The Pentagon gave permission to use the secret suit after efforts failed to locate a decompression chamber. (International Soundphoto)

Ike To Give Appraisal Of U.S. Missile Strength In TV Talk

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower appeared ready today to give the nation as frank an appraisal of U. S. missile strength as security will permit in his televised address Thursday night. Officials disclosed that Eisenhower's performance compared with that of experts preparing for him detailed data on American missile performance compared with that of Russia's new space-conquering rockets.

The President decided with dramatic suddenness Tuesday night to speak to the nation from the White House on the same day that the Russians celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. That is the occasion on which the Soviets are expected to announce any new technological achievements as a follow-up to their two space satellites. It also is the time that they put on a massive display of their military might.

Planned Speech Later
Eisenhower originally had planned to deliver his speech, to be entitled "Science and Security," at Oklahoma City, Nov. 13. The White House said the address would be "of major importance." The White House did not say why the President changed the timing of his speech. But he apparently wanted to be ready to quickly counter any announcement of new Soviet scientific and military gains with reassurances to the American people of U. S. strength. It also was possible — but there was no indication that it was probable — that the President would disclose some striking new U. S. technological achievement or plans. Eisenhower's change of plans reflected increasing top-level administration concern over the psychological gains Russia has scored with its rockets and two Sputniks. Rods Lead In Phase

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conceded at a news conference Tuesday that Russia apparently is leading this country in some phases of missile development. But he said he felt sure the United States would overtake the Soviets.

And Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles said in a Baltimore speech Tuesday night that recent Russian weapon strides leave the United States no choice except to "do whatever must be done to step out ahead."
Democratic leaders of the Senate meanwhile, put new pressure on the President to speed up the nation's satellite - missile programs. Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson announced that the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee would soon begin a "searching inquiry" into these fields.

Eisenhower called off his news conference originally planned for today. Mrs. Anne Whitton, acting White House press secretary, said Thursday night's speech would cover much the same ground as a news conference and that the President wanted to "reach a larger audience" than would have been possible at question-and-answer session with reporters.

Weather
Fair today and Thursday. Little temperature change.

Voters Favor Brown In Commission Race

"I am very pleased of course", answered newly elected City Commissioner Robert S. Brown when asked about yesterday's election this morning. "My thanks to the voters who elected me; I appreciate it and hope that their confidence is deserved." Brown further stated that "I intend to work for the city's future just as I have in the past as chairman of the planning commission. I know the members of the present city commission. They are men I can work with, and I feel we can get a lot done in Sanford that needs doing."

Brown was elected to the post Tuesday in the only contest. He defeated Mrs. Alice W. Willink. The commission seat is one now held by F. D. Scott, who declined to run.

Out of 3,500 eligible voters, only 812 cast their ballots. 333 votes were cast for Brown, 172 for Mrs. Willink, and 447 for Commissioner A. L. Wilson, who is an incumbent and unopposed.

Three county school trustees were elected in the county yesterday. They were James Birkenmeyer, Casselberry, Roy Mann and R. F. Cooper, incumbents.

The millage requested by the school board, which has been the same since 1952, was once more passed. Eight mills will go to district 1 for maintenance. Two mills are allotted for the building and bus reserve.

There will be a canvas of the ballots on Nov. 14, Nov. 19 is the date for the county-wide election on the school bond issue.

Russia Said Working On Photonic Rockets

LONDON — Soviet scientist Cyril Stanyukovich said today the Russians are working on photonic rockets which theoretically, approach the speed of light—186,000 miles a second. Stanyukovich also reported in an article in the newspaper Trud, that Russia used a liquid super-fuel and not nuclear energy to launch its second earth satellite. Russian work on atomic energy "opens great possibilities in the building of aircraft engines which would facilitate flights to other planets," he said. Stanyukovich gave no details of the research into the photonic rockets except to say Soviet scientists were working on such rockets "which would develop super-cosmic speeds approximating the speed of light."

Energy from Light
British rocket expert Kenneth Gatland said "photonic" rockets would draw energy from light and theoretically at least would be capable of continuous acceleration approximately the speed of light. Dr. Vitaly Romadin, identified by Moscow radio as a "Soviet scientist," said Russian scientists already have created conditions similar to those that would be encountered on a flight to Mars. The new series of Soviet statements came as the Western world became edgy over reports of mysterious unidentified flying objects and speculation that Russia would unveil new secret weapons Thursday on the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Scientists in the United States and abroad picked up new and unexplained radio signals from space and Japanese scientists reported a second object in the sky with Sputnik II although Russia has indicated the satellite consisted of only one unit. There were reports Tuesday of unidentified flying objects near Alamogordo, N. M., near the scene of the first atomic explosion, and over the Pacific Ocean. Tuesday night South African air force searchlights picked up a "cylindrical object" flying over Johannesburg. Speculation continued that Russia might try to send a rocket to the moon for Thursday's mammoth celebration, but there was no comment from Moscow.

State Is Urged To Decide On Cross State Canal Soon

TALLAHASSEE (UP)—Gov. LeRoy Collins has urged the state to make up its mind "within the next few months" whether it wants to go ahead with plans for construction of the oft-discussed $161,000,000 cross-state barge canal.

But the governor himself withheld endorsement of the big project until he can get more information on it. He said he wanted to be "absolutely certain" there are no practical dangers such as the intrusion of salt water into the lush agricultural lands of central Florida.

Speaking Tuesday at a luncheon meeting of waterway interests, he said the canal "deserves very serious consideration." And he promised to seek all the information he can get on the project so he can make an early decision whether or not to support it. "Attending the luncheon was the powerful Mississippi Valley Assn., the world's biggest waterway group, representing 23 states. "Florida is tremendously interested in waterways development," said Collins, "and we are aware of its industrial potential. But the canal is still in the exploratory stage and we are just seeking information about its prospects."

MVA president W. W. Hollowell of Greenville, Miss., said the cross-state canal would be valuable to Florida because it would bring about cheap transportation rates, water stabilization and industrial development.

County Commission Has Quiet, Routine Meeting Yesterday

The Seminole County Commissioners meeting held Tuesday had little of the fire and ice of past sessions. A quiet meeting with routine matters left little to report. A delegation from the Lake Drive area of Casselberry consisting of between 30 and 40 persons appeared before the commission. A spokesman stated that Commissioner B. C. Dodd had promised them the paving of Lake Drive for five years and at this time they wanted a definite statement. The delegation was promised by the entire commission that the road would be paved this year. In other action, Bill Kirk was awarded a piece of property the county had for sale. Kirk was the highest bidder for the Elder Springs holdings. The commissioners attended the joint civic meeting with Congressman Herlong.

