Uric Acid Level Can Be Controlled

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Approximately one year ago I had an attack of acute gout. My physician prescribed Coleremid and the attacks subsided. I thought that was the end of it. Then a month ago I read that I needed lifetime medical management and that the severity of gout was much more critical for those who had an attack when they were under 30 years of age.

I immediately saw a physician and he placed me on Zylorin which he was not able to give me any indication of the course of the disease—when a person had the first attack under 30 years of age. I was 28 when mine occurred. I am wondering if you can give me some indication of what to expect in this area as I am quite apprehensive.

DEAR READER—Gout, as you must know from your reading, is caused by an over production of uric acid by the cells in our body. The uric acid is literally a by-product of cell regeneration. Without cell regeneration our lifespan would be extremely short.

The excess production of uric acid appears to be on a genetic or inherited basis.

It is perfectly true that anyone who has gout should accept lifetime medical supervision. This isn't all bad. As long as the person's uric acid level in the blood is controlled, things are progressing well.

Very often it is necessary for patients with significant elevations of uric acid to take medicines persistently. Zylorin which you are now taking is also called allopurinol.

It suppresses the body cell's capacity to form excess uric acid. Your medicines help eliminate excess uric acid through the kidneys. The combination of medicines now available make it possible to literally control gout and prevent most of its complications. But of course one must continue medical supervision to gain these benefits.

The advances in the ability to treat gout with medicines has also diminished the importance of the diet in the treatment of gout.

There are no meaningful statistics on what to expect, because you had your first attack before age 30. Quite frankly, the advances in medicine in the treatment of gout are sufficiently recent that long term studies on individuals who have been properly treated just aren't available.

Those who want a more complete picture of the course of gout, what to expect in the way of complications, and how to prevent them can send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 2-3, Gout, Uric Acid. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10109.

I will say, however, that because it is possible to control the uric acid level with available medicines that a conscientious patient under good medical supervision should expect to have a relatively normal lifespan with a minimum amount of complications, if any. The key part of this, however, is that the patient must cooperate with the doctor in his continuous management.

For Saturday, April 10, 1974

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have a snack today for turning things that you take a hand in into something gainful for yourself and others involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) For entertainment this evening seek a different place where you'll have an opportunity to meet new people. A surprise may be in store.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Lady Luck may take a hand in a situation today that affects you and your family. The results could give all something to smile about.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Welcome news may be coming your way today from two sources. Keep communications open to those whose help you need.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Conditions that have an influence on your material well-being appear very favorable for you today. Look for the unusual.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There's a good chance today that your ideas will be just a trifle better than those of your contemporaries, but don't let them know it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Your instincts as to how to better yourself financially are contending, but you may have a likely chance to come into play today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Your warm, outgoing and winning ways may gain a new friend today, one who could prove very worthwhile to know.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's not just your style or the way you do things that others will find admirable today. It's your sincere motives that impress them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Projects that are large in scope or of an unusual nature are the types of things you'll perform best today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you put your mind to it today, you might be able to come up with something advantageous to you businesswise. Think profit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Intimate relationships should be quite lucky for you today. Look out for the other guy. He's sure to look out for you in return.

YOUR BIRTHDAY April 19, 1974

The aspects for this coming year indicate benefits for you careerwise. Changes you are contemplating could result in a hefty paycheck for you.

Air Show Slated Next Weekend

By KRIS NASH

Conklin Comet Rocket Car, aerobics ace Corkey Forno and Debbie Gary, former movie stunt flier Joe Hughes and Wingwalker Steve Trevor, the U.S. Navy parachute team, an aerial comedy group, the Orange Park drill team, the Naval Training Center drill team and 50-state flag team, the Navy Band of Orlando and much more, including food, soft drink and beer concessions which will be open from 10:30 a.m. until closing each day.

All that is needed are about 100,000 white knuckles.

The most exciting Eastern Bicentennial program in the United States is probably the one scheduled to take place at Sanford-Central Florida Airport April 17-18.

The Red Devils, a crack civilian aerobics team, will supplement the Blue Angels, legendary precision fliers of the U.S. Navy.

And the white will be supplied by thousands of tightly clenched knuckles as the audience gasps at the aerial exploits of both groups.

It's called the third annual Rotary Club Charities Benefit Air Show and the thrills explode at 1 p.m. each day. But the gates actually open at 10:30 a.m. and pre-show visitors will be entertained by static exhibits of vintage aircraft, radio-controlled model plane demonstrations and other attractions.

The Red Devils unit is made up of three top-drawer solo pilots who haul their Pitts Special aircraft through a series of breathtaking combined maneuvers that most fliers would not attempt on an individual basis.

The team is led by Charlie Hillard of Fort Worth, Tex., an ex-skydiver who has claimed the U.S. National Aerobic championship and the Men's World Aerobic title. Reigning U.S. National Aerobic champion and two-time winner of the crown, Tom Pobereny of Milwaukee, Wis., is the group's ringleader.

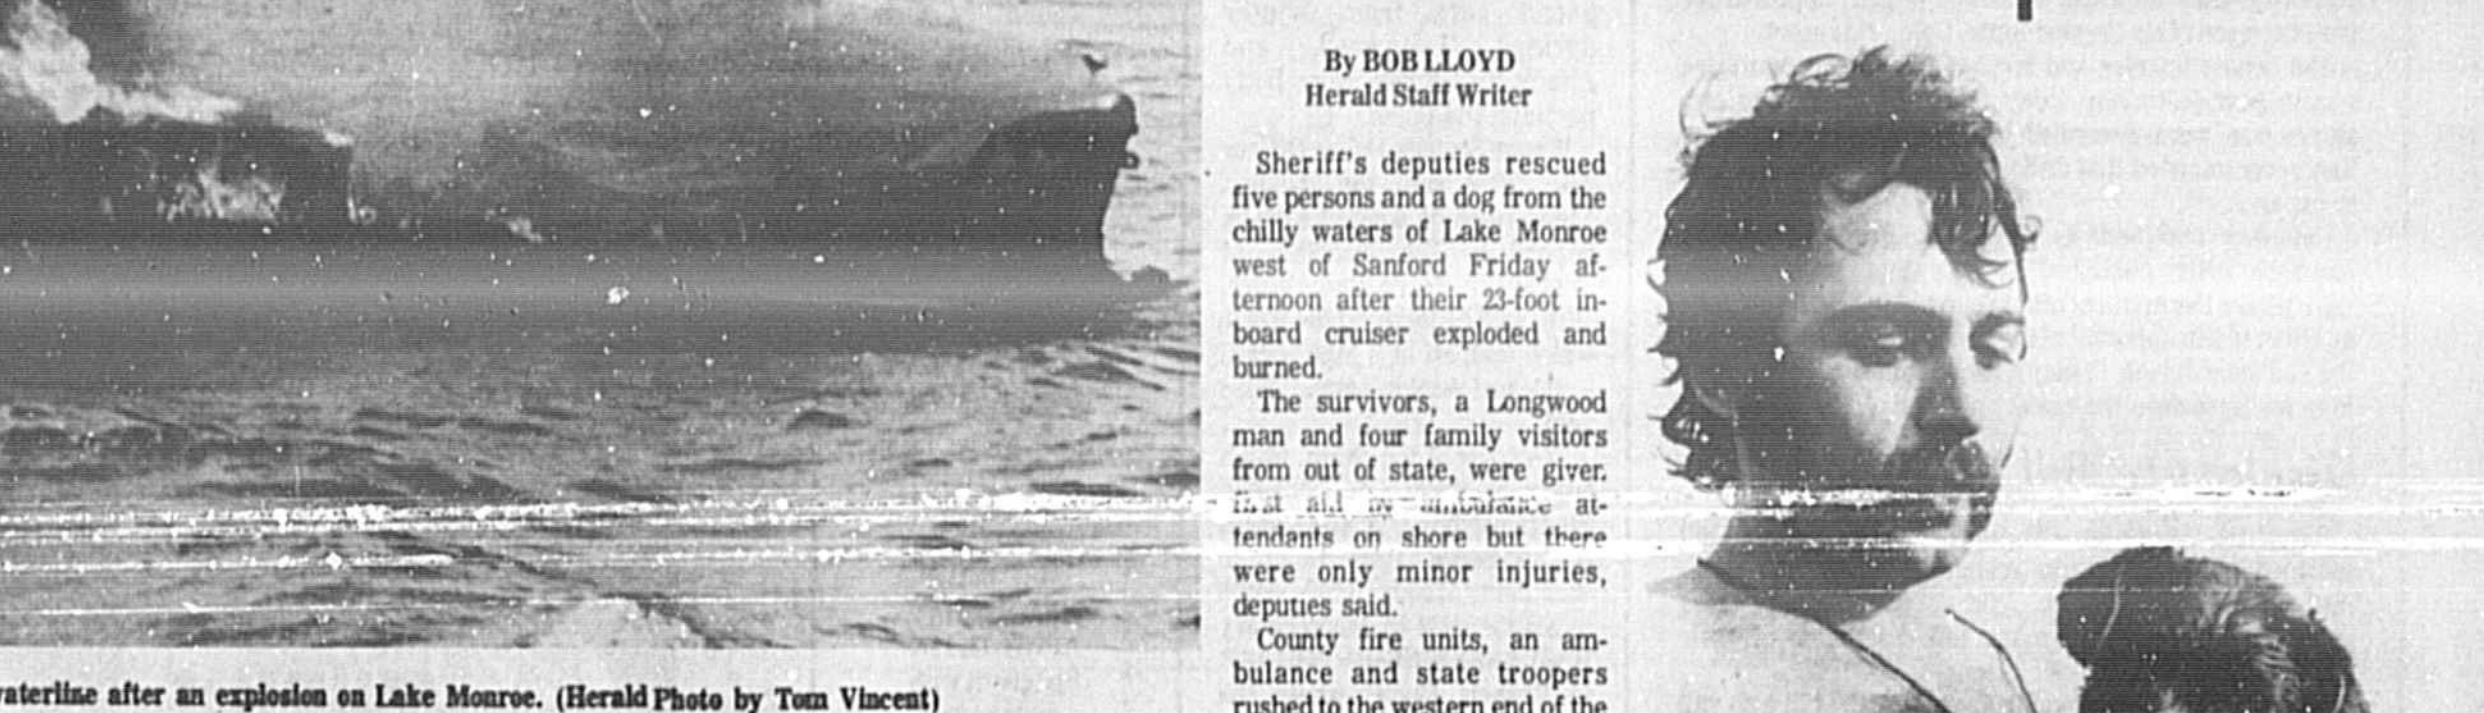

Flying at the other wing slot is the Red Devil's show-stopper, Gene Soucy of Milwaukee. Winner of both Canadian and U.S. National Aerobic championships in 1970-71-72, Soucy electrified crowds at the last Sanford Air Show with solo antics which have drawn raves and quickened pulsebeats all across the country.

