Travel Voucher Probe Is Costly

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Legislative examination of a $17.50 travel voucher has brought new complaints from lawmakers about expenses incurred on the behalf of gubernatorial aide James Bax. "We were led down a rabbit hole," said Rep. Terrell Sessums after a six-hour hearing Wednesday on the Bax voucher. The Tampa Democrat said the voucher was for a rabbit hunt, but later was made after it was resubmitted showing that two other state employees also made the trip. Ellison said, however, that only Bax was aboard the plane. Bax, who heads the governor's Division of Economic Opportunity, blamed the incident on communication difficulties with former fiscal officer Joseph Lambert. He said there also was a mixup in amounts because another charter flight was billed with the Miami flight.

Retarded Children Can Be Productive

By CHARNER LEONE "Every one of us is mentally retarded," said Dr. C. H. Carter, a recognized authority in the field. The medical and research director of Sanford Training Center in Orlando is convinced of the fact that we don't use all of our abilities. Mental retardation is an "under-average functioning," defined the doctor, "it is strictly a relative thing." The causes range from an attack of measles on the pregnant mother to a childhood that is lived without love or sufficient food. Sixty per cent of mental retardation is cultural, said Dr. Carter. That is the kind that can refer to any of us. The problem is certainly a broad one, and one that needs some light shed on it, says James Ryan, president of the Seminole County Association for Mental Retardation. Allen elaborated on this thought. "Humanism and individual dignity demand that the public be responsible and lend a hand," he states in the revision of his book. But first the public must understand what it is, reasons Ryan. Most retarded children can be productive in all the experts in the field. "It's the stimulation that counts," said Dr. Carter. The stimulation to the child comes only after the awareness of the parent. The new techniques in teaching and medicine can be employed to help the child use the abilities he does have. In Seminole County, if we have our share of the national average, there are 2,700 retarded children. Locally there are several ways to reach the children and their families — the Little Red Schoolhouse, the public schools and the newly formed school which is sponsored by the Seminole County Association for Retarded Children, which Ryan is spearheading. But what is the parent to do if he suspects that his child is retarded and the condition was not one which is noticeable at birth? Local pediatricians thoroughly examine the child to preclude any evidence of a physical impairment, such as a brain tumor which can be surgically removed, or metabolic disorders. They will then refer the child to a specialist in the field for further evaluation and treatment if it is needed. Mental retardation is associated with over 100 different diseases, conditions, syndromes, etc., said Dr. Carter. Of those who are mentally retarded, at least one in every 1,000 is retarded to such an extent that he will need institutional or supervised care for his entire life. But what of the other 999? There is hope. So much hope, stressed Ryan. He knows first hand — his teenage son is mentally retarded.

Airport Or Municipal Governmental Complex?

Proposed to move Sanford's City Hall to the Sanford Airport has focused the spotlight on the air base itself. It automatically raises the basic question as to what, in fact, these 1,850 acres are to become. More precisely it asks: "Will the Sanford Airport be an airport with air-oriented business and industry or a municipal government complex?"

Until this recent and unexpected proposition to take over the best building of the Navy barracks area and convert it to a City Hall with a security complex, there can be no doubt that the public and private debate has considered the establishment of a high-grade general airport the prime objective. Even now the Pappas people, successful bidders for the important post of "fixed base operator" are readying their buildings for the time when their nationally known and highly regarded services will be operative.

For more than two years the Sanford Industrial Commission, created by the city to attract industry to the airport and to prepare the air base for air-oriented industries, has striven to fulfill this obligation. It has not been successful in this respect. Review the reports of SIC meetings and there is, at no time, any intimation that the base should be the location of a municipal complex. Yes, there was talk of locating the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction.

There has been a surfeit of conversations about a training school which has varied from one to train migrant farm workers to the skilled craftsmen electronic and aircraft industries require.

We believe that the account was properly put on the conversion of the well-equipped Naval Air Base to civilian purposes. This goal should remain as dominant.

A City Hall complex on Sanford Airport is not only incongruous. It just doesn't make sense!

contain a better location for a new City Hall complex if a move should be made and we believe that it should.

But not now! Not to the airport where the solution of that problem which confronts our city should be sought along the lines originally set. Not without a thorough report from the City Commission.

We are confident that the stewardship nature of the City Commission will be recognized and the action taken by these municipal leaders will reflect all aspects.

A City Hall complex on Sanford Airport is not only incongruous. It just doesn't make sense!

A Good Veto

We would thank Rep. E. Pope Bassett, (R) secretary of the Seminole-Orange legislative delegation, for his prompt and effective action in vetoing Gov. Claude R. Kirk, Jr. (R) to veto an act which would have required the tax collectors for both counties to collect taxes for every municipality in their respective counties. This was the kind of response which is easy to recognize. It is especially welcome at this time when the channels of communication between the delegation and the county commission do not seem entirely free-flowing.

We approve the principle of the bill and would support it if the practical operating conditions of Seminole County Tax Collector Troy Ray, Jr., were not so inadequate.

But this was a needed veto. That it was done at the request of not only the legislative delegation but of Mr. Ray, the person most intimately concerned, is quite proper.

As is our thanks which, we are sure come also from the taxpayers who are aware of the need of economy but also know that any further overload of our tax-collecting machinery might well bring about confusion.

OK Judge Williams

That is no laughing matter, the request of Judge Velle Williams, Jr. for better quarters in which to dispense justice.

Many of our readers have been called to jury duty and climbed the rickety stairs to the third floor of the county courthouse, inhaled the court-housy air and ventured into the inadequate courtroom.

Isn't this an adventure? Doesn't this call for a spirit of hardihood? Isn't it a sort of basic training for actual jury duty?

We think it is and, although doubtful of the judge's proposal to risk life and limb on the second floor of City Hall as any remedy to the Hazard of court attendance, would find his request as sound as his well-known patriotic address to jurors which is rousing and right!

Crane's Worry Clinic:

Week-end Trips vs. Auto Tours

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.
CASE H-546: Billy F., aged 17, is an alert only child.

"Dr. Crane," his daddy asked, "don't you think it would be very educational if we took our usual vacation and drove to visit the scenic spots in America?"

"Wouldn't this help Billy in his school work, for he is rather shy and inclined to be book worm?"

"If he could excel more in his studies, wouldn't he gain in popularity?"

Yes, a transcontinental auto tour can be definitely educational to everybody.

And that is doubly true when kiddies reach Junior High.

But it is unduly confining to keep a youngster seated in a car for 50 miles per day.

So I'd suggest weekend vacations with Billy where his daddy would take him fishing or to a ball game or a carnival, etc.

Too many of you busy dads try to save up your fraternizing with your kiddies till a certain future weeks.

Then you think you can "gorge" the youngsters in fun and camaraderie.

But children prefer your companionship more often, even if in smaller "doses."

And please don't grow enamored of big distant lakes, maybe 1,000 miles away.

A small creek or farm pond of but one acre will give the youngsters almost all the excitement of the ocean or our 5 Great Lakes.

Besides, the smaller vacation spots are usually closer home so you can probably visit them within a few hours' drive on Friday afternoon.

"Take your family camping for the weekend at a state park nearby.

Go fishing with the kiddies, for they enjoy catching minnows as much as you adults relish landing "whales."

Go swimming WITH your children and then teach each one how to swim.

Be casual in your dealing with youngsters.

Play catch with a child like Billy so he becomes muscularly coordinated and dextrous with his hands.

"Pitch the ball to him and see if he can learn how to hit fly balls back to you. Then vice versa.

Also, get a football and throw him forward passes, for Billy's prestige will rise much faster when he can perform creditably at the games and sports of his own age group.

Quotes

Four things I know not of. They are the way of a ship with the sea, the way of a man with a maid, the way of an eagle on the rock and the way of a minority leader under certain circumstances. —Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen.

I come here, fundamentally, to speak of a city that has felt force: a city that suffers each day destruction from our armed might. That city is not Berlin. It is not Hiroshima. It is not Hanoi. That city is New York.

—Mayor John Lindsay, speaking at a rally opposing President Nixon's proposed antiballistic missile program.

The Vietnam war should not have been conducted as a training ground for communists to learn how to shoot down American planes and fight our troops and ships. Our leaders should listen to the counsel of the distinguished MacArthur — trained strategist — who know how to convince Asians that freedom is better than communism before they suffer such atrocities as the Chinese, the Tibetans, the Koreans.

Non-communists may write or cause their friends to write quotations in countries threatened by communist subversion. A letter from a personal friend can have much more effect than government aid and tax-paid radio propaganda.

Domestic Comment:

Saigon Gets Set For Pullout

By RAY CROWLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It can be stated with assurance that the Thieu government in Saigon believes the time is ripe for a gradual withdrawal of all U.S. combat troops and their replacement with Vietnamese units.

This information comes from contacts in Saigon in the confidence of the highest circles of the Vietnamese government. The Vietnamese believe this gradual withdrawal is desirable for three reasons:

- To meet the desires of American public opinion.
- To ease the problems caused in Vietnam by the continued presence of large numbers of foreign troops.
- To meet the needs of South Vietnamese nationalism and national pride essential to the building of a stable, independent nation.

It is known the Saigon government believes that given the right circumstances, 50,000 to 75,000 U.S. troops can leave before the end of 1969.

These figures on the rate of American withdrawal are highly tentative, of course. They depend in part on Hanoi's military plans, part on the rapidly wide which improvements can be made in the South Vietnamese army, navy and air force, and part on how much military backup and support the United States is prepared to give the South Vietnamese forces.

By the end of 1970, assuming things go right, the withdrawal of another 100,000 U.S. troops might be possible without danger to the safety of South Vietnam.

An essential part of the program, as the Vietnamese see it, is that the United States be prepared, so long as the war continues and no peace settlement is reached, to back up the South Vietnamese infantry with strong air, artillery, naval, communications, logistics and other technical support and to supply the South Vietnamese with the arms, equipment and supplies to make them superior in these respects to their North Vietnamese and Viet Cong foes.

On their side, the South Vietnamese plan some drastic reforms. As in Korea, there must be a heavy weeding out of inefficient majors, colonels and generals and a rapid promotion of able junior officers. The Vietnamese estimate that in these higher officer ranks, 25 per cent are political appointees, most of whom must go.

The latest assessments from Vietnam indicate a great deal of satisfaction with many of the new crop of captains and lieutenants, if care is taken with regard to promoting the best and removing those who don't come up to standard.

Kissinger Chairs Policy Look

By BRUCE BOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Though the undertaking is no secret, few people in official Washington realize how basic the inquiry has been to stimulate an insatiable quest for information among the debaters. Rough papers at many levels of inquiry have been flying back and forth within Defense and State Department, and between them and the White House.

In some instances, particular matters have been probed again and again as the White House reviewers have sought to broaden their grasp of a given weapons system or defensive concept.

