Pending One More Public Hearing

County Votes 10% Tax Hike

By Paul C. Schoefer
Herald Staff Writer

Property taxes in Seminole County will increase by more than 10 percent next year if county commissioners follow through with the tentative approval they gave a new tax rate Tuesday night.

The commission chamber was packed with citizens who voiced opposition to the increase. It was the first of two required public hearings.

The proposed county-wide tax rate for the new fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1, was tentatively set at $4.60 per $1,000 of property valuation, 10.11 percent above the present $3.96 per $1,000.

The proposed rate is 19.48 percent above the "rollback" rate of $3.85 per $1,000 of property valuation.

The rollback rate yields the same amount of tax dollars as the previous fiscal year, but is lower because of increased values of the property taxed and new property on the tax rolls.

Final adoption of the new rate and the 1986-87 fiscal year budget is set for Sept. 23.

Two residents who commended the commissioners for their hard work drew jeers from the crowd, and the audience gasped when commission chairman Bob Sturm made a pitch for votes in November's general election.

Sturm, 60, R-Lake Mary is running against former commissioner Bob French, 52, D-Casselberry. Sturm is seeking his third four-year term.

Sturm, and commissioners Barbara Christensen, Fred

Streetman, and Bill Kirchhoff approved the tentative budget adoption. Commissioner Sandra Glenn was absent.

Some residents questioned why a tax increase is needed, when the projected county spending in the new year has actually dipped. In fiscal 1985-86, spending was $128.3 million, while $124.5 million is budgeted for 1986-87.

County Management and Budget Director Penny Fleming said the county government had been tightening its fiscal belt. She said $650,000 had been cut by the elimination of 31 county jobs, some of which were in the fleet maintenance department. The county also opted to lease tractor trailers to haul refuse during the coming fiscal year, which is expected to save another $107,000, by not maintaining their own equipment. In addition, all departments reduced spending by 8 to 10 percent.

But some areas of the budget needed more money. The general reserve fund for contingency was doubled to $2 million for the new year, and $300,000 will be spent to hire 12 communications specialists to man the new E-911 emergency telephone system.

In addition, the sheriff's department will get funding to hire nine new employees, the transportation department will get 10 new employees, $100,000 will be spent through the Industrial Development Commission of Mid-Florida, Inc. to attract industry to the county, and $35,000 will be spent on a new Paramedics treat Longwood firefighter Mark Oates who got diesel fuel in his eyes, middle, at the scene of an overturned flatbed truck, above, at State Road 434 and Interstate 4 Tuesday. The 2:50 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. incident blocked traffic and spilled 60 to 70 gallons of hydraulic fluid, diesel fuel and gasoline on the roadway. Driver of the truck, Louis Fredrick, 33, Oviedo, was treated for cuts; a passenger was uninjured. The spill was contained by sand. Left, firefighters sop up about 35 gallons. Transportation officials were to inspect the road for spill damage today. Details about charges were unavailable today from the Florida Highway Patrol.

Schilke To Airport Board Post

Authority's First Woman

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford businesswoman and Chamber of Commerce executive board director Shirley Schilke has been named the first woman appointee to the Sanford Airport Authority.

Mrs. Schilke and Don Knight, who operates a shoe store on First Street and a flight school at the airport, were named to the Authority by city commissioners on 3-1 votes Monday night.

They were nominated by City Commissioner Dave Farr and will replace two Authority members who had requested reappointment. Farr is among those still being considered for the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce presidency, and since Mrs. Schilke heads the chamber committee that will interview candidates for the job as well as vote on who gets it, she was asked if she would abstain from voting on Farr's application in light of his nominating her to the Authority. Mrs. Schilke said she sees no potential conflict of interest in the matter and would vote on Farr's application when it comes up. Farr also said he saw no conflict with the action he took regarding Mrs. Schilke's appointment to the Authority and that which Mrs. Schilke will have to take on his chamber application.

Joe Baker and R.M. Rosemond have served on the Authority since its formation in 1971 and their reappointment was supported by Authority chairman A. K. Shoemaker. Neither Baker nor Rosemond, whose terms expire Sept. 30, could be reached for comment.

Farr acknowledged he could

Protests Scuttle Heathrow Plan

A request for a county comprehensive plan amendment to allow a 485-acre expansion of the Heathrow Development of Regional Impact was withdrawn in part because of protests from neighboring residential property owners.

Bruce Anderson, a Heathrow attorney, said recent protests of the expansion during a planning and zoning board public hearing, caused the plans to be put on the shelf, at least temporarily. "We're regrouping," Anderson said. "We have no plans in the schedule (to resubmit the request.)"

"We saw we need to do our homework better with the neighborhood," Anderson said.

At an August planning and zoning board public hearing, there was an outcry from neighboring residential property owners and environmentalists against the expansion. The 485-acre tract is a finger-like extension west of Markham Woods Rd. north of Lake Mary Blvd. from the main Heathrow site, and extends west to near but not on the Wekiva River.

The main Heathrow site, a $3 billion, 1,284-acre community which is planned to include 4,325 dwelling units, is located northwest of the Interstate 4,

Lake Mary Blvd. intersection.

About 100 homes have reportedly been completed to date.

Residents neighboring the extension complained that houses were to be built on half-acre lots, while their areas required one acre for homes.

County officials say there are half-acre lots in the main Heathrow complex. They were approved in the original Development of Regional Impact contract in 1972, because the project is a mixed use community.

The difference in the extension, according to county planners, is that the land is

Israeli Warplanes Bomb Palestinian Targets

SIDON, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli warplanes and gunboats attacked suspected Palestinian targets near the southern cities of Sidon and Tyre, dropping dozens of bombs and bombarding a refugee camp, Lebanese reports said today.

Hospital sources in Sidon, 24 miles south of Beirut, said three people, including two Palestinian guerrillas, were killed and 19 people, including guerrillas and civilians, were wounded in the raid early today. The attack also destroyed and set ablaze several buildings and depots.

The air strike came just four days after two Arabs tossed hand grenades and opened fire on worshippers at a synagogue in the Turkish city of Istanbul, killing 21 Jews and themselves.

Israeli leaders have vowed to avenge that attack. But the IDF said today's raid was "in direct retaliation" for a foiled PSF attempt to send guerrillas from the same base into Israel by sea during the night.

There were no immediate reports of casualties in the Tyre area, 46 miles south of the capital, where Lebanese sources say a refugee camp came under fire at dusk Tuesday.

Israel confirmed the Sidon attack but not the attack in the Tyre area.

The planes struck about a mile north of the southern Lebanese port of Sidon at dawn, making two bombing runs on what the Israeli military termed "a terrorist base" of the pro-Syrian Popular Struggle Front.

Palestinian and Moslem militia gunners, using jeep-mounted guns and heavy anti-aircraft batteries, opened fire on the warplanes and the gunboats, witnesses said.

"The target was used as a departure base for the PSF and an arms and ammunition dump," said a spokesman for the Israeli Defense Forces in Tel Aviv. "All planes returned safely to base and reported accurate hits."

A witness said the jets "dropped dozens of bombs" on the base, which was used by the PSF and other Palestinian groups and was in the industrial area of Sidon.

The military said four guerrillas left the Sidon base in a rubber dinghy and headed southward under cover of darkness but were caught by an Israeli patrol boat on a routine sweep south of Sidon.

The patrol boat fired on the dinghy and hit it, forcing the guerrillas to the shore. The IDF, said at least one of them was wounded but declined to give details on the fate of the other three.

Lebanese police sources in the coastal city of Tyre also said today Israeli gunboats for 45 minutes sporadically bombarded the hilltop Palestinian refugee camp of Rashidieh at dusk Tuesday.

Several houses and buildings were destroyed and damaged in the camp just east of Tyre, the sources said.

An IDF spokeswoman said "it is quite possible" the clash with the boatload of guerrillas was the same firing the Lebanese police sources identified as Israeli gunboats bombarding the refugee camp near Tyre.

The Israeli military said it had no information on any damage to the camp.

The PSF, which Israeli military sources estimate has some 600 members, is dedicated to attacks inside Israel and the occupied West Bank. Its headquarters are Damascus but most of its bases are in Lebanon.

IN BRIEF

Budget Chairman: $11 Billion Windfall Hard To Ignore

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate budget committee members head into a key deficit-reduction meeting today realizing an $11 billion windfall from the tax reform bill will be impossible to ignore in the fight against red ink.

The two budget committees scheduled an unusual joint meeting this morning to discuss the across-the-board cuts that will be required if Congress fails to meet its Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction target this fall.

Senate Budget Chairman Pete Domenici, R-N.M., said Tuesday an expected $11 billion windfall from the tax reform measure must be taken into consideration.

Domenici, who earlier had urged Congress not to count on the tax reform windfall to reduce the deficit, told his GOP colleagues, "There's no way to get around it being counted."

Tax Bill Clears Another Hurdle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The compromise tax reform bill is past a potentially worrisome procedural hurdle, but the top House and Senate tax writers seem at odds over whether its rates should eventually be raised to cut the deficit.

With no objections, the House agreed Tuesday that when the tax overhaul legislation reaches the House floor, probably next week, debate would be limited to three hours and no parliamentary challenges would be allowed.

The action rules out chances that unhappy House members can try to kill the bill on procedural grounds — a tactic that almost succeeded in scuttling the original House tax reform measure last year.

National Guard Plane Crash Kills 3

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (UPI) — Three Tennessee Air National Guardsmen were killed and two others injured in the fiery crash of a C-130 Hercules transport plane making a touch-and-go practice landing at Fort Campbell.

The C-130, a four-engine aircraft assigned to the 118th Tactical Airlift Wing of the Tennessee National Guard at Nashville, Tenn., cartwheeled off the runway for about 200 yards and burst into flames at about 2:11 p.m. Tuesday.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Talks aimed at heading off an economic and trade confrontation between the United States and Brazil head the agenda for a meeting between President Reagan and Brazilian President Jose Sarney.

Park Land Tax Hike Referendum Slated

By Jane Caselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood City Commission unanimously approved a motion by Commissioner Perry Faulkner to hold a referendum on a proposed $1 per $1,000 assessed property valuation that would raise money for recreational and park purposes over a two-year period.

The question may be submitted to voters on Longwood's ballot in the Dec. 2 election.

Faulkner said the funds raised could be used to purchase property or equipment or build a community center. City residents have complained that the city has been converting park land to other purposes and that money from the sale of excess city property which was to be used to purchase property for parks was borrowed for another project.

The Parks and Recreation Advisory Board has done a study on some of the options for a new community center, but was told no money was available.

Also on Monday, the commission voted unanimously to seek bids on the 600,000 gallon per day sewage treatment plant to be built on Grant Street in the Skylark area.

The deadline for accepting bids on the project is 4 p.m. on Oct. 8. The contract will be awarded on Oct. 20. City Administrator Ron Waller said the bid package would go out Wednesday.

Waller said plans call for machines and tanks to be placed as far away in the southeast corner of the lot as possible from neighboring homes.

The city has borrowed $2.5 million from Sun Bank to finance the sewage facility.

In other business:

• Tentative approval was given for ordinances providing an exclusive franchise for collection of residential garbage and non-exclusive franchises for the collection of commercial garbage. The garbage franchises are expected to provide $100,000 in new income for the city in 1987. A public hearing will be held Oct. 8 on the residential franchise and on Nov. 24 for commercial franchise. A work session will be held Sept. 22 on the exclusive franchise.

• Subdivision improvements for Danbury Mill, Phase IIIA developed by Florida Residential Communities, got final acceptance.

• The final plat for East Lake Village (replat of Lots 1-10 and Lots 10-22, Block 10, Entzinger's Addition 1, Braxton Green, developer, was approved.

• The final plat and plans for Nelson Court, a nine lot subdivision located south of Bistline Avenue and west of East Street, submitted by Superior Construction Co., Inc., were approved in a 3-2 vote. Deputy Mayor June Lormann and Commissioner Perry Faulkner voted no. She said she believed that some of lots would flood in spite of staff and project engineers assurances. Faulkner voted against approval because the developer's engineer, Hollis Engineering, did not place its seal on every page of the plans, as the city requires.

• A preliminary plan for a single family dwelling for Lot 2, Sleepy Hollow (first addition), zoned R1A single family residential, was approved unanimously. The owner is Victor Eyal.

• Rita Curtiss of 279 E. Reider Ave. was appointed by Mrs. Lormann to replace John Slusarz on the Parks and Recreation Board.

• Final approval was given to an ordinance establishing a uniform building numbering system for the city in preparation for the new countywide 911 emergency system.

Commissioners Slam Door On 3 SR 46 Commercial Use Requests

By Paul C. Schneider
Herald Staff Writer

Three land use change requests that would have opened the door for commercial development at three sites on State Road 46 were slammed shut by Seminole County commissioners Monday night.

Area residential property owners opposed to commercial development near their homes indicated they would like to see the door locked and the key thrown away by calling for a moratorium on development in the area.

The three proposed land use changes along State Road 46 would have allowed potential commercial zoning for office complexes and a 7-Eleven convenience store in an area where residents savor their peace and quiet, horseback rides, and wildlife. The three proposed land use amendments to the county's growth blueprint are in the northwest Markham/Paola area.

A proposed six building development which includes offices and a 7-Eleven store drew the most opposition Monday night. The site is located at the intersection of State Road 46 and Lake Markham Road, just south of Yankee Lake.

Property owner Art Davis requested the change in the comprehensive plan from general rural to commercial planned unit development (PUD) and rezoning from agricultural to commercial PUD use. Among the six building he proposed for the 5.4 acre site is a 7-Eleven store.

Attorney Miranda Fitzgerald, representing the Southland Corporation, 7-Eleven's parent company, said the project would be compatible with the rural character of the neighborhood; that there is a need for that type of store in the area; and that a store would reduce travel to stores a greater distance away from the area. She also said the area roads, including SR 46 and Lake Markham Rd., could handle the additional traffic.

But residents lined up to speak in opposition to the proposed project.

Irene K. Brown, who lives across the street from the site said the intersection is near a dangerous SR 46 curve, and that the potential for accidents would increase if a store were permitted. She also pointed to truck traffic and morning fog as other reasons for the store traffic adding to the dangers.

Another nearby resident, Sandra Smith, questioned whether allowing a store on the site would constitute unlawful spot zoning.

Others were concerned about the store operating 24 hours a day and selling beer and wine.

Lisa Clark added that rainwater runoff carrying car oil could pollute area water, as could underground gasoline tanks. She said the runoff could also create flooding. She was also opposed to a traffic light at an intersection, where the nearest signals are 5 and 16 miles away in either direction.

"We're concerned about the environmental integrity of the area," resident Dan Pelham said. "The planning and zoning board has said no, the county staff has said no, and the citizens have said no. This is an attempt to establish a trend toward commercialization, and it's not proper," Pelham, the principal at Sanford Middle School, said.

Pelham and Roger Neiswender advocated a rezoning moratorium in the area until the county completes growth planning in the area.

Commissioners voted to deny the land use change request by a 3-2 vote, with commissioners Bob Sturm, Bill Kirchhoff, and Sandra Glenn voting in favor of the denial, and commissioners Fred Streetman and Barbara Christensen voting in favor of the change.

The second request for a plan amendment denied by commissioners was on a 10 acre parcel just south of the SR 46-Orange Blvd. intersection. Albert Yurko, represented by attorney Ken McIntosh, requested a comprehensive plan change from general rural to commercial use, and a zoning change from agricultural to restricted neighborhood commercial use, for a proposed office site.

Commissioners voted unanimously to deny the requests.

A third request for a comprehensive plan change came from Donald Hock, represented by John Stewart. Stewart requested a change from general rural to commercial designation for a future undetermined project on 16 acres at the intersection of SR 46 and Orange Blvd.

Commissioners again were unanimous in denying the request.

In other actions taken Monday, the commission:

— Denied an amendment changing the designation from low intensity urban to commercial use for 3.5 acres at the intersection of Tuskawilla Rd. and State Road 434. Patti Choen is the applicant. Offices and a donut shop were proposed.

— Denied an amendment changing the designation from general rural to industrial use for 13.7 acres west of County Road 426 north of Mikler Rd. Jane Adriatico is the applicant. She wanted to expand a warehouse on the site.

— Approved an amendment changing the designation from general rural to low density residential use for 20 acres south of Lake Hayes on State Road 434 for a residential development. Wayne Harrod is the applicant.

— Approved an amendment changing the designation from low intensity urban to low density residential use for six acres on the west side of SR 434 south of Chapman Rd., for single-family homes. Lake Hayes properties is the applicant.

— Approved an amendment changing the designation from low density residential to commercial for three acres of land west of Lake Irene on U.S. 17-92. Fatemeh Forousandeh is the applicant.

— Denied an amendment, changing the designation from low density residential to industrial use for eight acres on the east side of Lake Howell Rd., north of North Ave. Errol Greene, is the applicant.

— Approved an amendment changing the designation from low intensity urban to low density residential use for 39 acres at the intersection of C.R. 427 and Noland Rd. for a residential development. Bing Hacker is the applicant.

— Approved an amendment, changing the designation from general rural to commercial use, for four acres between US 17-92 and CR 427 for a shopping center. Ray Tatum is the applicant.

— Approved an amendment, changing the designation from general rural to commercial use, for four acres at the intersection of SR 46 and Sewell Rd., near Interstate 4. Sam Gabbal is the applicant.

Funeral Home Hearing Rescheduled

The issue of a controversial funeral home request has been brought back to life by the Longwood City Commission on the advice of City Attorney Ann Colby and another public hearing has been scheduled for Oct. 6.

The commission unanimously voted Monday night to reschedule the public hearing.

On August 18, the commission unanimously denied a conditional use request by Cy J. Case to operate a funeral home on the north side of State Road 434, 100 feet east of Oleander Street in a C-2 commercial zoning district.