Two Dwellings Are Destroyed Monday In Midway Fire

Two dwellings were completely destroyed and three others threatened Monday afternoon, when a fire of undetermined origin swept through a section of Spivey Avenue on block off Highway 46 in Midway. At 2 p. m. the Navy fire department, led by civilian Fire Chief Whitten, rushed to the scene, and prevented the consumption of three more buildings. Ownership of the dwelling in the colored section was not disclosed.

Russia's 'Tear Apart' Drive Herlong's Topic

"Our problem is Russia and its attempt to tear this country apart from within, yet not themselves extending one bullet," said U. S. Representative Syd Herlong at an informal luncheon tendered him by the Seminole County Jaycees in the Parish House of All Saints Episcopal Church here Tuesday. In developing this statement Congressman Herlong declared that the best way to combat this fighting with and among ourselves, which Russia has been trying to foment throughout the Nation, is to establish and maintain a "sound national economy." Living under a sound economy will discourage any urge for internal strife, he said. Herlong cited several ways that Russia has pursued their campaign to "tear apart from within."

Among these attempts has been the infiltration of the NAACP with Communist card holders and sympathizers. "The whole effort of the NAACP since 1933 has been forced on by members of its Board of Directors who at some time were members of the Communist party," said Herlong. In touching on Russia's sudden rise to world leadership in the missile race, the Congressman first said there is no cause for alarm or panic. Russia is completely encircled by NATO's air bases, and there would be swift retaliation on any Soviet attempt to bomb this or any other country by inter-continental missiles. NAS Civilians Save Government $16,141

Since January 1954, Beneficial Suggestions submitted by NAS civilians employes have saved the government $16,141. Naval Air Station civilians are encouraged by the Incentive Awards Committee to think of better ways to perform their tasks so as to bring about a savings to the government and a monetary award for themselves. The Incentive Awards Committee is an Act approved by Congress and encouraged by the President that aids not only the Civil Service Employe as an individual, giving him incentive to perform more efficiently in his job, but also aids the government and the taxpayer in monetary savings that otherwise may never have been realized.

Although the basic ideas of the Incentive Awards Program have been in effect nationally for several years, the local program was established at NAS Sanford in January 1954, and is composed of eight members, both civilian and military. Commander Marion H. Hawkins, Assistant Operations Officer, heads the committee as chairman, and is assisted by civilians Wesley E. Giles, vice-chairman; John C. Brown, advisor; and Mrs. Winifred Scott, recorder. The purpose of the Committee is to encourage and provide the incentive for both civilian and military at NAS to submit beneficial suggestions that prove to be a savings to the government. This committee, which meets once a month, carefully studies all suggestions submitted to insure that each suggestion they recommend to the Commanding Officer for approval is a positive savings to the government. The initiator of the approved suggestion is presented a monetary award suitable to the savings he has provided the government. Awards presented to NAS civilians since January 1954 total $190, representing a total savings to the government of $16,141. Funds for the awards are set aside by the Navy Department's "Navy Management Fund". Each fiscal year various bureaus contribute to this fund according to the extent of their participation in the program. Initiators of rejected suggestions receive letters of appreciation from the Committee with explanations of why their ideas are not feasible. In addition to the Beneficial Suggestion, the committee also handles Superior Accomplishment evaluations which are, in brief, outstanding inventions or improvements, or acts of superior achievement above and beyond one's job; and Sustained Superior Performance, which is the performance of ones duties in a superior manner for not less than a six month period.

Since the Incentive Awards Program commenced at NAS Sanford, three Superior Accomplishment Awards have been presented by the Commanding Officer, totaling $500, bringing about an intangible savings to the government.

THE NAS INCENTIVE Awards Committee meets for the last time under the leadership of outgoing Chairman, Commander Marion H. Hawkins (fifth from right) who has presided in this capacity the past year. Lieutenant Commander Lauri J. Leary (seated to the right of Commander Hawkins) was appointed the new Chairman of the Committee. Left to right are committee members: A. P. Bower, W. E. Giles, Sr., John C. Brown, advisor; James J. Drum, Herb Gilliland, Mrs. Winifred Scott, recorder; Commander Hawkins, Lieutenant Commander Leary, E. E. Terry, vice chairman; John H. Hess, and Mrs. Lina F. Harrison. (Official USN Photo)

Food Prices Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today that middlemen, not farmers, are mainly responsible for the rising cost of food.

Mr. and Mrs. Consumer and all your little consumers: Your grocery bills for food in July, August, and September were 4 per cent higher than they were in the same months last year.

The middlemen—really a crowd of people who assemble, process, transport, and distribute food—got three-fourths of the extra money you paid the grocer. The other one-fourth went to farmers who produced the raw commodities.

Conversation, Questions, Plans Reveal Our Teenagers Are Okay!

Have you ever made it a point to be among fifty or sixty teenagers to find out what their minds might be — or listen to their conversation — or find out first hand some of the questions they ask?

If you haven't then be sure to plan such an occasion for from your findings there will come many revelations.

First off, you'll find out that our teenagers are okay!

At a recent conference to which a large group of representative teenagers from junior and senior classes of about sixteen counties in Central Florida came, conversation and questions filled a major part of a day.

These young men and young women were representatives of H-Y and Tri-H-Y organizations from quite a number of schools.

To themselves for the entire day, they were anxious to glean as much information as they could — not about the subjects you are prone to think came up. What they wanted to know mainly was about government — how it operated, by whom was it operated, and how could the calibre of leaders in government be improved.

Yes — these were young men and young ladies standing on their own two feet asking pertinent questions on "How is a Bill drafted?", "How can we get better quality text books?", "Should the voting age be changed?", "Should the driving age be lowered?" — and frankly, hundreds of questions one would expect from a group of already mature and grown men and women.

Their interest in the future was sincere, as conversation revealed; so sincere that one would never doubt the future of the present-day teenager.

This group of young men and young women amazed adult leaders from several walks of life — amazed them because of the teenagers' ability to make themselves understood. And these teenagers readily admitted that they represented a cross-section of the teenagers in their various communities of the state.

Keen interest in "How to Draft a Bill", "Possible Field of Legislation in Florida" and "Christian Leadership in Government" certainly reflects a solid, sound, and active generation to come.

Exactly what lies behind the rumors which you may hear from day to day about teenagers — then you had better plan to listen in on the conversation, plans, futures, and thinking of fifty or sixty modern young men and young ladies of sixteen and seventeen years old.

Even you will come away with some constructive plans for your own interest in government and the future!

Local Bond Issue Needs Support

Speaking of teenagers and their plans for the future, perhaps our local citizens, countywide, should begin to take a bigger and more active interest in the forthcoming election to approve a $2½ million school construction bond issue.

If you have visited our present schools — those teaching high school subjects — the very lack of vocational training will open one's eyes.

The learning to do by actually performing the task is one of the sure ways to help guide a young man or a young woman's thoughts toward a career.

