Phone Set Tax Loss Costly For Cities

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Three Seminole County cities — Sanford, Winter Springs and Oviedo — stand to lose upwards of $70,000 in utility tax revenues this year because locally-taxed telephone sets now belong to American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Southern Bell, which used to pass on to the cities a customer tax on equipment, no longer controls that equipment since the AT & T divestiture. AT & T, regulated by the federal government, cannot be forced to collect the tax, provided for by state law.

The losses began showing up in cities served by Southern Bell in January. Receipts were down from utility taxes collected from customers by the telephone company and remitted to the cities.

Lake Mary, also served by Southern Bell, does not levy a utility tax.

Another possible loss for the cities — annual franchise fees from Southern Bell based on total phone charges. The cities won't know until late in the year how much their receipts from franchise fees will be affected.

Larry Strickler, manager of Southern Bell for Seminole County, said today the tax receipts are based on what the customers are being charged for local service by Southern Bell.

Since telephone instruments are now the property of AT&T, utility taxes and franchise fees are no longer collected by Southern Bell on the leasing of the instruments nor will franchise fees be paid on those instruments by the company.

Prior to Jan. 1, Strickler cited as an example, a customer might be charged $12 per month for service and $4 monthly for the rental of two telephone instruments. In Sanford the tax on the two phone sets would be 40 cents per month. But the telephone instruments are now owned by AT&T and thus not part of the local service billing, he said.

At the same time, the cities of Longwood, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs, served by the United Telephone Co. of Florida, will see little or no change in their receipts from utility taxes, said Rusty Hayes, United Telephone Co. manager.

Unlike Southern Bell, he said, United Telephone is retaining its telephones and selling them to those subscribers who wish to buy and/or leasing them. Purchases are being made over a period of time and thus cities like Altamonte Springs, Longwood and Casselberry should not see a noticeable loss in revenues, Hayes said.

Hayes said it appears that AT&T cannot be taxed by the cities for the telephone instruments it owns because the national firm is regulated by the Federal Communications Commission. Local and state service, however, is regulated by the Florida Public Service Commission.

Sanford Finance Director Henry Tamm estimates Sanford will lose $50,000 this year, as indicated in the monthly difference in utility tax receipts from December through January.

City officials have not decided how that revenue will be made up.

The city already charges a 10 percent tax on utilities, the highest rate they can charge under state law.

Meanwhile in Winter Springs, City Clerk Mary Norton said the city in December received $2,400 in utility taxes from Southern Bell and $1,400 in January, a $1,000 drop, which could mean a loss of as much as $12,000 over a year.

The utility tax levied in Winter Springs is 4 percent per month.

Oviedo, which levies a tax of 10 percent with a cap of $15 per utility monthly, also saw revenues drop by $1,000 — from $2,500 to $1,500 between December and January, said City Clerk Nancy Cox.

Both clerks said the reduction in revenues will be brought to city officials' attention.

Preliminary estimates from the Florida League of Cities are that a total of as much as $14 million will be lost by cities in the state served by Southern Bell.

Teacher Of The Year: 7 Vie For County Title

By Wednesday, the name of Seminole County's new Teacher of the Year will be announced.

Seven semi-finalists have been chosen by a six-member screening committee from nominating packets from all 42 county schools and the school system's environmental center.

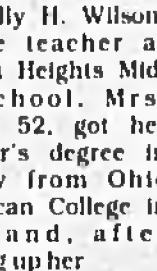

Named semi-finalists from information contained in the nominating packets are:

• Leslie A. Blau, social studies teacher at Casselberry Elementary. Mrs. Blau, 33, teaches the fifth grade. She received her bachelor's degree in education from Northeastern Illinois University in 1971, a master's in history from Northeastern and a master's in education administration from Northwestern.

Her husband, Gordon, is an attorney. A teacher for 13 years, she has taught in Florida for the past six years.

• Polly H. Wilson, science teacher at Jackson Heights Middle School. Mrs. Wilson, 52, got her bachelor's degree in biology from Ohio Dominican College in 1953 and, after bringing up her children, decided to go back to school and become a teacher.

She received her master's in biology from Stetson University in DeLand and has been a teacher for 12 years in the Seminole County system, nine years at Jackson Heights teaching eighth graders physical science.

She said she was inspired to go on with her education by a Seminole Community College earth science teacher who taught an interesting class.

In endorsing her nomination for teacher of the year, the administration at Jackson Heights noted that Mrs. Wilson used her personally owned computer in the classroom to help develop computer literacy and increase science proficiency among her students. Her husband, Robert is an electronics technician at Martin-Marietta.

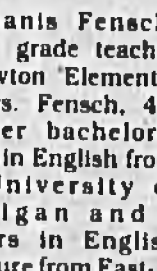

• Constance Masure, physical education teacher at Lake Mary High School. Mrs. Masure, 34, who has a bachelor's degree in physical education, has been teaching for the past 13 years, three of those years at Lake Mary High. She also teaches aerobics at night at Seminole Community College.

Even with students having fewer hours to devote to electives since adoption of new state law setting more required courses for graduation, Mrs. Masure has been able to entice one-tenth of the student body to sign up for her dance classes. Her resume includes many endorsements from parents, students and colleagues. Her husband, David, teaches at Seminole High School.

• Janis Fensch, second grade teacher at Lawton Elementary. Mrs. Fensch, 44, has her bachelor's degree in English from the University of Michigan and a masters in English Literature from Eastern Michigan University. A former Oviedo city councilman, she has been a teacher for 21 years. 11 of those years in Florida.

She and her husband, Gerald, an environmental consultant, have two children. Included with her resume were 32 letters of endorsement from students, teachers and parents as well as city officials. Explaining her philosophy of teaching, Mrs. Fensch said, "Teachers need something akin to the missionary spirit. They need to be willing to sacrifice, give of themselves and their time, take risks all for the rewards and satisfaction of the spirit, for the rewards of teachers are not of this world."

• Deloris Myles, business education teacher at Oviedo High School. Mrs. Myles, 40, received her bachelor's degree in secretarial science and education from Morris Brown College and took courses at Teachers College at Columbia University to get her teaching certificate. She has also served for three years on the state's education standards commission which developed rules for beginning teachers, reviewed teacher education center requirements and revised the "Code of Ethics of the Education Profession."

She and her husband, George, have three children and he works in the school system's maintenance department.

• Jack Calvert, media specialist at Spring Lake Elementary. Calvert, 51, who has his bachelor's in English and library science, and a master's in English and political science from Kentucky Wesleyan and a masters in library science from the University of Mississippi, has been teaching for 27 years, 24 of those years in Florida.

• Patricia Burkett of the environmental center. Mrs. Burkett, 45, teaches fifth graders and others environmental education. She has a bachelor's degree in elementary education from the University of Florida and a masters in elementary education from Rollins College. She has taught for 16 years in Seminole County.

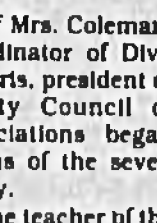

Mrs. Burkett, in support documents with her nomination for teacher of the year of Seminole County, said students at the environmental center off State Road 419 are exposed to the wonders of nature and to an investigative approach to their environment.

Five of the seven finalists have one or more master's degrees.

Karen Coleman, the school system's public information officer, said after visits are made to each of the teachers' classrooms the nominees' list will be narrowed to three and School Superintendent Robert Hughes and Assistant Superintendent for Instruction Dan Dagg will choose the winner and announce the decision Wednesday.

A team comprised of Mrs. Coleman, Dede Schaffner, coordinator of Dividends and Jeanne Morris, president of the Seminole County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations began visiting the classrooms of the seven semi-finalists Thursday.

Mrs. Coleman said the teacher of the year will be chosen from three finalists

EDB

12 Wells Contaminated In Rolling Hills Area Highest Concentration In County

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Lab tests have confirmed 12 residential wells near the Rolling Hills Golf and Country Club are contaminated with EDB. With one well containing the highest level of pesticide contamination found in Seminole County.

Since December, the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services has tested private wells along Blackwood Drive, a secluded south Seminole County road lined with prestigious homes that overlook the 10th green and fairway of the Rolling Hills Golf and Country Club.

Test results, released Friday, show 12 wells, out of 200 tested, contain unsafe levels of the chemical. One well had an EDB concentration of 18.6 parts per billion, the highest recorded in Seminole County, said Dr. Jorge Deju, county health director.

Russell Miller, director of the environmental health section of the Seminole County Health Department, said the 12 contaminated wells are adjacent to the Rolling Hills Golf Course and that all twelve owners of the shallow, 75-foot deep private wells have been advised not to use the water for drinking or cooking.

He said the presence of EDB in 12 wells has prompted the county to plan testing of 8 to 12 more wells located near the contaminated ones.

Once the remaining wells are tested, and the one well with the highest level to date resampled, the county will be finished testing private wells for EDB contamination.

The state has set 0.1 part per billion as the maximum acceptable contamination level of EDB in drinking water.

The suspected carcinogen ethylene dibromide, or EDB, was injected into greens and fairways at the golf course to control nematodes.

The highly contaminated well, at the home of retired Air Force Col. John LaRoche, is just 30 feet from the 10th fairway.

If a retest confirms the concentration level is correct, LaRoche said he would have no choice but to hook up to the city of Altamonte Springs' central water system, which would cost him $850. He now gets drinking and cooking water from a neighbor whose water supply has not been contaminated.

Donald Newnham, director of public works for Altamonte Springs, said today that some of homes in the golf course area with contaminated wells are close to an unused waterline loop owned by the city.

He said only one homeowner in the area had contacted him and since the city had not received any official information regarding the contamination he did not know what official position the city would take regarding supplying water to the affected homes.

However, Newnham said, "If there's some way we can help, we will." He added it would be up to the homeowners to contact the city regarding waterline connections. He said the city finished testing its 400-foot deep wells a week ago and found no EDB contamination.

The county's Environmental Health Section provides a one-time supply of 10 gallons of water to each homeowner whose well is contaminated. When that is used, homeowners must find another source of water on their own.

Deju said additional water sampling and lab tests of private wells in the Rolling Hills area would be completed in a week. The county also will retest contaminated wells and take additional samplings at private wells behind homes with contaminated wells.

The county also will continue to sample water from the city of Sanford's contaminated wells at the Mayfair Golf and Country Club, where EDB also was injected into the fairways.

All seven of the city's Mayfair wells were shut down after lab tests found unsafe levels of EDB. One of the wells is back in service after being reclaimed.

As the Sanford wells are put back in service, lab tests will be conducted to determine if drilling the wells deeper and sealing the well casings has succeeded in eliminating the contamination.

Spring Swing

Toya floats through the air with the gentlest of breeze as power is supplied by brother Eric with ease. The sibling team, Toya Mike, 4, and Eric Mike, 13, were enjoying the mild weather this weekend with a two-in-the-swing ride until the tyke slipped from her brother's lap. The little one regained her seat and brother and sister continued to swing the morning into memories.

