

Stripling Named To Village Council

By MONA GRINSTEAD
Utility Co. Manager Ruel Stripling was appointed to the North Orlando Village Council and Reginald Webster to the post of vice mayor at the 17th regular business meeting of the board Tuesday.

The appointments fill the office and post vacancies created in May by the resignation of Vice Mayor Joe Jackson.

Additional posts filled by council appointment were those of M. C. Gordon of Sanford as assistant to the mayor, engineer G. W. ... of Mrs. Lois Strickland as assistant to Village Clerk Mrs. Stewart Heimly and of Mayor Frank Fasula as assistant to Zoning Board Chairman Bob Hammond.

A report from Fasula, who said that letter surveys had been made by both Southern Bell Co. and the Winter Park Telephone Co., revealed that of the 128 subscribers in the area, 73 preferred service from Sanford's exchange while 53 desired the Winter Park service. Eight residents of the Ranch Homes also preferred the Winter Park exchange. The mayor said that he had been advised by Southern Bell Sanford Manager Bob Shedd that his company will not install any more telephones in the community until a decision is made on which company will service the area.

Village officials will meet with those of both firms on Friday to try "to work the matter out." Contract specifications for expansion of the sewer and water plants were ordered sent to five area contractors with the return bids expected within two weeks. Money for the expansion program is being held in escrow, Fasula said, and as soon as the bids are returned and the contract let, work will begin immediately. He also reported that the Village last week signed a resolution accepting responsibility for the damage done to utility lines within the municipality during the resurfacing of the Longwood-Orlando Rd.

W. W. Anderson, president of the North Orlando Civic Assn., reported that a survey of water department records, made to determine the feasibility of reducing the rates, indicated that such a reduction is impossible at this time. Officials making the survey, Anderson said, advised him that "the company now is losing money on the gas because the residents aren't paying their bills."

However, Anderson continued, he was told that as soon as 100 additional installations are made, the people can petition the State Railroad and Public Utilities Commission for a rate reduction.

Casselberry Kindergarten Sets Registration

Registration for attendance at the Overbrook Kindergarten, conducted at the Women's Club of Casselberry, will be held next Wednesday from 10 a. m. until noon.

Mrs. Marshall Johns Jr., new manager, reminds that the pre-school child, in order to attend classes which open Sept. 11, must be five years of age on or before Dec. 31 of this year. Early registration, she said, may be made with her at her residence, 325 Myvan Blvd. in Winter Park or by telephoning her at the home number.

Assisting Mrs. Johns in instructing the daily classes, Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. until noon, will be Mrs. Fred Bistline of Longwood.

An added feature this year will be dancing instruction and other activities of the schedule include indoor and outdoor games, painting, music, rhythmic games, library time, use of workbooks and a mid-morning refreshment and rest period.

All new equipment has been installed for the school including round, formica top tables in gay colors, each four feet in diameter; chairs scaled to size, a bright new nursery rug and complete library stock.

Longwood P-T-O Holds First Executive Meeting

By BETTIE SMITH
Mrs. Arthur Rhodes, president of the Longwood Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization, was hostess at her first executive meeting of the group for the evening term.

During the meeting general plans for the year were discussed and tentative outlines for a Halloween Carnival were made.

Chairmen appointed included Mrs. James Black, membership; Mrs. Garland Shaw, program; Mrs. Arthur Ferrin, historian and Mrs. Clarence Nichols, ways and means. Other appointments will be made at a later date.

It was announced that a year book, now being prepared, will be distributed to members at the first P-T-O meeting of the coming term.

Gas Authority Members Named

Longwood City Council Chairman R. C. Carlson and Vice Chairman John R. Reams were appointed at the board meeting last Thursday to represent Longwood in the newly created South Seminole Natural Gas Authority.

A bill creating the South Seminole Natural Gas District became law early this year and provides for a legal appropriation to establish the authority. Municipalities taking part in the plan to bring natural gas into their areas are Longwood, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs.

A letter from Robert C. Wright of Apopka, attorney, asked that the Longwood board appoint two of its members to serve on the Board of Commissioners for the Natural Gas Authority and also asked that they plan to meet with Casselberry and Altamonte Springs early this month. A suggested date was set for Monday.

Carlson will serve on the commission for one year and Reams for a two year period.

Vacationers Home From Summer Tour

By MARIAN R. JONES
Mrs. B. F. Wheeler Sr. of Oviedo and niece, Miss Betsy Ann Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carter of Sanford, returned last week from a month abroad which was spent in touring Europe.

They left Orlando by plane on the morning of June 23 for New York where they were joined by Mrs. Wheeler's nephew and Betsy Ann's cousin, Dean James Lawton, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Lawton of Oviedo, who is Dean of the Pennington School of Boys at Pennington, N. J.

Here they remained until Sunday afternoon when they took a jet flight for London arriving there on Monday for a sight-seeing tour before going on to Paris. In most stops, Mrs. Wheeler explained, their stay was of two and three day duration.

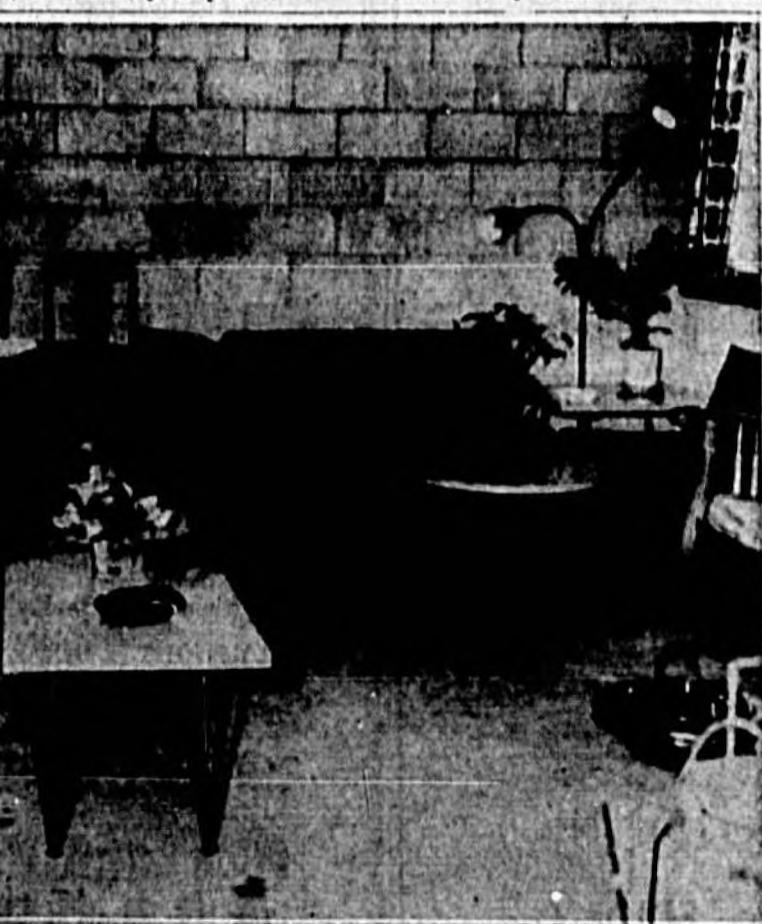

From Paris their travels took them to Rome and on to Cairo where they remained for several days. Then on to Lebanon, Beirut, Damascus, Jerusalem and the Jordan.

Several days were spent in Tel Aviv and Athens and from there they journeyed to Geneva and other points of interest in Switzerland before winding up the tour in Frankfurt, Germany.

From here they departed on July 29 to make the return flight to New York where Mrs. Wheeler and Betsy Ann accompanied the Dean to Pennington for a visit before their return home.

Their entire tour, Mrs. Wheeler said, was sponsored by Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of Marble Collegiate Church, Fifth Ave., New York City.

Last year Mrs. Wheeler, with Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of Oviedo, also enjoyed a tour of the European countries including several points of interest revisited on this summer's trip.

THE TEACHERS' LOUNGE at Altamonte Elementary School will be a pleasant surprise for faculty members when the fall term opens for, through a project under the direction of Mrs. Howard Van Pelt, school secretary, the room has been brightened and made more comfortable by the addition of many new furnishings. Forest City Community Park Is Surveyed

By ATLANTA McGINNIS
Twenty-one members of the Forest City Civic Assn., meeting in regular session Monday, were told that the three-and-one-half acre Forest City Community Park site had been surveyed and the concrete markers set.

The property, formerly a borrow pit, is located back of Lake Harriet Estates and was set aside for the community park by Seminole County Commissioners at an open session on May 16.

Future plans call for locating a combination fire hall — community house and a bomb shelter in the park, Association President Allen Forward reports.

Members also heard that work on the by-laws has been completed and that open discussion on them has been set for the September meeting.

Plans for conducting a Personal Survival Course for residents of the area were discussed with Forward appointed to contact Seminole County Civil Defense Director A. B. Peterson Sr. to make arrangements and also to contact officials of the Forest City Baptist Church for permission to hold the classes there.

At the motion of Richard Pardue, secretary, a resolution was passed to draw a petition for presentation to State Road Dept. District Engineer Richey Green calling for a speed limit reduction from 45 miles per hour to 35 miles per hour on SR 438 from Lake Harriet Estates to Bear Lake Rd. This strip covers the heavily populated residential zones where school buses are required to make many stops for loading and unloading and also covers the business area of the shopping center at Forest City.

Due to the Labor Day holiday, the next meeting of the association will be held on Sept. 11. Directors will meet at 8 p. m. Monday at Forward's home on Bunnell Rd.

Lyman Completes Summer Schedule

By BETTIE SMITH
Classes in summer make-up work and in special science study at Lyman High School have drawn to a successful conclusion, Principal Ralph Diggs said today.

Make-up work was conducted in math for grades seven through 10 for 10 students; in English for grades seven through 11 for 20 students; in chemistry and biology for one student of each subject and eight were enrolled for social studies, world history, American history and civics.

Teachers were Barber Houghton, J. G. Payne, Frank Gore and J. C. Murray.

Christy Harp taught the special physical science course which was open to students of grades eight through 12 and was offered primarily to allow advancement to higher levels and to make possible training in more science subjects during the high school years.

Diggs reported that of the 17 students who signed up for the special class, only two dropped out and that the remaining 15 successfully completed the work.

A number of Lyman students also took advantage of the summer class in drivers training conducted by instructor Edward Gratton.

BARE AND FALLING, trees in this stretch of Seminole County timberland present a bleak picture just at the season when their branches should be thickly lush and beautifully green with growth. However, the wasted appearance clearly illustrates the needless destruction of which Forest Ranger Lewis Williams warns against in today's editorial comment. (Herald Photo)

Youngster Gains National Recognition

Barbara Diggs, head majorette of Lyman High's Greyhound Band, rapidly is gaining national recognition for her artistry and accomplishments in the baton and twirling fields.

Most recent addition to the growing list of honors was that of being placed in the championship class of the Smith-Walbridge Midwest Twirling and Majorette Camp at Syracuse, Ind., which she attended for two weeks last month.

While there she received one week's training in majorette routines and one week in twirling instruction.

And, almost immediately upon her return home, she was off again. This week to the Central Florida Baton Camp now underway at Hovey-In-The-Hills Academy where she is a camp counselor and also is serving as student instructor for a beginner's twirling class.

Keeping her company there are fellow Lyman Majorettes Corps Members Jiffy Gammage, Laurie Dean and Kathleen Kent.