The Red Devils execute their aerial acrobats at death with the top aerobic aircraft in the world today. Designed by a Floridian, the Pitts Special is a 730-pound thunderbolt which rears through dives, climbs and rolls at speeds ranging from 50 to 200 miles per hour. Leader Hillard's plane is driven by a 200-horsepower Lycoming engine while the wingmen are mounted on 180-horsepower whirwinds.

These fiery biplanes have carried the Red Devils to numerous aerial distinctions, including the Nesterov Cup, symbolic of world aerobic supremacy. The team weaves the hair-breadth precision of modern flying into a tapestry of formation aerobics routines which somehow brings back the nostalgic aura of colorful 1920's barnstormers.

These are the civilians who will support the headlining Blue Angels, themselves a byword in heart-stopping aerial excellence for more than 39 years. Also at the show will be the

5 Persons Rescued After Boat Explosion

By BOB LLOYD

Sheriff's deputies rescued five persons and a dog from the chilly waters of Lake Monroe west of Sanford Friday afternoon after their 23-foot inboard cruiser exploded and burned.

The survivors, a Longwood man and four family visitors from out of state, were given first aid by ambulance attendants on shore but there were only minor injuries, deputies said.

County fire units, an ambulance and state troopers rushed to the western end of the lake with deputies after reports were received from motorists and Citizens Band radio operators that a boat had exploded and survivors were in the water.

Sheriff's Sgt. Jim Brantley and Deputy Glen Trombly sped to the scene in two sheriff's patrol boats and plucked the men and women from the choppy waters of the lake near the main channel of the St. Johns River.

Deputies identified the boaters as V. Brooks Ledbetter, 60, of Star Drive, Longwood; his sister, Mrs. Jean Boehmer, 56, of Cleveland; Tom Dexter Alexander, 53, Jewel Alexander, 53, and their son, Sam Alexander, 26 all of Dayton, Ohio. Also rescued was the Alexander's dog, Mickey.

County Pollution Program Faces Stiff Opposition

By ED PRICKETT

County Commissioner Richard Williams' proposal for a $100,000 pollution fighting program is meeting stiff opposition from Commissioners John Kimbrough and Harry Kwiatkowski.

Williams is scheduled to ask for a decision on the proposal Monday after he presented it in detail to the commission last week.

At last week's meeting Williams told the commission that it is "well documented some sort of need exists" for a program to combat pollution and weed growth in all the county's lakes.

But Kimbrough said Friday that based on information Williams has presented thus far, he will vote against the proposal.

"I wouldn't vote for it at this point because there are too many unexplained details," Kimbrough said.

He said he opposes committing county departments to any venture which hasn't been spelled out in full. As part of Williams' program both the department of public works and the department of environmental services would be required to get involved.

The department of public works would be asked to fight storm water runoff, while environmental services would be required to conduct surveys to identify problem areas such as pollution in lakes or sewage plants that are dumping unclean effluent into bodies of water.

Kwiatkowski opposed the program because he said it's too early for a decision. He said the project shouldn't be brought up until the commission has budget-making time later on this year.

"As yet or no at this time wouldn't be proper," Kwiatkowski said. He said the project could be thrown in with other capital improvement programs and voted on based on need and "where the green is coming from."

"Personally, I think his (Williams) intentions are good, but his financing is all wrong," Kwiatkowski added. He said to qualify for state funding a lake must have public access, thus private lakes couldn't qualify. Williams believes a great percentage of the $100,000 can be gained through matching funds.

Secondly, according to Kwiatkowski, Williams is asking the entire Seminole County population to spend land tax money for cleanup of private lakes which will benefit only about eight to 10 per cent of the homeowners.

Williams was expected to ask for a decision last week, but he put it off until Tuesday.

At last Tuesday's session no one other than Williams commented on the proposal.

Gambling Probe Suspect Among 15 Facing Trial Today

An Orlando area man, indicted during an investigation triggered when an informant told store officials of a massive "steal-to-order" operation that was utilizing a computerized inventory system this week, was among 15 who were sold for high price after being trucked from the warehouse.

Michael Patrick Burke, 28, of Winter Park, is docketed for trial on a manslaughter indictment returned by the Seminole County Grand Jury in the Jan. 23 death of his wife, Judith Ann Burke.

Mrs. Burke was dead on arrival at a hospital after deputies, who responded to a report of a woman not breathing, found her on a couch in her apartment at Sedgfield Apartments in south Seminole.

Deputies said the woman's relatives told them that she had been having a "confrontation" during previous days, and that at one point Mrs. Burke had been thrown head-first into a wall.

Sanford Sheriff's Dept. is docketed for trial as an adult on burglary, grand larceny and escape charges.

Edwin Holt, 17, of Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, was transferred from Juvenile Court to circuit court for trial on the charges in connection with the Jan. 15 burglary of Gregory Lumber Co., 500 Maple Ave., Sanford.

Police said the suspect was found underneath a pile of lumber after they responded to a burglar alarm at the business.

The escape charge was made after Holt walked out of police headquarters following his arrest, police said.

In other cases scheduled for trial this week:

Gregory Mills, 18, of Sanford, a co-defendant in the case, is scheduled for trial separately. — Arlene Vallee, 34, of 104 Temple Drive, Longwood, is docketed for trial on a grand larceny charge.

Gale Kim Gillespie, 24, of Orlando, is accused of possession of controlled substance: marijuana and carrying a concealed firearm.

Docketed for trial separately in the case is Melissa Gail Byrd, 20, of Orlando.

The two women were arrested by sheriff's deputies Feb. 17 after a car was stopped on traffic charges at SR-436 and Lake Howell Road.

Robert Raymond Hirschmann, 46, of 527 Orange Ave., Altamonte Springs, is accused of obtaining controlled substance — amphetamines — by fraud.

Police cars from Longwood, Altamonte Springs, and Winter Springs were involved in a high-speed chase early Saturday. The winding, 25-mile-long pursuit ended when a pickup truck, driven by a Casseberry man, crashed into a chain-link fence and came to rest against a utility pole. Winter Springs Police Officer Tom Wise, who reached during the chase, exceeded 80 m.p.h. See details on Page 2-A.

NATION IN BRIEF

Butz Claims He Misplaced Callaway Ski Resort Memo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says he was unopposed with whether Howard H. Callaway won approval to expand his ski resort on federal land that he misplaced a memo urging him to "push" the project.

Butz said Friday that he would be willing to testify before a Senate subcommittee holding hearings in an effort to determine whether Callaway, while serving as Army secretary, used improper influence to gain approval for the expansion of his Crested Butte, Colo., ski resort.

The Senate interior and insular affairs subcommittee was to hear testimony today from Forest Service employees who were overruled by higher authorities after they recommended that Callaway's resort not be allowed to expand.

Callaway resigned as President Ford's campaign manager after published reports that he met with Agriculture Department officials in his Pentagon office in an effort to win approval of the resort expansion. He sat in the audience during Friday's subcommittee hearing and is to testify before the panel on Monday.

The route of the chase, which began at 12:48 a.m., included a 10-mile run to U.S. 17-92 south to Longwood Hills Road to Markham Woods Road, south to SR-434 west to Montgomery Road, south to SR-435, east to Francis Drive, where the truck reportedly struck the fence and came to a halt.

Wise said Richardson was arrested and booked into the Winter Springs jail in lieu of bond totaling $500, on charges of fleeing and attempting to elude a police officer; willful and wanton reckless driving, and driving without a valid driver's license.

It was the lack of a driver's license that apparently prompted Richardson's flight in the first place, officers said. Winter Springs police

WASHINGTON (AP) — House approval of a $33.2 billion weapons bill that includes additional funds for Navy ships and the controversial B1 bomber is expected to touch off a battle when the measure reaches the Senate.

Along with efforts to cut money from the measure, the House defeated amendments seeking to reduce U.S. forces in the Pacific by 47,000 and to block testing of a sophisticated new multiple warhead missile.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations with three Filipino Muslims holding 12 hostages aboard an airliner at Bangkok International Airport center on the surrender of their weapons, officials said Saturday.

The men, who say they are members of the Moro Liberation Front, had earlier agreed to release their hostages and surrender their weapons if they were assured of going to a country where they will not be arrested.

Liba, the hijackers' choice for a refuge, refused to take them, but Egypt has offered to accept them if they surrender their weapons, officials said.

ROME (AP) — Members of Italy's Communist party prepare to rally in front of the Lateran Basilica Saturday while prospects for early elections increased under pressure of the country's social and economic woes.

Premier Aldo Moro, opposed to giving the Communists a voice in the government, appeared to have failed in an attempt to prevent elections that could give the Communists added power. The party, largest in the West, captured 33.4 per cent of the vote in nationwide regional elections last June, only slightly behind the 35.3 per cent won by Moro's Christian Democrats.