Attorneys for Case, who was not present at the original public hearing, claim their client was not properly notified. Case is a trustee for the company that has operated Garden Chapel Home for Funerals in Orlando since 1971.

"I'd rather be safe than sorry," Ms. Colby told the commission in recommending a new hearing be scheduled.

City Planner Chris Nagle had recommended approval of Case's request. — Jane Caselberry

Group Says Homestead Revision Would Hurt Poor

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The proposed revision to Florida's homestead tax exemption would hurt the poor and elderly without guaranteeing lower taxes for anyone, spokesmen for a coalition of citizens' groups said Tuesday.

The homestead exemption currently allows a taxpayer to eliminate the first $25,000 of his home value when figuring property taxes. The proposed revision of that law, which will be rejected or approved by the voters in November, would instead exempt the first $5,000 and then half of the next $40,000 value for a total exemption of up to $25,000.

In simple terms, anyone whose house is valued at between $5,000 and $45,000 would see an increase in taxes.

"This proposed amendment would increase the current regressive nature of our tax structure by shifting the property tax burden to low and moderate income families," said George Sheldon, president of the Florida Consumer Action Network and chairman of the anti-revision coalition. "It would increase taxes for 50 percent of Florida's senior citizens, and for 83 percent of Florida's black citizens."

Supporters of the revision say it is needed in rural counties where the current exemption has left few houses on the tax rolls. But opponents say the amendment would mean a tax increase for those who could least afford it.

"The only reason some (elderly people on fixed incomes) are still in their homes is the $25,000 homestead exemption," said John Howey of the Jacksonville Council of Senior Citizens. "If you take that away from them, they will surely lose their homes."

Sheldon said the Legislature had placed the proposed change on the ballot because of intense pressure from county commissioners who wanted to raise money but were afraid to raise local taxes. The extra money could be handed back to taxpayers in higher brackets through local tax reductions, but that decision would be up to each county.

Sheldon said most counties can raise more money by increasing the millage assessed on local taxes. In rural counties, Sheldon said, tax money could also be raised by strict interpretation of green belt exemptions.

The green belt exemption gives a tax break to large landowners who use their property for agricultural purposes. Sheldon said many landowners who plan to use their property for commercial ventures dodge taxes by putting a single cow on the property and claiming a green belt exemption.

Suspect Allegedly Claims To Be Last Of "Midway Desperados"

A 20-year-old Sanford man who surrendered to Seminole County sheriff's deputies Monday has allegedly claimed to be the last of the "Midway Desperados," a reputed gang of burglars that has within the past year or so plagued the Sanford area.

The arrest came after the Sunday burglary of the home of the suspect's neighbor, Dolores Terrell, 31, of 2501 Byrd Ave., Sanford. The suspect's father called the sheriff's department and reported as saying his son, who was reportedly supporting a crack cocaine habit with the alleged sale of stolen goods, wanted to give up, a sheriff's report said.

In the burglary to Ms. Terrell's home the thief reportedly took stereo gear, a camera and two watches, with a total value of $317.

The suspect reportedly told sheriff's deputies that he had burglarized a Midway home last week, but he couldn't remember the address. In that case he allegedly sold the stolen items for $30 to buy cocaine, the report said.

Two warrants had also been issued on the suspect for failure to appear in court to face burglary and theft charges, the report said.

Ernest Smith Jr., 20, of 2521 Byrd Ave., has been charged with burglary and theft as well as the warrant charges. He was being held without bond.

WATER BURN
A 46-year-old Altamonte Springs man, who allegedly burned his wife on the leg with boiling water after police who had been called to their home Sunday left without making an arrest, was arrested when police were called back to that same home at about 7:20 p.m. Monday.

Hildegard Roy, of 747 Little Wekiva Circle, Altamonte Springs, had alleged to Altamonte Springs on Sunday that her husband had battered her. Police who saw no physical marks on her left without making an arrest, a police report said.

After they left, Mrs. Roy said that her husband allegedly poured boiling water on her left leg. She feared for her safety and was afraid to call police again, the report said.

The following day, Monday, when the suspect again allegedly became abusive, Mrs. Roy called police to her home again. They noted the burn on her leg and charged Robert Joseph Roy, 46, with battery/spouse abuse. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

told police she feared for her safety.

Arrested at his home at 7:20 p.m. Monday was James Robert Johnson, of 622 Sarito St. He has been released on $500 bond and scheduled to appear in court Sept. 17.

TWO FORGERIES

A man who allegedly cashed one forged check for $53 at about 11 a.m. Aug. 6 at Baggs Produce, South Sanford Avenue, Sanford, allegedly returned at 3 p.m. that same day and cashed a second forged check for $87.

The two checks were drawn on a closed Atlantic Bank account of F.E. Pharis, a police report said.

Jeffery Scott Johnson, of Deltona, was questioned by police and arrested at 9:45 a.m. Monday at the Sanford police station. He has been charged with two counts each of uttering a forged instrument and forgery. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Sept. 29.

PAYCHECK FORGED

graphed on July 18 at B & W Grocery, 1503 S. Sanford, Ave., Sanford, as he allegedly cashed the missing payroll check of Christopher Meadows drawn on the account of Gateway Gardens, for $124, has been charged with forgery, uttering a forged and petty theft. The check had been reported stolen July 15, a Sanford police report said.

Timothy Bernard Jamison, of 2180 Church St., was arrested at the Seminole County jail at 11:27 a.m. Monday. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

NO VACANCY

A man found sleeping in a vacant Altamonte Springs apartment has been arrested on charges of burglary and petty theft.

An Altamonte Springs policeman, who was called to #1713 Monterey North Apartments, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, by a manager who reported he had found a man sleeping in a vacant apartment, confronted the suspect at about 5:20 p.m. Monday.

The man reportedly said he was in the apartment because a friend had kicked him out of another apartment in the complex and he was looking for a place to stay. The manager said he did not have permission to be there, a police report said.

Also, a maid who had had contact with the suspect early allegedly accused him of stealing her purse and $12 along with a calculator and a case of audio tapes that had been left behind by a former tenant.

The maid's purse and the calculator were reportedly found in a trash can in the area, the report said.

Larry D. Bell Jr., 19, of #1513 Monterey North Apartments, was arrested at 5:33 p.m. Monday. He was being held in lieu of $4,500 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Bill Cunningham, 39, of the Cascade Building Corp., of Longwood, reported to sheriff's deputies that two light fixtures and a microwave range belonging to that company and valued at $1,455 were stolen from lot 61 Sabal View, Longwood, between Aug. 29 and Sept. 6.

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Cathy Sue Fox, 28, of 310 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, was arrested at 1:41 a.m. Tuesday after her car failed to maintain a single lane on Magnolia Avenue, Sanford. She was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

Can't See The Forest ...

*I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree.
Indeed, unless the billboards fall,
I'll never see a tree at all.*

—Ogden Nash

Lady Bird Johnson believed Congress had put the ax to the root of the ubiquitous billboard when it passed the Highway Beautification Act of 1965, a package of legislation she tirelessly supported. Unfortunately, and ironically, the measure designed to control billboards acted as a fertilizer. Like mesquite shoots after a spring shower, billboard proliferation usually they came back bigger and more obtrusive than ever.

Now a rare alliance of environmentalists and the Reagan administration is backing legislation that will plug the loopholes the billboard industry has exploited. Despite the unlikely coalition, the reform effort won't be easy since the billboard industry is both wily and rich.

The most problematic part of the original legislation is a provision that owners of those billboards in violation of the act are to receive cash compensation when and if their billboards are removed. The result is that the federal government in the past 20 years had paid $203 million of taxpayers' money to billboard companies, much of it for removal of unprofitable billboards "conveniently" in violation of the act. Small towns and cities and some states don't have the money to pay cash compensation, so several have turned to an amortization plan that the industry has been fighting in the courts.

At the same time, billboard companies have exploited a loophole in the law to erect as many as 320,000 new billboards, most of them many times larger than the originals. The result is a net gain of some 500,000 billboards now polluting our highways and streets. The billboard industry's annual earnings have nearly doubled in six years, to an estimated $1.3 billion.

In the ultimate perversion of the Highway Beautification Act, the industry in several states has the legal right to destroy publicly owned trees on the public right-of-way that happen to block motorists' views of billboards on private land. A 1983 study by the Department of Transportation in Florida found that the state had allowed sign companies to conduct 1,118 tree-destroying operations on the public right-of-way, 906 of them to clear billboards that had been outlawed by the act but still hadn't come down.

Next month, the Senate will try to undo some of these outrages when it takes up Senate Bill 1494, sponsored by Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., as an amendment to the highways appreciation bill. The amendment is co-sponsored by a bipartisan group of senators.

SB 1491 would ban all billboards along federal highways in urban areas, prohibit tree cutting along state roads, provide a five-year "amortization" (grace) period for the removal of non-conforming signs, eliminate requirements for federal compensation and remove the authority the Department of Transportation now has to waive penalties.

Earlier this month, the House passed a version of this bill that caved in to the billboard industry. It was amended to include industry-supported provisions that would continue to support federal subsidies, further loosen the Highway Beautification Act and prevent local or state governments from removing billboards without paying relocation assistance.

John Miller, a resident of Palo Alto, Calif., who heads the Washington, D.C.-based Coalition for Scenic Beauty, argues convincingly that "billboards are not a private use of private property; they are a private use of public property." The Senate version of billboard reform recognizes that principle. It is designed to call a halt to what columnist William Buckley has called "acts of aggression against the American landscape."

An American Love Affair: Miss America

If Vanessa Williams, Miss America 1984, rattled your libidinal cages with her gymnastic exhibitionism, think how far we've come since 1972 when Miss Vermont carried on like an ecologist at a Salvation Army prayer meeting.

Fourteen years ago at the pageant, Miss Vermont announced that she wore no bras, dug premarital sex, opposed the Vietnam War and disliked Richard Nixon.

Then she capped her intrepidity by strutting barefoot across the Convention Hall stage.

My kind of Ms. America!
Unfortunately, 1972 was not the year to flaunt intellectual audacity. Miss Vermont lost to Miss Wisconsin, who seemed to fit John Simon's delicious description of Barbara Walters: "the absolute unwobbling midpoint of averageness."

But that personification is precisely what makes Miss America a magnificent statement of the Family America.

While she is exalted as the national Venus, she's also everybody's girl next door who is expected to walk down the church aisle after she has walked down the pageant runway.

And now that beauty is adorned with hundreds of thousands of dollars in scholarships, Miss America's title is even more "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

This weekend, the 59th Miss America will initiate her love affair with the nation. Actually, the Atlantic City pageant is 65 years old; it was forced by women protesters and bankruptcy to suspend operations in the 1930s.

Since then, the pageant has survived enough hazards to make Job's tribulations read like a nursery rhyme.

Angry accusations of racism, bra-burnings by the women's liberation movement to protest sexism, a brief skirmish over "hot pants" and the persistent controversy over the swimsuit competition were bad enough. But when Albert M. Marks Jr., the 73-year-old pageant panderer, dismantled a national shrine by dumping Bert Parks, the pageant's emcee for 25 years, a volcano of protests erupted.

"What have I done to deserve this?" queried a hurt Marks.

But he was right. It was time for a change. I've always been convinced that Louis Nye's tippy-toe parody of Parks' saccharine "There She Goes, Miss America" contributed to our disenchantment. "Satire should, like a polished razor keen/Wound with a touch that's scarcely felt or seen." Parks died all over the place.

This weekend, the Miss America pageant reaffirms Ronald Reagan's vision of America.

None of the 51 contestants and none of the eight judges are black or Hispanic. After 11 years of flirting with racial integration, the corporate Miss America has returned to its lily-white moorings.

It's understandable. The 1984 exercise in ethnic and sexual freedom went off the deep end. Americans just couldn't simultaneously internalize a black Miss America, a black runner-up Miss America and the betrayal of our wholesome fantasies about the girl next door (white or black).

Fourteen years from now, after the pageant includes contestants from Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Samoa and Guam, and after a Hispanic contestant (36-22-36) has won the swimsuit competition wearing a bikini as Ms. America, Vanessa Williams will be shrugged off as a footnote to the pageant's history.

In the meantime, let's enjoy this uniquely American annual festival.

The Miss America pageant reflects who and what we are at any given moment of our national family's life. It's fun to watch, and for little girls who can't hit home runs in the World Series or spike a football after a Super Bowl touchdown, it's their chance to dream of being famous in Andy Warhol's world for 15 minutes.

Help For Street Children

This is about Robert Macauley, who knows from experience what it can take to get a major humanitarian operation off the ground — literally.

You have to give it all you've got — and much more.

Macauley is president and founder of the AmeriCare Foundation in New Canaan, Conn. The story begins during the Vietnam War when Macauley began helping street children in Saigon.

That effort was called the "Shoeshine Boy Foundation." By the time South Vietnam collapsed in 1975, the foundation had expanded to 17 shelters housing 2,500 children.

By then, Macauley was also bringing Vietnamese children to this country for adoption. Many were on a transport that crashed on takeoff from Saigon in April 1975.

Told it would be days before a military plane would be available to move the survivors, many of whom were injured, Macauley chartered a commercial airliner for $10,000. He would need another $150,000 before the plane could take off from Saigon — money Macauley's financial adviser told him he did not have.

"I told him to shut up and write the checks," Macauley recalls.

Fortunately, his bankers treated it as a loan. Thereafter, even more fortunately, he says, "my financial fortunes got better."

Macauley began to think about institutionalizing his efforts, and in 1979 coined the name "AmeriCare." It remained just a name until September 1981, when his attention was called to the shortage of medical supplies in Poland, then at the climax of the Solidarity crisis.

Macauley canvassed major pharmaceutical manufacturers for contributions and again went out on an airlift limb, chartering a plane for $69,000 with only $900 in cash on hand.

"But the floodgates opened," he relates. "There was enough to pay for the first airlift by March of 1982.

1984 Report Warned Of FAA Drug Abuse

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — The shocking allegations of illicit drug use by Los Angeles air traffic controllers shouldn't have surprised the Federal Aviation Administration. The agency was warned two years ago that drug abuse could be high among the 12,000 controllers who were hired to replace strikers fired in 1981.

The warning came from the Transportation Department's inspector general, who said: "Many of the newly hired individuals have prior records of involvement with civilian or military police involving drugs."

The inspector general's investigators found that 80 out of 2,108 controllers they checked had been implicated with drugs before joining the FAA, a spokesman told our associate Stewart Harris. Those studied were employed in the FAA's New England, Great Lakes and Northwest Mountain regions.

But none of the arrests prevented the FAA from hiring the desperately needed controllers. Federal law forbids discrimination against job applicants because of past histories of alcohol or drug abuse.

If the three regions studied by the inspector general's investigators are typical, there could be 450 air traffic

Cities Combat Drugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Rudi W. W. Giuliani has not been doing enough to stop drug trafficking, according to a report by the Reagan administration's anti-drug efforts, which he characterized as a public relations barrage. He said, "The federal government has yet to fire the first shot in the so-called war on drugs." Rangel told the group to "seize the moment because the entire nation is enraged."

The urban leaders passed a series of resolutions calling for a complete revamping of federal efforts to combat drugs on all levels. Almost all these resolutions — and considerably more — are contained in a sweeping new anti-drug bill that will be taken up by the House. And one of the conference's primary purposes was to encourage local government officials to pressure their congressional delegations into quickly passing the bill in its present form.

Most observers believe the House bill will pass quickly. But getting Senate passage is another matter. Senate Republicans are expected to take up an administration-sponsored measure that — while containing some of the initiatives in the House bill — is neither as comprehensive nor as expensive.

Everyone attending the meeting agreed both with San Diego Police Chief William Kolender, who said that crack — a potent and addictive form of cocaine — "is the biggest single crime problem we have," and with Kansas City Mayor Richard Berkeley, who said, "The problem has gotten completely out of hand."

One recurring theme was that the

Rickets Resurface In Babies

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rickets, the first health problem linked to the advent of industrialization, appears to be showing up more often again in the United States and some doctors blame mothers' diets.

Rickets had been in decline in the United States and other developed countries since turn-of-the-century medical knowledge linked the disease of children's bones with nutritional deficiencies, primarily vitamin D.

But pediatricians report an increased incidence of rickets in the United States and say the disease is still prevalent in less developed nations around the world.

"There has been a resurgence in the United States and it's always been a problem in other countries. One fourth of babies in China have it," said Dr. Reginald C. Tsang, pediatrician at the University of Cincinnati's Children's Hospital and a researcher into the causes and treatment of rickets.

Officials at the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta and the National Center for Health Statistics in Washington said no figures are available on the number of rickets cases. But pediatricians at the CDC and at other research centers said they too have noted a rise in the number of cases reported in pediatric literature.

Doctors said the apparent rise could be attributed to an increase in the number of premature babies who survive and an increase in the number of women who breastfeed their babies compared to 20 years ago.

Low birth rate babies are prone to rickets and the disease can also be caused by nutritional deficiencies in mother's milk.

"The trend toward breastfeeding has done much more good than harm but there are some babies who do not get the nutrition they need, especially in urban areas," said Dr. Laurence Finberg, chairman of pediatrics at the State University of New York's Health Science Center in Brooklyn.

controllers nationwide with drug records. The inspector general noted that the number of such prior offenders could be higher than normal because most of the striker replacements grew up at a time when drug abuse was widespread.

Last year the inspector general's investigators found that three controllers at Scranton (Pa.) International Airport used marijuana. After a urinalysis exposed him, one controller confessed that his addiction was so strong that he smoked pot while traveling to and from work. The others admitted smoking marijuana as often as three times a month. None admitted using the perception-altering drug while actually working in the control tower.

