7th Judge Named To 18th Circuit

By FRED VAN PELT

Gov. Claude Kirk, on his last day in office Monday, gave the 18th circuit district (Seminole and Brevard Counties) its seventh judge. He named Clarence T. Johnson, Jr., a Republican from Merritt Island.

Outgoing Governor Kirk named five new circuit judges, three of whom are a result of the 1970 census. In filling the judgeships on his last full day in office at the end of a four-year term, Kirk raised to 10 the number of judges appointed because of the census.

Recently appointed to the 18th judicial circuit, but to a U.S. Court-created position was former State Atty. Dominick Staff of Longwood, who Kirk sent on several occasions to other circuits to conduct investigations.

How come a Federal Judge by the name of Walter R. Mansfield in New York ordered the New York State Boxing Commission to issue a boxer's license to Clay; thus creating the Frazier-Clay encounter.

No, it wasn't because he fought Quarry recently in Atlanta, and a precedent was set. That's not the reason.

Clay went to the Federal Court with the charge that he had not been treated equally. Further, that he was prevented from earning a living... ?

Oh? Then how did he buy that $100,000 house in Philadelphia? And how about the loot he got from his computer fight with the late Rocky Marciano? Not to mention $1,000 to $1,500 he gets for speaking engagements around the country?

I don't see that he lost any right, do you?

Now, let's direct our attention to Gov. Lester Maddox for a graph or two... He pleads that he lacked legal power to prevent the fight. Oh?

That's funny... but, similar situations presented themselves in Tampa, Seattle and Detroit... and they somehow found the legal tricks... (much the same as Clay has employed on "beating" the U.S. Supreme Court)... and they didn't have a Clay fight in those cities, did they?

Certainly, the fact that one of the state's legislators having three firms which were destroyed when a thunderous explosion ripped through it swanky Miami Beach shopping area, killing one person and injuring 23 others. (Page 7A)

Eighteen deaths and 13,000 cases of influenza in one week force health officials to declare a flu epidemic in Fort Lauderdale. (Page 7A)

I wasn't at the fight... refusing to pay one red cent if Clay fought at the Civic Center in Sanford tomorrow. But the reputable King Magazine was there... and they have some interesting observations: "Clay inflicted on Quarry a cut over the left eye which allegedly required 11 modest stitches. Quarry was not dazed. Quarry was not hurt. In brief, the Battle of Atlanta was a hoax. It has gone into the record books as a three-round KO, referee Tony Perez, brought up from New York, having stopped the fight before the bell had sounded for the fourth round."

Seminole's Board Of Commissioners

'Junker' Plan Launched

By MARION BETHLA

As has been anticipated, Greg Drummond was elected by his fellow commissioners this morning when new commissioners were seated and the board reorganized for 1971. Elected as vice chairman is Edward Yarborough.

Drummond, nattily attired in a forest green suit with lime green shirt, set the pace for the hoped-for dynamic leadership by announcing that he would meet this afternoon with Vern Tipel, scrap metal dealer, to discuss the problem of "junk cars" in the county. Drummond said that Tipel had agreed to haul the junkers away without charge from Five Points south, but that he had stated it was economically unfeasible to haul from Five Points north.

However, Drummond said that following the conference this afternoon a solution could be reached to the problem to afford county-wide service in this matter. Drummond emphasized that this would not be just an operation at salvage sites but also included individual junkers. The new chairman further elucidated that the operation might involve transfer stations for the junkers.

Drummond also has scheduled a work session upon the matter with the county attorney, superintendent of the county landfill and zoning director. Zoning Director Robert Brown told the board that the City of Sanford has indicated to him its complete cooperation in the matter. Brown estimated that there are currently 3,000 junkers in the county but admitted that "this estimate may be low."

Also sounding a progressive note Drummond said that some of the county boards were "functioning in a lesser manner" than had been expected of them. Drummond attributed this to the fact that they had not been sufficiently charged with their responsibilities.

He specifically cited the board of school examiners and the electrical examining board. Drummond noted that these boards should be upgraded and the county standards "keep pace with the demands."

Drummond went on to say that the water control and conservation advisory committee was performing a "woman task" but that it should consider implementation of controls and standards which have not as yet been considered in the area encompassing ecology. Presently, he cited, the board has only given recommendations in dredging operations.

As one of his first orders of business, Drummond suggested a meeting with this board in the near future so that recommendations may be made to the County Commission. Drummond contended that other counties are leaving Seminole in the background as they pursue water control and conservation.