The Communists called off all other party meetings scheduled earlier in the Rome area and urged militants to push for a huge turnout at the Lateran. It took on the tone of the opening event of what promised to be the most intense electoral campaign in decades.

MIAMI (AP) — "A pirate launch manned by men without a country" was responsible for a high-seas attack that sank two Cuban fishing boats, killing one man and wounding three others, the official newspaper of Cuba's communist party said Saturday.

Four other, uninjured survivors of such an attack were brought to Miami earlier this week after being taken from a lifeboat by a passing cargo ship. The ship also brought in a body.

Responsibility for the attack was claimed in a telephone call to a Miami radio station by the Miami-based, Cuban exile Front for the National Liberation of Cuba.

DALLAS (AP) — A campaigning President Ford said today that the United States is ahead of every other nation, not only militarily but in "agricultural, industrial, technological and moral strength."

Ford, trying to counter challenger Ronald Reagan's claim that the nation is slipping behind the Soviet Union in armaments, said: "Our military capability is fully sufficient to deter aggression, keep the peace and to protect our national security. But strength involves more than military might."

25-Mile Chase Ends in Arrest

By AUDIE MURPHY Herald Staff Writer

Patrol cars from three area police departments were involved in a high-speed chase early Saturday.

The round-about pursuit, which lasted for approximately 25 miles and involved speeds over 80 m.p.h., terminated when a pick-up truck driven by Jack W. Richardson, 19, Casselberry, smashed into a chain-link fence and came to rest against a power pole, police said.

Before the chase ended, patrol cars from Winter Springs, Longwood, and Altamonte Springs were hotly pursuing the truck.

Winter Springs Police Officer Tom Wise said the incident began when he spotted a truck headed in the direction of Tushnetville Recreation Center.

Wise said he followed the truck, which took off at a high speed. "He just wouldn't stop," Wise said.

The route of the chase, which began at 12:48 a.m., included a 10-mile run to U.S. 17-92 south to Longwood Hills Road to Markham Woods Road, south to SR-434 west to Montgomery Road, south to SR-435, east to Francis Drive, where the truck reportedly struck the fence and came to a halt.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Two Killed In Plane Crash After Illicit Drug Delivery

MOORE HAVEN (AP) — Authorities Saturday were investigating the origin of a small plane that crashed and burned in a remote area after unloading an illegal shipment of drugs, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

The bodies of two men were found in the cockpit, but were too badly burned to be immediately identified, authorities said.

An FAA spokesman said the plane apparently had unloaded an illegal shipment of drugs and taken on extra fuel, probably in drums. Then it crashed on takeoff because it was overloaded, he said.

The pilot did not file a flight plan, the spokesman said. He declined to say what type of drugs were believed to have been aboard the plane.

Cabinet Bill Defeated TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to limit Cabinet officers to eight years in office has been defeated by the House in a tight vote.

The proposal, HJR18, failed Friday on a 57-51 tie. Last session, the House passed it on a 95-18 vote, but it died in the Senate calendar.

Supporters moved to leave the proposal pending before the 1976 session. The sponsor, Rep. Eric Scully, D-Jacksonville, said he would try again early next week to obtain the 72 votes required for approval of a constitutional amendment.

Four Rescued From Sea CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — "I just held on so tight I made myself part of the raft," Patricia Rice of Bayport, N.Y., said after clinging 10 hours to wreckage of a yacht that smashed into a Russian ship trying to tug it to safety.

Three other persons from the 36-foot Comair were also plucked out of the Atlantic, but three men were still missing early today, a spokesman said.

"The waves were so big and we would go way under, but I just held on. And then we'd pop up like a piece of driftwood," Miss Rice said.

High Surf Pounds Florida By The Associated Press Heavy seas that have pounded Florida's East Coast from Jacksonville to Key Largo since Friday are from the same storm that spawned several tornadoes while crossing the state earlier this week, forecasters say.

By early today, the storm system was 600 miles into the Atlantic off northern Florida and was moving northeastward in open water.

But it was still flinging a high surf back at the state, causing dangerous swimming conditions, tides two feet above normal and resulting in some beach erosion.

Regents Measure Okayed TALLAHASSEE (AP) — With the backing of Senate President Dempsey Barron, legislation to add three students to the Board of Regents won narrow passage in a Senate committee.

The Education Committee voted 4-3 Friday for the bill, SB259, by Sen. Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, to give three students one-year terms on the board.

The concept of student regents was defeated during the last two sessions of the legislature, but picked up considerable steam with Barron's announcement Friday.

Presidential Hopefuls On The Go Carter Dogged By 'Ethnic' Remarks

By The Associated Press Jimmy Carter, his Democratic presidential campaign still dogged by a remark about preserving "ethnic neighborhoods," says he endorses federal intervention to desegregate private schools.

Meanwhile, President Ford sought to counter Reagan's claim that the nation is slipping behind the Soviet Union in armaments.

Reagan's remarks were made in a speech to Congress in which he urged the nation to take a step in the right direction, are "certainly not the giant stride toward showing the 'has cons' concern for minorities and particularly black minorities," Brown said Friday.

But George L. Brown, lieutenant governor of Colorado and head of the Democratic National Committee's Black Caucus, said the former Georgia governor is going to have to do something more than apologize for the comment.

Carter's apologies, while a step in the right direction, are "certainly not the giant stride toward showing the 'has cons' concern for minorities and particularly black minorities," Brown said Friday.

When asked Friday at a news conference in Columbus if he agrees with federal intervention to desegregate private schools, Carter hesitated, then replied: "Yes, I believe so."

He noted that the courts have denied federal tax exemptions to schools which discriminate racially in their enrollments.

About 40 black Ohio politicians gave him a polite but not enthusiastic reception Friday and asked for an explanation of the remark. "If you had heard my statement you would not have taken offense," Carter said.

Wallace raised the Carter comment while campaigning Friday.

"All I can say is that if you are going to run for president, you don't go around making remarks you have to apologize for."

Disputed a transition of CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) position expires after funding runs out June 30. It is uncertain at this time if funding will be renewed.

Disposal of a fire department vehicle and the mayor's office complete the agenda.

request for a change in building plans in a 53-acre condominium area in the Tuscaloosa Development will head the agenda at the City Council meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The Planning and Zoning Commission has approved the change with the recommendation the council obtain certain information prior to the public hearing, scheduled by the council on April 19.

Also up for discussion is a letter from Public Works Director James D. Davis, asking for a raise he said was promised him six months ago when he was hired.

Dr. Lamb said he had not been given a raise, but that his salary would be evaluated. He received a five per cent cost of living increase in October as did the other employees and he is being paid all that is budgeted.

Councilman John Hunter will discuss paying off the police department trailer loan and the purchase of a previously budgeted police radio. The city recently discovered it still owes $2,300 on the trailer used for police offices, instead of the five months of payments budgeted for.

Warnings To Cuba Have Been Issued

Foreign policy has become a major issue in the 1976 presidential campaign. That's good. It should be the subject of public discussion.

But the consequences of mixing domestic politics with foreign affairs in an election year are not always helpful to our foreign policy.

It is perhaps inevitable that a nation ruled by consent of the governed will occasionally be embarrassed abroad by political statements made primarily for home consumption.

The warnings delivered to Cuba by President Ford and Henry Kissinger fall into this category. At a time when the Ford administration has come under heavy fire from Ronald Reagan for softness toward détente, it is natural that its spokesmen would seek to prove their firmness and determination.

But what are the likely results for our foreign policy?

Threats serve little purpose unless they are taken seriously by those who are threatened. If they are perceived as empty bluster, they are not only ineffective but self-defeating. They produce an impression of weakness.

Theodore Roosevelt used to advocate a policy of speaking softly and carrying a big stick. That is certainly a better policy than speaking harshly and carrying a little stick.

If Cuba continues to send troops to help African blacks wage war against whites and against other blacks, what is the United States going to do about it.

Any decision to blockade or invade Cuba would have to have the consent of Congress, under the recently passed War Powers Act. There is little likelihood that such consent would be given under present circumstances.

Meanwhile, the Russian involvement in Africa does not provoke similar threats against the Kremlin. We do not even suggest that we will cut off our grain shipments to the Soviet Union in response to Russian arms shipments to Africa.

Why the more bellicose attitude toward Cuba? Our vital interests, if they are at stake in Africa, would be imperiled as much by the Soviet actions as by the Cuban actions.

The impression grows that Havana is considered a safer and more politically attractive target.

A Policy Matter

Congress is worrying about how the United States might carry any thrust by Fidel Castro to extend the influence of Cuban communism in the Caribbean and Latin America. A measure that would help do that has been lying on congressional desks since last year. It is a measure providing more autonomy to the commonwealth government of Puerto Rico to deal with social and economic problems.

Adoption of the proposed "Compact of Permanent Union between Puerto Rico and the United States" would enhance the commonwealth status of Puerto Rico while enhancing the degree of self-government the island enjoys. The compact was recommended by a blue-ribbon study commission which included Puerto Ricans and three U.S. senators and two congressmen.

Moderate political leaders in Puerto Rico say that by making the commonwealth less subject to U.S. laws, the Compact would frustrate the attempt by a pro-independence movement, which is being supported by Castro, to paint the United States as a "colonialist" in the Caribbean.

Coping with a more aggressive Cuban policy raises some thorny foreign policy problems. It is a simple matter of domestic policy to keep the governmental structure of Puerto Rico in tune with the aspirations of the Puerto Rican people and thus defuse an issue the Cubans are trying to exploit. Congress should give the Compact higher priority in the current session.

Thanks Probers

I wish to publicly thank the Seminole County State Attorney's Office for their prompt and thorough probe and subsequent report that I had been falsely charged with using Seminole County supplies and postage in our campaign for the United States House of Representatives, Florida's District Five.

Compliments are due — because the speedy investigation cleared the charge and prevented the drawn out sensational typical of political issues of this nature.