Barbara, the daughter of Lyman Principal and Mrs. Ralph P. Diggs, has won seven medals and three trophies during the past year.

She took first place twirling honors at the Tangerine Bowl Twirling Contest in Orlando and at the Kingdom of the Sun Twirling Contest in Ocala and holds superior ratings for twirling solos at district and state band meets.

Longwood Man Severely Burned

By BETTIE SMITH
John Camp, lineman for the G and H Construction Co. of Winter Park, was hospitalized last week suffering severe electrical burns received while at work.

He is reported to be in satisfactory condition and resting comfortably at Orange Memorial Hospital where he will be confined for at least four more weeks.

The Camps are residents of the Longwood Trailer Court on Wildmere Ave.

Longwood Scout At National Camp

By BETTIE SMITH
Assistant Scoutmaster John Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Haynes of Longwood, recently joined a group of 20 scouts at Dalton, Ga., to make the trip to the Boy Scout Ranch at Philmont, N. Mex.

Here he will take part in making trail hikes and camps and in many other activities of the national scouting program.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Let's Wake Up!

"If only the public would wake up to the danger which is resulting from careless fires..."

With this statement Forest Ranger Lewis Williams of the Longwood station opened a statistical account of the needless timber losses in Seminole County since the first of the year.

His comparative report shows a total of 110 fires to date against 114 for the entire 12 months of 1960. Incendary fires (those deliberately set) number 83 as compared to 54 last year. These, plus the 39 careless fires have destroyed 2,217 acres of county pastures and timberlands. An additional 1,000 acres have been burned through fires of miscellaneous origin.

And, at the present rate of timber used in the state, within the decade we will be using more than we can produce even though vast acreages are being replanted each year with the cooperation of the Florida Forestry Service which, in 1960, distributed 140 million seedlings to landowners for this purpose.

Such needless waste... if you must burn, call the Forestry Officials who say that they will be glad to come out on a standby basis and remind that it always is easier to prevent than to control a wildfire.

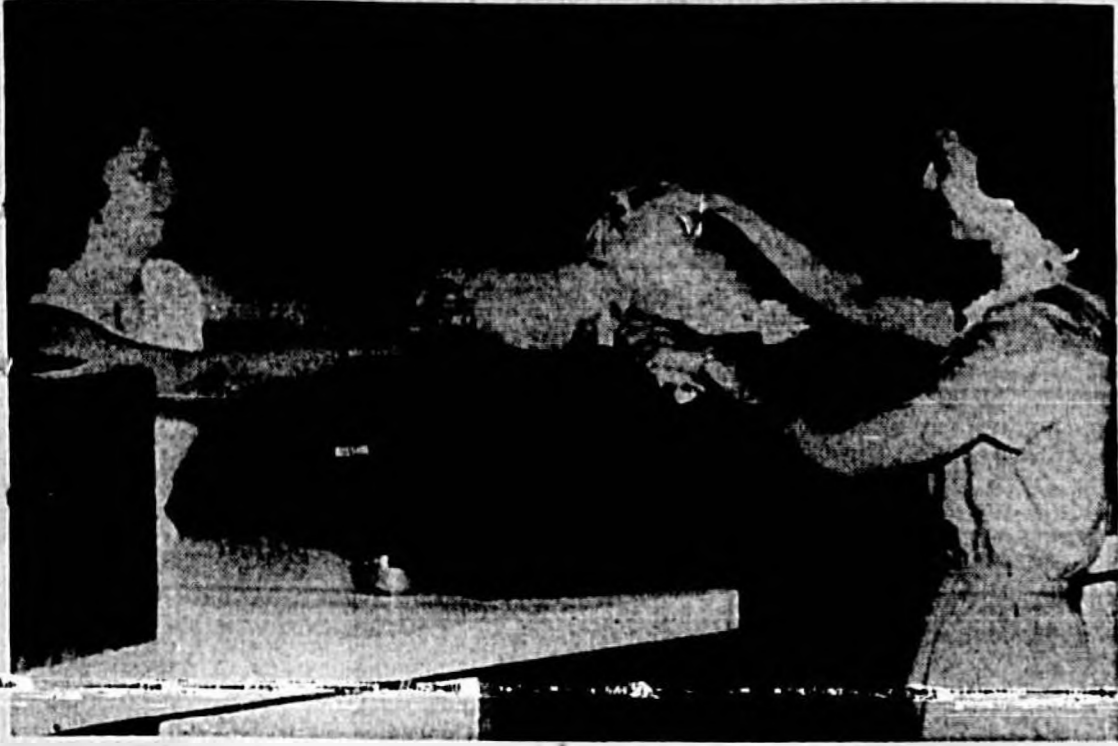

And, contrary to the prevalent idea that it is best to burn just before a summer rainstorm, the Ranger advises that just now, when the county still is extremely dry, too often the heavy winds accompanying what appears to be an approaching drencher only serve to fan flames and blow any real rainfall from the area.

We remind, too, that there is a $1,000 fine or three months in jail for those convicted of causing incendary fires and $200 fine or three months in jail for the careless fire charge.

We also urge full compliance with the request of Rangers, who say that most set fires occur over the weekends, that Seminole County residents report to them or to the Sheriff's Dept. any persons whose actions indicate the making of a deliberately set fire.

Let us all help grow our own timber and feed our own cattle so that our state can be self-sustaining in providing these commodities.

City Takes Civil Defense Initiative

BAGS AND BAGS OF MONEY will be used to cash checks for Seminole County residents who will be coming to Sanford tonight to take advantage of the new Open-Til-Nine shopping hours and the hundreds of bargains being advertised by the local merchants. Here Mrs. Carolyn Lane and Mrs. Faye Stafford, bank clerks get ready for the rush.

The City Commission in special budget session Thursday night, took the initiative over the County government in Civil Defense by authorizing City Manager W.E. Knowles to work on plans for a CD headquarters shelter in case of any emergency. Knowles also was authorized to set the wheels in motion to establish a chain of command organization in case of any disaster so the city organization can function properly. The city already has included $6,000 in its utility budget for surplus generators to aid in civil defense and additional money may be included to bring the city's CD mechanism in high gear. Meanwhile the County has appropriated only $3,000 for civil defense thus far in its tentative budget. Plans for a CD headquarters shelter for the city will include an underground operation. The present CD headquarters is in the police building. The plan to spruce up CD operations here is a continuation of a program whereby the city already has installed 10 mobile two-way radio units under Civil Defense with the fire and police departments. A partial warning system with a large siren on the water tank at 13th St. and French Ave. and whereby 80 city employees have been put through a survival CD course given last year under the direction of Tom Richey. Thursday night, commissioners wanted speedy action on civil defense with one commissioner citing the fact that it was the local government's responsibility to its people to provide them with the elements of defense and survival. Thursday, as the stepped-up drive for civil defense continues, Congress approved federal assistance in CD for fallout shelters. In a memo to the Commission Thursday, Knowles asked the board if it wished to express itself on the lack of consideration for civil defense. "Apparently the county-wide system is faltering and it may end up with the city carrying on alone. Present time and conditions are not appropriate to be turning away from civil defense," Knowles said.

Bargains, Music To Highlight Shopping Spree

There'll be dancing in the streets in Sanford tonight! It is the plan of the Downtown Merchants Assn. to continue the music that will be piped out to Friday Night shoppers all during the evening, so that after the drawing for the television set, shortly after 9 p. m., those who wish may dance in the streets.

Avery To Ask County To Join In Federal Program

District 3 County Commissioner James P. Avery will ask the County Commission next Tuesday to consider participating in a federal food aid program.

The program is called the "Federal Donated Surplus Commodity Distribution to the Needy Program" whereby the government gives surplus food supplies in counties throughout the country.

The program would supplement a portion of the county's $10,000 appropriation to needy families by giving them assistance.

Avery appeared before the City Commission Thursday night to request county use of a portion of the city warehouse at Municipal Stadium for both storage and distribution of surplus foods for county welfare cases.

Avery asked for city participation saying that some 20 percent of these welfare cases are from Sanford.

He said that if the rest of the commission goes along with his idea, he would like about 800 square feet in the warehouse that can be set off and utilized for this use.

The county commissioner said that the only cost to the county would be for the hiring of an employee to make distribution of the food and supervise the surplus handling.

After Avery made his presentation, members of the commission were "lukewarm" to the proposal. Earl Higginbotham asked the board "not to get involved" while others felt that a county building like the canning kitchen could be utilized to better advantage.

Pupils Asked To Register

Hugh Carlton, principal of Sanford Junior High School announced today that all students who are new to the area and should be in the seventh, eighth or ninth grades, should report to the school next week.

The school will be open from 9 a. m. to 12, from Monday through Friday, Carlton said, and it is requested that unassigned pupils come to the school and register during the designated hours.

There Was More Behind This Than Just Routine Announcement

By ATLANTA MCGINNIS
"Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Actor of Lake Harriet Estates, announce the birth of a daughter, Monique Suzanne, born at 10:30 p. m., Aug. 1, at Orange Memorial Hospital. Hospital grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson of Long Island, N. Y., and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Actor of San Antonio, Tex.

"The Actors are the parents of two other children." The above paragraphs read as a routine birth announcement, many of which appear daily in the thousands of newspapers across the nation. But . . . let's go back to the afternoon of Aug. 11. Along in mid-afternoon when it became evident to Mrs. Actor that little Monique was preparing to make her appearance, she telephoned daddy, a WDBO TV and radio announcer, at the station, saying, "You'd better come home."

Before she could give any explanation, click went the receiver. The next thing she knew, an ambulance pulled in the driveway with a patrol car from the Sheriff's Dept. right on its heels. Daddy pulled up out front excitedly demanding, "Are you ready?" while the sheriff's deputies were asking "Where was the shooting?" At this point a tire on the ambulance went flat and its driver, with some little concern, had to locate the follow-up ambulance and notify it not to come out. After the ambulance was repaired and it and the patrol car had gone, Mrs. Actor and her

War Means U.S. End - Nikita

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev threatened today to "crush" the United States' allies if war starts.

"If the West unleashes a war against us," Khrushchev told a Soviet-Romanian "friendship meeting" in the Kremlin, "we will deal crushing blows against the aggressors and all their bases."

Khrushchev, bursting with confidence after a series of spectacular diplomatic and space moves, called the Communist bloc "a family of nations" that opposes war and is "blasting a road to a bright future."

In a worldwide Communist society, he said, "man will be brother to man, and not wolves to man, as in a capitalistic society."

It was the third time this week that Khrushchev has made speeches which contained belligerent threats to crush the West if war starts, combining each threat with offers to negotiate the Berlin and German issues. His terms have been those rejected in the past by the West.

Khrushchev said he personally told Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani and the Greek ambassador to Moscow that the Soviet Union will blast U. S. bases in their countries if a war starts.

But at the same time, Khrushchev offered to settle the Berlin problem by negotiation, assured his audience that "we are against war" and predicted that "all mankind" will go Communist without war.

Vice Admiral S. V. Ricketts, Prospective Vice Chief of Naval Operations, will visit NAS Aug. 15 as part of a series of familiarization visits he is making of naval installations on the east coast.

Accorded of a recent naval dispatch Vice Admiral Ricketts is slated to arrive here at 1:45 p. m. accompanied by Rear Admiral J. M. Carson, Commander Fleet Air Jacksonville and a Commander Naval Air Bases Sixth Naval District.

While aboard NAS Sanford Admiral Ricketts will be briefed by Captain Robert W. Sloy, NAS Commanding Officer and Captain J. M. Tully, Commander Heavy Attack Wing One.

