Christmas Season Young Business Men Will Ask More Light

Officers of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce forecast today that the organization will make plans at its meeting in the Mayfield Hotel this evening to reduce the amount of time spent during the Christmas season.

Additional colored lights across First Street will probably be taken down after the new year, and electric signs will be removed for business interests along the streets during the Yuletide.

The business section of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will follow a dinner to be served in the Mayfield Inn (top photo).

UNSEEN VALUES. While we not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.

Did you know that Harvard University is twice as old as the United States of America?

It has about reached the point where a fellow has to slip his first aid kit into his pocket every time he takes the car out of the garage.

As far as the average football fan is concerned, the chances are he can tell you which side won as soon as the game is over, but he can't tell you how it happened until he has read the newspapers the next day.

Italian Heroes Are Decorated concludes Olson. "Nothing looks

And another good thing about the cross-state canal, if we have a war with Cuba, all of South Florida could cross over to the north bank and hide behind the palmetto stumps while the Cuban navy was shelling the American gumbogs up the St. Lawrence River.

It wasn't us that said it, but the average woman has to drive a car twenty-five years before she can drive as well as the average man. That's what Dr. Harry De-solla, psychology professor at the Massachusetts State College, says after conducting a series of tests on this subject. So send your brackets to him.

To cook three yolk in a chicken egg to a point in with the fact that there is also a Sanford in Maine. When Summer Bunker's pullet hen laid an egg the other day it was found to contain three yolks and that in Sanford, Maine, a front page news for all the United Press papers. Now if that had happened in Sanford, Fla., it would hardly have been worth a comment.

President Roosevelt says the bankers told him this country could safely stand a public debt of $5 to 70 billion dollars. But he'd better not take those bankers too seriously. It was the bankers that told us how much debt some of our Florida cities could stand in 1926 and how much money we, as individuals, could safely borrow about that time. Sometimes the bankers get just like every body else and make mistakes.

other boom is in the making, on the way, or already arrived, should read Ralph Robey, professor of political economy at the Columbia University School of Business who says, "Recent activity in the stock market should be sufficient, even if no other evidence were available, to indicate that the United States today is in the midst of a major inflationary movement."

Italy Prints The News

How difficult it is for the people of Italy really to understand what is going on or whether their government is leading them is seen from "orders" given the newspapers of that country by the Ministry of the Press and Propaganda, the gigantic government bureau which controls the publication of news in Italy. As most of the people get their information about national and international affairs from the newspapers, and as the radio is controlled in much the same manner as the press, it is easy to see that the Italian people know only what Mussolini wants them to know.

American editors would hardly know how to operate or how to publish a newspaper under such conditions as exist in Rome. Practically every item printed in their papers must have the approval of some government agent. Orders are issued daily from the propaganda headquarters telling them what can be published and what cannot be published. No criticism whatever of Il Duce or the Italian government is tolerated under any circumstances. Severe fines and other penalties face publishers who overlook the rules.

Even Italian editors in this country publishing Italian newspapers receive orders from Rome telling them how to interpret the news. Girolamo Valenti, the editor of "La Stampa Libera," a daily newspaper published for the Italian people in New York City, recently enclosed a series of secret orders which he had received from the Italian Ministry of the Press and Propaganda advising him how news on Italian affairs should be handled.

A number of orders as translated by Mr. Valenti, with comments by him as to the significance of some of the items, follow:

October 23

"Do not comment on Il Duce's speech. (The speech delivered by Sir Samuel Hoare, British Foreign Secretary to Commons on October 22.)

"Reproduce—you must reproduce—news from Agenzia Roma (an Italian news agency) regarding sanctions and France's position. (This news gathered by Agenzia Roma in Paris revealed significant movements which were beginning to appear in French business circles concerning the fear of hurting business by sanctions.)

October 24

"The account of the Fascist accomplishments in the war XLI of the Fascist regime must appear with emphasis in all new papers.

"Quo hibit the correspondence from Asmara regarding Count Camo, especially the headlines cut down emphasis of the air raid on 'La Desperada' (Mussolini's two sons also are members of this organization).

"In the speech by Mussolini to the press, there must be taken out in the third paragraph the word 'profound' which follows the word 'justice.'

"In the message to the Black Shirts, in the sentence which starts with 'Legittima della Rivoluzione' the word 'you must' must be corrected as follows: 'you shall,' and the word 'you must' which comes next must be corrected as follows: 'you can.'

October 25

"As regards England as well as France and Germany, keep an attitude of reserve. Instead, give much emphasis to our internal activities. Put into relief the inauguration of our public works and especially of our University City.