There is evidence that Defense Secretary Melvin Laird has devoted more of his time to this most significant review than to anything else that has engaged him since he took office.

Budget Director Robert Mayo, already tabbed by others as one of the President's most decided influential associates, seems to have been in the thick of the debate at various stages.

Sources outside the White House say the reviewers are not trying to come up with a policy-and-commitment pattern which would fit only one projected defense budget level. Instead, it is said, the effort is to project differing configurations of commitment in accordance with varying levels of expenditure.

Comprehensive as this continuing study is, it is about to be matched by another as Secretary Laird announces the

Name Change Viewed For Florida Tech U

By F. T. MACFEELEY
Associated Press Writer JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A strictly geographical system of naming state universities is likely to be proposed to the Board of Regents Friday.

New universities authorized in Dade and Duval Counties are scheduled to be named, and if the geographical system is accepted they probably would be named University of Florida at Miami and University of Florida at Jacksonville.

In line with this proposal, the existing Florida Technological University may be renamed University of Florida at Orlando. The "technological" part of the name, the sources said, isn't descriptive of the general function of the school.

Apparently no one intends to change the names of long established universities in favor of the geographical names system, Florida State University of Florida, and University of South Florida. Florida Atlantic University or University of West Florida that would link them with their location at Tampa, Boca Raton and Pensacola.

The Regents reportedly aren't unanimous in favor of the geographical names system, following the California example. An action postponed at least twice and not certain to happen this month is the selection of presidents of the Dade and Duval universities.

Hopped Around Earth With Only Pennies World Traveler Arrested As Bum

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Peter Walter Shiffman, who hopped the world with pennies in his pocket and a briefcase crammed full of airline tickets, has been grounded for at least 20 days.

The 33-year-old German traveler, who said he lives in Zurich, Switzerland, was given a 30-day contempt of court sentence Wednesday for clinging to his jail cell bars, protesting he couldn't appear before a judge because he hadn't shaved. Shiffman was in jail on a vagrancy charge.

"He had a beard and thought he was unpresentable, so we had to present him," said one policeman.

White he in jail, authorities hope to figure out his travel plan. What he did, according to airline officials and police, was fly all over the world—perhaps 18 times—on tickets he did not acquire in the usual manner.

"This guy's not a contractor—he's a genius," said Fort Lauderdale Det. Paul T. Arena. The detective said Shiffman was arrested early Monday at Fort Lauderdale International Airport with four pennies in his pocket and enough airline tickets paraphernalia in his briefcase to set up a travel agency.

"He had numerous tickets to just about every major airline," Arena said. "He had stickers, stamps, anything you need to get on a plane. He said he makes two or three trips to the Orient each week. He apparently lives off the food he gets aboard."

"He has an employee's flight schedule to one of the airlines. It's not available to the public. He knows airlines inside and out. He must have a background in it."

Shiffman became such a favorite globe-hopping passenger that one major international carrier issued him a Universal Air Travel credit card. Whether he used it is not clear.

Public Officials Warned Of Law

By JIM PURKS
Associated Press Writer TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Some city or county officials "are going to find themselves in the wringer" unless they quickly inform themselves of the new code of ethics that was adopted and expanded by the 1969 Legislature.

"It's probably the first comprehensive code of ethics in any state," Thomas said.

Thomas said that some phone calls he had received from officials indicated that many were not aware the bill had become law.

Among provisions in the code is one that states no one shall have any interest, financial or otherwise, direct or indirect, "or engage in any business or transaction or professional activity or incur any obligation of any nature which is in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his duties in the public interest."

It also says that officials can't "accept any gift, favor or service that might reasonably tend improperly to influence him in the discharge of his official duties."

Another provision says that the public officers who own a controlling interest in any corporation, firm, partnership or other business which has substantial business commitments from any state agency must file a sworn statement disclosing such interest.

State workers file such reports with the secretary of state while city and county officers must file their reports with circuit court clerks, Thomas said.

Asked about enforcement, Thomas said that "any citizen can bring a complaint and any court can hear the complaint."

Other channels of enforcement, Thomas said, also are available. Thomas said, also are available. Thomas said, also are available. Thomas said, also are available.

University Building $5 Near

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State universities inched closer to getting an estimated $122 million in construction funds Wednesday as a legislative act setting up a special bond election became official.

Gov. Claude Kirk sent the act which calls for a constitutional amendment to the laws division of the executive branch.

The act provides that in a special election in November, 1969, Florida voters will decide whether they want to extend the bonding authority given the state under the Higher Education Bonding Act of 1963. The act's bonding authority terminated June 30.

Should voters approve the extension, and the Legislature adopt a necessary implementing act, it is estimated slightly over $122 million would be available for construction at universities, junior colleges and vocational technical facilities.

Also officially filed in the secretary of state's office after transmittal from the governor's office was a measure by the 1969 Legislature increasing tuition costs for in-state and out-of-state university students.

"It probably will result in a decrease in out-of-state enrollment," said the Regent spokesman, who said the act puts Florida near the top in tuition charged to out-of-state students.

Exception: No Right To Strike Aides' Rights Stated

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Public employees, such as teachers, have almost all the same rights of collective bargaining under Florida's new constitution as those enjoyed by private employees, the State Supreme Court ruled today.

NATO Concerned Over Arms Talks

Chief Justice Richard Ervin, in writing the majority decision, stated that any personnel policy agreements arrived at by the negotiations could not be forced upon nonconsenting teachers who are not members of the organization. This includes the matter of dues check-offs, the court said.

College Job Permanent

Justice Ervin said the Circuit Court's interpretation of the constitution "is erroneous in that it rules out any type of collective bargaining for and on behalf of public employees through a labor organization."

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Edd Roush is 76 years old but still appears in such fine fettle that few baseball veterans would have been surprised had he held out before the recent Old-Timers game at Shea Stadium.

Of course, nowadays a holdout or sports retirement is about as common as a campus riot. It's Joe Namath one day, Richie Allen the next, Bill Russell the day after. Doesn't anybody here want to play the game anymore?

But Roush was holding out and retiring long before it was fashionable. He rarely made it to spring training for more than a week before the season opener. Once he waited until three days before the start of the season. And once, 1930, he just waited — and waited and waited and waited. By the time he got off his front porch it was football season. The Hall of Fame outfielder who played in three leagues, the Federal, American and National, from 1913 to 1931, had a lifetime batting average of .312, did play in the Old-Timers game, for fun if not for finances.

"The players now have troubles over something else, not salary, the way I did," said Roush. "I always stood up for what I was worth."

"It was 25 years old when I came up with the White Sox in 1913. I was making $125 a month, and only for five one-half months. So when the Indianapolis club in the Federal League got in touch with me and offered me $2,000, I went."

"In 1915 I made $4,000 in the Federal League and it would have taken me nearly 10 years to make that with the White Sox. The Federal League folded after 1915, for financial reasons."

In 1917 Roush, then with Cincinnati, led the league with a .341 batting average. The next year he lost the batting championship by two points to Zack Wheat, who hit .335.

"And do you know what happened after that season?" he asked. "They wanted to cut my salary $500. Cut it! I was making $5,000 then. I held out until three days before the season began. To this day I still don't know what they could have been thinking about."

Edd Roush

By 1919, however, Roush was earning $10,000 a year. That season the Reds beat the White Sox in the World Series. However, some Chicago players were not trying too hard. It resulted in the Black Sox scandal.

"You just can't mess around with gamblers if you're in front of the public," said Roush. "And you can't have gamblers frequenting your place of business, the way Joe Namath does."

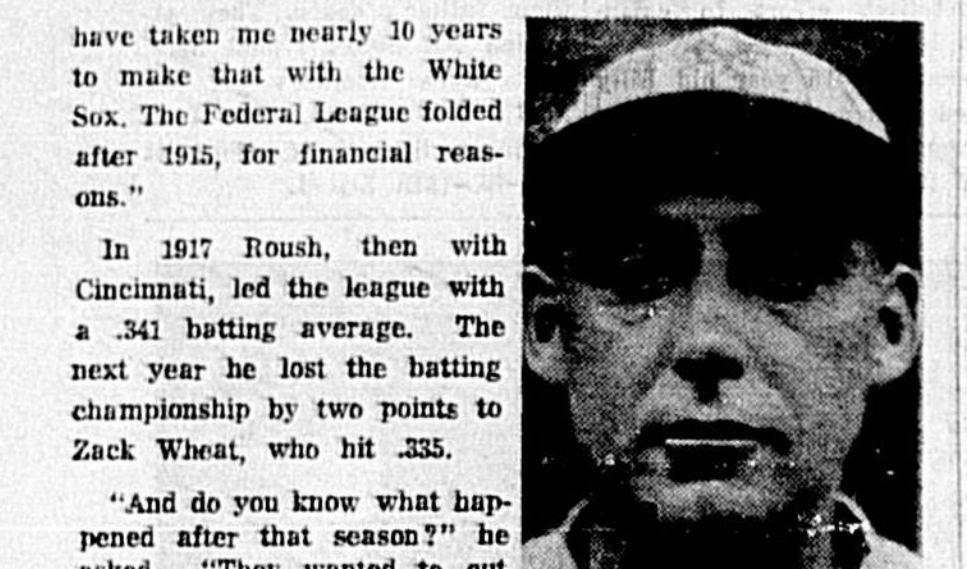

"We had some players on the Cincinnati ball club who wouldn't stop going to places where gamblers were. This was about nineteen and twenty-one. We got rid of them."

In 1930, Roush felt he was again being underpaid. So he decided to quit.

"I figured that if I couldn't make anything out of it, that I might as well stay home," he said. "I was 37 then. You gotta quit sometime. I felt that was good a time as any. But the next year the team was hurt by the Depression and had to sell a lot of players. The owner asked me to come back to help draw crowds. So I went back for one more year."

Roush almost quit after the 1932 season, when he was traded to the New York Giants and John J. McGraw, whom he played for in 1916.

"I didn't enjoy playing for McGraw," said Roush. "You make a bad play and he would use every swear word imaginable on you. I was going to quit and write him a letter telling him I would not play for him for any kind of money. He kept writing the letters and offering me more money. But I was busy hunting quail in Oakland City, Ind. Finally, he asked to see me in Chattanooga, where the team was coming north."

It's A Weekend Sport For Whitaker

By FRED COXSON
Herald Sports Staff

After a nerve wracking job of selling trucks all week, how does a car salesman relax on the weekend? If your name happens to be Bob Whitaker you go out to the local ball park and strap yourself into a souped-up race car. Bob drives a 1956 Chevrolet Number 19, on the dirt tracks at DeLand and Barberville. So far this year Bob is the winningest driver in the late model class at these tracks. His best winning streak this year has been six out of seven feature races.

