

Columnist Hal Boyle Is Renamed "Happy Traveler" By Colleague

By REIMAN MURIN (For Hal Boyle)

Executive Chief
The Six Nations of the Sioux
Black Hills, S. D.
Dear Chief:

They tell me Hal Boyle is out in the Dakotas somewhere and that you have taken him into the tribe. You've got the right man, chief. He has all the makings of a mighty fine Indian.

Mind you, he won't be much good on the trail, right at first. He has polio man's feet and the expanding chassis of a Chinese coolie. Incidentally, this worries him, and every once in a while—the last time was October, 1946—he attempts some violent exercise. On that occasion, he played three innings of softball, and for all I know, he may still have the original Charley Hoopes. You can't tell because he always waddles like a cigar store Indian, or, with a short of waddle.

Moreover, until your Braves get used to seeing him around the center field at night, it would be better to keep him in his leopards after dark. They could easily mistake him for a semi-bald buffalo.

But these are small things. Let me tell you the important reasons why I am sure he will be a credit to the tribe.

"Hal is a city dweller, of course,

Few Tenants To Be Affected By Rent Control Increase

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Few tenants will be hit by the full 50 per cent rent increase over 1947 ceilings which is allowed under the new Defense Production Act office of Rent Stabilization (DRB) officials said today.

Increases already granted, under earlier laws or local rent adjustments, will have absorbed all but 5 or 6 per cent of the permitted increase in most cases, a spokesman said.

He indicated that DRB—formerly the Office of Housing Expediter, now transferred to the Economic Stabilization Agency as a unit—will give top priority to the restoration of rent ceilings in jammed defense areas.

This can be done only after Secretary of Defense Louis A. Boardman and Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, by joint action, certify each such community as a "critical housing area."

Forty odd centers of defense production and military activity have been designated "critical" for the purpose of relaxing real estate credit controls, to stimulate new housing construction, but this will not be sufficient for the reimposition of rent ceilings.

New certifications must be made. The list, however, is expected to duplicate in large part the designations already made for eased credit control by the Defense Production Administration (DPA).

Also, wherever a new rent designation is made, some degree of relaxation of credit controls is mandatory. DPA and housing officials will decide how much.

Real Stabilizer Hugh Woods, who heads the new DRB, said authority in his field parallel to that of Michael V. D'Allesandro, gathered his staff today to go over its new problems and responsibilities.

One obstacle to a swift reimposition of ceilings in defense areas, he indicated, is a money shortage. Congress has not supplied new fiscal 1952 appropriations, so the agency is working on a stop-gap extension of its appropriations for the year ended June 30.

The new law does not affect states, cities or towns which have decentralized themselves, nor does it change the "local option" power of cities, counties and states to decentralize themselves.

However, if a community does not decentralize, Wilson said, Secretary Marshall may, after 90 days, restore federal ceilings by re-certifying it.

And any community which has decentralized may, by its own action, ask for reimposition of federal control. This would apply to states, like control-free Texas, as well as local governments.

Woods said that the authority to restore rents in non-defense areas, but only to the level previously allowed. This would allow a rental house built since February, 1947, on the level of rents in effect at that time.

Indian War

Nurul Amin, prime minister of East Pakistan, charged that the greatest concentration of Indian troops was on the border of East Pakistan in Assam. A spokesman for the Indian high commission in East Pakistan estimated that 50 per cent of Pakistan's forces in the state were in the southwestern area near Calcutta.

Although official and military sources are being extremely reluctant to discuss the position of their forces it is believed the troops are now centered in three places:

1. The Assam border near the railway which is India's only transport to Assam.
2. The Tripura border near Agartala where Pakistan's rail link to Dacca from the northeast of Calcutta runs two miles from the frontier.
3. The southwestern sector facing the bay of Bengal north of the Bay of Bengal.

East Pakistan public opinion clearly is growing more and more in the line of the man-in-the-street remember too well in the fierce communal riots of February, 1950, which killed hundreds in Dacca alone.

Recruiting battalions at Dacca and nearby Narayana are all recruiting sizeable crowds. Air raid sirens left over from World War II when United States planes took off from Dacca over the hump have been blowing every three days in try-on.

"We are expecting an attack by Indians at any moment," said Asif Ahmad who is regarded as one of the key men in Pakistan.

Predicting India is planning an attempt to proceed to Karachi and then to Lahore, Asif Ahmad said. "What are we going to do? After all, we have fought a very painful war, much longer than any people going to let us wait I don't know. Our people are getting fed up. They have demanded to see the view of India's frontiers. We have a 3,000-mile border."

Expelled Priest To Marry American If Police Permit It

MILAN, July 31.—(AP)—Luciano Negri said today he had been expelled from priesthood in the Roman Catholic Church and that he was racing with time to get legal permission to marry American-born Claire Young.

Mrs. Young, 21, is held in jail here awaiting deportation Aug. 6. From her jail cell she asked the U. S. consulate for clearance to marry the former missionary she followed here from Chicago after they fell in love.

A police official said Mrs. Young's mother, the girl's mother, has asked American authorities to refuse clearance for the marriage—which is required by Italian law—on the grounds she is not a citizen.

A terse official notice from his church superiors said he was "expelled," Negri said.

He said "This means now I can freely do what I want" and added his first wish was to marry the Young girl who loved him so much she tried to throw herself from a police station window on July 28 when she was refused clearance to remain in Italy any longer.

"If possible we will go back to the United States but that is not important now," Negri told a reporter.

"This is a race against time," the 43-year-old Negri told reporters after he had visited the daughter of a Loyola University professor in Chicago at her apartment.

Negri, former Catholic missionary to China who met Claire during a fund-raising visit to the United States, said he will apply today for the official papers required for marriage in Italy. One of the papers required of foreigners is clearance from their consular saying there is no objection to the marriage.

Italian authorities have announced they will ship Claire home aboard the U. S. liner Independence Aug. 6. She was jailed Saturday after she tangled with police authorities who refused to renew her expired permit to stay in Italy.

But the new marriage plans may put off the deportation order.

