

QUESTION OF SPEED LIMIT MERELY UP TO DRIVERS SAYS EAST COAST JUDGE

State Laws Are Not Equitable in Their Present Form

EXPERIENCE RULE

SOME DRIVERS ARE SAFER AT 40 MILES AN HOUR THAN OTHERS AT 20.

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 25.—Members of automobile clubs throughout the state, according to reports received here, are discussing with deep interest the action of County Judge H. R. Morse, of Brevard county, who, after declaring he would NOT fine a motorist for exceeding the speed limit unless it was proven he was driving recklessly and endangering other traffic, dismissed last week the case against Mayor Reed, of Fort Lauderdale, brought before him for speeding on the Dixie Highway near Titusville.

A member of the Jacksonville Automobile Club in discussing the case, declared Judge Morse apparently was one of those court officials who realized that the majority of motorists can drive their cars at high speed with greater safety to themselves and other traffic than others can at a speed of twenty miles an hour. It also was pointed out that while the county laws place a limit on speed, the Judge apparently did not regard high speed on straight-aways with no other traffic in sight, as a serious violation inasmuch as the primary purposes of the laws are to prevent accidents.

"The holding of automobiles to speed limits fixed by the various counties is ridiculous if the road is good and other vehicles are not in sight," said the local motorist. "The highway between DeLand and Daytona, between West Palm Beach and Miami, and the Memorial Highway in Hillsborough county from Tampa to the Pirellas county line on the West Coast, might be mentioned as roads upon which the speed limit should be governed by the common sense of the driver. It is approximately twenty-two miles from DeLand to Daytona, with a wide, smooth road over which a car may run seventy-five miles an hour in safety, yet the speed limit is twenty-five miles. Between the two cities there are few settlements, only two turpentine camps, if my memory is correct. There is no reason why the motorist should not run as fast as his car can go if he has a clear road, and most of them do so.

"Twenty-five miles is the limit between West Palm Beach and Miami yet the highway is very broad and is one of the fastest in the United States. A car can be operated at sixty or seventy miles an hour over it with a greater margin of safety to the occupants and other traffic than a speed of twenty-five miles an hour would be on some of the narrow brick roads in South and Central Florida.

"The speed limit on the Memorial Highway from Tampa to the West Coast, a broad asphalt block road, as smooth as glass and with the few curves very long and easy, is twenty-five or thirty miles an hour. With no other traffic in the way there is no reason why the average motorist should not run at from forty to fifty miles an hour in perfect safety.

"The action of Judge Morse in declaring that unless a motorist was driving recklessly or endangering traffic he would not fine him for exceeding the speed limit is something that other county officials, including the traffic officers, might well consider."

The motorist added that very few automobilists would operate their cars at such excessive speed, even under the most favorable conditions, saying he had mentioned such figures merely as an illustration.

DEMOCRATS WERE UNABLE TO MAKE CUT

IN MODERATE INCOMES REPUBLICANS WERE OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Three separate proposals carrying reductions in the taxes on individuals having moderate incomes were voted down yesterday by the senate by overwhelming majorities. Discussion of them led to a hot political fight which culminated in an announcement by Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, in charge of the tax revision bill, that on Wednesday there would be submitted a resolution calling for continuous twenty-four hour sessions of the senate until the revenue measure finally was disposed of.

A "round-robin" pledging signers to remain continuously at the capitol, or within call, beginning Wednesday, was signed by twenty-eight Republicans and Senator Penrose said he hoped by tomorrow there would be forty-nine Republican signers, or a necessary majority to put the resolution through.

Senator Penrose declared that by having continuous sessions, senators who desired to discuss the "short-comings" of the Federal Reserve Board, the "iniquities" of Wall Street and other such subjects could do so between "4 a. m. and daybreak" without "delaying action of the tax bill."

could be depended upon to use common sense. If he is a driver whose sole aim is to get to his destination regardless of consequences, he should be dealt with to the full extent of the law."

STORM IN GULF, WARNINGS BY THE WEATHER BUREAU

SEVERE HURRICANE ON THE SOUTHWEST COAST OF FLORIDA

(By The Associated Press) The following wire was sent to Postmaster Elder this morning by the Weather Bureau: "Jacksonville, Fla., '10:06 A. M., Oct. 25, 1921. "Postmaster, "Sanford, Fla. "Severe hurricane in Gulf off the Southwest coast of Florida. Dangerous Easterly to shifting winds. Take all possible precautions. "MITCHELL."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Reports to the Weather Bureau early today showed that the Gulf hurricane was approaching the west coast of Florida near Tampa in a northeasterly direction. High winds are reported from Key West to Cedar Keys during the night and severe gales over the entire Florida peninsula with high tides on the west coast south of Cedar Keys are predicted for this afternoon and tonight.