The top rate equipment that Bob has to race is furnished by Billy Bryant, a diesel mechanic who owns Bryant's Service Center. Whitaker says he owes his success to this man.

Bob is employed at the Powell-Hoopfer Ford agency in DeLand. At age 37, Bob insists that stock car racing is only a hobby.

Out there to beat the other guy, Bob is all business on the track. He claims the best way to win is by the shortest route — around the bottom. Bob is perfectly happy to leave the top groove to the other guy. Five is the only thing Bob fears in racing. During one race Bob's car caught fire. Remaining calm he removed his greatest help in his racing endeavor has come from a DeLand garage operator and NASCAR mechanic — car owner, Buck Holder. Bob says that Holder gave him the advice and encouragement he needed.

Future racing plans for Bob include a new '65 Chevrolet stock car that should be finished shortly. Whitaker and his fans (including his son) call him "Batman."

Whitaker feels that his involvement in an automobile accident in which he received severe injuries. He was not expected to walk again, but being the man that he is, he completely recovered except for partial loss of feeling in his left hand.

Whitaker got his start in stock cars in DeLand two years ago. Also at this time Bob and his crew said they were going to build a "Go-Gram City Car, complete with fins, turbocharger, parachutes, and all." (A little joke based on the TV series "Batman.") On the first outing of the car

BOB WHITAKER, a local stock car racer, is shown here with his '56 Chevrolet. So far this year, Whitaker is the top stock car driver at the DeLand and Barberville dirt tracks.

MIAMI (AP) — Women look-eyes are gaining acceptance on horse tracks. But horsepower is what interests Smokey Drollet, and she's ready to fight to put her feminine skid marks on the Indianapolis 500.

"I'll fight the Indianapolis people all the way," the 35-year-old Miami divorcee says. "I want to get my car first, then I'll fight. I'll take their rules to the highest court."

"If I get a ride, nothing will keep me from that track. They can't keep women out of the race. All I need is a car and a judge and I'll be there."

Mrs. Drollet has already asked Andy Granatelli to let her drive a car for him next Memorial Day. One of Granatelli's cars won the race this year.

In the meantime, though, Mrs. Drollet is scheduled to drive in a race at Daytona Beach Aug. 3 and then she jets off to Italy to race at Monza in a factory Alfa.

She has her aim set on the Brickyard, a masculine place where no woman has ever been allowed near the pits either in a car or a mechanics' suit. If she makes it, the crisp snafu of tradition will be heard for miles. But Mrs. Drollet won't sacrifice her femininity.

"Basically, I'm a woman. Anybody who says around me very long will know that," she says. "But on the track I'm a driver."

"There is no sex involved on the track. When I first started driving it was very evident that the men drivers used to put me up against the fence every chance they got. So one night I turned the tables and became a driver. Not a woman. They were the ones going into the fence. I never had any more trouble."

"In sports cars, it's a different

other good girl driver to help run endurance races but there just aren't any. They're too worried about lunch or their weight or their makeup."

Still, it's difficult for her to "Face it, men own race cars and men want to drive them," she says. "I don't blame them. I would think twice about having a woman race my car, considering the state of today's female driver."

Charles Takes British Lead

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (AP) — Bob Charles, the key man from New Zealand, led the most brilliant field in British Open golf history into the second round today, making every left-hander who swings a club feel 10 feet tall.

"I must admit I do feel at home here," the southpaw golfer, once a bank clerk, said in the understatement of the year. His record-equalling 66, five under par, gave the field of 120 another moon to shoot at, and what he was only two shots in front the rest of the pack knew!

Miami In FSL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami moved back into undisputed possession of first place in the Florida State League Southern Division Wednesday night by defeating Fort Lauderdale, 10-4.

Miami's victory moved the Marlins .012 percentage points ahead of the Yankees. The teams were deadlocked at .575 going into the game.

Pitcher Tom Walker hurled a complete game for Miami and also drove in three runs.

In other FSL action, Winter Haven led Daytona Beach, 4-3; Key West dropped Cocoa Burg edged Lakeland, 5-4; Orlando trounced Tampa, 8-3, and Pompano Beach took a doubleheader from West Palm Beach

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League hopes to roll out the old home run cannon to try to snap the National League's six game win streak in the July 22 All-Star game at Washington with slugger like Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard in the starting line-up.

The big surprise in the line-up, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was the absence of Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, the third base starter five years in a row. Brooks gave way to Saundhan of the Oakland A's.

Baltimore, breezing along in the Eastern Division, wound up with outfielder Frank Robinson and first baseman John "Boog" Powell in the starting eight (pitchers are picked later). Oakland, running second to Minnesota in the Western Division, also had a pair—Bando at third and Jackson in the outfield.

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League hopes to roll out the old home run cannon to try to snap the National League's six game win streak in the July 22 All-Star game at Washington with slugger like Reggie Jackson and Frank Howard in the starting line-up.

The big surprise in the line-up, announced Wednesday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was the absence of Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, the third base starter five years in a row. Brooks gave way to Saundhan of the Oakland A's.

Baltimore, breezing along in the Eastern Division, wound up with outfielder Frank Robinson and first baseman John "Boog" Powell in the starting eight (pitchers are picked later). Oakland, running second to Minnesota in the Western Division, also had a pair—Bando at third and Jackson in the outfield.

Chicago Schools Say: 'We Have Never Practiced Faculty Segregation'

Georgia Governor Blasts U. S. School Desegregation Order

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A new federal warning to the State of Georgia and the City of Chicago on school desegregation has drawn a sharp rebuff from Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, while Chicago school officials deny their faculties are segregated.

"As far as I'm concerned, they can take their ultimatum and ram it in their satchels if they want to," Maddox told an Atlanta news conference Wednesday. "They are on the whole crowd."

In Chicago, the city's school board president, Frank M. Whiston, and Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said, in a joint statement, "We have never practiced segregation of faculty in Chicago, but we have permitted seniority of choice of schools by our teachers."

Ass. U.S. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard warned Wednesday in Washington that the government would press lawsuits against Georgia and Chicago unless they move to end public school desegregation.

It was the third day in a row that the Justice Department acted to end school desegregation, and the 10th and 11th warnings issued in that time.

The Georgia warning, in a letter to the state superintendent of education, Jack P. Nix, demanded a "complete dismantling" of dual schools for white and black pupils in the state's 194 school districts. Ninety-seven are now considered in compliance with federal guidelines on desegregation.

Nix said, "I don't think the state can set policy if desegregation means reorganization of largest public school system, behind New York and Los Angeles."

Warren Bacon, another black school board member, said he welcomed the warning but added, "I am not too enthusiastic about the Justice Department trying to speed up desegregation in Georgia," said Sam Williams, second vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Two Georgia civil rights leaders also were critical of the federal action.

Thomas Murray, a school board vice president, said an Illinois law requires that teachers be assigned to the school of their choice in relation to their tenure.

A Negro school board member, Mrs. Carey B. Preston, said the teachers' union would have to work with the board to solve the problem.

Initial Contingent Flies To Okinawa

First Marines Leave So. Vietnam

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The first contingent of U.S. Marines to be withdrawn from Vietnam flew to Okinawa today as military spokesmen reported the lowest weekly number of American battle deaths in almost six months.

The Marines left with none of the fanfare accorded departing U.S. infantrymen three days ago. An advance party of 120 Leathernecks of the 8th Regiment departed from Quang Tri, a base 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone, in two four-engine transports.

U.S. headquarters said 183 Americans were killed in action last week, the lowest death toll since the week ending Jan. 11 when 151 U.S. personnel were killed.

Spokesmen said the relative lull in combat activity accounted for the marked decrease from the preceding week's toll of 241 Americans, and from the year.

Another 1,348 Americans were wounded last week—772 of them hospitalized—compared to 1,474 the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties and the number of enemy dead reflected similar drops—274 government troops killed and 386 wounded last week compared with 446 killed and 804 wounded the previous week, and 2,381 enemy killed compared with 3,483 the previous week.

The new casualty reports raised to 37,019 the number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, 238,147 wounded and 1,325 listed as missing, captured or imprisoned. For the same period the U.S. Command lists 328,083 enemy dead.

The figures were released a few hours after the first contingent of 8th Regiment Marines left Vietnam.

The U.S. Command also announced the end Wednesday of a combat unit committed to the Vietnam war. Since its arrival March 8, 1968 American troop strength in Vietnam has risen to 539,500.

Withdrawal Of GI Subs Explained

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — The commander of the first U.S. troop unit withdrawn from Vietnam says the substitution of 68 men from other battalions for the trip home was a just move by the Army.

The returning 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry of the 9th Infantry Division included 788 men, but only 138 were original battalion members. The rest were men near the end of their one-year tours of duty who were transferred into the 3rd from other units.

Shortage Of Tanks Reported

By G. C. THIBLEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A major tank shortage may be developing because of the Army's preoccupation with the new, sophisticated and trouble-ridden Sheridan weapon system, says a House armed services investigating subcommittee.

"We need more tanks. I am not at all happy about our tank combat situation in Europe," said subcommittee Chairman Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., Wednesday, in releasing a report on the Sheridan.

Lo! Poor Indian

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee has recommended cutting the Bureau of Indian Affairs budget by $6.5 million, knocking out all money to help public schools start kindergartens for Indian children.

The public school kindergarten program of $2.3 million would be cut to $1.7 million, leaving 107 classrooms for 3,200 students.

Funds to build 59 kindergarten rooms at BIA schools at a cost of $4 million were left intact.

Polk Given Counsel

The National Sheriffs Association has retained the legal firm of Stratton, Davis and McIntosh to represent Sheriff John Polk in a suit filed by Harry W. Rott of Orlando.

Rott has instituted legal action against Polk and the sheriff's office after a March 23 arrest on disorderly charges which resulted when the 21-year-old man was jailed with several other persons after an incident at the Mid-Florida County Club.

They Were Hot

CAMP BLANDING, Fla. (AP) — A century-declined Civil War explosion was set off Wednesday when Army demolition experts blew up 71 cannonballs.

Thought to be harmless relics, the ammunition lay around museums and forts in the state for about a century.

It was being collected at Ft. Clinch in Fernandina Beach, a Civil War fort that never saw a battle, when Dr. J. C. Dickenson, the museum director, suggested a sample be checked.

THE THIRD MAN on the moon mission, Mike Collins, will play a comparatively passive role—unless something goes wrong. He stays behind in the Command Module while Armstrong and Aldrin crawl the lunar surface. In case of trouble during the Lunar Module's descent, he will attempt to drop down and pick Aldrin and Armstrong from the crippled vehicle. If he fails, he will be the only member of the trio capable of returning to earth.

