game will be shown on tape delay locally at 10 p.m. on the Southeastern Network.

Fishing guides can make a trip

SANFORD Fishing with a guide can make the difference between a fishing trip that is memorable rather than memory-less. Guides have the local knowledge necessary to find and catch fish. Fifty years ago just about anywhere you wet a line you could catch a fish. Fishing conditions are different now--mainly, there are fewer fish and more anglers. There are still plenty of fish to be caught, but you have to know where and when they are biting.

Finding a guide is easy. Virtually every large marina and many smaller ones have or know where you can hire a guide. Hotels and motels keep lists of local guides or display their brochures and business cards. Some communities have guide associations that you can contact. If all else fails, look in the local telephone directory.

How do you find the right guide? Call several guides and ask if they specialize in a particular type of fishing. If their specialty is fly fishing the flats for bonefish and you want to go grouper fishing, don't let them talk you into an outing because they have an open day when you want to go. Look for a guide that will do the kind of fishing you want to do.

Also find out if the guide is a licensed and insured captain. Be wary of those who are not. Ask how many years the person has fished the area. Remember, local experience is what you're looking for. Check to make sure the guide can supply the bait and tackle.

Finally, ask for the price. Most backwater and freshwater guides in an area charge the same price for a half or whole day of fishing. Be wary of those who charge substantially below the local going rate. For open water fishing trips the price will vary depending on the size of the boat. Bigger, well-appointed yachts can cost hundreds of dollars more. The difference in cost does not necessarily reflect a difference in the quality of the trip or your chances of catching fish. It may, however, reflect your comfort level when on the water.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

A GUIDE IS A GOOD INVESTMENT IF YOU ARE NOT IN FAMILIAR WATERS. IF

YOU HAVE A BOAT, AND YOU'RE OUT OF TOWN, HIRE A GUIDE FOR A DAY TO LEARN A FEW SPOTS AND THEN CONTINUE ON YOUR OWN FOR THE REMAINDER OF YOUR TRIP.

FISHING FORECAST

Base action is getting better by the day. With cooling temperatures, large bass prefer larger, slower moving baits. For this reason, shiners account for the majority of fish over the eight pound mark. The best spot is Purple Lake south to Lake Winder is hard to beat for heavyweight bass. Speckled perch are beginning to pick up in Lake Monroe. Drifting with Missouri minnows is the best tactic. Just look for the clusters of boats to see where the fish are biting.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that high seas have kept boats in port. Expect a few scattered whahoo and dolphin when seas finally subside. Inside the Port, look for sheepshead and flounder to be biting on a regular basis. Trout and redbill will be active on the flats of the Banana and Indian Rivers.

Bluefish and sheepshead are the main attraction at Ponce Inlet. Sheepshead to ten pounds are hitting live shrimp or fiddler crabs at the hole at the tip of the north jetties. A few drum and redbill are also roaming the rocks. Trout and redbill are rated good in Mosquito Lagoon.

dad is very charitable toward his neighbors and family. He has a riding lawn mower, she said, and keeps the neighbor's lawnmower and mow to their six children: Bill, Orlando, Mike, Luke, Mary Rita, Tom, Pam, Beach, Regina, Sanford, Brock, Hope Mills, NC, and Rebecca, Orlando, Jeannette and William. They thoroughly enjoy spending their 17 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. The six children attended Sanford schools.

The Gibsons are active members of Jordan Baptist Church in the Ipsala community, and their secret for a long and happy marriage is to make each other one in your life.

The couple are being entertained by their children today, Nov. 19, at 4 p.m. at a gala buffet reception for 50 guests at the Lake Mary Community Center. A white and gold anniversary cake, music and comments from their children will make the memorable day more cherished as the years go by.

SCRAPBOOK WINS SECOND AT FLORIDA CONFAB

Winning awards is not new to Libby Prevatt, who has brought home a variety of ribbons for her artistic endeavors. Her most recent award was second place in the state for a scrapbook she submitted to the G.W.C. Women's Club at Sanford, Fla.

When the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs met for its Fall Board Meeting in Orlando, 58 clubs entered the scrapbook competition. Libby explained that a scrapbook carrying out the angel motif took top place, but she is overwhelmed that her SWC scrapbook captured second place honors with so many beautiful books entered.

Vivacious Libby designed and created the elegant scrapbook and contents with Mary Anne Cleveland's help in providing the lettering. The cover is made of burgundy tulle overlaid with burgundy lace. An oval cutout features a lovely Victorian lady whom Libby clipped from a magazine which she enhanced to enrich the texture and color. "I also added we pearls to her neck and wrist," Libby said. The cover features "Celebrate Women" embroidered in gold, which club president Ruth Gaines proposed.

