Crash In Alaskan Wilderness JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) - Two women were found Tuesday after they survived a light plane crash in a mountainous wilderness three days ago and managed to find their way to the sea. Two persons were killed in the

The two survivors were rushed by helicopte: to a hospital where they were reported in fair condition. Authorities hoped to recover the bodies of the two victims on Wednesday at the site of the plane wreckage near Glacier Bay National Monument.

State troopers declined to release the identities of the victims pending notification of next of kin. The Coast Guard earlier identified the occupants of the plane as Mr. and Mrs. Donald Arbuckle of North Canton, Ohio; Pat Sawyer, the pilot, of Miami Lake, Fla., and Amelia Hundley, a native of Charleston, S.C. Fromme Gets Bail Reduction SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - Lynette A. Fromme, wrapped in a hooded red robe, fought back tears as she pleaded from the witness stand for freedom to resume the "simple life" of a Charles Manson disciple.

Miss Fromme, charged with the attempted assassination of President Ford, made a surprise witness stand appearance at a pretrial hearing Tuesday but failed to win release from jail.

Instead, U.S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride reduced bail from million to $350,000. Miss Fromme's room-mate, Sandra Good, conceded outside court, "We don't have that kind of money." Miss Fromme, her voice cracking with emotion, had asked to be set free on her word.

Durkin: Ford Policies Lost

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) - Democrat John A. Durkin says his smashing victory in New Hampshire's Senate runoff is a rejection of President Ford's economic policies and a warning to Congress to get to work.

"We have sent a message to Washington and I hope they listen." the 39-year-old Durkin told jubilant supporters in Manchester Tuesday night as his margin over Republican Louis C. Wyman swelled past the 20, 000-vote mark.

The combative, wisecracking former state insurance commissioner, who will become the Senate's 62nd Democrat, pledged, "I am going to stand up, I am going to speak out and I am going to rock the boat in a responsible manner until Washington starts listening to the people

Eastern Offers New Air Rates

MIAMI (AP) - Eastern Airlines officials say they hope to reduce rates up to 40 per cent by mid-November for buyers of all-inclusive vacation packages to Florida

Company spokesmen said Tuesday they will seek Civil Aeronautics Board approval of the discount plan on Sept. 30. They said it would be sought under provisions allowing carriers to block off seats to tour operators offering complete vacations.

Eastern, which has its operational base in Miami, said the discount would reduce the cost of New York-Miami coach tickets from $195 to $117. The service would also be offered to Orlando, Tampa, Sarasota, Fort Lauderdale and other Florida vacation areas.

Ford Plans CIA Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford intends to revamp the Central Intelligence Agency, and among plans being considered are stripping the agency of its covert operations and naming an over-all coordinator of U.S. intelligence activities.

The coordinator would not be the CIA director, according to administration sources who also cautioned not to expect any major change for several months. Ford told a news conference Tuesday that no matter what the fate of the CIA, American political action aimed at influencing events in other countries is likely to con-

Economic Outlook Said Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Congressional Budget Office of the Democratic-controlled Congress and the Ford administration agree that the outlook on unemployment and inflation is disappointing.

The budget office Tuesday issued an economic forecast projecting unemployment remaining higher than 8 per cent this year and dropping only to a range of 6.9 to 7.6 per cent by the end of 1976.

That compared with the administration's most recent forecast for a jobless rate of between 7 and 7.5 per cent by the end of 1976.

CIA Poison Records Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate intelligence committee is seeking to determine whether the CIA destroyed records relating to its stockpiling of deadly poisons.

"We have evidence that there are memos which one would think should exist which no longer exist," F. A. O. Schwarz, chief counsel for the committee said Tuesday at the end of the first day of public hearings on the CIA's Project Naomi.

Schwarz said that former CIA Director Richard M. Helms would be asked about the matter when he testifies before the committee today.

Astronauts Visit Center

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) - The three astronaunts who shook hands in space with Russian cosmonauts in the Apollo-Soyuz mission have visited the Kennedy Space Center to honor the workers who got them off the ground. Vince Brand told the group Tuesday that he was "happy to report the hardware worked so well."

"It's great to be back," said Apollo commander Thomas Stafford. "When people ask if I'm nervous, I say if you are nervous you shouldn't be in a spacecraft. "Aud if you know the people working on the mission, there's no reason to be nervous."

He added that to exceed $28,000. The money will be taken from the $30,000 expectations for getting funds for the Florida Parks and building fund account.