On the agenda for Altamonte Springs Councilmen at Monday night's meeting is action on the proposed zoning recommendations of the Town Planning and Zoning Board which would set up 12 distinct zoning districts in the municipality.

The council announced at a July 21 public hearing on the recommendations that it would consider action on the proposals at the next regular business session which is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Town Hall.

Labor Committee Okays Impacted School Aid Plan
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Labor Committee quickly approved today a one-year extension of a measure which allots about $200 million a year to school districts overburdened by children of federal employees.

Some Democrats view the extension of the impacted school bill as the death knell for this session of President Kennedy's multi-million dollar education package, now hopelessly mired in the House Rules Committee.

The committee moved with speed in approving the stopgap education bill.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) served notice he would attempt to revive a small portion of the Kennedy school package when the impact of areas bill comes to the floor.

Rights-Of-Way Budget Slashed By Commission

The County Commission has slashed the rights of way fund in the road and bridge budget by some $9,500 and County Engineer Carlton Bliss has been authorized to draw up a directive establishing a new policy on rights of way acquisition.

Last year's appropriation for rights of way was $10,000. This year the tentative budget spells out only $500 for rights of way.

What is amounts to, according to Bliss is that in the future the county won't be so lenient shelling out money for rights of way.

In other business connected with the road department, Bliss will present cost estimates on changing Maitland Ave. from a rural to village classification.

Approximate cost of the project had been estimated at $100,000 but Bliss will recommend that it be done through sectional work.

The State Road Department has called for contractor's bids on SR 434 between the intersection of SR 427 in Longwood and SR 419, County Engineer Carlton Bliss said today.

Bids will be opened at Ft. Lauderdale Aug. 31 on the project.

As the little birds trust the mother bird, so let men trust God. If a sparrow cannot fall without God's attention, if He counts the hairs of our head... why do we fear (Mat. 10:29-31)? Worry about future security? God is the security for those who trust Him. Your Heavenly Father feeds the birds, and you are of far more value than they (Mat. 6:26). "Blessed are they who hunger for God's good things; they shall be filled." In childhood we needed mother and welcomed her... as adults we need God and ignore Him. In prosperity we forget God, the Bible, the church; but when disaster comes we want them all.

As your days so shall your strength be (Deut. 33:25). He will cover you with His feathers, and under His wings shall you trust (Psalms 91:4). Then why not trust God where you cannot see; the plan is His, the promise yours. "Blessed are they."

Titov Admits He Parachuted To Earth

MOSCOW (UPI)—Maj. Gherman Titov disclosed today that he was ejected from his space ship, Vostok II, shortly before landing last Monday and floated to earth by parachute.

The 28-year-old Soviet air force pilot thus unlocked what had been one of the major mysteries of Soviet space flight to date.

Titov was shot aloft last Sunday and circled the earth 17 times in slightly more than 25 hours.

Although the exact method used to return pioneer space man Maj. Yuri Gagarin to earth last April 12 had not been disclosed officially, it was presumed he also left his ship by parachute.

Titov described his return to earth this way.

"On the 17th orbit I switched on the automatic system to arrange for a proper landing.

"The brake and the system of space ship orientation worked all automatically. But if necessary, I could have landed the ship myself.

"After applying the brake I decided to test out the landing system. It was in working order. At a low altitude my seat was ejected and I landed by parachute. The ship landed nearby."

Titov spoke at a news conference at Moscow's skyscraper university.

Newsmen were told that his space ship had been completely outfitted for a 10-day trip in space, if necessary.

Titov said he did not notice a "sharp transition" when he moved from the area of weightlessness back into the dense layers of the atmosphere and the landing deceleration of the ship began.

"I felt normal," he said.

As he re-entered the atmosphere, he said, he became aware of "a bright luminescence of air."

At the beginning of the news conference it was announced that the Soviet Union would publish all scientific details of the flight for "scientists of the world."

Titov said the "noise and vibration during the first stage of the flight caused me discomfort but I withstood them well. I watched through the porthole and was in constant contact with the ground."

Titov said he switched to manual control of the ship at 10 a. m. Sunday Moscow time. That was one hour after his launching. He said he was still in the earth's shadow at the time.

"It was easy to control the ship," the cosmonaut said. "I could direct it and alter the direction as I wanted at any moment."

"I felt master of the space ship and in full control. It obeyed the will of my hand."

"Then, in accordance with the program of observation I again switched off control of the space ship back to automatic control and began my observations through the portholes, all the time maintaining radio communications."

Titov read this account of the flight from a prepared statement.

He said that after the last stage of the rocket had been reached and he entered orbit and weightlessness, "my first impression was I was flying fast. But I soon settled down."

The press conference was broadcast and televised to much of Europe.

Titov said that even when he entered the shadow of the earth he was able to distinguish earth from sky.

"The difference between them was a gray mist," he said. "The earth did not seem black because the moon was shining on it."

The cosmonaut said his schedule called for him to undress on his 12th orbit. Presumably this was to test control of his arms and legs and general body movements.

He said that during the flight he had to "avail myself of my natural functions" and these were normal.

Titov said that although he was ejected before the landing and parachuted to earth, he could have taken the ship into a landing by manual control.

"I had permission to use either of these landing systems," he said.

When Titov completed his own account of the trip, Prof. Vladimir Yermakov, a government spokesman, said that Titov could have stayed aloft for 10 days if that had been the plan or if for any reason it had been deemed necessary to extend the flight.

IT'S GRUELIN' duelin' cap pistol style for these two small desperados as they face each other for the showdown in Lansing, Kan. Robbie Jamison may be out of gun range, but Mark Defeo with his hand on his foot-long shootin' iron is going to give it a try. The short pants set seems to like the adult westerns, too.

SAC Paratroopers Ready To Continue Giant War Games

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UPI)—More than 5,000 combat-ready Strategic Army Corps paratroopers will participate today in the second massive jump of Exercise Swift Strike, this country's most intensive war games since 1941.

The troops, members of the 101st Airborne Division, Ft. Campbell, Ky., were to jump near Cheraw, S. C. The maneuvers are being conducted in the area of the Carolina sandhills.

The 101st is to act as an "aggressor force" in the exercise, designed to test the war preparedness of U. S. troops to fight a "brush fire" war anywhere on the globe.

About 40,000 regulars, Reservists and National Guardsmen are participating in the maneuvers.

Jet fighters of the Tactical Air Command were to attack targets in the area of the drop zone before the massive paratroop.

Then the lumbering troop and equipment carriers were to make hundreds of flights from North AFB, Donaldson AFB and Shaw AFB over the drop zone to disperse their cargos.

The orders of the 101st Division were to secure its drop zone from attacks of another STRAC force, the 82nd Airborne, which staged a similar paratroop Tuesday and was reinforced Wednesday by a gigantic airlift of troops and supplies.

The 82nd had an entire day to prepare for today's jump by the 101st. Units spent Thursday digging in, regrouping, getting fresh supplies and more equipment and generally preparing for the invasion.

The 101st was playing the role of reinforcements for the aggressor "Jacksonian Guards," a unit of 1,500 troops from Ft. Jackson, S. C., which invaded the mythical friendly country of Boisela near Camden, S. C.

Muse, Grier Form Furniture Center Corporation

Chester Muse, manager of Mathers Furniture store here is winding up his duties with that firm this week, in preparation for taking over the management of the Furniture Center on French Ave. Muse, along with Hugh Grier and Mrs. Grier have incorporated the Furniture Center business and have big plans for expansion and innovation.

Grier serves the new corporation as president, with Mrs. Grier as vice president and Muse has the job of secretary-treasurer as well as being store manager.

Soon after completing his business association with Mathers where he has been manager since 1951, Muse accompanied by Grier, will depart for the new showing of Florida furniture at the Florida Furniture Mart in Miami.

Upon their return, August 21, Muse will assume his new job as manager of the Furniture Center, which features all the latest styles and creations from leading manufacturers.

Church 'Funday' Scheduled Aug. 26

The Church of the Nativity at Lake Mary has scheduled a special "Funday" on Aug. 26 from 3 to 10 p. m. at the Lake Mary Firehouse.

All proceeds from the event will go towards the new church.

Among the highlights of the day will be a spaghetti supper between the hours of 5 and 7:30 p. m.

Chairmen for the dinner are George Maybury and Ralph Schweikert.

The dinner will be cooked by Mike Sirlani.

Tickets are available by calling John MacFarlane.

MacFarlane, along with Robert Mooney will serve as chairman of the games which will take place after dinner. Prizes will be awarded to game winners.

All booths will be operated by the ladies of the parish. Sunland

Circles will handle the fish pond and cake booth. Chairman of the cake booth will be Katherine Westbrook while Terry Fay will be chairman of the fish pond booth.

Booths will also be operated by the Lake Mary and North Orlando Circles.

There also will be plenty of rides for the youngsters.

One Of Every Five Of Unemployed Jobless For Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Of the 3,140,000 unemployed persons in the United States in July, one in five had been jobless a half-year or more.

Who are these long-term unemployed?

New Labor Department figures show:

They are Negroes and older people. Many employers refuse to hire them because of their color or their age.

They are youngsters looking for their first job. Some are school "dropouts" whose chances of finding work would be much better if they had a high school, or even grade school, diploma.

They are semi-skilled machine operators and unskilled laborers—people who are among the first to be laid off and who are easily replaced.

They are auto and steel workers whose jobs have been taken over by machines—for them and for society the price of progress in an age of rapidly advancing technology.

To put these men and women back at work—or to help them qualify for first jobs—the administration has asked Congress to authorize federally sponsored training and retraining programs. Officials believe this is the only way to solve the paradox of growing "hard core" unemployment in an expanding economy.

The figures pointed to especially severe long-term obsolescence among steel and auto workers. Steel workers accounted for 6.8 per cent of those jobless 27 weeks, although they account for only 1.6 per cent of the labor force. Auto workers posted similar percentages of 4.2 and 1.2.

Talent Show And Coronation Ends Longwood Summer Program

By BETTIE SMITH

A talent show, held in the Longwood Elementary School Auditorium, concluded the many activities of the seven-week Summer Enrichment Program at the school for which more than 230 children of the area were enrolled.

Another feature of the evening's entertainment was the crowning of a king and queen to reign over various age groups.

For the 11-year-and-older group were Larry Cole and Paulette Golyer with attendants Cathy Willis, Beth Daniel, Steve Harmon and Billy Willis.

See It Yourself Satellite Completes Year In Orbit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A flashy looking old gasbag, slightly wrinkled with age, neared a space era milestone today.

Communications satellite Echo—seven times as bright as the North Star—will have completed a year in orbit at 3:30 a. m., Saturday.

The giant balloon has traveled more than 138 million miles on nearly 4,500 trips around the earth. It was used to bounce former President Eisenhower's voice from coast to coast and for countless other experiments.

But to millions of persons around the world it will be recalled as the "see-it-yourself" satellite that anyone could watch as it streaked across the sky.

Echo's silver-colored aluminum skin—about half as thick as a cigarette wrapper—may be visible over most cities in the nation tonight on the eve of its first birthday in space.

Earlier predictions that Echo would fade and die after one year have been discarded. Scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) now believe it will survive at least until mid-winter and perhaps for another year.

This is true although the "radio mirror" balloon has lost all its gas and changed its shape since it was shot into orbit.

It began life in space with a diameter of 100 feet—about the height of a 10-story building. Now, scientists say, it may be shaped more like a football than a sphere or have "dents" in its sides.