Hurricane warnings will remain up the west coast from Key West to Apalachicola. It is stated by the Bureau that it is too early to say when or in what direction the disturbance would pass to sea, but gales along the coast as far north as Hatteras and rains throughout the south Atlantic states during the next thirty-six hours is predicted.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25.—Wireless reports to St. Augustine from Key West said that a fifty mile wind and rainstorm had raged there since midnight and the weather bureau here said the effects of the storm would be felt in the central and north portions of Florida this afternoon or tonight. No winds of such high velocity is expected in the interior states. Wire communication to many points on the lower west coast is crippled today, but meager reports indicate little damage anywhere. Telephone communication on Pinellas peninsula and below Tampa, were severed during the night, but commercial wires are working up to a late hour this afternoon.

All wires to St. Petersburg are lost and the press wire to Tampa are interrupted.

Signalmen Will Stick; Refuse to Go Out on Strike; Stay on Job

Will Not Take Place of Any Other Railroad Men in Strike.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The threatened strike, if it takes place, will be limited to 475,000 train service and telegraph operatives. This became known Monday when the signalmen followed the example of nine other standard unions and voted to remain at work. By this decision approximately 1,525,000 railway employes are on record against the strike.

The Brotherhood Railway Signalmen of America will not join the brotherhoods and switchmen in their contemplated strike President D. W. Helt announced Monday.

The Brotherhood's 15,000 members were instructed Monday to remain at their regular work, but to refuse assignment of any other duties which they might be asked to perform on account of vacancies caused by strikers leaving the roads. The decision was reached after several days of conferences by the executive officers. The brotherhood has taken no strike vote.

Of Railway Executives and Leaders of Brotherhoods

MAY STOP STRIKE

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT LOOKED FOR IN CASE THEY CAN ALL AGREE

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Railway executives met here today and leaders of the Brotherhoods in Cleveland in final conferences before their joint appearance at the Railroad Labor Board tomorrow which board hopes will lead to a peaceful settlement of the strike.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 25.—Chairman Barton, of the board, when advised today that Mr. Stone had advised his general chairmen that they need not respond to the board's citation to appear here tomorrow, said he had no communication from Mr. Stone on the subject and he could not understand why such an order should be given. "We shall take this matter up at once and correct it," Mr. Barton said. "We desire the presence of general chairmen of brotherhoods as well as executive officers. There is nothing in any of the messages sent out by the board summoning labor men which would be construed otherwise."

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 25.—Mr. Stone today corroborated reports that he had advised the general chairman of engineers that they need not respond to the citation of the railroad labor board to appear before the board in Chicago tomorrow. The opening may be postponed on account of Armistice day celebrations here and the burial of American unknown soldier.

Judge Barton, of the labor board, today telegraphed the heads of four brotherhoods and switchmen reiterating the previous announcement that all general chairmen are expected to attend the hearing starting here tomorrow.

Stone Says Are No Hard Feelings as Other Unions Stick

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, last night declared "there is no open break" between the "Big Five" railroad transportation organizations and the organizations of shop crafts which have voted not to join in the strike set to begin October 30.

"There is no open break. The situation is very much overdrawn. Each organization is free to use its own judgment. Each organization preserves its own autonomy." This was Mr. Stone's reply when asked if the action of the shops crafts in voting not to follow the lead of the "big five" indicated an open rupture of relations.

Some of the subordinate brotherhood officials intimated, however, that there was a strong possibility in their judgment that many of the members of other railroad labor organizations would join the members of the "big five" in the event they leave the service, regardless of their leaders' instructions to the contrary.

Miami Suicide Was Not Bank Pres. Spurgin

Who Absconded From Chicago—No Resemblance

MIAMI, Oct. 24.—While the body of C. Hayden, who committed suicide in a local hotel Friday night was identified by one former Chicagoan as Warren C. Spurgin, absconding Chicago bank president, others who claim to have known Spurgin say there is no resemblance between the dead man and the missing banker.

MIAMI, Oct. 24.—The "man of mystery," who committed suicide last Thursday night, in a local hotel, has been identified as Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the Michigan Avenue Trust Co., of Chicago, by W. F. Bennett, of Miami, former Chicago broker and intimate friend of Spurgin.