Bridal Shower Honors Gerhea Tatum

By LIZ MATHEUX

Miss Gerhea Tatum was the honoree at a bridal shower given in her honor at the lovely Oviato home of Mrs. Chester Boyd, July 7, between the hours of 7:30 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. Mrs. Thomas J. McIntosh, daughter of Mrs. Boyd, was the co-hostess.

The appointed rooms were adorned with appropriate floral arrangements. The dining table in the formal dining room was overlaid with a white cloth and accented with floral motifs. The centerpiece consisted of a doll attired in a bridal gown.

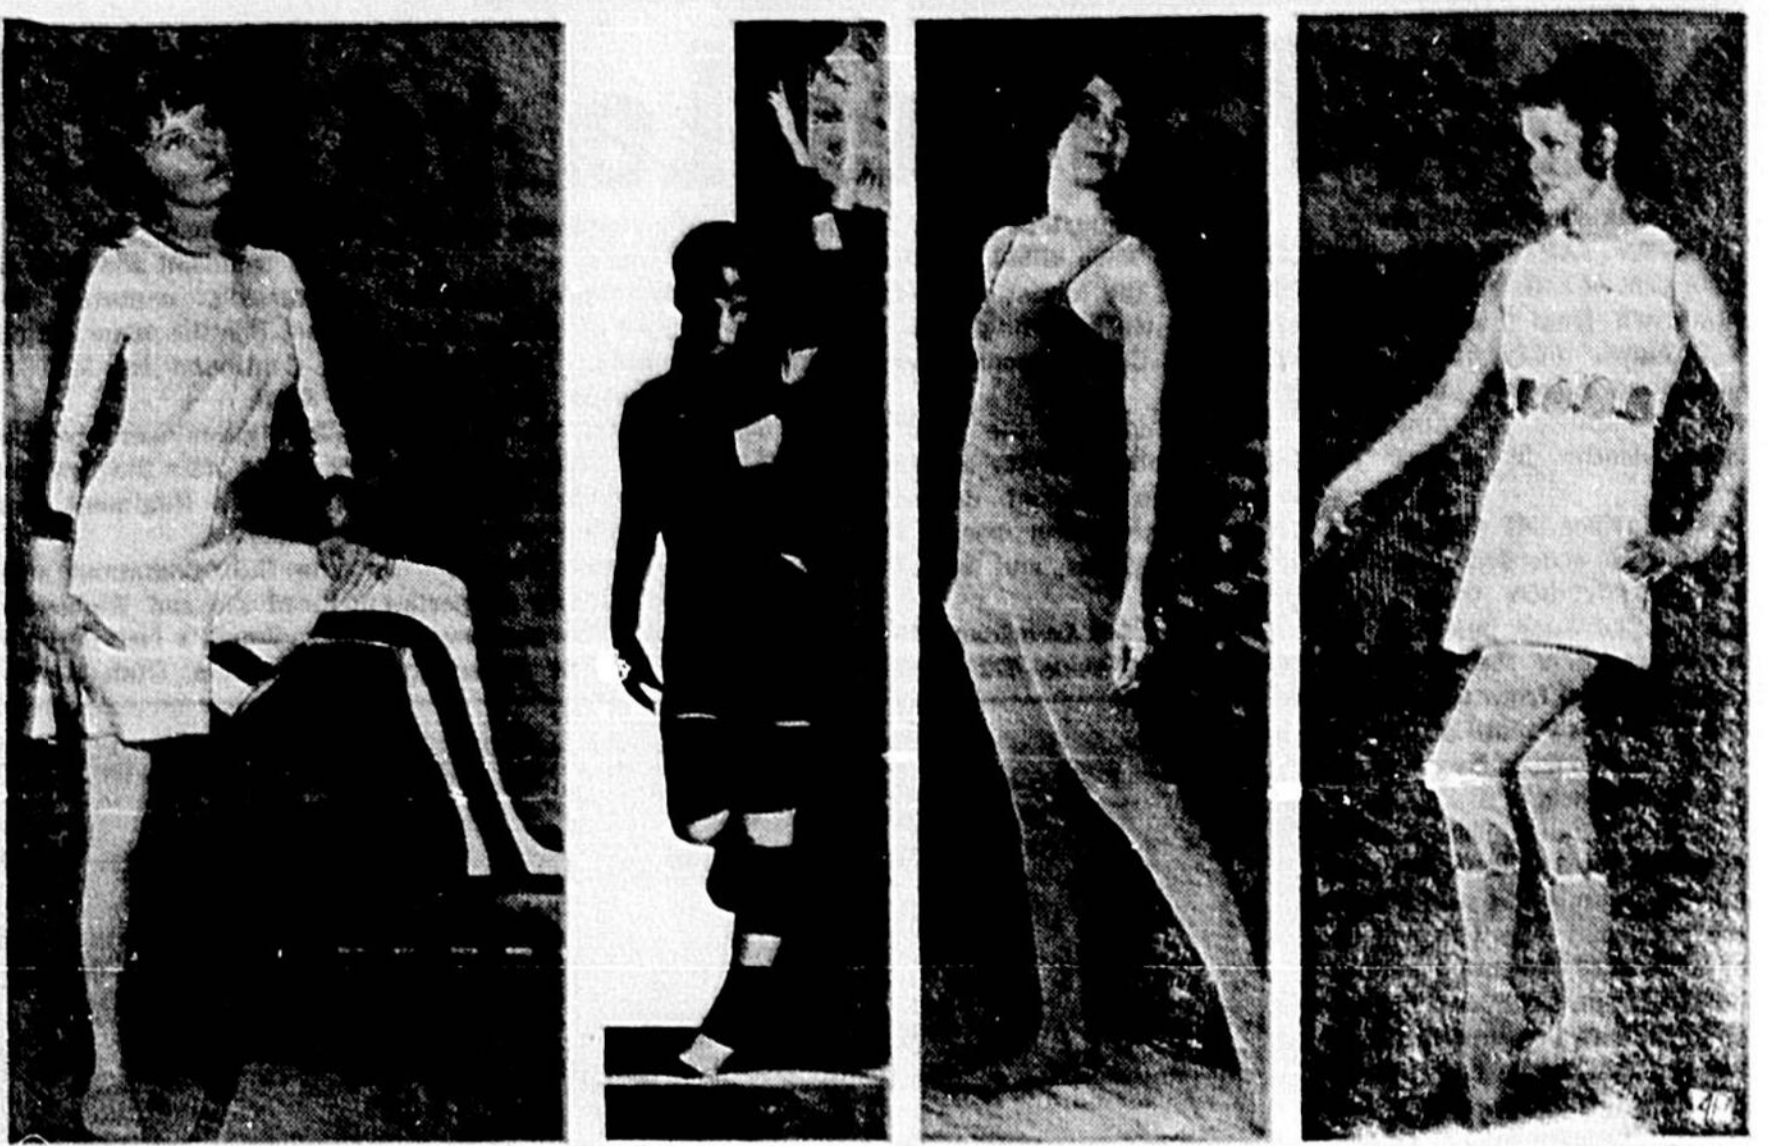

Sparkling fruit punch, assorted toasted nuts, cream mints and cake frosted in cranberry and white with small wedding bells were served to the invited guests.

Bridal games were played after which the honoree was presented with many useful as well as ornamental gifts. The hostesses presented Miss Tatum with an electric broom.

Invited guests were the Misses James Lowe, Lavon Robbins, Milton, Gary, Edwin Abel, Ben Wainwright, B. F. Wheeler Jr., Charles Niblack, Robert Sivak and Betty Yost.

The wedding will be an event of July 14 at 3:00 p. m. at Forest Lake Academy.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lowery of Sanford, and the groom-elect is the son of Mrs. Lavon Robbins of Oviato.

CRYSTAL GAZERS... Fashion Institute of Technology students, forecasting bodysuits of the future, came up with these winners in Burlington Hosiery Co.'s Legistics competition. From left, head-to-toe garment, designed for either sex and all ages, good for all season depending on fabric. It was second prize for Ildiko Bikfalvi. Stretch braid hams at sides, front and back reinforce suit's shape, support foot arch. First place went to Christine Plastini for turtle-neck body suit with zipper up back and seam up front. A jumper-effect eolotte can be worn over suit. Practical reversible opaque body stocking, third place winner by Lynn Woods, is green on one side, plain on other and can be worn with covering tunic or over-thights. Far right, runner-up design by Sara Avidor, uses snaps to attach socks to panty hose. The open work effect, repeated in the tunic, is enhanced by decorative buttons.

Bodysuits: Fashion Of The Future?

By JOY STILLEY

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Turn a group of young designers loose with carte blanche to create what they think will be the leg covering of body covering of the future, and what do you get?

You get some 200 imaginative concepts for tomorrow's toe-to-head fashions that utilize mate and incorporate fanciful but utilitarian features.

That's what happened when 20 Fashion Institute of Technology students, age 18 to 26, were asked to give their imagination unlimited scope in the Legistics Research Project sponsored by Burlington Hosiery Co.

"We told them to do your thing," says Howard A. Kaiser, Burlington president. "Today's designers are merely warping over yesterday's designs, not reflecting what young people really want. We must look to youth as the prime source of our inspiration."

What the young people envisioned, and later executed in materials supplied to their specifications by the sponsoring third firm, are neither hosiery nor undergarments. They are, rather, versatile garments that can be worn alone, in their various components, or with the addition of over-pieces.

Typical of the multipurpose, separate-parts, layered look is the design of Christine Plastini, 19, who won the $1,000 first prize in the competition.

Her entry is a turtle-neck body suit of opaque stretch fabric with detachable legs, leather soles are attached to the legs, a jumper-effect elastic in plain stretch fabric snaps on the shoulders of the bodysuit, which can be worn with or without the over-garment.

Many designs featured tunics, boots or other topings over the basic bodysuit. One presentation is an all-weather pantyhose in bright color vinyl, shiny, stretchy and water repellent.

Another shows plastic panels over the legs in hinged sections with the look of transparent armor. Metal is present in the collection, too, including aluminum foil, and chain links circling the legs as a decorative device.

There are scalloped inserts at the neck, quilted materials, fur worked into a hosiery knit, appliques and embroideries.

There is even a stretch lace bodysuit, stocking, embellished with flower appliques, to be worn under a sheer short white bridal gown. The tiny hose and arm tza portion detach and can be interchanged with other bras and pantyhose.

Many of the designs are of opaque material and cover the body from toe to neck. What skin does show peaks through such devices as flounce or ruffles.

In second place were Mrs. Dorothy Hink and R. E. Rushmore, each with Miss Ethel Johnson.

Six pnyers received certificates for their entries, for a free game in recognition of regular participation.