The inspector general's report estimated that, all told, at least 1,500 FAA employees — controllers and others — should be enrolled in some kind of alcohol or drug rehabilitation program. Yet in fiscal 1985, only 262 FAA employees were actually enrolled in these programs.

FAA Administrator Donald Engen minimized the problem in an appearance on network television a few days ago. "We do not have a lot of drug abusers in the FAA," he asserted.

The agency did not take kindly to the inspector general's report, complaining that it didn't identify a single actual drug abuser who was on the FAA payroll. The agency insisted it has relatively few drug-related incidents considering the large number of employees.

In an internal memo, the FAA warned that the report could "severely damage public confidence in the air transportation system." Still, the fact remains that there's no way to know if control tower personnel are taking drugs, because the FAA doesn't require controllers to be tested for drug use.

While refusing to acknowledge that it has a problem, the FAA has dawdled for nearly two years over a program to test controllers for drug abuse before they are hired, then once a year after that. At first, the $700,000 drug testing program was postponed while the FAA tried to find funds. Then the program was delayed by the search for a laboratory to handle the testing.

The result is that actual drug testing for traffic controllers won't start until this December — 26 months after the inspector general warned the FAA brass that there might be junkies in their control towers.

The relaxed attitude toward drug and alcohol abuse among those on whom the safety of millions of air travelers depends is not limited to top officials in Washington, apparently. The 1984 inspector general report said: "We found that (control tower) supervisors are often reluctant to take necessary action against a drug or alcohol abuser before a serious conduct event (i.e., a safety violation, civil arrest) has occurred."

At one airport, for example, the report said, it wasn't until a "serious safety event occurred" that an FAA worker who was drinking on the job finally was ordered into rehabilitation. This was despite the fact that a concerned co-worker had warned the supervisor about the boozer on three separate occasions.

Each time, according to the inspector general report, the boss replied that "he was monitoring the situation." Even when controllers are confirmed drug abusers, their punishment varies depending on the region, according to the report. Some aren't even disciplined.

The inspector general urged a uniform agency policy for dealing with controllers who abuse drugs and alcohol. He also recommended hiring a full-time coordinator to run a nationwide rehabilitation program, training supervisors to refer workers with problems to the program and monitoring the workers' performance after they complete it. The full-time coordinator has not yet been hired.

Sanford Expanding Computer Software Systems

Sanford took its first steps towards developing a self-sufficient and expanded computer system with $43,320 allocated for software by city commissioners Monday night.

The money is a conditional down payment for $107,150 in system computer software from Lawson Associates, Inc. of Minnesota.

When completed, the city's computer system expansion is expected to cost several hundred thousand dollars and be implemented during the next five years, according to a projection in City Manager Frank Faison's capital improvement budget.

The entire system expansion "is going to be a step by step process" during the next few years, with cost projections "firmed up" as efforts proceed, Faison said.

The Sanford system operates through a Burrows mainframe computer at city hall. This computer is programmed at 20 percent capacity and has been hooked into a master terminal at Lakeland city hall for many years.

Lakeland is revamping its system and both cities' growth makes the time right for Sanford to expand its system internally, rather than remain with the Lakeland tie-in, Faison said.

The city manager's capital improvement projection for computer software and hardware, 1986-91, is $672,000, of which $170,000 is budgeted for expenditure during the upcoming fiscal year.

Sanford's revisions will begin with the city's payroll processing system cutting all ties with the Lakeland computer, Faison said.

Of the $107,150 Lawson expenditure conditionally agreed to Monday, $24,000 will go for Sanford city hall payroll software to tie the system permanently with the city hall Burrows computer.

Included in the $63,830 expenditure balance is software for the personnel, accounting and budget systems, as well as 14 hours of training in the software programs for employees.

Following completion of the Lawson project, which is conditional on the city's approval of each software installation, the estimated five year effort for overall system expansion will include automation of building permit data and possibly computerized maintenance and monitoring of city vehicle management, Faison said.

He also said the overall project does not necessarily have to involve additional contracts with Lawson. Subsequent contracts could be negotiated with other firms if the city feels this a more beneficial route, Faison said.

Through the Lawson contract, the city can also choose additional programming services for $70 an hour, additional analyst services for $90 an hour and consulting services for $125 an hour.

A decision on these offers will be made as the Lawson project progresses, city commissioners said Monday.

Much of city hall's bookkeeping is now done manually, and Faison said the time consuming process will be markedly pared with increased automation.

He said the computer system expansion is preferable to hiring new staffers to continue the manual bookkeeping process and that no employee cuts are planned as a result of expanded automation.

If anything, according to Faison, new staffers may be hired to handle computer programming.

The Lawson contract commissioners approved Monday is non-exclusive and conditional. It was negotiated by Faison following an eight month review he conducted with the finance and administrative services departments.

If Lawson fails to live up to performance expectations, Sanford can opt out of the $107,150 contract at several junctures.

Faison said although the city's own review determined a need for new software, and prompted the agreement entered into Monday, the contract commissioners signed with Lawson require the company itself to establish that its products will effectively meet Sanford's software needs.

Lawson's efforts will begin this month with a study of city hall payroll and personnel computer software. Commissioners can void the contract, for return of the down payment, if not satisfied with the study's results, the contract states.

If the payroll systems, the first contracted for installation, is unsatisfactory, the balance of the $43,230 down payment would be returned to the city and the contract terminated at that point, the contract states.

Additional contract clauses mandate Lawson to install the additional departmental software in phases and during each step, Sanford has the opportunity to invalidate the agreement if dissatisfied with the system's performance.

Should this occur, the city would be reimbursed whatever portion of the $107,150 remains at the point of invalidation.

Increased Use Of Juvenile Crime Records Recommended

From Staff and Wire Reports

A new study that deals with career criminals recommends that authorities turn over sealed records of juvenile offenders to prosecutors and the courts once the offender is convicted as an adult.

The study by the National Research Council for the Justice Department's National Institute of Justice said it is possible to make "modest reductions" in crime by targeting chronic criminal offenders — known as career criminals — the most serious problem in the criminal justice system.

In Florida, a person's criminal history including juvenile record is delivered to the court at the time of sentencing in a report prepared by the Department of Corrections.

Juvenile convictions within three years prior to the latest crime are figured into the formula that is used to determine what a defendant's sentence will be, according to a spokesman for the State Attorney's Office in Sanford. Florida appeal courts have also ruled that under certain circumstances juvenile convictions before that three year period can also be considered by the sentencing judge. An example would be a young adult with a history of particular type of crime — such as burglary — stretching back into the teen years. Such a history could be used to increase a sentence.

"A juvenile record does not disappear at age 18," the spokesman said.

Prior to reforms in the state sentencing laws which went into effect in 1984, judges were always told of a person criminal history as far back as it was known, the spokesman said.

While it's a common procedure in Florida to consider juvenile criminal records, federal officials in the state say juvenile records are usually considered when defendants are sentenced in federal court.

Steve Calvacca, assistant U.S. Attorney in Orlando, said most of the people they convict — those persons who have committed drug trafficking or white-collar crimes — usually do not have juvenile records. It is something that is not considered at the time of sentencing, he said.

The recommendations of the 400-page study include paying increased attention to juvenile court records, which are usually not available in adult court, focusing on evidence of serious drug use and giving career criminals longer prison sentences once they reappear in the criminal justice system.

The council, the main agency of the National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Engineering, conducted a two-year review of research on criminal activity patterns and found that only a small number of serious offenders can be identified through such factors.

But it recommended that the information be given greater weight in a wide range of criminal justice decisions including pretrial release, plea bargaining, sentencing and parole.

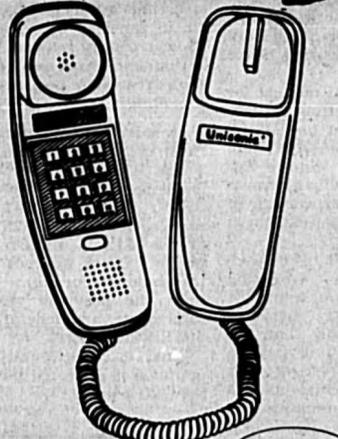

Since President Reagan took office in 1981, the Justice Department has been working to take a tougher line toward career criminals. The administration has backed policies including mandatory sentences and limiting parole.

Despite those efforts and a slight decline in the nation's crime rate, crime remains a serious problem in the United States, according to experts.

"Although widely studied, crime is one of the most elusive subjects of social science research as well as a major public policy issue," the report said. "Little definitive knowledge has been developed that could be applied to prevent crime or to develop efficient policies for reacting to crime."

Soviets Specify 3 Charges Against Daniloff, Wife Says

MOSCOW (UPI) — U.S. News and World Report correspondent Nicholas Daniloff has been charged with three counts of espionage, his wife said today, but he still believes the case will be solved diplomatically before it comes to trial.

Spokesmen at the White House and the State Department said late Tuesday a U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange set to begin Thursday may be cancelled as part of the official protest against the Kremlin's jailing of Daniloff.

Mrs. Daniloff visited her husband in his cell in Moscow's Lefortovo prison Tuesday.

She told reporters today that her husband said the formal indictment mentioned three specific charges. The first, that he "used his status as a foreign journalist to convey to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and Special Services of the U.S.A., information harmful to the security of the Soviet Union between 1982 and 1986."

She said the second count accused Daniloff of working with the CIA to "enlist or recruit" a Soviet citizen to spy against his country. The citizen was identified only as "Ramon."

Mrs. Daniloff said her husband had indeed met "Ramon," who was posing as a Russian Orthodox priest about two years ago, but broke off contact after he suspected Ramon was a KGB informant.

The third count is more general and simply reads: "Conducting other espionage activities."

"The third count is the catchall. It is so vague it is meaningless," she said.

Pinochet Announces Plebiscite

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The military government will hold a national plebiscite asking for new laws to combat rebel attacks like the ambush by suspected leftists on President Augusto Pinochet.

Gen. Pinochet, who was slightly injured in the attack Sunday night, made the announcement Tuesday during a seven-hour rally by tens of thousands of cheering supporters — most of them government employees — who marched through downtown Santiago.

Earlier Tuesday, police identified three government opponents who were dragged from their homes and shot to death, including an editor of a banned leftist weekly who was found with 10 bullets in the head.

The three men were seized hours after the government declared a nationwide state of siege Sunday night and began a crackdown on opponents in response to the assassination attempt by suspected leftists.

"This is the best demonstration against those who attack the government," Pinochet said at the rally that came two days before the 13th anniversary of the CIA-backed military coup that overthrew Marxist president Salvador Allende.

Liner Death Toll At 257

MOSCOW (UPI) — The official death toll in the sinking of the cruise ship Admiral Nakhimov rose to 257, and divers searched the submerged wreckage for 141 people still missing 10 days after the ship went down in the Black Sea.

A massive oil slick left by the 81-year-old luxury liner, which sank 8 miles off the Black Sea port of Novorossiysk, hampered efforts to recover bodies from the shipwreck, resting in 145 feet of water.

By Tuesday, 257 bodies had been recovered. The official news agency Tass said 141 people were still missing and presumed drowned.

Officials said 1,234 passengers and crew were aboard the 17,000-ton luxury liner when it collided with the 32,000-ton bulk grain carrier the Pytor Vasev on Aug. 31. All of the victims were passengers and crew members of the Admiral Nakhimov.

Funeral For Massacre Victims

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Istanbul's chief rabbi ordered that bloodstains on the walls and ceiling of the Neve Shalom synagogue where terrorists massacred 21 worshippers be allowed to remain for the victims' funeral.

Chief Rabbi David Asco was to preside today at a funeral service for 19 of the victims. Two others were buried Tuesday in separate services in Israel, and an Israeli official speaking at one of the services called for revenge against the terrorists responsible for the massacre.

Asco ordered that bloodstains — chilling reminders of the slaughter — remain for the funeral to give the world a lasting memory of what happened Saturday at the Neve Shalom — the synagogue whose name translates "the place of peace."

"We do not intend to clean the blood off the wall and the ceiling for the funeral service," said Erol Dilek, chairman of the synagogue council.

Israel-Egypt Talks Race Clock

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Egyptian and Israeli negotiators raced the clock to reach an agreement that would clear the way for a summit meeting this week between President Hosni Mubarak and Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres.

Negotiators held three rounds of talks Tuesday in an effort to reach agreement on submitting a dispute over the Taba resort area in the Sinai region to binding international arbitration.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Court Kills Award Against HRS

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A $7.95 million breach of contract award against the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services was overturned when an appeals court upheld the validity of a clause allowing the agency to reduce its contract.

The 1st District Court of Appeal Tuesday overturned the award against HRS and ruled that the state's largest agency had been forced to reduce its contract with Southern Energy, Ltd., by the Legislature's refusal to grant all the necessary funds.

A "subject to appropriation" provision allowing such a reduction was in the contract, the court said.

HRS signed a five-year contract with Guaranty Fuels, Inc. in 1982 to supply wood pellets for burning in boilers at Chattahoochee's Florida State Hospital. The company built an $8.5 million plant to supply the fuel pellets, then turned over all its rights in the project to Southern Energy.

The contract was revised in 1984 because of difficulties in converting the boilers to wood consumption. Southern Energy agreed to an amended contract, but only a few months later the Legislature directed HRS to begin looking for alternatives to the fuel.

Rehnquist Memo Blasted ERA ... Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 1970 memo written by Justice William Rehnquist, nominated to be the nation's 16th chief justice, said the Equal Rights Amendment would tear apart the American family and "turn holy wedlock into holy deadlock." It was disclosed today.

Rehnquist, whose nomination goes before the Senate for debate Wednesday, told the White House in the memo that the ERA was "a grave threat to American family life," and would wipe out the "distinction" between men and women.

A copy of the nine page memo was obtained by National Public Radio.

NPR said Rehnquist wrote the memo in March 1970 for the White House, but said it was unclear whether someone had asked Rehnquist for the position or whether he was stating his own views.

NPR's legal affairs reporter Nina Totenberg reported today the Rehnquist memo said, "If a husband decides to move from Boston to Chicago, the wife is legally obligated to accompany him."

But the memo went on to say that the ERA "would leave both parties with a power to decide this question, with a result which could indeed ... turn holy wedlock into holy deadlock."

The memo also said that passage of the ERA would result in a "sure redirection in the importance of the family unit, with eventual elimination of that unit" and would "hasten the dissolution of the family."

The ERA had been ratified by 35 of 38 states needed for passage to become a constitutional amendment. But in 1981, a federal judge in Idaho ruled Congress had violated the Constitution by extending the ratification deadline to June 1982. Five states voted later to rescind their resolutions.

The memo is the latest in the controversy surrounding Rehnquist's nomination to be chief justice.

Rehnquist, a Supreme Court justice since 1971, has run into trouble over charges he was insensitive to the rights of women and minorities and supported segregation.

Last month, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved his nomination on a 13-6 vote.

A bitter floor fight is expected when the Senate takes up Rehnquist's nomination. Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas said he hoped to have a vote on the nomination by the end of the week.

The Senate is also expected to vote on the nomination of federal appeals court Judge Antonin Scalia to become associate justice.

plenic shelter at the Central Florida Zoo. The county's Medicaid and indigent care program is to get $850,000.

The county lost $1.3 million in federal revenue sharing money, and a shortfall in expected revenue from a special penny sales tax to fund the jail expansion and court house renovation mean the two projects will have to get extra cash from both the old and the new budget. Of this, $1.1 million came out of the 1985-86 budget and $2.3 million will be spent from the 1986-87 budget. The jail expansion will cost $14 million by completion, and the court house renovation will total $2.9 million.

Sturm indicated progress has been made on improving the county tax rate situation. When he took office eight years ago, he said the county's tax rate was $6.60 per $1,000 of property valuation. The proposed rate is $2.00 per $1,000 lower than that rate, even though the county has had to provide central services for 90,000 new residents.

Comments representative of to mood of the hostile taxpayers in the audience came from Harry Smith of Longwood.

"The budget drives dollars out of my pocket. Someplace, it (the budget amount) has to come down," Smith said.

"I can't walk out to the taxpayers when I need money," he continued. "I have to go out and earn it, and that hurts."

"I have no intention of re-electing someone who is responsible for taking dollars out of my pockets," Smith said to Sturm.

The audience's cheer for Smith's comments turned to gasps when Sturm replied, "And I hope you would vote us back in on the overall good job we're doing, and (my) eight year's experience."

Another resident, Charles Smoyer blamed county administrator Ken Hooper for the hike.

"The county administrator preaches raise taxes, raise taxes, so the commission can blame the administrator. I think we should eliminate the county administrator and the staff. I don't think you people are doing your job," he said.

Steve DeMino, an investment consultant, said, "Property values have increased because you have a hard working commission. The budget is balanced at a time when 277 banks will fail in America this year." The 15-year county resident pointed to Houston, Texas as an example of an area where property values are falling.

An older woman sitting behind DeMino told him to "go back to Texas. We don't need you here." Audience members jeered.

The property taxes are expected to make up 25 percent of the $124.5 million county budget. Other sources include the balance brought forward from the previous year, plus local, state, and federal sources and fund transfers.

Final tax rate and budget approval is expected during the Sept. 23 hearing.

not recall the last time commissioners declined a request from a citizen's board member who requested reappointment. Farr added, however, he feels the move for new members should extend itself to all Sanford advisory boards, not just the Authority.

"I think new input on our boards will be very beneficial," Farr said. "I believe very much in participation government; we'll have a fuller extent of this through new board members."

Mrs. Schilke was approached by Sanford Airport Aviation Director J.S. "Red" Cleveland two weeks ago in regard to her possible appointment.

She told him last week she would accept a spot if one was offered.

Both she and Farr said they did not talk about her recommendation.

Farr said his recommendation was for no other reason than Mrs. Schilke's being "a very sharp business woman; and I know these abilities will be an asset to the Authority. I didn't even consider the other thing (the chamber spot) as having anything at all to do with this."

