Everyone's Running Against Inflation

We've spent a lot of time over the past several weeks listening to politicians.

Some have been informative, some amusing and a few deadly bores. But everyone we've talked to seem to be running against the same opponentinflation.

Never mind that some are candidates for offices that under no conceivable set of circumstances could influence national policy in any field, let alone economics. Nonetheless all agreed that inflation, as President Ford reminded us, is Public Enemy No. 1.

The only trouble is everyone is quite articulate at defining the problem but speechless when it comes to offering a solution.

We're told the government must cut spending, but no one is willing to delve into the specifics of where government spending must be slashed and to what degree. President Ford himself alluded to the difficulty of selecting those areas for cutting the budget when he joked about voting for worthwhile projects for Grand Rapids, Mich. as a congressman and against boondoggles for an opponent's home town.

A look at the 1973 federal budget is even more revealing. National Defense and Income Security represent the two largest areas of federal spending and there is little that can be done to cut either; President Ford has insisted that the defense budget is 'off limits' to the costcutters and federal spending in the Income Security area is likely to increase rather than lend itself to budget cuts.

We aren't critical of those candidates who have posed the question without offering a solution. We're pointing out that the state of the economy is such that everyone-from President Ford down to the average housewife- recognizes the problem, but no one seems to have a very good bead on a

Maverick Senator

The U.S. Senate has known many members who could be described as mavericks but few seemed to fit the title better than former Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Ironically, Morse was on another comeback trail when he died of a kidney ailment. At 73, he had recently won the Democratic primary which would have given him another chance at a seat in the Senate. He would have opposed incumbent Sen. Robert Packwood in November, the man who beat

He lost again in 1972 to Sen. Mark Hatfield. But persistence was one of Morse's characteristics. He was one of the first members of Congress to speak out against the Vietnam war and he was known as a tough-minded spokesman for any cause he Whatever his views, Sen. Morse was quick to express them even though they frequently disagreed with prevailing opinion or party consensus. He was not, in fact, much of a party man, having switched his allegiance from Republican to Independent

His spirited campaigning will be lost to the Oregon senatorial contest this fall. And the nation has lost a foremost champion of independent thought.

Resignation Leaves Blot On History

This nation will probably never witness the removal of a president through the formal, fullscale impeachment process. It is not that the relevant clauses in the Constitution are dead letters or that this ultimate sanction adhering to Congress is nothing more than a scabbard

Far from it. It was the very certainty of his impeachment by the House of Representatives and his conviction by the Senate that finally persuaded Richard Nixon that the last stone in the wall had crumbled leaving him no recourse but to resign. If his case sets any precedent, it is the validity and efficacy of this abbreviated form

Even those who had most strongly opposed the idea of resignation as long as there remained any doubt about the president's guilt under the indictments that had been brought against him and they included many of his opponents as well as his supporters — recognize that resignation was the obvious solution when the President at last produced the "smoking gun" of his complicity in the Watergate coverup in the form of transcripts of conversations held with his former chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, just six days after

Since the primary purpose of a trial in the Senate would have been to establish just such Senate would have been to establish just such guilt, this final Watergate bomb rendered the Letter To The Editor

Yet Mr. Nixon's formal trial would have served another and no less essential purpose, and that would have been to place on the public record the full and complete story of his betrayal of his oath of office. Thus it is imperative that Congress proceed with a pro forma impeachment to the extent of making public all the evidence that would have been introduced had currency that he was unfairly hounded out of office for political reasons and lest a cult of nartyrdom grow up around him. President Ford himself gave this notion great deal of momentum by his extremely unforthe greatest personal sacrifices for the country"

Perhaps we can be thankful that Mr. Nixon did presidency to give for his country, but his televised departure from the White House amid the appiause of the executive staff and cabinet members, walking on a red carpet to a waiting helicopter, standing in the doorway giving the Vfor-victory sign, as if about to ascend to Valhalla,

It is also imperative that Americans once and for all cease identifying the man with the office. In this regard, it is not without significance that Mr. Nixon's most loyal supporter outside his own family, Robbi Baruch Korff, called his anti-im peachment organization "National Citizens Committee for Fairness to the Presidency." Not the "President" but the "Presidency. Indeed, Korff maintained that the two were one

5 Die In Weekend Traffic

A Tampa couple and two children, killed when their car collided with an Amtrak passenger train, were among five persons who died in weekend traffic accidents in Florida, state troopers say.