Included in the contents are headline stories of club members at work in the community, accounts of the club meetings, photographs, mementos of social events and the club's history. "Mrs. Smith (the late Mrs. Charlotte Smith) suggested I write a history of the club, which I did, but Mrs. Smith

Know your Ballet Guild dancer

The Sanford Garden Club celebrates its 50th anniversary on the following weeks. The Herald will feature a special page on the club's activities.

Nicole Bikowitz, 10, is the daughter of Michele Bikowitz of Daytona. She is in the fourth grade at Timbercrest School and is a member of the Boys and Girls Club. Nicole has been dancing for four years and has been a Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole dancer for two years. Nicole joined Ballet Guild because "I love ballet so I wanted to learn and I think it's great."

Karolyn Mantuano, 15, daughter of Barbara Mantuano of Sanford, is in the ninth grade at Seminole High School where she is on the straight A Honor Roll. She has been a Ballet Guild dancer for four years and has won a number of awards. Karolyn joined Ballet Guild because "To have the experience of being part of a dance company and to further my dance education."

Elks honor 40-year member, Brown retires from Goldsboro

An appreciation for Brother Myrtle Brown, a member of Elks City Lodge No. 542 and Evergreen Temple No. 321, was held in the celebration for Bro. McClain.

Bro. McClain and daughters, family and friends joined in the activities, expression of gratitude and appreciation to Bro. McClain for his untiring dedication and service as an Exalted Ruler and Financial Secretary for over 40 years.

At the words of the occasion, daughter Kate Burke said that her father has never been honored until they received him today. She thanked him for what they give. Bro. McClain has given us his time, dedication and financial support for which we as members are truly grateful.

Bro. McClain was thanked for his gift of love, goodness, dependability, cooperation, loyalty and especially his gift of honesty. The Elks Ruler's McClain's night was accompanied with green banners, all denominations, gifts and honor cards saying he would be all.

At 7:30 p.m. with Bro. McClain as the toastmaster, the program was presented by Bro. McClain. The Baker sang

Stemper honored by historical and community organizations

Special to the Herald

William H. Stemper Jr., a member of several pioneer Sanford families, recently received a series of distinctions from hereditary, historical and community organizations. Stemper, the son of former Sanford city commissioner and mayor, William H. Stemper, Sr., a Sanford realtor, and past president of the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards, serves as a member of the Committee on Religious Affairs of the Board of Trustees of Stetson University, secretary and director of the West Volusia County Film Authority, and on the West Volusia County Marketing Commission, of which President H. Douglas Lee of Stetson University is chair.

starring Tom Hanks which was shot on the campus of Stetson University. Apollo details the history of NASA, with much Florida footage. Stemper, a life member of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity at Stetson University, was also recently created as past chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, an international fraternity established in the Central Florida area in 1885. Welcome Lodge No. 9, of which he has been a long time member, is the oldest Pythian Lodge now existing in the state, and has been associated with the Orange County area, which at the time of its chartering included Seminole County.

He is active in the affairs of the Episcopal Church, recorder (state secretary) of the Military Order of the Royal Legion of the United States, established the night Abraham Lincoln was killed to preserve the Union by T. Elwood Zell - the founder of Zellwood, Fla. - by army officers in the City of Philadelphia, and Lord Warden of the Baronial Order of Magna Charta - descendants of the Barons of England who wrested the first charter of British liberty from King John, at Runnymede, in 1215.

Empty nest is filled with guilt after daughter goes to school

DEAR ABBY: My 18-year-old daughter recently left to go across the country to college. Aside from the usual pang of separation, I am overwhelmed with guilt at mistakes I made in raising her. It has struck me very hard that I can't "make it up to her" now. Overall, I was a good mom. She was well taken care of physically and given many opportunities. But many times the emotional turmoil in my own life caused me to put her second, and she was hurt and angry. I was made painfully aware of just how bad it seemed to her when I found notes to herself she left in a dresser when she left for school. It breaks my heart to know she was so hurt by my actions. I'm distraught and have trouble moving beyond this burden of guilt. I have considered suicide because of the hopelessness (you can't change the past), but I realize that would only cause more pain. What can I do?

deal you can do about the future. Pick up the telephone and tell your doctor exactly how you are feeling. With medical help and counseling, you can quickly move beyond the feelings of hopelessness and pain. Then, write or call your daughter and tell her that you found the notes she wrote - and how sorry you are that you hurt her. Keep in mind that it is possible she has moved beyond the pain she felt when she wrote them. After all, she left them behind; she did not take them with her. The most effective way to move beyond our mistakes - and heaven knows we all make them - is to apologize for any pain we might have caused and to resolve to do better in the future, and then act upon it. Dwelling on past mistakes achieves nothing. And suicide is a permanent solution to a temporary problem. I don't recommend it.

FEELING GUILTY, PORTLAND, ORE.