Bennett said that he could not be mistaken in his identification, that he often had been in Spurgin's company, had dined with him on numerous occasions and had entertained the former banker in his room.

The identification followed Bennett's reading a local newspaper's article commenting on the remarkable likeness of the dead man to the missing banker as shown by photographs of Spurgin.

Bennett's identification has been supplemented by those who have known the dead man during his six weeks' stay at the hotel here. In every case they said that the features as shown by Spurgin's photograph are identical with those of "C. Hayden," the name the dead man registered under.

The suicide had removed every means of identification previous to his death. Laundry marks, retail store and manufacturing labels had been carefully cut from all articles of clothing. Not a scrap of paper of any kind has been found to give a clue leading to possible information of the man. The clothing was expensive, the articles being exceedingly high grade. "Hayden" paid all hotel bills in $100 notes.

Authorities here have had photographs made and finger prints taken which are being sent broadcast in an effort to clear up the mystery.

DeWitt Cuyler, of New York, president of the Association of Railroad Executives. He received a telegram in reply stating that the matter had been referred to the proper authorities with a request for immediate consideration. Mr. Drane wants no discrimination shown.

OCALA WINS OVER SANFORD

Ocala won the football game Saturday after they had put Henderson and McLucas out of the game by dirty tactics and had they played as they started Sanford would have won the game but Henderson and McLucas were so good the Ocala team started to put them out and succeeded and after that the quarterback position could not be filled and the signals were not given correctly and Ocala romped home with the bacon. Sanford has been playing a good clean game and Coach Ed. Meisch and all the faculty of the High School want them to continue to play a clean game but it seems that other teams are not so conscientious and thereby lies the tale of the players being knocked out.

The Ocala correspondent of the Tampa Tribune had the following account in the Sunday issue: Ocala, Oct. 22.—(Special).—In the first game of football played here this season, the Ocala High school defeated the Sanford High school by the score of 25 to 0, in a pretty and well played game.

Ocala seemed to have had the better training of the two teams and Sanford was often calling for time out. Both Henderson, playing full back, and McLucas, at quarter, were knocked out in order. When McLucas went out no one was left that could run the team, but Ocala in her second half, took out both Hall and Knight in the backfield and substituted Rawls and Blowers and "Little Ted" Drake one of the smallest players we ever seen here in a uniform, took Fielding's place at left end.

Sanford chose to defend the north goal, Ocala kicking to Sanford, Sanford tried two passes and were held for downs. Smith made six yards and Hall, first down. Williams then gained four yards and Hall lost the same amount. Smith gained six and then carried the ball over for the first touchdown. They failed to kick goal. During the second quarter Ocala failed to gain and the half ended with the score, Ocala 6, Sanford 0.

Smith playing full for Ocala, was easily the star of the game for Ocala High. He made all four of the touchdowns. Williams, at quarter, ran his team well. Sanford opened the third quarter by kicking to Ocala's twenty-yard line and Williams brought the ball back fifteen yards. Smith made twenty and then they lost the ball on downs. Sanford failed to make first down and it was again Ocala's ball. On the first play, Smith went fifty yards for a touchdown, but failed to kick goal. With the ball on the twenty yard line and fifteen seconds left to play in the third quarter, Smith carried the ball for the required distance around right end and kicked goal. Ocala 19, Sanford 0.

Ocala worked the ball up to Sanford's twenty yard line, Fielding making a gain of twenty yards on the only fake run Ocala tried. From there Smith raced twenty yards to the final touchdown. Ocala carried the ball to within three yards of another touchdown but were held for downs and Sanford failed to gain on the first play and the game was over.

"A UNION BLUNDER AND A RAILROAD CRIME."

Neither side of the railroad quarrel is honest in its pretensions. The railroads are as wrong in charging that the brotherhoods are merely striking against the Government as the brotherhoods are in giving the 12 per cent. wage reduction of July 1 as the cause of their action.

The motives sink deeper than this and go back further. The railroads are trying to break the power of the unions and have had that purpose in mind ever since the great triumph of the unions in the Adamson act of congress in 1916. The unions have been made extremely sensible of this purpose ever since the roads were turned back to their owners under the transportation act of 1920 and think to "bent them to it," as they would say, by this final test of whose power is the greater. And in either case the contempt of consequences to the innocent third party, the public is equal.