Band Boosters To Name Scholarship For Drowned Teen

A Sanford youth who drowned after a weekend car accident will have a scholarship named after him.

James A. Morrison, 18, of 8230 Via Bella, who died Friday night when the car he was thrown from landed on top of him in a ditch full of water in Altamonte Springs will have a scholarship in his name sponsored by the Lake Mary Band Boosters, according to John D. Morrison, the youth's father.

Morrison, who was a junior at Lake Mary High School, played saxophone in the high school band and was on the school's wrestling team, grappling for both JV and varsity teams.

According to police reports, at 11:30 p.m. Friday Morrison lost control of his 1974 Mustang, left Cranes Roost Boulevard behind the Altamonte Mall in Altamonte Springs where the car flipped over, landing in a ditch on the south side of the road.

Morrison, who was heading home after work at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor, was thrown from the car which then landed on him in the water-filled gully.

According to an autopsy performed Saturday, the cause of death was drowning.

He was the sixth traffic-related fatality in Seminole County this year. Morrison's father said his son was a very competitive in all activities and especially like wrestling.

According to Frank Schwartz, Lake Mary Wrestling Coach, Morrison's competitive spirit was paying off.

"It's really a shame. James was going to move right into our (varsity) lineup next year" and be one of our top players," Schwartz said.

Peace Pact Voided As Gemayel Bows To Demands

By Paula Buttarini

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — President Amin Gemayel, bowing to Syrian and rebel Moslem demands, today agreed to cancel the Lebanese-Israeli peace accord, reconvene national reconciliation talks and form a new government, a presidential palace spokesman said.

The Cabinet now considered the May 17 agreement "void as if it never existed and agreed to the cancellation of everything depending on it," Cabinet spokesman Chelik Mneime said on Beirut Radio.

The long-expected announcement came as Israeli warplanes pounded suspected terrorist positions in the mountains outside Beirut and heavy shelling in the capital killed at least two people, including a French peace-keeping soldier. In another attack, gunmen wounded a U.S. Marine colonel near the American Embassy.

The violence erupted despite an informal cease-fire among Lebanon's warring factions. The truce was called amid speculation that Gemayel was on the verge of responding to Syrian pressure to scrap the pact with Israel.

Mneime, secretary general of the caretaker Cabinet that resigned in protest Feb. 5, formally announced abrogation of the accord in a statement on Beirut Radio.

A presidential palace spokesman confirmed Gemayel and the Cabinet also agreed to reconvene national reconciliation talks in Switzerland and form a new government of national unity.

The presidential spokesman said the Cabinet decision came after an "extraordinary" meeting at the presidential palace in suburban Baabda. Gemayel was expected to make a public announcement later of the decision to scrap the accord, form a new government and hold reconciliation talks with Lebanon's warring factions.

Abrogation of the accord, which was never ratified by the Lebanese government, had been demanded by Syria and its rebel Moslem allies fighting for a bigger Moslem voice in Gemayel's minority U.S.-backed Christian government.

The decision came after rebel success against the disorganized Lebanese army and the pullout of the U.S., British and Italian troops from the peace-keeping force, leaving only the French.

Beirut radio said the meeting at the presidential palace in suburban Baabda was "historic and crucial for the nation."

NATION IN BRIEF

Meese Questioning Turns To House Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two California businessmen were called to testify today before the Senate Judiciary Committee about help they gave Attorney General-designate Edwin Meese and their subsequent appointment to government posts.

John McKean, who arranged a $60,000 loan for Meese, and Thomas Barrack, who helped find a buyer for Meese's hard-to-sell California house, agreed to appear at the request of Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio.

McKean was appointed by President Reagan to a $10,000-a-year post on the U.S. Postal Service board of governors. Barrack was named a deputy undersecretary of the interior and later was suggested for a high Commerce Department post, but withdrew his name and returned to California.

Prayer Debate Set Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate begins debate today on a constitutional amendment proposed by President Reagan to allow "voluntary, vocal" prayer in public schools. The amendment must pass both the House and Senate by two-thirds votes and be ratified by 38 states to become part of the Constitution.

Proponents of the measure are waging an intense campaign, accompanied by cries of foul play from some congressional staff members who have been warned their bosses will "burn in hell" if they resist the amendment.

In an appearance on Cable News Network's "Newsmaker — Sunday," amendment proponent Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., said the Senate battle is crucial to the measure's fate.

Flat Tax Called For

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats on the Joint Economic Committee today proposed a program to cut the budget deficit $200 billion in three years by enacting a form of a flat tax rate and limiting defense spending increases to 4 percent a year.

The $200 billion proposal is twice as much as President Reagan's request for a $100 billion "down payment" on the debt over a three-year period.

Reagan's fiscal 1985 budget shows a $180 billion deficit. The Congressional Budget Office predicts the annual deficit will grow to more than $330 billion in 1989.

Both Reagan and Republicans on the committee are resisting attempts to raise taxes, arguing that such a move could stall the economic recovery.

Sanford Man 'Satisfactory' After Shooting

A Sanford man is in satisfactory condition today after being shot in the chest during an argument.

Elijah Taylor, 51, of 1821 Airport Blvd., was wounded in the chest Friday at 8:21 p.m. after an argument with a man on his front porch.

He is being treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

Taylor told deputies he was sitting on his porch and drinking with a man when they began to argue. Taylor, a disabled veteran, told the deputies he could not remember what started the argument.

During the fray, the man Taylor was arguing with took a .22-caliber revolver from his back pocket. Taylor said he told the man not to play around with the gun. The man then shot Taylor once in the chest. The assailant fled behind buildings next to Taylor's home.

A paramedic tending to Taylor's wound found the bullet inside his shirt where it came to rest after travelling through the right side of his body.

Police are looking for a 27-year-old Sanford man in connection with the shooting.

ASSAULT WITH TRUCK

An Apopka man reported being assaulted by a man driving a pickup truck near Linnal Beach on Bear Lake Road near Forest City.

Michael Wayne, 19, of 5338 Don Mar St. told a sheriff's deputy that he and Miss Karen M. Miller, 16, of 630 Trailwood Drive, Altamonte Springs, were having car troubles and blocking the usual flow of traffic when a brown and tan pickup truck approached at a high rate of speed and stopped directly behind Wayne's vehicle. The passenger of the truck got out then the driver threw a bottle hitting Wayne's vehicle on the roof, according to the deputy's report.

Wayne said he got out of his vehicle and started to walk towards the driver of the truck when the truck accelerated towards him. He said the truck hit him in the chest and as it went by he grabbed the truck's mirror and hung on. The truck then crossed Bear Lake Road, out of control with the driver fighting with Wayne. The truck stopped in woods near the road. The truck's passenger, still on foot, got in the truck behind the wheel, the driver got in, and they drove off.

BURGLARIES

Two Sanford women reported that their purses were stolen from a car parked at Club 436, Lake Howell Road, Altamonte Springs, late Thursday.

Khomeini Rejects Peace Talks

By United Press International

Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini on Sunday rejected peace talks with Iraq to settle their bitter 42-month Persian Gulf war, saying "talking with someone who stabs you in the back is not wise."

On the war front, Iran claimed Sunday it shot down another Iraqi jet fighter near the critical Iraqi oil fields of Majnoon Islands in the southern Hur Al-Hoveizeh marsh, north of the key Iraqi port town of Basra. Iran captured the islands last week.

Iraq reported it killed at least 75 Iranian soldiers in a 24-hour period and destroyed Iranian artillery, two ammunition dumps and two infantry emplacements.

Iraq also accused Iran of shelling Basra and the border towns of Mandali and Khanaqin on Sunday, wounding six people and damaging five private cars and two houses.

In a statement broadcast on Tehran Radio and monitored in Ankara, Khomeini ruled out peace talks with Baghdad to end the war, which broke out Sept. 22, 1980 and is sapping the resources of both countries.

"If we want to make peace and we sit at the same table as (Iraqi President Saddam) Hussein ... what will Islam and the world say to us?" Khomeini said.

"It would be inconsistent with human honor and dignity. Talking with someone who stabs you in the back is not wise," he said.

In a related development, doctors in Vienna and Stockholm on Sunday treated 15 Iranian soldiers who suffered burn wounds that specialists said may have been caused by chemical bombs.

Iraq has accused Iraq of using chemical weapons in desperation, causing 1,000 Iranian casualties. Iraq has not said where the other wounded soldiers are being treated.

"It's still not possible to say exactly what it is and we are going to consult with our colleagues abroad but it is difficult to explain it any other way (than chemical burns)," a doctor at Vienna's University Clinic plastic surgery ward said Sunday.

The British Foreign Office in London denied a Tehran radio claim that Britain supplied chemical weapons to Iraq.

In a communique issued in Baghdad, Iraq said its jets and helicopter gunships Sunday hit Iranian positions east of Basra and in the east Tigris region, inflicting heavy losses in men and equipment. It did not say how many men were killed in the fighting.

The communique said Iraqi forces killed another 75 Iranian troops in the northern and central sectors.

Government To Stage Nuclear Leak

FORT PIERCE (UPI) —

The Florida Power & Light Co. plant on Hutchinson Island on Tuesday will become the scene of the first full-scale exercise to prepare for a radiation leak disaster, officials say.

The exercise is one of the nation's largest and costliest drills for a nuclear emergency. Although there have been many emergency drills at nuclear power plants in the past, this is the first full-scale test involving 11 federal government agencies, FP&L officials said.

Federal Emergency Management Agency officials said the two-unit power plant at Hutchinson Island was chosen for the drill because it is near both urban and rural surroundings.

"We didn't want to pick a nuclear power plant that sits in the middle of nowhere with no one around," said Dave Dennis of FEMA. "We wanted to have to deal with the people and what would happen with the crowded roads and bridges."

The Hutchinson Island drill is part of a preparedness program ordered by Congress after the Three Mile Island nuclear disaster near Harrisburg, Pa. in 1979. About 250,000 people had to evacuate because of that radiation leak.

The scenario for the three-day test: a leak from the plant has contaminated people, food and animals. Tens of thousands of residents must be evacuated.

State and local officials and disaster preparedness workers will work with the federal agencies to conduct the drill, officials said.

The FEMA, which is coordinating the test, estimates it will be the most costly such drill ever at about $500,000.

Details of the drill are purposely sketchy, said Phil Rodi, disaster preparedness coordinator for St. Lucie County and the man who will make many of the decisions during the dry run. Rodi said even he has not been told ahead of time what to expect.

About 80,000 people live within a 10-mile radius of the plant, the area considered most endangered by possible radiation leaks. The land within a 50-mile radius of the plant is considered possibly vulnerable to radiation.

Criminals Evade Prosecution Via Mental Hospitals

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Sociopathic criminals who plead insanity in cases involving violent crime often are released after spending only weeks in custody of Florida's mental hospitals, a Jacksonville newspaper reported Sunday.