Mrs. Schilke concurred. "I don't see the two matters as being related at all," she said. "I think Mr. Farr has enough integrity that he would not expect to receive a favor in return for this."

Farr also acknowledged that Cleveland was the catalyst for Mrs. Schilke's appointment, although he declined to say who had told him Cleveland wanted her for the spot.

Farr said he had not contacted Mrs. Schilke before proposing her name at Monday's commission meeting "because I knew she would accept it (the appointment)." He said he had that "on very reliable information."

When contacted, Cleveland said "yes, I asked Mrs. Schilke if she was interested in the appointment."

When asked why he wanted her for the spot, Cleveland said Mrs. Schilke "is a very successful business lady; that's the only reason I care to discuss."

He added, however, the move was not prompted by dissatisfaction with Baker or Rosemond.

"This is not a derogatory reflection on them," Cleveland said. "They served very well and will be missed." The Authority board members are not paid. It is a voluntary position.

All city commissioners expressed the same sentiments Monday.

Farr's recommendations for the appointments of Mrs. Schilke and Knight were supported by Mayor Bettye Smith and Commissioner Bob Thomas. Commissioner Milton Smith supported the reappointments of Baker and Rosemond, while Commissioner John Mercer abstained from voting because he's a member of the Airport Authority.

Both Mayor Smith and Thomas said they agreed with Farr's call for new citizen board members.

Milton Smith called for maintaining the Authority's status quo. "I firmly believe things shouldn't be changed if they're going well," Smith said. "As long as they're serving properly, I see no reason they shouldn't continue serving."

proposed zoning general, a classification which encourages homes on five acre lots, with a one-acre minimum. The requested Planned Unit Development for the extension calls for single family units only, and the comprehensive plan policy is to have lots no smaller than one acre in the PUD.

Area homeowners complained that the plans for 280 of the 390 homes to be built on half acre lots is not consistent with the character of the community. In addition, an environmentalist group, Friends of the Wekiva, said run-off from the site could impact the water quality of the river.

At that hearing, Anderson countered that the quality of the Heathrow homes would have a positive effect on the area. He said price range of the homes starts at $250,000.

Anderson said another factor in withdrawing the request is an appeal by another developer's request for a Development of Regional Impact for a 573-acre, 1,600-home project known as The Plantation north of Heathrow and south of State Road 46.

The Plantation's request was denied because the county commission's opinion is that the project requires a comprehensive plan change, a county official said. The developers say it does not require a comp plan change, according to a county attorney's office spokesman. The Plantation has reportedly filed an appeal with the state Cabinet, and the decision on the appeal could effect the Heathrow course of action, Anderson said.

Anderson said he did not know if the expansion request would be resubmitted in time for the Oct. 31 deadline for spring 1987 comp plan amendment requests.

Other amendment requests withdrawn include:

● Lake Pickett Downs request for designation change from general rural to low density residential use for 87 acres south of Chuluota on Ft. Christmas Rd. The county planning staff and the planning and zoning board had recommended denial.

● Richland Properties requests for designation changes for two parcels of about 19 acres each at the intersection of SR 434 and Chapman Rd. One request was to change from general rural to high density residential use potential; the other from general rural to commercial use potential. The county planning staff had recommended denial. The request was also withdrawn from planning and zoning consideration.

● Overstreet Investment Corporation's request for designation change from low intensity urban to commercial use for 10 acres at the intersection of Raven Street and U.S. Highway 17-92. The county planning staff had recommended denial, the and the request was withdrawn from planning and zoning consideration.

● Pat Wagner's request for designation change from low density residential to low intensity commercial use for one lot north of the Orange-Seminole county line on Maitland Ave. The request was also withdrawn from the county planning staff and planning and zoning board consideration.

● Polly Hutchins' request for designation change from general rural to commercial use for 20 acres at the intersection of State Road 84 and Old Monroe Rd. The request was also withdrawn from the county planning staff and planning and zoning board consideration.

Items rescheduled from Monday night to an Oct. 14 hearing date include 17 south Seminole County Maitland Ave. property owners, who would like the option to request zoning changes to allow for conversion of their homes to offices. Office use is permitted under medium density residential designation in the comp plan. The 17 properties are now residentially zoned as low density residential. East south central and south core area requests were also moved to Oct. 14.

Reset for Oct. 28 hearings are other south core requests, along with those in the south central, southwest, and northwest areas.

20 In Seminole Become Merit Scholarship Semifinalists

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Twenty high school students in Seminole County are among 15,000 students nationwide to be named semifinalists in the 1987 Merit Scholarship competition.

"I was really proud of the eight that got it," said Lake Mary High School Principal Don Reynolds. Lake Mary earned the greatest number of semifinalist slots among schools in Seminole County, followed by Lake Brantley High School, which earned seven.

The semifinalists will have an opportunity to advance in the 1987 competition. About 6,000 merit scholarships, worth over $21 million, will be awarded, according to National Merit Scholarship Corp. spokesman Nancy C. Giles.

To be considered for Merit Scholarships, she said, the semifinalists have to document high academic performance, be endorsed and recommended by their high schools, take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and submit information about their school, community activities, personal interests and goals. About 90 percent of 13,500 of the semifinalists are expected to become finalists, Ms. Giles said.

The students became semifinalists by taking tests in their junior year.

"It's so competitive. And such a fine line among the kids. It's incredible," Reynolds said. He said three more Lake Mary students missed the cut by one point and five to seven more kids were in the same intellectual group at the school.

The score difference between those who were named and not was the difference between having a good day or a bad day when the test was taken, he said.

"It gets harder every year. The competition is getting keener throughout the state.

"It's a major achievement. Its the all-American list of education," Reynolds said.

Semifinalists in Seminole County were:

Lake Mary High School

Vaño Chu, Robert P. Ferris, Gregory J. Fluett, Dawn C. Habel, Anna C. Hernandez, Debra A. Horner, Maria A. Lazar, and E. David Nicholson.

Landon Celebrates 99th Birthday

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Alf Landon, the elder statesman of the Grand Old Party, celebrated his 99th birthday with a stream of congratulatory messages from well-wishers, including a telegram and phone call from President Reagan.

Landon — the 1936 Republican presidential nominee defeated by Franklin Delano Roosevelt — met on the front porch of his Old South-style mansion Tuesday with 40 former pupils of the middle school named for him. The school was closed this year because of budget constraints.

Landon's daughter, Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., said the number of calls and telegrams was unusually large this year.

Since the early 1970s, children from the school have trekked the mile to Landon's home in the rolling hills of western Topeka to sing "Happy Birthday," present Landon with a cake and gifts and listen to his sage words of advice.

"I never forget this part of the celebration," Landon said as he took a swipe at the vanilla icing on a cake given him by the students. "I'll be thinking of this for the rest of the day."

Despite Landon's political retirement 50 years ago, he has remained a revered member of his party.

Disfigured Woman Shoots Student Who Burned Her, Then Kills Self

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A woman committed suicide after bursting into a typing class at a vocational training school and fatally shooting a student she said had set her fire, police say.

Cindy Piccot, 21, shot and killed Shamette Allen, 20, as about 50 classmates watched at the Coastal Training Institute late Monday. She then fired a single bullet into her chest, police spokesman John Marie said.

Piccot, who was disfigured with burn scars, told the class, "This is what she did to me and I want to die," when she burst into the fourth-floor classroom as the typing teacher was taking roll, Marie said.

She then told the class Allen had doused her with gasoline nine months earlier and set her ablaze.

"She was horribly scared," Marie said. "She only had a small part of an ear left and her face and forearms were badly scarred."

Allen was charged in 1985 with pouring gasoline over Piccot and setting her on fire during an argument, Marie said. Allen was never prosecuted on the charge.

Piccot entered the classroom, pulled a .38-caliber handgun from a paper bag and began shooting at Allen, Marie said.

"I saw her shoot the girl two or three times," said fellow student Shannon Evans, 17. "I ran for the door and lost my shoes running out."

Another student, Clifton Jones, said the classroom turned into chaos when the shooting began.

"All I know is she was shooting and I got up out of the room so I wouldn't get shot," he said. "She told everybody to stay still or she was going to start shooting. Everybody started running."

Senator Garn Kidney Donor For Daughter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, says he is "very happy and proud" to donate a kidney to his daughter, who suffers from progressive kidney failure due to diabetes.

Garn was scheduled to undergo surgery at Georgetown University Hospital today.

"I am very happy and proud to be the donor," Garn, 53, said in a statement Tuesday. "Her mother carried her for nine months, and I'm honored to give her part of me."

Transplant surgery for Susan Garn Horne, 27, of Vienna, Va., was deemed necessary because her condition has worsened in recent months.

"I decided several months ago that, if it became necessary for someone in my family to donate a kidney to her, I would prefer to be the donor," said Garn, who flew aboard the space shuttle Discovery in April 1985.

"If by some chance Sue rejects my kidney ... she will have two brothers in reserve as donors," he added.

"In a single month our new hot water system saves enough money to pay for three months of outdoor lighting. But it was FPL who told us about it."

And for good reason. FPL is encouraging everybody to manage their energy efficiently because lowering peak energy demand delays the need for new power plants — an expense everyone must share.

A heat-recovery water heating system takes exhausted heat from your central air conditioning system or heat pump and uses it to heat your water. And it can cut your water heating costs up to 50%. The best time to have it installed is when you get a new air-conditioning system or when you service your existing one.

To encourage you to make this energy-saving improvement, we'll even pay part of the cost. But first, we'll send an energy specialist to your home to see if a heat-recovery unit is right for you.

New Lake Brantley Coach Likes Hitters, Stresses Positive Attitude

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

First-year coach Stephanie Glance isn't exactly ready to start singing welcome to the boom town, but she believes the Lake Brantley Lady Patriots can be a strong volleyball team in 1986.

Brantley opens the season today at 4 at Apopka, and has its home opener Thursday at 4:30 against DeLand at Lake Brantley High.

Glance takes over a team that is young for the most part but has some good returning players and some power on the front row.

"We have a very positive outlook for the season," Glance said. "The girls have looked pretty strong in practice and we have a couple of good powerful hitters."

Glance, who will be assisted by Ann Mallory, is a 1986 Rollins College graduate and a standout in volleyball, basketball and softball for the Lady Tars. Glance, an English teacher, was an All-America for Rollins in basketball.

'We have a very positive outlook for the season. The girls have looked pretty strong in practice and we have a couple of good powerful hitters.'

— Stephanie Glance

The top returning front row players for the Lady Patriots are sophomores Dawn Gebhart and Pam Wittig. Gebhart was the top player on the team as a freshman a year ago and excels at all aspects of the game. Wittig primarily played on the front row a year ago but Glance said she will be playing all the way around this year.

The only senior in the starting lineup is Shelly Wittig who is the most experienced setter on the team and also will do some hitting. Shelly Wittig, along with Gebhart and Pam Wittig, are the only returning players from last year's varsity team.

Also in the Lady Patriots starting lineup are junior Renee Upson, sophomore Maryann Rodriguez and junior Julie DeRusso. All are good defensive players and Rodriguez will also be called on to do some setting.

DeRusso, one of the top soccer players in the state, is in her first year of volleyball but Glance said she already has developed the skills to put her in the starting lineup.

"She's a real good athlete and has caught on quickly," Glance said of DeRusso. "Her strongest part of the game right now is on defense."

The only freshman on the varsity squad is Jeanne Seidel and Glance said she will play quite a bit. Bench strength is provided by senior Karen Hamlett, junior Leslie Schroeffel and sophomores Dana Bush and Jennifer Rippard.

The Lady Patriots figure to be contenders in the Seminole Athletic Conference this season as no team seems to be as dominant as Lyman was a year ago. Oviedo is perhaps the most experienced team in the conference, which is in its second year of existence, but no team can really be counted out at this point.

The young Brantley team will have plenty of games under its belt before the SAC slate begins. The Lady Patriots have five non-conference games and one tournament before opening the SAC schedule on Sept. 30 against Lake Mary.

"I tried to schedule as many non-conference games as possible," Glance said. "We want to have some experience and be ready for the conference."

With only two seniors on the squad, don't look for Glance to be singing the blues in the future either.

"I'm hoping to have a good season this year and look forward to the next couple of seasons," Glance said. "It was good that I could come in when the team was real young. I think it can develop into a real well-rounded team."

Houston Squashes Reds, 9-2

United Press International

In 1979, the Houston Astros led the National League West by 10 games, and lost the division to the Cincinnati Reds, fulfilling Tom Seaver's prophecy.

Payback was a long time coming, but Tuesday the Astros gained the second double-digit divisional lead in their 25-year history by trouncing the second-place Reds, 9-2.

"That was the year Tom Seaver said we would fall like a lead balloon," said Astros catcher Alan Ashby, one of five players remaining from the 1979 team that collapsed. "But you have to remember, that (the 1979 10-game lead) was on July 4th, and this is September 9th. I don't think we'll fall like a lead balloon this year."

Pitching has precluded any Astros' collapse this season. Tuesday, Mike Scott improved to 16-9 struck out seven in eight innings without a walk. He leads the major leagues with 260. In two nights, Nolan Ryan and Scott limited the Reds to eight hits in 14 innings.

"They have a predominately right-handed lineup," Houston Manager Hal Lanier said. "But when those two are pitching like they have, they're pretty tough to beat."

Billy Hatcher and Kevin Bass each had three hits.

"Anything can happen," said Parker, a 14-year veteran. "Baseball's a funny game. There have been lots of times when a team loses nine of ten, and other teams win ten straight. We just need to play consistently as hard

Anthony Laszalic was sailing along with a 5-0 record last year when his career took a detour with a near-fatal traffic accident.

After a summer of rehabilitation, Laszalic is now on the road to recovery and said he hasn't lost any of his baseball skills.

Laszalic: It's Like Starting A Second Life

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

With a 5-0 pitching record and a 1.95 earned run average, Anthony Laszalic was having an all-state kind of a season last spring for the Lake Mary Rams. The Rams were cruising along with an unbeaten record and the state's top ranking in the poll.

Baseball was one of the biggest things in Laszalic's life at that time as, along with his unbeaten pitching record and low ERA, Laszalic had 37 strikeouts and had a .283 batting average with four doubles and eight RBIs. A star since his days in the Altamonte Springs Little League, the 16-year-old junior was on top of the world.

Laszalic's all-state season took a detour Friday, March 14, however. A passenger in a car driven by teammate Mike Pinckes, Laszalic's dream season was shattered in a tragic automobile accident that nearly took his life and that of another Lake Mary student.

Rehabilitation

Laszalic, now a senior at Lake Mary High, is continuing to pick up the pieces and reconstruct his life after suffering partial brain damage to the motor area of his brain. He's back in school and eager to get back on the baseball field this spring.

"I went through a lot but I'm trying to get back to normal," Laszalic said. "I'm working on getting my grades up and getting ready for baseball."

On the night of the accident, just after the Rams had completed another successful week, Laszalic's Camaro, being driven by Pinckes, smashed into a telephone pole on Longwood-Markham Road, according to the police report. Laszalic said he was thrown through the rear window and suffered a fractured skull.

Coaches Lack Depth But Will Bank On Quality Of Athletes

By Mark Blythe
Special to the Herald

The 1986 swim season is rapidly approaching and the Seminole County coaches are looking for good things from their squads. Some coaches say they are lacking depth but are banking on the quality of their athletes to pull them through.

Lake Mary opens its season tonight with a quadrangular meet at 7 at the Sharidan Aquatic Club against Bishop Moore, Lake Howell and Trinity Prep. Lyman and Lake Brantley will compete in the Justus Relay Carnival Saturday at the Justus Aquatic Club. No schedules have been received for Seminole and Oviedo.

The girls' favorite right now is Lake Brantley as the Lady Patriots lost nothing from a team which finished fifth in the state meet last year. In the boys, Lyman holds a slim lead and Lake Mary may be a surprise team this year.

Clay Parnell will take his Lady Patriots team into the season ranked high in the conference, district, and state. "We haven't lost anything from last year, we've only added more," he said.

Brantley will be led by returners Kathy Spiller, Meg Bonella, Nanda Davis, Kristen Pauley, Amy Pement, Lisa Moon, Michelle Rossmiller, Christy Bridgewater and Karl Kosich. "We'll have an experienced team and we're looking for good things," Parnell said.

The Lake Brantley boys team won't be large but is looking to make a strong showing in their competition. "We're small in quantity, but we make it up in quality," said Parnell. "We'll be solid."

Returnees to the Patriots will be Russ Glead, Pat McGlaughlin, John Bryant, Scott Rowe, Hernar, Espinosa, and a new transfer that Parnell is expecting to do well Scott Bridges. "Bridges comes from North Carolina and has been looking strong in practice."

Lyman High will be looking to defend its conference titles this year as coach Don Clark has been training his athletes rigorously. "We've been working extremely hard in practice," he said. "We've lost a couple of people but we're not complaining. We want to win and the kids that have been here are doing a great job."

Swimming

Leading his girls team will be Karen Long, Chrissy Metzendorf, Cindy Winslow, Katie Lindenfeld, and Danna Jaffin.

Leading the way for the boys will be returning state champion Charlie Rose, and state finalist Tom Mooney, plus Nick Radkewich, Chuck Reighaus, and Sam Rennard.

Clark said he believes Lake Mary has a good shot of staying with Lyman in the conference race. "With the transfers they got over the summer they will be tough, though," he said.

Lake Mary will be looking for strong finishes from both their squads as Walt Morgan and first-year coach Marguerite Terwilliger will team up and help each squad.

For the Rams girls, top returnees will be Tia Harding, Alice Reese, Patti Ames, Elisa Mahr, Lesa Dittmer, Ingrid DeGrag, Amy Cooper, Angie Odom, Kelly Wise, Sandy Warren coming in from Lyman, Jenny Lee, and Kara Deans.