Micrometeorites, tiny space particles, punctured the satellite skin and distorted its shape. But the balloon does not collapse, as a

UAW Sets Meet On Strike Vote

DETROIT (UPI)—United Auto Workers officials meet today to decide whether to ask for a strike vote from 120,000 Ford Motor Co. employes.

The union's Ford negotiating committee scheduled a special meeting to map strategy against the nation's second-largest auto maker.

The UAW contract with Ford expires Aug. 31, the same day as similar pacts at General Motors and Chrysler.

The UAW's bargaining teams at GM and Chrysler announced earlier this week that they would ask the union's executive board this Sunday for permission to take strike votes from the 310,000 workers at the two auto firms.

GM already faced similar strike votes from the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE). The IUE, whose contract expires one day after the UAW's at GM, decided Thursday to authorize strike votes among its 45,000 members.

But before the IUE could take any action it was revealed that two local unions at Chicago and New Brunswick, N. J., already had voted unanimously to approve strike action to back up their new contract demands.

The other IUE locals at Dayton and Warren, Ohio, and Rochester, N. Y., were ordered to take strike votes by Aug. 27. Negotiations continued between the UAW and GM and Chrysler. Talks at Ford were recessed for the special meeting of the UAW Ford negotiating committee.

Jourist Killed Riding Stagecoach

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont. (UPI)—A vehicle of another century, a stage coach, carried an Arizona woman tourist to her death Thursday in this restored Old West gold mining camp.

Mrs. Ethel Victoria Gove, 52, of Phoenix, was added to the list of persons killed on Montana public highways. She was No. 158. The other 161 died in auto accidents.

The stagecoach was authorized—restored from nearly 100 years ago when gold was found on Alder Gulch in 1863 and brought men flocking to what would become the Montana territory and Virginia City, its capital.

It was used to carry tourists around the town once again as it was in the 1860's when it was a city of 10,000 miners and the hangout of Henry Plummer's murderous highwaymen.

A bundle of laundry from a modern laundry truck fell in front of the coach's team. The horses shied and dragged the coach over an embankment.

Driver Henry Stiles managed to hold the coach on the embankment long enough for all but Mrs. Gove and Gail Tognotti, 15, of Trail, B. C., to jump.

Then the tongue of the coach broke and the horses bolted. Mrs. Gove and Miss Tognotti were thrown out. Miss Tognotti received a broken arm. Mrs. Gove died while being taken to a hospital.

Emergency Aid Money Asked

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Emergency money for "desperate circumstances" in regulation of private water and sewer companies for eight Florida counties was solicited Wednesday by the Railroad and Public Utilities Commission.

Wilbur King, chairman of the commission, appeared to the State Cabinet for funds and said the commission was trying to regulate 60 water and sewer companies with no money and no staff for the job.

Senate Okays Oilman's Post

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Wednesday confirmed the appointment of Texas oilman Lawrence J. O'Connor to the Federal Power Commission after waiting out Sen. William Proxmire's 26-hour talkathon.

The Wisconsin Democrat cleared the way for the 83-12 vote when he yielded the floor at 12:05 p. m. He began arguing against the nomination at 10 a. m. Tuesday and continued through the night, spelled only occasionally by other senators.

Wins Event

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—Henry Hand of Great Britain won the 90-meter event in the world archery championship Thursday with Joe Thornton of the United States second and Henri Verhoeven of Belgium third. Sherman Clayton of the United States finished 40th in the field of 85 archers.

Senate Nears First Foreign Aid Showdown

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate approached the first showdown on its $4,238,300,000 foreign aid bill today with administration forces confident of victory.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, (D-Va.), led a determined fight for his amendment to clip the wings of a $2.8 billion five-year authority for Treasury borrowing to finance long-term economic development loans.

But administration leaders, working closely with the White House, said they expected to win a narrow victory.

Byrd's amendment would retain the five-year authority but required annual congressional appropriations to finance it. The bill's backers termed it unacceptable.

The Senate agreed to limit debate to seven hours on the Byrd proposal and leaders expected a vote by early evening.

A group of Republicans seeking a less-stringent plan to give Congress some form of continuing review over the new loan program was reported ready to agree with Chairman J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.), on some form of compromise. If they do, Byrd's chances would become slimmer than ever.

Fulbright has suggested a plan to require informing key congressional committees of any loan of $10 million or more 30 days in advance. That would give them a chance to protest.

The GOP group, led by Sen. Laverett Saltonstall, (R-Mass.), and Kenneth B. Keating, (R-N.Y.), has proposed giving either House the right to "veto" any such loan within 30 days after it is proposed.

In a prepared speech, Byrd said the long-range loan program "is intended to be a loose and 'flexible' program of long-term, poor risk loans financed by interest bearing indebtedness."

He said the program would give the development loan fund "all the characteristics of another federal bureau, but authorized to increase the debt of the American people up to $2.8 billion for grants in the form of loans, with few if any strings attached."

If the loans were made at 3 per cent over 50 years, Byrd estimated, the total cost, including interest on the treasury borrowing could run up to $2.2 billion over a half-century.

"We are in a situation which demands tremendous increases in expenditure for military preparedness," he said. "This is no time to relax control over any public spending, or to increase the public debt unnecessarily for any purpose—and I do not except foreign aid."

What is it really like to be a "friend" of the Soviet Union?

Everybody knows the answer being given by East German refugees who, in President Kennedy's words, are "rooting with their feet." But what of the tens of millions in other satellites without an escape hatch?

They live in some of the world's most crowded cities, yet new housing in Eastern Europe is hardly 40 per cent of that in the Soviet Union, itself troubled by shortages. It is estimated another 15 years will be needed just to complete rehabilitation of war-damaged buildings and transportation.

Subsistence levels in food and clothing are being met, but faulty distribution yearly wastes thousands of tons of food, and warehouses are jammed with industrial rejects and shoddy, unsalable fabrics and footwear.

The whole satellite area has fewer telephones than our city of Baltimore. Total annual satellite automobile output—much of it exported—doesn't match the Cadillac we sell in a year.

Hungary, once a rich breadbasket for Europe, has had to become a grain-importing nation.

All these lands should be reasonably prosperous if they have rich resources and talented, industrial people. Still, they lag far behind the West, and the Soviet Union, in factory and farm output.

The answer is simple. To be a compulsory friend of Russia is to be milked dry, year after year.

The milking began after World War II when Russia carted off nearly $25 billion worth of capital equipment, even unto railroad tracks and telephone cables. It has continued ever since.

At first brahshly but now more subtly, the Kremlin has steadily overcharged satellite lands for its exports and underpaid them for its imports. In a four-year span this thinly veiled theft was estimated at $2.4 billion—enforced foreign aid for Moscow's benefit.

Russia controls all satellite strategic resources and through alleged "joint" companies manages whole sectors of their economies. Before the war, when Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and the rest were free to choose, they traded little with Moscow. Today more than half of Soviet trade is with these countries.

Furthermore, the Russians compel the satellites to bear the brunt of lavish low-interest trade credits to underdeveloped lands, and to aid Red-dominated Asian nations which in turn fatten Soviet coffers. The satellites rehabilitated war-torn North Korea.

Probably no colonial power in history has matched the squeeze the greedy Soviet Union has applied to its unhappy captive neighbors.

More opportunity to earn while you learn; more opportunity to hire skilled personnel, specially trained to operate in your company, would result from more co-operative education programs throughout the nation.

Co-operative education is a plan whereby a college or graduate student spends a stated period—often the first year or two—on campus, and a stated period working for an approved employer earning the regular salary paid for his or her particular job classification.

Currently only about 5 per cent of the nation's colleges offer such programs.

The plan was examined closely during the third Work-Study in Higher Education Conference at Princeton, N. J., sponsored by the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation. Issued at the meeting was a "Report of Co-operative Education" by Ralph W. Tyler, director of the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences.

It is based on interviews with some 5,300 students and graduates and reveals several challenging aspects to this form of education.

While the primary aspect of co-operative education is not the earning opportunity but the educational value, co-operative students showed earnings during their study period (usually five years) that ranged from $1,500 to $7,300. (Cost of college during the period varied from $3,600 to $9,000.)

Though few co-operative students can finance the entire cost of college, they are able in many cases to earn a greater-than-average share of these expenses. For half of all co-operative students, college would have been doubtful or impossible without their own earnings.

Only 37 per cent of regular students reported that without earnings they could not have enjoyed a college education.

About one-third of the co-operative students come from working class families, contrasted with about one-fifth of regular college students. A majority come from middle income families.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The best way for an American to understand the 60,000-word "draft program of the Russian Communist Party" just made public in Moscow is to compare or contrast it with something similar, like a U. S. political party platform.

The Communist draft program is about six times as long as the Republican or Democratic platforms of 1960. An assumption that the Communist document therefore contains six times as much hokum as a U. S. political platform may not be far wrong.

The Russian draft program will be submitted for adoption to the 22nd Congress of the International Communist Party which meets in Moscow next October. The chances for revision are roughly just about as great as the chances for revision of an American political party platform at a national convention, after the Resolutions Committee submits its draft and the organization steamroller shoves it through.

Few Americans are going to read the full text of the Communist program, which took eight full pages of the New York Times to reproduce. Few Americans read the full texts of the Republican or Democratic platforms in this country either.

The amateur and professional experts on Russia in Washington who have read the full Communist program come up with some reassuring conclusions about it.

The last time the Comrades put out a snow job like this was 1919. That was the year after Nikolai Lenin established the "dictatorship of the proletariat" in Russia.

Any American political party that didn't revise its platform oftener than once in 41 years wouldn't have much chance of survival. On second thought, some critics may say this is the trouble with American political parties. Neither one of them has revised its platform much in — well, say since 1932. The Comrades have a real monopoly and they can get away with it.

Anyway, this 1961 draft program of the Communists promises that within the next 20 years this "dictatorship of the proletariat" will end in Russia. The promise is that it will be replaced by "democratic electoral procedures."

These aren't explained except for a reform in the election of new members for one-fourth of the Central Committee every four years. But this doesn't mean much because the Secretariat will still run the government. It doesn't mean that there will be free popular elections in Russia by 1981.

What the experts say these "democratic electoral procedures" mean is that there will be some effort made to shift from a socialist state to "pure" communism — an old party line.

What the draft program says this will mean for the Russian people is free rent, lower prices, abolition of income and other direct taxes, free municipal transportation, free midday meals for factory workers and school children, expanded free medical, rest, vacation, education and other social services.

This outpromises anything any American politician has ever dared offer. Stupid people may believe such pie-in-the-sky stuff, but any sophisticated person — even the Russian intelligentsia — must know it is political baloney.

Even the communist draft program admits that all these goodies may be delayed if there is another world war. But there is no declaration of a Communist war against the capitalist countries.

On the contrary, the whole Communist program seems to be built on an assumption of 20 years of peaceful co-existence with capitalism, in which communism would emerge triumphant. Prevention of nuclear war is declared possible in this generation by peaceful means.

The Communist program is most notable, perhaps, in what it does not say about contemporary crises, Laos and Berlin are not mentioned. Germany is mentioned once as a hotbed of militarism. Lenin is mentioned, but Stalin and Khrushchev are not named once. There are veiled references to Yugoslav revisionism and the sectarianism of Chinese Communist dogmatism. Soviet Russia is made the only true trail blazer for all Communist tactics.

Why the Communist program was issued at this time is a matter of speculation. One theory is that since Chairman Khrushchev is 67 and nearing the end of his career, he may have wanted to leave behind a lasting document of party principles which will stand as a guide for the next 20 years.