"The public ought to be up in arms," social worker Debbie Hackney told the Florida Times-Union-Jacksonville Journal. "They ought to know that some dangerous people are being immediately released" from mental hospitals.

In an example cited by the newspaper, Ronald Eugene Watts, 26, was sent to Northeast Florida State Hospital in Macclenny in June 1982 after being found not guilty by reason of insanity of smashing a bottle on the head of a convenience store delivery man. Watts — who has been arrested 18 times since 1978 on charges including aggravated battery, assault and robbery — was discharged after 20 days in the hospital.

Less than six months later, Watts, 26, was charged in the shooting and stabbing of three men who were leaving a Gainesville church. Watts eventually was found competent to stand trial, pleaded guilty to one count of attempted first-degree murder and was sentenced to serve 99 years in prison.

Officials said the blame for the easy release of people who are placed in mental hospitals after committing violent crimes lies with state law, which specifies that people with "conditions manifested only by anti-social behavior" are not mentally ill.

Anti-social people who may have committed violent crimes thus may have an easy way out of prosecution and punishment under the 1971 Baker Act, officials said.

The Baker Act stipulates that patients who sign themselves into state mental hospitals may ask to leave at any time. Unless the hospital can show the patient is mentally ill, dangerous when examined or has committed a dangerous act in the previous 20 days, the patient must be released.

Alban Brooke, an official with the State Attorney's Office in Jacksonville, said some repeat criminals have learned to take advantage of the Baker Act.

Half Million Demonstrate Against School Reforms

VERSAILLES, France (UPI) — More than half a million people protesting government plans to restrict funding for private schools gathered Sunday outside the Chateau Versailles in one of the biggest demonstrations in French history.

The protesters, including parents with children and clerics, sang songs and chanted slogans for more than three hours in the largest of a series of protests against school reforms proposed by the Socialist government.

The private, mainly Roman Catholic schools had drawn more than 100,000 protesters at each of four previous marches to oppose a government bill that would tighten control over the disbursement of state aid to private schools.

Amid the sound of religious hymns, Paris Archbishop Jean-Marie Lustiger called for a negotiated settlement to the dispute and warned against starting a "schools war" between supporters of private and public education.

No Visa For d'Aubuisson

By United Press International

Administration sources said Sunday officials will again deny a visa for a visit to Washington by Roberto d'Aubuisson, a leading rightist presidential candidate in El Salvador.

D'Aubuisson wants to visit congressmen, speak to Republican groups at Georgetown University and hold a news conference Tuesday in an effort to enhance his stature as a candidate.

D'Aubuisson's visa has been invalid since 1980 and he was denied permission to visit Washington last November during a high visibility campaign by the Reagan administration to force the provisional government in San Salvador to crack down on right-wing death squads linked to d'Aubuisson.

Kohl Pushing For Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convinced the West "mustn't lose any time" in seizing on the change in Moscow, West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl is urging President Reagan to relax his conditions for a summit with Soviet leader Konstantin Chernenko.

With the superpowers probing one another for signs of flexibility, Kohl today planned to take his appeal to the White House, where an election-year summit meeting is viewed both as a political boon and a diplomatic gamble.

While the White House talks were expected to focus at length on prospects for a thaw in East-West relations, Kohl also planned to touch on the contentious matters of huge U.S. budget deficits and protectionist trade policies that are hindering U.S. relations with Western Europe.

Convict Gets Life Plus 1,100 Years

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A man described by a judge as "a threat to society" wherever he goes has been sentenced to life in prison plus 1,100 years for the murder of a restaurateur and 11 armed robbers.

"He'll never get out," said a state prosecutor of Theotis Fitts, 39.

Fitts was sentenced for the shooting death of a burger house owner and 11 robbers in which he threatened victims with a firearm, knife or screwdriver.

During the attempted robbery of the burger house, Fitts was shot in the abdomen, but has not permitted doctors to remove the bullet, authorities said.

Fitts, who was paroled in September on an aggravated battery charge, pleaded guilty to first-degree murder and armed robbery charges before Alachua County Circuit Judge Wayne Carlisle. Authorities said Fitts' plea was negotiated so prosecutors would not seek the death penalty.

Banker To Pay $1 Million

ORLANDO (UPI) — Allen MacArthur, former president of Florida National Bank of Orlando has been ordered to pay Bank South Leasing Inc. of Atlanta $1 million for recommending Bank South invest in a bogus ice machine company that was going bankrupt.

MacArthur, 44, was convicted by a federal grand jury for his role in the loan scheme. The jury ruled that he deceived Bank South about the financial condition of Polar Chips, an Orlando-based company that was going bankrupt the night he recommended that Bank South invest in it.

Federal officials said Polar Chips sold ice machines which never existed and bilked an estimated $14 million from more than 150 nationwide investors before declaring bankruptcy in 1981.

Correction

An Orlando man reported in Sunday's Herald as being arrested for DUI and cocaine possession was arrested on alcohol-related charges only.

Joseph Rose, 36, of Orlando, was arrested Friday night by Oviedo police for DUI and having an unlawful blood alcohol level after his car was seen leaving state Road 520 twice. He was not arrested for cocaine possession.

The man who was arrested for DUI and cocaine possession was Daniel Richardson, 19, also of Orlando.

Richardson was arrested at state roads 400 and 436 after a deputy watched him neglect to drive his car through a traffic signal after the light turned to green. After Richardson was arrested for DUI, a small packet of a white substance believed to be cocaine was found in his car as it was being readied to be towed away, according to deputies.

Health Department Wants Eight More Employees

Seminole County Health and Human Services director Dr. Jorge Deju wants to hire eight new people at a total annual cost of $165,906. County commissioners are scheduled to discuss the request Tuesday, but if things boil down to just dollars and cents they shouldn't object much because the new personnel won't cost them a dime.

Deju says he can fund the additional positions entirely from revenues produced by the health department.

He is slated to make his pitch to the commission at 3 p.m. in room 320 of the county courthouse.

The request for more personnel comes as a result of what county administrator T. Duncan Rose calls the "leaps and bounds growth" of the health department.

In a memo to commission chairman Sandra Glenn, Deju spells it out. "The increases in fee collections, septic tank permits, sanitary nuisance complaints, food hygiene establishments, laboratory services, drug dispensations and administrative support has increased the demand for additional personnel."

Ordinarily, Deju would have had to ask the county and state for more money to fund the extra positions, but a new state law passed last year enabled the health department to collect additional fees in its environmental health section.

The county's septic tank permitting fee, for example, has gone up from $15 to $60 since the law went into effect July 1, Rose said.

Of the approximately $171,000 in fees the health department anticipates collecting this fiscal year, $84,000 is new revenue, Deju's memo said. That money, plus funds left over from last year's budget will more than pay the cost of the eight new employees, the memo said.

Deju is asking for:

- Three administrative personnel — a clerk, cashier, and personnel aide.
- A pharmacist. The health department currently has no pharmacist. "Therefore, all medications...are now dispensed by nurses under the supervision of the physician," Deju's memo said.

• A microbiologist. Would be responsible for checking for bacteria in drinking water, swimming pools and food samples. Such samples are currently sent to the state laboratory. The department's having its own microbiologist "would allow obtaining results in a minimum of time," the memo said.

• Sanitarian. Would be used primarily in the septic tank and sanitary nuisance programs. Position needed because of the county's rapid growth. Deju said.

- Laboratory technician. "There is only one full-time and one part-time lab technician who work in the county's health clinics" performing such duties as drawing blood, testing urine specimens, and conducting pregnancy tests. Deju said.

Frequently, clinics "have had to operate without the aid of a laboratory technician," he said.

- Nurse. Would be responsible for the tuberculosis program. The health unit's five nurses "attempt when possible to cover the duties of the TB program while still maintaining their own program responsibilities," Deju's memo said.

Hart Steals Maine's Heart In Caucuses

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — Sen. Gary Hart scored a decisive victory over Walter Mondale in the Maine town caucuses, inflicting more political damage on the one-time Democratic front-runner.

Building on the momentum of his New Hampshire primary upset less than a week earlier, Hart Sunday picked up nearly all the votes of Democrats who have dropped out of the race. On the other side, organized labor failed to provide its vote for Mondale despite a personal appeal from national union leaders who made an 11th hour trip to Maine to try to get out the working vote.

With 414 of 414 towns reporting, Hart had 8,540 votes or 50.7 percent of the vote while Mondale had 7,364 votes or 43.7 percent.

The other Democrats were not in the race. Former Sen. George McGovern got 178 votes, civil rights leader Jesse Jackson got 105, Sen. John Glenn got 52 and there were 603 uncommitted votes. There were no votes for anyone else.

Hart is favored in next Tuesday's non-binding Vermont primary.

Orlandoan Faces Four Life Sentences

A 31-year-old Orlando man who tried to kill himself while being held in the Seminole County jail remains in custody today with seven felony charges filed against him, four of which carry life sentences.

Keith Lambert, 31, of 7114 Forest Lake Road, is being held without bond on one count each of attempted murder, rape, arson, robbery, two counts of attempted burglary of a dwelling and armed burglary with an assault or battery therein, according to Seminole-Brevard assistant state attorney Steven Brady.

The charges involve the break-ins at the homes of three South Seminole County women, one of whom — a 67-year-old woman — was raped, stabbed and left by her assailant on the floor of her apartment which he had set afire before fleeing.

On Feb. 23 at 11 p.m., Lambert — then being held for rape and arson — was found unconscious on the floor of his cell after puncturing an artery in his right arm with a pair of tweezers.

Lambert was treated at the Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs for blood loss and returned to jail.

According to court records, Lambert has a history of hurting himself and threatening suicide. No trial date has been set.

Court: Nativity Scenes Ok

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, deciding a major religious freedom case, ruled today that communities can display nativity scenes to celebrate the Christmas holidays. The 5-4 ruling declares that the Constitution does not "require complete separation of church and state" but calls for "accommodation, not merely tolerance of all religions, and forbids hostility toward any."

The ruling marks the first time the nation's highest court has ruled directly on the sensitive question of public displays of nativity scenes, even though the court has been confronted with the question virtually every yuletide.

Getting Away With Murder

Americans should be genuinely concerned because thousands of people in this country literally are getting away with murder.

In 1960, fewer than one U.S. homicide in 10 went unsolved, according to FBI statistics. But by 1982 more than one murder in four was unsolved. The situation actually may be worse than this because a murder is considered "solved" with the arrest of a suspect who is charged with the crime — suspects who often aren't convicted.

So the actual number of murders where the perpetrator escapes justice could be closer to 40 percent. It is estimated that 5,000 killers in the United States got away with murder last year.