Negri was allowed to see Miss Young yesterday after announcing his willingness to marry her. Claire came to Italy last month, despite the strong opposition of her family, with the avowed intention not to leave until she had wed the priest she loves.

Miss Young sent a request to the consulate for clearance for the marriage, and said if it was refused she no longer wanted to be considered an American citizen.

Negri said that, at the suggestion of Deputy Police Chief Gabriele Binotti—who has taken on the peculiar role of outsider in the prison again this afternoon and ask her to write a letter to Italian authorities begging for leniency for the Italian action which got her imprisoned.

"If Claire agrees to write the letter," said Negri, "I hope that she will be able to regain her freedom tomorrow."

The Pyongyang (North Korean) radio said the U. N. seeks a line running from Komsom, 27 miles north of the 38th Parallel on the east coast, to the Ongjin peninsula on the west coast.

The broadcast added: "Thus the Americans try to rob a large territory inside North Korea. The Americans are making every effort to avert the arrival of peace to Korea."

He added: "If one (Indian) soldier crosses the border we will fight. We have issued orders to our frontiers."

General Musa issued orders to his troops to be on the alert. He said he has no aggressive designs but he keeps two hundred divisions posted all the time. This so-called moralist and peace-loving Nehru talks high-sounding phrases but puts his entire army on my frontiers."

Trautman Warns Against Changing Baseball Set-Up

Minor League Prexy Jumps Into Investigation Of Sport

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—George C. Trautman, boss of the minor leagues, said today the rule that now makes it almost impossible for one club to move into another team's territory.

And those without even mentioning the Pacific Coast League by name, he jumped smack in the middle of a congressional argument over whether the major leagues should expand to the West Coast.

Even before Trautman took the stand to testify before the House Judiciary subcommittee studying baseball's complicated status, the chairman, Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), told reporters: "The present major league alignment, with all teams in the east, is intolerable."

"There must be changes," he said. "And I'm going to insist on it. We can't have this feudal system forever."

However, Celler said interference has been "incorrectly drawn" that the committee and the chairman himself believe that the Pacific Coast League should be given major league status.

"This impression is entirely erroneous," he said.

"I do have a very strong feeling that the people in control of the major leagues should do some constructive thinking on the whole problem of the location of major league franchises."

In a 31-page statement for the committee, Trautman made no direct comment on the argument that has lashed up at each of the previous hearings.

But he said: "I assert most emphatically that territorial limits are necessary to the preservation of minor league baseball."

Territorial limits keep the St. Louis Browns, up from moving to Milwaukee, Houston or the West Coast.

And so fiercely are these rights guarded, the committee was told yesterday, that no changes have been made in the major league picture in 48 years.

Last change: when the Highlanders, later to become the Yankees, moved into New York.

Trautman contended that baseball is a losing business in the U. S. and that the major league clubs are not protected, it will fold up altogether.

He painted a sorry picture of minor league finances. A survey of 18 leagues last year showed, he said, that 95 per cent of the clubs were losing money.

"The operation of a minor league club is most assuredly no longer the basis of the minor league club," he said.

His conclusion: "If one club is not supported in its territory under present conditions, it would seem to follow that two clubs could not prosper."

The reserve clause, another spot which has attracted considerable congressional probing, also got a strong defense from Trautman.

He pointed out that less than 10 players now in the majors had no major league experience. But, he said, the minors are a dead duck if the reserve clause were taken away from them.

"If these clubs do not have the protection of the reserve clause to give them continuity of players for their teams, the incentive of maintaining the clubs would be lost."

"The history of baseball decisions that without the protection of the reserve clause the smaller and weaker clubs are quickly eliminated."

Under the reserve clause, a player is, in effect, bound to stay

Cease-Fire

Nickols said the U. N. delegates were patient.

By Tuesday, a resolution from the Hague Convention to emphasize the logic of the U. N. position. "A military armistice is a suspension of military operations by mutual agreement between the belligerent parties."

Nickols noted that General Nam's statements frequently contained quasi-political overtones instead of being confined strictly to military questions.

An official communiqué said delegates "failed to make progress toward an agreement" in their two-hour and 25-minute session Wednesday. Nickols said he wouldn't call the talks stalemate.

Negotiators agreed to meet again Thursday. That will be their 17th session and the seventh of which creation of a buffer zone was the paramount issue. The meeting was set to start at 11 A. M.

Appellibility the Red negotiators might then propose a recess of several days as suggested by Communist propagandist outside the meeting hall. Such recesses have broken two previous deadlocks.

U. N. spokesmen say that the old political boundary between North and South Korea is militarily indefensible. The Allies want, in the words of Wednesday's U. N. communiqué, "a realistic demilitarized zone, equitable to both belligerents."

At Tuesday's session, Joy had explained how the Communists had benefited from the Allied plan of creating a buffer zone along present lines.

The battlefront now extends across Korea from a point in the west just south of the 38th Parallel, northward along the Imjin River between Kaesong and this U. N. advance camp into North Korea and thence eastward across mountain ridges to the east coast about 25 miles north of the parallel.

At the end of Wednesday's session, the U. N. communiqué announced: "The basic views of both the United Nations command and the Communist delegation remained unchanged."

Communist propagandists outside the conference hall told U. N. newsmen they thought a two or three-day recess might be proposed to break the deadlock.

An American spokesman at Kaesong said he had heard nothing of such a possibility.

Twice before, when negotiators refused an impasse, a solution was found in a three-day recess.

The first such break came July 19 when the U. N. demanded the Reds withdraw their armed guards and permit newsmen to come in with the Allied party. Talks resumed when the Reds capitulated.

The second break was suggested by the Reds. On July 31 they asked for a recess to consult their governments on the Communist demand that the armistice provide for withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea. At the end of the recess they agreed a subsequent negotiation of this point at a higher level.

Red propagandists who suggested they were trying to create an impasse might be profitable against the victorious North Koreans" agreed to cease-fire talks only because of their generous nature.

They handed out propaganda leaflets and posters in Kaesong. It was the first time they had used literature. One poster, printed in Korean, read:

"Though the North Korean Republic Army has emerged victorious against the American aggressor, our government and our great leader, Kim Il Sung, desires and therefore our government has agreed to talks about peace in this conference with the American aggressors."