The boys are looked at as a possible contender and Morgan feels they can be. "They're going to have to work hard, and I'm looking forward to them doing well this season," he said.

Leading the squad will be Doug Dittmer, Matt Barron, David Nicholson, Joe Rosser, Scott Vincent, Jeff Cook, David Purkeson, Jaime Bogdanowski, Rob Baker, Steve Kostowicz, Karl Kuchma, and Wes Simecek. Jaime and Staci Bojanowski, Seminole's top swimmers a year ago, have transferred to Lake Mary.

Seminole coach Donalyn Knight has been coping with a problem as she and her team have to practice at 4:30 a.m. before school at the Sanora pool in Sanford. "I'm proud of the members who have dedicated themselves to be here," Knights said. "We would have a lot more swimmers if we were able to practice after school, but we have our share of quality athletes."

The boys team will be led this year by Kirby Swinehart, Scott Lewis, David Higginbotham, and Matt Chock are all returnees. The Lady Seminoles will be helped out by some transfers and freshmen.

Returnees will be Kristy Keeling, Allison Willink, Mindy Bogue, and Chris Sparrow.

Promising newcomers to the squad will be Shannon Rivers from Alaska and Cissy Burgess, sister of former Seminole standout Chuck Burgess.

Lake Howell will have another large squad this year as coach Dwain Picou is looking for improvement on last season. "We look much stronger than we did a year ago, we have a big team and hope we can put things together."

Returnees for the boys will be Chris Cotter, Eric Cotter, Brent Shaw, Tom Frick, and Steve Rose. For the Lady Silver Hawks it will be Stephanie Trolana, Jill Jennings, Kathy Lawlor, and Sara Stanberry.

Oviedo coach Jeanne Michaud is not real sure of what to expect in her first year. Oviedo was short on numbers last year and Michaud's first priority is to beef up the attendance.

Tickets, Yardage Will Be Tough For Sooners-'Canes

By Ira Kaufman
UPI Sports Writer

It will be very tough to get a ticket to the Orange Bowl for the Sept. 27 showdown between Oklahoma and Miami. It will be even tougher to drive the length of the field.

The Sooners, 1-0, face Minnesota at home Sept. 20 before traveling to Florida, where meteorologists declare it is officially Hurricane season. Miami, 2-0, meets Texas Tech Saturday in its home opener and the Hurricanes will have two weeks to prepare for Oklahoma. Both teams have displayed overpowering defenses against quality opponents.

"I thought we played well and we may have played the best team in the nation," said Florida linebacker Scott Armstrong Saturday after a 23-15 loss to the Hurricanes. "They had some breaks but they deserved to win."

Led by the fierce inside rush of 285-pound tackle Jerome Brown, the Southeast Defense Player of the Week, Miami sacked Kerwin Bell six times and limited a powerful Gator attack to 2.72 yards per offensive play.

The Sooners were even more impressive in a 38-3 rout of a UCLA team favored to win the Pacific-10 Conference. Despite the loss of All-America nose tackle Tony Casillas and standup end Kevin Murphy from the nation's No. 1 defense, Oklahoma limited the Bruins to 155 total yards and intercepted Matt Stevens five times.

Sooner quarterback Jamelle Holloway ran for 83 yards but completed just 1-of-6 passes and was intercepted twice. If Miami can contain Oklahoma's Wishbone, Holloway will find it very difficult to escape Miami's pass rush.

Football

North Carolina and Virginia opened impressively in the Atlantic Coast Conference and Maryland could face a stiff challenge as the Terrapins pursue a fourth straight conference crown.

The Tar Heels, who play host to the Terrapins Nov. 1, trounced The Citadel 45-14 as sophomore Derrick Fenner rushed for 216 yards and two touchdowns. North Carolina rolled up 401 yards on the ground to tune up for Saturday's game at Kansas.

Virginia mauled South Carolina's defense for 378 yards in the opening half en route to a 30-20 triumph. Don Majkowski threw for 271 yards and two TDs as the Cavaliers finished with 539 yards in total offense. Maryland, 6-0 in the ACC last season, will play at Virginia Nov. 28.

"We did a good job of learning the South Carolina defense," said Majkowski. "I was happy with the way I called audibles. We burned them a couple of times when we changed plays at the line."

Baylor is expected to challenge for the Southwest Conference title on the strength of a stingy secondary, but Wyoming's Scott Runyan ripped the Bears for 343 yards and three TDs Saturday in Baylor's 31-28 triumph.

Safety Thomas Everett's second interception of the game, a theft at midfield with 89 seconds remaining, stopped Wyoming's final drive as Runyan completed 28-of-53 passes.

Angels' Fall Blossom Quiets Early Skeptics

United Press International
The California Angels blossomed in the second half of the season and are running away with the American League West title while converting early-season skeptics.

The latest to believe are the Cleveland Indians, who lost to California 8-1 Tuesday night. "This isn't the same team we beat four out of six times (prior to the All-Star break)," Indians outfielder Joe Carter said. "Earlier, it seemed the Angels were wondering if they would be able to win."

"Things have changed. They don't just hope they can win, they know it and that's why they're succeeding."

The triumph gave the Angels and 8 1/2-game lead over the Texas Rangers in the AL West. The Angels, 79-58, have won three straight games and 12 of their last 14 in breaking the race open. Kirk McCaskill, 16-7, fashioned a six-hitter while striking out seven and walking two in pitching his 10th complete game. The right-hander, who lost his shutout bid on Julio Franco's sacrifice fly in the sixth, has won his last four decisions.

Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales is certain the Angels have won the West. "McCaskill and (pitcher Mike) Witt are two of the main reasons the Angels are going to win the division," he said.

California scored two runs in the first inning without getting a hit. Gary Pettis led off with a walk, stole his 38th base and took third on Wally Joyner's groundout. Brian Downing walked and took second on Reggie Jackson's groundout as Pettis held at third.

Pettis scored and Downing went to third on a passed ball before Doug DeCinces was hit by a pitch. Second baseman Tony Bernazard then bobbled Ruppert Jones' grounder, allowing Downing to score.

After DeCinces and Jones advanced on Cantidotti's balk, Bobby Grich walked to load the bases before Dick Schofield flied out to end the inning.

"That was bizarre," said California Manager Gene Mauch. "Eight guys went to the plate and none got hits. That was luck. But McCaskill wasn't luck. He pitched great."

The Angels made it 4-0 in the second on Joyner's RBI double and Jackson's run-scoring single. California broke the game open with three runs in the seventh and capped the scoring on Bob Boone's double-play groundout in the ninth.

"This is an extra-confident team," said loser Tom Cantidotti, 13-11. "They're getting timely hitting, and they're patient at the plate."

Red Sox 7, Orioles 5
At Baltimore, Marty Barrett capped a three-run seventh inning with a two-run double, and Dwight Evans hit two homers to help Boston extend its winning streak to 10 games. Al Nipper improved to 9-9 and Joe Sambito got the last two outs for his 12th save. Rich Bordi, 5-3, took the loss.

Yankees 3, Blue Jays 1

Jordan: Don't Do Something Stupid, Like Drugs, Alcohol

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Chicago Bulls superstar Michael Jordan told a group of cheering students Tuesday not to "do something stupid like drugs and alcohol," saying he and other athletes want to prevent tragedies like the death of Len Bias.

New Jersey Nets forward Buck Williams and former Houston Rockets guard John Lucas joined Jordan to tour 12 Knoxville schools, telling students not to foul out on drugs.

Duke alumnus and San Antonio Spurs draft pick Johnny Dawkins joined the three later for an appearance at a youth basketball tournament.

Jordan called Bias' death, "very tragic, very sad," saying dreams and talent all "ended in one big mistake."

"I know a lot of you think we are here to preach to you, sound like your mother," Jordan told students at Inner-city Austin-East High School. "We're not here to preach to you. We're just here to try to help you out."

"You've lived only one-fourth of your life. You've got three-fourths of your life to go. Do you miss out on that because you did something stupid like drugs and alcohol?" said Jordan, who led the North Carolina to a 1982 NCAA championship.

Brooks' TD Lifts Oviedo in OT

Tony Brooks scored on a three-yard run in the second overtime to lift Oviedo past St. Cloud, 6-0, in the freshman football opener for both teams Tuesday night at St. Cloud.

Oviedo, 1-0, returns to action Monday, Sept. 22 with a game at Kissimmee against Osceola.

Coach John Horn said a tough defense led by Brooks, Kevin Gutch and the Diaz brothers — Hector and Frank — kept St. Cloud in check. "Hector and Frank were in their backfield all night," Horn said.

Brooks led the Lions with 35 yards while John Coombs chipped in 25. Horn said quarterback Brian Macinnis did a "super job" job of handling the ball during the game-long rain.

Rinker said Joe Torre, Hoyt Wilhelm and Bucky Dent are just a few of the past greats who will be on hand. Call 290-5670 to register or for information regarding the session.

Wilkinson: Consistency Not Enough

GASTONIA, N.C. (UPI) — Tim Wilkinson, quarterfinalist in this year's U.S. Open, says he's sharpening the weapons needed to carve himself a slot among the top tennis players in the world.

"My consistency has worked against anybody outside the top 10, but to beat anyone in the top 10 — and this showed up when I played (Stefan) Edberg — consistency isn't enough," Wilkinson said Tuesday.

"To beat those guys, you've got to force them with a weapon in your game — something that they'll have to steer away from, something that will mess up their game."

Wilkinson, 26, was the last remaining American in this year's Open, after defeating fifth-seeded Yannick Noah of France and Andrei Chesnokov of the Soviet Union. Wilkinson lost to Edberg in the quarterfinals.

Wilkinson said he was a bit surprised, but not at all shocked, by his Open performance.

"I don't want to call myself a major contender or anything like that, but I can definitely keep up this level of play," said Wilkinson, ranked No. 26 in the world.

"It's not like I was hitting unbelievable shots that just happened to be going in that day. I was playing within myself at the Open. It wasn't like I was saying, 'Oh God, this is going to end at any day.'"

Wilkinson's hustling style — complete with dives on the court — and victory over a Soviet player endeared him to the Open crowd and earned him some half dozen nicknames, including "Rambo" and "Dr. Dirt."
"I like 'Dr. Dirt' best," he said. "I call my wife 'Mrs. Dirt.'"

An Asheville native, Wilkinson said he is a laid-back, polite Southerner off the court. But on the court he gets a gleam in his eye, an intensity in his spirit and an aggressiveness that sends him hurling about the court.

Often sporting a baseball hat and an impish grin, Wilkinson seems to understand the psyche of the fans. He relishes their support but knows they can be fickle.

"I've been around a long time and I know that people like the top four or five guys," he said. "It's not their fault I wasn't ranked 4 or 5. It's my fault."

Laszaic

"It's an experience that people just don't want to go through," Laszaic said. "It's like you had a life before, and now you have to start all over again. It's like starting a second life."

Laszaic remained in intensive care for quite some time and he was finally released from the hospital the last month of school. He received treatment for his injuries right up until Aug. 20.

As the Rams continued to march to the state tournament, Laszaic was relegated to a spectator's role. A fierce competitor, it was tough for him to sit and watch.

"It was really hard at first," Laszaic continued. "I just sat there and always said, 'why me?' It's a totally scary thing thinking if you're going to make it or not and if you're ever going to be the same again."

Laszaic sat in the dugout during the state tournament and was introduced with the team before the semifinal and final games. Lake Mary wound up with a second-place finish, losing the title game to Gonzalez Tate.

It was a loss that hit Laszaic hard, leaving him in tears next to the Lake Mary bus after the game. "No one took it harder than Anthony," coach Allen Tuttle said. "It really upset him that we lost and he was helpless to do anything about it."

Although he said mentally he is not yet at 100 percent, Laszaic and friends said his physical condition is excellent. Over the summer, Laszaic said he attended the Florida State Baseball Camp and a tryout camp held by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"It (accident) didn't hurt me as far as playing baseball goes," Laszaic said. "Actually, it only made me go out and try harder to prove to people I could still play."

One of Laszaic's best friends, Lake Mary senior and baseball teammate Ryan Lisle, said Laszaic is physically stronger now than he was last year.

"Right now, he's bigger and stronger than ever," Lisle said. "When he got out of the hospital, he realized what he almost lost and now he's working even harder to accomplish what he wants."

"He still has a little way to go mentally," Lisle added. "But that will come within another half a year. He's really trying hard and never gets discouraged. He knows it will take time to come back."

During his time in the hospital, Laszaic missed nine weeks of school and he said at the moment schoolwork is his number one priority.

"School used to be a little easier for me," Laszaic said. "Now I have to work harder. It takes me longer to study for tests. But I'm working really hard to keep my grades up. It's really important to me."

"(Mentally) the accident changed me a little," Laszaic added. "I don't think I'm totally at full peak. I'm at about 90 percent and I'm working hard to get back to normal."

Laszaic will tune up for the upcoming season by playing in a fall league in Orlando beginning next week.

"I watched him (Laszaic) pitch this summer a couple of times," Tuttle said. "And other than getting his timing back, he hasn't lost anything physically."

Laszaic said his goals are his grades and the upcoming baseball season which he says could be another banner year for the Rams.

"With me and (Steve) Shakar coming back and (Sean) Flaherty in relief we'll have a good pitching staff," Laszaic said. "And we'll have a tough defense and some good sticks so I think we have a shot at going to the state tournament again. I dream about getting drafted (by the major leagues)."

A dream which almost ended March 14.

Pistons Won't Pay

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons are withholding a rental payment of about $200,000 to the Pontiac Silverdome because of a problem with arrangements for court-side seating.

The Pistons won't pay any more rent until Silverdome managers agree to speed up game-day installation and disassembly of about 1,500 new seats built last year at the team's expense, team executive director Thomas Wilson said.

The final third of the team's $600,000 annual rent normally is made in early July, Wilson said.

The new seats were initially supposed to be ready for the start of last season, Wilson said. The team, he said, lost more than $100,000 because they weren't completed until December.

The Pistons also were billed more than $90,000 to pay for a crane and crew to correct problems with the mechanism used to take down and move the new seats, Wilson said.

BRIEFER

Jacobs, Pohlad To Sue Lynn

Businessman Irwin Jacobs and Minnesota Twins owner Carl Pohlad have stepped up their efforts to gain control of the Minnesota Vikings with a plan to sue General Manager Mike Lynn and two other board members, a published report said Tuesday. The St. Paul Pioneer Press and Dispatch reported that Jacobs and Pohlad would file suit Tuesday against Lynn and board members John Skoglund and Jack Steele, accusing them of abusing corporate funds.

John Wathan, a player or coach in the Kansas City Royals organization since 1971, has been named next season's manager of the Omaha Royals of the American Association. A court-side seating problem has prompted the Detroit Pistons to withhold about $200,000 in rent to the Pontiac Silverdome.

Thomas Wilson, Pistons' executive director, said the team won't pay any more rent until Silverdome managers agree to speed up game-day installation and disassembly of about 1,500 new seats built last year at the team's expense.

Jorg Muller of Switzerland won the prologue stage — an individual time trial race — of the Tour of Catalonia in Spain.

The St. Louis Blues have signed center Doug Gilmour, the NHL's leading scorer in this year's Stanley Cup playoffs, to a multi-year contract. Gilmour, 23, scored nine goals and 12 assists in the playoffs to help the Blues reach the Campbell Conference final against the Calgary Flames.

Landry: Herschel's Heroics Will Ignite Title Drive

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday Herschel Walker's opening-night heroics will act as a catalyst in the team's bid to win a second straight division title.

Walker, in his first NFL game, twice rallied the Cowboys in the second half, including the winning touchdown with 1:16 to play on a 10-yard run through the middle of the New York Giants defense.

"It was important to the whole team that Herschel did what he did," Landry said 12 hours after the Cowboys had completed their 31-28 victory over the Giants. "We all knew that he would do things like this in time. But to do it that quickly opens the eyes of all the other players."

"Players react positively when they see new players come in and do something special. They see that there is that extra ingredient available to get over the hump. When Eric Dickerson came to the Los Angeles Rams they suddenly became a much better team."

"It's like when you have a real great return specialist. If the players think the guy can go all the way they will block like crazy for him. If they don't think he can, they figure why should they bother."

Walker scored in the first half Monday night on a 1-yard leap over the line, set up a fourth-quarter touchdown with a 10-yard reverse to the 1, started Dallas's winning touchdown drive with a 23-yard screen pass in which he bowled over four tacklers, and finally produced the winning score on a draw play.

DOLPHINS: TOTH SIGNED
MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins Tuesday signed offensive tackle Tom Toth, who was released by the New England Patriots on the final roster cut last week.

To make room for Toth, the Dolphins released tackle Chris Ward, a free agent who was signed Aug. 21, two days after being cut by San Francisco.

Toth, 6-foot-5, 275 pounds, spent last season on injured reserve after suffering an ankle injury during a rookie scrimmage. A fourth-round draft choice out of Western Michigan in 1985, Toth practiced with the team the last half of last season and was the final lineman released this year.

BEARS: TOMCZAK REGROUPS
LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — Mike Tomczak's very first professional pass was intercepted in a nationally televised preseason game at Dallas.

"I remember that I came off the sidelines, feeling down about it, and then I went back in and led the club down the field for a touchdown," Tomczak recalled.

Tomczak, the former Ohio State quarterback, insists he thrives on pressure. He will get a chance to prove it next Sunday when he gets his first professional start against the Philadelphia Eagles.

CHIEFS: ACQUIRE COFFMAN
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Paul Coffman, who caught more than 300 passes for the Green Bay Packers over the past eight seasons, signed a contract Tuesday with the Kansas City Chiefs.

"It's definitely working out for the best," said Coffman. "I'm living in my home city. I'm playing with people I know, coaches I know."