There are other alarming trends in murders being committed in the nation. Justice Department officials say they are convinced that the number of "serial killers" — those who are now on the rampage around the country — has undergone a sharp increase. They believe there may be as many as 35 or more serial killers like Theodore R. Bundy and Henry Lee Lucas going from state to state committing murders because they know the law doesn't cope very well with multi-jurisdictional killings.

The number of murders committed during a rape, robbery or other felony also has skyrocketed in the last two decades. Even more disturbing is the sharp increase in murders in "stranger cases," where the killer and victim either don't know each other, or their relationship remains a mystery.

Perhaps the most puzzling and frightening finding is the sharp increase in killings where police find a body but no motive. In 1966, there were 644 U.S. murders where no known motive was found. By 1982, that figure had risen to 4,118 or 20 percent.

Professor Marc Riedel says "the greater degree of randomness entering violent crimes" implies a "social order that is coming unglued," at least in inner cities.

Professor Franklin E. Zimring, director of the Center for Studies of Criminal Justice at the University of California at Berkeley, says "there's an implicit message of urban disintegration and terror which should be quite disquieting."

Taken altogether, these findings indicate a climate in which murderers are finding it increasingly easy to get away with their beastly crimes because society still recoils at administering the death penalty. Even those who commit the most vile, multiple-killings are able to escape capital punishment by appealing their cases for years.

Despite an occasional carrying out of a death sentence, the number of murderers in "death rows" around the country continues to grow as their appeals bounce around the court system.

China Syndrome

China is offering to provide underground storage space in its remote desert regions for radioactive waste from nuclear power plants in Western Europe and Japan. This is an odd twist. Most countries worry about what to do with their nuclear waste. Why is China willing to take it off their hands?

Presumably the Chinese are interested in the foreign exchange they could earn by running a depository for spent nuclear fuel in an out-of-the-way place like the Gobi desert. That may well be the motive, but the International Atomic Energy Agency would do well to keep its eye on these negotiations between Peking and countries of the West.

While the word waste is used to describe fuel elements taken from power reactors, they can be reprocessed to produce plutonium that could be used for nuclear weapons or as a fuel supply for breeder reactors. China has exploded nuclear weapons and has a nuclear power program of its own, so it is not a question of handing over these materials to a custodian who is not already a member of the nuclear club.

But China has not signed the Nuclear Non-proliferation Treaty. So far, it has not agreed to safeguards under the IAEA which provide for on-site inspection of nuclear facilities to assure that materials are not being diverted into weapons production. As a first step, West Germany and other nations dicker for a storage deal should insist that China show its willingness to go along with the full range of international safeguards.

Getting rid of nuclear waste is only part of the problem. Keeping track of it and making it accessible for potential retrieval and use in the distant future also are considerations. Those factors must not be neglected in any arrangement that turns nuclear materials over to a country whose intentions are unpredictable at best.

BERRY'S WORLD

"You're RIGHT! It HAS been a while since any of the gang has made an insensitive remark."

By Donna Estes

Now that the March 13 presidential primary is only a week away, the Florida Democratic Party is concerned that voters will be confused by the ballot which calls for them to make three separate choices concerning the contests.

First, the voter may cast a ballot for any one of the 10 contenders for the Democratic nomination — Reubin Askew, Alan Cranston, John Glenn, Gary Hart, Ernest Hollings, Jesse L. Jackson, Richard B. Kay, Stephen A. Kozak, George McGovern and Walter Mondale.

Askew, Cranston and Hollings' names are still on the ballot even though all three have withdrawn from the contest.

In literature the Democrats on the state level are distributing around the state, the party is emphasizing "a vote for the presidential candidate does not automatically vote for delegate and alternate candidates."

This means it is a popularity contest, called a beauty contest by some, and the winner will receive nothing but the nice warm feeling of knowing he is liked.

Incidentally one can vote even for those who have withdrawn if they choose.

To give real support to a favorite, however, the voter must also take the time to seek out their favorite's delegates and alternate delegates elsewhere on the ballot.

In Seminole County, which is part of the 5th congressional district, voters may vote for three delegates and one alternate.

And they can vote for one presidential candidate in the beauty contest and vote for delegates and alternates for other candidates if they wish.

Those delegates on the ballot listed as pledged to Askew, Cranston and Hollings, if elected, will go to the convention as free agents to support whatever candidate they please.

In past Democratic presidential primaries, the voters only had to select the presidential candidate of their choice on the ballot and simply vote for him. And delegates were chosen in party caucuses pledged to the presidential candidate reflected at the election by the people's choice.

The rules were changed this year.

While Seminole County has 79,535 registered voters, only the 39,529 registered as Democrats and the 33,648 registered as Republicans will be permitted to vote in the respective party primaries.

The presidential preference portion of the Republican ballot will list only one candidate — President Ronald Reagan.

But there are also other party races on the ballot as well, including contests for state committeeman and committeewoman and in some precincts races for committee persons vying for offices on the Seminole County GOP.

The Democratic ballot in some precincts will have candidates listed for positions on the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee.

SCIENCE WORLD Rescue Therapy For Cancer

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Rescue therapy" is helping specialists using high doses of drugs to experimentally treat lymphocytic leukemia, non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, bone cancer, head and neck cancer and breast cancer.

Cancer doctors use a drug called Leucovorin Calcium as an antidote to save normal cells from the poisonous effects of high doses of the anticancer drug Methotrexate. The idea is to kill the cancer cells and spare the normal cells.

The treatment technique has been used on an experimental basis by a few specialists for several years, but now is seeing wider use, although it remains experimental. It was the subject of a recent teleconference beamed by satellite from New York to doctors, hospital pharmacists and cancer nurses in 16 cities.

The cancer specialists were told use of these highly potent drug combinations should occur only in hospital settings under maximum medical supervision.

"High dose Methotrexate with Leucovorin 'rescue' may be a clinically safe method of treatment if patients' blood serum levels are monitored appropriately," said Dr. Joseph R. Bertino, chief of medical oncology at the Yale University School of Medicine, New Haven.

Dr. W. Archie Bleyer, associate professor of pediatrics at the University of Washington School of Medicine, said Methotrexate is now administered to approximately half of all children with cancer.

In comparison to adult patients, he said, children have a greater capacity to excrete the drug and can tolerate much higher doses than adults, particularly when given with Leucovorin rescue.

He said side effects such as bone marrow suppression and inflammation of mucous membranes are less common in children, while effects on the liver are nearly always reversible.

Bertino said moderate to high doses of Methotrexate in combination with one other anticancer drug produced a response rate of about 60 percent in some studies of patients with head and neck cancer.

"Complete or partial remission was achieved in 60 percent of patients in four out of five studies," he said.

"The average duration of remission was four to five months. Some patients in advanced stages of the disease were still surviving at a year."

Bertino said clinical trials with high doses of Methotrexate in combination with other drugs achieved a 65 percent response rate. He said some patients remained disease free for more than 18 months.

Dr. William E. Evans, director of a laboratory at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, and conference moderator, said high dosage schedules of Methotrexate were still being refined for the treatment of a number of children's cancers.

Re-Election Efforts Kept Clean

WASHINGTON — In December 1971, G. Gordon Liddy was named general counsel of the Committee to Re-Elect the President, more appropriately known by the acronym CREEP. Six months later, his operations led to the Watergate burglary.

In a touch of historic irony, one of the CREEP attorneys who was passed over for the job was Fred Fielding, the current presidential counsel who is responsible for keeping the Reagan-Bush re-election campaign spotless.

It's doubtful that Fielding — or any individual short of the president — could have prevented the Watergate scandal, given the climate of the Nixon White House. But Fielding is determined to see that no electioneering improprieties — or even the appearance of impropriety — occur this time.

The list of do's and don't's he has laid down for White House employees and re-election activities is detailed and explicit. "Very basically, we are striving for heightened awareness," Fielding told his associate Tony Capaccio. He said he's hoping to "take the gray areas

WASHINGTON WORLD White House Doublespeak

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It's 1984 and the era of doublespeak at the White House is well under way on several fronts.

The most prominent instances of where the words do not jibe with the facts concern the U.S. easing away from the problems of Lebanon and generally denying all around that it's actually happening.

When the president accused Speaker Thomas O'Neill in an interview of wanting to "surrender" for advocating a withdrawal of the Marines from Beirut, Reagan had already decided to redeploy the forces offshore and out of the risky airport area.

He told a news conference "we're not hugging out" as the Marines were preparing to depart lock, stock and barrel. He also said they would not "cut and run" but the U.S. military presence in Beirut is confined to guarding the American Embassy.

And to hear it from the insiders, the administration has just about given up the prospect of a U.S. instigated political solution to Lebanon's bitter problems.

But words are used to save face. And there is not too much criticism on that score. There are few, if any voices, saying that Reagan should stay the course and see it through. His predecessors, Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon stayed the course in Vietnam and paid a monumental price.

The president's political strategists, who began to see Lebanon as an albatross and wanted him to find a way out as soon as possible, are not unhappy that he has pulled out.

For any other president the retreat may have been viewed as a major defeat. In some ways it may be that, but Reagan does not seem to be subjected to the same judgments that pilloried his predecessor, Jimmy Carter, when he suffered setbacks in the handling of the Iranian hostage situation.

The president also confounded some listeners when he said that the success of the peace-keeping force in Lebanon resulted in the rise of terrorism.

A Washington Post cartoonist depicted Reagan at his desk with one of his re-election campaign aides. They are looking at a photograph of the Marines pulling down the American flag with the inscription: "Beirut after 17 months and 265 lives."

The caption reads "Boy, what I could do with this if somebody else was president."

Doublespeak is also glaring on the question of how the administration proposes to solve the $185 billion deficit. The president, who used to attack the opposition for red ink spending, now rages against the "born again budget balancers."

He initiated a bipartisan group of Democratic and Republican lawmakers to help solve the issue. "Everything is on the table," he and his aides told reporters on numerous occasions.

But the words had a slightly different meaning. He meant everything except raising taxes and cutting defense spending.

Still the administration officials continue to say "everything is on the table." All suggestions that would slash Pentagon spending or defer the third year tax cut are promptly rejected by the White House.

On some occasions, administration officials insist that the deficit problem must be attacked now. On other occasions, Reagan and his staff hold out little prospect of any changes during an election year.

Reagan's chief economic adviser, Martin Feldstein, told reporters that the administration budget sent to Congress was not one "we'd like to see approved."

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan testified before Congress and said the lawmakers could "throw away" the administration's economic report submitted last month.

In a recent interview with the New York Times, Kenneth L. Adelman, director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, said: "I am very happy with the way the year (1983) has gone."

Late last year, the Soviet Union broke off nuclear arms control negotiations on two fronts in Geneva and has yet to give any indication of when they will resume. The talks on intermediate range missiles also are in a state of suspension. And the Kremlin has walked out of the negotiations on long range strategic intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The words are there for all to see and hear. The reality may be something different.

JEFFREY HART Let's Trust The Voters

The United States government has involved itself heavily in the coming election in El Salvador, and by all indications disastrously.