"Give space to the bulletins regarding limitations and economies on the consumers' needs, putting into relief that Fascist Italy answers with self-sacrifice and a spirit of sacrifice to the impudent sanctions.

October 26

"Comment on the telegram which the rabbit and poultry raisers sent to Il Duce.

"Devote entire front page to the ceremony at the inauguration of University City. Give it much prominence. Comment on Il Duce's speech.

"In reference to the answer of the United States government to the League of Nations, it is opportune that the comments of the Italian press be generally limited to the noted substantial confirmation of the neutrality stand by the United States. On the other hand, as regards the maintenance of the peace in Europe, put into relief the illusions of indirect encouragement to the action of the League that may be caused by the reading of the note of the American Secretary of State. Comment with the utmost reserve, with appreciations that could reveal satisfaction for the American note to Geneva."

Returning Borrowed Books

While advocating the institution of "Return-A-Borrowed-Book-Week," Jim Temple Graves, writing in the Birmingham Age-Herald, makes a distinction between books which you really borrowed, and books which were thrust upon you, a distinction of which we very heartily approve. Indicating the widespread popularity of his proposal to return borrowed books, Mr. Graves quotes from Mrs. Ernest Levy of Demopolis, as follows:

"It is with delight that I see you laying aside your fight on 'Pittsburgh Plus,' amending the constitution, etc., and getting down to this really important business of urging book borrowers to return the books to their rightful and disturbed owners. I heard of one person near here who cleaned out her book shelves and found 50 borrowed books. I haven't heard yet whether she returned them. Many embittered book lenders are waiting with bated breath the result of your 'Return-A-Borrowed-Book Week.' I've had copy of 'The Recording Angel' out for years. Maybe it will come home."

To which Mr. Graves replies, "Well, Mrs. Levy, we've been waiting five years now for the return of our copy of Benet's 'John Brown's Body' with all the favorite passages we had marked in it, but there's no dust on the horizon yet to indicate its approach. Failing to return borrowed books is not only ungrateful, immoral and illegal, it seems to us, but downright bad-mannered. In our own mind we make a sharp distinction between borrowed books and loaned books. The latter are books which people insist upon lending you when you haven't asked for them, don't want them, have no time. We intend to read them, and would never accept them but for fear of hurting the volunteer lender's feelings. Such books should be returned, of course, but not as scrupulously as books one has borrowed on his own initiative. With nothing but the kindest intentions, people who insist upon lending books can be, an awful nuisance sometimes."

NORRIS URGES NEUTRALITY

WAshington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Sen. Norris (D-Neb.), lone survivor of the six senators who voted against American entry into the World War, argued Friday for an extension of the neutrality program act to embrace bans against all war purposes—commodities—"including cotton, steel and everything else."

The Sanford Forum

Ranford, Fla.
Dec. 2, 1935
To The Sanford Herald
The Civic Department of the Woman's Club of Sanford will conduct a series of Open Forums on matters of general interest, the first of which will take place Thursday night, Dec. 5, at 8:00 o'clock in the club house on Oak Avenue.

The subject for discussion will be the Cross-State Ship Canal. The public is invited to attend, and anyone with information on this important project is requested to give or send it to the meeting.

The Woman's Club is not a political organization. We do not sponsor any government policy which is or may become a party issue. We merely provide the ball and the opportunity for all to be heard, in the hope that, out of conflicting statements, facts may be sifted from false hearsay—our ultimate aim, THE TRUTH.

As the sentiment of this section is strongly against this canal, we, a million dollar business, thus have, in the interest of fair play, invited the Marion County Chamber of Commerce to send me one or more speakers from Ocala to the bank, the building trades, the defend their cause. This inv. aff. has been accepted.

We hope that Ocala will bring their best boy boatmen on the St. Johns River which will no longer be a mosquito infested swamp. We must all stand in solid support of the local celery farmer, like a pack of all those new filling stations get all the propagation of the proposed canal right through the south of the proposed canal right through Central and Southern Florida will, in time, become a barren and desolate island where no one will want to live. A whole colony who will support the merchant and where healthy sunshine and beautiful surroundings prevail, outdoor recreation in the heat of winter, and restored health always.

The canal will be the boundary of gardens as well as fields, trees and birds and grass and the azaleas planted with great care at Palatka will mark the turning point for tourists seeking the Land of Flowers.