It is apparent, therefore, that both sides are in equal need of a lesson, and one administered short of the starvation of the cities and the breakdown of all industry which a general strike would mean. The railroads have acted badly. They have refused to respect those provisions of the transportation act which affirm the principle of collective bargaining. The proof of this is to be found in certain decisions of the railroad labor board against the Pennsylvania road which the railway unions are circulating in leaflet form. That is where the immediate origin of the threatened strike can be found. That is where we must go to form an accurate judgment on the merits of this controversy. And the conclusion is that the railroads on their part must come in under the transportation act and give evidence of a purpose to stay there in good faith.

The unions on their part must do the same thing. They have committed a hideous blunder in calling a strike, particularly at this stage of the quarrel. They have allowed the roads to play them into an impossible position so far as justification for their action to public opinion is concerned. They have made themselves appear as striking against the 12 per cent. wage reduction of July 1, which was decreed by the railroad labor board by due process under the transportation act, and that as a reason for the strike is absurd and they know it to be absurd. They cannot stand up a moment at the bar of public judgment with no more of a cause than that. They, too, must come back under the law where they had been in evident good faith up to this fatal jump in the air with strike orders.

The country's patience nears exhaustion. It cannot live in peace and comfort under this perennial menace of a transportation tieup. Means must and will be found to end it.—New York World.

PRaise FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY OFFICIALS FOR PROTECTING THE GAME

A permanent law for the proper enforcement of laws that will really protect our game state-wide seems almost impossible at Tallahassee for the simple reason that there are already a majority of the counties of the state so near depleted of big game that there is no interest taken in such counties to enforce the laws they already have. But should the counties in the state which have sufficient seed left to rebuild their game have special acts passed, as Orange county has done, and form organizations among the good sportsmen and hunters and use every effort to eliminate the unscrupulous hunter from the woods in closed season, also have their bags watched by the wardens and deputies during the open season, we can bring back the game which has been so unmercifully slaughtered in the past; and if our county can and will do it, the adjoining counties will see where-by they can profit in the same manner and they will gradually fall in line, I believe, and in time it will be a state-wide undertaking.

Mr. Rogers' motto "that the fellow that can't take a drink without emptying the entire bottle," also applies to the one that will not resist hunting one of season because he thinks some other fellow slips out and kills something out of season. I consider this a weak argument for one to put up if he really wants to have the game of his county protected.

Wild game will thrive and prosper regardless of the quantity of varmints there might be raised in the woods among them to destroy it, if the man with the gun will let them. This has been proven in the past in this county before the hunters started on them. The great buffalo of the west proves this. Where are they today and what exterminated them? Mr. Rogers says his trusty gun has killed more destroyers of game than it has game. Leave that trusty gun on the rack, Mr. Rogers, during the closed season, you as well as all other good sportsmen and go to the woods and be true to your bag limit in the open season. Go to the woods with a warrant for the fellow that won't put his gun up, instead of in search of varmints that destroy game and you will see more game in your county and state.

I have no hand-shake of approval or sympathy as Mrs. Rorters says he has for Mr. Walker of Auburndale who invaded Seminole county's best hunting forest of bear, wild turkey and deer with such a horde of men, guns and dogs. With all respect to these gentlemen and so-called sportsmen of Polk county or anywhere else, should they attempt to perpetrate such an act in Orange county they will soon find the sheriff, his deputy and wardens hot on their trails if the Wild Life League's efforts can use any influence to bring them to justice.

The Wild Life League sincerely hopes that there will be no occasion for any such action, but they are determined to use every honorable means possible to stop the unlawful hunting in Orange county and protect the game. They ask the loyal support of every good sportsman and law abiding citizen in the county to help them in every way they can within the law.

The game in Orange county can be protected and propagated if every huntsman will do his full duty. Do not fear the man who does not hunt. Game will not suffer by him. It is the sportsman and the hunter, the man who loves the game and this sport. He and he alone can bring about a success of these efforts, but he must be a true sportsman and carry fair and stand shoulder to shoulder with his brother sportsmen. Do not weaken by the thought that because one unscrupulous huntsman slips out and gets one, he must do the same in order to get his. Go after that fellow with a warden instead of the game with the gun. This is my solution of real game protection.

(Signed) JAMES KINCAID, Vice-President of Orange County Division of the Wild Life League, Orange County, Florida.

Hit the "Sawdust Trail" The man who never has built a house has missed one of the greatest pleasures of life. There is no fun to compare with planning a home—watching it take shape under the hammer and saw—and then moving into it to enjoy its comfort and shelter. A good, substantial house is a splendid monument to a man's usefulness. Add something to the city you live in. "Hit the Sawdust Trail!" HILL LUMBER CO. SERVICE QUALITY PRICE

ASK HIM SOMETHING

"Ask Dave, he knows," is what Will Hays, the popular postmaster general, is saying to people these days, for after a personal investigation pictured above he came to the conclusion that David Garvey, whose face smiles at you through the window, knows everything there is to know. So Will fixed up this job for David and visitors to Washington find it mighty convenient. "Ask me something hard," says Garvey.