The Reagan administration hopes for the election of former president Jose Napoleon Duarte, a Christian Democrat. The administration fears the election of Roberto D'Aubuisson of the nationalist ARENA party.

Obviously leaked stories have been appearing in the press that the administration fears that a D'Aubuisson election would cause Congress to cut off all aid to El Salvador. And, who knows, that might come to pass. We are also told that D'Aubuisson is "connected" with the so-called death-squads in El Salvador, and was directly involved in the shooting of Bishop Oscar Romero.

A couple of weeks ago, I wrote a column about the death-squads that caused some rather indignation, but those readers do not live in a nation undergoing civil war and with no stable battlefield. The so-called "guerrillas" are death-squads too.

Two members of the elected National Assembly have been assassinated. They were both young members of D'Aubuisson's ARENA party. Since they were not left-wing Catholic nuns, the media have had little interest in the elected Salvadoran representatives.

We constantly hear that D'Aubuisson is "linked" to the death-squads, whatever that may mean. Certainly they contain old army buddies of his. Former U.S. Ambassador Robert White has been on an anti-D'Aubuisson rampage, characterizing him as a "pathological killer."

One of Mr. D'Aubuisson's most convincing defenders, oddly enough, is his current rival, Mr. Duarte. After examining documents purporting to connect D'Aubuisson with the murder of the bishop, Duarte replied that they did not do so.

I would think that most readers of this column, if they lived in El Salvador, would vote for ARENA.

All of the evidence I have seen since the last Salvadoran election indicates that ARENA is a rapidly growing political force, attracting a large populist following that includes peasants, artisans, professional people — generally, a broad cross-section of the population.

The reason is simple: El Salvadorans perceive D'Aubuisson as serious about carrying the war to the Left. They do not thus perceive the Christian Democrats. Not surprisingly, a note of anti-Americanism has begun to characterize the D'Aubuisson campaign.

It does not hurt D'Aubuisson's electoral chances that he is extremely handsome and a good speaker. As Newsweek put it, he looks like a handsome young fellow out of "West Side Story."

D'Aubuisson, Duarte and several other and lesser candidates are competing in a democratic election, and indeed risking their very lives to do so.

out" of election-year behavior.

Within a week of the re-election committee's formal opening last fall, campaign director Edward Rollins issued a memo to the staff warning that "no contacts with the White House on behalf of Reagan-Bush '84 are to be made without my prior approval."

Six weeks later, noting "repeated complaints from the White House and the Republican National Committee," Rollins reiterated his earlier decree with "no ifs, ands or buts."

In addition, Reagan-Bush workers are forbidden to exchange plans or strategies with any so-called "independent expenditure" groups operating on behalf of the candidates.

Under the president's guidance, Fielding issued a 10-page internal memo governing the election-year activities of White House employees. Here are the highlights:

— Even official presidential trips will sometimes be classified as political, requiring the Reagan-Bush committee to pick up the tab. For example, if the president, the vice president or a Cabinet officer makes several official stops in a given city and also makes a political appearance, the entire trip will be billed to the re-election committee. This "clearly exceeds what the law requires," grumped a legal expert at the RNC.

— The equivalent rental cost of the president's limousine will be billed to Reagan-Bush when the car is used to take the president to a political function.

— When the White House answers letters from the public that express general support for President Reagan, "no reference should be made to the 1984 elections or the political prospects of the administration or the Republican Party."

— White House messengers "should not be used to deliver or pick up materials from the campaign committee," nor should White House vehicles be used "to transport staff members or campaign materials to airports or any other location if the trip purpose is primarily campaign-related."

— Campaign receptions, dinners and meetings — but not fund-raisers — may be held at the White House only if the president, Mrs. Reagan or some other family member attends the event.

— White House employees may not work their 40-hour week in three days and then spend two days on campaign activities "without taking annual leave or leave without pay."

— White House photographers "will not photograph receiving lines or greetings at campaign events."

Democrats and other skeptics may doubt Fielding's guide to proper election-year conduct. But two recent examples show that even the old pros at the Republican National Committee are taking steps to follow the White House's "Mr. Clean" approach.

The night Reagan formally announced his candidacy, the RNC, on advice of its lawyers, scratched plans to urge the public to write or telephone congratulations to the White House. And the committee has purged from its computerized fund-raising lists all zip codes for Washington, D.C., and its Maryland and Virginia suburbs to avoid inadvertent solicitation of the large number of federal workers living there.

County Teams Open Conference Play Today

'Noles Battle Rams; Golmont Draws Nod Against Blue Darters

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

If the Five Star Conference baseball race figures to be as competitive as the county coaches believe, then the crucial games start today — the first day of the conference race.

In the county, especially, there are several interesting first-day matchups.

Seminole and Lake Mary always have interesting games. Seminole won the preseason tournament earlier this year with a narrow victory over the Rams, but tonight at 7 it figures to be much tougher since Lake Mary ace Mike Schmit will be on the mound and Seminole coach Bobby Lundquist is unsure of his hurler.

"Lake Mary has a great hitting club and with Mike Schmit on the mound they're capable of beating anybody," said Lundquist. "We can't let Schmit control the game."

The Ram offense has been potent as Schmit (.423), Kevin Hill (.400), Ron Natherson (.421) and Scott Underwood (.333) are all popping the ball. And when junior first baseman Donald Grayson, a late reporter because of basketball, gets his stroke down — look out. Seminole's catalyst is Steve Dennis. The swift senior is ripping the ball at a .529 clip and has stolen 14 bases. Brian Sheffield is batting .381. Lundquist is undecided on a pitcher but said it would come from among the trio of Chad Braden, James Hersey or Glenn Landress.

Lake Howell can get its Five Star hopes off to a big start today at 3:30 when it entertains powerful Apopka, the defending district and conference champions. Senior righthander Van Golmont (1-1) will face Apopka ace Rodney Brewer in what expects to be a classic duel.

The Blue Darters are cruising along with an 8-0-1 mark with only a tie with Spruce Creek to mar their record. The tie counts as one-half win and one-half loss in the standings. Brewer, though, will have to be at his best since Lake Howell comes into the game with seven players batting over .300.

Second baseman Jeff Poindexter (.500) has been the rally starter with his 15 hits and 16 runs scored. Junior Scott Munson (.476), Vic Roberts (.375), Bill Lang (.379) and Golmont (.333) have been the run producers for 6-4 Lake Howell. John Canfield (.313), Jim Royal (.333) and Dave Marlette (.364) complement the attack.

Two teams with darkhorse Five Star hopes — Lake Brantley and Lyman — open their conference season at Lake Brantley at 3:30 p.m. Lyman, 3-4, will go with righthander Paul Alegre while the Patriots will counter with 2-0 righthander Kevin Gross.

Lyman is led at the plate by Alegre and catcher Mike Henley. "We're got to start catching the ball," said Lyman coach Bob McCullough. "We've been making too many errors." Lyman had 11 errors while splitting a double-header Saturday.

Oviedo, 4-7, begins its Orange Belt Conference games Tuesday at Leesburg. Ace righthander Darrin Reichle will be on the hill for coach Howard Mable's Lions.

Tribe Tunes Up By Bombarding Barracudas

By Lou Stefano
Herald Sports Writer

The Seminole High School baseball team moved from their regular home field of Sanford Memorial Stadium to the more cozy Zinn Beck Field to host the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas Saturday afternoon. Even though the 'Cudas took advantage of the short fences for three home runs, the 'Noles took the decision, 10-7.

"You sort of got to change your strategy when you play in a ball park like this," said Seminole head coach Bobby Lundquist about Zinn Beck's small dimensions. "There's no lead that's too safe. It's a lot like a softball game where who ever has the most offense will win the game."

For the 'Noles, the pace of the game was opportunities: take advantage of them whenever you can, and they did.

Seminole catcher Steve Dennis led off the home team's half of the first inning by drawing a walk. Dennis came around on Kevin Smith's bobbled single to right field and the Noles had a quick 1-0 lead.

William Wynn, Seminole's fireballing left hander was his sharpest in the second inning. After lead off hitter Frank Dement drew a walk, Wynn made sure his stay at first would be a short one. On the second pitch to Cuda's catcher Jeff Stone, Wynn picked Dement off first base, then struck Stone out on a 3-2 pitch.

Wynn walked Stacey Lee but struck out NSB pitcher Doug Testerman to retire the side.

In the bottom of the second, Seminole got the offense cranked up. Wynn drew a walk to lead off the inning and went to second on a fielder's choice by Tony Cox. James Hersey then hit a hard shot through the legs of Cuda shortstop Trey Nichols to bring home Wynn.

Dennis drove home Hersey with a single to make the score, 3-0. Dennis then stole the second of his four bases to get into scoring position. Smith took advantage of it and drove home Dennis with a base hit.

Smith's hit brought in new pitcher John Kellat who got the last out in the inning.

In the third inning the 'Cudas broke out of their scoreless slump with a little help from Seminole. NSB's Brian Span hit a towering fly ball that Seminole right fielder James Hersey settled under and apparently caught but at the last second, the ball popped out for an error.

Ricky Bevins singled to put runners on first and second with one out. Wynn quickly got two strikes on Pat Merrick and looked ready to set down the center fielder. But Merrick worked the count to 3-2.

Merrick launched the pay off pitch toward the left field fence and left fielder Ricky Kidd. Like Hersey, Kidd had the ball in his glove but he hit his head hard against the fence and the ball popped over for a home run.

Seminole came back and tied the score in the bottom of the third but lost the lead in the fourth when NSB picked up two more runs on Span's homer with Nichols aboard. The next batter, Bevins, doubled and that was the end for Wynn. Chad Braden came in and got the third out in the inning.

Seminole came back to take the lead for good in the bottom half of the fourth when they scored three runs without the benefit of a hit.

Dennis led off with a walk and before you could say, "Tim Raines look alike," he stole second and third. Smith walked and Sheffield grounded into a 6-3 put out than brought home some. Smith was out on Brian Rogers fielder choice.

Tony Cox hit a bloop single to center to bring home Rogers and Larry Thomas who had got on by way of walk. Cox was caught stealing to end the inning.

Braden shut the Cudas down the rest of the way, allowing a solo home run to Jim Looman and a single to Kellat. He also struck out four in three and a third innings.

Hersey's solo homer led off the fifth for the Seminoles. Dennis then singled, stole second and came home on Smith's third hit of the game.

"Steve is the man who makes things go for us," Lundquist said about his senior catcher's four steals and four runs scored. "He gets on base for us, we feel like he can score runs and he makes our offense go."

The win puts the 'Noles over the .500 mark at 4-3 while NSB falls to 3-4.

Lake Howell.....12
Oviedo.....7

Lake Howell's Silver Hawks tuned up for the opening of their conference season by battering Oviedo, 12-7, Saturday at Oviedo High.