Drummond injected that these boards should be given the proper leadership by the county and be provided the "impetus they need in starting out." Continuing in recommendations, Drummond stressed that the Seminole County Historical Commission had not met even once in the past year. Drummond maintained that "this county is rich in heritage" and that it should pursue tradition in such a form as to make the citizens feel their heritage in the being a part of the county. He further suggested that the historical commission should assemble information of a historical nature and make it available in newspapers. Also suggested was the compiling of pamphlets by the historical commission for distribution to the county's school children, or as Drummond succinctly stated, "With the children you build the spirit of the community."

The highway safety committee came under the scrutiny of Drummond as he mentioned that it had only one meeting, which he knew, during the past year, and that with continuing problems in traffic and accidents the committee should meet monthly.

Woman Rules Altamonte As Mayor Today Only

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City Council, at an 8 o'clock meeting tonight, will see an inauguration with a woman mayor, Mrs. Helen Keyser assumed the majority at midnight last night, and will continue until the vacancy is filled tonight. Mrs. Keyser was elected by council several weeks ago to serve as mayor pro tempore to fill the vacancy created when Mayor Lawrence Swafford's resignation became effective. Swafford resigned to run successfully for the County Commission.

On the agenda today is the administration of the oath of office to newly elected Councilman Dan Dorfman and T. A. Radloff. Subsequently the council will fill the mayor's vacancy.

Council will hear a letter from Jack King petitioning for annexation of property west of the railroad tracks and north of CR 28.

A letter will be read from County Attorney Harold Johnson relative to the problem of Hattaway Drive. The county had assisted upon proper restoration of the street following construction work, and according to Administrative Assistant Rolf Wagner the problem has been resolved.

Under unfinished business, council will consider the second reading of an ordinance abandoning a portion of Third and Branch Street. Information will be given relative to the interim loan withdrawal notice upon the sewer system.

A routine year-end audit will be authorized in the general fund and water works.

Council will consider authorization and acceptance of pre payment of the K Mart Shopping Center for fire protection.

Possibly council will receive a progress report upon Phase II of the sewer construction project.

Vice Mayor Breaks Tie Vote

David Tilson Mayor Of N. Orlando

NORTH ORLANDO — Following a merry-go-round involving parliamentary procedures, David Tilson was elected mayor to fill the vacancy until municipal elections are held in March 1971. The vacancy was created due to the resignation of Mayor Clifford Jordan to seek a seat on the County Commission, for which he was unsuccessful. Tilson previously served as mayor.

Mayor Jordan told council that "I will not seek reelection in March because of the resignation of Mayor Clifford Jordan to seek a seat on the County Commission, for which he was unsuccessful. Tilson previously served as mayor."

Mayor Jordan told council that "I will not seek reelection in March because of the resignation of Mayor Clifford Jordan to seek a seat on the County Commission, for which he was unsuccessful. Tilson previously served as mayor."

Tension mounted as it was apparent that Del Villaggio must break the tie, and the vice chairman, with all the emotion of a movie scenario, announced, "For the first time in history, a vice mayor will break the tie... I cast my vote for David Tilson."

Relative to the municipal elections, it was stated that there are four council seats and the maximum up for election. A new ruling in effect is that candidates must file the last 19 days in February, beginning Feb. 19.

A vacancy still exists in the seat upon the planning and zoning commission which is due to the resignation of Hart when appointed to council. Jordan announced that no one had indicated any interest in the position, Feb. 19.

In another matter, Jordan told the board that there had been 10 applications for the position of maintenance man in the village. These will be interviewed by the mayor and council notified.

Seminole Government Must Move Ahead

Local governments in the cities and the counties of Central Florida are confronted right now and right here with critical problems which have been talked about for years, researched at museum, and can be heard by those who will knocking on the door of each commission.

This is particularly true in Seminole County and its cities — small and large — which have had to adjust governmental thinking to a largely agricultural based economy to one which is not yet firmly stamped as, secondarily, industrial or residential.

It is from this point of view that the organization of the Seminole County Commission which takes place today must be defined — even before the event as this comment is written — as one of immediate and critical meaning.

For the challenges can no longer be labeled as "imminent" or "on the horizon" as has been done in the past few years. In this county and our cities any further pussy-footing or small-thinking or indulging in petty jealousies may properly be labeled as meaning for those who will knock on the door and local determination as truly a "no tomorrow."

Fortunately there are some indications that this urgent need for bold thinking and vigorous action has already exerted its pressure on the new members of the county commission.

