Why Breathe Through the Nose?

Reasons for breathing through the nose instead of the mouth are: (1) to warm the air; (2) to moisten the air; (3) to remove the dust and germs; (4) to produce more suction in the chest, which helps draw blood into the lungs as well as air, thus helping the heart and more easily attaining second wind.

INDIANA TRUCKS Will Shorten the Distance Between Your Farm and Market

OFFICIAL figures of the United States Department of Agriculture show that Farm Products can be hauled to market in motor trucks at nearly half the cost of hauling with teams.

The use of an Indiana Truck on your farm will—

- 1—Give you a market outlet to highly valuable food supplies produced by you and which have been wasted heretofore because of the distance to market and lack of adequate transportation.
2—Haul your produce to the consumer more quickly and in more salable condition than is possible by any other means.
3—Keep your men and teams in productive work on the farm who now spend a great part of their time driving to market.
4—Eliminate a lot of unnecessary handling and special packing of your produce involved in shipping by rail.
5—Widen your marketing areas and increase your profits from diversified farming.

Behind every Indiana Motor Truck in Georgia and Florida stands a score of completely equipped service stations. We can always supply any one of 72,000 parts—every part for every Indiana Model.

Fancy Prices Paid For Everglades Spuds

West Palm Beach, April 1.—Ten dollars a barrel free on board the cars here at West Palm Beach is the price W. J. Conners is getting for new potatoes from his upper Everglades farm, that price for No. 1's, $8 for No. 2's and $6 for No. 3's. Two car loads have been shipped.

A barrel contains two bushels and three pecks—11 pecks, and weighs 165 pounds, on which the freight to the northern markets is $1 a hundred with cartage charges to be added. Figure what the retail buyer will have to pay in order to enjoy the luxury of new potatoes from Florida.

Then two cars shipped by Mr. Conners are said by potato buyers to be the first car lot shipments made from any producing section in the United States so far this year. All former shipments have been in less than car lots. It will be about two weeks before there are enough more mature potatoes from the Conners farm to warrant car lot shipments.

Cabbage growers are asking $1.75 on the dock for their products. Two cars have been shipped this week, some of the goods being brought under this price.

No tomatoes are going forward from any part of the east coast in car lot shipments now and there will not be such until the new fruit comes on, the freeze having damaged plants in the Miami district.

Cars Came Together

At the corner of Second street and Magnolia this morning about eight o'clock a Dodge car driven by Sam Murrell and a Stutz car driven by A. W. Lee came together badly fracturing both cars and cutting Sam Murrell about the head. The two cars were torn up and will take a lot of repairing to put them into shape again. This is a bad corner and has been the scene of several accidents and it is high time that drivers of cars took a little longer and looked ahead a bit when trying to pass at this corner. The accident only emphasizes the fact that Sanford streets are getting filled with cars and care should be exercised at all times to avoid accidents.

Animal Trainer Reveals Facts About Elephant.

Says the Brute is Both Tender and Affectionate, Though He Will Hold Grudge Against One Who Has Abused Him.

An elephant lives to a great age and comes to maturity slowly, and is not full-grown until from thirty-five to forty years old. It is a mistake to think an elephant is clumsy because he looks so. In proportion to its size an elephant is much lighter on its feet than a horse, and can outrun most horses for a short distance, and there is no one of an elephant's four feet that he cannot strike or kick quickly and accurately with.

An elephant can stand considerable cold if he is kept moving. I have taken elephants in Bridgeport, fitted bags over their ears and tails and worked them up to their bellies in the snow pushing cars without its doing them any harm. On the other hand, I lost a fine elephant once as a result of exposure to the cold, writes George Conklin in the Saturday Evening Post.

The elephant is the most affectionate of animals and will watch over and protect a favorite keeper, and he will also hold a grudge against one for some time, watching for an opportunity to get even with him. But I do not believe those popular stories of elephants that have remembered being cheated by strangers and squirting water over them when they had an opportunity after the lapse of years.

An angry elephant, however, is a dangerous thing, and an elephant keeper who is rough is always running a risk. A cross elephant is usually tame so by the keeper. Some men are naturally cruel and are willing to do anything to satisfy their desire to show off. This is apt to be a fault of new men around elephants. I knew of the case of a fellow called Bayou Bill, who was with the Jerry Mable show. An elephant put her trunk round his shoulders, pulled him off his horse and before anyone could prevent she put one of her feet on his legs, pulled him in two and threw the pieces over her back. I have also known many instances of men being squeezed to death between a wall and an elephant's head or under its foot. But from a keeper or trainer who treats them properly an elephant will accept punishment, and when it has given in the man can do almost anything with it and the animal will not lay it up against him.