Visitors Feted At Family Reunion

Lt. and Mrs. Peter P. Pappas, daughters, Katherine and son, Christopher, have been visiting Mrs. Pappas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ellison at their home, 237 South Elm Ave. For the past three years the family has been living in Jacksonville where Lt. Pappas was stationed with V V 4 Hurricane Hunter. He has recently been transferred to Annapolis, Md. where he will be a navigation instructor at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Mrs. Pappas, the former Margaret Ellison, is a graduate of Seminole High School and her hobbies include sewing, interior decorating and church work.

The family are members of the Greek Orthodox Church and Mrs. Pappas has served as Marshal of Daughters of Penelope. She has also been affiliated with the Officers Wives Club at various places that they have lived and at one time was club secretary.

Lt. Pappas is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn. and when he is not busy hunting hurricanes or helping to recover astronauts from Apollo flights he enjoys the hobby of coin collecting. Enroute to Annapolis they plan to stop in Tarpon Springs for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Martha Pappas.

Relatives gathered at the Ellison home last Sunday for a family reunion. Enjoying the day with the Pappas family and Mr. and Mrs. Ellison were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Reynolds, daughter, Pam, and Kelly; Mr. and Mrs. James Martin Reynolds, son James and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hawkins and daughters, Cheryl and Angela.

For a fish accompaniment, add lots of chopped fresh dill to sour cream and serve as a dressing for sliced cucumbers.

When a recipe calls for a "pinch" or a "dash" figure about a teaspoon—or a half of your ¼ measuring spoon.

Young-Carlson

By MARYANN MILES

Miss Norma Jean Young and Pastor Curtis Keith Carlson were united in Holy Matrimony, Saturday, June 27, 1969, at 8:00 p. m. at the Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church, Forest City.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Young and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carlson, Forest City.

Pastor L. R. Mansell was the officiating clergyman at the candlelight ceremony before the altar arranged with two vases of yellow and white daisies, roses, and a variety of colored flowers. A procession of potted palms in the background was accented with two seven branched candelabra. A garden arch and fence created a very lovely background behind the arch.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride chose for her veil a formal gown of a modified empire waistline, with candlelight nylon chiffon over tulle trimmed in white lace with pale yellow daisies accentuating the gown. Her chapel length train was also enhanced with the pale yellow daisies. She carried a cascade of daisies.

Mrs. Edward Young, sister-in-law of the bride was matron of honor. Also Mrs. Carroll Wier, a friend of the bride served as maid of honor. They were dressed in yellow nylon chiffon over tulle Empire styled gowns.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Wesley Carlson, Miss Anita Appleton, and Miss Darlene Crawford. Their gowns were mint green nylon chiffon over tulle.

Dennis Carlson, cousin of the groom, was best man. Groomsman were Edward Young, Wesley Carlson, Rodney Carlson and Ron Bentzinger.

Miss Sandy Pifer and Miss Susie Pifer were candlelighters.

Mrs. Pifer was flower girl and Jimmy Quathan the Bible boy.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds participated in the ceremony of the candles. The two outside candles of the center candelabra had been lighted to represent their lives. They then took the outside candles and together lit the center one, thus setting the center candle representing the union of their lives into one flesh.

A medley of songs was presented by Miss Reba Hall, organist. Miss Hall also accompanied Mrs. Rusty Carlson, soloist, who sang "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring."

Mrs. Young chose a full length pink gown. A line design, with beige lace coat, beige shoes, purse, pink hat and matching gloves.

Mrs. Carlson, mother of the groom, wore a full length pink tulle ribbon nylon blend gown, with pink accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held under the huge oak tree behind the church. Honeycomb bells were hanging on the tree branches with the lamp candles creating an old-fashioned nostalgic air.

The bride's table, overlaid with a four-tiered wedding cake with the top layer and second layer separated with four columns each with a cupid doll, a horse drawn carriage in the center and a miniature bride and groom in the carriage. Accenting the cake were two silver candelabra.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. William Bower, Mrs. John Mayhew, Mrs. Vernon Kirslein, Miss Audrey Hall and Miss Ruth Hall.

Reception music was provided by Broil fish steaks and heat barbecue sauce; pour the sauce over the fish and serve with rice or mashed potatoes.

Gilbo-Morrison

Miss Karen Gilbo and Gary Morrison were united in Holy Matrimony June 14, at 7 p. m. at First Baptist Church of Sanford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Gilbo of Sanford and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Morrison, also of this city.

Rev. Fred H. Chance officiated at the ceremony before the altar accented with standing candelabra and standards of assorted flowers.

Linda Brothers Entertained At Luncheon

The Madison home of Mrs. A. F. Fraleigh was the setting for a lovely luncheon, June 25, honoring Miss Linda Brothers, bride-elect of James Holtzman, Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Fraleigh, Mrs. J. G. Ashley and Mrs. T. L. Fraleigh Jr. The spacious rooms were decorated throughout with mixed summer flowers.

Chilled cranberry juice was served to the guests upon their arrival. At one end of the dining table a silver tray holding a molded chicken loaf was served by Mrs. A. E. Fraleigh on the opposite end a lovely tray of stuffed tomatoes in beds of lettuce was served by Mrs. S. L. Brothers, mother of the bride-elect. Other delights were beautifully spaced on the well appointed table.

The guests were seated at card tables with beautifully arranged miniature arrangements on each. The hostesses presented Miss Brothers with lovely gifts of silver.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Turr and daughter, Patty, of Kinston, Md., and Mrs. Bob McMillan and children, Robbie, Margaret Ann and Marie are visiting Mrs. Birdie Smolgrass, Miss Helen Smolgrass and Mrs. Ritchie Harris.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: People think we are a happy pair with nice children and a lovely home. We have many friends. This is only on the surface. In reality, I am only the housekeeper. My husband has no time for me. He is so busy helping Tom, Dick, and Harry. I rarely see him. My love life is almost nonexistent.

"Life is so short, it's a pity to live like this, but I have made my bed. Despite our religion, I'll leave him if it weren't for the children. You know I know he will never change. I am sure there are other unhappy wives here. Belfast men are so unloving."

"UNHAPPY IN BELFAST?"

DEAR UNHAPPY: Belfast men are no less "loving" than other men. Your complaint is universal. I'm sure you are not alone. I'm surprised you haven't thought of it your own way. Stop playing the role of the abused and married wife, and "kill" your man with kindness.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother (I'll call him Danny) and his wife have separated after many years of marriage. I invited Danny to my home for Sunday dinner and he accepted. Then he called my husband at the office and asked if he could bring a date. Without asking me, my husband said he could.

When I was told of this, I let my husband know that I did not approve of it. In the first place Danny isn't divorced yet, and in the second place we have children at home and I don't think it's right for them to see their uncle with a date while he is still married.

Well, my husband insisted, telling me how depressed Danny was, etc., so I gave in, but I made sure my children weren't home that evening.

Now, my husband tells me that Danny is coming for Sunday dinner again, and he is bringing a girl. A different one! I am furious with my husband for being so wishy-washy. I think it is wrong to receive a married man's dates in my home. What is your opinion?

OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD: I'm along with you. And I also think it's inconsiderate of your husband to trap you into entertaining people you do not want in your home. It's YOUR home, too.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on something I consider vital to a good marriage. I disagree with a married man taking his secretary out to lunch or dinner, or even for a drink after hours.

My husband says it is a nice way to show his appreciation for extra work, and he would be accepted. Then he called my husband at the office and asked if he could bring a date. Without asking me, my husband said he could.

Horoscope Forecast

FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1969

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

You may have many ideas that are sensible and that serve you to real advantage. But you are too easily engaged in the little details. You spend too long on routine matters. Raise your consciousness so that you can think out matters of importance, logically.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Today is best to keep things running smoothly where some big venture is concerned, leaving unimportant details behind. Important points of your relationship will be discussed. Associate with your regular contacts.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get yourself on a higher level of consciousness if you want to make really big strides in the days ahead. Forget fussing about your appearance and concentrate on work.

A financial expert gives you much admirable, needed advice that will bring you the finest type of pleasure you like this evening. Be cheerful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put aside those small, unimportant duties at home. Concentrate on a big matter in the business world that can bring fine benefits. Seek the finest type of pleasure you like this evening. Be cheerful.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) Stop wasting so much time on unimportant little duties. Push ahead. Push worries out of the way. Get involved in some important activity. Think more. Avoid being emotional; it can be very destructive.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Stop worrying about money so much. Participate in the activities that will bring you the affection and admiration of good friends. Gain that personal aim with relative ease now. Be more sure of yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23) This is the way to proceed now: Concentrate more on business deals, how to add to your abundance. Participating in civic work is also good. Forgive petty personal annoyances. Show that you have real ability.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Show you have met recently. Have the answers to perplexities you have at present. Get what you limiters are not what you think they are. Forget them. Acquire more knowledge that will be helpful in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into some light and airy activity that will relieve tensions you are under, but avoid those frivolous friends. Follow your intuition so you have better relationships with one who holds you to promises. Be fair.