Enormous Balloon Is Tracked Across U. S. By Fighters

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 1.—(AP)—A mysterious silver balloon, 150 to 200 feet in diameter, was drifting high over the earth today towards the eastern coast of the United States.

Where it came from, what it was, no one could immediately explain. But airline pilots—two United and one Capital—and two Army fighter plane pilots agreed after looking at it that:

It was soaring with the wind, at a speed of about 50 miles an hour, and at an altitude of 30,000 to 50,000 feet.

The balloon was first spotted over Cleveland, shortly after daybreak, and hundreds of people there could see it plainly, despite its high altitude. The balloon had no basket for occupants, observers said.

An hour or so later it was over Warren, then Youngstown, then at about 10 miles south of Mercer, Pa., and heading in the direction of Harrisburg.

Fred Brandon, meteorologist at Youngstown Municipal Airport, examined the balloon through a high powered telescope and said he detected seams on its surface.

On the tax front today, Senator Byrd (D-Va.) said that if Congress approves the House-passed $7,200,000,000 tax-bill it may be the "last orthodox tax bill we ever pass."

Byrd is acting chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, now holding hearings on the tax measure. Passage of the bill, Byrd told reporters, would just about exhaust the country's ability to pay constitutional taxes.

The Senate began debate today on a bill designed to set up standards by which companies could successfully meet charges of price discrimination.

The measure, known as the "hearing bill," would make it a complete defense against such a charge to show that a price differential was made in good faith to meet the equally low price of a competitor.

This applies particularly to the managing editors of two foreign-owned newspapers published in Florida.

"These two draft dodgers have concocted and published the most flagrant falsehoods in a malicious attempt to deceive and mislead the people of Florida about gambling."

It was the Governor's first radio report to the state since last spring.

In the meantime, he has been in an almost continual battle with the Kefauver-O'Connor U. S. Senate Crime Committee, Florida and out-of-state newspapers and various citizens crime commissions over the gambling situation and charges that some of his associates have been involved with gamblers. The Governor has answered most of them with public statements of denial and some counter-charges.

It had been tolerated for more than half a century.

"Enforcement of gambling laws had never been an issue in a race for Governor of Florida. No other Governor of Florida had ever made a determined, sustained effort to suppress gambling."

"Gambling in Florida had attained its greatest growth during the eight years immediately preceding my inauguration as Governor." (In that period the governors were Spessard L. Holland, now U. S. Senator, and Millard Caldwell, now federal Civil Defense Administrator.)

Governor Warren said "the biggest gambling syndicate in Florida, the S. & G. Syndicate of Miami Beach, was organized and doing business in 1942." (The U. S. Senate Committee said Warren had allowed the power of his office to be used to help an unscrupulous Chicago racketeer gain a partnership in the S. & G. Syndicate.)

U. S. Called Naive By Gen. Wedemeyer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Lt. General Albert C. Wedemeyer declared here last night that the United States had been "naively" drawn into Korea and protesting in the United Nations "disparate our manpower all over the world."

Discarding a prepared text, the former commander of the China theater predicted in a dinner speech "future powder kegs" between the United States and Communists.

"If that war (Korea) must be on, I say let the Asiatics who want freedom fight," he said.

"We can arm them. If it is the decision for us to stay out there and do the job, I say remove the restrictions and give our boys every weapon in the democracy's arsenal." Presumably, that would include the atom bomb.

He also said it would be "unfortunate" if the United States sent large numbers of men to Europe instead of arming European nations to fight.

Wedemeyer, who retired from the Army Monday after 34 years, urged the arming of nations everywhere to help stop Communism. In particular, he praised the planned help for Franco Spain.

A critic of past United States policy in China, Wedemeyer said that America's fighting in Korea has been restricted by other countries within the U. N.

"It will be a long time before we get an organization that will perform effectively within the U. N.," he said. "Until then, let's not let the U. N. dissipate our manpower all over the world."

At an earlier news conference, he said:

"In my judgment there will be other incidents, other powder kegs which could be fused and set off at any place and time of their (the Communists) choosing. We must keep our powder dry, our wings very strong."

Wedemeyer, a witness in Senate hearings on the ouster of General Douglas MacArthur, described Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists as the free world's best hope in the Orient against Communism.

Eisenhower To Be Free For Politics, Truman Declares

General's European Post Will Not Interfere With Any Presidential Hopes

By J. W. DAVIS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP)—President Truman said today he doesn't think General Dwight D. Eisenhower's army job in Europe will interfere with anything in 1952 if the General is interested in politics.

But he told a news conference that in any event he is sure the General will put duty to his country first.

Two senators recently returned from Europe indicated Eisenhower's duties as supreme commander of Western European defense forces would keep him out of the field of possible presidential candidates next year.

Asked today how long he thought it would be necessary for the General to remain in Europe, the President said the reporter's guess was as good as his own.

Mr. Truman went on to say that if the new man was referring to 1952 (a presidential election year) he did not believe those duties would interfere with anything that might happen in 1952 if Eisenhower happened to be in that frame of mind.

The news conference was devoted largely to political fencing. Mr. Truman refused to draw out an implication that Eisenhower might return from his North Atlantic military command to run for the presidency.

Eisenhower has refused to discuss politics with nervous newsmen.

On other questions Mr. Truman said:

1. He will fly to San Francisco Sept. 4 to open the Japanese peace treaty conference. He said the treaty would precede any "whistle stop" campaigning at this particular time.
2. He would not comment on a proposal by Senator Mundt (R-South Dakota) to hold hearings on Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans. The President said that was up to Mundt and the Democrats, as he called the (Continued on Page Two)

Clever Convicts Bilk Government Of $2 Thousand

False Income Tax Returns Bring Bonanza To Long Termers

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 2—(AP)—Twenty-five convicts at the Florida State Prison have stolen approximately $2,000 from the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue this year.

Although Treasury Department men haven't recovered a nickel, they are wise to the ingenious fraud.

"The ring is smashed," Florida Collector John L. Pahn said today.

Homer T. Jones, agent in charge of Internal Revenue's intelligence unit, explained how the convicts managed to get income tax refunds they were not entitled to.