In spite of its great size the elephant is quite timid. A strange animal or an unfamiliar noise will start him in a panic. Once Tody Hamilton, the Barnum & Bailey press agent, had me demonstrate to a group of New York reporters how easy it was to frighten an elephant. It was at the winter quarters in Bridgeport. We had at the time some two or three dozen elephants, and I let a pig-loose among them. There was a commotion at once. They snorted and squealed and kicked—and, by the way, they can use their hind legs like gatling guns. I also put some rats in among them, and they were just as afraid of them. If they had not been well chained the whole bunch would have run away.

Elephants are driven from the near or left, side, like oxen. The driver tells them to shy when he wants them to go to the right and says "come in" to bring them toward him. "Mile" means to go fast; "mule up" to trot, and when he wants them to stop the driver calls out "tut."

Misinterpreting His Motive.

At about three o'clock one morning—according to Toby, M. P.—Mr. T. P. O'Connor was orating in the house of commons to 12 or 15 members lying about in various stages of drowsiness.

Sir Patrick O'Brien was amongst them, and, now and then rescuing himself with a start from falling asleep audibly engaged in conversation.

"I protest against this disorderly conduct!" exclaimed Mr. O'Connor, at length. "The honorable baronet is constantly interrupting me."

"Sir," replied Sir Patrick, with a graceful bow, "the honorable gentleman misinterprets my motive. I interrupted, it is true; but it was with the intention of waking the honorable gentleman's audience."—Pearson's Weekly.

Introductions.

"I want to have a bill introduced in congress—" began the emphatic citizen.

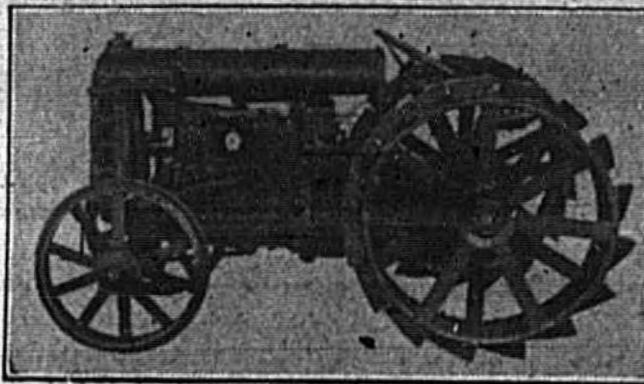

"All right," replied Senator Sorghum. "But I can tell you in advance that introducing a bill in congress is like any other kind of an introduction. It will result in a few minutes of pleasant courtesy, but it doesn't necessarily lead to any substantial acquaintance."

Philippine Want Motors.

American motor vehicles continue to predominate in the Philippine market. The total number of trucks registered in 1918 was 567, with a tonnage capacity of 1,052 and a passenger capacity of 6,345. Due to the lack of railroads and the need to transport agricultural products, motor trucks are beginning to play an important part in the country's commerce.

FIND BRIDE'S BONES IN ROME?

Disappearance of Artist's Wife May Be Solved in a Murder Trial.

Rome.—Two developments in the tangled and mysterious case in which Ignatius Mesones, a Peruvian painter, is charged with the murder of his girl bride, came to light. The skeleton of a woman known as Maria Rotellini, who was supposed to have committed suicide here two years ago, was exhumed and positively identified as that of Senora Mesones, and Mesones admitted to the court that his wife had disappeared on December 27, 1917, instead of sailing for America, as he had insisted hitherto. He also expressed the belief that Senora Mesones and the Rotellini woman were the same person.

Mesones told the court that for the purpose of obtaining money from his wife's family he invented the story that Senora Mesones had gone to America. Investigation by authorities has shown the supposed Maria Rotellini first appeared in Rome on the day Mesones says his wife vanished.