A committee consisting of three councilmen and three residents of the community with expertise in the building area will be named at next Monday night's meeting. The committee will coordinate plans, criteria and cost estimates necessary for completion of the building, located in Sunshine Park on North Edganon. The committee's recommendations will be submitted to the council for approval.

The building was turned over to the city by the now defunct Winter Springs Community Association, which raised funds to construct a community center built partially with volunteer labor.

In April, City Building Inspector Ray Bradshaw submitted a Creek PUD. The 998-unit development (just two short of the cost estimate of $26,558 for renovating the unfinished facility. Kissinger Remarks Anger David Strickland Family

CHRISTMAS (AP) - Relatives of a soldier taken hostage by Ethiopian terrorists say they're angry at remarks by Sec. of State Henry Kissinger that the United States won't negotiate for David Strickland's freedom. "We want everybody, including our government and their government to know how we feel about this," Mrs. Lawrence Strickland said Tuesday.

She complained that the U.S. government was "doing nothing" to release her brother-in-law and Navy Electronics Tech 3 Thomas C. Bowidowicz. Kissinger, at a Southern Governors conference here

Tuesday, was asked what role the United States would take in attempting to free the two hostages. "When Americans are captured we're always in grave difficulty," Kissinger said. "Our position as a government is we won't negotiate for the release of Americans. We don't want to get into the position of encouraging terrorists to capture Americans to get negotiations.'

Water Vote Important: Lewis

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - The former chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee says he's shocked that Floridians don't realize they will vote March 9th on who will control their fresh-water supplies. "There is not one issue more important to people than this issue of March 9," Sen. Philip Lewis, D-West Palm Beach, said Tuesday of a proposed constitutional amendment on presidential preference primary ballots. The proposal would allow water management districts to levy a tax on property in their areas to finance water planning and control operations. Officials say the issue will decide whether the state or local boards control water.

Counselers Lose First Round

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Vocational rehabilitation counselors have lost the first round in their legal attack on the reorganization of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

Circuit Judge James Joanos of Tallahassee denied Tuesday a motion by the counsellors for a temporary injunction to halt the legislative-ordered reorganization. Joanos ruled that attorneys for the Florida Rehabilitation Counseling Association failed to comply with a legal requirement that they show a substantial likelihood that they would prevail in their suit.

Cheap Energy Source Cited

JACKSONVILLE (AP) - The nation's cheapest future source of energy is conservation, says Dennis W. Bakke, deputy assistant administrator of the Federal Energy Administration. "This is a very extravagant nation," Bakke told an energy conservation workshop Tuesday. "With only six per cent of the world's population, we use 35 per cent of the world's energy."

Ashler:Rates Must Stabilize

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - Insurance companies must stop raising auto-coverage premiums until the Florida Insurance Task Force develops ways to hold down the prices, Insurance Commissioner Philip Ashler says. He said he could not ask for a moratorium but warned the companies Tuesday that they could expect thorough audits of the books at their home ofices if they raise rates.

Five of the cities have unerbudgeted the revenues from the state source and a sixth overbudgeted by a few housand dollars. Only the City of Casselberry included the full amount anticipated in its budget, now undergoing public hearing. Altamonte Springs included an estimated $247,000 from the state source in its budget, adopted Tuesday night, while the state has notified that city that $412,600 will be given to South Seminole's largest city, $165,000 more than anticipated.

Longwood, which used a conservative approach to budgeting anticipated revenues from all sources, placed a figure of $85,200 from state revenue sharing funds in its budget. The state has notified city officials that revenues will actually total $163,000 or $77,800 more than expected.

Sanford budgeted $815,000 from state revenue sharing and will actually receive $864,700 for a windfall of $49,700; Lake Mary budgeted $48,000, will receive $71,700, for a surplus of $23,700 and Winter Springs budgeted $86,100 and will receive $107,800, for a surplus of $21,700.

Peace In Mideast Nearer Than Ever

In spite of the controversy that may be aroused by the fine points of the Egyptian-Israeli agreement, the signing ceremony in Geneva recently represents a triumph of statesmanship. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin share with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger the credit for proving - at least so far - that a foundation for peace can be laid in an area of the world where history has been propelling governments toward war for generations.

A measure of the statesmanship can be seen in the element of risk being accepted by all concerned. Both Egypt and Israel have indicated they are willing to live with military and political risks under the agreement rather than continue on the dangerous course of no agreement at all. And Mr. Kissinger now begins the task of convincing the U.S. Congress and the American people that a new and more specific commitment by the United States of America in the Middle East is worth it for the sake of making this significant step toward peace.