"I'm really looking forward to it. It's worked out better than I thought it would."

ROSELLE: 51 PLAYERS FINED
National Football League Commissioner Pete Roselle has fined 26 of the Chicago Bears and 25 of the St. Louis Cardinals for brawling in their Aug. 23 preseason game, Bears General Manager Jerry Vainisi said.

The fines ranged from $400 to $2,300. They totaled $14,300 for the Bears, and the Cardinals were fined a significantly higher amount, Vainisi said Tuesday.

Vainisi refused to name the players who were fined. Two were Keith Van Horne, who was fined $1,500, and Tom Thayer, who was fined $400.

Van Horne was thrown out of the game along with three Cardinals: Charlie Baker, Otis Anderson and Lionel Washington.

TENNIS ANYONE?

Ankle Sprain Is Real Pain Without RICE

Recently, during a weekend match at the Bayhead Racquet Club, I noticed a player on the next court take a very hard fall. He pulled himself up and was helped off the court. He had badly sprained his right ankle.

I thought back to all the times over the years that I had done the same thing. It is a very common injury in tennis, very painful, and it can keep you off the courts for awhile.

There are some definite things you should do, though, to hurry along the healing process. If the recommended steps for treatment are followed, you should have less pain and return to the courts much sooner.

After twisting your ankle on the court, there are a few questions to ask yourself. Is the ankle deformed; different from before the injury or different from the other ankle? Did you hear a snap, crack, or pop at the ankle or do you feel any tingling or numbness in the foot or toes?

If the answer to any of these questions is yes, immediately pack the ankle in ice and wrap it to keep it from moving. Do not walk on it, use crutches or a friend's shoulder for support and go to the emergency room.

If there is only minor discomfort, however, and you are able to move the ankle or walk on it without a great deal of pain, immediate transportation to the hospital is not necessary.

In both cases, the immediate treatment is RICE: Rest, Ice, Compression, and Elevation. These steps are taken to protect the injured ligament(s) from further damage and to control the bleeding and soft tissue swelling until further medical diagnosis and treatment is given.

Cold applications can be any form of ice or chemical cold packs that can be applied and stays cold for 20 minutes. One precaution: the ankle should feel cold but if there is tingling or numbness the ice is on too long. The ankle should be wrapped to immobilize the joint. An ace bandage will compress the joint to help keep the swelling down but will allow for expansion due to swelling.

If tape is used, an open basket weave design is better because it allows for swelling and will not cut off the circulation. The next step is to use the ice for 20 minutes. Then remove it for 20-30 minutes and reapply, keeping the ankle wrapped between ings.

This should be followed for at least 24-48 hours after the injury. As soon as possible X-rays should be taken to check for fractures and stress X-rays to determine the degree of injury to the ligament(s) by measuring the differences in the amount of space of the two ankle joints.

The use of crutches or a cane may be necessary for a couple of days of more. The doctor will give you more specific treatment to follow for the next week.

Cook Of The Week

Learning To Decorate Kids' Birthday Cakes Turns Into Small Hobby

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

What makes some moms so special? Especially a mom like Laurel "Lori" Leeds of Lake Mary, our Cook of the Week who took a 15-week course in cake decorating at SCC just so she could make her children's birthday extra happy. "I took the class basically so I could decorate the kids' birthday cakes," she says, but it has developed into a small hobby. Mrs. Leeds also enjoys making beautifully decorated cakes for friends and relatives on almost any occasion, including weddings.

Explaining the intricacies of cake decorating, which is an art in itself, Mrs. Leeds says, "You didn't decorate on dummies. Every week we'd have to have a real cake baked and decorated. The instructor would give us an assignment, like a nine inch round cake baked and iced. Then, perhaps you'd have to make twelve tea roses, and a cup of pink icing, and bring all this to class along with the proper tips for making certain things." Students were taught how to bake a cake so that it was flat, how to ice it so that it was smooth, and how to prepare the icing bags out of parchment paper which Mrs. Leeds prefers to use at home. "You can buy the cloth bags which can be used over and over again," she says, "but they're huge and much harder to handle." No matter which way you approach it, the art of cake decorating is unique to each individual, and Mrs. Leeds' reward comes with each happy smile she receives at birthdays, anniversaries, showers and weddings for her delicious creations.

On the home front, Mrs. Leeds is just as skilled at cooking a full course meal for her family, although she quickly admits it wasn't always that way. "My mother learned to cook at an early age because she had four younger brothers and sisters, and she tried to teach me how to cook, but I was spoiled," Mrs. Leeds laughs. "My idea of work when I was a kid was cleaning my room up and that was it. I couldn't have cared less about cooking. She'd try teaching me and I'd make a mess, so I decided I didn't want to learn to cook. When I got married, I could cook a few things, like scrambled eggs — I could survive on that!"

Mrs. Leeds' husband, Dan, a self-employed paving contractor, had a head start in the kitchen when they were married, she claims. "Dan had been cooking since he was about eight years old and he knew how, so he would try to teach me. We still laugh about the first roast I tried to make in our tiny little apartment in Mt. Dora. We couldn't eat that thing — it was black, and it was tough. And the first time I went to cook pork chops and asparagus, I only had one pan, so I put them together. Talk about a riot!"

Newlywed mishaps that tickle the funnybone are not uncommon as Mrs. Leeds further proves.

"I had never washed clothes in my life — I never had to. Well, I just dumped everything into the washer without sorting anything. I didn't know how much soap to use, so I just dumped some soap in there, and it cranked up and I thought everything was going fine, until I walked outside and there was soap coming through the screen door onto the carport. And all the white clothes were pink!"

Mrs. Leeds recalls burning up the phone lines between Sanford and Mt. Dora for help from her mother, Pauline Wilkins, in preparation for cooking her first Christmas dinner. "I had never played with a turkey before," she says, "but with her help and Danny's, it turned out fine." Through trial and error, our cook has come a long way.

For a lady who originates from a 10-acre spread near Canton, Ohio, Mrs. Leeds confesses that she is very much a Southerner now. "We lived in a huge house, and we had apple, cherry and plum orchards. My mother used to can all that. The house was way on top of a big hill with all those big pine trees that swept all the way to the ground. We used to snow sled down the hill. We moved to Sanford when I was ten, so I really feel that I'm from Florida, not Ohio," she says.

A 1968 graduate of Seminole High School, Mrs. Leeds was active in the chorus and the Future Homemakers of America club. "I didn't work when I first got out of school," says Mrs. Leeds. "I went to business college in Orlando, then took airline training in Kansas City. When I came home, I got an office job for a while then went to work for Winn Dixie for three and a half years. That's how I met my husband."

The Leeds family has grown with the addition of Tami, 11, and Joey, 8, and this keeps Mrs. Leeds as busy as she likes to be. Perhaps the most adventurous undertaking by Mrs. Leeds came when she accompanied her daughter's Girl Scout troop on a camping trip last year which she claims was a very interesting experience. "I enjoyed it more than I thought I would," said Mrs. Leeds, "and I told my husband we'd have to get a Coleman stove and a tent and try it ourselves. However, his idea of camping out is to have a motor home with a stove, bathroom, air conditioning, television and all the other conveniences."

"I have a lot of hobbies," says Mrs. Leeds. "I just can't afford them all." Aside from cake decorating, Mrs. Leeds enjoys embroidery, ceramics, flower arranging and collecting dolls. "My husband says my biggest hobby is shopping," jokes Mrs. Leeds. "I can spend hours at Wal-Mart and not buy anything. I love to browse the Malls. I was born to shop." Her most serious hobby is doll collecting, however, and she has a closet full to

Kimberly Freeman, Tyson L. Trombly Exchange Vows

Kimberly Jane Freeman and Tyson Lee Trombly, both of Sanford, were married at 1 p.m. Aug. 9, in the Palmetto Avenue Baptist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Raymond Crocker performed the traditional candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Freeman, 120 Woodfield Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Denver L. Trombly, 300 Tangerine Drive, Sanford.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Leonard of Sanford, and Beattie Freeman, Marion, Ohio. The bridegroom's grandparents are Hazil Trombly, Amenia, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Poff, Blytheville, Ark.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown fashioned along the Victorian silhouette of coin dotted chiffon and bridal taffeta. A lace-trimmed ruffle outlined the V-shaped yoke of sheer illusion. Fashioned with a sculpted bodice, the gown featured puffed sleeves that were fitted below the elbows. Rose medallions with simulated diamonds accented the yoke, sleeves and center of the gown with simulated diamonds enhancing the high neckline. A satin belt was caught in the back with a large chiffon bow that cascaded the length of the gown. The full skirt, bordered in wide ruffles, gracefully cascaded into a sweeping chapel train. Her headpiece, a satin hat adorned with a coin dotted chiffon bow and spray of flowers to match her bouquet, held her chapel-length veil of illusion embellished with simulated diamonds. She carried a cascade of white roses and white rosebuds interspersed with ivy, weed pearls, arched pearls with satin ribbons and rosebuds.

The bride's gown and bouquet were made by her mother.

Shannon Pedraza, cousin of the bride, Marion, Ohio, was the maid of honor. She wore a pink silk Southern Belle gown styled with a ruffled off-the-shoulder neckline and a ruffled skirt caught at intervals over a maroon overlay at the bottom. Her headpiece was a wreath of variegated rosebuds, ivy and baby's breath showered with pink and maroon ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Kelly Yates, Sanford; Melinda Trombly, Ocala; Nancy Del Campo, Orlando; and Kim Roberts, Marion, Ohio. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Charles Trombly, Ocala, served his brother as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Jackie Yates and Bruce Anohick, Sanford; and Jerry Eubanks and Ernie Eubanks, Ocala.

Angellina McCoy Carter and Jimmy McCoy Carter, niece and nephew of the bride, Sanford, were the flower girl and ring bearer respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyson Lee Trombly

Organist was Peggy Crocker and vocalists were Roy Reber and Jay and Kristi Williams, all of Sanford.

The reception was held in the church social hall. Assistants were Joan Roberts, Marion, Ohio; Leah Carter, aunt of the bride, Sanford; and Ann Claggett and Susan Anonick, Sanford.

Following a wedding trip to Tampa, the newlyweds are making their home in Sanford. The bride is a 1985 graduate of Liberty Christian School, Sanford. She is employed as a receptionist in the family business, Rucker Plumbing, and is in her second year at Southern College, Orlando, where she is studying to become a paralegal. The bridegroom, a graduate of Goldsboro Christian School, Goldsboro, N.C., served a 4-year tour of duty in the U.S. Air Force, is employed by Cardinal Industries and attends Seminole Community College.

Out-of-town guests came from Ohio, New York and Arkansas.

Plush Celebrity Hangout Is All In The Family

By JOHN DEMERS
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joey Scognamiglio never pushed, but he was deeply pleased when his son Sal tossed aside other career plans for a life of Stuffed Veal Chops and Clams Cassino.

The fact that Sal would spend his days preparing such delicacies for the likes of Frank Sinatra, Barbra Streisand and Dustin Hoffman helped his financial prospects considerably.

And the fact he was the third generation of Scognamiglio to do so at Patsy's made both father and son more than a little proud.

"It was always family, and it always will be family," said Joey Scognamiglio, taking a breather after the lunch-time crush. "I was in the kitchen at the age of 9, and even though I was the boss's son, I still had to do my penance."

"The things that were taught to me are the things I'm teaching my son, to make sure the tradition stays on."

What father is teaching son at Patsy's is a deeply flavored, richly colored regional cuisine, one that was largely overlooked in recent years during the world's fascination with real Northern Italian dishes and all their artificial, over-priced kin.

Now, however, Neapolitan is hot — with just enough peasant food on each plate to impress diners with its earthiness and just enough elegance to convince them it's worth a decent price.

It is also, with centuries of acquired techniques and at least a handful of mysteries, a perfect cuisine for one generation to pass on to the next.

Sometimes, no doubt, Sinatra knows what his dinner will taste like before he even gets to the restaurant. The maitre d' at Patsy's keeps a mental list of favorite dishes.

The same list reminds the maitre d' that Streisand loves Homemade Ravioli, Hoffman prefers Rigatoni Sorrentino, Jackie Gleason is partial to Lobster Fra Diablo and Gregory Peck goes wild over Penne Arabbata.

Sylvester Stallone drops in as soon as he hits New York, ready for any of Patsy's calamari dishes, a craving he shares with Leonard Nimoy and Dom DeLuise. Bob Hope nearly always ends up with Gnocci al Pesto, while Liza Minelli saves her love for Stuffed Veal Chop Marsala.

The first is Patsy's version of a dish served everywhere in Naples and originated there, according to legend and its name, by ladies of the evening. The second is a classy way of dressing up chicken.

PASTA ALLA PUTTANESCA

Sauce:
3 cloves garlic, finely minced
1/4 cup olive oil
4 filets of anchovies
1/2 cup capers
18 Italian olives
8 fresh basil leaves
1 Tbsp chopped fresh parsley
1/4 tsp oregano
1/2 tsp ground black pepper
1 cup water
Crushed hot pepper for garnish

Pasta:
1 pound linguini
2 quarts water

To prepare the sauce, brown the garlic in a skillet with olive oil. Add the anchovies, capers and olives. Sauté for 3 minutes. Add the basil, parsley, oregano, black pepper and water. Simmer for 5 minutes over a low flame.

To cook the pasta, bring the salted water to a boil, then drop in the linguini. Cook for 8 minutes, al dente. Drain in a colander. Transfer to a platter. Pour the sauce over the linguini, toss and serve immediately. Sprinkle with crushed hot pepper to taste.

Note: This recipe for Patsy's Puttanesca Sauce can be made into Provenzaile Sauce by substituting 1 or 2 cups of chopped tomatoes for the cup of water. The new dish is called Pasta alla Provenzaile.

CHICKEN ALLA FORESTA

1 3-pound chicken, cut in small boneless pieces
3 Tbsp olive oil
1 cup boiled asparagus, cut into 1-inch pieces
1 cup boiled fresh or frozen artichoke hearts, cut into 1-inch pieces
1 cup broccoli spears, cut into 1-inch pieces
1 Tbsp minced garlic
1/2 Tbsp finely chopped fresh parsley
1/2 tsp thyme
1/2 tsp oregano
Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Saute the chicken in the olive oil until golden brown and crisp, then add the asparagus, broccoli spears and artichoke hearts, which have been boiled until just tender. Cover and simmer for 2-3 minutes. Add the spices, toss and serve.

High-Fashion Tights Kick In Splashy Look For Legs

By Florence DeSantis
NEA Fashion Writer

To understand fashion legwear, you have to know the difference between pantyhose and tights. Pantyhose were developed from standard sheer hosiery. Tights came from the dance world — they're opaque, and they can be more colorful or more boldly patterned than pantyhose.

Therefore, with sportswear, tights can make a stronger accent.

Fern Pochtar, a design consultant, thinks tights should be more than fashionable. The company she represents specializes in cotton-blend tights, and Pochtar has seen to it that they are soft to the touch and knit with a turned heel that prevents bagging at the ankle front. The ribbed top has extra horizontal stretch and a separate, sewn-in walstrand that won't roll over.

In addition to the super construction, the legwear comes in 30 color choices.

In other fall legwear, available are several patterns including a zebra stripe and a reptile pattern in a metallic ink print as a dressy leg look. Both should go well with the disco crowd.

To match the legwear, designers have created long-sleeved turtlenecks and tank tops so "bodysuit haters can have the look in a two-piece," said Pochtar.

Looking down the fall road toward parties, those slit and wrap skirts call for something new in legwear and makers are doing fancy high thighs. The news is in the return of back seams, sometimes accented themselves, as in electric Sok's lavender thigh-high with metallic seam.

Bold leg looks come in cotton tights featuring metallic reptile print, left, and zebra print, right, in a wide choice of colors.

Microwave Magic

Versatile Broccoli Has Become A Favorite

Broccoli, fresh or frozen, has become a favorite vegetable to micro-cook. This member of the cabbage family is a good source of vitamin A. It adds color and texture to a meal and can be used in a salad or casserole, or simply as the dinner vegetable.

The flower ends of the broccoli are more tender than the stock so when micro-cooking them, place the flower ends toward the center of the container and the less tender stocks on the outside. When micro-cooking fresh broccoli I use a shallow round baking dish and place the stocks in a "spokes of a wheel" pattern, flower ends in the center.

Fresh broccoli will micro-cook to perfection in 6-8 minutes per pound, using 100% power. Cover with a container lid or plastic wrap (vented) and allow a 3-5 minute standing time. The water that clings to the broccoli from washing is all that is needed for the cooking.

This is such an attractive color combination, even those of you who don't like vegetables will be enticed.

FRESH BROCCOLI WITH CHEESE SAUCE

1 1/2 pounds fresh broccoli

- spears
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup sharp cheddar cheese
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Trim butt end of spears and peel if broccoli is tough. Arrange spears with tender heads toward center of the dish and cover with plastic wrap (vented on a side). Microwave on 100% power 8-12 minutes or until pieces are tender-crisp. Cover and let stand while preparing cheese sauce.

Melt butter in a 2-cup glass measure. Add flour and stir until smooth. Stir in milk and pepper. Microwave on 70% power 4-5 minutes or until thickened. Remove from oven and stir in grated cheese. Stir until cheese is melted. Pour over broccoli.

If you're in a hurry and need a good vegetable casserole this is great!

I have another tragic story to tell that may save the lives of other children. About 20 years ago my aunt put her twin boys in their playpen because she had a lot of work to do. They were about 14 months old at the time. When she returned about half an hour later to check on them, she found one of the twins dead! She had thoughtlessly placed the playpen near a window where the child could reach the cord from the blinds. He was probably playing with the cord, became entangled in it, and hung himself.

DEAR READER: Thank you for alerting my readers to a danger that may not have occurred to them. You may have saved a life today.