We have mentioned on several occasions the need for a broadening of the science program in high schools by providing modern laboratories and science classrooms for instruction and demonstration.

Drawing, both free-hand mechanical and architectural, is a subject that needs space in our high schools to develop the creative ability of the teenage students.

And there are many subjects which could be added to the curriculum, IF there could be provided the space.

The bond issue which voters in Seminole County will approve on Nov. 19 will bring our schools up to par by 1962. There will be no double sessions, crowded classrooms, lack of facilities should the forward thinking people who know the need for educational facilities go to the polls and place their stamp of approval on the ballot.

Lesson in Interdependence!

There is nothing like a power failure in a metropolitan area to drive home dramatically the fact of our mutual interdependence. This interdependence is one of the primary conditions of a civilized community. The fact suggests a fruitful train of thought when one tries to figure out how the true community of mankind can be achieved.

A man pioneering on a farm a century ago depended on almost no one but himself and his family. With some minor exceptions, they were independent of the whole complexity of trade and commerce and utilities.

Yet few of us would trade places with the pioneer farmer. We lead much more comfortable lives than he did, and one of the principle reasons for this is that we all depend on one another in thousands of ways.

This was dramatically illustrated when more than a million people in one of our metropolitan areas were deprived of power for a couple of hours recently. Lights went out over the entire region, but that was only a small part of what happened. People were trapped in elevators that came to a sudden halt. Electric clocks stopped, radio and television sets fell silent, the streets were jammed as traffic lights failed. Such things as refrigerators, freezers and electric ovens stopped functioning, gas and oil furnaces shut down, extra police were dispatched to banks as automatic alarm systems failed, the myriad operations of electrical power tools and equipment stopped dead.

What it all amounted to was a potent lesson in interdependence. A man who lives in a city, even in a tiny village, depends on many others, and they in turn depend on him. It is beginning to be that way internationally. Time was when a nation could be self sufficient. That time is passing.

Speaking to a group of business executives in Tampa last week, David Corey, an official of the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency, pictured South Florida as becoming one city in the years to come.
The vision is a practically solid developed area that will contain two-thirds of the state's population. This future dense population area would stretch from north of Tampa on the Gulf Coast south to Naples while the East Coast will continue its amazing growth from the Keys to Jacksonville. Large central areas such as Orlando and Gainesville will serve as hubs for the Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami triangle with homes and industries packed in between.
Flying over this area today most of the territory appears deserted or under water, yet travel by car proves otherwise and when we consider other areas of the nation, that were formerly farms and fields which have become practically one big sprawling metropolis in the last 20 years, Corey's prediction seems to make sense.
Much the same thing happened in the New England-New York-New Jersey area. Here a densely populated strip stretched from Boston along the coast, finally ending as far south as Virginia Beach forming a 600 mile-wide Corey pointed out that changes in the last few years with industry seeking larger space for expansion and new plants, people seeking larger and better homes in more spacious, comfortable surroundings; following in the wake of industrial development, ease of transportation through super highways and countless thousands seeking a desirable location for retirement all give Florida a tremendous advantage and leave its continued magical growth.
Evidence of what is happening is found in the Hillsborough-Pine-land area where numerous new large industries are spreading millions of dollars and new homes are being built by the hundreds and sold as fast as they are completed.
Another section that is experiencing similar development is the Piedmont Range in Georgia, North and South Carolina. This will become another Southern interurbans just as will South Florida.
Such growth, of course, call for more super highways and turnpikes. Corey pointed out that transportation problems and the necessity for networks of easily accessible highways is causing the destruction of 80,000 homes a year and the number will increase. With the nation's fast increase in population and larger average families it means we must continue to build more and bigger homes which, of course, call for more public buildings, super-markets and business blocks.
North of Tampa the Temple Terrace area at one time a vast orange grove is destined to become an important manufacturing center surrounded by thousands of modern homes. New buildings are two huge brewery plants of the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company and the Anheuser-Busch Breweries plants and here also is the site along

Foreign News Commentary

Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov's degradation appears to have been an emergency operation.
Exactly what lies behind the latest upheaval in the Kremlin is still a matter for speculation.
It is not even certain that Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev was the prime mover in Zhukov's dismissal as defense minister and cozier from the high councils of Russian Communism.
But it does appear to be certain that as late as October 7, Zhukov was still in good standing.
Zhukov was dismissed as defense minister on October 25. Apparently during that interval of 19 days the ruling Communist Party Presidium decided that Zhukov had to go at once.
On Oct. 26, Khrushchev gave a three-hour and twenty-minute interview to James Reston, chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Times, who was then visiting Russia.
At the very end of the interview Khrushchev himself disclosed that the Soviet government had sought an invitation for Zhukov to visit the United States but had been rebuffed.
Probably Didn't Know
It is hardly likely that Khrushchev would have raised this matter if he had decided at that time to put the skies under Zhukov.

Some things about the Zhukov affair are clear. First, some Soviet leaders feared that under Zhukov the armed forces were getting too independent and were a potential threat to the Communist Party. Secondly, some of them feared also that Zhukov himself was getting too popular and too powerful.
It has been taken for granted, however, generally, that Khrushchev engineered Zhukov's dismissal. Yet a Paris newspaper asserts that it has information that Khrushchev at first opposed Zhukov's dismissal, but agreed to it to keep his own position from being weakened.
There is always a tendency to find complicated answers to developments in the Kremlin. But maybe Zhukov just got too big for his britches.

SYMBOL OF MOTORDOM'S PROUDEST ACHIEVEMENT

In every field of human endeavor there arises one man or one product universally acknowledged as the leader, the trailblazer, the star.

the winding Hillsborough River selected for the building of Florida's third State University as well as many smaller business and educational institutions.
Pinellas County continues to attract big industry around the bay area with such firms as Minneapolis-St. Paul, General Electric, Sperry-Rand, Air Associates, and others. It was recently announced that the Houston Texas Gas and Oil Corporation, the firm that is bringing natural gas by pipeline to Florida is establishing offices in St. Petersburg. All this clearly indicates the trend that Mr. Corey sees as making all of South Florida one big suburban metropolitan area in the future.

Author Of Circus Books Visits Sanford Schools, Gives Talk

Sanford was honored Tuesday morning when Mrs. Marian Murray of Sarasota came to this city from Orlando, where she is appearing with other prominent authors in the Book Fair. Sponsored by the Children's Book Council of New York and a Central Florida newspaper, the Book Fair has gathered a vast number of prominent authors for six days of lectures, visits and insight to better literature.

As a guest of Mrs. S. O. Chase, herself the chairman of the library committee at the Sanford Grammar School, Mrs. Murray visited several Sanford schools this morning to talk of writing, the circus and children.