Israel, in agreeing to give up 2,000 square miles of Sinai territory held since 1967, including the strategic Gidi and Mitla passes and the Abu Rudeis oil fields, is sacrificing a military advantage for diplomatic gains. Although those gains are considerable, particularly in terms of the U.S. commitment, this entails a risk the Israelis have refused to take in the past

The Egyptians, who balked last March at making any commitment of "non-belligerency" toward Israel, now appear to have done so. Mr. Sadat has tried to avoid giving the agreements the semblance of a direct new relationship with Israel, but he is risking accusations from the more militant Arab governments - and critics in his own country - that he has "sold out" the Arab cause. By publicly agreeing that Israeli cargo can pass through the Suez Canal, Mr. Sadat opens a serious gap between Egypt and those Arab states still determined to isolate Egypt by every practical means.

Mr. Kissinger's trip to other Arab capitals during his 13 days of shuttling, and after the Sinai accords had been initialed, reflect his own concern with the attitudes of the Arabs. He must persuade them that the Sinai settlement does not weaken their case for settling other territorial issues with Israel and satisfying the political aspirations of displaced Palestinians.

Those latter issues still represent the big hurdle to peace in the Middle East. However, if the good faith bargaining that went into the Sinai agreements can be followed by a good faith effort by Egypt, Israel and the United States to make them work, then the Syrians, Palestinians and others may find a basis for placing more of their own faith in the negotiating process. It is the belief in the possibility of just political settlements in the Middle East that must be kept alive, and the Israeli-Egyptian agreements now stand as the only tangible support of that belief.

At The Wellhead

The Federal Power Commission has taken a tiny, tentative step toward the competitive pricing of natural gas essential to equitable distribution of the fuel that fires much of the nation's economy.

Some industrial users may now make purchases directly in producing states at the wellhead price - which may be up to four times the price allowed by the FPC in interstate shipments. If the "experiment" is successful in drawing supplies from intrastate markets to remote industries faced with shortages, Congress might be persuaded to end permanently the regulation that is blamed for natural gas scarcity in certain areas of the country and the reluctance of producers to develop new wells. One dissenting member of the commission accused his fellows of exploiting a loophole in federal policy to effect the partial deregulation order. If the test achieves its desired and expected purpose, elimination of the decades-old controls that have contributed to the nation's energy crisis, the loophole will be the escape route from the pinch of shortages.

handed down the court's 8-0 opinion in the case of United States vs. Richard M. Nixon, President of the United States, directing the President to produce certain tape recordings and documents relating to his conversations with aides and This was the famous Watergate tapes case and was, in the opinion of attorney Joseph O. Coy. "the most important constitutional question which has confronted the court in the 187 years since the Constitution was written." Certainly, he says, it ranks with the 1803 case of Marbury vs. Madison (which was cited as a precedent in the tapes decision), in which Chief Justice John Marshall struck down an act of Congress as unconstitutional

In Marbury vs. Madison, the court assumed "the province and the duty to say what the law is." In United States vs. Nixon, while it recognized executive privilege as fundamental to the operation of the government, it held nevertheless that "the general assertion of privilege must yield to the demonstrated specific need for evidence in a pending criminal trial."

By virtue of these two decisions, maintains Coy, "the judicial branch now has established complete supremacy over both the legislative and the executive branches of the government." The question that will spring to most people's minds is, what would have happened if Coy's amendment had been part of the Constitution at the time of the Watergate scandal? The impeachment proceedings against Richard Nixon would never have gotten off the ground. Coy doesn't agree. The evidence on the tapes was not all that crucial to the case against Nixon, he says. Even if it was, the fate of one president or of a handful of his subordinates was secondary to the overwhelming importance of the confidentiality of the presidential decision-making process to the effective functioning of the three branches of the government.

Unionization Of Military Is Possible

Everyone sniggered some years ago when a cheeky radical named Andy Stapp tried to bring collective bargaining to the U.S. armed forces in the form of a feeble effort called the American Serviceman's Union. But the idea is no longer so preposterous.

The respected American Federation of Government Employes is "positively and energetically" exploring the feasibility of unionizing the military, spokesmen insisting that an Army rank of "shop steward" is more than a remote possibility.

Not surprisingly, the Pentagon is unhappy with the prospect. Seldom people to reveal their emotions, especially not their fears, Defense Department soldiers are nonetheless openly worried about the AFGE probe. "Pure insanity," says the chorus. Already the services have begun a campaign to discredit the idea that, as a marine puts it, "national defense can be left up to organized grievance committees." Thus far the campaign has consisted mostly of comparison finger pointing. "Look at the Dutch," the officials suggest. That nation's military force has in recent years been semi-unionized and, many feel, at the great peril of its people and its allies. Knowing Pentagon veterans believe even a little unionization has poisoned Holland's forces fatally: "I was in the Netherlands last month," says a colonel charged with NATO responsibilities, "and my impression was their Army is now made up mostly of dingdong buffoons."