It is unfortunate taxpayers had to foot the bill for an investigation created by pure and simple "politics." The charge was brought to their place but with criminal charges against me, I had no choice but to request a prompt and complete investigation.

Did Richardson Supply Leaks?

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has suppressed records that the Commerce Secretary Elliott Richardson to the leak of highly classified documents to Daniel Ellsberg. Our investigation indicates that Richardson encouraged Ellsberg, in turn, to pass the classified material to the press.

The Pentagon's chief investigator was so incensed over the leak that he recommended to the Justice Department that Richardson and an aide be prosecuted.

White House records show that then-President Richard Nixon expressed his personal concern about the leak to aide John Ehrlichman. One cryptic note indicates that the White House was worried about the "E.L.R. implications," obviously meaning Elliott L. Richardson, who was then in the Nixon cabinet.

The Justice Department's refusal to lift the secrecy in this case comes at a time when Richardson is quietly seeking the vice presidential nomination on President Ford's ticket. The Richardson-Ellsberg leak clearly won't help his chances. But Justice insists the suppression has nothing to do with politics.

The evidence indicates that Richardson, working through an aide, used Ellsberg to leak a story helpful to Richardson. This occurred a year before the controversial Ellsberg was identified as the source of the more famous Pentagon Papers leak. Here are the details:

On March 27, 1970, the Washington Star published a story by its political reporter, James Doyle, revealing dates and details from classified State Department cables. The story told in terms favorable to Richardson, then Under Secretary of State, how he was trying to free a prominent South Vietnamese Assemblyman named Tran Ngoc Chau.

President Nixon was reported to be appopletic over the leak, and the State Department was ordered to search for the source. The leak was traced to Charles M. Cooke Jr., a former Air Force major, who had become Richardson's most trusted aide.

No action was taken against Cooke, and the

Is Sanford's Seminole Employment Economic Development Corporation (SEEDCO) helping the poor?

The answer to that question, really, depends on whether you think the agency's employees are real-live people, or just some sort of fabrication dreamed up by Public Relations types out of Washington who want to stall the taxpayer's hard-earned dollars.

It is hard to imagine the more than $800,000 in federal money which came to Seminole County this year and was used to employ the jobless as anything but real.

But you should see for yourself. Go physically and check it out. If you can't do that, here are the facts:

With the federal grant the agency has hired 97 workers. Of those workers, 65 are black and 28 are white, while the remaining four are Spanish-speaking persons.

Wanna know about jail problems, ask a prisoner?

At least that's the message relayed last Tuesday by County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski. The funny part is Kwiatkowski was being funny, and Commissioner Chairman Michael Hattaway took him seriously.

"I'd like to see someone from inside" appointed to an ad hoc committee set up to study overcrowding at county jail, Hattaway said.

Kwiatkowski, who made the initial suggestion to have a "minority" opinion, snickered. And Sid Vihlen Jr., said commissioners have to be careful with jokes because Hattaway might take them serious.

To top it all off Hattaway asked the commission that appointment of a former prisoner really might be a sound idea. What about Jimmy Hoffa? asked the commission chairman.

"What about Tom Adams?" quipped Commissioner John Kimbrough.

Seminole County Tax Collector Troy Ray had completed his Personality Breakfast presentation to the Great Sanford Chamber of Commerce in which he outlined the method the State of Florida plans to use to switch over to an alphanumeric auto licensing tag system.

Ray's talk had been liberally supplemented with colorful posters on each phase of the program, including a sketch of what the new auto tags will look like.

During a question and answer session following the presentation, Ray was asked about a point involving transfer of titles. The questioner believed Ray had stated the matter incorrectly and a murmur of support went up to the audience.

"Right. Okay, I stand corrected on that," Ray responded. "I wasn't sure when I covered that if I had said it correctly or not — I'll tell you, I've been so busy the past week making posters that I can't have time to do anything else."

Did Richardson Supply Leaks?

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has suppressed records that the Commerce Secretary Elliott Richardson to the leak of highly classified documents to Daniel Ellsberg. Our investigation indicates that Richardson encouraged Ellsberg, in turn, to pass the classified material to the press.

The Pentagon's chief investigator was so incensed over the leak that he recommended to the Justice Department that Richardson and an aide be prosecuted.

White House records show that then-President Richard Nixon expressed his personal concern about the leak to aide John Ehrlichman. One cryptic note indicates that the White House was worried about the "E.L.R. implications," obviously meaning Elliott L. Richardson, who was then in the Nixon cabinet.

The Justice Department's refusal to lift the secrecy in this case comes at a time when Richardson is quietly seeking the vice presidential nomination on President Ford's ticket. The Richardson-Ellsberg leak clearly won't help his chances. But Justice insists the suppression has nothing to do with politics.

The evidence indicates that Richardson, working through an aide, used Ellsberg to leak a story helpful to Richardson. This occurred a year before the controversial Ellsberg was identified as the source of the more famous Pentagon Papers leak. Here are the details:

On March 27, 1970, the Washington Star published a story by its political reporter, James Doyle, revealing dates and details from classified State Department cables. The story told in terms favorable to Richardson, then Under Secretary of State, how he was trying to free a prominent South Vietnamese Assemblyman named Tran Ngoc Chau.

President Nixon was reported to be appopletic over the leak, and the State Department was ordered to search for the source. The leak was traced to Charles M. Cooke Jr., a former Air Force major, who had become Richardson's most trusted aide.

Now 38 of the total 97 hired were persons from welfare families. Another 21 workers hired with grant money were collecting state unemployment compensation.

In the SEEDCO office itself, 21 persons hold down jobs of one type or another. Fourteen are black, while seven are white.

In the SEEDCO "ventures," or corporations bought by the agency in hopes of providing employment for welfare recipients, 78 persons hold down fulltime jobs. Thirty four are white, and 44 are black.

During the fruit picking season, the agency, through its subsidiaries, employs 90 to 120 harvesters.

These are real people; if you like, you can go over to the agency's office at the airport and see them. Somebody connected with SEEDCO is under fire. And as a result of criticism, at least one Florida Congressman is looking askance at the program, perhaps even thinking of asking Congress to abolish it.

Well, that's okay. Congressmen need headlines to win elections. But, if I were an elected official, I wouldn't like to be the one responsible for losing my constituents $4.5-million federal dollars.

Move SEEDCO to Timbuktu, and Seminole Counties will contribute toward salaries of Timbuktuans. Halt the program, and we'll pay into welfare, which in turn, will subsidize low income persons unable to compete in the economic system.

There is a solution. It is simply to let the federal government — which set up the agency — evaluate SEEDCO. And, if it doesn't add up, and there's a cheaper way, then that's what should be done.

The investigating agent should be the federal watchdog agency, the General Accounting Office (GAO) and not the agency SEEDCO takes its orders from — the Community Services Administration (CSA).

Wanna know about jail problems, ask a prisoner?

At least that's the message relayed last Tuesday by County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski. The funny part is Kwiatkowski was being funny, and Commissioner Chairman Michael Hattaway took him seriously.

"I'd like to see someone from inside" appointed to an ad hoc committee set up to study overcrowding at county jail, Hattaway said.

Kwiatkowski, who made the initial suggestion to have a "minority" opinion, snickered. And Sid Vihlen Jr., said commissioners have to be careful with jokes because Hattaway might take them serious.

To top it all off Hattaway asked the commission that appointment of a former prisoner really might be a sound idea. What about Jimmy Hoffa? asked the commission chairman.

Seminole County Tax Collector Troy Ray had completed his Personality Breakfast presentation to the Great Sanford Chamber of Commerce in which he outlined the method the State of Florida plans to use to switch over to an alphanumeric auto licensing tag system.

Ray's talk had been liberally supplemented with colorful posters on each phase of the program, including a sketch of what the new auto tags will look like.

During a question and answer session following the presentation, Ray was asked about a point involving transfer of titles. The questioner believed Ray had stated the matter incorrectly and a murmur of support went up to the audience.

"Right. Okay, I stand corrected on that," Ray responded. "I wasn't sure when I covered that if I had said it correctly or not — I'll tell you, I've been so busy the past week making posters that I can't have time to do anything else."

CB BREAK

FCC Can Solve Problems Of AM And SSB Users

By MIKE WENDLAND

A new sort of static has developed on the CB airwaves which threatens to get increasingly worse unless the FCC soon comes down with its anticipated extra-channels ruling.

It comes from the incompatibility between the number of AM Citizens Band users and the growing numbers of operators who are turning to single sideband for relief from the heavily-used AM channels.

Single sideband, or SSB, is a means of transmitting that greatly increases the range of CB communications while effectively doubling the airwave room over AM.

AM (Amplitude modulation) is the standard transmission mode on CB. Basically, an AM signal consists

Liberalized Rules Aid CB Operators

Consumer demand for citizens band (CB) radios received a shot in the arm from the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) recently when the regulating body of the airwaves liberalized its rules. A number of provisions previously required by the FCC, considered "Mickey Mouse" by many CBers in the past, have been eliminated.

As of Sept. 15, 1975, the new FCC rules have:

- removed the requirement that CB licenses identify the station being called by official call signs;
- eliminated the current prohibition against "hobby talk" over CB channels;
- eliminated the existing interstation communication restrictions on the number of channels which may be used; trimmed the mandatory "silent period" between broadcasts to one minute;
- established channel 11 as the new nationwide calling frequency;
- removed restriction on the relay of messages for all communications within a radius of 100 miles.

In the past (prior to Sept. 15) CB operators were restricted in their broadcasting of routine interstation calls (calls between different stations) and intra-station calls.

With the new rules they are now able to operate on any and all 22 channels with the exception of channels 9 and 11. Channel 9 remains limited to emergency and motorist assistance use, while channel 11 is to be used strictly as a calling frequency. CB licensees are allowed to use channel 11 only to establish communications and make arrangements to change to a different frequency.