Mrs. Murray is the author of the well-known children's book, "Here Comes the Circus," published by Little, Brown and Co. She is primarily not a children's writer. Her job as Public Relations Director for the Ringling Brothers' Circus in Sarasota requires that she write brochures, newspaper and magazine articles. In addition to writing, Mrs. Murray makes frequent talks on the circus, does radio work, and infrequently, television appearances.
She is the author of a coloring book for children entitled "Sarasota, the Circus City," for which she wrote the text.

Mrs. Murray has also written a history of the circus for adults. Title of this book is "Circus, From Rome to Ringling". Mrs. Murray has traced the fun, the excitement and the color of the circus from its birth in Egypt to its resting place in Sarasota.
Encouraging to young authors is the fact that Mrs. Murray began

Texas A&M Takes Top Place In UP Football Ratings

By NORMAN MILANE
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Texas A&M's perfect-record powerhouse, which often leaves its opponents wondering just how it keeps winning, replaced Oklahoma today as the No. 1 team in the United Press college football ratings.

When the Texas Aggies beat Texas Christian, 7-0, two weeks ago, one of the losing players remarked, "we should have whipped them three touchdowns." The following week when Baylor succumbed, 14-0, the victims chorused "they're not that good." And the Arkansas Razorbacks were hardly improved with A&M's prowess when being edged 7-6 by coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's men last Saturday.

No Soft Touch

But small though their victory margins may be at times, the Aggies have managed to find the winning formula in a pressure-packed schedule that does not include a soft touch.

And on that basis, the consensus of the 26 leading coaches who make up the United Press ratings based picked Texas A&M tops this week by a margin of 10 points over Oklahoma. Thirteen of the coaches made the Aggies their No. 1 choice; 11 voted for Oklahoma. Auburn moved up to third place and Michigan State took over

Fourth in the ever-lightening race for the national championship.

Two Tied for 10th

The top 10 group became a "top eleven" this week when Oregon and Tennessee tied for the No. 10 ranking. Both teams were newcomers to the select group this week, along with Navy and Michigan.

Auburn, whose coach Sng Jordan received a new contract Monday largely on the strength of this season's 6-0 record, attracted seven first-place votes. After Auburn came three Big Ten Conference teams in order — Michigan State, Iowa and Ohio State. Michigan State and Iowa each had one first-place vote; Ohio State received two.

Army, Navy, Michigan and the dejected Oregon and Tennessee teams rounded out the leading group.

ROME (UP)—Athletes such as Joe DiMaggio and Yogi Berra, an Italian said vehemently today, are better known abroad and actually are finer goodwill ambassadors than the big wheels in the State Department.

You hear this same approach to the subject in baseball-happy Japan. And certainly, here in the spaghetti and vino capital of the world, you'd have to give an edge to such fine local handles as DiMaggio and Berra.

Yet, when you inspect the scenic Tiber Valley where the Olympic Games are to be held in 1960, you can't be blamed for scanning such statements with a slightly suspicious eye.

This is not designed to provoke a debate as to whether the international games do anything to foster international good will. Nor is it meant to knock the slightly soggy slogan anent the friendships formed on the field of friendly strife.

But there must be a moral of sorts somewhere in Rome's Olympic setting.

Rising tall and green beyond the playing fields is a mountain which forms a breath-taking backdrop. It slopes upward with a soft gentleness, undulating and reaching toward the sky and top its summit stands a commanding gold statue of Christ. It is a setting which, at first glance, gives the impression of a deep serenity.

But then you look more closely at the bland face of the monument and only then do you realize the friendship and understanding.

On one knoll there is a building which houses war orphans.

Topping one rising slope, white crosses gleam in the sunlight, shimmering symbols in a cemetery dedicated to a nation's war dead.

Justing out on one rise is a blank-faced building, its facade as vacant as the kinds of those incarcerated on the inside.

And on another of those commanding hills is a stately mansion which, though now a restaurant, still stands as a testimonial to the fact that it once housed a dictator's mistress.

Looking at these sores under the sad eyes of the statue at the crest, you remember that the Olympics sprang originally from a war. For they were designed by the ancient Greeks in tribute to Pheidippides, who carried the news of Greek victory over the Persians in the Battle of Marathon all the way to Athens and dropped dead after the telling.

So they started with a broken heart, fell apart as other wars intervened and finally were resumed at Athens in 1896. According to plan, they are held every four years, yet still other wars three times have halted them in the years since their modern inception.

Upheavals Seen In Grid Coaching Ranks

By HARRY WISNER
Written For The United Press
NEW YORK (UP)—Look for more upheavals in the coaching ranks in pro football after the close of this season, than we've had in quite a few years.

There'll be demials from every corner but there'll be a switch in the field boss at Los Angeles, where Ed Gullman now holds a sway. At Green Bay, Lisle Blackburn, a native of high school and college coaching in the Badger State, is due to be let go. Hugh Devore is serving his last season with the Philadelphia Eagles.

There's anything but satisfaction in the ranks of the Chicago Bears and the Detroit Lions. Rumblings are continuous in Chicago about the fate of Faddy Driscoll. Detroit, named a co-favorite in the Western Conference, has taken a pounding, and their 2-3 record is anything but impressive. And Webb Ewbank of the Colts is also in trouble.

Title Inspires Forty-Niners
Right now the San Francisco 49ers, behind the sensational play of Y. A. Title, are leading the league in points and have the best scoring punch in the NFL. In the east, the leading Browns are easily the defensive leaders. They've only had 66 points scored against them in six games, 21 less than the Giants who are in second place defensively.

Its going to be mighty hard to stop either the 49ers or the Browns.

They're selecting the competing teams for the big bowl games in the press. Right now Oklahoma, the Texas Aggies and Oregon are the choices to represent their conferences in the Orange, Cotton and Rose bowls.

OSU Big Ten Choice
The Big Ten's representative in the Rose can be either Ohio State or Michigan State. Ohio State, unbeaten in conference play, has the best chance but still has to get by Purdue, Iowa and Michigan. Conference wise the Spartans face only Minnesota, and Duffy Daughtry's boys have only been beaten once. A tie and Georgia Tech are the bowl choices in the South with Mississippi also being in the picture. Auburn, the logical choice, can't play. They're on probation, stay alive, and Auburn, the best defensive college team, should also get by. The Aggies meet Texas in their final game on Nov. 28. Could lose that one.

Gov. Coleman Wants To Get Away From Past

By JOHN HERBERS
United Press Staff Correspondent
JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—Mississippi Gov. J. P. Coleman, a former farm boy who launched his career on a sack of potatoes, has taken on a political fight he hopes will plant an industry beside every cotton patch and pulverize his Dixiecrat opponents.
Coleman, 43, is said to be the hottest thing in Mississippi politics since the late Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo—in many ways, Coleman wants to get away from the past.
Two of the reasons he cites:—A large number of Colemans in Confederate graveyards and—Grinding poverty he knew in the northeast Mississippi hill country.