JULIA L. PAPWORTH,
Chairwoman Civic Department

There seems no limit to the sacrifice imposed upon a section of country by public works, if a greater section will profit thereby. In the matter of that water supply for

Opposition Hidden By Politeness

KISSIMMEE GAZETTE

Because he was a guest of old friends who would not intentionally hurt his feelings, Senator Duncan E. Fletcher returned from a recent visit to Miami with the impression that opposition to the cross-state canal is dying out!

He made a public announcement in Jacksonville to that effect, and his old-time friends and admirers down the state said to each other, "Poor old fellow he couldn't have stood to hear what we actually think of that cross-state canal project, and the skullduggery behind it."

The canal is being "started"—we feel sure that only a few "innocents" really believe that the foolish thing will ever become more than an unfinished ditch to provide a pay roll. It will make a few special men and special interests rich, and will provide Santa Claus money for hundreds of others who are thought useful for the 1936 political campaign.

As for the opposition that Senator Fletcher thinks has died or is dying, it is growing more firmly rooted every day. The very fact that this opposition so far has accomplished nothing has increased the bitterness of loyal men and women who are rapidly attaining a state of rebellion that can lead to serious and disastrous things.

Mr. Fletcher, The Gazette believes, is being used by special powers, used without his being aware of it and without his real understanding of what it is all about. He is effective in his role because the canal is a sort of swan song he is making, deluded into thinking that it is a worthy record to leave as the finish of a long and useful career.

Someone tactful enough need to explain to Senator Fletcher that it was not lack of opposition to the big deal that he found in South Florida. What he found was a generous silence, a lack of loving kindness toward an old man liked and respected by thousands of Florida citizens who believed that he was above the things that seem to be the why-for of the cross-state canal.

None Picked The Winner In Last Football Games; Even Lagona's Luck Deserts Him

Last week, the closing chapter of the Herald-Milano football pick-the-winner contest, for this season, saw every fan go down in defeat along with many of the nation's best college teams.

Not one single person succeeded in selecting 10 winners from the entire nation's Thanksgiving or Saturday games, and only two were good enough to turn in scores, exceeding only one miss.

The others missed as many as five out of 10 guesses.

Throughout this contest the women fans have taken an active part and every week at least one woman has won theater tickets. An interesting feature of last week's contest was that out of the entire lot of pick-the-winner fans only two who missed one game out of the 10 were women. Mrs. Ruth Warren and Miss Dorothy Warren were correct in nine of their guesses but missed on the Carnegie Tech-Pittsburgh upset.

Throughout the season H. D. Lagone has consistently led the pack in selecting the most winners weekly. He has won each week with the exception of once, when all other fans also lost. Last week he lost because he missed on three of his 10 guesses, but each of the games he slipped up on were wins. The Syracuse-Maryland, Penn-Maryland-Uruguay and Pittsburgh-Carnegie Tech tie caused Mr. Lagone to lose out along with everyone else last week.

Among the upsets in last week's games which caused all pick-the-winner fans to lose out were: Georgia Tech's victory over George Mississippi's win over Miss. Muster-Xavier's defeat of Centralia, the Pittsburgh-Carnegie Tech tie, the Vanderbilt victory over Alabama; Maryland's upset over Tennessee; Columbia's sudden win over the strong Dartmouth eleven; Cornell's victory over Clemson; Cornell's defeat of Rice; Catholic University's win over S. Carolina Indians.

Those who turned in lists containing not more than two misses were: Mrs. D. G. Scott, Sam

Waite, Thelma Lake, Doris Lake, Catherine Lake, P. W. Radford, and Mack Watkins.

The fans who missed on three games out of 10 were: Mrs. R. F. Monsalvage, H. D. Lagone, Catherine Kelly, Mrs. Hudson Huston, Homer Little, Buddy Lake, John Hommer, Gwendolyn Hayes, R. F. Monsalvage, Jack Morrison, Ralph Beets, Dan Bansell, Albert Kelly, Mrs. F. A. Palmer, Carlin Palmer, F. A. Palmer, Ralph A. Palmer, Mrs. Ralph A. Smith, and A. C. Madden.

Many of the fans missed on four out of 10. They were: Eugene Stovall, Manuel Brown, Dick Mason, W. B. Bettis Jr., Earl Piercy, Durieux Hayes, Mrs. J. M. Stinecipher, Sidney Weinberg, Claude Whitten, Frank Kelly, E. Alex Sharin, Mrs. Gertrude Gilbert, Ed Wilson, Webster Welborn, Joseph N. Tenhet, Arthur Weinberg, Joe Douglass, Eugene St. John, Nella Moesback, Mrs. W. L. Hughes, G. B. Upchurch, and Jack Keene.