"They mailed in false income tax returns for 1950, to which they attached fictitious withholding receipts they had filled in themselves."

The upshot was that the office of the collector in Jacksonville mailed "refunds" back to the prisoners—checks for amounts ranging from $50 to $125. The total was roughly $2,000, $2,500 at the most," said Pahn.

Jones said the convicts deposited the checks to their accounts at Raiford, and then withdrew the money as fast as regulations permitted. "They got it and spent it. We have recovered nothing," said Jones.

The Treasury Department's auditing system never fails to uncover this sort of game, but the Raiford scheme was nipped early because prison officials became suspicious of the six business volume imprints were treated with white ink.

"We had full cooperation from the prison, which was why this attempt to defraud the government was cut off early," collector Pahn said.

Jones explained that the convicts didn't mind risking another 5 or 10 years in a federal pen.

"Most of them were long termers who didn't have a thing to lose," he said.

C. R. Adams Dies Of Injuries In Wreck

C. R. Adams, brother of Frank Adams of Sanford, died in a Jacksonville hospital yesterday from injuries received when he was struck by a hit-and-run automobile Saturday.

Mr. Adams was a native of Leesburg who moved to Jacksonville 39 years ago from High Springs. He had been an engineer with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad for the past 24 years. He was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Sallie Zimmerman Adams; three sons, C. R. Adams, Curtis Adams and Lonnie Adams, all of Jacksonville; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Whitaker of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Katie Bell of Jacksonville, and two brothers, Frank Adams of Sanford and George Adams of Jacksonville.

ECA Head Declares Marshall Plan Is Essential To Area

By JACK RUFFLEDGE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP)—The Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) said today that Western Europe is expected to double its production of military goods in the year ahead.

"It's already been doubled once in the two years since the North Atlantic Treaty was signed," ECA added in its quarterly report for the January-March 1951 period. President Truman sent the report to Congress today.

ECA said most Western European countries are now spending far more for national defense and far less for non-military purposes than before the Korean outbreak.

But it warned that raw material shortages and rising prices threaten both military output and the area's economy.

Declaring that the Marshall Plan program has brought about a "remarkable recovery" in Western Europe and has provided a "sound economic base for the new defense commitments which the North Atlantic treaty countries are undertaking," the report added:

"It is important, however, that these gains be preserved and extended."

Pakistan And India Threaten War Over Small Province Of Kashmir

(The vast sub-continent of India is whetting again with threats of war. Religious minorities are fearful of a return to the days of Gandhi. Here is an up-to-date survey of the ominous situation, written by the AP's chief correspondent in the area.)

By HAROLD K. MILKS
NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 4—(AP)—The birth of India and Pakistan as sovereign nations four years ago resulted quickly in the killing of about a million people in conflict.

Thousands have been killed since and the two big countries fought an undeclared war with air power and other modern weapons in 1947-48.

Now as they near their fourth birthday, Aug. 15, the Moslems twice overpowered out of the old British empire have moved a long way toward the brink of big war. Both are by choice, members of the (British) Commonwealth of Nations—India as a republic, Pakistan as a Dominion.

The pork-chopping Moslems and the cow-worshipping Hindus have found it difficult to live side by side in peace in the centuries since champions of Islam from the northwest seized the country and fused religious conservatism and fanaticism.

Field And Hiss Were Part Of Apparatus, Ex-Red Tells Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP)—Hole Massing testified today she worked here in 1934 as a Soviet espionage agent and recruited non-Field, then a State Department official, into her "apparatus."

She also said she and Alger Hiss, another former State Department official since convicted of perjury, conspired for Field's activities.

Field has disappeared behind Iron Curtain. Mrs. Massing said that at the time she recruited him she believed he was employed in the State Department's Western European division.

Mrs. Massing, the ex-wife of Communist hot jumper Garibaldi Field, appeared before the Senate's internal security subcommittee which is looking into any subversive influences on U. S. foreign policies.

Detailing her activities in Washington before the outbreak of World War II, Mrs. Massing said she also recruited the late Lawrence Duggan for her apparatus. She did not immediately give the year.

Duggan plunged in his death several years ago. She said at the time she knew him he was with the State Department's Latin American Division.

The Vienna-born woman testified she became a Communist in 1918, the year after she married Field, and remained one until 1928. She said she came to this country as an agent for the party in 1933.

Respectful and wearing a collar straw hat, she said out of her training about she was assigned to the United States First Army shortly after a courier, she and Field were sent to the nation's capital as a "recruiter."

Her first "year" here, she testified, was Field. Mrs. Massing said she was introduced to him by Field's former Communist wife, Mrs. Field, who was a Washington correspondent for the New York Daily Worker, a Communist newspaper.

Did you succeed in recruiting Field into your apparatus? asked Robert Morris, the subcommittee counsel.

"Yes, I did," Mrs. Massing replied. (Continued on Page Two)

WORLD TRAVELER

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 2—(AP)—Harry Pidgeon, dubbed the "Lindbergh of the Sea" after twice circling the globe alone in a 26-foot yawl, is going to try it again at the age of 82.

The old seafarer will launch another yawl here Saturday in which he plans a third trip around the world, this time with his wife along.

His first two voyages, each of about three years duration, were made starting in 1921 and 1926 from San Pedro. Still hungry for adventure, Pidgeon set sail again in 1947, but lost his boat in a typhoon off the New Hebrides.

The Pidgeons plan to sail the Yawl to Honolulu on her maiden voyage.

A 1950 Studebaker sedan driven by B. C. Steels, Grammar School principal, was damaged in a collision with a 1941 Chevrolet truck driven by Gladys K. Royal on East Third Street between Palmblair and Magnolia Avenues at 11:50 A. M. yesterday. Damage to the Studebaker was about $110 in estimated cost and to the truck, $10, police reported. No one was injured.

39 Aliens Bailed Out By Subversive Group Rearrested

Bonds By Civil Rights Congress Are No Longer Acceptable

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(AP)—The movement today to bail out the 39 aliens who are fighting deportation and are now free on bonds furnished by the Civil Rights Congress.