DEAR ABBY: To "Desperate Neighbors in L.A.," you recommended a series of expensive modifications to their homes to decrease the noise level from another neighbor's loud music. While I agree they should check with police on noise ordinances, I suggest the writers do their rude and thoughtless neighbors one better. Why not get together with friends and rent outdoor speakers? On an agreed-upon night when no one is going to sleep much anyway, wait until the offending neighbors are asleep. Then crank up a recording of a rousing classical march or suite - something by Sousa or Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture." Everyone could stand outside and blow whistles and honk horns, too. A couple of nights of this should get the message across. I love your column. GEORGE L. CHAPPELL, OLYMPIA, WASH.

DEAR GEORGE: I can't in good conscience recommend $6 for lat. If you resort to fighting fire with fire, you risk burning your own house down.

Huston seeks, finds adventure

Special to the Herald

ONBOARD USS YORKTOWN--When Christopher Huston left home in 1984, he went in search of education, experience and adventure. In short, he joined the Navy. Today Huston, son of Mary Huston of Sanford, is stationed onboard the USS Yorktown, a state-of-the-art guided-missile cruiser, homeported in Pascagoula, Fla. Yorktown is the test platform for the Navy's "Smart Ship" program. Huston admits there were many different elements that influenced his initial decision to enlist. "I joined the military because I thought it would be interesting and it was an area I wanted to know more about," said the 25-year-old. "And I wanted to see more of the world."

Christopher Huston

Yorktown has a critical role in the Navy's mission. Cruisers and destroyers have traditionally been the workhorses of the modern Navy, defending battle groups against threats from land, sea and air. The cruiser, however, is the larger of the two, with an increased war-fighting capability that allows the cruiser to operate independently of the battle group when needed. The goal of the smart ship program is to find ways to reduce manning requirements for the fleet while still maintaining readiness. Fitted with the latest in commercial electronic equipment and software, Yorktown is the forerunner of the high-tech surface combatants of the 21st century. At the heart of Yorktown's war-fighting capability is the computer-based Aegis weapons system, which centers around a powerful radar that allows the crew to detect, track and fire on more than 100 targets at a time.

But with all he's learned in the service Huston says he feels his experiences will best serve him as a springboard for success in the civilian world. "I plan to leave the Navy when my enlistment expires and finish my degree in journalism," he said. "Whenever he does decide to leave the Navy, he'll always be able to look back on his time in the sea service and know his service was valuable and appreciated."

Sunday, Nov. 16, 1987

In the year ahead, your chart shows greater recognition and remuneration in your chosen field of endeavor. You are not likely to be overlooked where perks and promotions are concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A current project might be subjected to unexpected changes at this time. These developments might look bad at first, but they will work out advantageously in the end. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that will govern you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o the newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Before making a major decision today, talk it over in detail with your mate, even if it pertains to an issue with which he or she is unfamiliar.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You could be extremely restless today if you're not involved in worthy endeavors. Do not amass guilt due to mismanagement of your time and efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Today will be more pleasurable for you if everything isn't too structured. Play it by ear so that you will be free in case of spontaneous developments.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) That endeavor of yours still has the potential you had envisioned initially. You have just been driving the wrong way down a one-way street.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Making connections with individuals you've tried to reach earlier in the week could be easier today. Get out your rotary file and start dialing again.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today, you're likely to be luckier than usual in situations where there is something of material value at stake. Share the wealth when you reap it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Significant objectives are achievable today, provided you are a good self-starter. Do not wait

By Phillip Alder
 Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes claimed, "The advice of their elders to young men is very apt to be as unreal as a list of the hundred best books."
 Well, harking back to the 10 best-ever bridge players listed by Eddie Kantar in his "Bridge for 'ummies" book, there are three Italians and seven Americans. However, there have been several superb players from other countries. Of the present era, Gabriel Chagas, Zia Mahmood (especially at rubber bridge) and Terence Reese spring to my mind. Also there is Tim Seres, who was born in Austria to Hungarian parents, but has lived in Sydney, Australia, for almost 60 years. He is one of the most amicable people you could ever have the pleasure to meet. Another of the 1925s (arguably the best year for bridge experts), here is Seres playing carefully in seven spades.

Two clubs was strong, artificial, and forcing. After receiving a positive response, North, who knew South wouldn't make that response without a top spade honor, didn't let "I dare not" wait upon "I would."

Seres wasn't willing to rely on a good club break. (Several pairs in the tournament had embarrassingly gone down in six and seven clubs.) Declarer won trick one with dummy's spade jack, then ruffed a club in hand. Back to dummy with a trump. Seres was happy to see the '0 drop from East. Declarer ruffed another low club, trumped a diamond with the spade ace, played a heart to his king, and drew West's last trump, on which dummy's low heart was discarded. Declarer led a heart and pointed to the dummy, which contained only winners.