The Silver Hawks, 6-4, raked four Oviedo hurlers for 10 hits to drop the Lions to 4-7 for the year. Oviedo opens Orang Belt Conference action Tuesday at Leesburg. Righthander Darrin Reichle will be on the mound.

Second baseman Jeff Poindexter and center fielder Jay Robey each pounded two hits Saturday as junior Todd Hicks went the distance to pick up his first varsity win.

Lyman.....2
Evans.....0

Steve Hutsell and Byron Overstreet combined for a three-hitter Saturday as the Lyman Greyhounds blanked Orlando Evans to salvage a split for the day. Lyman, 3-4, lost to Pinellas Park later Saturday night, 11-5. Both games were at Lyman.

Hutsell went the first four innings and Overstreet, a sophomore, came on to finish up and pick up the win. Lyman scored when the Evans rightfielder dropped Mike

When Campy Talks, All Reporters Listen

TAMPA (UPI) — When Campy talks, you listen. Not necessarily because he's in a wheelchair. Or because he speaks so low or works for some big brokerage house like E.F. Hutton, which of course he doesn't.

You listen to him for a number of good reasons. First, because Roy Campanella was never the kind of guy to give you a bum steer. Second, because he always makes good sense, and third, because he has this special feel for people, as well as for the language, so that he can say things for which he will be remembered, like, "You have to be a little boy in you in order to be a baseball player."

He was talking now about someone he is crazy about, someone he said he really loves, his old buddy with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Pee Wee Reese who had just been voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame along with Rick Ferrell, an excellent catcher for 18 years with the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators.

One of the things that made Campanella, a Hall of Famer himself, especially happy was that he's also a member of the Veterans Committee which elected both Reese and Ferrell into the shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y., Sunday.

"He was the greatest shortstop I ever saw, and believe me I saw a lotta shortstops." Campy said with a twinkle in his eye and that soft purr in his voice. "He was our captain, and what a captain he was."

Campanella was the second black player the Dodgers brought up to their club, after Jackie Robinson. The two of them played together on the same team with Reese, so Campanella, far less controversial than Robinson, was in a perfect position to see for himself how much Pee Wee did to smooth the way for Jackie back in those abysmally ignorant days for baseball when a black player was still regarded more of a curiosity than a human being.

"All those stories you hear about what Pee Wee did for Jackie, they weren't just made up. They were for real," Campy said. "Jackie wasn't the only one Pee Wee helped, either. He helped me plenty also. He'd be out there playing shortstop and I'd be catching, and he also knew how to get my attention. He'd get it by flipping a little dirt toward my direction."

"One day in St. Louis, Ralph Branca was having a tough day for us," went on the man who was voted MVP three times with the Dodgers. "He loaded the bases twice in one inning, and pretty soon I saw Pee Wee flipping some dirt out there. I knew what that meant. He was looking to get my attention. Would you believe we picked off two different men at second base? We sure did, and it was Pee Wee who engineered it all. Branca stayed in, went all the way and we won the game."

Buzzie Bavasi, now with the Angels, ran the Dodgers front office during the time Reese played for them. He's also a member of the Veterans Committee and has seen several of the Dodgers voted into the Hall of Fame.

Sandy Koufax, Duke Snider, Walt Alton, and Don Drysdale are part of that group, and when Pee Wee finally made it Sunday, Bavasi smiled contentedly and commented: "We left the best for the last."

Ueberroth Wants Fan Input Before Determining Issues

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Peter Ueberroth, who becomes commissioner of Major League Baseball Oct. 1, has already chosen his top advisers. They'll be the people in the stands cramming hot dogs into their mouths and drinking beer.

"I'd like to see what the fans think about it. I've never seen a poll of the fans on those issues. We've yet to get their input. The fans will be very important to me," said Ueberroth, casually dressed in an open white shirt and blue sweater.

Ueberroth, president of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, spoke to reporters Sunday at a news conference less than 12 hours after accepting the job of baseball commissioner in Tampa, Fla.

He asked for and received sweeping changes in the authority of the office and vowed not to have anything to do with baseball until Oct. 1, after his Olympic responsibilities have ended.

Ueberroth spoke in a soft and hoarse voice, referring to his problems as "Yugo-throat." In reference to the throat irritation suffered by many visitors at the

Baseball

Winter Olympics in Yugoslavia.

He said he considers himself a traditionalist, but was quick to point out he will not impose his views on baseball if there is widespread opposition.

"I like tradition," he said. "I like history. But it's not so important what I think. If the fans don't like what we do, they won't buy as many tickets and nothing makes much sense from there."

"There seems to be a lot of bitterness in baseball right now, from the players and the owners and the fans. I see a lot of room for improvement in that area, to make the game fun again."

Ueberroth, however, insisted he would be the one to make the decisions.

"The fans won't run the game," he said. "... (don't) make it seem the fans will be in control of all decisions. ... the commissioner's job is to do what's good for baseball, and the fans are an important part of baseball."

Generals Survive Rally To Corral Bulls

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Both teams got some breaks but it was the New Jersey Generals who were able to pull the key ones off to win a tightly contested USFL game against the Jacksonville Bulls.

"We'll take a win any way we can," Generals quarterback Gene Bradley said of the 28-26 victory Sunday. Bradley replaced starter Brian Sipe, who was out with a knee injury.

Linebacker Bob Leopold keyed two of the 2-0 Generals' big plays. Intercepting a pair of Matt Robinson passes and returning one of them 24 yards for a touchdown. Leopold's other snag set up a one-yard scoring plunge by Herschel Walker.

Bradley capped a third New Jersey interception — by linebacker Jim Leclair — running five yards for a touchdown and a 28-19 lead with 3:26 left in the game.

Jacksonville, now 1-1, came within two points less than a minute later when Robinson ended an 8-play, 80-yard drive with a 7-yard touchdown pass to Gary Clark.

The Bulls next got what could have been their big break of the game when the Generals fumbled an on-side kick. Jacksonville recovered at the 50 and marched to the 23-yard line where Danny Miller missed a 41-yard field goal that would have put his team ahead by one point with 40 seconds remaining.

New Jersey ran out the clock to win. "This game should not have come down to one play." Bulls coach Lindy Infante said. "I'm proud of the players and the way they hung in there."

New Jersey coach Walt Michaels said part of the Bulls' problem was concentrating too much on Walker's vaunted running abilities.

"If you want to stop Herschel, you can," Michaels said. "But you leave other things open."

Walker picked up two New Jersey touchdowns and, despite his relatively modest 72 yards on the ground, said he was pleased with his performance.

"The most important thing is we won," he said. "Individual statistics don't matter. I got in some good shots."

Walker's first six points came after a roughing call gave New Jersey a first down possession on the Jacksonville 5-yard line. The roughing call followed a failed field goal attempt by New Jersey's Roger Ruzek.

More than 72,000 fans packed into Jacksonville's Gator Bowl for Sunday's game, setting a USFL attendance record. Breakers 13, Invaders 0 contract with New Orleans to become the highest paid football player.

Dupree became more valuable to the Breakers Sunday when their top runner Richard Crump was lost with a knee injury in a 13-0 victory over the Oakland Invaders. The Breakers, 2-0, have also shown an obvious lack of a breakout runner and the 6-foot-3 speedy Dupree could be the answer.

Otherwise, New Orleans isn't in bad shape. The passing game with quarterback John Walton is solid and the defense has allowed just 10 points in two games. The pressure will be on Dupree to bolster the running game next Sunday when the Breakers make their New Orleans debut against Memphis.

At Washington, Chuck Fusina passed for 221 yards and a touchdown and Kelvin Bryant gained 104 yards and dived 1 yard for another score to lead Philadelphia.

Gordon, DeLand Grab State Title

WINTER PARK — Bridgette Gordon tossed in 24 points and the DeLand Lady Bulldogs completed an incredible season Saturday night as they capped the State 4A Girls Basketball championship with a 37-31 victory over Tampa Hillsborough at Winter Park High.

DeLand, 29-5, used a slow-down attack and the inside scoring of Gordon and Nikki Williams to claim the title. Gordon and Williams scored all of DeLand's first-half points as the Lady Bulldogs took a 21-19 lead.

Both teams traded baskets in the third quarter before Gordon got hot and scored six straight points at the beginning of the fourth quarter to give DeLand an insurmountable 37-27 lead.

In other games Saturday, Pompano Beach upended Fort Myers, 62-49, for the 3A title while Marianna blizzed Clearwater Central Catholic, 83-46, to take the 2A crown. Clearwater was hampered somewhat when 29 point-per-game scorer Michelle Pennie went out early in the game with a knee injury. Laurel Hill knocked off Fort Lauderdale Westminster, 65-51, for the 1A championship.

Penick, Relay Lift Boys — Lady Seminoles Come Up Short

McBroom Sweeps Distance Events, Campbell Sets Mark

DELAND — Sanford's Fighting Seminoles scored 15 points in the last two events to claim the Big "D" Invitational title with 63 points, compared to 58 for second place Ocala-Forest.

Going into the next to last event, the two mile, Forest held a 51-43 lead, but Seminole's Billy Penick placed second in the two mile good for five points and the Tribe won the meet as the team of Eric Martin, Louis Brown, Willie Bass and Cliff Campbell won the mile relay with a meet record time of 3:26.4.

While Seminole was busy trying to win the meet, Lyman's Doug McBroom turned in one of the best individual performances of the season. McBroom won three events, including the mile (4:30.1), the 880 (2:01.3) and the two mile (9:58.5).

McBroom scored 21 points to help Lyman to a third place finish with a team score of 48. Daytona Beach Mainland was third with 41 points and Lake Brantley finished fifth with 40 points.

Seminole's Campbell had another fine show as he won the 440 with a meet record time of 48.6. Campbell's time in the 440 broke the old meet record set by 1980 Olympian Walter McCoy. Campbell was second in the 220 at 22.6. Penick finished second in the two mile (10:15.4) and third in the mile (4:36.5). The Tribe's Pat Davis placed second in the 100 yard dash with a 10.3 and Leo Peterson was second in the triple jump at 43-11. Third place finishes came from Andre Jackson in the 120 hurdles (15.7) and Alvin Jones in the triple jump (42-4 1/2).

Lake Brantley's Mark Napier picked up a first place in the triple jump (44-10 1/2), a second in the pole vault (12-0) and a second in the high jump (6-8). The Patriots got a first place finish from Ricky Phillips in the pole vault (12-0) and a third from John Mondo in the 880 (2:03.7).

Lyman's Phil Germano placed third in both the 100 (10.4) and the 440 (51.1). Marc Overbay was third in the two mile at 10:26.0.

WINTER PARK — Lake Mary's Patt Murray set a meet record in the triple jump with a 45-1 and Mike Rouse won the high jump as he cleared 6-3 1/2 to lead the Rams to a fourth place finish in the Edgewater Eagle Relays at Showalter Field.