These new rules do not prohibit the use of other channels as calling frequencies and FCC has indicated that it was considering a proposal to shift the national calling frequency to a new channel (between 60 and 90) if the agency expands the available frequencies in the future as is expected.

The FCC is currently considering a plan to sharply increase the channels available to class D stations by re-allowing of a radio carrier and an upper and lower sideband. SSB, as its name implies, uses one sideband. An SSB operator, in effect, can squeeze two frequencies into the space necessary for one AM channel.

Across the nation, thousands of CBers have bought the more expensive sideband units (an SSB rig usually costs $100 more than an AM-only set) because the CB industry has told them that they can have 48 additional channels — 20 AM plus 48 sidebands for a total of 68 usable channels. The 48 represent the 23 lower and 25 upper sidebands on either side of the 22 AM channels.

While, in theory, an SSB rig does have 68 separate frequencies, the sales pitch is grossly misleading. For AM and SSB don't mix.

An SSB station operating on, say, the upper sideband of Channel 12, tears up communications for AM operators trying to communicate on the AM Channel 12. Conversely, AM signals based over and interfere with SSB operators. In most parts of the country where congestion of this sort occurs, only workable solution is to keep AM and SSB signals from using the same frequency.

An unwritten agreement by CBers across the nation has unofficially set aside Channel 16 as an SSB-only channel. For the past couple of years, this arrangement has been satisfactory to most CBers. But with the growing interest in SSB, Channel 16 is becoming so crowded with sidebanders that it's clear they're not seeing room.

AMers are justifiably reluctant to clear yet another of their channels. Especially in our crowded urban centers fierce arguments are cropping up between SSBers, who are attempting to use other channels, and AMers, who are being washed out on channels they've adopted as theirs.

The obvious solution is for the FCC to allocate more channels and to divide them between the SSBers and the AMers. A proposal that would do just that has been gathering dust in Washington for two years.

It's apparent from even casual monitoring of the CB band that action is long overdue.

Q. Can you tell me how or when to use the squelch control?

A. Personally, I never use it unless my wife is in the car. She objects to the ratchet-jawing. The more you cut back on the noise, the less you will hear and I'm perpetually afraid I'll miss some remote jabber.

Seminole Boys, Brantley Girls Breeze Home

By JIM HAYNES
Herald Sports Editor

It took a slew of record-shattering performances, but Seminole County high school track performers warmed up a cool Seminole High Stadium crowd of 500 Friday night in the revival of the county track meet.

Seminole's boys and Lake Brantley's girls were the big winners, each posting runaway victories.

Individually, Lyman's Jerry Human voted top field performer for boys, winning discus and finishing second in the shot put, while Trinity Prep's Thad McNulty was top runner, winning the half mile and mile races.

Among girls competitors, Seminole's Antoinette Boykin was top field performer with double wins, while Lake Brantley sprinter Troyann Gaines took the trophy as top runner.

In team competition, Seminole's boys tallied 124 1/2 points to Lyman's 99. Lake Brantley was third with 80 1/2 while Trinity Prep amassed 39, Lake Howell 34 and Oviedo 13.

Among girls, Brantley led the parade with 169, besting Lake Howell's 92. Lyman was third

Seminole Mile Relay Team One Of Best In State

One thing about the Seminole High mile relay team — if you blink, you miss seeing the race.

It won the county track meet Friday night. Oh, but did it win. With a time of 3:30.5. Not that impressive? Don't be fooled, because the foursome of Ricky Hill, Leroy Martin, Darnell Johnson and Nate Washington won by six seconds.

"That wasn't much of a race," commented Washington afterward, almost dejectedly. "We can do a lot better."

Area track fans believe him. Their only local loss was to Oak Ridge early in the season. Since then, they have burned the Pioneers four times. Seminole's best time is 3:21.7. That was with Herbert Branch running one leg.

Herbert is no longer on the mile relay team. Or the track team for that matter. Seems Branch made the honor roll, but the wrong one to keep him running. Scholastically ineligible, he was replaced by Hill.

"Herb could move, but I think we will be okay," chimed in Hill.

Washington, anchorman and spokesman for the relay outfit, poked a finger in Hill's ribs and told him shortly, "you jumped on the team just in time to come up smelling good."

Washington, who is making his grades, wants to go to college and become a world class sprinter. Which are two fine ambitions.

Seaver: Money In Bank

By The Associated Press

Tom Seaver is putting his money where his arm is.

After a spring training of bitter contract negotiations with the New York Mets, the right-hander now is throwing his weight behind his pitches instead of his mouth.

The three-time National League Cy Young winner was his usual light-fisted self Friday, allowing but five hits and striking out eight batters in seven innings while leading the Mets to a 3-2 opening day victory over the Montreal Expos.

Seaver just last Monday agreed on a three-year contract at about $250,000 a season.

Seaver walked just one batter in his day's work.

Bud Harrelson supported Seaver's strong pitching with a two-run double off Steve Rogers in the fourth inning. Skip Lockwood pitched the last two innings for the Mets.

No Jackson, But O's Win

By The Associated Press

The Baltimore Orioles apparently don't need Reggie Jackson... at least not when Jim Palmer's pitching.

The Orioles couldn't entice Jackson to Baltimore Friday for their American League opener with the defending champion Boston Red Sox.

After the Birds' 1-0 squeaker over the Sox, Manager Earl Weaver read a telegram from the reluctant slugger, who was placed on the disqualified list before the game after rejecting a contract offer.

The Orioles needed all the help they could get because Boston's Ferguson Jenkins more than matched the six-hit pitching of Palmer and Dyer Miller but was done by an unearned run that scored on a throwing error by 1975 hero Fred Lynn.

Baltimore got its only run in the fourth inning. Lee May reached on an error by shortstop Rick Burleson, Bobby Grich singled and May lunched off the way home when center fielder Lynn's throw bounced over the head of third baseman Rico Petrocelli.

Jenkins, acquired from Texas during the off-season, allowed

Lyman Nine In Tester

WINTER PARK—Lyman took the Metro Conference leading baseball credentials to Winter Park Saturday for a 2 p.m. collision with the Wildcats at Harper-Shepherd field.

The Greyhounds were coming off a tough 3-2 conquest of Orlando Oak Ridge that lifted the Metro won-lost ledger to 16-2, 18-3 overall.

Lyman's solid hitters produced the triumph over the Pioneers, pushing across the deciding marker in the final inning.

Mickey Manning opened the frame with a double to center and one out later first baseman Phil Nelson rifled a single up the middle to plate the run. Undeclared Pitcher Del Hatfield took the victory on a two-hit.

Masterful Round: Floyd's The Man

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — There is a word of caution that has become a refrain in legitimate golf — "Don't Make the Golden Bear Mad" — but a completely poised and confident Ray Floyd was paying no mind as he entered today's third round of the Masters.

"It just means let the sleeping giant lie," the bull-shouldered tour veteran said, referring to five-time winner Jack Nicklaus, "then I am sorry to disturb him. But I hope to do it again in the last two rounds."

Floyd, a reformed playboy, refused to be jarred by a pair of Nicklaus eagles and, keeping his calm under the severest pressure, tacked a six-in-her-par 66 onto an earlier 65 for a five-shot lead over Nicklaus after 36 holes.

His 131 total was the best half-way start in the history of Augusta National's big spring bash, clipping four strokes off the mark of four giants of the game — Henry Ford, Byron Nelson, Ken Venturi and Nicklaus.

Nicklaus, who has won more major championships than any golfer who has ever lived, coasted along with his eagles and birdies about an hour ahead of Floyd, the first-round leader, with everyone wondering when the Miami, 33-year-old guy from Miami would crack. Floyd never did.

Seminole Make Net Finals

DAYTONA BEACH—Seminole's Jeff McKee and Andy Tharpe made it to the final round of their respective classifications but lost their championship matches Friday in the conclusion of the Five Star Tennis Tournament.

The pair's performance was the highest finish recorded by any Tribe competitor in the tournament.

McKee defeated hopefuls from Spruce Creek and Daytona Beach Seabreeze before being stopped in the Division 3 championship match, 6-2, 6-0. Tharpe drew a bye in the first round, handily disposed of a Spruce Creek contestant in the second round and lost, 6-4, 6-1, in the Division 4 finals.

Kenneth Williams, advanced to the semifinals in Division 5 before being stopped 6-4, 2-6, 2-6. David McCook was defeated in the Division 1 semifinals, 7-5, 6-1, as was Seminole's No. 2 entrant Richard Moreland who bowed 6-2, 6-3.

In Doubles the team of McCook and Tharpe was knocked out of the semis, 6-4, 6-1, while the Moreland Williams duo fell, 6-4, 6-4.

DeLand finished first in the overall standings sweeping all five singles seeds and both of the doubles matches.