In a statement Attorney General McGrath made today the Justice Department is no longer regarded bonds furnished by the Congress as acceptable.

He said he had learned that the House committee on immigration and naturalization had passed a bill to prohibit the bail of aliens by the Civil Rights Congress.

The Department is publishing a notice of the new rule and the House committee on immigration and naturalization is expected to report on the bill today.

Under McGrath's order, the Congress is required to accept the bonds of aliens only if they are furnished by the Immigration Department, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Detroit.

The Civil Rights Congress has long been active in the organization of a national organization of immigrants and naturalized citizens.

McGrath said that he refused to recognize the bonds being furnished by the group because of the recent conviction of a group of 11 men for violation of the Espionage Act.

The group had been convicted of conspiring to obstruct the draft during World War I.

Mrs. Michael explained that Field, had, however, before he could be released, had to be released from the hospital.

Mrs. Harold V. Field, 77, the committee's secretary, called today to create a bill by Mrs. Field, Williams of Chicago, who said a bill of the committee's bill claiming the married Field in San Francisco in 1940. Field died in 1940.

Building Permits In July Amounted To $110 Thousand

Building permits issued during July by the John H. H. building inspector, totaled $110,000 in value.

This amount is the largest in construction in a year since when permits totaled $1,564,400 in 1949 when the value of new construction was $16,800.

The largest single permit during the month was for a building in the County by the 15-room building in the Court House, 1501 S. D. (Continued on Page Two)

New housing construction accounted for about 10 percent of the permits. These included permits for M. L. Nichols for construction of two 30,000 concrete block houses at 2415 and 2417 North Avenue.

L. T. Twyman received a permit for a $14,000 frame house at Myrtle and Twenty-fourth Street.

Other house permits were to Ralph Peters, for a $7,000 house at Blair Boulevard and Jefferson Avenue; to Alberta Wadell for a $4,200 house at 1007 West Thirtieth Street and to Isabelle Brown for a four room frame house at Eighth Street and Bay Avenue valued at $2,000.

Governor Warren has lost the argument over law enforcement by his administration. He proves that when he starts calling the newspapermen bad names.

Pointing out that the government's estimated seven billion dollar deficit turned out to be a 3 1/2 billion dollar surplus, the DeLand Sun News says, "Thanks a billion."

The Alsop Brothers predict that Harry Truman will be a candidate for reelection next year. And they present a mighty strong argument for their conclusion.

If you are 50 and have read "The Best Years Of My Life," and do not agree that "Life Begins at Forty," you should be interested in Ned Barnie's swim the other day. He plunged in at St. Margaret's Bay near Dover and emerged 19 hours later east of Cap Gris Nez, France.

Kiwanis luncheons are not public meetings and the members have a perfect right to decide whether a reporter shall be present. They do not have the right, however, if he is present, to tell him how to write his stories, what to put in or what to leave out.

Texas housewives, we read, are incensed with the government over demands that they pay Social Security taxes on the wages of their household servants. In fact, thousands of them are reported to be staging a tax strike during the federal government to step in and make them pay. We are not surprised. Federal taxes of every kind have reached the point where some protest is justified.

Whether or not the New Deal, the Fair Deal, the "We planned it that way" philosophy has given us a better world, a better nation is a moot question. Many thoughtful theologians think not. Said the Rev. Dr. Robert McCracken in New York's Riverside Church the other day, "Our moral sense is at a new low ebb. Rarely have self-interest and self-aggrandizement been so naked and unabashed. The happenings and disclosures of recent months have brought home to us that men and women of character and principle are America's top requirement. Nothing lies nearer the root of our failure to live together in peace and goodwill than the fact that our spiritual resources have been kept pace with our technical progress. Who can dispute that?"

Winter Park's Police Chief Carl Buchanan recently returned from the Florida Peace Officers Association convention in Miami and was quoted in the Orlando Sentinel as saying that conditions in general are far better than the maintenance of law and order than down here, pointing out that there are wide open for entertainment and the sale of liquor on the weekends as well as on week days as well as on week days.

Water And War

Water could cause a new war in the Near East. Israel and the Arab kingdom of Jordan are at odds over the irrigation from the Jordan River. Israel, controlling the upper waters, has closed the dam gates south of the Sea of Galilee. This cuts down seriously the amount of water available for the Jordan farmers.

To retaliate, the Jordan government talks of diverting the River Jordan waters in such a way that Israel will not be able to draw further upon them for irrigation. With racial religious differences already causing serious enmity, this economic quarrel is a dangerous new breeder of hostility.

The recent murder of King Abdullah of Jordan, a wise monarch who had been striving for peace, seemed to increase the possibility of a rash move which could precipitate war.

An older quarrel of similar nature is seen in the case of the Nile River. Egypt, whose existence depends on the Nile's waters, is in constant dread that the Sudanese, controlling the upper waters, will reduce the supply or cut it off. This is the main reason why the Egyptians would like to rule the Sudan, a scheme which the Sudanese strongly dislike.

Americans will readily understand that sharing a river in common does not necessarily make for a common viewpoint. The Missouri River flood has called new attention to the problem of keeping this great stream in check. States along its upper waters and its tributaries feel very differently from the lower states about such river development schemes as the proposed Missouri Valley Authority and its rival, the so-called Pick-Sloan plan. In another age and with other peoples, such a conflict of interests could lead to war.

The A-Bomb And Yalta

Was the atomic bomb certain to succeed? Lieut. General Leslie R. Groves, head of the bomb project, says that he told President Roosevelt before the Yalta conference that there was a 99 per cent assurance of its success. Some think if that could have been counted on, it would have been needless to offer inducements to Russia to bring her into the war with Japan.

Groves' viewpoint was not shared unanimously by the scientists working on the actual construction. Just before the test at Los Alamos, New Mexico, on July 16, 1945, the top men of the project compared their predictions on the power of the bomb. No less a person than Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, the head of the undertaking, guessed that its explosive force might equal 300 tons of TNT.

That would have been the equivalent of no more than 30 ten-ton blockbusters, and would have been such a petty showing as to write the project down as wasted time and money. Not one of the hundred scientists who took part guessed it would equal more than 18,000 tons. The actual figure, surpassing all expectations, was 20,000.