The following turned in five losers: Sidney Nix, Raymond Monsalvage, Mrs. L. I. Hughes, D. G. Scott, Walter Stovall, Dent Piercy, J. M. Stinecipher, Hudson Heater, Eugene Tippins, Margaret Culkin, H. C. Tippins, Mrs. Pearl Johnston, Mrs. J. G. Waits, Carl Vause, and Joe Johnston.

Fours fans turned in lists recording six wrong selections out of 10. They were: Eddie Rawson, Clyde Piercy, Mrs. J. N. Tenhet, and Louise Johnston.

L.S.U. Is At Top Of Southeastern Conference Race

Louisiana University May Be Named For Rose Bowl Game

By KENNETH GREGORY

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Louisiana State University's greatest football team in many moons ruled supreme today in the Southeastern Conference.

The ascendancy of the Tiger gridiron to the sectional throne marked the first time since 1908 that the Louisiana team had dominated Dixie football.

Finishing its colorful season with a crushing 41 to 8 victory over Tulane's Green Wave, an ancient foe, Louisiana State not only walked off with undisputed possession of the conference crown, but remained among the eligibles for New Year's Day "bow" games.

Rumors had been passed that the Tigers were being considered as a possible choice for the Rose Bowl game with Stanford. However, should another team receive this assignment, Louisiana State was a certainty for the Sugar Bowl.

Tampa Trio Given Tar, Feather Coat

TAMPA, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Three of six men arrested by police for investigation as to communism activities, reported to Sheriff McLeod Sunday that less than an hour after being turned loose they were seized by a masked mob, taken into the woods near Tampa and beaten, then tarred and feathered.

Two of them, Joseph A. Shoemaker and Sam G. Rogers, were in the hospital and the condition of both was reported as critical.

The third, E. F. Poulnot, organizer of the Unemployed Brother hood of Hillsborough county, less than a mile from Tampa, also for sugar growers.

Reds Feared Brewing Revolution In India

LONDON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Communists are endeavoring to bring about an armed revolution in India as quickly as possible, Vice-count Willingdon, Viceroy of India reported last night to the Marques of Zetland, member of the Parliamentary Committee on India.

The Viceroy said he believed the armed insurrection would be attempted by the "widest possible masses of the working class and peasantry and by the revolutionarily petty bourgeoisie."

"My government has ample evidence of the determination with which activities are being pursued," the report said. "I am satisfied that it forms a most real though possibly not immediate menace to the peace of the country."

Western Union Boys Will Solicit Toys

A Western Union messenger boy has been engaged by the Elk's Christmas cheer committee to call at every home in Sanford and ascertain what can be given in the way of toys, dolls, story and picture books, etc. that would make Christmas more merry for children who might not otherwise be remembered on that occasion.

The messenger boy is to begin his rounds Wednesday. He will not collect gifts, but will make a list of where discarded toys, etc., can be obtained, and then the Elk's committee will send a truck for them. High school boys, under the direction of Aldo R. Johnson, will repair the toys.

Shippers Will Pay For Frost Warnings

Eight shippers have come to the rescue and underwrote the $750 monthly cost of recycling the daily frost warning bulletin issued by Forecaster E. S. Ellison in Lakeland. County Agent C. R. Dawson was advised yesterday that the government couldn't pay the telegraph tolls, so he appealed to the shippers with the result that growers will receive daily reports on weather conditions. Ellison's first wire came today.

'Dole' May Not Be Escaped By Next Congress

Administration May Find It Necessary To Again Ask For Money For Relief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. — (AP) — Informed quarters said today the Administration may dream it necessary to ask Congress for more "dole" money, despite the New Deal effort to scrap this type of relief. Meanwhile, the House appropriations committee begins preliminary work on the budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Most experts agree that the size of the relief appropriation will be a major factor in determining the extent of next year's deficit.

Chairman Buchanan of the appropriations committee has expressed the hope of cutting the deficit from an estimate of $83,000,000,000 this year to $60,000,000 next. But most of the committee members see little chance of making extensive savings anywhere except in relief funds.

President Roosevelt has declared the peak of spending has past, but he is believed to be waiting to see how many jobs are absorbed in private industry before making a relief fund decision.

Hearing Is Conducted By Industrial Board In Willis Dixon Case

Evidence in the case of Willis Dixon, City employee fatally injured at the incinerator last Sept. 18, was given Wendell C. Eaton of the Florida Industrial Commission at a hearing conducted in City Hall yesterday afternoon.