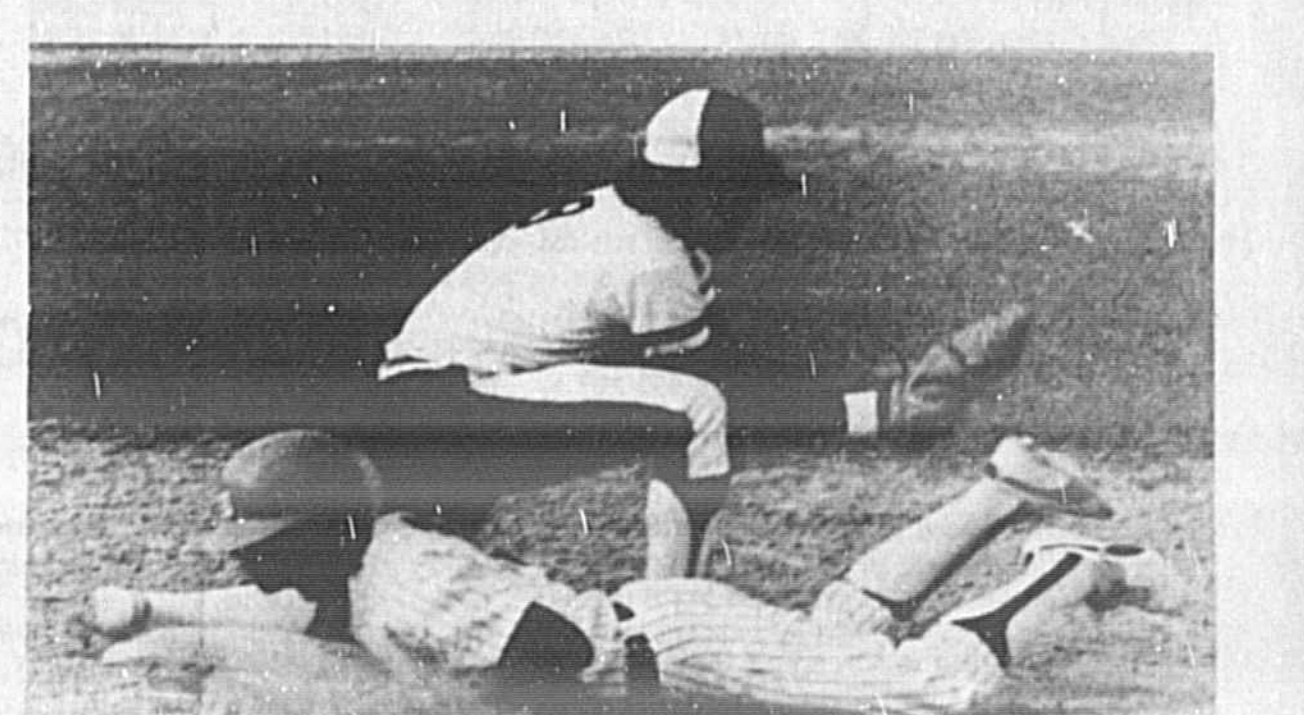

Meanwhile in girls action in the East Coast Conference finals at DeLand, Karen Louwman lost her No. 1 match to Spruce Creek's Zinda Lewis, 6-0, 6-0.

Seminole Girls Win Softball

Sparked by Anne Grieme's grand-slam home run, Seminole overcame five fielding errors and thrashed Lake Brantley, 14-1, Friday in a girls high school softball game.

Rangers 2, Twins 1

Toby Harrah's two-out teabreaking single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 11th enabled the Rangers to edge Minnesota before a Texas crowd that included President Gerald R. Ford. Harrah's single backed the seven-hit

Seminole Nine Whips Oviedo

OVIEDO—A pair of Seminole pitchers stymied Oviedo on four hits Friday while Seminole batsmen rapped out nine hits and trounced the Lions, 8-1, in a high school baseball game.

The Seminoles, scoring in six of the seven innings, opened up a 5-0 bulge in the fourth and coasted to the decision.

Robinson led Seminole at the plate with three hits in four appearances while Wiggin contributed a two-for-three effort.

Fertilizers Explained

According to Robert Black of the University of Florida, gardeners, are confused by terminology as it applies to commercial fertilizers. Such terms as "mixed fertilizer," "balanced or unbalanced," "complete or incomplete" have little or no meaning to many gardeners. Then when it comes to numbers on the fertilizer bag, such as 8-8-8 or 16-8-4, they are even more confused as to the meaning of these figures.

The Magnolia Circle, Sanford Garden Club, offers these tips. A fertilizer is a material which contains one (or sometimes two or three) of the major plant food nutrients — nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium.

When two or more fertilizer materials are mixed, the product is called a "mixed fertilizer." If the mixed fertilizer contains all three of the major plant nutrients (nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium) it is called a "complete fertilizer." When only one or two of the nutrients are present it is referred to as an "incomplete fertilizer."

A "balanced" fertilizer is one containing the three major nutrients in equal amounts. An 8-8-8 fertilizer is a "complete-balanced" fertilizer since it contains all three major nutrient elements and all three are present in equal amounts.

A "complete-unbalanced" fertilizer is one that contains all three major nutrients but each is not present in equal amounts. A 16-8-4 fertilizer is an example of a "complete-unbalanced" fertilizer.

The term 8-8-8 is the analysis or grade designation of a commonly available complete and balanced fertilizer. The grade or analysis of a fertilizer gives the percentage by weight of each of the three fertilizer nutrients. The percentages are expressed in terms of total nitrogen, available phosphoric acid and water-soluble potash. Thus, an 8-8-8 fertilizer contains 8 per cent total nitrogen, 8 per cent phosphoric acid and 8 per cent water-soluble potash. The nutrients are always listed in this order on the label attached to the fertilizer.

A 100-pound bag of 8-8-8 obviously contains 8 pounds of nitrogen, 8 pounds of phosphoric acid and 8 pounds of plant nutrients. The remaining 76 pounds, vest of a filler or a carrier of some kind. These fillers may or may not have some value as a source of plant

Miss Lowie Honored At Shower

Cheryl Lowie, bride elect of Thad Rush, was honored at a shower held Wednesday at the Pincrest Drive home of Mrs. Doris Holcomb. The couple will be married May 1.

Hostesses included Mrs. Cindy Szabo; Mrs. Tawny Sands; Mrs. Vanessa Donohoe; Mrs. Patty Bowling; Mrs. Ann Street and Miss Debbie Smith. Refreshments served from a table overlaid with a white lace cloth and fresh flower centerpiece in the bride's chosen color of light blue.

Guests included Mesdames Charlotte Donahoe; Diane Crapps; Rose McLeod; Patty Webb; Kathy Hunter; Doris Holcomb; Sheila Scott; Sandy Maisak; Judy Berman; Pauline Bille; Lynne Harris; William Fernandez; Tonia Castain; and Richard Bowes. Also, Mesdames Jackie Ansel; Don Johnson; Lawrence Rush; Melody Kennedy; Susan Richards; Maria Richardson and Theresa Lowie. Also, Misses Kit Donahoe; Paula Coban; Janice Holcomb; Margaret Myers; Paula Holcomb; Kathy Hoffman; Sandy Nicks; Dixie Weber; Sandy Bowes, Lynne Smith; Gail Cowan and Liz O'Neil.

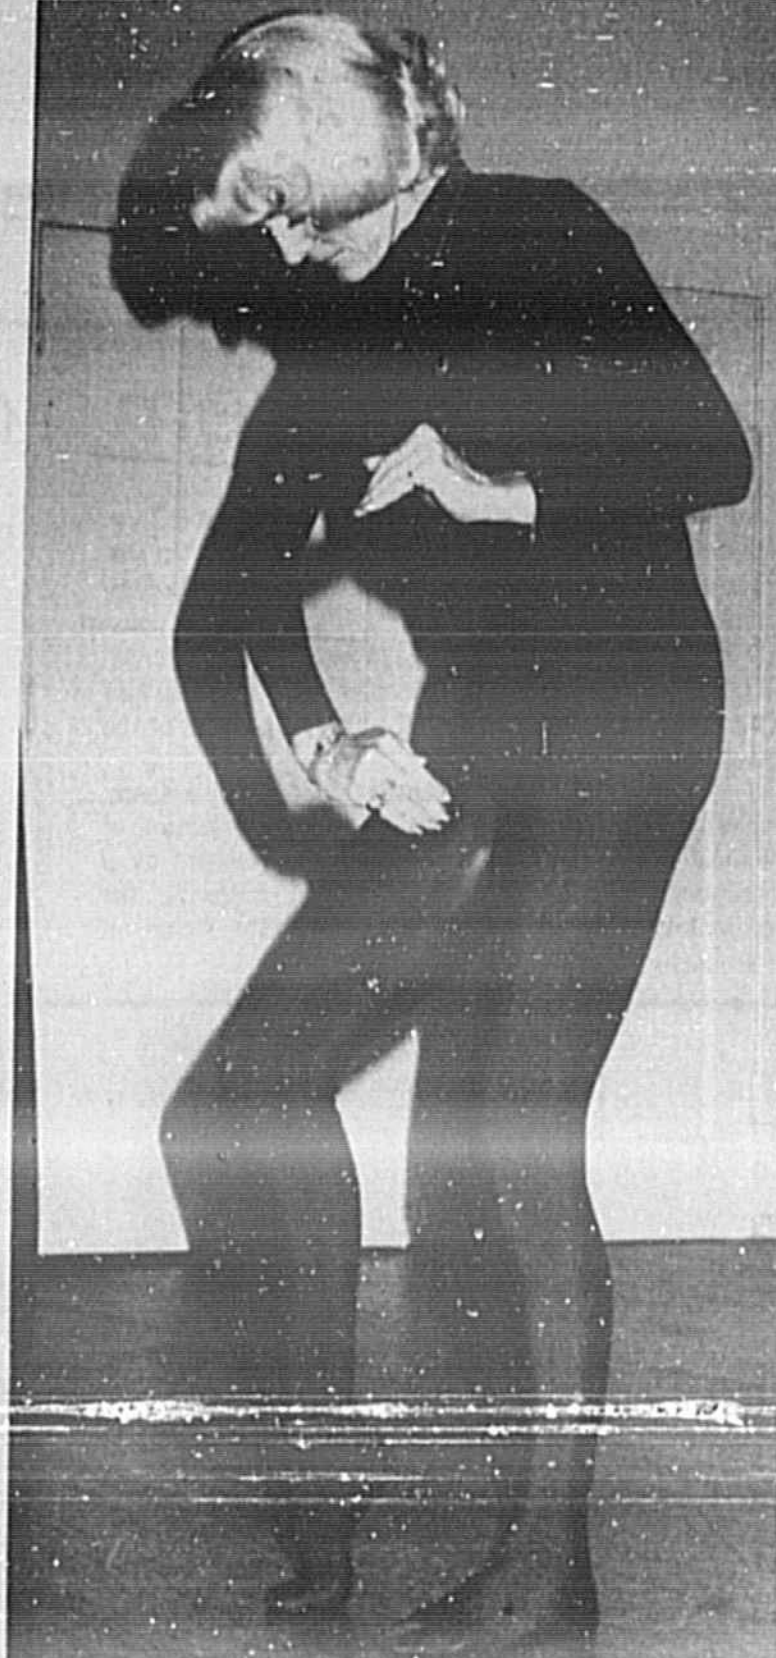

Mrs. Sarah Tatum, Mrs. Charles Steinworth, Miss Gertrude Fischer, Miss Ellabee Kirchoff, Mrs. Richard Herrison and Mrs. Joel Field. Fran Carlton, a native Floridian, educated at Stetson University, who has her own physical fitness program on television, was the guest speaker. She had the club members alternately laughing at her funny stories and taking notes on how to be the best persons God intended them to be. Miss Carlton, in her black Isolantis, demonstrated a number of her exercise routines to the club members. Mrs. Phillip Logan announced continuing progress at Hacienda Girl's Ranch and asked for continued support and prayers for this worthy project. Progress in the Community Improvement Program (C.I.P.) was reported. Fourteen new flower beds have been installed in the city. Cash donations for this important program were noted.