DEAR ABBY: I was moved to write when I read the young girl's complaint about her mother's secondhand smoke. I want to tell you how proud I am of my own mother. She used to smoke, though I have no memories of it — only photographs of a pretty young mother holding a baby (me) in one hand and a cigarette in the other. She was 32 years old at the time. - 1 4-ounce can mushrooms
- 1 8-ounce jar cheese whiz
- 1 can French-fried onion rings
- Layer vegetables. Mix soup and cheese whiz, and pour over vegetables. Cover with plastic wrap (vented) and microwave on 100% power 12-18 minutes. Sprinkle onion rings over the top and micro-cook additional 1-2 minutes.

This layered casserole is somewhat like a quiche without the crust.

BROCCOLI-CHEESE CASSEROLE

- 3/4 cup milk
- 3 eggs
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 medium onion, sliced thinly
- 1 10-ounce package chopped broccoli, thawed and drained

1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1/2 cup cottage cheese
Blend milk, eggs, flour, salt and pepper and set aside. Alternate layers of broccoli, onions and cheese. Pour egg mixture over layers. Microwave on 50% power 10-15 minutes. To promote even cooking place the casserole on an inverted micro-safe saucer.

Try this broccoli-tomato recipe when you want something special.

BROCCOLI-TOMATO CUPS

- 1 10-ounce frozen chopped broccoli
- 6 medium size fresh tomatoes
- 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3/4 cups Parmesan cheese

Place unwrapped broccoli in a 1-quart dish and microwave on 100% power 5-7 minutes. Drain well. Cut off the stem end of each tomato and scoop out pulp. Set aside. Combine the drained broccoli, bread crumbs, salt, pepper and half of the cheese. Fill tomato cups with mixture, add as much of the tomato pulp as needed to fill all the tomatoes. Arrange in a circle in baking dish. Cover and microwave on 100% power 5-6 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and allow to stand covered several minutes before serving.

Fresh vegetables stir-fry easily in the microwave oven. This is a good flavor and color combination, but you might have some you like even better.

- 1/2 cup broccoli flowerets
- 1/2 cup mushrooms sliced diagonally
- 1/2 cup cauliflower flowerets
- 2 teaspoons sugar

Heat oil in a 3-quart casserole 2 minutes on 100% power. Stir in vegetables. Cover and microwave 5-6 minutes. Stir after 3 minutes. Stir together cornstarch, bouillon, water, ginger, soy sauce and garlic. Pour over vegetables, microwave on 100% power 3 minutes, uncovered. Stir after 1 1/2 minutes. Allow to stand 3 minutes before serving.

How Much Weight Do Diamond 'Pre-Engagement' Rings Carry?

DEAR ABBY: Recently, several young girls I work with have come to work wearing engagement rings with tiny diamonds — they call them "pre-engagement rings."

Abby, just what is a "pre-engagement ring?" Rather than risk hurting their feelings, I thought I'd ask you. Does this mean she's a "pre-bride?" Or does it mean she's a "post-virgin?" Or is it a precommitment on the boy's part? (Meaning, "I'll marry you, if no one better comes along.") I would feel insulted to receive a "pre-engagement ring." You're either engaged, or you're not. If you're engaged, call it an "engagement ring." If you're not, call it a "friendship ring."

TOO OLD TO UNDERSTAND

DEAR TOO OLD: What you (or I) perceive the ring to mean is unimportant. Its meaning to the giver and receiver is all that matters. Obviously it signifies some degree of special commitment. Don't concern yourself with the size of the diamond, or the question of virginity; just wish the ring-bearer well and pull in your claws.

DEAR ABBY: I have noticed several letters in your column lately containing valuable tips on how to keep small children safe from death traps. Who ever would have dreamed that a toddler could wander off during a family outing and lose his life by climbing into an ice chest containing just enough melted ice to drown in! Or that a child could slip down in the high chair and strangle to death by catcrashing airplanes are safe! If people want to smoke, that's their business. But if they want to use their medical insurance to pay for their self-inflicted illnesses, then it becomes my business because they are driving my premiums up.

BILL HOWE,
WAXAHACHIE, TEXAS

She did it for me and my sisters. She didn't want us to follow her poor example and become smokers who would find it as hard to quit as it was for her.

What have I (and my sisters) gained? We have never smoked. Or wanted to. I grew up in a home free of burn marks, smelly draperies and nasty ashtrays. And when Mom baby-sat for my children, I didn't have to worry that they might find matches or a lighter in her purse. Mom is still around, though we live thousands of miles apart. Her letters have no scorch marks on them, and when we talk on the phone, I don't have to listen to a hacking cigarette cough.

Thank you, Mom, for having quit the habit when I was a baby. It took guts, courage and caring.

BETTY DIEMERT'S DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: A reader recently defended smoking by listing a few smokers who lived to a ripe old age.

That's like naming five survivors of an airplane crash that killed 80 people as proof that

New Video Can Make A Child The Future 'Cook Of The Week'

By JOHN DAMERS
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kids often seem the bane of every parent trying to whip up a meal — unless the grownup turns this liability into an asset with the aid of a new videotape.

Cited as one of the most original videos at this year's Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago, "Kids in the Kitchen" takes children through a step-by-step lesson in the fine and fun art of cooking.

Food specialist Karen Underwood shares the on-camera, in-kitchen duties with her own children, Cory and Ashleigh.

"I wanted to give the children recipes that in some ways would be stretching them," said Underwood. "Children are extremely interested in food. Completing a recipe gives them a sense of accomplishment and independence."

The "Kids in the Kitchen" learning kit includes a videocassette approximately 50 minutes in length (just long enough to range from youngster standards like pancakes to splashier items like Nachos Caliente).

It also contains a self-standing and smudge-resistant recipe book, a wire whisk and a set of measuring spoons. All you add is patience.

The tape, filmed in the kitchen of the Underwoods' home in a Chicago suburb, is the first in a series of four planned by Mid-Com Inc. under its imagination Tree children's video line.

According to Mid-Com president Jack E. Penmore, videos such as "Kids in the Kitchen" prove the medium is good for more than games full of violent graphics and recording the latest "Dynasty."

"It can be a very, very family stimulating piece of equipment," he said. "Each recipe really is a whole new learning experience."

Penmore has more than enough experience to believe in video's potential — just as he has more than enough to know it seldom lives up to that promise.

His career began nearly half a century ago at Chicago's old Sarra Studios and included working with such stars as Helen Hayes and Rod Serling. In 1958, he was nominated for an Academy Award as producer-director of "Employees Only," a documentary on jobs for the handicapped.

Penmore's expertise shows, both in the video and in its accompanying materials.

For an adult veteran of many cookbooks, the slender but tough volume that comes with each tape is a bracing reminder of simple things. Kids are instructed, for example, to ask for permission before cooking anything and to seek instruction about all equipment to be used.

Step 3 is a real inspiration: "Wash Your Hands. Roll Up Long Sleeves. Tie Back Long Hair. Wear Your Apron."

NACHOS CALIENTE

- 1 large bag tortilla chips
- 1 8-ounce bag shredded cheese
- 1 15 1/4 ounce can refried beans or chili beans in gravy
- 1 8-ounce jar Mexican picante sauce

Optional ingredients:

- Black olives
- Sour cream
- Avocado pieces

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Place the chips on a plate or cookie sheet, then spoon the beans and sauce over the chips. Spread the cheese over the chips and cook until the cheese melts. Add the optional ingredients if you like them.

QUICK CUSTARD WITH FRUIT

- 2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 Tbsp cornstarch
- 3 eggs yolks mixed with 2 Tbsp milk
- 1/4 tsp salt (try less)
- 1 tsp vanilla
- 1/4 tsp almond extract
- 2 bananas, cut up
- 3 oranges, cut up

Mix the milk, sugar and cornstarch in a saucepan. Whisk slowly over high heat, stirring constantly. When the mixture begins to thicken, remove from heat and add the egg yolk mixture, salt, vanilla and almond extract.

Return to medium heat. Whisk until thick and bubbling. Set aside to cool. Cut the fruit into a bowl, mixing the bananas with the oranges. Serve custard at room temperature over the fruit.

Sweet tamale pie is a cousin of Southern pecan pie.

Tamale Pie Pleases Sweet Tooth

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Food from the Southwest appears in many forms. It is more than Texas chili or enchiladas and tacos.

Here is a sweet tamale pie reminiscent of Southern pecan pie but made with added corn muffin mix and pinon nuts, which are so popular now in salads and desserts.

SOUTHWESTERN SWEET TAMALES PIE

- 4 large eggs
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/3 cup honey

- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup sweet butter, melted and set aside to cool
- 1/2 cup pinon nuts, coarsely chopped (or pecans, walnuts or raisins, if preferred)
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons sweet corn muffin mix
- 1 butter-flavored ready-crust for 9-inch pie

In the order given, mix all ingredients, making sure that the eggs are well beaten and the sugar is well mixed. Use a wire whisk or electric mixer. Pour carefully into pie shell and bake for 15 minutes in a preheated 400 degree oven. Turn oven to 350 degrees and continue baking for 25 more minutes. If the filling has not turned brown and the center is still not set, continue baking for 5 to 10 minutes. Pie will be done when a toothpick comes out clean from center.

While pie is still warm, spread 2 tablespoons honey over top. This pie is better if not chilled, cooled to room temperature. This kitchen-tested recipe makes one 9-inch pie.

prove it. "The oldest ones I have are the ones that were mine as a child," states Mrs. Leeds. "but the rest of them are new, and some have increased in value, like my Elvis Presley doll." Her madame Alexander dolls are the number one collectibles in the United States. "I always liked dolls as a child," she says. "I played with them, loved them, took care of them, and most of the dolls I have are still in very good condition."

Mothering becomes instinctive when you're lucky enough to have a family of dolls to play with as a child, and Mrs. Leeds also recalls that her mother spent a great deal of time nurturing this feeling. "I was basically an only child, since my brother, Ralph Jr., was 13 years older than I and my mother and I spent most of our time together. She played with me and bought me dolls until I was about 13 years old then she quit, I guess, because she assumed I was too old. But it wouldn't have bothered me at all if she had continued."

The Leeds family enjoys getting together with friends at home around their pool. "We have pool parties once in awhile for the kids," says Mrs. Leeds. "and we enjoy playing cards with friends occasionally. My husband is a homebody and enjoys his time off at home, but me, if I can't find somebody to talk to on the phone, I'll start hitting houses just to talk to somebody!"

Mrs. Leeds' quick wit and contagious sense of humor is surely what helps make her a caring young homemaker whose first concern is her family. Admittedly, her cooking style was inherited from her mother. "My father was raised in Alabama and my mother was raised in Pennsylvania, so hers was a combination of both," says Mrs. Leeds. "Everything she cooked was good — homemade noodles and Southern dishes that my dad liked."

Searching through her files, Mrs. Leeds came up with one of her best recipes as follows:

HOW TO BAKE A CAKE

1. Light oven, get out utensils and ingredients. Remove toys and books from table. Grease pans, crack nuts.

2. Measure 2 cups flour; remove Billy's hand from flour; wash flour off him. Remeasure flour.

3. Put flour, baking soda, salt in sifter. Get dustpan and brush up broken bowl Billy knocked on floor. Get another bowl. Answer door.

4. Return to kitchen. Remove Billy's hand from bowl. Wash Billy. Answer phone. Return. Remove 1/4 inch salt from pans. Answer phone. Look for Billy. Grease more pans. Do load of wash.

5. Return to kitchen. Find Billy. Remove his hands from bowl. Remove nutshells from pans. Reach for Billy. Billy runs, knocking bowl from table.

6. Wash kitchen floor, table, walls and dishes. Call bakery and order cake. Lie down.

Contact Lens Wearers, Beware Of Electricity

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is it true that electrical workers who wear contact lenses are at risk for eye damage?

DEAR READER — Two recent incidents have called attention to a new and particularly serious safety hazard for contact-lens wearers who work as welders or in occupations connected to the electrical industry.

In the first case, an electrical worker threw a switch that produced a spark. When he returned home, he removed his contact lenses. The cornea of his eyes came off with the lenses.

In the second case, a welder flipped open the colored shield of his welding hood in order to position a rod. He inadvertently touched the metal to be welded, and this produced an arc. When the worker removed his contact lenses, his cornea came off with the lenses.

Both men are now blind. Experts believe that at the time of the electrical discharge or arc, microwaves were generated that instantly evaporated the fluid between the contact lenses and the corneas, causing a fusion of the lenses to the corneas. The bonding of contact lenses to the eye was painless, but disastrous.

Although this type of injury is so new — and unusual — that federal and state regulations have not been formulated, investigators strongly urge that workers not wear contact lenses when doing jobs that might expose them to electrical sparks.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I liked your column about quarantining smokers to a room. I asked my husband to smoke in either the bathroom or the garage. He said that it's his house, he works all day and he has a right to smoke wherever he feels like it. He suggested that if I don't like his smoke, I go into the bathroom. Obviously, he is bullheaded about more than smoking. Do you have any advice?

DEAR READER — Under the circumstances, I'm afraid I don't. If your husband won't listen to you, he is unlikely to listen to me. You may have to isolate yourself when he is smoking — or open all the windows in the house when he lights up. From the sound of your letter, I'd say that smoking is only part of the problem. Good luck.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

This year's winners of the Goldman Open Pairs, a grueling four-session event held annually at the Eastern States Regionals, were Dave Rosenberg and Allen Kahn. My father, who won the event twice, would have appreciated the expert defense shown by this pair on today's deal.

The bidding indicated that North and South had almost enough points for game. Rosenberg (West) reasoned that since he had 12 points of his own, his partner could not have much. He therefore chose a passive lead of the heart four instead of an aggressive club lead. South won Kahn's queen with the ace and led a low club toward dummy's queen. West won the king and noted his partner's play of the nine. Was it a singleton or top of a doubleton? Since it cost nothing to find out, West led his club four to dummy's lone queen. East ruffed with the spade nine and dutifully returned a low diamond. (West's low club asked for a diamond return.) South's jack went to West's queen, and West now cashed the diamond ace and led another low club. Declarer ruffed with dummy's seven, and East overruffed with the eight. (Declarer should have ruffed with dummy's ace and pulled a round of trump or else should have discarded dummy's last diamond.) Back came another diamond. Declarer bravely ruffed with the six, but it was overruffed by West's jack. West persisted with another club, and dummy's queen of trumps was overruffed by East's king. That made seven tricks for the defense, sending the contract down three for an excellent East-West score of 150.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SEPTEMBER 11, 1986
An unexpected change, which could prove to be a blessing in disguise, may occur in the year ahead. It will open vistas that you previously have overlooked.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's right and proper for you to have a good time today, but try to do so in the least expensive manner possible. Money won't buy you fun.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be extra watchful today in situations that are not directly under your supervision. Speak up if you see errors.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't start the day off by disagreeing with your mate over irrelevant matters. This could set the pattern for bigger misunderstandings as the hours tick on.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's best today not to toy around with gadgets you don't know how to work. Something might get busted or fouled up if you do.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you're trying to reciprocate, it's OK to grab the check for another today, but a spurge of generosity just for show will cause spender's remorse later.

Washington Emerges As Hollywood East

By Iris Krasnow
UPI Feature Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Looking very L.A. from his skinny tie to black leather sneakers, a married David Simon is back from doing lunch with a Central Casting agent. There was much on the agenda besides Campari and tonic and fettuccini with shrimp.

Francis Ford Coppola's "Gardens of Stone" just wrapped after three-months of production in town, and "Still Watch" with Linda Carter is about to start filming.

No, this scene isn't poolside at the Beverly Hills Hotel. It's a suite in the Perpetual Building three blocks from the White House where Simon heads the D.C. Office of Motion Picture and Television Development.

Washington, the city where the theatrical is often reserved for the Senate floor and where an ex-movie star reigns as president, has become one of the film industry's favorite satellite locations. And Simon is the link between Hollywood West and East.

"When I started in October of 1982, there was $3.2 million in production work coming from outside the city," recalls a raspy voiced Simon, dragging on a Benson & Hedges menthol. "Last year, we recorded in excess of $30 million."

A poster from "The Man With One Red Shoe", shot in the area and starring Tom Hanks, hangs on one office wall. Adjacent is a poster from "Being There", the late Peter Seller's last movie, also filmed in Washington.

The city's draw to film moguls is no mystery to Simon, 38, a former producer for local television and theater major from Howard University whose classmate was Debbie Allen of TV's "Fame".

"Basically, if your script calls for Washington, who else are you going to call? It's an easy sell," explains D.C. native Simon. "You've got the Lincoln Memorial, The Washington, The Jefferson. 'The federal look', as they call it."

"I mean, where else are you going to find an airport with the Washington Monument in the background? We just used that for 'Heartburn,'" starring Meryl Streep and Jack Nicholson.

"And there are old cathedrals and some beautiful gardens you can shoot to be areas of Europe."

Eric Young, a Washington location scout, says the city's emerging status as a kid brother to Hollywood comes from the overexposure of palm laden Los Angeles on the screen.

"They are shooting more in cities like Washington and Chicago, because directors want to get away from the palm trees, from Van Nuys Boulevard," says Young, who worked as location manager on "Gardens of Stone".

Mirroring Washington's evolution as a support beam to moviemakers, Chicago's film and production revenue was approximately $35 million in 1985.

Movies made in recent years featuring Washington terrain are "Reds", "Silkwood", "Trading Places", "Protocol" — starring native daughter Goldie Hawn — "St. Elmo's Fire", "Spies Like Us" and "The President's Wife" starring Charles Bronson and Jill Ireland, to be released in January.

"It's a new frontier for moviemakers," says National Parks Service ranger Fran Wigglesworth, who signs the release permits for use of the Washington monuments and the White House area as locations. Known as the "mistress of the monuments", Wigglesworth says the growth has been steady since 1979.