The steam-roller of old approaches or outdated routines to handle the very real challenges of the 1970s will be disastrous.

Any continuation of old approaches or outdated routines to handle the very real challenges of the 1970s will be disastrous.

Mr. Nixon's latest anti-pollution move should be an effective remedy for the hysteria associated with environmental concern in recent months.

The President's order requiring industries to obtain federal permits before dumping waste or other discharges into U.S. waters has been hailed as "the single most important step to improvement of water quality that this country has ever taken."

Perhaps it is because these people do not realize that Florida's recently enacted litter law also applies to the woods as well as the roads, and the fine can be as much as $100.

While the Bruins of UCLA continue to hold down the number one position in the NCAA, we must not forget the world of Junior College basketball.

Perhaps the players are bigger and faster than their predecessors, but the race for supremacy hasn't changed. No one team on the Junior College level has been able to dominate the ranks in the same degree as UCLA.

Many teams have a run at this crown this year. In the Midwest, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio State are the favorites.

Close behind is Raider guard Dale Lambert. Lambert has hit 25 points every time he hits the floor but more importantly has shared the play-making honors with Greg Robinson.

Yes, 1971 could be the coup de grace for Sterling and his Raiders. Now all that stands in the way of the Raider runners are time and a little inflated ball.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 47 years old, and I live with my son who is 22. For Christmas he gave me a pair of black lace panties with a red bow—the type a striptease dancer would wear. I blushed when I opened the package, but pretended I was pleased. (I would never wear anything like that.)

Lately my son has taken to smacking me on the rump as an affectionate gesture when he passes by. I love my son, but I do not appreciate this kind of familiarity by the child I brought into the world.

I have heard there is something called "The Oedipus Complex." Do you think my son has one? And if so, what should I do about it? I have started to lock my bedroom door at night in case he gets some other strange ideas.

DEAR WORKER: Obviously you and your son do not communicate very well, or you wouldn't be "worried" about his ideas and intentions. You should get to know him better in order to understand him. This will take time and effort and dialog. "The Oedipus Complex" is the theory that all sons have an unconscious desire to get rid of father in order to replace him in the role of lover to mother. (Some buy it, some do not.) In all probability your son is a fun-loving 22-year-old who loves his mother in a normal healthy way.

DEAR ABBY: Because she wanted a watermelon she could not afford, a mother allowed her 8-year-old child to accept a dollar for helping her to sit, but she always had an old lady home from the supermarket. Then the mother regretted allowing her child to accept money for a good deed, and she asked you if the child should now return the dollar. You said yes.

Abby, how much nicer it would have been if you had suggested that the child take an old lady home from the supermarket and give her a few flowers to the lady. She lived in a convalescent home and was no doubt lonely.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me, I had had you when I was young.

East would have had to discard that four of diamonds on the third trump lead. South could then discard his four diamonds by leading toward dummy's king. Worry Clinic By Dr. Crane CASE P-558: Mona M., aged 38, shares a problem with 1,000,000 other teen-agers.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I want to go to college, for I made a B' average in high school.

"But my family are poor so they can't give me more than $700.

"And I haven't been able to win a free scholarship thus far.

"So what can I do, for I feel very discouraged."

Mona can go to business college in her home town and it will cost her 25 per cent what she'd pay at a liberal arts college.

Besides, business colleges are professional schools, just like law, medical, dental and theological college.

And business colleges offer professional, intensely practical education the very first year out of high school.

These other professional schools usually require that you first send four years wandering around on an expensive Liberal Arts campus.

So — for quick professional training that will land you a high salary position at the end of the one-year or two-year diploma courses, enroll in business college.

Indeed, business colleges offer a superb "professional" (menu) that the usual Liberal Arts graduates never get a chance to sample.

For instance, Business College students take Business Law, Applied Psychology, Business Letter Writing, as well as Bookkeeping and Accounting, plus the operation of Computers, and even Chalmers Courses for the girls!

Not one of these courses, with the possible exception of Applied Psychology, is offered in the usual Liberal Arts curriculum!

And only part of the Liberal Arts colleges even include Applied Psychology, although it is basic to all success!

Business Colleges at Yale and Northwestern Universities are the typical "liberal" sort, yet my wife's one-year at Business College has been of more practical value to me than my four years in Liberal Arts.

Business Colleges we could quickly "pick" such life leavers out of school!

Even now, in this age of inflation, you can get your one-year Business College diploma for $1,000, if you will work part time to pay for board or room rent.