COMING OF THE TELEGRAPH TO KEY WEST.

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 25.—The coming of the telegraph to Key West incident to the construction of the first cable between the United States and Cuba, was outlined by John W. Adkins, in a recent address before the local Rotary club.

The first cable was laid in 1867, Mr. Adkins said, between Key West and Havana, a distance of 125 nautical miles. Key West was connected with the mainland by cable at Punta Rassa. An uncertain land wire was strung through wooded sections to Lake City, where contact was established with the Western Union.

J. A. Scrymser, a veteran of the civil war, first conceived the idea of connecting the two countries, Mr. Adkins related. The work was carried out by the International Ocean Telegraph Company. The first two years of operation of the Havana-Key West cable proved unsatisfactory, according to Mr. Adkins, and in 1869, a second cable was laid. In 1873 a third cable was laid, and another added in 1898, followed by the fifth and last cable in 1917. Of the five cables laid, three are now in use, Mr. Adkins told the Rotarians.

The first message sent on the line, now in the possession of Mr. Adkins, was addressed to General Smith, president of the International Ocean Company at New York and signed by W. E. Everett. It said: "Thanking all good fortune and forgetting bad ones, we have just landed and temporary connection made. Monday will make all right. Don't you want to send first message to Captain General?"

Only four cables were laid between Key West and Punta Rassa, according to Mr. Adkins, and only one of those cables is in operation today. In 1898 a cable, containing three conductors, was laid between Key West and Miami. According to Mr. Adkins, the population of Miami at that time was about 800.

McLaughlin Says "Tell The World All About Florida"

The following from C. O. McLaughlin, formerly of this city, but now in the Development Department of the Seaboard Air Line Ry., is interesting: Norfolk, Va., October 19, 1921.

Mr. R. J. Holly, Editor
The Sanford Herald,
Sanford, Fla.

Dear Holly:
Every time I read an advertisement that looks good I think of you and Sanford.

I enclose a copy of The Peanut Promoter, October, 1921, edition, for the purpose of calling your attention to page 48: "Let's Tell the World."

"Telling the World" is what gets there. If a manufacturer tells the world in a proper fashion about his goods, he generally sells more than his advertisement costs. If a state, a county or a city has anything to tell the world, and tells, the people will be attracted to it. To prove this assertion I am sending you an advertisement published in the Photographic Section of the New York Times, by the City of San Diego, Calif. This is not the only advertisement these people have published in this particular section of the Times; they are at it constantly. For comparison, I am also sending you an advertisement by Jacksonville, Florida. I will appreciate it if you will return these ads because they are a part of my file.

If there is any place in the world, that I know of, that actually has something to tell the world it is Seminole county and Sanford, Florida. The county is full of things to tell, but we must tell it exactly like a man advertises his goods, or the product of his factory.

There is not an inland city in Florida enjoying a greater blessing than Sanford enjoys, by reason of its location on Lake Monroe at the head of navigation. Your system of artesian wells is filled with opportunities for exploitation. The celery and lettuce farms, from the breaking of the ground all through the period from the seed bed to shipping, are an opportunity for constant stories of human interest. The county is full of lakes and streams, and brick roads run in every direction. Not a day passes but I think of the wonderful opportunity for a good live advertising man to send out something about Sanford.

REASON WHY BATTERIES ARE SHORT LIVED IN FORD AUTOMOBILES.

L. A. Renaud, Local Vesta Dealer, Describes Various Reasons.

Since the Ford car has been electrically equipped a good many owners have wondered at the relative shortness of life of their starting batteries.

The reason for this is found in the rather rigid spring suspension of the Ford and the fact that many owners drive their cars rapidly over rough roads, together with the short wheel base and the light weight of the car itself.

The vibration set-up under these conditions quite naturally is transmitted to the battery. This induces a slight rubbing action between the plates and separators, causing rapid deterioration of the separator and subsequent short circuiting of the battery.

There is one battery, however, on the market whose construction specially fits it to withstand these conditions. That battery is the Vesta. The plates in the Vesta battery are locked firmly apart by the Vesta Indestructible Isolators. These "isolators" are practically vibration proof, and there is no way in which the plates can touch. Inasmuch as the "isolators" are not in the path of the current they in no way affect the capacity of the battery for this reason that the Vesta Batteries are exceptionally long lived in their cars.—Adv.