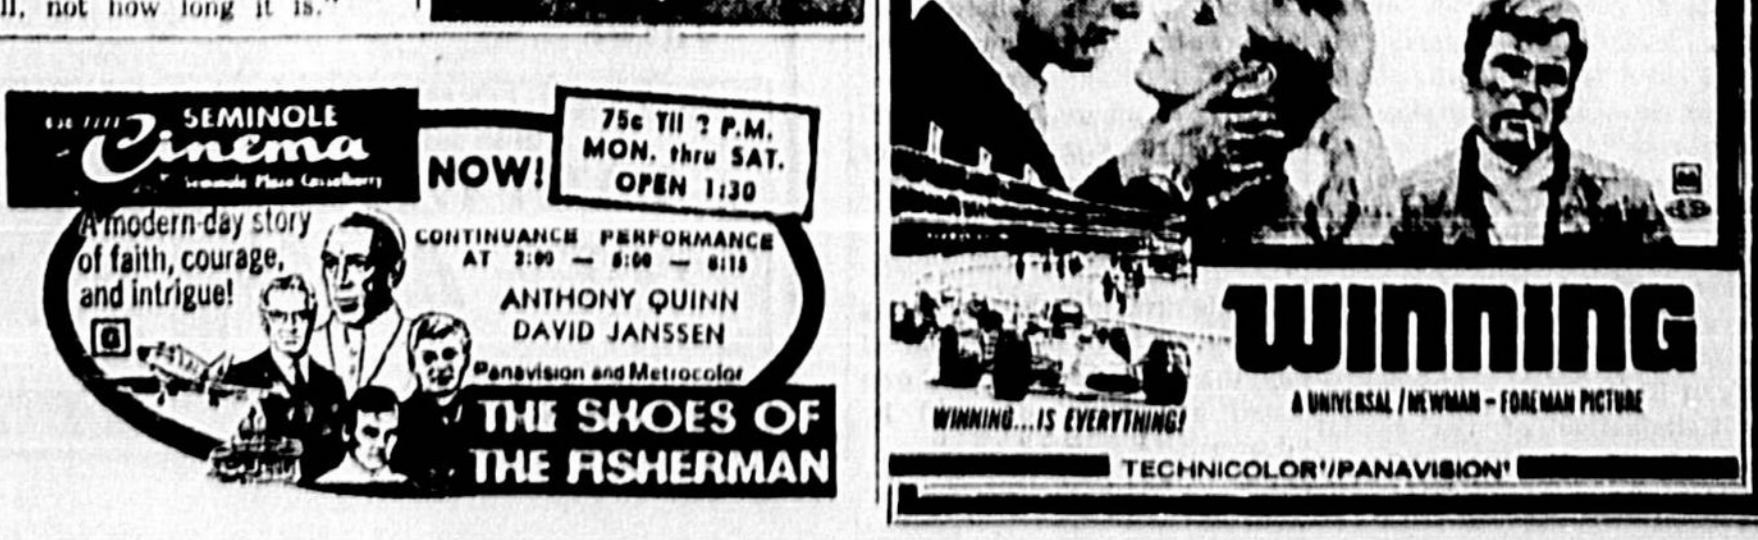

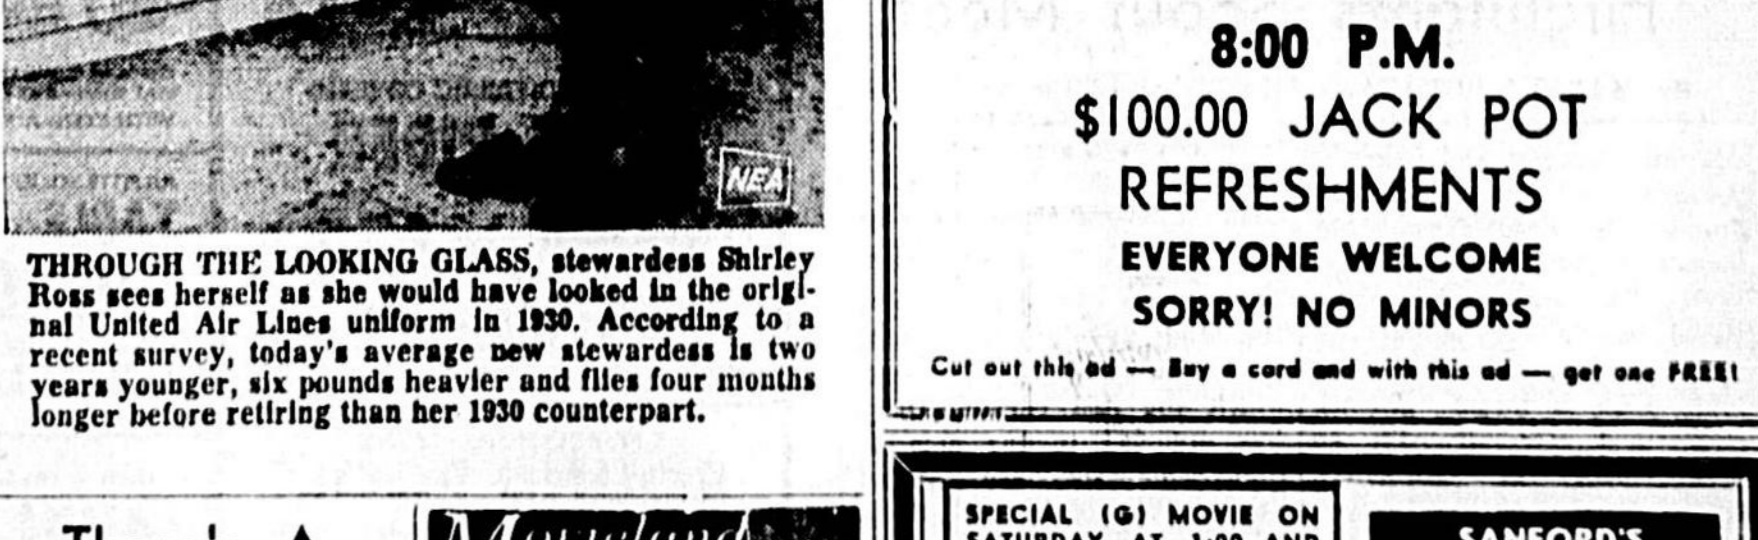

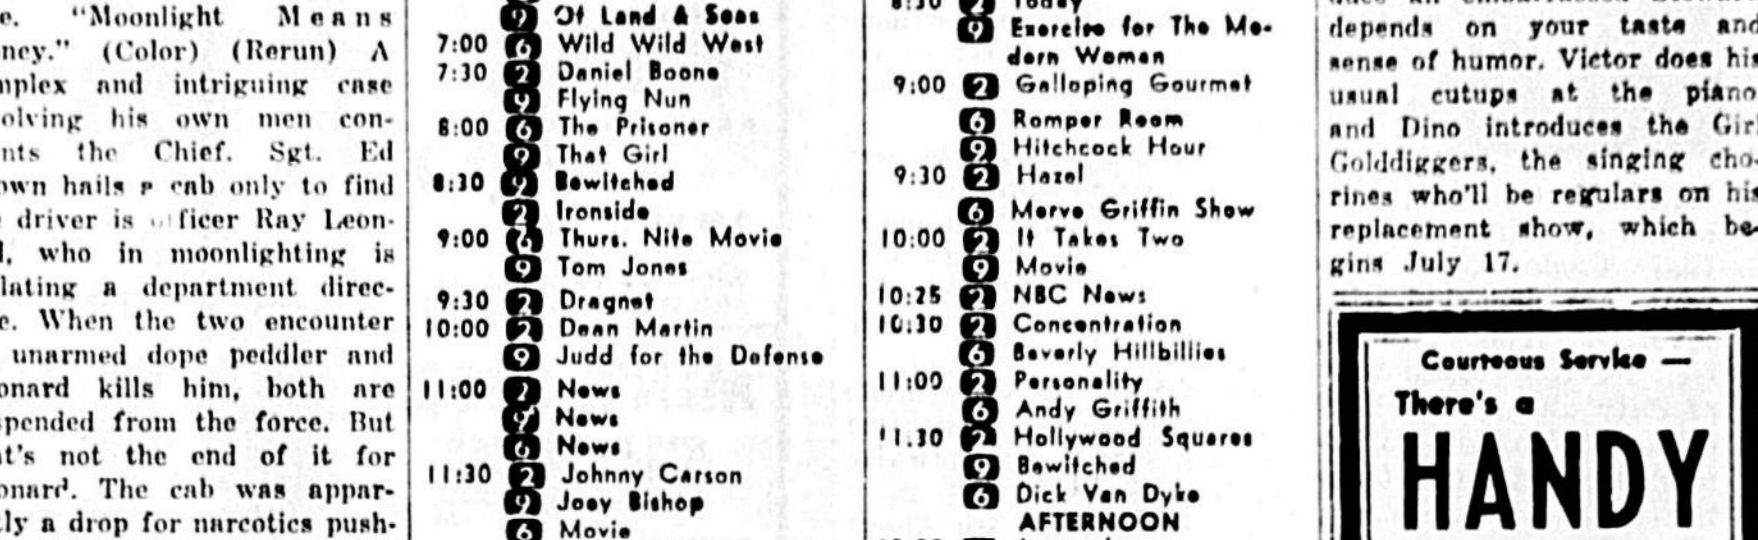

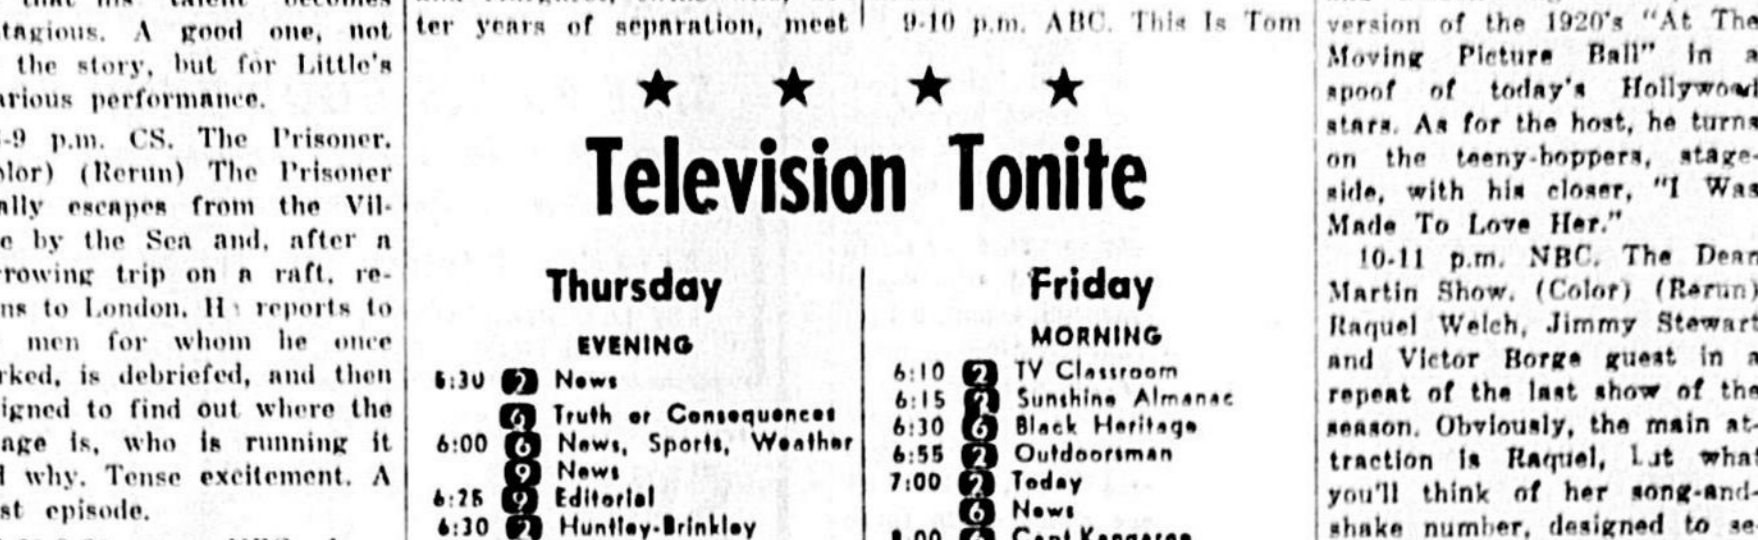

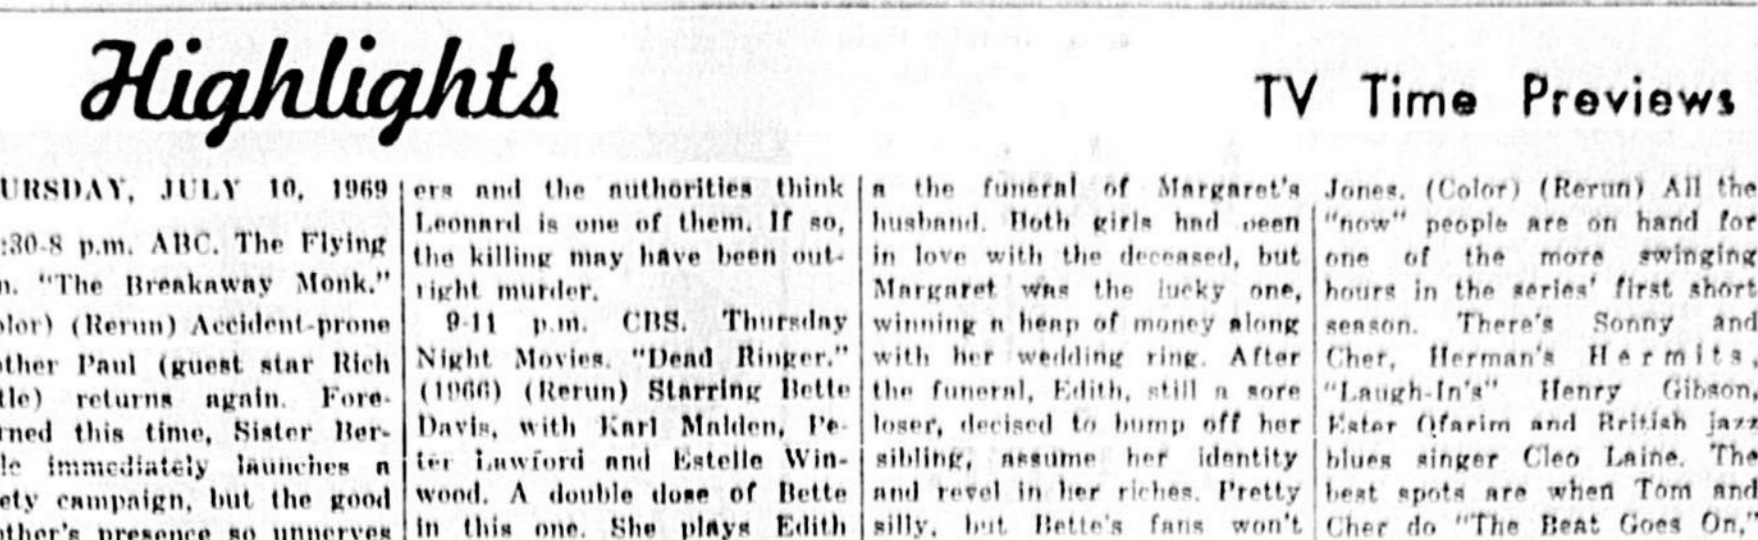

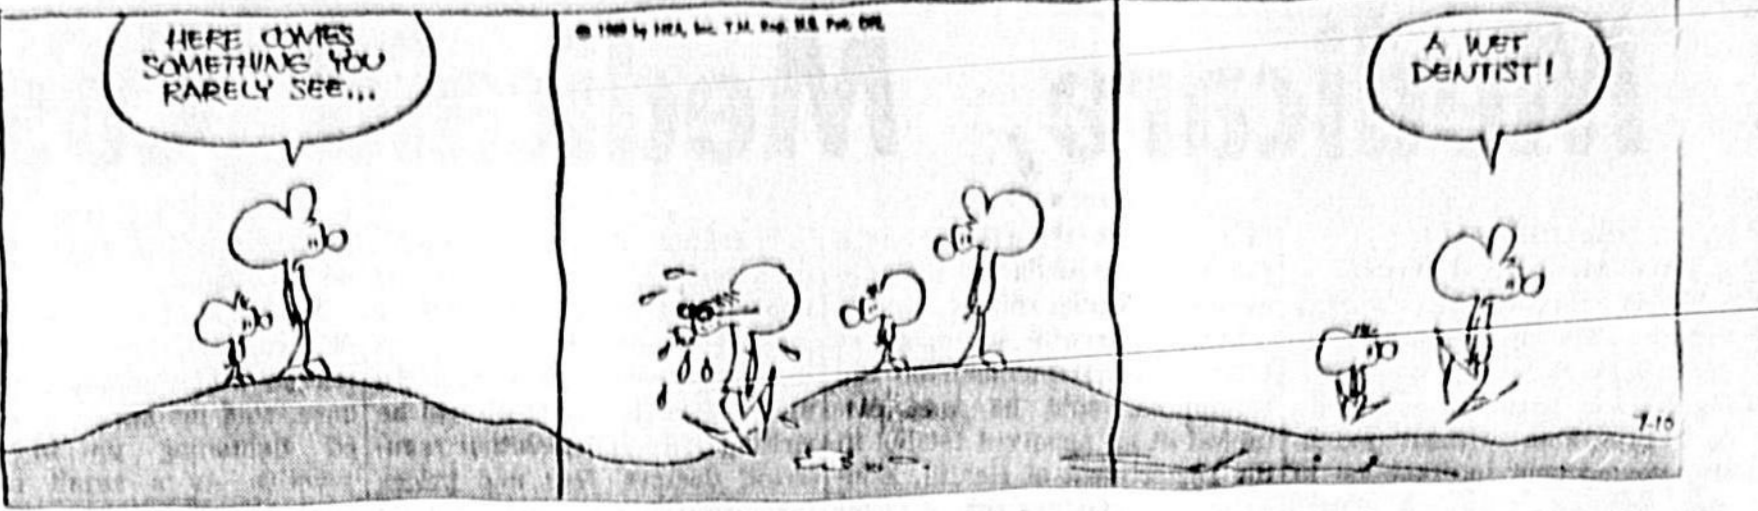

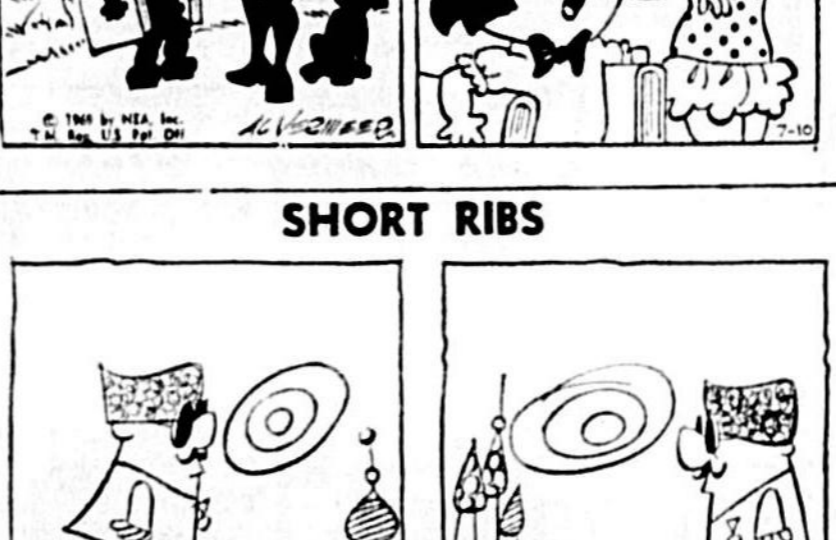

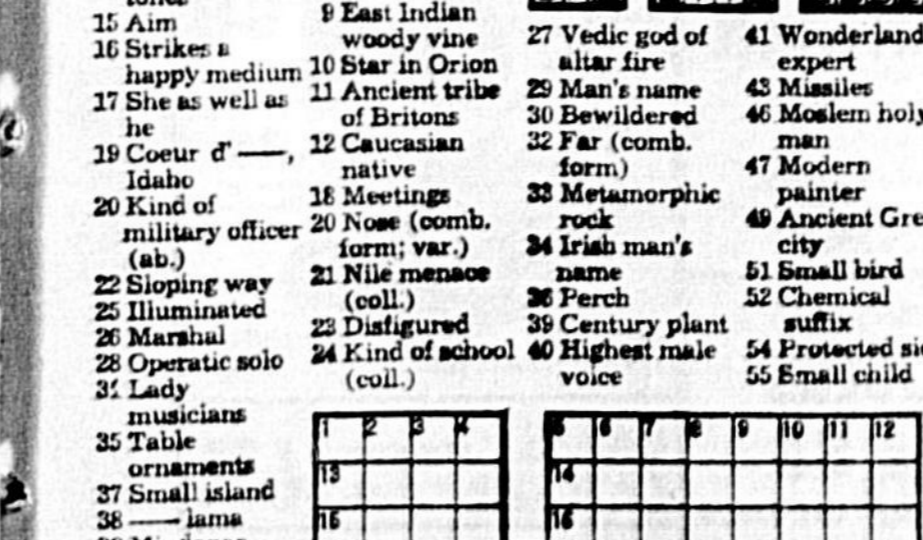

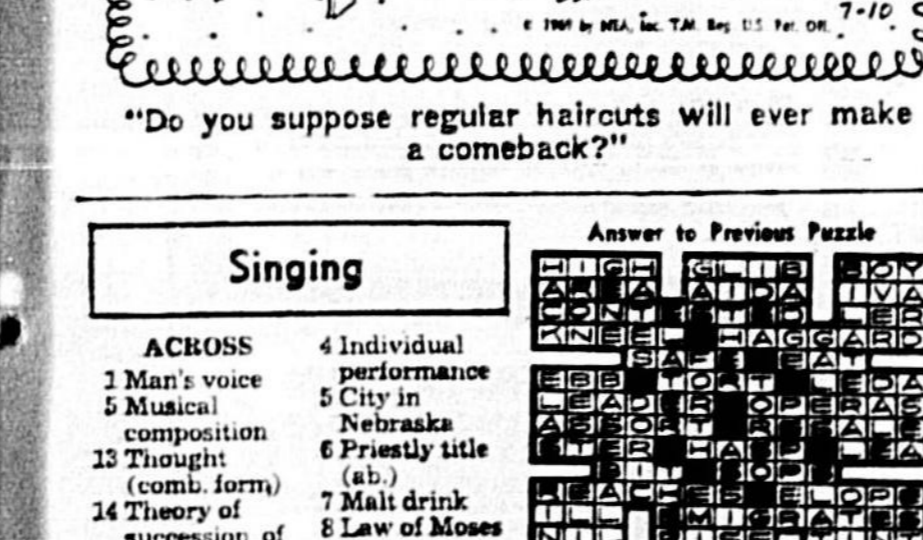

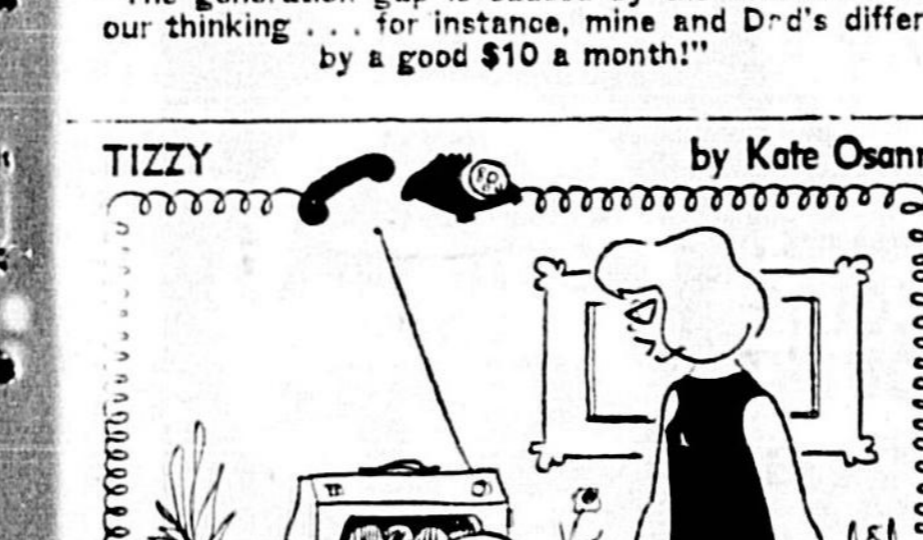

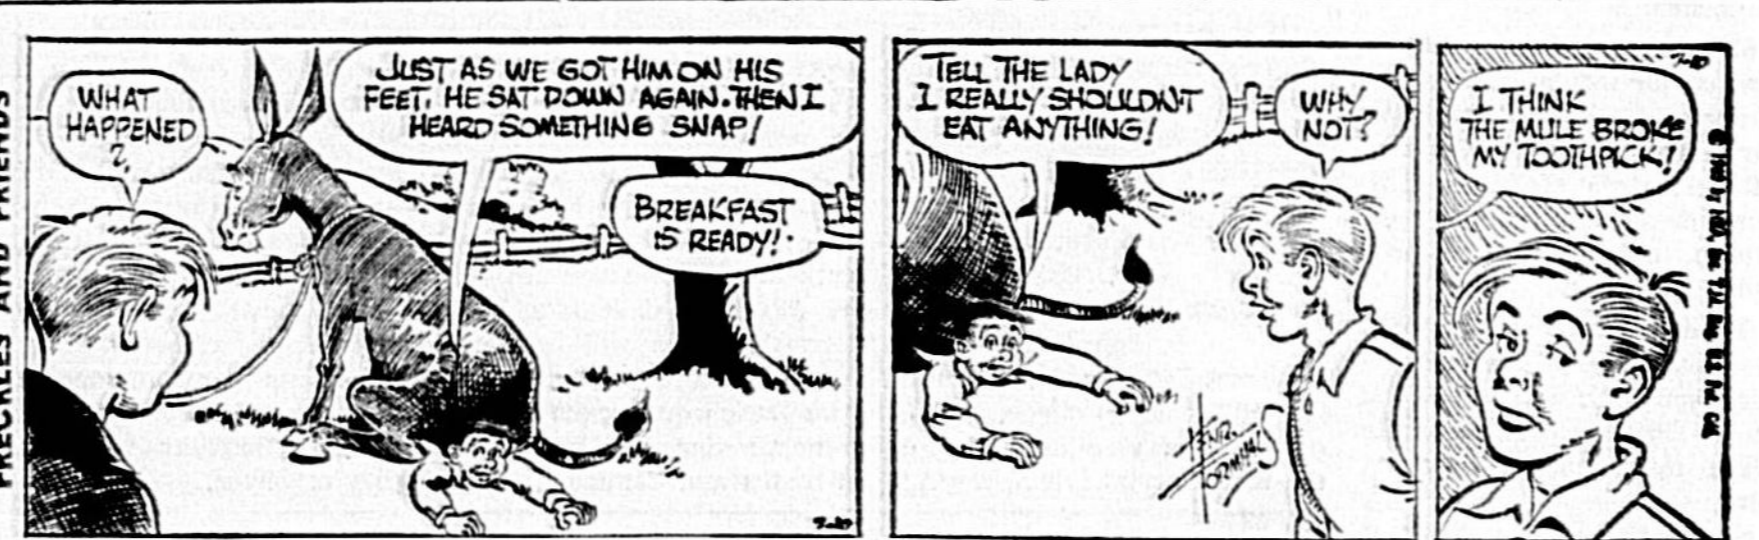

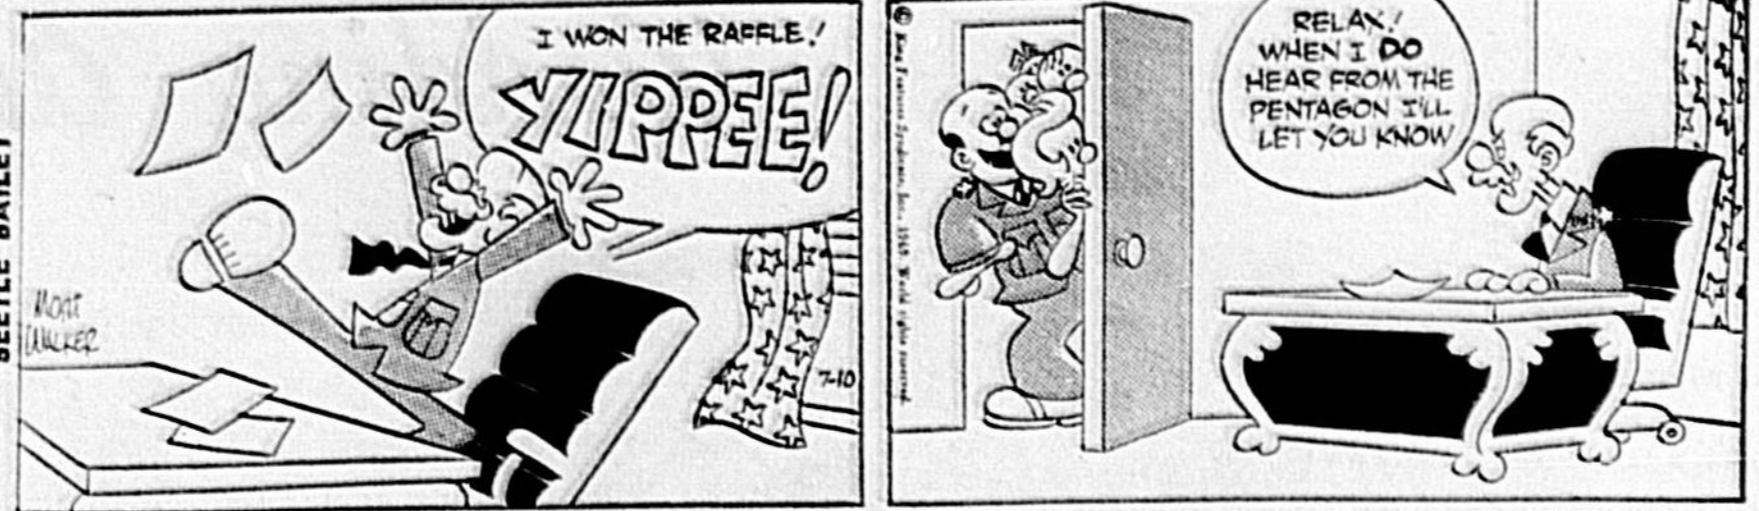

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Instead of taking your problems to an executive, try to come to a better understanding with your co-workers. Get more done. Have reconciliation with an important partner. That credit matter can wait awhile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Get busy with the work ahead of you and make this a profitable, good day. You'd be very wise if you avoid some frivolous acquaintances. Most workers are in a cooperative mood.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19) Go along with that charming person who can help you to forget the woes of the day. Enjoy the hobbies that most appeal to you. You have not been as affectionate with your mate as you should have been, so now is the time for just that.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be careful that an association does not take up so much of your time that you lose out on some important duty or deal. Listen to what your kin have to suggest. This can lead to real advancement.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those fascinating young people who will be thrifty and kind. They will have good properties and make a neat profit, as well. Teach early not to get so involved emotionally that the fine promise in the chart becomes greatly curtailed. Teach not to mix personal affairs with business. Send to a good private school. Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