From Rome Henry McLemore

LONDON — Anyone wanting to see Ye Merrie Olde England had better get here quickly.

That's the impression I got in Rome from reading the London popular press, most of which is violently opposed to England's joining the Common Market.

The papers, headed by Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, with its circulation of millions and millions, devote pages every day to point out the horrible changes due when England lines up with the Continent.

Not only will England lose much of its sovereignty (the papers flatly state), but all the ways of life dear to the hearts of Englishmen will vanish under the impact of France, Germany and Italy.

The Express foresees the day when roast beef and mutton chops will yield to sauerkraut, pigs, knuckles, and pizza; when all the roads will have to be turned around to make driving on the left possible, and leather britches will replace flannel bags as standard wearing apparel.

The opposition to association with the Common Market predicts that London's tea rooms will give way to sidewalk cafes, German paratroopers will descend to aid in the settlement of any domestic troubles, and the playing of "God Save the Queen" will be a mockery.

Fantastic pictures of the evil influence of De Gaulle and Adenauer are drawn. They are being presented as less than human, with one aim only in mind — to make England a minor little island, a sort of pleasure resort and dumping ground for Europe.

It was this picture that sent me scurrying to England before it was too late. I wanted to get here before the houses of York and Lancaster had changed their names to Mueller, Bernini, or Lafayette.

I wanted to have a last slice of rare roast beef, play a final game of darts in a thatched pub before it was changed into a night club, and have some splendid, ice-cold toast for breakfast.

Too, I wanted to go to the London theatre and try, once more, to understand one of every ten words spoken by the actors, to visit a stately home before it was turned into a machine shop or a garage for motor scooters, and to see the English countryside before it becomes one giant vineyard.

I am happy to report that I made it in time.

At the moment, Ye Merrie Olde England is just as Olde and Merrie and Ye as it ever was. The bobbies look the same and are just as polite and helpful. It is still necessary to look both ways before crossing the street to keep from being bowled over by a double-decker. The clerks in the stores are just as disdainful as ever, Hyde Park as noisy and gay as ever, cigarettes just as high, fish and chips just as good, and the lords and dukes up to their usual nonsense.

My belief is that the popular press is mistaken. I don't believe that Germany, France, and Italy combined are tough enough to change England or Englishmen. Not in this century or the next.

There'll always be an England. One has only to read the letters to the Times to know that, or watch a cricket game, or go to a race track, or stand on London Bridge and take a look around.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE J-465: Philip, aged 30, is working for his Ph. D. in history at Indiana University.

"Dad," he began, "I'm digging up all the correspondence I can find on Gov. Wright, who was a prominent statesman of 1850."

"The Indiana Historical Society has a fine collection of letters but most of them are from people who wrote back to Gov. Wright in reply to earlier letters from him."

"Since his own earlier letters are often missing, I must often try to derive what Gov. Wright discussed by the replies from his friends."

"Another point I have discovered is the value of dating personal mail. Don't head a letter with 'Sunday evening' or 'Thursday morning' and then omit the actual calendar date."

Here is a novel aspect of "dating" that doesn't fall under the usual romantic meaning of that term.

Many of us place the day of the week at the top of the page but don't list the calendar date. Obviously, we don't expect our letters to have historical importance later on.

But many times we go back over old correspondence (and snapshots) only to wish there was an exact date thereon.

Some photographic shops are smart and insert the date at the bottom of snapshots which they develop. This is a good sales point.

Mrs. Crane has often dug up pictures of the children and wished she knew exactly when they were taken.

Lacking a date on the back, she tried to derive the time the snapshot was taken.

If you are asked to speak in public or sing or perform at a piano, it is also wise to make a little notation of what you covered and list the date and place.

One famous clergyman of America was invited to Maize for an address before a state convention of women. He gave a superb address.

But a couple of years later he was asked back again. Alas, he apparently failed to note what he had said the first time.

For he believed the very same talk, almost word for word. And this women's organization crossed him off their list of future speakers.

Yet he probably doesn't know why they have been so chilly toward him ever since.

You will find that time has a tendency to telescope rapidly so be sure you not only name the stories or anecdotes you wish to utter. But outline them briefly.

I have gone over my own lecture notes not 5 years old, whereon I had listed such an item as "Pat & Mike joke," with no further explanation.

Now, I can't for the life of me recall the joke. Yet it may have been a world beater.

You young speakers may not think it is likely you will be invited back, so you figure you will not need to outline your main ideas. But it is wise to do so.

Send for the booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c. It contains a section on personal letters and also "Prize Contesting."

Cramer Raps Duval Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A secret report prepared by two former FBI agents shows the Duval Engineering and Contracting Co. of Jacksonville short-loaded asphalt on road projects for the past 10 years, William C. Cramer (R-Fla.) charged Wednesday.

Cramer, speaking before the House, said chamber rules prevented him from making the report public. He also said Gov. Farris Bryant had advised him he did not plan to release the report to the public.

The report, Cramer said, was prepared by Olin T. Richards and Elmer F. Emrich, hired by the State Road Board to investigate Duval.

Surveys show fewer people are now keeping written budgets.

Margaret Ann Boyd, Herbert Bailey Married In First Baptist Church

Miss Margaret Ann Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Boyd of Lake Monroe, became the bride of Herbert Franklin Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey of Sanford, Friday at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Charles Swagerty performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. H. L. Johnson, pianist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Marie Broadmeyer of Orlando who sang "Whither Thou Goest," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with an overskirt of tulle. Three rows of tulle accented with rhinestones formed a square neckline.

Brocaded flowers centered with pearl and rhinestone sequins were placed on the short sleeves, across the neckline and on the skirt. Her bouquet of white carnations was centered with a white orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Joyce Hobbs, sister of the bride. Her gown of blue nylon and chiffon was matched by her small hat, gloves and shoes, and she carried blue carnations.

William Richard served as best man, and ushers were Richard Boyd, brother of the bride, and Charles Hobbs, brother-in-law of the bride.

Potted palms, plants, fern, white roses and gladiolas decorated the church. White candelabras interspersed with fern and roses were placed on each side of the altar.

The bride's mother chose an afternoon dress of green floral chiffon set off with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A dress of blue lace over taffeta was worn by the mother of the bridegroom. Her corsage was also of white carnations, and she wore white hat and gloves.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Boyd. White gladiolas and red roses decorated the Boyd home.

Guests served themselves from a punchbowl of blue champagne floating with roses and fern which was placed in the living room planter achieving the effect of a fountain in a garden. The table was overlaid with a white lace tablecloth, held a pink punchbowl at each end and pink candlestick holders.

A miniature bride and groom adorned the four-tiered cake which was surrounded with white gardenias and pale green leaves.

Mrs. Boyd, attired in a white suit, blue accessories and a blue carnation corsage, was assisted in serving by Mrs. Richard Boyd, Mrs. Dora Campbell and Mrs. Hobbs.

Mrs. Bailey left for a brief wedding trip on the east coast in a pale green dacton suit with white accessories using the orchid from her bouquet as a corsage.

The couple's present residence is on Beaver Road.

The bride, born in Lake Monroe, is a graduate of Orange County Vocational Beauty School, and is a beautician at the House of Lullaby Beauty Shop.

The groom was born in Sanford, is a graduate of Seminole High School and is employed by the Sanford Electric Co.

Surprise Party By Pilot Club Honors Bride

The Pilot Club of Sanford honored one of its members, Mrs. Brooks Dale Duckworth, a recent bride, with a surprise party at the home of Mrs. Raymond Ball in Lake Mary. Mrs. A. O. Payne was co-hostess.

An arrangement of white roses and lilacs and another of sweetheart roses decorated the living room.

Mrs. Ball carried out a bridal theme in her dining room. Her table was overlaid with a linen cut-work tablecloth centered with an arrangement of sweetheart roses and a heart covered with white net. On each side of the centerpiece crystal candelabra held pink candles.

On the buffet was a three-tiered heart shaped cake decorated with pink rosebuds. It was flanked by silver candelabra holding pink candles gracefully entwined with greenery and roses.

Floating in the crystal punch bowl was a ring of ice in which were frozen rose buds and lily of the valley. Tiny heart shaped cakes decorated with rosebud mints were served with the punch. Mrs. Harry Boone presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Duckworth received two lovely plaques and an ice bucket from members of the club.

Members attending were Meses. Joel Field, Harvey Swanson, Verne Messenger, B. E. Chapman, Phil Westgate, Jack Lamberton, Marvin Williams, George Stine, Sue Stevenson, Esther Rive, J. E. Jernigan, Miss Elsie Farley and Miss Jane Smith.

Marianne Strickland To Receive B.S. Degree At FSU, Saturday

Miss Marianne Strickland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Strickland will graduate with a class of 400 from Florida State University, Saturday, receiving a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education.

After a short visit here with her family, Miss Strickland will go to Panama City where she has been engaged to teach the second grade at Oakland Terrace Elementary School.

She is a native of Sanford and attended schools here, graduating with the class of 1955 at Seminole High School.

She attended Virginia Inermont College her freshman year and later transferred to Florida State U. She interrupted her education with a period of teaching, and then returned to earn her degree.

While in high school and college, Miss Strickland was active in music and glee club.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland and daughter Frances will leave with Marianne for Tallahassee Saturday to attend the graduation ceremony.

MISS STRICKLAND

First ladies have their little idiosyncrasies just like everyone else! Mrs. Harry Truman's, for example, was new soap.

When she "ran" the White House, she insisted that a new bar of soap be placed in a powder room every time it was used, and also in each bathroom if there were house guests. Thus, all guests at the Presidential mansion could enjoy the little luxury of washing with fresh, unused soap.

After a vigorous brushing, the hair is back-combed slightly to separate it into layers.

The artichoke needs frequent shampooing to keep it shining and to keep the layers of hair in place. There's nothing tousled or casual about this new style. Brushing, morning and night, is a great help.

With each shampooing, do two thorough latherings, followed by several rinsings.

The barbecue originated in the South, and was popular in Virginia prior to 1700.

Don't Save These Picnic Leftovers

When families set out to enjoy an out-of-doors holiday weekend, the only leftovers from the outing are often the stains of food and beverages on the picnickers' clothes.

Here's a list of stains that could mar the family's picnic clothes and their methods of removal. For treating these, purchase the following items when you do the picnic grocery shopping, if you do not already have them: glycerine, trichloroethane solvent, rubbing alcohol and white vinegar. You might also keep a lemon handy, as you may need it for fruit juice stains.

STAINS AND THEIR REMOVAL
Barbecue or spaghetti sauce, calump, meat juice: Scrape off excess. Soak in cold water 30 minutes. Pretreat with detergent to loosen or soften stain particles. Then simply run the garment through your washer along with the rest of the laundry, adding the regular amounts of detergent and bleach safe for fabric. A detergent, either liquid or powder form, is recommended for pretreating.

Mustard: Work glycerine into the stain, rub lightly between hands. Rub detergent in and launder.

der. If the stain should persist, sponge with rubbing alcohol. Coffee and tea: If safe for fabric, stretch garment over basin and pour boiling water over stain. Then run through with the rest of the laundry. If boiling water cannot be used, soak in warm water to which a bleach safe for fabric has been added. Grease spots from cream can be removed with trichloroethane.

Fruit juices: If safe on fabric, pour hot water on stain while stretching cloth over bowl. If stain remains, sponge with lemon juice solution. Where hot water cannot be used, sponge well in warm water. Work glycerine into stain and let stand several hours. Then add a few drops of white vinegar and rinse thoroughly.