Fish, Given "Drink," Comes Back to Life

London.—The whole town of Yarmouth has viewed a small fish, a bream, and marveled. It has been named Jonah No. 2. Robert Watling, Coltishall, Norfolk, caught a 20-pound pike on Barton Broad. Some time later, when the pike was cleaned, a breath was found inside it. When examined, the bream's tail was seen to quiver. "Thereupon," said Watling, "I poured a drop of brandy down the fish's throat and placed it in a bait can, changing the water every 20 minutes. It soon began to revive, and in a short time was swimming around as full of life as ever."

Noticed It at Once.

I am the owner of two dogs, a black cocker spaniel and a white long-haired Scotch terrier. One day a little girl came in to play with them. We were out in the yard, both dogs sitting on the porch, when I noticed that she would look intently at me, they at the dogs. She did that several times, then said, "Why, your dogs don't look one bit like you."—Exchange.

The Womans Club will put on a Spring Festival that will be bigger and better than ever. They plan this festival with two important items in mind, one to furnish Sanford people with amusement and a good time and the other to raise funds to be spent for civic purposes. Let us all join the crowds those three nights, because do you know of a better way to spend your money for pleasure than by spending it where the City will reap the benefit? And of a better place to buy that Easter outfit than the place that gives you heaps of value for your money, a place where it is more important to satisfy than to just make a sale? We try to plug and pull at all times for a bigger Sanford and one of our ways of doing this is to conduct a store that could take its place in any City many times the size of Sanford.

EASTER SUNDAY

EASTER and all the Christian world will celebrate the anniversary of the day when our Savior arose from the dead. There is no place in the world where this occasion can be celebrated in such a fitting manner as in Florida where the flowers are all in bloom, where the trees are all in green and where the people can wear their summer clothing with no fear of having winter's chilly blasts force the wearing of overcoats. Let us all rejoice then tomorrow over the fact that the greater part of the world is at peace, that we can have this opportunity of celebrating this great occasion in the life of Christian people everywhere and we can also rejoice in the fact that we are living in such an earthly paradise as our own fair Florida.

Strawberries are selling in Paris for $5 apiece. We bought some here last week for a trifle less than that.

One thing in which Michigan leads Florida is in getting Sanford celery on the market.—St. Augustine Record.

Palatka News says, Sanford will take a rest now that the celery crop is almost off. We are only starting now. There will be dozens of spring crops to grow and ship up to July.

The many donations to Sanford's fine new hospital and the generous spirit shown toward that institution speaks volumes for the people of Seminole county and the success of this institution.

"I have picked Orlando to win the pennant," said an old-timer yesterday. "There may be more clubs in the league, but that's my story and I'm going to stick to it. I may be wrong, but Sanford will be second. The folks in that place sometimes fall out with each other, but when baseball time rolls around. Oh, boy! I remember away back yonder in the early days of the national game in this State. The 'Gate City,' that was what they called those Celeryites, had the finest and best aggregation of spheroid chasers that could be found in the South. Savannah sent a team down there once and those Sanford fellows walloped them. It's a good town."—Reporter Star.

THE MOTOR CAR PROSPECT
The demand for automobiles is amazing. Though its introduction is so recent it has become one of the common factors in our every-day life, and of the building of automobiles there is no end.

An authority in the trade estimates that at present there are over 7,500,000 motor cars in operation in the United States and that this year's and that this year's output will total 1,600,000 more.

Though the United States has only one-sixteenth the population of the world it has ten times as many automobiles as all the rest of the world combined. Did not these vehicles wear out it is apparent that the point of domestic situation would be reached shortly.

Two or three states have an average of one car to every six people. This would certainly about equal any possible demand were there not a constant demand for replacement of the old with new ones, though naturally such sales would constitute a smaller volume of business than a virgin field where the craze for a car is virulent.

But after the domestic demand is met to the point of saturation there remains the world at large, so that the authority referred to believes that there is a market for 40,000,000 cars just as soon as they can be built. With present facilities this would insure manufacturers active business for decades to come. What was once esteemed a toy has demonstrated its utility.—Tampa Tribune.

SPLENDID ARTICLE ON SANFORD

The Florida Grower, one of the best magazines in the south, and one that publishes the truth about Florida, has a two page article about Sanford in this week's issue and it is one of the best pieces of advertising that the Sanford section has ever had. The article was written by Rube Allyn who is a Florida newspaper man and with whom the Sanford people are familiar and Rube has confined himself strictly to the truth and while he has not burdened the readers with miles of statistics he writes the story about Sanford in his inimitable style that is entertaining and instructive.