Without a true knowledge of the destructive force of the bomb, how could anyone have estimated its effect on the war?

Personal Legends

Legends grow up around great men and after a time it becomes impossible to distinguish between the truth about the man and the legend. Often nobly phrased or witty remarks which he never uttered are ascribed to a famous man. Recently the seventh Duke of Wellington, lineal descendant of the Duke who defeated Napoleon at Waterloo, expressed some doubt that it was his distinguished forbear who first said, "The battle of Waterloo was won upon the playing fields of Eton."

The remark, generally ascribed to Wellington, is frequently used by those who maintain that recreation is an important part of education. With the idea of confirming the Duke who has offered fifty pounds for evidence which would prove or disprove the popular belief.

There are many instances of stories about great men which cannot be proved. The legend concerning George Washington and the cherry tree is an example in American folklore. The Homeric tales of the great Greek warriors offer a classic example. The growth of a legend around a public figure is a form of tribute from those who come after him.

Pakistan-India

Both religions control the everyday lives of their followers and their every-minute thinking. Communalism prevented the formation of a single national federation when the British ended their rule in 1947. The east and west shoulders of the subcontinent were stacked off by the departing British for Pakistan, in recognition of Moslem predominance in population. The vast lands between, on the same communal majority basis, were declared India. That left Pakistan a country of two widely separated parts with India standing between them.

The partition lines drawn in British India left millions of Hindus and Moslems on the wrong sides of the new communal lines as displaced minorities. After the riotous mass migrations of displaced Hindus to India and Moslems to Pakistan the figure of a million dead was given officially as a minimum estimate. Not all the displaced and estimated and conflicts continue.

Moreover, the whole problem was enormously complicated by other factors. There were nearly 600 Indian princely states outside British administration. At partition time, Britain had the Maharajahs (Rajahs) who were expected to join either India or Pakistan or try the independent way.

Subversives Hearing

Mrs. Massing said she took her about three quarters of a year. Mrs. Massing said she told Field that she was a menace to the world; that he, in his "privileged position," could furnish "documents and materials" to aid in the fight against it.

At this hearing, Mrs. Massing testified, Hiss complained that she was "trying to do me wrong." Field asked her, "No, you are trying to get me wrong from me."

In the end, she continued, she and Hiss agreed that it was not for them to decide who should get Field. By "getting" him, she said she meant whose unit he was to be in.

MAN EATER!

New Navy Chief

The Navy's new boss said "I am conscious of my responsibilities and I'll do my best."

A reporter asked Fechteler whether he will carry out the negotiations for bases in Spain which had been conducted by Admiral Sherman.

Fechteler said he knew nothing of his nomination as Chief of Naval Operations until yesterday.

Fechteler said he assumed Admiral Lynde McCormick, who has been nominated as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet to succeed Fechteler, would be nominated also to head up the Supreme Allied Command, Atlantic.

Fechteler said he expected McCormick will relieve him as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet about the middle of August.

Asked if he still thinks the skipper of a warship has the best job "anybody ever had," a remark he had made shortly after he became commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet early last year, Fechteler laughed and said, "Yes, I still think so."

Pepper Uncertain Over Candidacy In Governor's Race

MIAMI, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The Miami Herald said today that if former Governor Millard Caldwell runs again in 1952, former Senator Claude Pepper "probably will be his opponent."

Herald staff writer Lawrence Thompson quoted Pepper as saying, "I have never particularly aspired to be Governor, but I would be very much interested in any plans Mr. Caldwell might have to run for Governor."

Pepper is in Miami to attend a hearing before the State Railroad and Public Utilities commission on a truck line application to extend service.

Truman Conference

He is continuing his investigation of charges that William Boyle, Democratic national chairman, was paid a fee in connection with an RFC loan to a Missouri corporation.

He is very sorry that Senator Connolly (D-Tex.) took the position he did earlier this week sharply criticizing overseas foreign aid programs.

Pepper is in Miami to attend a hearing before the State Railroad and Public Utilities commission on a truck line application to extend service.

Reported Transfer Of $1 Million To O'Dwyer Called Lie

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador William O'Dwyer has branded as "an unbelievable lie" a report that $1,000,000 had been transferred to his bank account earlier this year.

In a 350-word statement issued yesterday, the former New York mayor denounced as "a cowardly and contemptible smear" the report which he said "appears to have emanated from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation."

The dispatch quoted an informed source as saying the letter of credit "was grossly misinterpreted by the bank reported the transfer of funds because of the size of the transaction and the coincidence in timing."

The story said that the committee found the facts agreed with this information. He said he wanted to know where O'Dwyer got the money and the source.

Sanford Forum

Nero Fiddled While Rome Burned. History tells us that Nero fiddled while Rome burned. Our Bible tells us we are our Brothers Keepers. It seems to me the people of Sanford and Seminole County have fiddled around long enough with namby-pamby law enforcement.

When our honorable sheriff appeared before the Ministerial Association and asked for help in regard to the lawlessness due to alcohol-help was forthcoming gladly when some one hundred citizens responded including the Ministerial Association appeared before the County Commissioners and asked that God's Day be re-beviced.

The public has a right to know why one man can recommend the reversal of his own statement and understand that the places have been closed which is not so— for ALL that sell or serve alcoholic beverages are bad places of business. I wonder if the recent deaths in Seminole County caused by liquor bought their liquor at the so-called bad places? I hardly think so. We are fiddling around while the youth of our city are having the lives burned out— Who is foolish? You or Nero? All who are moderate drinkers— (so-called) our Sheriff, and County Commissioners will please note— "No drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God." 1 Cor. 6:10. Also "He that hideth his Godspeed is partner of his evil deeds." 2 John 11.

I certainly would hate to stand before my God and have to give an account of the evil that most certainly will follow the selling of alcoholic beverages anytime— most certainly on Sunday.

I know that many people say that we are better off with less crime than we had during prohibition. This is not so. Check your statistics, hospitals and mental institutions.

And too, if we were forced to own and run an old man's dog, I would rather keep him in a back alley and not on my front lawn. So, I say, give us prohibition seven days in the week and fifty-two weeks a year.