The Sanford Woman's Club chapter of Epsilon Sigma Omicron will host the Florida State Breakfast, April 28 in Daytona in honor of retiring state chairman, Mrs. Burch Cornelius, who has served for the past four years. The next general meeting of the Sanford Woman's Club will be May 5. Conservation will be the subject of the program.

Volunteers Fight Nevada's High Rape Rate

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — The move to change public attitudes and laws on rape, launched in the nation's urban centers, has extended to Nevada where rapes occur at a rate far above the national average.

The fight to curb rape in this tourist-oriented state has been led mainly by underfunded and widely scattered volunteer groups. But leaders of the movement say the combination of innovative rape counseling techniques by volunteer groups and sweeping changes in state law dealing with rape are producing positive results. FBI statistics show an eight per cent increase in reported rapes or rape attempts in Las Vegas, Nevada's largest city, in 1975. That compares to an average national increase of just one per cent.

That looks bad, but the figures indicate victims who were unwilling to report rapes before are now beginning to realize they'll get help instead of hassles, the movement leaders say. Florence McClure, a 54-year-old grandmother who runs "Community Action Against Rape" in Las Vegas, says "there has always been a lot of rapes, but they went unreported. Victims didn't think they would get a fair shake from anyone. But the word is getting out. Things aren't as bad as they used to be."

That problem has produced programs which are apparently among the most advanced in the nation. The Nevada rape centers, all run on shoestring budgets by volunteers, provide immediate counseling for rape victims, along with help in dealing with police, hospitals, court appearances and families. In some cases self defense programs are offered. Mrs. McClure's program also offers follow-up counseling.

Spring Flower Show Opens Friday

The Garden Club of Sanford invites the public to attend its annual Spring Flower Show April 16 and 17 at the Garden Club, South U.S. 17-92 and Fairmont Avenue.

The show will begin on Good Friday, depicting the 23rd Psalm in horticulture displays and flower arrangements. There will be 48 arrangements, including those entitled: "I Shall Not Want," (an expressive design using all fresh plant material); "Paths of Righteousness," (two or more compatible expressive designs); "The Valley of the Shadow of Death;" "I Will Fear No Evil;" "The Roof and Thy Staff;" "The Presence of Mine Enemies;" "My Cup Runneth Over;" and "The House of the Lord."

Invitational arrangements by flower show judges from other Garden Clubs will be exhibited by Mrs. Walter Neals and Mrs. Stanford Long. The First Federal of Seminole Trophy will be presented to the winner of the award of horticultural excellence.

And finally, the Atlantic National Bank of Sanford Trophy will be presented to the winner of the award of horticultural excellence.

Mrs. Carl Tillis is the flower show chairman and the schedule was written by Mrs. G. Andrew Speer. Mrs. Owen is staging chairman. To enter an artistic arrangement, call Mrs. V. M. Smith at 348-5337.

"We are expecting to see you at the flower show April 16 from 2 to 5 p.m. and April 17 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.," said Mrs. Owen. "Make plans now to attend. The show is free to everyone."

Shrink Likes Matching Guests

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Where do you live that you have not heard of a hostess who plans a successful dinner party by matching her guests' interests and, yes, sexes?

I am a female psychiatrist, and I wouldn't even think of starting a therapeutic group unless the sexes were matched more or less equally. Who, male or female, feels comfortable in a group of, say, six females and two males? Do you?

N.Y. PSYCHIATRIST: DEAR PSYCHIATRIST: Certainly! A dinner party is not a therapeutic group, and all one needs for a successful party is stimulating company — be they male or female — unless they plan to pair off and go to bed.

DEAR ABBY: John and I were married just three months after my father died, so Mom talked us into moving in with her. We get free room and board, although John and I both work and can afford to pay her. (Dad left her fairly well off.) Now the problem: Mom expects us to take her everywhere we go. If we don't, she pouts for a week. When we have company, Mom dominates the conversation. We've never had a trip without her. We have no privacy at all.

It's been six years, and John is fed up. So am I, but every time I mention leaving, Mom cries and begs us to stay. If we live with her, she has promised that she'll leave the house and everything to me when she dies. (I have two married brothers.) Mom is only 52, but she won't even try to make a life of her own. She keeps nagging us to have a baby, but we're not even sure we want children. Please help me.

TRAPPED DEAR TRAPPED: Your "free" room and board is costing you far more than it's worth. Move out. Your mother will never make a life of her own as long as you make one for her — and sacrifice your own privacy in the process.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOHN C.: Even if you aren't without sin, cast the first stone. And make it a diamond.

Cher Stempler An Inspiration To Young Actors

By WILDA NICHOLS Herald Correspondent

Cherry McIntyre Stempler — who prefers to be called Cher — is the drama coach at Lyman High School and is presently surrounded by actors and stage hands, reading an April production of "Funny Girl."

Locating her among a group of young actors is difficult, because of her own youthful appearance. But even with the easy camaraderie between students and teacher, there still is a respect and admiration that she, stempler, gives the students. "These students like to be treated as adults. When they take on the responsibility of putting on a production, they know we aren't here for a social time," she said.

Ms. Stempler herself danced on stage for the first time at six years of age. "I didn't get into real theatre until college," she said. "In high school, I was too busy with other things."

She met her husband, David while they were both at the University of South Florida, in theatrical productions. "He worked backstage, while I performed," she said. "We worked on a lot of shows together."

After college, Ms. Stempler became a store detective. "The work was almost like the theatre, as I had to wear disguises," she said. "There were a few scary scenes, so I figured it was time to get out."

Snilling, she continued, "Then I got a job as an auditor-bookkeeper, and I couldn't even use a 10-key adding machine! My acting experience came in good again." After moving to Central Florida, Ms. Stempler worked at Disney World a short time, and then became a department store manager-trainee.

One day at work, a girl passed the shop, and she and Ms. Stempler recognized each other from a children's dance class. Ms. Stempler explained, "it was Karen Nelson, Lyman's chorus director, and she told me of an opening in the English-drama department. I applied, and got the job. I acted as technical director of the production, "Sound of Music," then in process. (The show was a resounding hit, as everyone who saw it knows.)"

Ms. Stempler has been instrumental in her drama students joining International Thespians Society. They must produce two plays a year, and Lyman has done that and more.

The company is a hand-selected group, representing Lyman in the county, performing benefits locally and for the state convention.

"We felt good when we were in the audience," she said, after viewing one of our performances. "It's good to know the theatre is alive and well in Seminole County!" she said. The company has won first place for the best productions in the Seminole County Drama Festival for the past two years.

Ms. Stempler's hours are long and irregular when a show is in production. Her 4-year-old son Jason often accompanies her to rehearsals, and then greets the actors at his home when they come for Thespian meetings and related. Husband David is technical director at SCC and public relations director for the Fine Arts program, so he understands the theatre schedule. "We have theatre in common," said Ms. Stempler.

She pushes her drama students for discipline, both traditional and theatrical. They also get a good helping of self-discipline. "Right now, our dancers come early and rehearse dance steps, as well as regular dance exercises," she said. "Some of them have never danced before, but they want to look good for the sake of the show."

Ms. Stempler's expressive hands move about as she talks of the drama group. "Actors are given a chance to be anything in the world. A lot of people go through life and never have a chance to delve inside themselves," she said. "All you need is an interest in drama to be a member of the drama club. Whatever your talents, they can be used. There's room for everybody, in designing sets, painting, sewing costumes, music, electronics and lighting."

"There's no room for male chauvinism either!" she added. Girls can and do work in all the fields involved with a stage production.

Some of the students want to seriously enter the theatrical world, while others just enjoy the friendships they make, according to Ms. Stempler. "I believe in good educational theatre," she said. "I see no reason in doing very juvenile plays. We have a hard time finding scripts that can be shown in high schools. These students will be going out into the world soon, so we try to present as sophisticated and professional a show as we can. I believe this is the first time "Funny Girl" has been done in this area."

Money for production costs is raised by the admission tickets to the shows. "The more money we make, the more shows we can produce," said Ms. Stempler. "We also appreciate the tremendous support from the community and area merchants, for helping with stage supplies. We couldn't do it without them."

In And Around Sanford Brunch Fetes Fri

A champagne brunch at Maison et Jardin feted friendship with the flavor of luscious cuisine. And for action and a hint of nostalgia, the Dixieland Band provided just the right tempo for the pre-Easter event or spring special.

Gathering for a spring fling before the long hot summer sets in were Dorothy and Doc McInoyne, Virginia and Jack Barney, Nellie and Boyd Coleman, Vi and Woodrow Clark, Peggy and Bill Conrad, Jonnie and Dick Elam, Bill and Walter Gielow, Liz and Dr. Norman Helrich, Mona and Hugh Jarvis, Dottie and Bob Karns, Jerri and Bill Kirk, Rose and Al Payne, Vida and Milton Smith, Gladys and Bill Wray and Martha and Ed Yancey.