"All butchers don't wear white aprons," remarked the young expert. "I played with him the other day. Of course, I shouldn't have put him in seven but he had promised never to bid a no-trump with less than 16 high-card points. This time he had only 14."

It seems that the so-called butcher had played out dummy's king and queen of diamonds and then proceeded to go down because West held four diamonds to the jack and East the long spades. This South's a butcher. We feel that only an expert in very good form would have worked out the winning line of play. Here it is:

South wins the spade in dummy and notes that West had almost surely opened a short suit. Then he cashes the four clubs, discarding two in addition, South has noticed that West discarded a heart on the fourth club.

At this point, expert South has some sort of count on the East and West hands. At least, enough of a count so he is pretty sure that West started out with either three or four diamonds. Then he leads a diamond to his ace and sees the eight-spot drop from West.

South has to decide right here and then usually he will singleton. If he makes the right decision, he leads his 10 of diamonds and lets it ride. If West doesn't cover with the jack.

If West does cover, South returns to his hand with the king of spades and now we see why he had to get rid of the diamond seven. He can lead the three and win with dummy's six if West plays the five.

Beauty after Forty

By Edyth Thornton McLeod

If you would like to make some money at home and have fun doing it, perhaps you would be interested in an idea I gave to a friend. She followed it, improved on it and made a nice bit of money. She has just returned to make a long promised visit to Europe.

My idea was that many women like to learn how to use makeup, do their hair and do some exercises while also following a diet.

My friend spoke to women in her neighborhood and they were all interested in knowing some ways to reuse those 4-in-1 grapefruit juice cans. I have prepared brought her own comb and brush. They chatted and gave each other ideas, one woman was particularly nice. They told her and suggested less, she took their advice.

Before getting to the women together my friend had her basement cleaned out, put second hand mirrors along the wall, painted second hand chairs and only real money she spent was improving the sink.

When you have time and are willing to do, you must think of something. Things that help others and you are important.

There are many ways of making money at home and you must choose your own.

One reader wrote me recently that she drives children to school for a small fee and she also calls for them. She drives young Mothers to the super market or she baby sits while they go to market. She loves their mothers and the children.

There's A Difference?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—John Bucky was watching two oil field workers trying to measure a long pole that was leaning against a derrick.

After they'd made guesses that differed considerably, Bucky asked: "Wouldn't it be simpler to lay that pole on the ground and measure how long it is?"

"No," one worker replied. "We're trying to figure out how tall, not how long it is."