Soft drinks: These are usually removable by regular laundry methods. Sponge spot immediately with cold water, as some drinks are invisible after they dry, but turn yellow with aging or heating. The yellow stain may be very difficult to remove.

Alcoholic beverages: Sponge with cold water, then glycerine and water. Rinse with vinegar water, followed by a clear rinse or laundering.

and staggered, turning to the face on the top and sides, down in the back.

After a vigorous brushing, the hair is back-combed slightly to separate it into layers.

The artichoke needs frequent shampooing to keep it shining and to keep the layers of hair in place. There's nothing tousled or casual about this new style. Brushing, morning and night, is a great help.

With each shampooing, do two thorough latherings, followed by several rinsings.

Shower Honors Mrs. Hirt

Miss Jean Masters honored Mrs. Larry Hirt, a recent bride, with a miscellaneous shower at her home Tuesday evening. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Joe Masters.

Several games of "Bride" were played before the honoree opened her many gifts.

Bouquets of red roses were placed throughout the home, and red roses surrounded the punch bowl on the refreshment table which was overlaid with a cutwork Irish linen cloth. Mrs. Mae Hirt, mother of the groom, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. John Crim, the bride's mother, served the cake.

Others attending were Mrs. Elmer Shivers, Mrs. Lois Brooke, Mrs. David Smith, Miss Sue Fowles, Mrs. L. A. Palmer, Mrs. J. H. Trulock, Mrs. Harry Lee, Mrs. J. C. Buntin, Mrs. Edward Pell, Mrs. Don Stowell, Mrs. I. Walter Hawkins, Mrs. Freeman Carnes and Mrs. Walter Grimes.

Miss Susie Crim, Miss Leslie Gary, Miss Sylvia Brooke, Miss Maxine Stowell, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Wendell Hirt, Miss Lily Hirt, Mrs. Richard Pickles, Miss Marion Crim, Mrs. Allene Windham, Mrs. Albert Pell, Mrs. J. J. Redditt and Mrs. Clarence Snyder.

Get Your Exercise Via Bicycle

By ALICIA HART, NEA
If you have spent winter and most of the spring sitting inside, it's time you got outdoors and transferred yourself to a bicycle. You can still sit down but you'll be getting a lot of needed exercise.

Housewives and career girls who complain of spreading hips shouldn't. Rather, they should do something about those hips. Contrary to a popular notion, riding a bike won't build up unusually large muscles anywhere.

But it WILL get you into trim and keep you there. And because it is a refreshing form of exercise, it will also help you to fight fatigue. Many women think of exercise as tiring—properly performed it stimulates circulation and thus pepa you up.

Often when your supply of energy seems at an absolute low ebb, a lack of exercise is the reason.

More of dad's clothes can hang in the same space if there are two rods: one for the coats above the one for shirts. The upper rod should be longer than the one below; thus, pants can hang straight at one end. Mother can divide her space the same way, with blouses above skirts and dresses at one side.

A brisk walk every single day, or swimming or bike riding, will solve the problem. Of these, walking and bicycle riding are the forms of exercise nearly every one can use.

Be sure you're attired for the part. Jamaica shorts (not short shorts), a comfortable sweater and a chiffon scarf tied about your head to keep your hair out of your eyes will allow you to exercise in comfort. And to look pretty while you ride.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been retired for almost a year, and he is driving me out of my mind. He doesn't leave my side unless I send him to the store for something. I think we are together too much for people our age. I am 58 and he is 62. Don't get me wrong, I still love my husband, but I may as well be frank with you. He acts like we are still on our honeymoon. I like a little romance (even at my age), but my old man is overdoing it.

Do you think it would help matters any if I got some sort of job? If I don't get out of this house (and away from him) I will go mad.

WEARY WIFE: Getting out of the house is not the answer. Absence would only make the heart grow fonder, and when you came home he'd devour you like a hungry trout takes a fly. He needs something to occupy his mind. Get him interested in gardening, or stamp collecting. Chess, checkers, scrabble and two-handed card games are good mental exercise. (But don't suggest "honeymoon bridge" ... it might give him ideas.)

DEAR ABBY: We would like your opinion of parents who whistle for their children when they are trying to locate them in the neighborhood. They have a special family whistle to call their children, which reminds me of calling dogs. We have put up with it for three years. The children in that family are from seven to sixteen years old—certainly old enough to know their names. We neighbors think it is a disgrace, and would like your support.

THE NEIGHBORS: I see nothing "disgraceful" about a family whistle. I think it is far less offensive than, "MAAAAA-REEEE, JOHNNNN-EEEE, come home for SUUUUUH-PER!"

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a man for about six years. I don't go out with anyone else, and don't care to. He feels the same way about me. My big problem is this: He told me that he cannot marry me as long as his mother is living. At first I thought it would work out all right because he was 49 and his mother was in her early seventies. But he is now 55 and his mother is in better condition than I am. (She bows.)

I am 44, divorced, and support myself. Do you think I should hang on to this "milk" has money.

TIRED OF WAITING: Don't spend your life waiting for the life of another to end. If it's marriage you want, look for a man who can give you an unconditional surrender.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TROY DONOHUE in a scene from Parrish coming to the Ritx Theatre Sunday.

MAUREEN O'HARA and Hayley Mills in a scene from "The Parent Trap" coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

'Parent Trap' Set For Drive-In

As the mother and father of identical twin girls on a mission with a message, Maureen O'Hara and Brian Keith find themselves on the horns of a dilemma in Walt Disney's feature "The Parent Trap" coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

Also starred in the film which will play through Tuesday are Hayley Mills and David Brian. The other feature on the program is "The Boy and the Pirates" with Mervyn Vye.

On Wednesday and Thursday, "The Tin Star" and "Maracaibo" will play.

Three features will play on Saturday, they are "Snow White and The Three Stooges," "Himbo the Great" and "Quantax."

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

"I've always been a good wife," said the woman whose marriage is breaking up. She is sure it is no fault of her own.

The trouble is that in most such cases the woman who can't understand what happened to her marriage has confused being "a good woman" with being "a good wife."

There's more—lots more—to being a good wife than just being a good woman. A good woman can, and sometimes does, get the idea that she is always in the right and that whenever there is a difference of opinion her husband is bound to be in the wrong.

A good woman can be a bore, with no spark of humor or gaiety or romance to make living with her an adventure.

A good woman can be an excellent housewife—but a poor homemaker if she thinks of her home as her castle.

A good woman can be overly ambitious for her husband and push him until he becomes resentful.

A good woman can make the mistake of always putting her children first and blaming her husband if he wants to be first himself sometimes.

A good woman can make the mistake of trying to live through her children, neglecting her own needs and wants until she is nothing but a door mat.

A good woman can be self-righteously intolerant of others, especially when she is thoroughly sold on the idea of her own goodness.

A good woman can fall to keep step with her husband's intellectual growth or take a superior attitude toward his hobbies and outside interests.

So a good woman isn't necessarily a good wife—though too many women think they are one and the same thing.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

North's jump to three spades is correct in Jacoby-Smith. The bid is strongly invitational, but not forcing.

North responds with two hearts and then raises to three spades to give the same game invitation. Needless to say, South goes!

Highlights

Friday's top television shows as previewed and selected by TV Guide's staff of experts who attend rehearsals, watch screenings, and analyze scripts in New York and Hollywood.

Rawhide. — "Incident of The Tinkers Dam." (Repeat) Satisfying Western tale. Indians are after Winbone's brother, and trail boss Gil Favor and his men try to outsmart the Redmen by staging a fake funeral. The Indians aren't that easily fooled. 7:30 p.m. CBS.

Harrison and Son. — "The Comeback." (Repeat) Nice presentation of a corby plot plus a fair share of laughs. When Junior finds his ex-law professor drunk in night court, he tries to help the man by bringing him into the law firm as an adviser. Naturally, it works out quite well, and you'll enjoy O'Brien and the reformed lush at lunch. 8 p.m. ABC.

Route 66. — "The Beryllium Easter." (Repeat) Thanks to a road but sympathetic performance by beryllium prospector Edgar Buchanan, and an stirring and moving one by lovelyinger Stern, this is a pretty good episode. The involved story about the fight for a rich vein of ore, the strong-arm methods of a millionaire who wants it, and the tactics of his disapproving wife, loses its grip here and there, but the acting of regulars and guests keeps you watching. 8:30 p.m. CBS.

"The Savage, My Kinsman." — An extraordinary and brave little documentary about the savage killings of five well-meaning missionaries by a South American jungle tribe, and the final discovery that the tribesmen's fear of cannibalism in strangers lay at the bottom of their savagery. What makes this tale particularly affecting is the courage of Mrs. Elliot, the wife of one of the slain missionaries, whose films and narration make up the bulk of the tale. 8:30 p.m. NBC.

Twilight Zone. — "One For The Angels." (Repeat) Ed Wynn stars as a lovable old pishman who is visited by an emissary of death. When he's notified he'll be leaving this earth by midnight, he tries to outsmart the emissary. It's just a nice part for the Wynn charm, and watch those hand gestures as he winds up the toys. 10 p.m. CBS.

The Detectives. — "Duty Date." Barbara Nichols plays a stripper in this one and that's enough to make any half hour entertaining for the males at any rate. The plot may not be as suspenseful as usual, but the burlesque backgrounds plus a few cute chicks provide enough interest all around. Storyline involves Miss Nichols as the aver - present one-witness-to-a shooting when the police are trying to protect from the bad men. 10 p.m. ABC.

Milk Consumption At Schools Near 2 Million Half Pints

"There will be 1,700,000 half-pints of milk consumed by Seminole County School children during the next school year," Supp. R. T. Milwee said today. The county school board opened bids from four milk companies on supplying the schools, but deferred accepting one until the two low bidders could meet with school lunchroom superintendents.

Defense Director Speaks At Meeting In North Orlando

An estimated 80 North Orlando residents came out for the first Civil Defense organization meeting in the community last night to hear County CD Director A. B. Peterson Sr. speak on the Seminole County program. Warning of the inadequacies in preparedness measures, Peterson said he felt that it is up to the County Commissioners to provide a proper warning system for the whole of Seminole County and he believes that every individual who is interested in survival should appeal to his commissioner for some manner of a warning system.

"There is none in the county at the present time!" Peterson also pointed out to the North Orlando people that the commission, which last year appropriated $4,000 for the CD program, this year set the amount in half. Also speaking at last night's meeting, which was arranged by Village CD Director A. H. Rhodes, were Cdr. A. R. Smith, disaster control officer and Tom Richey, personal survival course instructor.

In our grief at the loss of our husband and father - Porter Lansing - there is a deep sense of humble gratitude for being blessed with so many fine friends who came from everywhere to ease our load.
Following his terrible auto accident, while he wavered between life and death, and during the painful months of recovery, it was the material and spiritual help from these hundreds of wonderful people that saved us from despair.
After winning his long struggle back to health, Porter Lansing's sudden death would have been a shock too great to bear had those same kind friends not again rallied to ease our load.
Again we say we are humbly thankful and sincerely grateful to everyone.

Moughton Among Top Blood Donors At Seminole County Blood Bank

The Seminole County Blood Bank has released the following list of names of blood donors who contributed during the month of July.

For Elton J. "Bud" Moughton, his July contribution has brought his total to 10 pints of blood donated to the Blood Bank. He is one of the top donors of Sanford.