Dutch officers stationed in Washington do not agree with the harsh assessment, but they are concerned to the extreme about the effects of unionization on their forces. Admiral H. Van Mastrigt, a 30-year veteran, now his nation's military attache in America, says bluntly that while he still has faith in the ability of Holland's troops, "I admit I am damned scared about unionization. It has gone too far. I think it is definitely hurting our defenses."

Van Mastrigt, an impeccable officer, quick of step and handsomely tailored, makes it clear that he does not personally object to the concept of organized representation in the Netherlands forces. Unlike the more affluent U.S. system, where government has usually provided a full range of soldiering benefits, Van Mastrigt says Holland servicemen have traditionally relied on associations to lobby for their fringe rewards. The associations have since early in this century held regular meetings with the ministers of defense, "often winning concessions which we otherwise wouldn't enjoy."

In recent years, however, a new association, the Association of Draftees (VDM), has tilted the military lobby effort increasingly towards militancy. The only association connected to a when decency demanded and ate what the win back his kingdom and the surviving Murats servicemen (fully 40 per cent of the Army) in a democratization plunge that, in Admiral Van Mastrigt's words, has "made us look rather silly in some eyes."

Attorney General In Unique Position On Pardon

By JOHN VAN GIESON Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE (AP) - A quirk of Florida's unique Cabinet system has put Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin in the position of signing a pardon for Freddie Pitts and Wilbert Lee after his staff fought to uphold their murder conviction in the appellate courts. The attorney general has long been cast in a "two-hat" role as chief legal officer, whose staff is responsible for handling appeals of criminal convictions, and a member of the Pardon Board. The Pitts-Lee case is different, however, in that it involves profound differences of opinion between Shevin and the assistant attorneys general who work in his Criminal Appeals Division.

Asst. Attys. Gen. George Georgieff, Raymond Marky and Richard Prospect, who have handled the Pitts-Lee cases at various stages, believe the two black men who have been twice convicted and have served 12 years in prison are guilty of mur. attorney general lifted several sentences verbatim and indering Port St. Joe service station attendants Grover Floyd and corporated them into remarks he read to the Pardon Board the Jesse Burkett on July 31, 1963.

Hearing Scheduled

OVIEDO - A tax level of 2.67 mills will be considered at a public hearing scheduled for Oct. 6. The tax, which amounts to $2,67 for every $1,000 of appraised property value, is part of next year's proposed budget. During 1975-76 the city expects to balance its budget at $548,335.

Some departments that were cut include the fire department, which asked for $61,714. Part of that request was a sum of $17,614 for capital outlay, but only $15,560 was allocated in all, including $5,000 for capital outlay.

The police department asked for general funds to pay for a new vehicle, but council will pay for the vehicle from federal revenue sharing funds. The total police budget request of $138,586 was cut only $960.

In other departments the city is expected to spend $47,031 for administration; $4,600 for council; $300 for elections; $2,200 for municipal court costs; $34,584 for streets, and drainage; $13,175 for buildings and grounds; and $1,600 for recreation.

New York Walkout Ends Fort Wayne Teachers To Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As New York's teachers were ending a week-long walkout in financially strapped New York City and preparing to resume classes Thursday in the 1.1 million-pupil system, their Fort Wayne, Ind., colleagues voted to strike this morning.

The Indiana city school administrators immediately announced the schools would be closed. The executive board of the 1, 500-member Fort Wayne Teachers Association ordered a strike today against the system which has about 30,000 pupils.

An all-night negotiating session ended about 4:30 a.m. when Indiana state mediator William Leahy said negotiators had reached an impasse. He said the negotiators had met for about seven hours. Association leaders said the dispute centered on teacher demands for a 10 per cent salary increase and binding arbitration. The New York pact which cuts class time 90 minutes a week was grudgingly accepted by the teachers and already is the subject of parent Tuesday after negotiations broke down. A similar protests.

In Chicago, meanwhile, negotiations continued without an apparent breakthrough. About 530,000 pupils have been idled since 27,000 teachers struck on the first day of classes Sept. 3.

Teachers at a vocational school in Milan, Ohio, voted to return to work today after accepting a new contract Tuesday night raising their base pay from $7,750 to $8,300. They struck at the start of the school year, delaying the opening for 900 students.

