The New Clerk

The promptness with which Governor Sholtz has acted upon receipt of the auditor's report on the conditions existing in the County Clerk's office, is a commendation of the previous Clerk but also in appointing the new one, has served to temper somewhat the shock and disillusionment which the alleged shortages were about to bring to produce among the people of this county who, for years have taken a pronounced pride in what appeared to be the exemplary conduct of their County affairs.

In selecting O. P. Herndon for this vacancy Governor Sholtz has hit upon a happy choice at the exact moment when such a choice was essential to the preservation of any confidence whatever in the orderly and honest processes of government. There is no man in the County who is more highly respected or generally liked than Mr. Herndon and it is safe to say that his conduct of the Clerk's office will maintain to the highest degree the best principles of honesty, courtesy and efficiency.

Mr. Herndon was born in this city forty-two years ago to one of this section's oldest pioneer families. Educated in the local schools and at the University of Florida, he entered business at an early age and at some time was the owner and proprietor of the old Union Hotel. For the past ten or twelve years he has been engaged in farming, with at the same time, having an interest in the local newspaper business. As a representative in the State Legislature, he has shown a marked interest in the regulation of the office of the County Clerk and the duties of his office.

It is a fact that few citizens in Mr. Herndon's office have any personal knowledge of his work. This is due to the fact that he has been in the office for a long time and has been able to handle all the business of the office with a minimum of publicity. His work has been so efficient that it has not attracted the attention of the public. It is a fact that few citizens in Mr. Herndon's office have any personal knowledge of his work.

BRITISH BANKING

Dispute regarding the British banking system was mentioned in the article. It discussed the stability of the system and the impact of government intervention. The article noted that the British banking system has remained stable and efficient, but it also mentioned that government intervention in the banking system is a common sight in many countries.

The soundness of the British banking system is attributed to the experience and to the lack of government regulation and interference in operations. The article stated that the British banking system is one of the most sound in the world, and it is a result of the long experience of the British people in banking.

Such an achievement of course demands some banking management to the depositors and to the public. The article mentioned that the British banking system is a result of the long experience of the British people in banking, and it is a result of the long experience of the British people in banking.

Dillinger Walked His Last Mile Just Year Ago Saturday

Noted Desperado Met Outlaw's Death At Hands Of G-Men

By GILES FINDLEY CHICAGO, July 27.—John Dillinger, the hoodlum outlaw who reared at "escape-proof jail" from behind a "wooden post," walked his "last mile" a year ago Saturday.

Thinking his way through through at the World's Fair, Dillinger's hour was at hand for exactly 32 weeks ago that the then widely known "Public Enemy No. 1" was shot.

He was shot on July 22, 1934, a sticky muggy night, in the heart of the city of Chicago, in the heart of the city of Chicago, in the heart of the city of Chicago.

Has Our Nation Outgrown Safety Of Constitution?

Our outstanding American statesmen have invariably been realists. The men who wrote the Constitution were authorized only to revise the articles of confederation, but the emergency was so great, the need of union so acute, that they exceeded their authority and wrote a new Constitution. Jefferson moved in this respect when he negotiated the Louisiana Purchase, Lincoln when he declared the necessity for reversing the freed slave decision, and later when he issued the Emancipation Proclamation. In his debates with Douglas, Lincoln made his intention perfectly plain. A spiritual descendant of Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, made himself equally plain when in 1902 he proclaimed "against all theory that would make of the Constitution a means of thwarting instead of securing the absolute right of the people to rule themselves and to decide for their own social and industrial well-being."

Now that the nation is approaching maturity, we face the necessity of discovering the principle of unity which provides most fully and justly the basis for an enduring relationship of the several regions and groups to the federal union. It must be a unity which will allow abundant room for diversity within it and which will permit simultaneous centralization and decentralization. Centralization of certain powers is not a national approach to the problems of decentralization. A national administrative function is a subject of democracy, not a subject of autocracy.

Gandhi Calls Upon Indians To Offer Aid To Ethiopians

CAIRO, July 27.—Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, who organized a British ambulance corps for service in the Near East yesterday called upon his people, who call him "Gandhi," to aid Ethiopia.

The Mahatma appeals for funds to finance an Indian Expedition to Ethiopia, which is being organized by Premier Daudu Melesse, a champion of the black race.

Just one week ago Gandhi stated that whites must be expelled from Africa. They were moved by the charges that the whites and blacks are uniting against white supremacy.

WITNESSES IN NEW PROBE ARE GIVEN WARNING

Witnesses in the new probe are given a warning that earlier in the week an agreement was reached to let a commission report up to five percent of its income for gifts be charitable.

These were the President's statement followed by authorizing the work yesterday that the committee Democrats would not include an exemption feature in their bill.

Scores of members, however, continued to receive dozens of letters from individuals and charitable organizations urging the change. Consequently, it was generally forecast that if the bill emerged from the committee without the deduction, the attempt would be made to change it on the floor.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO STOP SCOURING POTS and PANS FOREVER?

When you cook electrically, no soot blackens pots and pans because electricity heats without flames. And with electric cookery no heat creeps up around the sides, causing the food to stick to the pot at the high water mark.

Cleanliness is only one of the many reasons why electric cookery is better. Automatic control, certain results, safety, and your low Thrifty Three electric rate, all help to make electric cookery the best way for you to cook.

The electric range itself is as easy to clean as a china dish. The absence of smoke and soot saves kitchen curtains and walls, too.