DADE CITY CIGAR FACTORY TO BUILD

DADE CITY, Oct. 25.—The Tampa-Cuba Cigar Co., under the management of Mr. Edwin DeLong, is employing 100 hands and working over time. The business has increased so much that the company is contemplating an addition to the present building. They have standing orders for 500,000 cigars a week; in addition to this, they are filling a special order for 300,000 of one kind of cigar. Mr. Weller, of Tampa, will give the making and packing of this order his special attention.

The company recently filled an order for 110,000 cigars which were sent to Yokohama, Japan. This is considered a large export order.

The Dade City branch of the Tampa-Cuba Co. was established here about three years ago and has grown to such an extent that it is now one of Dade City's leading industries.

"Is Professional Baseball Sport," asks a headline in the Literary Digest. We don't know. Suppose you query Orlando?

We want to see Sanford High and Orlando High play football here on Thanksgiving day. We believe we can promise them a good crowd.

Daily passenger service on the St. Johns river between Jacksonville and Sanford, and a boat most every day from Jacksonville north to New York. A strike would not hit Florida so hard after all.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

At the International Editorial Association held in Honolulu it was decided that the future newspapers would be much smaller. We can vouch for the truth of that statement if paper and wages go any higher.

The circus is coming. It will be the same old program and the same old everything—at least it usually is the same but the circus never grows old to young and old alike. We might add that we will be there on a front seat that night.

Tampa says a stranger got there at 9:15 a. m. and by noon owned a home. That's nothing. Orlando has some strangers who arrive at 4:21 p. m. and by 4:22 they own the town.—Orlando Sentinel.

We have others who get here at 9:15 and at 9:30 they are in jail.

Florida is lucky again. The big storm headed this way has been shunted off and all we get is plenty of rain and colder weather afterward which is just what the farmers want and the merchants want and the fellow selling wood wants. So since the majority is satisfied it must be all right and we are lucky.

When a merchant talks about "affording advertising," he is getting ready for the live merchant to take his trade away from him. People do not "afford" advertising any more than the man who needs a suit of clothes, or a dollar's worth of groceries "affords" them. It is not a question of affording advertising. It is a vital necessity.

"Let's Tell the World" about Sanford, and in the telling let everyone have a share by joining the Sanford Chamber of Commerce and making it unanimous. The Chamber of Commerce is doing more for Sanford than any other body of men within the confines of the city limits, and they should have the undivided support of the entire citizenship.

We are glad to note the Yowell Co., of this city starting the Dollar Day advertisement this week. The Dollar Day campaigns are doing more to bring people to town to trade than any form of advertising, and Sanford merchants could well afford to get together and run Dollar Day advertisements and Dollar Day sales at least once each week. They are trade getters.

Among the new papers of the State is the Umatilla Exponent, of Umatilla, in the county of Lake, State of Florida, and for a youngster of three issues, it is a lousy one. It contains eight pages filled with good reading matter, and much advertising—in fact, it has more advertising than any paper of similar size in the State. E. C. Miller is the man behind the paper on the Exponent, and we want to say that he is hitting a good one. Success to the Exponent.

The "slip off" evening gown, is the very latest thing for evening wear, says the fashion magazines. Well, we hope not. Some of them we saw last year had some of these same tendencies, and we are afraid for the result, if the holdback strap breaks.

The storm seems to be here in all its intensity, and while it seems to have passed around us, and only given Sanford a small flood of rain, you can never tell about the gales that blow from Yucatan at this time of the year. However, we can feel safe in saying that no more storms will blow until this time next year.

It begins to look as though the strike would not materialize. We do not believe that the railroads, or the men, want a strike now that they have sounded out the public pulse. As this paper said in the beginning, the public intends to be "hardballed" in this strike, and it will be thumbs down for both sides. The public knows when it has had enough and it has been long suffering.

The Herald wants to see some action on the golf and country club. The Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee some time ago to take care of this project, and to start some action on the same, but since that time, nothing has been heard of the golf links. It is the most important question that confronts the tourist situation here today, and we should take it up at once.

Florida has so many bright days, that when it rains all day, it makes people feel blue. Now if you lived in some countries where this sort of weather prevails more than half of the year, it would be time to feel blue. There are only a few times that a whole day is given over to rain and clouds in Florida. And this little storm will make us appreciate the bright Florida sun when it appears again.