More Changes On Tap
The ambitious young governor plans more basic changes in the state government during the next year than have been made since the turn of the century. He has called a special session of the Legislature Nov. 5 to set up a constitutional convention for next year. He terms the 1890 charter under which the state is now operating "an ox-cart in a jet plane age."

At stake are reapportionment of the Legislature, reorganization of government, maintenance of segregation and new inducements for industry, which he says is the only thing that will prevent Mississippi from becoming a giant forest.

Opposes "Quickie" Marriages
Coleman, former state attorney general, also wants the Legislature to tighten marriage laws that have made Mississippi a mecca for "quickie" marriages. Present law requires no waiting period or blood test and the border counties do a thriving business selling licenses to teenagers.

Mississippi also has a state-wide prohibition law but liquor is sold openly in many counties and the state collects a "black market" tax on it. Although Coleman was elected largely by the staunch drys who have kept the law on the books, he recently surprised the state by saying he would favor a local option law if the Legislature would provide for stricter enforcement in the dry counties.

Foes Hurl Dictator Charge
Coleman has bitter enemies who charge he is a dictator building power for his own glory.

He has built a powerful political organization through job appointments, which he personally makes. He also has a quick tongue. When he returned from an out-of-state trip and found a group of legislators had organized opposition to a constitutional convention, he immediately branded them a "bunch of wild-eyed saboteurs" who "if I advocated a spell of beautiful weather for the state would say what was needed was a siege of floods and tornadoes."

GREEKS TO CHARGE SAILOR
NICOSIA (UP)—Nicosia police prepared today to file a formal action against U.S. Navy seaman William Anton Becker charging that his car struck and killed a 27-year-old Greek Cypriot cyclist Saturday night. Becker of 3212 East Lombard St., Baltimore, Md., is attached to the U.S. Consulate here as a wireless operator. Police alleged he failed to stop after the accident.

West Tops Nation In Population Growth

WASHINGTON (UP)—The western states topped the rest of the nation in the rate of their population growth by more than two to one between 1930 and July 1936, the Census Bureau reports.

The Population Reference Bureau in a separate study, said the steady pace of U. S. population growth was a good sign in the cold war battle for technical supremacy.
It said an over-rapid rise in population would put this country at a disadvantage with Russia in this respect. The birth rate of the two countries is about equal, it said, and neither faces the prospect of runaway population that is plaguing many economically undeveloped nations.

The Census Bureau report said the U. S. population jumped from 150,007,361 in April 1930 to 128,174,000 on July 1, 1936. It estimated population at 172,400,000.
The 11 Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states registered a combined growth rate of 23 per cent compared with the national average of 11 per cent. The South gained 6.9 per cent.

Next was Arizona with 44.9 per cent; Florida 40.2 per cent; Delaware 31.4 per cent; and California 27.2 per cent.
California showed the largest numerical growth, its population jumping by 2,885,000 to 13,471,000, to consolidate its standing as the second largest state in the union. New York's population rose by 996,000 to a total of 15,825,000.

Four states registered population declines in the six-year period. They are Arkansas, down 149,000; West Virginia, down 42,000; Mississippi, down 24,000 and Vermont, down 7,000.

33 MUSLIMS KILLED
PARIS (UP)—Algerian nationalists killed 33 of their fellow Muslims in Paris last month and wounded 77 more, police reported today. The figures set a new monthly record for slayings and beatings among the big Algerian population here. In October of last year gang wars between rival Algerian nationalist movements caused 14 deaths and 87 injuries in the entire French mainland.

ANYBODY FOR A PIG-BACK RIDE?—Pig-riding may never replace horse-riding, but it's one way to round up 67 pigs that ran wild near Belleville, Mich. The pigs escaped when the truck in which they were riding overturned. Lake Mary

By ETTIE JANE KEOGH
What a busy weekend and a busy week ahead. Don't forget the Parent-Teacher convention in Orlando this week. Do hope this area will be well represented.

Wednesday at 8 p. m. is the regular meeting of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce. There has been a good program arranged and light refreshments will follow the meeting. These meetings are short and to the point so let's attend and make this new year one of the best for the organization.

Wednesday at 7 till 9 at the Community Presbyterian Church Miss Erna East of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church USA will hold a conference for the Sunday School teachers. She will answer questions and discuss the teachers' problems. Each teacher if at all possible is asked to attend.

Thursday at 6:30 there will be covered dish supper at the Community Presbyterian Church. This will give the Lake Mary and Upland Congregations a chance to meet. Dr. Henry Randolph, director of Town and Country of the Board of National Missions and Dr. Charles Marr, synod executive of the Synod of Fla. who will spend two days in this area conducting a survey.

Don Kirkner co-chairman with Morris Stelner on the PTA Halloween Carnival stated this morning that a little over $200 was made at the Friday night carnival. These men and all the others who worked on this project should be given a vote of thanks. From all reports the Carnival was the best yet.

Sunday Sheriff and Mrs. J. L. Hobby had a family dinner at their home. The men cooked the meat over the grill in the back yard. The delicious dinner was climaxed with a large white birthday cake for Lela Hobby and Mrs. H. M. Gleason who were celebrating birthdays this weekend. After dinner Mary Grace, who was home for the SIS Homecoming weekend from school in Mason, Ga., left for Daytona to catch the plane. Enjoying the afternoon were Sheriff and Mrs. Hobby, Jud and Lela Hobby, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gleason Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keogh, Craig, Keith and Collin Keogh and Claude Hittell.

Just had a minute to speak to Harry Bucklew and Mitchell Buckley who arrived Sunday to stay until Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stewart Harry is the husband of the former Frances Childs and Mitchell is their oldest son. At present the Buchlows are stationed in Nebraska, but Harry said if all goes as planned the whole family will spend Christmas in Lake Mary. Seemed good to see these friends after almost seven years.

REMEMBER those days at the shore last summer. Lots of good fresh fish and seafood, early morning clamming and crab digging too. Now as the snow falls and the cold days are here, we can still taste the freshness of the sea, with conveniently canned foods.

Combine canned spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese and canned clams for a delightful supper dish tonight. It will remind you of the shore and rightfully so. Both foods are flavor fresh and marry well in this dish. Set the table with a seafood feast... shells, coral, etc. Heat up long thin bread sticks, flavor butter with garlic or celery salt, for spreading, toss a crisp salad and serve steaming cups of coffee. For dessert... pumpkin chiffon tarts.

This menu will be a recipe book favorite for it's tasty, warming and quick. Good for the busy holiday time. Here's the recipe for SPAGHETTI 'N CLAMS.