The hearing was called for the purpose of determining if damages should be paid relatives of the deceased, and the amount of such damages, if any.

The Standard Accident Insurance Company, which wrote the City's compensation insurance last year, has declined to pay the claim on the ground that the fatal accident did not arise from Dixon's employment with the City, and therefore the company is not liable.

The insurance company was represented at the hearing by the legal firm of McGuire & Voase, Inc., Orlando, while the Dixon heirs were represented by George A. Speer, Jr.

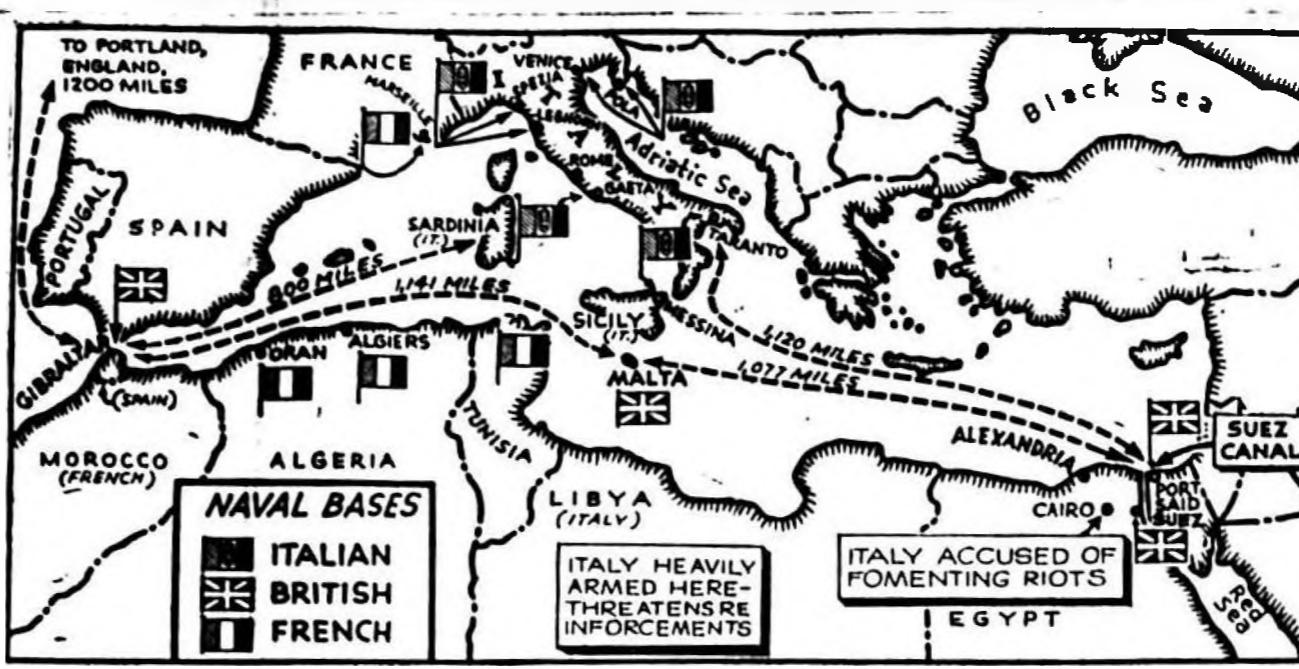

City Attorney Fred Wilson and Street Superintendent James Moughan attended the hearing.

WPA Fund Herels Sanford's Municipal Zoo Is Peace Overtures About Exhausted Yet The Largest In Florida Made By Selassie Board Is Advised With Over 400 Inhabitants Through Church

Cannot Expect More Until Next Spring, O. P. Swope Writes

WPA funds allotted to Seminole County are nearly exhausted and additional appropriations cannot be expected until after Mar. 31, next. The County Commissioners were advised today by O. P. Swope of Orlando headquarters of District No. 2, through the Seminole County Planning Council. The commissioners were told that projects now under way will be completed, but no new projects will be approved.

The sum of $136,320 was allotted the Seminole County, and projects completed or now under way account for $124,000 of this amount. The balance is too small to start a new project, the board concluded.

Hospital officials said the 20-year-old archivist succeeded to a "hemolytic streptococcal infection."

He had suffered several fits since the force of a curse found by him and 21 other scientific diggers in the tomb of King Tutankhamen. Inscribed on the walls of the crypt were these words:

"Death shall come on swift to him who thinks that he can open the tomb of the Pharaoh."

Of the 22 who first looked on the inscription, after the tomb's seal was broken in 1922, seven have died.