It is time we stopped fiddling— Our County is burning down, from inside for— "On the hearts of men are the issues of life." Pilate was a small man trying to fill a big position. All the Pilates have not died liquor in the back alley. It is blood money anyway you look at it— Then our cocktail drinking Mammas and Pappas that are leading this generation of vice are getting out into the street. Hell by alcohol would be known rightfully as Alley-Bats.

Cease-Fire

When Joy put the question for the third time, Nucleus said, it caused a flurry on the Communist side. The two Chinese in the five-man Red delegation conferred with each other, apparently attempting to find an answer for him.

"The question was becoming something of a dilemma to him," Nucleus said.

For his part, Nam asked Joy five times during the day whether he had anything further to say. The first time he asked it somewhat hopefully, Nucleus said. Each time the Admiral said no.

All evidence indicated that Nam's mission at the moment is to keep the conference going while he awaits instructions from higher authorities.

It was believed here that the Russian-trained 38-year-old Korean has received no instructions to change his demand for a buffer zone along the North Parallel. Concessions to the technique was believed to be one of continuing the meeting until such instructions were received, if at all.

The Pyongyang radio gave no indication that North Koreans would compromise, it said. The U. N. demand for a cease-fire along present battle lines, most of which run through North Korea, was totally unacceptable.

However, the Pyongyang radio on two previous occasions has taken an uncompromising stand on controversial—but much less important—questions, on which the Red negotiators subsequently gave in.

Pyongyang said the U. N. delegation was insisting on a demarcation line extending from Kookong on the eastern coast to the eastern tip of the Ongjin Peninsula on the western coast.

Aliens Arrested

Congress' bail fund gets its money. Ryan sentenced millionaire Frederick Vanderbilt Field, Congress secretary, to 90 days in jail for contempt for refusing to give the requested information.

Also given jail sentences in the same connection were Dashiell Hammett and W. Alphonse Hotten, other officers of the bail fund. Hammett is the well known mystery story writer.

The Congress put up a total of $200,000 bail for the 11 convicted Communist Party leaders while they took appeal. The fund forfeited $80,000 of this when four failed to show up and start their sentences after the Supreme Court had affirmed their convictions on charges of teaching the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Hints to Housewives
By JOYCE HEVINS
To get cotton clothes really clean when laundering in hard water, it is necessary to soften the rinse water as well as the wash water, says Lillian Lund of the South Dakota Experiment Station.
Miss Lund recently made laundering tests to help some makers of her state, where hard water is a common problem. The bulk of the family wash usually is cotton material, so her tests were made with cottons.
Miss Lund emphasizes the need for soft water for rinsing because many home makers soften only the wash water. Women generally understand that soap makes with hard water material to form the familiar "soap curd" or "scum" which clings to fabric and gives it a gray, dingy look. But many do not realize that this can happen in hard time water as well as in hard wash water. Clothes that are not rinsed in soft water are left with a soft water residue that eventually become grayish. The cottons Miss Lund rinsed in hard water after a soft water wash did not come out as clean as those rinsed in softened water.
The great advantage of softening wash water is not always realized, though most home makers know from experience that soft water and soap do a more efficient cleaning job than hard water and soap. By testing with a refraction meter, which shows exact differences in lightness and darkness of fabrics, Miss Lund found cottons washed in soft water were more than three times as clean as those washed in hard water. Even when washing with synthetic soapless detergents, soft water had an advantage over hard water.
The harder the water, the lower the score for cleanliness. Miss Lund found that hard water with the usual amount of soap does not clean clothes much better than soft water alone.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2 (AP)—Leave it to Jimmy Durante to make an entrance.
When I arrived at his Beverly Hills home, the great Schurz was not home. He would be back soon, said his two writers. While I sat and waited, they pounded on the piano and sang a mad tune designed for Durante and Helen Traubel on his first TV show this fall.
A half hour later, Jimmy Durante—in person—arrived amid a din. He takes off his coat, he takes off his pants, he takes off his shirt. I mean shirt. He sits on his patio in his shorts and undershirt, unaware of the possible stares of neighbors. Jimmy, he well understood man.
"I just been over to the University," he explained.
What is Durante going to do for television in the summer school?
"No," he corrected. "I been over to Loyola, making a short for them to play on TV before their football games. A worthy cause. They had a lot of trouble with me because I couldn't pronounce the name of the school. They kept tellin' me it's 'Loyola,' but I kept sayin' 'Loyola.' How about that? I changed the name of the University."
Jimmy, an outdoor lover (pre-haps because of his long service as a saloon entertainer), gazed affectionately at his swimming pool. I asked him how he could bear to leave it for television in the cold, cold east.
"Who says I won't have it?" he said. "I have to go to New York for the first two or three shows, but then in November I start doing them from out here. NBC tells me the cable will be in by then; in fact, I'll be here in time for the World Series. So all of the guys on the comedy hour will be doin' their shows out here."
(He has sunk a reported $1,000,000 into converting the El Capitan theater, longtime home of Ken Murray's "Blackouts," into a TV studio for its star comedy.)
Duranito observed that he will be happier doing his show from Hollywood.
"It ain't that I don't like New York," he explained. "Heck, I love the town. But this is my home out here. I don't mind going to New York, but I don't like knowin' that I can't come back here whenever I want to."
What does he think of TV?
"Of the most amazing thing that ever happened to me," he said. "You know, when you're in radio or in the movies, you get the usual kind of fan mail. You're my favorite; will you send me an exact difference in lightness and darkness of fabrics, Miss Lund found cottons washed in soft water were more than three times as clean as those washed in hard water. Sanford Giants Split Doubleheader With Daytona Beach

Swiderski's Squeeze Bunt Brings Home Game-Winning Run; Dolan Hits Homer

By ED HARPER
Big Carl Swiderski, who led the Giants to a perfect squeeze bunt to bring Ed Jackson home from third with the winning run in the second game of a twin bill with the Daytona Beach Islanders last night, as the Giants lost the first tilt 5 to 3 and won the afterpiece 3 to 2.

Sanford's Jerry Schultz collapsed like a deflated balloon in the fifth frame of the first game after having given Islanders only one hit up to that point.