Spaghetti 'n Clams
1 clove garlic
1 can (1 1/2 ounces) spaghetti
1/2 lb. tomato sauce with cheese
1 can (1 1/2 ounces) minced clams
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon prepared mustard
Cut garlic in half; rub inside of 1-quart casserole with it. Discard.

Donut Sundaes and Cafe Au Lait Tops For A Teen-Age Party

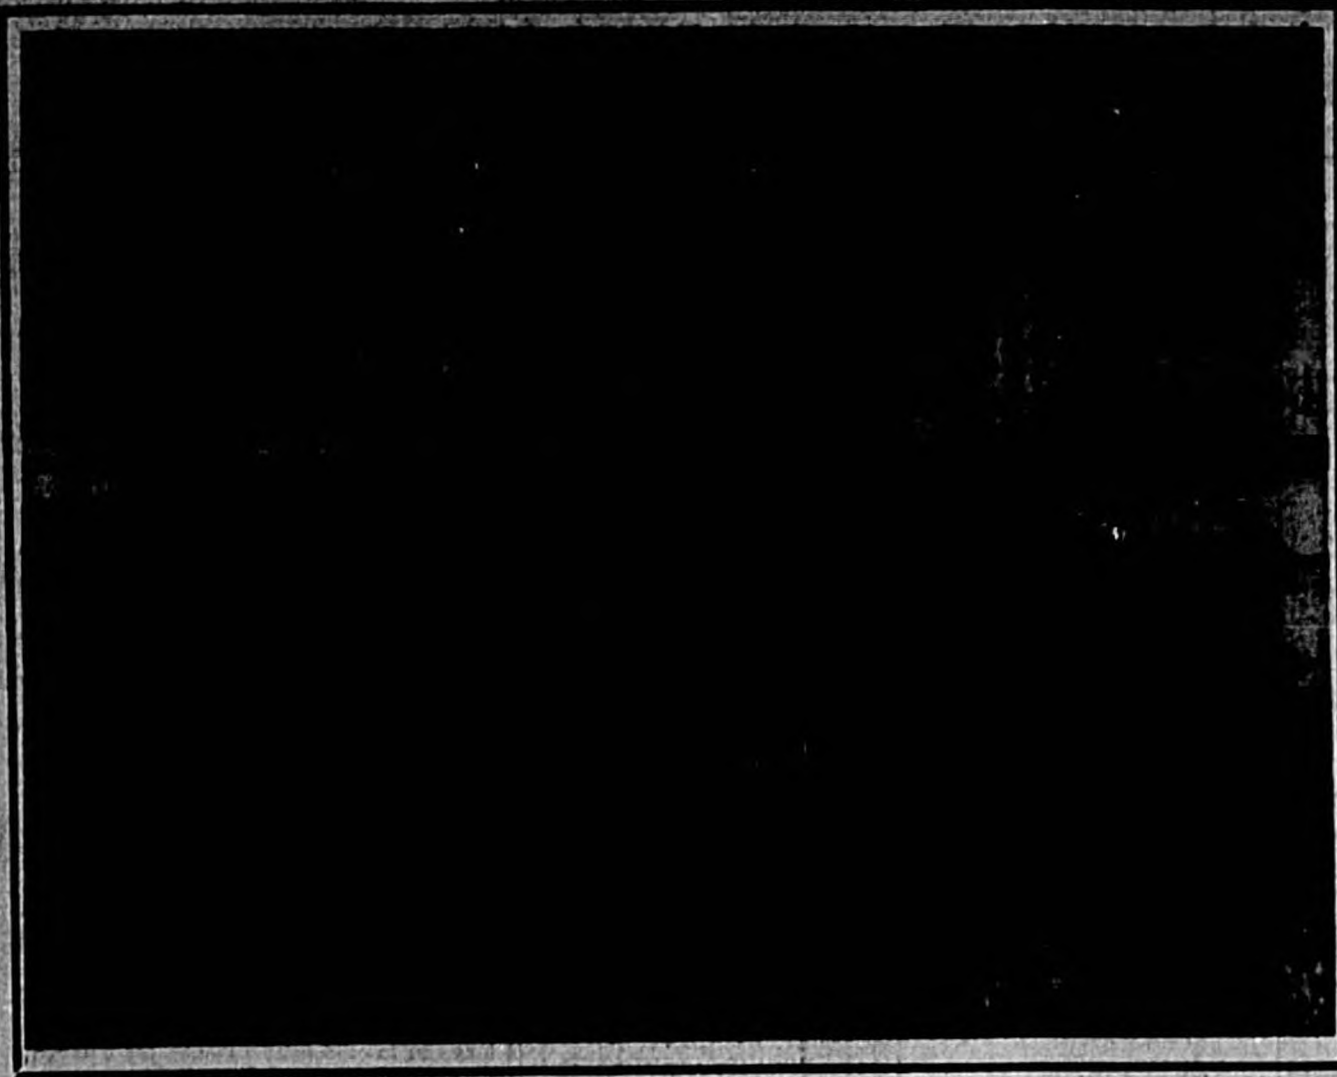

Teen-agers should get a bang out of a new goosy sundaes that they can make themselves--either for a party or a pre-football party. The super-duper is made from plain doughnuts along with lots of other goodies.
Here's all it takes to make it. First of all, use a plain doughnut for the base of your sundaes. Now put a scoop of coffee ice cream right in the center. Pour some piping hot Coffee Caramel Sauce over the whole concoction and sprinkle it generously with peanuts. Sound good? Well, actually, it's the "living end"! A variation on the doughnut theme might be vanilla ice cream, hot fudge sauce and walnuts.
For a perfect go-with beverage, fill up your cups with Cafe au Lait, a fine half-half combination of steaming, fresh coffee and steaming milk, sweetened to taste. For style, add a cinnamon stick to each cup. This makes a terrific stirrer and, at the same time, lends a subtle spicy flavor to the Cafe au Lait. You can be sure that, whether doughnut sundaes and Cafe au Lait are in the making, kids will have oodles of fun and good eating.

'Whatnik' Reports Continue To Be Heard Across Nation

By UNITED PRESS
A virtual shower of flying object reports was spread across the nation today, and official skepticism over the "whatniks" mounted in proportion.
The current flurry of unidentified flying object sightings began during the weekend, and has been picking up steam since.
Sky gazers described the objects as appearing in many colors and in shapes ranging from a "meat platter" to "the open end of a bucket." Some of the objects zoom about, others hover overhead and kill automobile engines, and lights.

Two persons, one an ex-convict in Nebraska and the other a Tennessee schoolboy, insist they have seen space ships manned by German-speaking men and women land. The boy said one of the spacemen tried to kidnap his dog.

Scientists, however, were cool to most of the reports. They said many of them stemmed from sightings of bright stars and planets, cloud and weather mirages, the aurora borealis, tricks of vision and, perhaps, a touch of hysteria brought on by Russia's Sputniks.