Henry D. Faust is up to 14 pints and Helen S. Barbour and Aubrey "Bob" Kelly each have 13.

Robert Grieme, Elmer Wontney and Henry L. Muse have donated 9 pints and Clyde Muse and Joe Zavracky "gave their eighth pint to receive their Gallos Key Chain.

Henry Bliese and Tony Trama have given seven pints and James Goldworthy, John D. Tyner and Albert Boehmer brought their total up to six pints.

Five pint totals have been reached by Marvin Warfel, John Cowan, Harry Elcheilberger, Joe Rogers and William Hardy.

Four pint totals have been reached by Helen Dalton, Leroy Napper, Charles Rogers, Harry Wilson, Edwin Keith, Kenneth Barneau and Lawrence Oliver.

Jesse Crews has given three pints and two pints have been given by Albert Sanders Jr., Ernest Blocker, Paul Eden, Edgar Griffith, Anthony Fakess, Doris Williams, Otis Bush, George Warren, Joel A. Warren, Albert O. Payne, Walter Graham, Harry Wilhelm, Charles Rollins, Melvin Siskins, Donald Smith and Paul Spang.

Giving their blood for the first time in July were the following people:

Manuel Gonzalez, Milton Young Sr., Donald Brumfield, John A. North, Arthur J. Hammond, James A. Mosely, Warren T. Richards, Leandress Jordan, Eugene Barneau, Robert McCree.

Also Curtis Hulett, Lucrecia Jackson, Roosevelt Horn, Johnnie McCoy, William Hoopergardner, O. K. Robinson, Virgil Anderson, David Walker, R. N. Zuckerman, Ray J. Isbell, Don Reynolds, Zaida Siskind, Gustaf Nordgren, Eliot Palter, James Langmuir, William Holloway, Talmadge Metts Jr., and John Bewischen.

Donors are only allowed to give a total of five pints in one year.

Allamonte Pastor Getting Most Out Of Vacation

By ATLANTA McGINNIS
Getting the most from a month's vacation are Dr. and Mrs. Walter R. Cremons of the Allamonte Springs Community Chapel. Leaving by plane on Aug. 2 for Seattle, Wash., and on to Vancouver, B. C., they boarded the Glacier Queen to travel up the inland waterway passage to Skagway, Alaska.

Here their schedule calls for a narrow Gage Railroad train trip to White Horse, Alaska and from there by bus on the Alcan Highway to Fairbanks where they will visit the Gray Tilly family.

Mrs. Tilly, who is supervisor of the Home Economics Dept. at the University of Alaska, is Dr. Cremons's sister.

When the pastor and his wife leave Fairbanks, they will go by plane to Point Barrow and plan also to visit in Katzebue and Nome before making the return flight home by way of San Francisco.

On vacations of the past two years, the couple has toured the Scandinavian countries and visited the Holy Land.

As a member of the Chapel congregation, I am looking forward to their return for I am sure that Rev. Cremons, as he has done in the past, will weave his Sunday sermons around experiences and adventures of their travels. This he does so skillfully that the listener feels he also was on the trip and seeing those faraway places which most of us may never have the opportunity to visit.

And, during the winter months, when covered dish suppers are resumed at the chapel, Dr. and Mrs. Cremons will be in charge of one program when he will show color slides made on the vacation while Mrs. Cremons serves as travel narrator.

MR. AND MRS. W. F. HUNT
... Bermuda Bound

Hunt Wins Bermuda Vacation

W. F. Hunt of Hunt L-M, Inc., 108 N. Palmetto Ave., Sanford, has been awarded a week-long Bermuda vacation trip for his outstanding sales performance, George P. Montagnet, Lincoln-Mercury Jacksonville district sales manager announced today.

Hunt and his wife will be guests of the Lincoln-Mercury Division at the Castle Harbour Hotel in Bermuda.

Hunt L-M, Inc., is one of 175 Lincoln-Mercury dealerships in the country honored following Lincoln-Mercury Division's second highest January-June sales period in history.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt flew by jet to New York Wednesday and from there to Bermuda.

Mass Appearance For Riders Expected

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Scores of convicted "freedom riders" now free on bond were expected here during the weekend for a mass appearance next Monday in city court to appeal their sentences.

Attorneys for the Congress of Racial Equality sent word to 187 riders in all parts of the country that they must appear in Hinds County court or forfeit their bond.

Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick refused Thursday to overrule an order by County Judge Russell Moore requiring the mass appearance.

Attorney William Kunstler of New York argued that the order by Moore was "harassment when there is no pressing need."

Kunstler also said a mass appearance by the riders "might lead to some trouble somewhere by someone." City Atty. Jack Travis replied "That's a threat against the state of Mississippi. We have fully demonstrated that we can handle this situation."

Most of the riders are expected to arrive by bus during the weekend and stay in private homes and on college campuses while here.

A rally will be held Sunday night with the principal speaker James Farmer of New York, national director of CORE. Farmer recently was released from Mississippi's state prison after serving a term as a convicted "freedom rider."

Vacation Bible School Set At Longwood

By BETTIE SMITH
A two-week Vacation Bible School at the Longwood First Baptist Church opens Monday for daily classes between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

School activities will be under the general supervision of Rev. Roy Arbuckle of Orlando, who is serving the church as interim pastor, and Mrs. R. E. Goodwin will serve as principal. Assisting her will be Mrs. B. R. Gray and Mrs. Leslie Walker who also will be in charge of music.

"Experienced and capable Bible School teachers have been preparing for weeks to conduct classes and we feel that their program will be interesting and helpful to the students," Mrs. Goodwin reported.

Department superintendents will include Mrs. Carl Lommler, intermediate; Mrs. Herbert Luke and Mrs. Clyde Whitehead, junior; Mrs. Roy Sweat, Mrs. Tyrus Hicks and Mrs. Donald Brown, primary; Mrs. Charles Dudley and Mrs. Olin Elgin, beginner and Mrs. Cleo Jacobs, nursery.

Refreshment chairman will be Mrs. Nancy Stevens and Mrs. McPherson.

All departments will join for worship services to begin each day.

before reporting to the various classes where they will hear Bible stories, character stories, learn Bible verses and take part in creative art programs. A mid-morning refreshment break will be held each day.

All children between the ages of three and 18 years of Longwood and the surrounding communities, regardless of family church affiliation, have been invited to attend the Bible School.

Titan Boss Talks Too Much?

United Press International
The football season hasn't started yet, but New York Titan president Harry Wismer may already have overtalked his way out of the American Football League title.

Wismer, addressing a Boston luncheon last Tuesday, predicted that his Titans and the Boston Patriots would battle this fall for the Eastern Division championship. The two would-be contenders met in an exhibition game Thursday night, Boston winning, 14-3, and only psychiatrist can predict today the effect Wismer's words will have on his players.

The Patriot-Titan match was only a prelude to the heavy slate of exhibition games scheduled for this weekend. On tap tonight are contests matching the Oakland Raiders and Houston Oilers at Honolulu, the Cleveland Browns and Detroit Lions at Detroit, the Washington Redskins and Los Angeles Rams at Los Angeles and the Green Bay Packers and Dallas Cowboys at Dallas.

U. S. Enters Games
TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Twenty-three nations, including the United States, have entered the track and field events of the international sports program of the sixth Maccabiah Games Aug. 29 through Sept. 5.

Oviedo Students Complete Courses

Lifesaving courses at the Oviedo pool which were instructed by Mrs. Virginia Chadwick, Mrs. Fran Stumpf and Mike Kennedy, were concluded last Friday.

Receiving badges in the senior group were Diane Aulin, Johnny Courier, Karen Kennedy, Jim McCall, Shirley Slayton, Joanne Sinclair, Wes Swanson and Tommy Partin.

Completing the junior course were Susan Jepson, Sharon Payne, Jerry Murphy, Marilyn Partin, Jimmy Packard, Jan Phillips, Carmen Adrialco, Nancy Swenson, Susan Stumpf, Marshall Lingo, Jimmy Courier, Tommy Moon, Ted Aulin, Brett Thompson, Sharon Holloway, Jimmy Beasley, Cathy Corton and Linda Riggins.

A total of 218 students were enrolled for the seven-week summer enrichment program at Oviedo with 37 of the group using the school library for instructive and entertaining reading sessions.

Tiger Shark Reported Missing
SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — The only tiger shark born in captivity was reported missing Thursday from a research laboratory here.

Dr. Eugenia Clark, operator of the Cape Haze marine laboratory, said thieves or pranksters apparently caught the 2-month-old shark on a hook and line at the laboratory's shark pen.

Dr. Clark said the tiger was being used in experiments to determine why sharks become killers. She said the research was being conducted for the U. S. Navy.

Dr. Clark said she once discovered a teenager dangling a foot in the shark pen, apparently not realizing the chance he was taking.

Art Seminar Series Gets Good Response From Local Residents

Mrs. Helen DeWit, membership chairman of the Sanford Art Assn., reported today that response to the Seminar Series scheduled for the coming season has been better than average in the local areas.

However, she emphasized that the study-program is being offered as an opportunity for all residents of Seminole County and of neighboring communities to increase their understanding and knowledge of art.

Mrs. DeWit said that she would be happy to bring a sample copy of material to be used for the seminar before any gathering of interested persons in any community. Local residents may arrange with her to see the material at her home, 1301 E. Fourth St., by appointment.

All study meetings, to be held on the fourth Monday of each month during the season, beginning Sept. 25, will be based on the series in art appreciation which was prepared for the Metropolitan Museum of Art and purchased by the Sanford association. Meetings will be held in homes of various association members and fees for the course have been set at five dollars.

Membership in the association will include the seminar course for both active and associate members. Dues for active members, who are expected to work with the group by serving on various committees, assisting with the shows and with other activity, have been set at $2.25 this year.

Associate membership, set at $3.25, entitles the holder to participate in all meetings and demonstrations as well as the study classes on a less active basis.

Opening meeting of the association membership has been set at the Sanford Civic Center for Sept. 11.

Campbell Services Slated Monday

Mrs. Betty May Campbell, 36, whose death resulted from knife wounds inflicted by her husband, James M. Campbell, the evening of Aug. 2, will be buried at 2 p. m. Monday.

Graveside services will be conducted at the Sylvan Lake Cemetery with Brison Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Other than her husband, Mrs. Campbell, who had lived in Sanford for one year, is survived by one daughter.

While We're Thinking Of Berlin

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
WASHINGTON, D. C. — "I will never desert Micawber!" cries the wife in the famous Dickens novel almost as often, and as hysterically, as the NATO allies in the Berlin crisis are chorusing: "We will never desert Berlin!"

Very likely, they won't, but the Berlin crisis is a time for second thinking as well as for assertions of unity and fidelity. Such ideas as these deserve reconsideration:

1. Have American forces in Europe for over a decade really made Europe militarily stronger? In truth, the presence of our five divisions, with supporting units, and our hierarchy of Supreme Commanders from Eisenhower to Norstad have caused Europeans to grow prosperous and pacifist.

It is usual on Capitol Hill during these days of the Furys Aid fight to point to the Marshall Plan as an unqualified success story. But in the early 1950's, as we phased out of aid-to-Europe, we also sent over the troops which have guarded the reindustrialization of Britain and the Continent.

The military responsibility, assumed by the USA has been shouldered by the other allies. West Germany has not filled the ranks. France has sent the flower of her military youth to North Africa. Britain has reduced her commitment. In each case there is a reason given, an excuse. The military uniform in Germany lost its glamour in World War II; the French are trying to save Algeria; the British had money problems.