Then with a starting job at $100 or more per week, the Business College graduates can still take any cultural courses they may desire in the night Liberal Arts division of their state university or other local colleges.

Even if you are the child of a millionaire, it is still best to take the one-year diploma course at Business College before you go on to Liberal Arts and Law, Medical or Dental careers.

Hope Calls Film Cutting Hardest Part Of Tour

HOLLYWOOD — "Actually the most difficult task on the tour doesn't come up until we reach home," said Bob Hope, referring to his 20th Christmas tour. Hope's tour will be colorful by NBC on the "Bob Hope Christmas Special" Jan. 14.

While in Vietnam, Hope presented a golf club on which the 101st Airborne Division had its emblem engraved. Part of the design incorporated a sharp arrow, which prompted Hope to comment: "It has a sword on it — now I can play with it." Hope says he has seen "All the guys in Vietnam were really wonderful," he said. "But I get shortchanged every time I went to the PX. There you get your change in shrapnel. I also ran across the biggest mosquito I've ever seen. I saw one that was so large it was going steady with a chopper."

"And that heat is something else again. We had two of our gals (Wanda Bailey and Tara Leigh) faint dead away after coming through the air that with 18,000 men around, they were in good hands."

While entertaining aboard the USS Kennedy, which was in South Bay, Crete, Hope referred to the ship as the "biggest bird sanctuary in the Navy."

"No wonder you guys enlist for four years. It takes that long to find the washroom. The heat is so bad, it's a reliable source that Onassis is trying to buy it for a dinghy."

This year marked Hope's 20th Christmas overseas, but his record of out of the country tours goes back to September, 1942, when he traveled 18,000 miles to the 38 camps in the Aleutian Islands and Alaska and gave 52 shows for the GIs.

In June, 1943, Hope traveled to England and later that same year did a military camp tour in Panama and Puerto Rico. His first Christmas overseas

Highway patrolmen took to wearing OKIE hats and there were OKIE books, OKIE rings, OKIE bumper stickers and even an OKIE steak on cafe menus.

But at a reception after his victory, Hall declared: "The OKIE plus are going to quietly fade away. The old soldiers."

Scenic Board Lags Due To Lack Of $

Lack of sufficient money for funding the Memorial Park beautification project of the Sanford Scenic Improvement Board (SIB) was partly responsible for a discussion to change the meeting of that city board to quarterly rather than the regular monthly sessions.

This was brought out at this morning's SIB meeting by Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff III, chairman, after it was disclosed that a total $10,478 would be needed to continue the Memorial project, located at the foot of Park Avenue on the lake front (the old band shell site).

"We've done all that we've been charged to do by the city commission," Mrs. Woodruff said in explaining that the SIB according to the bylaws is not a fundraising body. She said, addressing her remarks primarily to City Manager W. E. Knowles, a SIB member, "I'm not exactly discouraged but I can't see where we go from here."

The SIB was instrumental in obtaining $5,000 from the City Commission for the preparation of five beautification plans for use in projects designed to suit Sanford's needs. Beautification of Crooms High School and Memorial Park are the two projects being worked on now by the SIB.

Mrs. Woodruff said she knew of the financial condition of the city but wondered whether the board should continue to meet monthly since "we have done so well."

She also questioned the chairman that she should not take a strict interpretation of the laws governing the SIB and said the City Commission is expecting the SIB to push through the beauty projects.

Mrs. Woodruff, upon hearing Knowles' words, indicated she would forego the meeting change suggestion until later after discussing the situation in more detail with Knowles.

AROUND THE CLOCK
By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

Now the next time it happens at City Commission, we're going to divulge what some of those "notes" contain.

Supposed to be everything above board? Then how come it's necessary for one individual to try and advise another with a secret note?

Sorta sounds like something that might be going on in my daughter's third grade... instead of a fast, growing, thriving, etc., city commission session!

Was talking 'bout Cassius yesterday... and what do I find out this morning? Supposed to be 100 show up for the bus ride to the induction center... and you know how many didn't show up?

Twenty-three... like I've been saying, he belongs in the clink instead of a ring.

Along these same lines, Mr. Nixon, in his TV discussion with TV reporters of Monday night, made reference to the fact that the war in Vietnam is no longer an issue.

You couldn't be more wrong, Mr. President... you couldn't be more wrong.

Callers for Time-Temperature and Weather forecast award at Winter Park First National Bank Winter Park were astonished to hear usual charming male voice announce Tuesday morning that the weather would be "snow and cooler to-night." This was especially shocking as temperatures were up in the 70s at the time.