Two-Way McDaniel Named Tribe's Player Of Week

By JIM HAYNES Herald Sports Editor

Bill McDaniel always wanted to play offense. Generally, he wound up as a defensive star.

So when the Seminole High senior looked around him this fall and saw an abundance of talented running backs, he didn't feel so bad being a regular only on the defensive unit.

Then, in the topsy-turvey world of ootball, he was cast right back into the offensive scheme of things Friday night when Seminole defeated Oviedo, 53-6. All he did was wind up Seminole's leading rusher with 63 yards in 11 carries. For his two-way efforts - he was also high in assists and second in tackles from his linebacker spot - he was named Seminole's player of the week and received a plaque from the Optimists Club Tuesday.

especially an award this nice," he told Optimists, gathering for lunch and a regular meeting. McDaniel reflected back on Friday night's game. "I didn't even know I was going t start until we got the ball," said the brown-haired, blue-eyed McDaniel. "McDaniel, first team offense, barked out coach Jerry Posey, sending McDaniel in at fullback. Tim Raines had injured an ankle making a tackle, and Posey moved Ned Raines to halfback, making room for McDaniel.

Seminole's line cooperated and McDaniel got the call on first play bursting up the middle for 14 yards. He got zero the next play, but on successive carries picked up seven and five. On a third quarter drive, he carried four straight plays, reeling off gainers of 21, 6, 8 and 4 yards. By then the score was

Referee Ends It In 6th Wells Stops Morgan, Bids For Title Bout

By LOUIS SAPSIS Herald Boxing Writer

ORLANDO - "Bring on Mike Baker," was the battle cry of southern middleweight champion Gene Wells, after he stopped Tampa's Mike Morgan in the sixth round in defense of his title Tuesday night at the Orlando Sports Stadium.

Wells had been promised an October date with Baker, the current United States champion, if he turned back Morgan's challenge "in impressive fashion."

The southern champion could not have been more impressive. After a slow first round, Wells took control in the second. A scorching left hook was the big punch but Gene was able to get in repeatedly with a right hand that seemed to have radar on it. A sneak right lead cut Morgan over his left eye in the third as Wells continued the assault on the stylish

In rounds four and five Morgan went all out in a vair attempt to pull the fight out of the fire. But Wells was equal to the test as the pair of 160 pounders went toe-to-toe o several exchanges. Morgan's best punch during

Shingles Caused By Virus

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I wish you would tell us something about shingles. Are they caused by a virus? Could this be the fault of chemicals in the water we drink? I never knew they are under the skin, just a few appearing on the outside of the skin. They are very painful. Could shots or cortisone help but attack.

Calling All Little Girls

The entries in the annual Little Miss BPW Contest are coming in fast and furious, reports Val Colbert, chairman of the event sponsored by the Sanford Business and Professional Women's Club.

Almost daily, the picture of another five-, six-, or sevenyear-old hopeful little girl is added to the Little Miss BPW bulletin board located in the lobby of the Flagship Bank of Sanford. If you live in Seminole County and surrounding area, and have a daughter aged 5-7, contact Mrs. Colbert at the Atlantic National Bank of Sanford Building, or any BPW member, for application forms. The contest will be held Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center, and emcee for the evening will be Sen. Lori Wilson (I-Merritt Island).

Sitting on the panel of judges will be: Miriam Wright, School of Dance Arts, Sanford: Woodrow Clark, past president of Seminole Mutual Concert Assn.; Pat Telson, Seminole County School Board member: Bert B. Hollingsworth, certified public accountant; and Frances Jackson, owner of Hey Diddle Diddle Kindergarten, Sanford. Contestants and sponsors so far are: Angela Burton, Sloan Realty; Christine Beatty, Norgetown Coin Laundry; Heather MacDonald, Bamboo Cove Apts.; Linda Lou Venson, Adams Auto Parts; Sharon Hatcher, Sobik's; Mary Kellogg, Leach Aluminum Fabricating Co.; Shelley Hardy, Harcar Aluminum Products; and Tenna Tate, Merle Norman Cosmetics

Also, Lisa D. McGrotha, Jin Rowe Pest Control: Lori Wolfe Carrick Realty; Shannon Sanford; Tracie Lea Giusto, Yvonne; Dawn Dixon, Kader Tracy Williams, Knight's Shoe Most recent entrants are Humphrey, Burger-In; Melody Lake Monroe Inn; Rayvonne Jewelers; Tamara Sangster, Store; Linda Gazil, Stenstrom Nina Burke and Victoria