Dr. Donald H. Brown, director of the Harvard College Observatory, dismissed most of the sightings as "another flying saucer scare."
A Chicago scientist pointed out the reports, which have ranged from the Fiji Islands to Italy, all have come from the free world while no such objects have been sighted in Iron Curtain countries.

Air Force officials investigated some of the stranger sightings.
But a spokesman at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio, observed that of the thousands of flying saucer reports checked out in the past 10 years, only about three percent of them still are in the "unknown file."

Could be Identified
-And these three per cent probably could be identified, the spokesman said, if more information about them could be learned.
The spokesman, a top official of the Air Technical Intelligence Center, also threw cold water on the reports by stating that not one bit of physical evidence of flying saucers has ever been found by the Air Force in checking out 5,700 sightings in the past 10 years.

He said preliminary studies of some of the current mystery sightings indicate the lights may have stemmed from "cloud ceiling light."

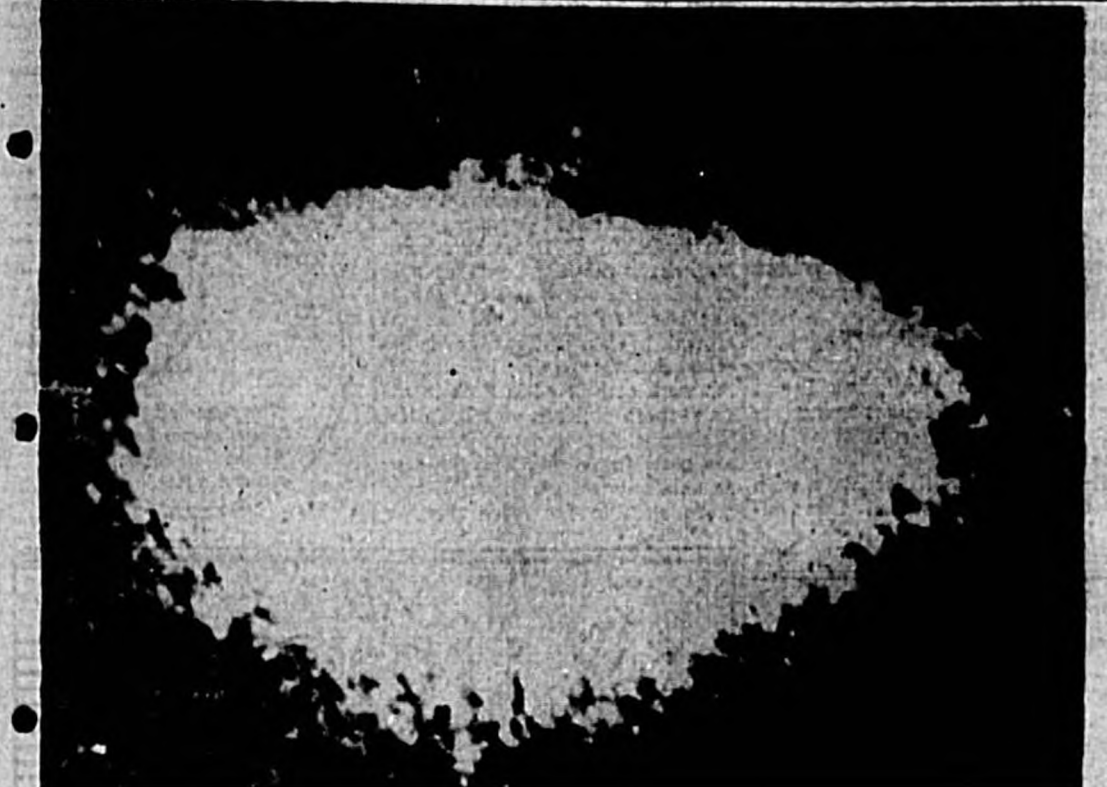

A Naval astronomer said a rash of "whatnik" sightings along the Eastern Seaboard Wednesday night was the aurora borealis, or northern lights. The lights, described as "reddish objects" were seen as far south as Georgia. Astronomer Syvan Bestul in Washington said it was "unusual" to have such a brilliant display that far south.

UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECT—Ralph Mayher, Cleveland, Ohio newsreel photographer made this picture of an "Unidentified Flying Object" while he was a marine stationed in Miami, Fla. This picture is enlarged from a 16mm movie film and shows what Mayher described as an object about 30 feet long and "ugly reddish orange" in color. The Air Force has the original sequence but declines to comment on the film.

Ike Urged To Be Frank In Missile Talk Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen of both parties urged today that President Eisenhower tell the nation frankly in his radio-television address tonight where the United States stands in the missile race with Russia.
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said "much more is needed" than a "generalized pep talk by the President." He urged Eisenhower to summon a special session of congress.
Sen. John Kenney (D-Mass.), another member of the Foreign Relations Committee, demanded that Eisenhower "tell us squarely where we stand" and withhold the "pious hostilities of faith and hope."

Expected to be Frank
The president is expected to give as frank an appraisal as possible, within the bounds of security, of this country's current missile progress and to call for new programs to increase scientific and engineering manpower.
But it was not known whether he would announce any dramatic new scientific achievement to take away some of the propaganda edge gained by Russia with its two Sputniks.
Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex) said the President should "let us know what the score is . . . if we have slipped behind the Russians, the sooner we know it, the better."
Among Republicans, 10 first-term GOP House members sent a telegram to the President saying "The people want and must have the facts about our missile program and the effect the Russian achievements have on our national security."

U.S. Willing To Set Up Nuclear Arms Stockpile In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is willing to set up a nuclear arms stockpile in Europe for North Atlantic Treaty allies.
Plans to make the offer at the forthcoming meeting of Western allies in Paris. The meeting will be attended by President Eisenhower and other chiefs-of-government.
Under tentative thinking, the weapons would be placed under the jurisdiction of Gen. Lauris Norstad, who has the dual role of commanding both U. S. forces in Europe and NATO forces.

United Fund Drive Over $17,000 Mark

Marcel Faillie was busily engaged this morning extending the thermometer line above the $17,000 mark. Campaign Chairman Harold H. Kastner said, "It is our fervent hope that we will successfully conclude this campaign before many more days have passed. However, it will take the efforts not only of our solicitors but of our entire citizenship to go over the top. Please do not wait for some one to call you for your contribution—the caller may have missed you. Just mail it in to the UNITED FUND, or bring it to Roy Mann, George Touhy or to me. Remember, seven agencies are in this deal and, as years go on, more and more will benefit from the concerted effort of one appeal for the United Fund," he concluded.
In the absence of campaign treasurer Roy F. Mann, who is on vacation, Mrs. Ralph Ray is handling the compilation of the contributions and pledges. Mrs. Ray reports the receipt of many subscriptions in amounts of $1, $2, $2.50, $3, $5 and up but the preponderance seems to be in the $1 and $5 amounts.
Headquarters of the United Fund reported this morning additional contributions in the amount of $25, or more, as follows: Winn-Dixie Stores Foundation No. 38, $50; Winn-Dixie Stores Foundation No. 54, $30; Employees of Store No. 34, $32.50; Dr. W. Vincent Roberts, $30; Dr. John Morgan, $20; Sanford Produce Co., $25; W. L. Justice, $25; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Ritchie, $30; Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Shoemaker Jr., $35; Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Park Sr., $30; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Faville, $25. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Goodspeed, $25; Mrs. V. H. Anderson, $25; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tyre, $25; the Rev. and Mrs. J. Thomas Owens, $25; Dr. J. C. Ringling, $25 and First Shiloh M. E. Church, $32.50.