About that robbery at Sanford's Lui Lounge... there are a number of checks valued at $700, already stamped, "For Deposit Only, Lui Lounge."

Club manager John Wheelock issued an appeal for information leading to the arrest of those who pulled the robbery. His number is 322-8536.

He's also asking that those who wrote him a check on either January 1 or 2, to give him a call, also.

Now that David Tilson is mayor of North Orlando again will the meetings over which he will preside be known as "the Flip Tilson show?"

You can help... if you have any information at all regarding that hit-and-run accident in Longwood involving a death, please give the Florida Highway Patrol a call at 322-1900.

The question for each man to settle is not what would do if he had means, time, influence and educational advantages, but what he will do with the things he has.

Meyer Stymied For SIC

Sanford City Commission tabled a motion by newly-seated Commissioner Julian Stearns at last night's meeting that would have placed Commissioner Gordon Meyer on the Sanford Industrial Commission (SIC), the industrial recruiting arm of the city.

Stearns, just elected as a replacement for retiring Commissioner Thomas McDonald on the city council, sought to nominate Meyer as McDonald's replacement on the SIC.

It was apparent that Meyer may have difficulty in taking McDonald's place on the SIC, since there was no unanimity of opinion.

Swofford Regains Mayoralty Post

By MARION BETHA — ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — "First in the hearts of his countrymen" would seem to be apropos in the appointment of Mayor Lawrence Swofford to complete his term of office which expires in 1972.

Swofford had resigned the mayoralty to run, unsuccessfully, for the County Commission.

Following adoption of a resolution declaring the vacancy in the mayor's office, Swofford received the nod for appointment from Councilman Keith Nixon when, with obvious prediction, he stated, "I can only think of one person I'd like to see in the office of mayor... Lawrence Swofford."

His sentiments were echoed by new Councilman Dan Dorfman with the enthusiastic remark that, "I'd have to support Nixon's position." He continued that during the few years in which he had been a member of the City Council...

ANOTHER TRAGEDY
KILLED after a hit-and-run car mishap late Tuesday night was 74-year-old Thomas Saddow, Fairlake Drive, Longwood. Driver of a 1960 Dodge plowed through a barricade which was set up at Altamonte Springs to stop the suspect, Longwood Police Chief Claude Sweet (left). Patrolman Earl Cornell and Covener Thomas Lovett are shown above examining the body.

Property Custodians Named Commission Reorganized

Appointments of custodians of county properties was made at yesterday's reorganizational meeting of County Commissioners.

Sidney Vihlen, Jr. was named as custodian of roads, agriculture department, county grove and food stamp office.

John Kimbrough was named as custodian of the courthouse and jail.

Edward Yarbrough was named to the branch office of the courthouse and the motor vehicle inspection station.

Al Davis was named as custodian of the health department, Osceola landfill and Big Tree.

Chairman Greg Drummond told the board that it was traditional to name to the county employment board one veteran member at large and an alternate-at-large. The two latter positions were held in absence until Jan. 12.

Also held in limbo was the designation of the county legal holidays for 1971, following discussion over the proper holiday for Christmas to coincide with state holidays.

City Hall Site Promised Zoning Change Okayed By N. Orlando Council

NORTH ORLANDO — Village Council has approved a request by Florida Land Corporation for a change in zoning from R-1A to C-1 in the area which the concern owns on the four corners around SR 434 and Moss Road.

William Carroll, representing the concern, told the board that he developed in a residential nature, that considerable home-site acreage to the Village with the commercial zoning for a shopping center. Carroll said that this would be a neighborly good type center with grocery, barber and beauty shop, and that concentrated rather than strip commercial zoning would be more advantageous.

Carroll maintained that no gas stations were proposed in the area and that a site had been set aside in the commercial facilities for the new city hall. It was pointed out that the area abutted the present shopping center and that most of the area was presently commercial.

Mayor Clifford Jordan asked Carroll if additional commercial zoning was indicated and received an affirmative answer. Carroll injected that there were other sparse areas and that these would utilize a nice shopping center." He continued that there was a tremendous growth potential in available land with a possibility of 15,000-20,000 dwelling units to be included.

In another public hearing, council denied the request of Rev. Luther Tasker for a variance of zoning from R-1A to C-1 at 11 North Cortez Avenue. Rev. Tasker made the request in order to operate a day care center. The operation was recommended by the planning and zoning commission with the proviso that it not include a kindergarten, have early child hours and have the written plan of the day care center. Rev. Tasker made the request in order to operate a day care center.