The Railroad Labor Board warns the public to "Refrain from loose talk and provocative language" about either side of the controversy. We don't know just what the Labor Board means by this but the board can be assured that the public will do some talking and the board will come in for its share of roasting along with the rest. America is a free country or was up to a few years ago and we opine that citizens will continue to talk about their public servants just as much as they wish. We admit that everyone should use caution in the strike and do their part toward keeping peace in the community but people will use their prerogative and talk right on.

The following is from a current note on the trend of women's wear: "Overnight—one might say—the dresses of women have fallen from the knees to the ground, and are even adding trains. The stuccant knee-cap has regained its pristine sanctity; the shapely calf and the unshapely calf along with it, has once more become cloistered and inviolate to human eye. Whether a lady should roll her own or pliously cling to the lecturer's garter, is no longer an appropriate subject for heated masculine debate. It really doesn't matter how she keeps 'em up if they are no longer visible to the naked eye." All of which is interesting to all interested in such things, but the women are going to continue to wear what they want to wear, and roll their hosiery any sort of fashion that suits the occasion. Women have been rolling their stockings ever since they were compelled to give up the regular Eve regula—there are many women who have fixed opinion that anything that will produce pressure enough to hold a sock or stocking, will interfere with the circulation of the blood. Skirts should come down a foot or two—as much as three feet on some forms—but if they do not want to wear longer skirts, that's their business.

HAVE WE A GROCERY TRUST?

It seems that a grocery trust is in the formation period and the press has said something about it and the South Florida Press Association took action on it. But the new trust was only supposed to reach as far north as Orlando.

The Kissimmee Valley-Gazette, the editor of which publication was at the meeting of the Press Association, has the following to say:

One of the things learned at the gathering of the South Florida Press Association—in addition to the fact that Lakeland is a mighty fine progressive city—was the inside plans of the scheme fathered in Tampa and pledged to extend its tentacles into this entire district, founded and fostered by some of the wholesale grocers of Tampa.

The editors visiting the session of the association listened to an expose of the purposed plans of the proposed combination of the wholesale grocers of Tampa. The details were told by one well known in all business circles in Lakeland—and matters were explained so fully that each editor left the meeting firmly determined to make public the plans and do his best through the columns of his paper to defeat the entire scheme; or, at any rate, do the best he could to protect his own home wholesale grocer.

It seems that even wholesale grocers in Tampa have formulated a scheme by which the wholesale houses throughout Florida may be wiped out—after which the entire trade would be handled by the syndicate at the prices which the syndicate thought the "traffic would bear." The plan, as told at the start, merely seems to be that the wholesale grocer of Tampa stand ready to supply the grocers in all the various towns and cities from a series of warehouses located in various portions of South Florida.

But underlying the entire scheme there appears to be a plan to wipe out the wholesale grocers in the cities of South Florida. If this Tampa aggregation can succeed in securing the wholesale houses already established there is no doubt it will do so; if it cannot do that it will establish upon its own initiative duplicates—and attempt to "freeze out" the local houses by offering goods at lower prices, and making practically as quick deliveries. That is a regular Standard Oil trick. That company will sell oil and gasoline in a certain community at a losing rate until the smaller company is compelled to close down or dispose of its holdings at any price the greater corporation may agree to pay. Then the prices go up—up—up; and the people pay.

It stands every wholesale grocery in South Florida to enter an alliance—to co-operate, if that word is better—against the innovation and establishment which is being proposed by the seven Tampa firms; the sort of Seven Wonderful Sisters. Once that aggregation shall obtain a foothold in any city it will mean ultimately a steady increase in the cost of living—and the killing of the home enterprise. There can be no half-way course. Every grocer, every retail grocer, should avoid the snarl of the propagandist who may cleverly endeavor to tie up the various institutions which have been established; otherwise there will be a considerable loss of capital and a total annihilation of business program.

FAIR PLAY TO UNIONS.

A union railway worker suggested to the News yesterday, by telephone, that it should remain neutral in the present differences between the employees and employers. He had reference to an editorial in which we predicted that whether there is a strike or not the roads will be operated. We said not one word about the justice or injustice of the attitude of either side. So if there is any doubt as to our attitude we state it plainly that we believe the railroad man who believes he is not getting a sufficient amount of pay for the work he is doing is justified in walking out and seeking other employment. That is a primary principle of free government.

We have no enlarged perspective of the weight that any expressed opinion of this paper will have in the present negotiations between employer and employee further than that it is in accord with the majority expressed sentiment on the subject.