Oak Ridge won the meet with 86 points, followed by Winter Haven with 67, Winter Park with 49 and Lake Mary with 48.

Murray also picked up a third place in the long jump with a leap of 20-1 1/2. Troy Stutts also turned in a strong performance for the Rams Saturday as he placed third in the pole vault (11-6) and third in the high jump (6-1 1/2).

Tammy Pringle, above, strains for all she's worth while unleashing the shot put at the Lake Howell Invitational Saturday. Pringle, a Seminole senior, got off one of her best throws of the year (31-7) to place third. The rest of the Lady Seminoles stumbled in the field events, however, as they fell to Oak Ridge. At the right, Schowonda Williams stretches over a hurdle en route to a victory in the 330 yard lows. All the county teams will be preparing for the Lake Mary Relays next Saturday at Lake Mary High.

Oak Ridge's Lady Pioneers turned the tables on Sanford's Lady Seminoles Saturday, coming away with a six-point victory, 64-58, in the Lake Howell Invitational after Seminole beat the Pioneers by 11 points the week before.

The Pioneers' strength in the field events along with balance in the sprints and relays was enough to give them the team title. Oak Ridge scored 25 of its 64 points in the field events while Seminole scored just 14 in the field events.

Host Lake Howell finished third Saturday with 53 points followed by Lyman with 48 and Lake Mary with 36.

One of the best individual performances of the meet was turned in by Lake Brantley senior Kathryn Hayward. After a less than spectacular cross country season, in which she was slowed by the flu for latter part of the season including the state meet, Hayward is looking to make the best of her last year in track.

Hayward was in fine form Saturday as she ran a sizzling 5:19.3 in the mile, a meet record, to win by six seconds over second place finisher Amy Ertel of Lake Howell. Hayward's time in the mile was five seconds better than her previous best this season. She came back later in the meet to finish third in the two mile with a time of 11:49.4.

Seminole didn't have any first places individually and won one of the three relays. Top performances for the Lady Tribe included Tammy Pringle who was third in the discus (102-6) and fourth in the shot put (31-7) and Crystal Caldwell who was second in the 440 (59.7) and third in the long jump (16-10 1/4).

Lake Mary got a first place from Fran Gordon in the 440 as she nudged Caldwell at the tape with a meet record time of 59.6. Sue Kingsbury was second in the two mile with a time of 11:48.6 and fourth in the mile at 5:27.9. Andrea Johnson took second in the shot put at 35-1.

Lake Mary picked up 10 points as it won the mile medley relay with a meet record time of 4:22.5 as Anquetette Whack (220), Sonja Walker (220), Gordon (440) and Tracy Blakely (880) turned in the best time in the state this year.

Lake Howell's Christy Scott continued to dominate in the discus as she took first place at 108-9. The Lady Hawks continued to perform well in the distance events as Ertel took second in the mile (5:25.5) and Lisa Samocki was third in the mile (5:26.7) and second in the 880 (2:29.6). Lake Howell also got a second place place finish from Sheryl Brinkley in the high jump as she cleared 5-2. Rochelle Spearman turned in a third place performance in the 110 hurdles with a time of 15.2.

Lyman got first place finishes from Schowonda Williams who ran a meet record 46.7 in the 330 hurdles and Lori Carroll who set a meet record in the high jump as she cleared 5-6. Williams was also second in the 110 hurdles with a time of 14.7.

Good Idea, Wrong Setting, Martina Crushes Evert In 3

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some other time, perhaps, in another place, the experiment may be tried once again.

The next time, though, it would be wise not to invite Martina Navratilova to the party.

The idea on Sunday was to see how women tennis players would fare if they were called upon to play a best-of-five match, something they hadn't done since 1902. Women are virtually on a par with the men when it comes to prize money, and this was just another way to spread the equality one step further.

Good idea, wrong setting. As well as Chris Evert Lloyd played, and she did play extremely well for the first two sets, and despite the fact that Navratilova called the 57th career meeting between them "the highest level quality of tennis both of us have ever played," it requires even more than a super effort these days to take a set from Navratilova.

The result was a 6-3, 7-5, 6-1 victory for Navratilova in the final of a $500,000 championship. It was the second consecutive week, and ninth time in a row, that Navratilova has conquered her closest rival in women's tennis, and since the start of 1982 she has posted a match record of 189-5.

The tournament is known as the Virginia Slims Championships. MADRID, Spain (UPI) — John McEnroe had more trouble with the linesman than with his opponent, combining powerful serves with backhand smashes to bury Tomas Smid, 6-0, 6-4 and win the $200,000 Madrid Grand Prix tennis tournament.

McEnroe, ranked No. 1 in the world, gave his Czechoslovakian opponent no openings in the first set Sunday, breaking his serve three times and winning three straight games without giving up a point.

But during the second set when he had made several unforced errors, McEnroe once again displayed the anger and antics that cost him $2,500 in fines earlier in the tournament. At one point he stormed to the linesman's chair.

Sports Roundup

CORAL SPRINGS (UPI) — Bruce Lietzke is not your ordinary tournament winner.

Instead of giving a jubilant review of his triumphant day, he talks about things like "burnout" and "retirement" and finding a way to win a tournament without the pressure that goes with it.

There was plenty of pressure — fuel for thoughts of burnout and retirement — Sunday as Lietzke earned his 10th victory in 10 years on the PGA Tour by capturing a $600,000 tournament. After finishing in a tie with Andy Bean for 72 holes, Lietzke parred the first sudden-death hole while Bean was missing a four-foot putt for a bogey 6.

The event is known as the Honda Classic.

COSTA MESA, Calif. (UPI) — After going nearly a year without a victory on the LPGA Tour that she once owned, Nancy Lopez didn't want to lose this one. She also didn't want another shot in the ribs from her caddy.

Saturday, Lopez was accidentally struck with an 8-iron as her caddy, Roscoe Jones, pulled it out of the golf bag. Sunday, after Lopez had bogeyed three consecutive holes down the stretch, Jones issued a reminder.

"Your pride tells you to play good golf even when you're way ahead, so I was really disappointed to make those three bogeys," Lopez said. "And after I did, Roscoe pulled the 8-iron out again."

But Lopez survived her caddy and her faltering play with two closing pars to post a three-stroke victory over Pat Bradley in the $300,000 LPGA tournament.

The event is known as the Uniden Invitational.

It was the 28th career win for the 27-year-old Lopez in only six years as a pro, but her first in nearly a year since leaving the Tour to have a baby.

...Lyman

Henley's short pop fly and both runs came around to score in the bottom of the fifth.

In Saturday's night game, seven Lyman errors opened the floodgates for several runs as Pinellas Park completed its sweep of Seminole County. Lyman ace Derek Livernois was saddled with his second loss and one win. He gave way to Overstreet in the fourth and Clint Baker in the sixth.

Lyman opens the conference season today at 3:30 p.m. against Lake Brantley.

Know Your Ballet Guild Dancers

Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole is busy rehearsing "Professor Peppercorn and the Amazing Outdoor Travel Show" scheduled March 24 in the stadium of Lake Mary High School.

Last September after open auditions were held, 21 dancers were selected to form the 1983-84 BGS company. They will be joined by several guest dancers for the colorful circus-type extravaganza.

Ballet Guild is in its 16th year. The fledgling company was started in 1968 and has been sustained by civic and community support through the years.

The following are four of this season's dancers:

Doriane Sapp

Nicole Green

Melody Sanders

Shahrha Fielder

DORIANE SAPP

Doriane Sapp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Sapp of Sanford. She became a member of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole as an Apprentice Company dancer in 1983.

Doriane attends All Souls School where she is in the fourth grade. Some of the awards Doriane has won are first place in long distant running during School Spirit Day, first place in Seminole County 4-H Share the Fun talent contest.

Her hobbies are 4-H, swimming, soccer and dancing. Her life's ambition is to be dancer or singer. Doriane became a member of BGS because she likes to dance and "I think it will be exciting to be in the Ballet Guild."

MELODY SANDERS

Melody Sanders is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sanders of Sanford. She joined the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole as an Apprentice Company dancer in 1983. As a fifth grade student at All Souls School she is in the chorus and is a teacher's aide. Melody is an accomplished elogger whose hobbies include quilting, dancing, clogging, ceramics and modeling. Her ambition is to be a school teacher, dentist and "Miss Universe." She became a part of BGS because she likes to dance.

NICOLE GREEN

Nicole Green, an Apprentice Company dancer with Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, is the daughter of Mrs. Sharon Smith of Sanford. As a seventh grade student at Pathway Christian School, she is a member of the yearbook and in charge of photo layouts and advertising.

Nicole also won the Pastor's Trophy for highest academic average last school term (all A's). Her hobbies are reading, dancing, sticker collecting and needlepoint.

She became a member of BGS in 1983 for the exposure, experience it affords and to help her reach her goal as a professional dancer. SHARHAH FIELDER Shahrha (Shay) Fielder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fielder of Longwood. An Apprentice Company dancer, Shay joined the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole in 1983.

She is a sixth grade student at Teague Middle School where she has won awards for being a librarian's helper, second place in soccer, track and field and honorable mention at the Science Fair.

Her hobbies are dancing, collecting dolls and skating. Shay's ambition is to become a professional dancer. She says being a BGS dancer will help her reach her goal.

Doctors Nix Breast-Feeding 6-Year-Old

DEAR ABBY So you think the mother in Hawaii who was still breast-feeding her 6-year-old son needs "help." Abby, I think you need help if you don't know that the longer a child is breast-fed, the healthier he will be.

Mother's milk contains special properties that are extremely healthful for growing children. Get some material from the La Leche League, Abby, and educate yourself!

ALICE J.

DEAR ABBY: This is not to belittle the immunological (or psychological) benefits of mother's milk, but an overwhelming number of pediatricians agree that a 6-year-old child should be getting his milk from a cup. And they don't mean a "D" cup.

DEAR ABBY: Please edge a little further into the 20th century on the "Mrs. Jane Doe" vs. "Mrs. John Doe" convention. I have been happily married for 16 years. As much as I love and respect my husband, I would no more call myself "Mrs. Gene McGraw" than I would wear a bustle.

For one thing, it's semantic nonsense. Just who is "Mrs. Gene McGraw?" I'm not a bisexual, nor do I have two heads. Although I willingly took my husband's family name, my first name never was and never will be "Gene."

Semantics aside, there is an even more compelling reason to get rid of this bid of "etiquette." It arises from the cruel, snobbish and archaic belief that a widow was socially respectable, while a divorcee was morally suspect. The name form required of the divorcee publicly labeled her, so that she could be appropriately snubbed. Isn't it odd that no such distinctions were required for

Dear Abby

How can I do my job as a monitor without losing friends?