The Giants went into the inning with what looked like a comfortable three-run lead compiled in the fifth when Max Pfeiffer singled and Tim Dolan lofted his sixth home run of the season over the left field wall.

Richie Klaus walked later in the inning, took second on a wild pitch and went to third and came home on a pair of long fly balls.

Swiderski again displayed the phenomenal control he has shown all season, walking non and allowing no light scattered hits.

The Giants took an early lead when Mickey McBride doubled and Joe Paris, with three for four in the nightcap, singled him home. Paris scored on Dolan's lone blast to center which Rocky Colavito dragged down.

The Islanders wiped the score in the sixth when Dolan walked and Alcibelli, currently leading the lead in hitting, lined a home run over the left field fence with Haley Truss aboard. Only the homer was earned as Truss had reached first on an error.

In the bottom of the seventh Ed Jackson led off with a lowering double. Manager Richie Klaus then called for a beautifully executed squeeze bunt which was successful as has been seen in the local park all year.

Enormous Difficulties Face Any Attempt To Move Baseball Clubs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—It's possible—but extremely difficult—to move a major league franchise to a minor league city.

The question boils up today because the moving of major league franchises—especially to the west coast—has been discussed frequently by a House Judiciary subcommittee studying baseball.

This is a good time to discuss franchise-moving because the committee knocked off work today. Tomorrow George C. Trautman, boss of the minor leagues, will resume reading the 31-page statement he barely started yesterday.

That would mean Eddie Merrins, the steady sub-par stroker from Meridian, Miss., and William Robinson, Jr., Memphis City champion for the 36-hole championship tomorrow.

But both faced rough journeys through the quarter and semifinals today.

Asbill Again Walks In Winning Tally As Tars Are Beaten

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
A grit run was decisive for the second straight night Wednesday when Jacksonville relief pitcher Joe Asbill walked in the winning run in Montgomery's 7-0 verdict over the Tars.

Tuesday night an error by Montgomery outfielder Dick Green prevented the visitors a 10-9 decision. Last night's victory stretched the Grays' South Atlantic League to six games over Jacksonville.

The winners got only five hits off Asbill and starter Clyde Stevens but took good advantage of the Tar hurlers' wildness. Asbill walked four men to present the leaders their winning run in the ninth.

Charley Samakilla, who replaced starter Joe Kirkland in the seventh, was the winner.

Columbus took over third place by defeating the Savannah Indians 7-4; Columbia trimmed Augusta, 8-6, and the Macon Peaches split a pair with Charleston, Macon grabbed the opener, 3-0, on Ken Rogers' one hit mound gem, and the Reds took the afterpiece, 6-1.

Taking advantage of Savannah's Harry Ryan's wildness, Columbus scored five times in the first inning and won only four hits. The birds got their big margin on four walks, double, an error and a hit batsman.

The Redskins chased starter Ed Ludwig with three runs in the ninth, but Pete Bryant rushed to the plate and preserved the rookie's victory.

Columbia rapped Bobo Holloman for four singles and three runs in the eighth to sink Augusta for the third straight victory and the Bengals' third consecutive setback. John Hebbner was the winning hurler. Holloman was charged with the loss.

Scottish Pence Is Favored To Annex Trotting Classic

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Scottish Pence, world record holder at one and one-half miles, tries tonight to win the $50,000 Nassau two-mile race at Roosevelt Raceway for the second successive year—something no other horse has been able to do.

The six-year-old horse from the Castle Farm of Lexington, Ky., has been made the 4 to 5 favorite to whip 11 of the fastest side-wheelers in the sport.

Only last week Scottish Pence lowered the mile and one-half mark for half-mile tracks to 8:06. A year ago he won the rich racing stake in 4:17 1/5 and, if the track is right, he is expected to endanger the international two-mile standard of 1:10 4/5 set by Grattan McKillop in winning the Nassau two years ago.

Scottish Pence, who'll be driven by Wayne (Curly) Smart, has been out of the money only once this year. And he drew a good post position for tonight's stake worth $23,500 to the winner. He'll start from No. 2 post, outside of Hayes Hanover, owned by W. O. Wright of Federalburg, Md.

Other fast stepping pacers in the field include White Mountain Boy, holder of the track record for a mile, Dudley Hanover, second choice at 6 to 1; Stormway, Dale Brewer, Dr. Stanton, Holla and Highland Ellen.

Bernie Hanover, Young's Handicapped candidate, easily won the $10,000 Adonis at last night. Driven by John Simpson, the son of Spencer Scott finished the mile a length and a half in front of Watcha with a 2:07 2/5 clocking.

Other fast stepping pacers in the field include White Mountain Boy, holder of the track record for a mile, Dudley Hanover, second choice at 6 to 1; Stormway, Dale Brewer, Dr. Stanton, Holla and Highland Ellen.

Ralph Jordan Begins Slow Task Of Rebuilding Auburn's Football

By STERLING SHAPPEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Every August for six years Auburn folk have said, "We're beginning our football comeback this fall," and every August they have been wrong.

This August they're saying the same thing, but this time they may be right. Auburn not only will have almost a complete new team and coaching staff, but the collection of talent is stronger, heavier and apparently more interested in what's going on.

That talent didn't look like a potential Southeastern Conference championship team during spring training but it looked good and worked hard.

In the history of the southeast only four teams have endured seasons without a victory. Auburn last year was one of them.

And in four seasons Auburn has won only five games.

Fed Southeastern teams will depend on freshmen to any great extent this season but Auburn, of necessity, will be one at least. Eight freshmen not only will play a lot of football late in the season, but most of them will get in games regularly in October.

Left halfback Bobby Freeman was the most polished freshman during the spring. The other seven are Terry Kendrick, right halfback Dickie Steber, guard Jerry Elliott, end Jimmy Long, end George Rogers, tackle, shorty white, left half, and Charles Lewis, center.

Add to those eight new men, at least 10 scrubs of 1930 and five junior college transfers and you have a large section of Auburn's 140-player squad the squad is broken down in 11 seniors, 19 juniors, 29 sophomores and 80 freshmen. Nineteen lettermen are back.