The Florida Grower writes up the different sections of Florida in each issue and like every other publication of this nature spent money on the compilation of the article and setting it up and publishing it and the Herald often wonders if the general public ever realizes just what these articles cost that the Florida magazines and newspapers are actually giving away each year in publishing such articles about Florida.

The Sanford Board of Trade, every real estate man and every business man should take a bunch of copies of the Grower of April 3, and send them out at various times to people who would like to learn more about Sanford.

We thank the Florida Grower for this splendid write up. We know what it is worth and we are indebted to Edgar Wright and the Grower and Rube Allyn for life.

The article will be reproduced in Monday's daily Herald.

Christ arose from the dead and ascended into heaven.

Let us of this town make it the day on which we all arise to the occasion and go to church.

The church is the great stepping stone on the road to heaven, and Christ has blazed a clear trail to its door.

If Christ could give his life for mankind, surely mankind can give Easter Sunday in commemoration of his sacrifice.

What a day it would be if every person in this town—every man, woman and child—would go to church on Easter Sunday.

Probably such an event has never been recorded in this country since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers.

But the impossible is always possible—in America. It is possible in this town.

Shall we make a clean sweep on Easter Sunday by ALL going to church?

The editor was expected to write a learned and rhetorical editorial on the glories of Easter Sunday. Instead we are making a humble but practical suggestion to the people of this community.

And we are ready to take our own place in the ranks of what would be the greatest procession ever known in American history—the spectacle of an entire community marching to church in honor of that good man who gave his life for them.

Will YOU go?

NOW REGISTER!

Now that the court has issued a mandamus commanding the supervisor of registration to register applicants as Democrats without requiring them to take the oath prescribed by the State Democratic executive committee, we hope every Democrat will register and pay up his poll taxes as quickly as possible. Hundreds and probably thousands in this county object to taking the oath and they were as good Democrats as the men who took it readily. No one knows what the San Francisco convention will proclaim as Democratic principles or whom they will nominate. If they nominate a Democrat on a Democratic platform we are for him, whoever he may be, and we are confident that the majority of the men who objected to taking the oath feel the same way about it. Men who are too loyal to Democratic principles that are anti-Democratic, if these are given the name—men who are too loyal to the Democratic party to support a man who is not and does not profess to be a Democrat, if by convention legerdemain he is given the nomination, are much better Democrats than those who care nothing except for the name.

It is not probable that one man in ten who objected to taking the oath had ever voted anything but the Democratic ticket in his life, and the overwhelming majority of them had had a habit of a lifetime of voting the Democratic ticket from top to bottom. But it was reasonable that these men should demand from the candidates as much party loyalty as they had displayed as private citizens.

Now it is time for every Democrat to register and pay his poll taxes. A condition confronts the party in Florida that has not confronted it in a quarter of a century. The negroes of Florida are registering and from this country was to the effect that three times as many negroes as white men were qualified and from other parts of the State reports show that the Republican party will poll a record-breaking black vote. There are only about 25,000 more white men than black of voting age in Florida, and while the blacks are all natives of this country some of the whites are foreign-born and not naturalized.—Times-Union.

PREDICTS NEW ALASKA RUSH

Klondike Pioneer Expects to See Tent City in Spring at Hyder.

Seattle, Wash.—Hyder, Alaska, center of the Stewart river mining properties, will become a tent city rivaling Nome and other famous "strike" towns, if the expected spring influx of prospectors is realized, according to James W. McDonald, pioneer of the Klondike, who was in Seattle recently.

"The world is going to see another tent city in the spring," Mr. McDonald said. "Hyder's future is assured, and there is every indication that when the snow goes off thousands of people will flock to the little town."

Most of the newcomers will be disappointed, Mr. McDonald asserted. Hundreds of them are used only to placer mining, while the Stewart river properties are all hard rock. The district will not be fully developed for five years, he said.

Balancing Rock on Mountain.
Fitchburg, Mass.—On the western slope of Wachusett mountain a balancing rock has been discovered. The rock, which a man found while blue-berrying, is six feet high and has three points of contact with the rock beneath. It can be rocked perceptibly in one direction without being dislodged from its position on the natural platform.

Under Same Name 1,000 Years.
London.—In preparing the paper for a transfer of the license of the "King and Tinker" at Enfield, search of the records showed that the place had been run under the same name as a public house for more than 1,000 years, making it perhaps the oldest inn in England.