Less Than 1,000 Votes Cast Tuesday In Trustee Election

"It's necessary to have a larger turnout on Nov. 19 for the school bond election than there was at the trustee election if it is to be successful," said school officials this morning.
Less than 1,000 votes were cast Tuesday in the school trustee election when R. F. Cooper and Roy Mann of Sanford and James Birkenmeyer of Casselberry were named to the Seminole County School Board of Trustees.
The eight mill district levy was carried as well as the two mill building and bus reserve fund. Nineteen other votes ran from one mill to 24 mills.

28 Prisoners In Local Jail

The Seminole County jail held twenty-eight prisoners this morning as reported by Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Singletary.
Two were confined last night. Four prisoners were released yesterday. This left the count at 16 Colored males, eight white males, and four Colored females.

School Of Church Music To Present Program Tomorrow

A choir of some 10 voices will be heard in a program of sacred music at Sanford's First Baptist Church tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock. The choir is composed of those who are enrolled in the School of Church Music now in progress at the church. Sponsored by the Seminole Baptist Association, the school has enrolled people from 14 different churches in the Sanford area, including several churches outside the Baptist denomination.
Under the direction of Prof. Jack Rowe of Stetson University the choir will sing a program of hymns, hymn-arrangements and anthems. The congregation will join the choir in the singing of several featured hymns.
Beside rehearsing the choir Prof. Rowe has been instructing a class through the week in beginning voice. He has been assisted by Mr. Al Washburn of Stetson University who has taught a piano class; Mrs. Guy Bishop, instructor in the elements music; and F. B. Fisher, director of the school whose class has studied Music in the Bible.
The choir concert, open to the public, is the culmination of the week's work.

1,250,000 Persons Hit By Influenza In U.S. Last Week

By UNITED PRESS
The U. S. Public Health Service reported today that 1,250,000 Americans were stricken with influenza last week.
It brought to 4,750,000 the number of cases reported since the first case of Asian flu was recorded last summer.
The service also reported that 156 persons in 108 large cities died of influenza and pneumonia last week. This was an 11 per cent increase in fatalities from the disease over the previous week, when 71 died.
Last week's cases of flu were the largest number reported so far. They were based on reports from 40 states.
The health agency said the number of cases increased in some states and dropped in others. States where the influenza cases decreased were listed as Connecticut, Michigan, Wisconsin, Alabama, Mississippi, Wyoming, Arizona and Texas. There was no breakdown of states falling to report of those showing an increase.
"The armed forces reported fewer new outbreaks of respiratory disease on military installations in the United States," the report said.

16 Inches Of Snow Pile Up Today In Mountains

By UNITED PRESS
Sixteen inches of fresh snow piled up in the mountains of southwestern Colorado, and parts of Texas today soaked up their fourth straight day of rain.
The new snow Wednesday increased to 36 inches the amount of snow that has fallen in the southwestern Colorado Rockies since this fall and more snow was seen for the area today.
Showers and thunder storms doused northern and central Texas this morning, and spread to parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana and Arkansas.
Heaviest rainfall amounts were one-half inch at both Ardmore, Okla., and Wichita Falls, Tex. Elsewhere, the showers totaled under one-tenth inch in most of the area.
Isolated areas of drizzle damped parts of the Mississippi Valley and light snow flurries drifted across the Dakotas during the night.

Navy Chief, Family Are Living Aboard 'Aquanympth'

The Aquanympth, formerly a Navy PT boat Number 13, and a veteran of World War II, is bearer of a crude log located on the overhead above the forward bunk space which serves as witness that she did duty from the invasion in Salerno to Normandy. Although still a proud boat and worthy of the Naval designation of "ship," having been stripped of all the combat equipment which made her a proud man of war, she still remains an active challenge for the do-it-yourself man who would have a yacht second to none.
If you were to ask any one of the five Rieboldt children their home address, their answer would be something like this: "The Yacht Aquanympth! You know—by the sunken boat in Lake Moore."
Yes, for the first time in the history of the Sanford Naval Air Station, a navy chief and his family have reported for duty at NAS via a seagoing craft! Chief Paul Rieboldt and his family may be truly considered a nautical family, having 29 years' naval service behind them and a year and a half living aboard an ex-Navy PT boat.
Chief Rieboldt, with only seven of his family of 18 living aboard the Aquanympth is aided in the running of his craft by an able bodied crew—his wife, Dorothy; his sons, Ronald, 17; Albert 16; and his daughters, Patricia, 15; Sharon, 10; and Linda Lee, three. His other three daughters and three sons are over 21 years of age and are living in different sections of the country. Although the female gender of the "crew" don't often contribute in the actual running of the craft, they do their share in keeping the Aquanympth shipshape. Chief Rieboldt chuckled when asked who is skipper of his boat and stated that his three year old, Linda Lee, could very well be considered the skipper. His son, Ronald, is helmsman, and Albert is crewman. Rieboldt says that the boys can handle the vessel pretty well by themselves and have learned to read and understand the inland waterway and navigation charts.

The eight compartment Aquanympth is sturdily constructed with double plank mahogany and is powered by two 225 horsepower engines. Her highest rate of speed is 12 knots an hour, and she can run 40 hours, cruising speed, on 570 gallons of diesel oil. There are four compartments in the bow of the boat. In the 1st compartment is the gear locker which houses lines, tackles, and chains for rigging the boat; the crew's quarters and head are in the second compartment; the galley and breakfast nook are in the third compartment; the fourth compartment is presently being used as a storage room; the fifth compartment, which is in the mid-ship section of the boat, is the engine room. The remaining three compartments are in the stern of the boat. The sixth compartment is being used as the utility room which houses the washing machine, dryer, and auxiliary generating power plant which provides them with their electricity. The seventh and eighth compartments are being used for storage.
Although the Aquanympth has been a great adventure and has meant much in the lives of the Rieboldt family, they are looking forward to becoming "landlubbers" and landowners in Sanford where they plan to settle down in their retirement home.