TV producers have also elbowed in with "Scarecrow and Mrs. King", "Capital", "Lime Street", and made-for-TV movies like "The Mitch Snyder Story", with Martin Sheen in the title role of the Washington activist for the homeless, and the mini-series "Space" with Michael York.

The love for Hollywood at the White House helps spark the trek from West to East. Names like Charlton Heston, Brooke Shields and John Travolta routinely show up at affairs of state, and the Reagans extend their own backyard to certain glisteny pala.

"When Tom Selleck was here, the Reagans invited him to make a segment of 'Magnum P.I.' in Washington," says Simon. "They allowed him to shoot on the tennis courts of the White House grounds."

Some celebrities have shunned Manhattan and Los Angeles and opted instead for Washington as a base. Linda "Wonder Woman" Carter calls the city home, as does Lena Horne.

Karen Akers, the "other woman" in "Heartburn" for whom Nicholson falls at the expense of his movie marriage to Streep, also lives locally.

Sissy Spacek and Robert Altman have sprawling farms in nearby Virginia, and Sylvester Stallone is rumored to be hunting for a polo spread in Maryland.

The Georgetown neighborhood of $500,000-plus vintage brownstones is a much sought after location for producers. Much of the shooting for "Heartburn" and "St. Elmo's Fire" was done in the area where Elizabeth Taylor once lived with ex-husband Sen. John Warner (R-Va.).

A Georgetown staircase used for a gory scene in "The Exorcist" is now a tourist attraction.

"At the end of the movie, the priest who has done the exorcism is now possessed himself and he goes through the back window of a house and catapults down this very long staircase which is at the bottom of Georgetown. People come here all the time and want to see the 'Exorcist steps,'" says Simon.

The film industry's descent on the capital has generated a network of local support businesses. A roller skating rink in the Latino section of Adams Morgan is being transformed into the largest, columnless soundstage on the East Coast. An excess of $10-million is expected to be pumped into the 100,000-square foot facility, says Simon.

"This will allow for a five to ten-fold increase in the local film business," he adds of ancillary industries such as casting agencies, camera operators, and talent. There are already more than 1,000 union registered actors in the Washington-Baltimore area.

A current trend for moviemakers is to branch out of postcard Washington — the picture perfect monuments, memorials and manicured lawns. Shabby parts of Adams Morgan and the old warehouse district of Capitol Hill are coming into vogue.

Washington film-maker Marlyn Weiner, whose "The Imagemaker" was shot in its entirety in Washington, says the city must exploit these lesser known attributes if it is to expand its allure as a location.

"The city needs to do a real PR job letting them know there are other locations than the monuments," says Weiner, co-partners with her husband, Hal, in the film company ScreenScope. "You have nearby country, seashore, mountains, and places where there is a nice, gritty city look."

Movies like "D.C. Cab," starring Mr. T, are starting to focus on that grittier underbelly of town.

Food for Thought
 by Bill Painter

Low-fat, low-calorie dessert — crunchy marigold shells (made with egg whites) to hold luscious fresh fruit.

Jicama, the Mexican root vegetable, is sweet and crunchy, much like a water chestnut. If you're going to use it raw, dip it in lemon juice to keep it from darkening. (Good news, jicama is low in calories, high in vitamins.)

To core apples or pears, cut fruit in half vertically, then scoop out the core with a melon baller.

New oven fries food with hot air. It uses intense heat — 550° — to create the crispness we associate with fried foods.

What could be easier than couscous? This Moroccan grain needs no fancy cooking, no close timing. Just bring water or broth to a boil, add the couscous and let sit, covered, off heat, until liquid is absorbed. Serve under gravy, or with sautéed vegetables.

Frozen Embryo Pregnancy Success For Florida Couple

ATLANTA (UPI) — An Atlanta clinic Tuesday announced what it said was the first pregnancy achieved through embryo freezing by an eastern U.S. infertility clinic and the second reported in this country.

Reproductive Biology Associates said at a news conference that the frozen embryo pregnancy is now 22 weeks toward term and that tests have confirmed that the fetus is normal and healthy.

The expectant parents, a DeKalb County professional couple in their 40s, asked that their names not be used but they issued a statement saying "we are delighted with our pregnancy." They said that because of recent medical advances there is hope for the country's millions of infertile couples.

The nation's first frozen embryo baby was born in California. There are at least 30 infants worldwide, the oldest 2 1/2, who were born by this method, said Jacques Cohen, scientific director for the clinic and a pioneer in human in vitro fertilization (test tube baby) techniques and cryobiology (embryo freezing).

Cohen was a collaborator with the English scientists who pioneered the techniques used to achieve the birth of the world's first "test tube baby," Louise Brown. In vitro fertilization is the procedure in which an ovum, or egg, is extracted surgically from a potential mother and united outside her body in a laboratory dish or tube with the father's sperm. The resulting embryo is transferred back to the uterus to grow to maturity for a normal delivery.

Embryo freezing, or cryopreservation, is the method by which the fertilized egg is preserved in a frozen state and stored in a liquid nitrogen tank at minus 385 degrees Fahrenheit for later implantation in the mother's uterus.

At the news conference, clinic principals Drs. Hilton Kort and Joe B. Massey also announced the clinic's second cryopreservation pregnancy — the first documented in the U.S. and second in the world to be produced through freezing a pre-embryo (zygote), the development stage a fertilized egg reaches before becoming an embryo.

The pregnancy was achieved for Debbie and Mike Heller of Ocala, Fla. Now at eight weeks, the Heller pregnancy was created by successfully freezing the 34-year-old woman's egg just after insemination occurred, hours before it would have developed into an embryo. Cohen said that at this stage of freezing, the genetic material of the parents had not fused together to create an embryo. "This innovation is a significant step forward in the embryo freezing concept and may greatly improve success of the cryopreservation procedure in the future," Cohen said. "First, more embryos can be produced and sustained than more advanced embryos; and second, the pre-embryos seem to survive the freezing process more often. Thus, there are more pre-embryos to work with in implantation and better probability of achieving pregnancy."

Debbie Heller, a purchasing supervisor for a hospital supply company, said that "finally being pregnant makes all those years of trying worthwhile. 'I wish more people would take advantage of this method; it's not painful.'" Insurance, she said, covered the cost, which was about $1,500.

Also present at the news conference were Dr. and Mrs. Bipin Shah of Fort Myers, Fla., and their 11-month-old daughter, Meghal.

NATO Test 'Secures' The Beaches Of Southern Norway

By John Jones

ULA BEACH, Norway (UPI) — Traveling by stealth and starlight across a smooth and silent sea, more than 5,000 U.S. marines secured the beaches of southern Norway Tuesday in a test of NATO's northern strategy.

It was part of NATO's largest amphibious exercise in eight years, the biggest in southern Norway for 30 years and the centerpiece of a military extravaganza code-named "Northern Wedding" — exercising 35,000 men, 180 ships and hundreds of aircraft from 10 allied nations.

From assault ships and landing craft and curious vessels which were neither boats nor tanks, the young Americans poured onto this tiny, sandy cove, fringed by soon-to-be Christmas trees at the southern tip of Norway.

A few miles down the rugged coast, more than 4,300 combat-ready British and Dutch commandos mounted a successful assault in a three-way operation to secure a 6-mile-long beachhead.

At Ula Beach at 7 a.m., craft were arriving at the rate of one a minute for the first 20 minutes, delighting local villages who perched on rocky cliffs to watch the bizarre visitation.

(John Jones of United Press International was the only wire service correspondent to land with U.S. Marines Tuesday in a NATO exercise invasion of the beaches of Norway. This is his report.)

Men with brutally short crewcuts and camouflage jackets and bootblack faces filled this picture postcard beach.

Silence added to the air of unreality. There was no smoke or gunfire in this make-believe war, for this stage was a reinforcement exercise, landing extra men in friendly territory, not a battle against a deadly foe.

Southern Norway guards the strategic sea route out of the Baltic Sea — a vital gateway to the Atlantic for the growing Soviet fleet.

Norway is a long way from Norfolk, Va., and the big Marine bases in North Carolina. The flotilla of about 16 ships — part of a larger group of 24 — sailed Aug. 17 from the United States.

Maintaining radio silence and with their lights dimmed to a murky crimson, the fleet assembled off the coast Monday night. It included the veteran World War II battleship Iowa, which in real war would lead the assault with a bombardment of enemy coastal batteries.

Another important vessel is one of the most modern in the world, the U.S.S. Mi. Whitney, a command ship with an unparalleled communications reach.

But it was not whiz-bang technology or jarring firepower that secured the beaches of Norway.

It was the individual foot soldier — the U.S. Marine.

This reporter sailed with the Marines on a landing craft from one assault ship, the U.S.S. Saipan, with buddies like Jeff McElrath of Asheville, N.C., an anti-tank gunner, and Lance Cpl. Wayne Smetzer of York, Pa., a jeep driver.

"Today is going to be fast-moving," said McElrath as we mustered at 1 a.m. to sail. "The first day is always the longest. I probably will still be on my feet at midnight."

Smetzer was too busy to think of home and his girlfriend.

"I was double-checking all the gear in my head to make sure of not forgetting anything. It's a tough job, but you put your mind to it and apply yourself. No problems."

At 2:30 a.m., landing craft slid out of the bowels of the U.S.S. Saipan into the silent night and the vast expanse of starlit sky.

The young Marines gasped in the cold night air. Then the craft turned away from the mother ship and lost itself in the darkness.

It was four hours before dawn broke, to reveal the flotilla that had left Norfolk gathered together again in this foreign sea.

The waiting went on until a puff of purple smoke from the beach and a helicopter fluttering overhead signaled the assault was on.

One, two, three, four amphibious craft churned the water, heading in a straight line for the coast. Forty minutes later, all sorts were clambering ashore, even a reporter who dared to get his feet wet.

Female Candidates Score Major Primary Victories

By Clay F. Richards
UPI Political Writer

Women candidates scored major gains in statewide primaries Tuesday, claiming the Republican and Democratic nominations for Maryland's Senate seat, three gubernatorial nominations and a handful of House races.

In Maryland, former White House aide Linda Chavez easily grabbed the GOP Senate nomination and Rep. Barbara Mikulski won the Democrats' nod — making it the second time in history that two women will square off for a Senate seat.

With 98 percent of the precincts reporting, Mikulski had 348,840 votes, or 53 percent, while Rep. Mike Barnes had 188,255 votes, or 29 percent. Two-term Gov. Harry Hughes trailed with 85,201 votes, or 13 percent.

Nine states and Washington, D.C., held elections on the busiest primary day of the year. Republican Gov. John Sununu of New Hampshire, Democratic Gov. Anthony Earl of Wisconsin and Wisconsin Sen. Robert Kastan easily won re-election. Many other incumbents, including New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, were unopposed.

In Minnesota, Democratic Gov. Rudy Perpich turned back a strong challenge by St. Paul Mayor George Latimer.

In the Arizona Democratic race for governor, Carolyn Warner, state superintendent of public instruction, defeated

Phoenix businessman Tony Mason, 51 percent to 44 percent. Car Dealer Evan Mecham, with 54 percent of the vote, won a major upset in the GOP race over state House Republican leader Burton Barr, the favorite, with 40 percent.

Vermont Gov. Madeleine Kunin, a Democrat, won re-election without opposition.

In New York, former Rep. Bella Abzug led narrowly in her comeback bid in a House primary in suburban Westchester County. Consumer lawyer Mark Green staged a stunning upset against millionaire John Dyson for the Democratic Senate nomination and will face Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., in November.

Perennial GOP presidential hopeful Harold Stassen, a 79-year-old former governor of Minnesota who has been trying to make a political comeback for nearly 40 years, was nominated for Congress Tuesday in his home district in St. Paul, Minn.

Baltimore Mayor William Donald Schaefer won the bitter battle for the Democratic nomination for governor of Maryland, defeating state Attorney General Stephen Sachs.

In Maryland, Chavez, a former White House aide, sounded the battle cry for her fall campaign, telling supporters at a victory party: "Barbara Mikulski and I are both women but that's where our similarities end."

Mikulski trailed early in the evening but forged ahead of Rep. Michael Barnes when the votes from her hometown of Baltimore started pouring in.

Also in Maryland, Kathleen Kennedy Townsend, daughter of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, won the House Democratic primary nomination to challenge GOP Rep. Helen Bentley in Maryland. Tom McMillen, former Washington Bullets star, also won a Democratic House nomination.

A score of women contenders were running for Congress and 25 sought statewide offices. Women's political groups said it was the biggest single day in politics for female candidates — and one with a large chance of success.

New York, Connecticut, Maryland, New Hampshire, Vermont and Wisconsin held primaries for the Senate, House and governor's office, while Arizona, Minnesota and Rhode Island had primaries for governor and the House.

There were no serious challenges to the major incumbents involved. In addition to Cuomo and D'Amato, Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., and Warren Rudman, R-N.H., faced little or no primary opposition.

In Vermont, former four-term Gov. Richard Snelling easily won the GOP Senate nomination to oppose Leahy.

In Washington, D.C., Mayor Marion Barry glided to an easy victory over two candidates in the Democratic primary. Winning the Democratic nod in the Washington is tantamount to victory in November.

In New Hampshire, two-term Sununu overwhelmed token opposition and former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody defeated three challengers in the Democratic race to oppose Rudman in the Senate race.

In Rhode Island, Democratic businessman Bruce Sundlun won the nomination to oppose popular first-term GOP Gov.

Edward DiPrete, who was unopposed.

In Wisconsin, the Democratic race to oppose Kastan former deputy state Attorney General Ed Garvey, who was executive director of the National Football League players union during their strike, defeated former state party Chairman Matthew Flynn. Gov. Anthony Earl easily defeat token opposition, with House Minority Leader Tommey Thompson winning the Republican nomination.

In New York, Rep. Alton Waldon, D-N.Y., elected in a special election this summer, was defeated in his bid for a full term by the Rev. Floyd Flake, the man he beat in June. Waldon is the second House member to be defeated this year.

In Arizona, House Interior Chairman Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., seeking a 14th term from Arizona's 2nd District, swept to an easy primary victory over state senator Luis Gonzales in early returns by a 3-1 margin and the remaining ballots were not expected to change the outcome. He faces Republican Sheldon Clark in November.

Menu magic from the exotic East!

Fried Rice

2 or 3 eggs
Salt to taste
1/2 tsp. monosodium glutamate
1/2 tsp. dry sherry
1/2 cup vegetable oil

2 Tbsp. minced onion
4 cups cooked rice, either warm or cold
1 tsp. gravy seasoning-browning sauce
1 cup bean sprouts

Beat first 4 ingredients together. Pour oil into hot skillet over medium-high heat. Stir in the onion, then the egg mixture. Scramble, breaking in small pieces, until quite dry. Add remaining ingredients and cook, stirring, 8 to 10 minutes, or until well mixed and thoroughly heated. Makes 3 to 5 servings.

Chinese Beef with Broccoli

1 pound flank or other steak, cut in 1/4" slices about 2" long
1/2 cup soy sauce
1 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 Tbsp. dry sherry
1 tsp. sugar

1/4 tsp. monosodium glutamate
1/2 bunch broccoli
5 Tbsp. vegetable oil
1/2 tsp. salt
1 slice gingerroot or 1/4 cup sliced onion.

Mix first 6 ingredients and set aside. Cut broccoli in florets about 2" long, peel stalk and slice in 2" lengths less than 1/2" thick. Put 2 tablespoons oil in hot skillet over high heat. Add salt and broccoli and stir-fry, turning constantly, until broccoli is dark green—not more than 2 minutes. Remove from skillet. Put remaining oil in skillet and add ginger and beef mixture. Stir-fry, turning constantly, not more than 2 minutes. Add broccoli and mix well. Serve at once. Makes 2 or 3 servings. Note: Broccoli tends to make oil spatter more than other vegetables, so drain thoroughly after washing. Precooked broccoli can also be used.

Menu magic from the exotic East!

Our celebration continues with a sampling of culinary secrets from the exotic East. Publix has everything you need to prepare them yourself—now at special savings!

Sweet-Sour Pork with Plum Sauce

1 pound lean pork, cut in 1" cubes
1 green pepper, cut in strips
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup sliced canned pineapple
1/2 cup vinegar
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 cup beef bouillon
2 Tbsp. soy sauce
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup plum jam
Hot cooked rice

Brown pork on all sides. Add next 3 ingredients. Blend remaining ingredients, except rice, and pour over pork. Put in well-greased 1 quart casserole, cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour or until tender. Serve with rice. Makes 4 servings.

Korean Style Spareribs

4 pounds pork spareribs, cut in individual ribs
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup sherry
1 Tbsp. grated fresh gingerroot
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/4 cup sesame seed
Duck Sauce

Cook ribs in Dutch oven, covered, in preheated 375 degrees oven 1 hour. Drain off fat. Combine remaining ingredients, except sauce, and marinate ribs in the mixture 30 to 60 minutes. Lay ribs in one layer on rack in large shallow baking pan and brush with marinade. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven, brushing several times with marinade, about 20 minutes.

Duck Sauce: Mix 2 jars (12 ounces each) peach preserves; 1/2 cup cider vinegar; 1 tsp. onion salt; 1 tsp. ground ginger; 1/2 tsp. each ground allspice, cloves and nutmeg and 1/4 tsp. dry mustard. Serves 4 to 6.

For the leaner way you're eating today.

Publix professional meat cutters trim all of our steaks, roasts, pork and lamb to not over 1/4" average, so you always take home the leanest cuts possible. That means more meat for your food dollar, and more food value per serving.

Look for "Nutri Facts" brochures and displays in your Publix meat department. They'll tell you how to choose delicious meat meals that are low in fat, cholesterol and calories—but high in taste and nutritional value.

And look for your favorite cuts of Publix meat — always lean, always the best.