A spokesman said Jack Alfonso, 60, his wife Olga, 47, and two children, Allen Sanchez, 8, and Richard Gomez, 9, died Saturday when Alfonso turned the car onto a side road and into the path of the train. Two other children, Lawrence Smith, 11, and Roserdos Castillo, 12, were injured in the accident, which occured about 10 miles east of Tampa, the spokesman said. Troopers said the fifth weekend fatality was Charles Linder, 55, of Largo, who was struck by a car Saturday as he walked along a Largo street. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Professional Boxing Returns To The Sports Stadium Again

After 27 beence of over three months, professional boxing returns to the Orlando Sports Stadium as Pete Ashlock presents a card that figures to be the finest all-around show seen here in

The main event is a 10 rounder that matches the champ of the North against the champ of the South. Canadian Light Heavyweight king Gary Summerhayes is slated to take on Southern Light Heavyweight title holder, Walter "Snake"

The styles of the two assure an all-out war from the opening bell. Summerhayes is a walk-in scrapper who seems to lack a reverse gear in his non-stop engine. White fights more along the classic lines with his stand-up boxing stance. Both have been seen here before and have proved themselves to be very popular with the fight crowd. The current line favors Summerhayes at 7-5 but White has the ools to more than hold his own with the tough Canadian. With the light heavyweight scene in a complete shambles, no one sure who is champion, and with several claiming the crown, the Summerhayes-White winner could find himself right in the middle of the title picture with an impressive win tomorrow. As if this fight weren't enough, matchmaker Malcom Tait has signed Summerhayes' younger and smaller brother, Johnny, to meet James Martinez of Texas.

Johnny is rated fifth in the British Commonwealth along with being the Canadian champion in the lightweight division. His Texas opponent has outstanding credentials that include an undefeated record gained fighting all over the southwest. As of late, he has been headlining cards in both Houston and Dallas. This contest between little men has to be the finest since "Boom-Boom" Trujillo out-lasted "Scooter" Meza in the semiwindup to the Kendall-Quarry war of a year ago. By the way, Trujillo is now ranked second in the U.S. and Meza is 10th according to the latest issue of Ring Magazine. Another bout set on the undercard is a welterweight six rounder between Charlie "Baby" Fullard and Joey Vincent. Here again we have two well-matched men who figure to go after each other from the opening bell. Vincent has not lost since he began his comeback earlier this season. In recent efforts the former Vince Neratka has defeated Jerry Hill and stopped Sanford's Vic Perez on cuts. Fullard is no stranger to this area and has been in with the best including United States Middleweight Champion Tony Licata, and undefeated Minnesota K.O. artist Glen Morgan. Seminole County will also be well represented as the best they have will be showcased in other matches. Vic Perez, undefeated since he lost to Vincent, will be seen in a six-rounder against an opponent brought in from Texas.

According to Vic's trainer Jimmy Williams, the Sanford middleweight is "fighting better now than at any time during his On the amateur portion of the program three of the finest in the state-Fern Park's Alan Dalton, Casselberry's Scott Clark, and Forest City's Donald Monks-are slated to see action. Dalton and Clark have just returned from Illinois where they represented us in the Junior Olympics. Monks is undefeated and scered the finest win of his life last week when he stopped Dover's Rick Odom. With a group of fighters like this being brought together, Pete Ashlock is trying to give the Orlando area another chance to come out and support big-time professional boxing. But like the Florida Blazers, Ashlock must get the support of the fans or he too will have to take his presentation elsewhere. in general, I have to say the Orlando Amateur Boxing Club has done an outstanding job in the brief time they have been in existence, but they shouldn't have allowed Eddie "Pro-Am" Carter in the ring last week in his bout with Golden Gloves Champ Henry "Tiger" Hall.

True, Carter outweighed his man by around 15 pounds, but I am certain something is seriously wrong with him physically. In two outings, one pro, then one amateur, Carter was left on the ring floor being tended by a physician for almost thirty minutes. To bring this man back under any conditions, in my estimation, is not in his best interest. I know the doctor checked him over before the but but he didn't x-ray his head and that is where Carter might be injured. If it weren't for Jimmy Williams, the head trainer of amateurs, Carter might not be with us today. Williams was the man who stopped the fight when the Eustis fighter came back to his corner wobbly after the third of his scheduled five rounder. Williams noticed Carter's sudden loss of equilibrium. Remembering Carter's last bout, Williams called over the ref and told him to stop it. A wise decision, I am sure. I can only hope Carter's manager, P.J. Leary, will finally have the good sense to tell the "Pro-Am" to go home. But first he should get him a complete physical,