Operation of the railroads is vital to the life of the nation. If one set of men will not operate them for an agreed stipulation and another set of men will—in the emergency—there should be no interference with a new arrangement. We believe the unions have a perfect right to quit work whenever they desire, that they have the individual right to demand shorter hours and more pay. But we are stating no new principle when we say the employer has an equal right to reduce pay and lengthen hours, the matter of agreement being between both parties.

But this is aside from the statement made in this newspaper yesterday. We touched on no phase of the differences existing. We said the millions of American people dependent on the railroads will see that they are operated as the first law of nature.—Palatka News.

Babe Ruth thinks he is bigger than baseball, but baseball was here when Babe was practicing home-run batting on the sides of his crib and will be here after Babe's record will have been so long forgotten that ambitious sport writers will be looking it up in the World's Almanac.

PUBLICITY TAX IS A GOOD INVESTMENT.

In levying a publicity tax of one-half mill, the City of Clermont has been but keeping pace with many of the larger towns, who propose by taxation, which seems the equitable way, to raise revenues and to let people know why life is worth living in this community.

The money thus raised will be placed at the disposal of the Clermont Board of Trade and there is no doubt as to the wisdom exercised in spending it. The Board of Trade is composed of representative business and professional people of the town and they are individually and collectively interested in the proclaiming to the world the advantages and pleasures to be secured by new settlers and visitors coming to Clermont.

Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce are worthy organizations and in many localities they have been instrumental in locating new industries. With the limited funds at their disposal, which usually accumulated in the collection of membership dues, the levying of a publicity tax gives to every citizen the privilege of helping in the development of his or her community.—Clermont Lake Press.

PARENTS SHOW WISDOM

In these days when so many parents, intentionally or unintentionally, contribute to laxness in discipline of boys and girls, it is gratifying to note the outcome of a "strike" of 40 high school boys in Augusta, Me. The boys quit because one of the members of the school had been punished.

Did the parents of the boys sympathize with them as so many unwisely do and try to find reasons for condemning the teacher for the exercise of discipline? The record shows that they did nothing of the kind, but by common consent they stood back of the teacher.

When 40 boys were informed by their parents that they must return to school at once, or the alternative would be the infliction of corporal punishment such as was given the offending pupil, they decided that school strikes were not so attractive after all and that attendance at school promised more in the way of comfort to themselves.

The action of these boys in quitting school as a protest against the authority placed over them is not surprising, but rather it is in keeping with the spirit of the times. They see disregard for authority on all hands, and it was only natural that they should conclude that a strike could be made effective.

The example of the parents of Augusta may well be taken into the memory of the parents of other communities. There may come the time in almost any school when a test of authority presents itself. If parents are inclined to sympathize with their children, right or wrong, a condition is created which can only mean trouble for all concerned.—St. Petersburg Times.

WEST PALM BEACH BANK DEPOSITS.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Oct. 25.—Bank deposits in West Palm Beach have increased from $310,169.05 on July 1, 1909, to approximately four and a half millions at present, says a writer in the West Palm Beach Post, in dealing with the banking progress since Palm Beach county was organized in 1909. The number of banks has increased from one to three and the fourth is building.

The number of banks in the county has increased from one in 1909 to nine at present. A building to quarter the Kelsey City Bank and Trust Company has been completed at Kelsey City, and the bank is expected to open its doors at an early date. In addition to three banks now doing business here, Lake Worth has three, while Boynton, Delray and Stuart have one each.

These institutions do not include the building loan associations and similar institutions.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Old storm is here but not fierce enough yet to cause any uneasiness. Reports say 73 today and the continued rain will make it go lower before night. Quite enough rain now for a while and looking for the sun to shine tomorrow but we are not making the weather and therefore will take it as it comes. At that Sanford is greatly blessed. And the gale was bound to come before we could have any settled weather. Goodbye gnats, you little scoundrels.

SUGGESTIVE READING.

You will hear it said that such and such a magazine prints suggestive stories, meaning that they present corrupting ideas in an attractive dress. But there is a suggestiveness also of quite a different sort—the suggestiveness that quickens the reader's sense of duty, stimulates ambition, gives courage to face adversity, fortifies against yielding easily to temptation. It is this better kind of suggestiveness that you will find on almost every page of the Youth's Companion. Which of these two kinds of suggestiveness would you wish to have exert an influence in your family life?

The 52 issues of 1922 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive: The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1922.

All the remaining issues of 1921. The Companion Home Calendar for 1922.

All for $2.50. Or include McCall Magazine, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $3.00. THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Commonwealth Ave., & St. Paul St., Boston, Mass. New Subscriptions Received at This Office.