A MONITOR CALLED "SNITCH"

DEAR MONITOR: When a girl is about to do something that's against the rules, warn her. And if she goes ahead and does it, report her. Your teacher should explain that there is a good reason for every rule. Smoking can cause fires. Damaging property and wasting supplies cost your parents — as taxpayers — extra money.

Maybe when the kids understand this, they will realize that you're performing a necessary duty, and rather than criticize you, they will cooperate.

DEAR R.R.: Thanks for a valuable tip. If this becomes an accepted practice, it might save not only valuables, but lives as well.

DEAR MRS. BARBARA MCGRAW: Some married women (myself included) prefer to call themselves "Mrs. John Doe." And according to my mail, most widows want to be known as "Mrs. John Doe," even though their "Doe" is gone.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 10-year-old girl who was appointed by my teacher to be a bathroom monitor. I didn't ask for the job. She just appointed me. I'm supposed to report anything the girls do in the bathroom that is against the rules, such as starting fights, smoking, wasting supplies, writing on walls and stuff like that.

One day some girls turned up the heat when they knew they weren't supposed to, so I reported them and they got into trouble, and now they are mad at me and calling me a snitch.

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Daughters Review Kin's Confederate War Record

The Norman De Vere Howard Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met at the home of Mrs. Martha Ashby for the February program and business meeting with Mrs. Burch Cornelius as co-hostess. Mrs. Linda Zike, president, presided.

Mrs. M.R. Strickland was chairman of the program entitled, "Our Ancestors." Each member participated in telling of her ancestors' Confederate War record that entitled them for membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Members reviewed their record papers taken from diaries, letters and documents for historical and personal preservation. The speaker said new members need to be instructed in proper ways to help achieve this important objective. Thirty-one members belong to the local chapter.

In appropriate ceremony, Mrs. Strickland, registrar, presented new membership certificates to Mrs. Martha Ashby and Miss Lori Ann Dunn.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to 14 members attending. Also attending was the one-month-old baby boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy (Julie) Wood and grandson of the president, Mrs. Zike, who will receive a baby membership and eventually become a member of "Sons of the Confederacy."

The March meeting will be held at the Seminole Historical Museum with Mrs. Joe Corley and Mrs. Donald Dunn Sr. as co-hostesses.

De Lorean Trial Begins Today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The long road to trial in the John De Lorean drug case has taken more twists and turns than any route ever traveled by the sleek sportscar he fashioned in his jet-setter lineage.

Among the detours have been six postponements, the nationwide telecast of secret FBI videotapes, the entry of Hustler magazine publisher Larry Flynt as a purveyor of evidence, contradictory lie detector tests and the bankruptcy of De Lorean Motor Co.

Despite all the fanfare and headlines, prosecutors insist the matter is "a simple, straight-forward narcotics case." De Lorean, 59, is accused of financing the importation of 220 pounds of Colombian cocaine, worth an estimated $24 million, in a futile attempt to save his failing car company.

"I think we knew from the beginning it wasn't quite as simple as the government made it out to be," one of De Lorean's defense lawyers said. "Of course, there was no way to tell how bizarre things would become."

The trial is set to begin today — a year and five months after De Lorean's arrest — when a pool of 200 potential jurors start filling out a 50-page questionnaire to determine their familiarity with the case. Attorneys expect the trial to last about a month, with testimony lasting another month or two.

The case will turn on who jurors choose to believe — De Lorean or his chief accuser, James Timothy Hoffman, a cocaine smuggler-turned-government informant who was De Lorean's liaison in the drug transaction.

The government claims the former automaker voluntarily entered the deal, stumbling into a trap laid for one of the West Coast's biggest drug dealers, William Morgan Hetrick, who was arrested the night before De Lorean. Hetrick pleaded guilty to reduced charges in a deal with the government.

Prosecutors say 90 percent of their case will be FBI surveillance videotapes made during Hoffman's many meetings with De Lorean to discuss the transaction.

De Lorean, who has been free on $5 million bail, claims he unsuspectingly conferred with Hoffman to find a way to save his car company — and was threatened with death when he tried to back out after learning narcotics were involved.

A clerk for a law firm that once represented De Lorean sold copies of the FBI videotapes to Flynt for $5,000. The publisher of Hustler magazine in turn gave copies to the television networks, which aired them last October.

Among the damning tapes was one in which De Lorean inspects a suitcase apparently filled with cocaine, proclaims the content "good as gold," then hoists a glass of champagne. He toasts undercover drug agents and "a lot of success for everyone" and is then arrested.

U.S. District Judge Robert Takasugi denied several defense requests to dismiss the case for a variety of reasons, including excessive publicity and outrageous government misconduct. He said at one point, however, that the government's activities raised some questions that should be more closely examined once trial is completed.

Takasugi also ruled that the authenticity of an audio tape in which De Lorean is allegedly threatened by Hoffman "has not been established" and will not be played for jurors unless substantiated by further evidence.

The tape materialized in November at a Flynt news conference. He was assessed more than $250,000 in contempt fines for refusing to name the source. He has since claimed it was a fake.

Also withheld from evidence will be the results of contradictory lie detector tests: one commissioned by defense attorneys, which De Lorean passed, the other administered by the FBI, which he failed.

Mr, Miss SHS Selected

After their talent presentations Thursday night, Mr. and Miss SHS were selected from among the 16 worthy contestants.

Each candidate had previously filled out an application stating his scholastic honors and community achievements. He or she also wrote a paragraph entitled, "Why I Am a Positive Representative of Seminole High."

The application was judged and accounted for 50 percent of the candidate's overall score.

The contestants were then interviewed individually by a panel made up of JoAnn Rowe, Raymond Harper and Denise Beadles. This interview, in which the contestants were judged on how they presented themselves, accounted for 20 percent of each score.

On Thursday each candidate faced his final challenge of the event — the talent competition. This area, open to the public, was judged by Mr. Cannon, Ms. Glester, Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Cabell and Mr. Eckstein and was worth the last 30 percent.

Each representing a club of which they are a member, the contestants were: J.P. Gagnon, Keyettes; Kaylin Withrow, Ghorus; Liz Prior, The Splains; Britney Tyre, Cheerleaders; Sam Lake, National

Answer to Previous Puzzle

As We Grow Older, Stiffness Sets In

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell us what causes stiffness. I'm a 59-year-old housewife and my husband is 62. We're both in good health except for stiffness. If I sit for any length of time, I have to get up carefully. After walking, the stiffness leaves.

Is there a vitamin we can take to help this? DEAR READER — Arthritis can cause stiffness, which is especially apparent when one starts to rise from the seated position. But as people get older, there is an increased tendency to stiffness.

Many of the posture changes in older people are from loss of flexibility. The tendons and fibrous connective tissue around muscle fibers tend to contract. This closes the hinge joints, such as the knees and elbows. The hip joint also may be partially closed. This is why flexibility exercises are quite important.

All people need a daily flexibility program as they get older. You should warm up first — say, with a good walk. After 15 minutes of light exercise, do the stretching exercises. Those tendons and fibrous tissues are made up of gelatin material. As they get warm, they stretch more easily.

Then you need to stretch each body part or joint gently to a point that doesn't cause pain. Hold the stretched position about 30 seconds and repeat the exercise.

You need to start with the ankles and move up the body to include the neck. Every joint should be moved through its full range of motion.

It's important to do such exercises before engaging in relatively vigorous exercise and again after such exercise.

I've described a general set of stretching exercises in the Health Letter 19 "Stretching and Flexibility," which I'm sending you. Incidentally, a hot bath before stretching is useful for some. A good time to stretch is after a hot morning shower.

DEAR DMB — We have just been told our 13-year-old son has Osgood-Schlatter disease in both knees. Our doctor says he should stop all physical activities, sports and no excessive walking for up to two years.

Please tell us about this disease and if there is any treatment besides resting the knees.

DEAR READER — It's a relatively common disorder caused by injury to the area of the shinbone where the patellar tendon attaches. That's the large tendon that encase kneecap, connecting to the shinbone just below the kneecap. This area of the bone is one of the last areas to mature and calcify.

Activities involving the knee require contracting the large muscle over the front of the thigh alling on the tendon where it's attached to the shinbone. Sports that involve kicking, knee-bends or those kinds of activities make matters worse.

It's common to restrict physical activity, particularly to avoid knee-bending actions or forceful sitting of the knee. In severe cases some doctors even use a leg cast to keep the knee straight. Eventually the problem disappears as the bony area calcifies.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

MARCH 6, 1984

A number of valuable new friendships will be established this coming year with persons who share your ideals. These relationships will prove important in ways you'd least expect.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you hope to sway one you esteem to your way of thinking today, sugarcoat your presentation. Hammering home your message will turn him off. Major changes are in store for Pisces in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today. Mail $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally, when shopping, price is the dominant factor. However, today weigh quality above cost. Let the worth of the merchandise take precedence.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Persons who were in accord with your ideas yesterday may be more compliant today, yet they still might not back you 100 percent.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might be involved with someone today who displeased you in the past. Unless you let bygones be bygones, events may repeat themselves.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Circumstances may force you to socialize with someone today you'd rather not acknowledge. However, if it pleases your mate, bite the bullet and do so.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your efforts on behalf of others are likely to be more successful today than things you do to further your own ambitions. Put others first.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If one-to-one relationships are handled skillfully today, mutual benefits will result. Selfishness by either party introduces drawbacks for both.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Joint involvements could tug at your purse strings today. Some sacrifices may be required, but don't extend yourself beyond your means.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You might find yourself up against one today who constantly demands your objectives. Convert him with kindness, rather than imitating his tactics.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be helpful to those who require your assistance today, but don't allow yourself to be jockeyed into a position where their duties become yours.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let making a point in a debate with a pal today jeopardize your friendship. An understanding can be reached without compromising your standards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should be adequately compensated for your efforts today materially, but not in praise from others. You'll be disappointed if you expect both.

extra chance when you can."

Jim: "The bidding is like most of Kelsey's bidding, in that the declarer blasts to a contract that most players would stop short of. Then he has to make it."

Oswald: "Kelsey's play is simple. He ruffs the club, plays king and ace of trumps to get the 2-2 break. Then he ruffs a club, leads a diamond to dummy's ace, ruffs dummy's last club, and plays king and small diamond. It doesn't matter who wins the diamond. Whoever wins it is caught in an end play in which he must either lead a spade or give declarer a ruff and discard."

Jim: "Neat, but not too good a play. It only succeeds because East-West's trumps are 2-2 and diamonds 3-3. Furthermore, it will lose a cinch contract against a 3-1 trump break, 4-2 diamond break, certain 4-2 spade breaks with the queen outside. We have to give Kelsey a demerit here. There are better ways to play the hand. He has set this up so only his play will work."

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Jim: "Devin Press of Louisville has published five paperbacks by well-known authors. These books include many points of interest to bridge players of all sorts. Here is a hand from 101 Bridge Maxims by Hugh Kelsey."

Oswald: "The maxim for today's hand is: Take an