Another "just because" party was in full swing April 4 at the Altamonte Springs home of Grace and Robert Bradford. Throwing social galas is not new to Grace who has a flair for success in this area as well as civic accomplishments.

The Bradfords live in an unusual home which was converted from an old theatre. A wealth of history surrounded the elegant edifice, handsome heirlooms and antiques, and picturesque gardens.

More than 150 guests were invited to the Spirit of the Reception to enjoy the hospitality of the Bradfords and particularly Grace's superb culinary creations.

The competition, which is held annually, is a test of a student's knowledge of the state of Florida. Tabben and Jim, who are students at Lymon High School, have qualified for the state competition.

The competition is a challenge for students and is a great way to test their knowledge of their state. The winners will receive a variety of prizes and will represent the state at the national level.

Senior Projects To Benefit Trinity

By MARTHA McDONALD

Grading isn't a great thing, but Trinity's seniors are looking forward to it. Yet even though their days of attending Trinity are numbered, they are still working hard to complete their senior projects.

The projects, which are designed to benefit Trinity, are a variety of community service projects. Some students are working on projects that will help the school, while others are working on projects that will help the community.

The projects are a great way for students to give back and to show their commitment to their school and their community.

Marryin' Sam Ties Knot For Couples

Several Hundred Pounds Of Marijuana Seized 10 Arrested In Drug Smuggling Operation

Ten persons have been arrested and several hundred pounds of marijuana seized by federal and local agents in an 18-hour operation in Seminole and Highlands Counties, federal agents said today.

Six of the suspects in the drug smuggling operation were arrested last night at Osceola airstrip, north of Geneva in northeast Seminole near the St. Johns River.

A twin-engine airplane, believed loaded with a half-million dollars worth of marijuana and cocaine, was being searched by federal and county agents at noon today at Sebring, agents said.

Seminole County Sheriff John E. Polk said agents at Sebring had arrested three men and a woman and confiscated 200 pounds of marijuana before the search of the aircraft was begun.

The plane landed in Sebring last night after an apparent aborted attempt to land at the Osceola airstrip in Seminole County. It was reportedly coming from the Bahamas and the six suspects arrested are believed to have been the ground contacts.

However, the six were already in custody by the time the plane arrived in the Osceola area and apparently failed to land when it did not receive the proper prearranged signals from the ground.

Airborne federal agents followed the plane to Sebring where it landed and later four more suspects were taken into custody there.

The six drug ring suspects arrested near Geneva literally fell into the hands of agents hiding in woods at the edge of the former Navy practice air strip.

Chief Deputy Duane Harrell and Capt. Roy Rice said that deputies and federal agents were hidden approximately 50 feet off the airstrip entrance road at the end of a lovers lane when the pickup truck and a car drove up. Agents arrested a man who got out of the auto and then rapidly picked up the men in the pickup truck after it was driven into the woods very near the waiting officers.

Arrested on charges of conspiracy to violate federal narcotics laws and being held without bond today were Walter Francis Quigley III, 26, of Hialeah; Samuel Christian Davis, 31, of North Miami; Frank Blanco, 47-year-old unemployed pilot from Pompano Beach; Robert Frederick Munday Jr., 25, of Palm Beach; Raymond John Coughlin, 33, of Fort Lauderdale, all Florida, and Ronald Carroll, 33, of Montreal, Que., Canada.

Arrest records listed Blanco as a native of Bogota, Colombia.

The suspects were transferred from the Seminole County Jail to the Orange County Jail at 3 a.m. today as federal prisoners and ordered held without bond, DEA officials said.

Federal, state, county and city agents participated in the investigation and raid that lasted 10 hours and at some points utilized more than 25 uniform and undercover officers.

Three drug conspiracy suspects leave jail at Sanford for trip to Orlando.

Members of the sheriff's bomb squad and a county fire department unit spent several hours searching the vehicle and its contents for possible booby traps and explosives before the vehicle was towed away by a wrecker.

Polk said that the vehicle, being processed for fingerprints today, was confiscated as an abandoned auto on county-owned property.

Members of the sheriff's bomb squad and a county fire department unit spent several hours searching the vehicle and its contents for possible booby traps and explosives before the vehicle was towed away by a wrecker.

Demolition technician Marty LaRusciano and other deputies used long ropes to remove the cases and other items from the station wagon after pulling it from its hiding place with ropes.

Following the aborted drug drop local enforcement agencies across central Florida were alerted to be on the lookout for a suspicious airplane that might be running out of fuel.

About five years ago Polk, deputies and Sanford police teamed with federal agents to confiscate 1,500 pounds of high-grade marijuana in bags when a twin-engine plane attempted to transfer the illegal weed to a waiting pickup-camper at Osceola airstrip.

The auto bore an expired California license tag but a check on the vehicle identification number showed it registered to an owner in Fort Lauderdale, agents said.

Polk said that the suspects arrested were equipped with Citizens Band walkie-talkie radios, apparently for use either in contacting the plane or for use on the ground to spread a warning if the operation was discovered by authorities.

The third vehicle, a late model compact station wagon outfitted in commando-like fashion was underbrush near one of the runways.

Hattaway Is Critical Of Pay Hike Move

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

State Rep. Bob Hattaway said today he will not support a bill proposed by two Florida Legislators to raise legislators' salaries by $200 a month.

The Altamonte Springs Democrat also said that he will not go along with the same bill's proposal for a $10 increase in daily per diem costs for legislators who are in session.

The salary and per diem bill is under study by a House Subcommittee. Hattaway predicted today that the measure will die there.

Hattaway says he "thoroughly enjoys the opportunity of being involved in the political process. But, quite frankly, if it were not for my business investments, it would be impractical and impossible for me to serve the people of Seminole and Orange County."

State legislators are paid $12,000-a-year, plus per diem and a $300-a-month allotment for office expenses at the district office.

House Speaker Pro Tempore John Ryals of Bradenton and Tom McPherson, the chairman of the House Standards and Conduct Committee, say the increase is necessary so that competent persons will seek the office of state legislator.

Hattaway says the $300-a-month allotment to maintain his district office in Altamonte Springs "does not cover the expenses."

Opponents of any pay raise for legislators point to the fact that legislators work only during that time the Legislature is in session — 60 days per year.

But Hattaway disputes that point.

"A check with my office and review of my calendar would show that I spend 80 per cent of my time, year round, devoted to state work," Hattaway said.

"Even though the $300-a-month allotment to maintain my office does not cover the full cost, I will not support an increase in my salary or office expense," he added.

Cities Set Council Meetings

Longwood City councilmen face a 14-item agenda at a 7:30 p.m. meeting today while council members in neighboring Casselberry have a routine five items to consider at a meeting during the same time.

Casselberry city officials, who have met almost daily on subjects ranging from Crystal Bowl Circle assessments to new water and sewer rates over the past two weeks, will consider adopting a resolution supporting legislation proposed by State Rep. Vince Fechtel (R-Leesburg).

Fechtel proposed law would require budget proposals submitted by the governor to include recommended sources of funding when money is required to be spent by municipalities as a part of the recommended programs.

The Casselberry governing body will also consider financial statements for February, mayor's reports, the Lake Hodge Estates performance bond and setting the date for repeal of current utility rate ordinances.

In Longwood, the city council will consider setting public hearings on requests to permit installation of gasoline pumps at the convenience store located north of SR-44 at Grant Street.

Sanford Commissioners To Discuss Utility Rates

By AUDIE MURPHY
Herald Staff Writer

In its meeting tonight, the Sanford City Commission has been asked by City Manager W.E. Knowles to launch the problem of utility revenue decreases—a problem that Knowles has indicated will eventually require a utility rate increase.

But in a memorandum to commissioners dated April 2, Knowles stopped short of recommending an immediate rate increase. Instead, he suggested curtailing expenditures and juggling the city's budget to partially alleviate the revenue shortfall.

Revenue estimates from both water and sewer services show a shortfall of 3.8 per cent, Knowles said.

To counter the deficits, he suggested curtailing expenditures and transferring expenditures from the operational budget of the utility department to the account for renewal and replacement.

"The economic status of our times indicates now is not the time to speak of raising utility rates," Knowles memo said.

Knowles also suggested that present personnel vacancies be maintained as vacant and not filled without his approval.

Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. — The 49th Masters Golf Tournament was a one-man show, and that man was Ray Floyd.

Floyd led every round, capping his brilliant performance with a two-under-par 70 Sunday for a record-tying 72-hole total of 271. It under par at the sprawling Augusta National course.

He was never threatened. Ben Crenshaw finished second at 279, eight strokes back, and Jack Nicklaus tied for third with Larry Ziegler at 282, 11 strokes behind Floyd.

A 35-year-old veteran of 15 years on the pro golf tour, Floyd earned first prize of $40,000.

Seminole Republicans Elect Chairman

William McCollum, a member of the Pitts, Eubanks and Rumberger law firm, has been elected chairman of the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee.

McCollum, active in the local party organization for the past two years, is also a member of the executive council of the Orange County Bar Association.

The Altamonte Springs attorney predicted growth and "development ahead in the party in the coming year, adding he expects to see more Republicans elected to county office in the fall.

Re-elected vice chairman of the GOP committee was Ms. Maryann Morse, who also serves currently as president of the Seminole County Young Republicans. Ms. Morse was recently named an alternate delegate to the national GOP convention to be held in Kansas City in the summer.

Mrs. Nancy Brunner, an aide to U.S. Rep. Richard Kelly (R-New Port Richey), was elected secretary while Mrs. Dorothy Meadors of Sanford was elected treasurer.

The reorganizational meeting was held in the county commission chambers at the courthouse.