But there is a law higher than all these alibis—the old law called "Got To." It's arguable that West Europe would be a better bulwark against Communism if it had "got to" do more in self-defense.

2. What price European unity? American pressures in Europe are having an effect we never envisioned. If the European Common Market becomes a success, especially if joined by Britain, the prime result will be — at ready becoming—the exclusion of American traders.

Not only will West Europe become increasingly self-sufficient, but the trade lines of Europe will extend—already extending—toward the Soviet bloc, away from the USA. It is possible to see, not too far down the road, a situation in which the self-interest of prosperous, pacifist Europeans would call for an American withdrawal back across the Atlantic. It is not too early to think about this in discussing what to do about Berlin.

3. Has interdependence ceased to be a valid Western doctrine? Although it won't happen tomorrow afternoon, there are signs everywhere that history is taking the shape of sealed compartments. There was a howl in 1958 when it appeared that the West had lost access to the Suez Canal. But the chief lesson of that episode was in how little we needed this 19th century ditch.

Fast freighters, pipe lines, new petroleum fields under the sea and in the desert had already changed — and are still changing — the old dependencies. On my desk is a picture and text material about a high-efficiency, 72-volt "traction motor" developed by General Electric for slow-speed, short-distance automobiles. It is today no threat to the petroleum industry — but it indicates that our moribund civilization is not irrevocably tied to oil wells and that the old policies of Britain and America toward the Middle East, and France's policy toward North Africa are subject to change.

As the Berlin crisis forces the Western leaders to put their heads together, there is much more to be said than, "We will never desert Berlin!" It is time the Germans find themselves a doctrine in self-reliance and begin to cast off the military leading strings. It is time the French, still competing with Germany for economic mastery of the Continent, decide whether they can afford those bleeding wars which, since 1945, they have fought in Indochina and North Africa.

Britain needs no reminder that if she chooses the Common Market, she is economically turning her back on both the Commonwealth and the USA. And the USA should consider whether, after all, our responsibilities in the Western Hemisphere should not come before those in Europe. Much has happened, and none of it good, because of our transatlantic preoccupation.

Like Micawber's wife, we aren't going to desert anybody — but neither should we let this fidelity become an obsession with us. There is much else to do and say.

I have the Key to your Opportunity To Own Your Own Home!
2524 Park Drive

Tired of moving on short notice? Dissatisfied with high rents? Want to feel the security of your own home? I have the key that lets me help you unlock the door to a home of your own.

There have been many of our Navy friends who have received orders transferring them to new assignments, including members of VAH-13 who left this month. A number of the families have sold their homes, and there are still some on the market for sale.

Many of those who are being transferred have requested me to assist them in selling their homes. In many instances beautiful 3 and 4 bedroom, 1 and 2 bath homes in subdivisions in all sections of Sanford can be bought for very small equities. A number of homes with monthly payments as low as $75.00 a month and with as little as a $250.00 down payment are available.

I want to do everything I can to assist these friends in selling their homes. I want the opportunity to show you these excellent home ownership opportunities. Rental rates on similar type homes in Sanford today are from $100.00 to $135.00 a month. I honestly believe that this is an excellent opportunity to help many of our fine Navy friends sell their homes and it is also an excellent opportunity for you to own a home. My interest is to help them and to help you.

I will be glad to discuss personally with you any of these home buying opportunities and take you and show you these homes—or, I will arrange an appointment for the homeowners to show you the homes because I am confident that you will agree that these are quality homes at prices you can afford. These homes range in price from $8,200.00 at $52.00 a month to $19,500.00 at $125.00 a month.

Frenzy, Terror Grip Germans At Berlin Border

Communications Cut Between East, West

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germans today barred more than 50,000 East Berliners from going to work in West Berlin, cut communications between East and West Germany, and suddenly closed the Brandenburg Gate, the city's main crossing point.

President Set To Discuss Red Moves With Aide

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Confronted by serious new developments in Berlin, President Kennedy headed home to Washington today to discuss Russian moves with Llewellyn E. Thompson, U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Kennedy planned to take off from Otis Air Force Base, Mass., by Air Force jet transport plane after a pleasant weekend of boating and relaxation with his family at their Hyannis Port home on Cape Cod.

The President's appointment with Thompson was the only item on Kennedy's calling list today.

Cut On Flood Control Tax Set

The governing body of the Central and South Florida Flood Control District ordered a cut in its budget Saturday in order to reduce flood control taxes in its 18-county jurisdiction including Seminole.

The board cut the levy from .925 of one mill to .9 of a mill. The action resulted from a barrage of complaints about a raise in flood control taxes voted by the board in July. The board then raised the millage from .75 to .925.

AROUND THE CLOCK
By LARRY VERSHEL
TOO LATE
A play in two acts
Act I
Time—The Day After Tomorrow
Scene—A desolate plain, no life. A stranger is seen walking and stops in front of an old man sitting on a rock.

Stranger—What Land is this?
Old Man—It used to be called South Seminole County.
Stranger—What happened here?
Old Man—During the Third World War the people were given no warning when the Bomb came.
Stranger—Why not?
Old Man—It seemed the governing body didn't want to appropriate all that money.

Act 2
A bustling community. Plenty of people seen on the streets. A stranger is seen walking and enters one of the brightly lit stores.
Stranger—What place is this?
Clerk—Sanford.
Stranger—It seems to have escaped the Bomb pretty well.
Clerk—Yes, we had an alert governing body. We were prepared!

The County Commission will meet at the Board of Equalization at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday. We hear the complaints won't be as bad as last year and the board hopes to wrap-up the hearings in two days.

VIII-11 will return to Sanford Aug. 28 after a seven month tour in the Mediterranean aboard the Franklin D. Roosevelt.
A hearing on whether to revoke the license of the Palms Hotel will be the main item of business at tonight's city commission meeting scheduled to begin at 8 p. m.

E. C. Harper Jr., chairman, reminds the downtown merchants to get their Merchants Assn. questionnaires in as soon as possible so that all results can be tabulated concerning Friday Night Shopping.

County May Put Prisoners To Work

The County Commission Tuesday will consider adopting a policy of putting all able-bodied prisoners in the Seminole County jail to work cleaning out ditches and on other road projects.

Two of the commissioners, John Fitzpatrick and James P. Avery, met with Lake County sheriff officials Friday to find out how that county handles the working of prisoners.

Fitzpatrick said today that it would be a great savings of money in the long run. County Attorney Mack Cleveland Jr. said today that the county has the legal right to put the prisoners to work as long as they comply with the requirements of the law.

In other business, scheduled for Tuesday, Civil Defense Director A. B. Peterson again will ask the Commission to reconsider granting additional appropriations for CO.

Only $3,000 was set aside in the 1961-62 budget for this work. The commission also will discuss the program of work for the county road department, according to Chairman J. C. Hutchison. A committee of four, Avery, District 4 County Commissioner Vernon Duna, County Engineer Carlton Bliss and Road Supt. J. C. Lavender, were appointed to look into the program.

Wild Car Chase Ends In Heavy Damage, Injury

A wild chase involving six police cars from Orange County early this morning ended with a two car collision, one injury and approximately $400 damage to city property, police reported.

Chief Roy Williams said that a little after midnight, six police cars from Winter Park, Maitland and Orlando were pursuing a late model car operated by James Ray Hooten of Orlando.

The car apparently had been stolen in Orlando and was heading north. At 24th St. and French Ave. one of the Police cars attempted to force the car to the curb and the vehicles collided with the police car slamming into a white way pole at 24th St. Hooten escaped with only a minor face injury. Damage to his car was estimated at $1,400 with $500 to the patrol car. Hooten was turned over to Orlando police.

Democrats Plan Area Organization

An organizational meeting to form a Casselberry Area Democratic Club will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Women's Club on Overbrook Dr., according to an announcement in the latest issue of the Casselberry Area News.

The announcement, signed by Lee Pearson, member of the Democratic National Committee 750 Club, advised that there is at present no such club in the county and that it would be of interest to residents in the area to support such an organization in order that proper representation, both in the county and in the state, could be realized.

The announcement also stated that officers and committee chairmen would be elected at the organizational meeting and advised that it is most desirable that the membership of such a club be comprised of both men and women of the party.

Barge Bringing Saturn Rocket Stuck In Mud

PORT PIERCE, Fla. (UPI) — A barge bringing the huge Saturn rocket booster from Alabama to Cape Canaveral got stuck briefly on a mud bank in the inland waterway nine miles north of here today.

Tugs quickly pulled the barge free and it proceeded on its way with not more than an hour's delay.

The Saturn booster, already delayed in its trip here from Huntsville, Ala., when a lock on the Tennessee River system broke down, is scheduled to arrive at the cape shortly after noon Tuesday.

The first stage booster — the power plant the U. S. hopes to use for flights to the moon — is 85 feet long with eight clustered engines. Its first firing is expected in October.

It made the first leg of its trip here in a special 180-foot covered barge, the Palamoon. When it reached the broken lock it was portaged around the obstruction and loaded onto an ordinary Navy barge for the rest of the voyage.

Charges Against Two Dropped

Charges against Doris K. Adams, owner and operator of Annette's Restaurant on Hwy. 17-92, and against her bartender, Tommy Whitey, were dropped Friday by County Judge Vernon Mize.

Mrs. Adams and Whitey had been charged with selling beer to minors.

Volusia Jail Escapees Nabbed

DELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Officers said today the last two of five men who escaped the Volusia County jail here were recaptured north of Ormond Beach Sunday.

Authorities said Jack Morris Farley, 31, of Kansas City, Kan., and Hudson H. Davis, 18, of Louisiana, Ga., were found hiding in a building and surrendered without incident.

The other three men were captured Friday, one day after their escape. They were Robert Bernard Sills, 41, of Miami; Walter Wail, 37, Holly Hill and George Clever, 17, also of Holly Hill.

All five were arraigned today and bound over to circuit court on escape charges.

New Post Office Opened Today At Casselberry

Casselberry residents began using the town's brand new modern 2,814 square foot Post Office today.

Formal dedication of the new facility has been set for Sept. 2, town officials said Friday.

Casselberry Gardens, Inc., was builder of the structure which is designed to accommodate future growth in the town for the next 10 years. Cost of the building including the 11,664 square foot paved parking area, was quoted at $60,000.

'Mutts' Have Their Day In Jaycee Dog Show

There were approximately 175 dogs entered in the big Jaycee-Ken-L-Ration sponsored Mutt Show, the second annual contest, held Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

Several hundred young masters, mistresses and parents crowded into the Stadium as judges, Mayor Joe Baker, John Alexander and Mrs. Garnett White decided among the entries in eight different classes.

Chosen as the best all around dog owned by a boy was Lady, a large Shepherd-type dog owned by Dean Pruitt and Linda Johnson's little black Sambo won the prize for the best all around dog owned by a girl. Lady was also judged the Handsomest dog.

The Largest dog belonged to Steve Sassman and the Smallest was Bobby McIntosh's. Stanley and Bobby Polaski had the best cared for boy's dog and Linda Johnson took the same prize in the girl's category.

The best Trick dog belonged to Allen Lucas and Bobby Welmer had the best behaved dog in the show.

Wrist watches were given as prizes to Dean Pruitt and Linda Johnson and other First, Second and Third place winners received trophies, and honorable mention winners.

All children who entered were given gifts of tee shirts, balloons, dog food, candy, leashes and sun-visors by the sponsoring company, Ken-L-Ration.
