He said he would appreciate the public's vote, and if elected would serve the people of this county to the best of his ability.

The candidate for sheriff of Seminole County is married and has one son.

Beck is 47 years old and is now associated with his father Barney Beck in cattle ranching.

Green further emphasized it was the objective of the Farmers Home Administration to assist farmers, to become established in a sound farming program as well as to assist those who are in temporary need of credit.

In addition to operating loans, the Farmers Home Administration provides credit for the purchase and development of land as well as the repair and/or construction of farm buildings. Band Gets Superior In Sight Reading, Drill At Contest

The Seminole High School Band, under the direction of Ernest Cowley, was awarded a superior rating in sight reading and a superior rating in drill at the district contest held in Cocoa Friday.

The band was rated good in concert and received seven superior ratings in the solo contests.

The entire majorette corps under the leadership of Carol Nutt was judged as superior in their twirling ensemble. This is the first year such a corps has been organized.

The soloists receiving superior ratings are: Bob Reely, student conducting; Sidney Vihlen, trumpet; Bill Hexamer, trombone; Larry Burney, bass; Bob Reely, piano; and Grace Dugger, clarinet.

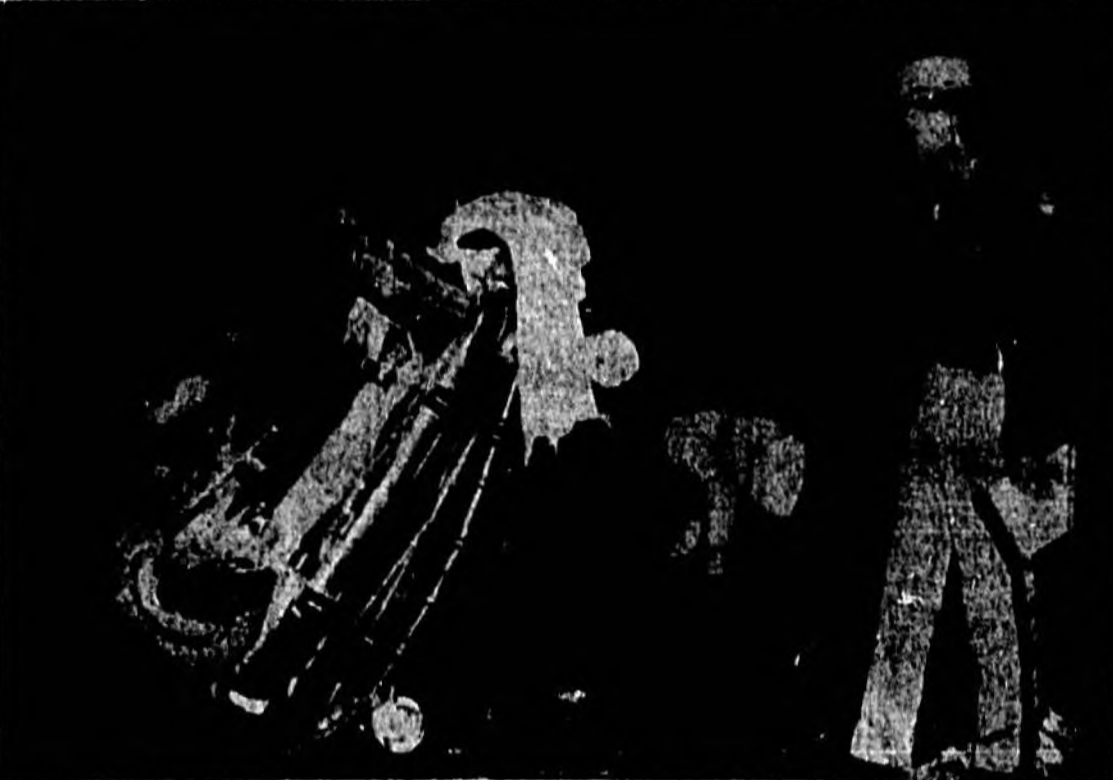

Receiving ratings of excellent were: Bob Armstrong, French horn; Tommy Bower, flute; and a brass quartet. A brass sextette received a good rating.

Bandmaster Cowley stated, "I am proud of the work the band has accomplished this year and feel that they made an excellent showing in the contest." He said, "The judging standards were very high this year as only three class B bands received a superior rating on all three phases of the band contest."

The meeting was called by Mayor F. D. Scott to consider the offer.

The paving currently in progress and partially completed is only a portion of the overall project proposed for the city in a more than $40,000 street paving program for 1936.

Funds were not available for the City to complete the entire proposal set out and discussed in previous meetings.

Sen. Smathers Asks For Faster Release Of Vaccine To State

WASHINGTON, (Special) — Senator George Smathers called today for speedier release of Salk vaccine to Florida because of the earlier incidence of the disease each year in his state.

Smathers said Florida uses its Salk allotment as fast as it arrives "and cries for more." He charged that in some other states the full quota is not even being used.

In a letter to Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general, Smathers asked that Florida's share be stepped up in current allotments and curtailed later in the year "for maximum effectiveness against polio."

Florida would keep its same annual share — about two per cent of the national total — but would draw a large proportion early in the year.

Smathers said it was a well known fact that polio is a hot weather disease, affecting states with warm climate earlier in the year.

He said Florida's incidence of polio starts earlier each year than in any other state.

Smathers cited Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director of the National Polio Foundation, and Dr. Wilson T. Sowler, state health officer of Florida, as authorities for his statement that some states weren't even using the full quota sent to them.

Smathers said Sowler supported his proposal and thinks it "logical and fair." He reported that the need for revision in Salk allotment was called to his attention by Jack Cleary, state Chairman of the National Polio Foundation.

"I am aware that it is your responsibility to safeguard the interests of all states, but surely a highbrow committee, that does not take cognizance of need and seasonal factors would not be in the national interest," Smathers wrote.

Puerto Rican Charged With Child Molesting

A Puerto Rican farm laborer was jailed Saturday night and charged with child molesting and drunk and disorderly conduct, according to Sanford Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

Several children were in an automobile parked in the vicinity of First St. about 8:30 Saturday night when the Puerto Rican was found molesting a seven-year-old child.

The father of the child found the farm hand molesting the child and immediately knocked him down.

Gerardo Lopez, 25, who was born in San Juan, Puerto Rico, was taken into custody by Patrolman John Rumbley, and lodged in the Sanford jail under the two charges.

Chief Williams said that Lopez had been watched for some time by Patrolman Rumbley.

According to Chief Williams "Further advice of the State's attorney's office will be asked for possible further charges against the child molester."

Shriners, Wives Enjoy Ladies Night

More than 100 Sanford Shrine Club members and their ladies enjoyed a "ladies night" dinner and entertainment last Friday night in the New Shrine Club Building directly across from the Mayfair Inn.

Chicken and beef chow mein were served which were prepared by Noble Joe Corley and his committee, and donated by Noble Joe Seinooco.

The building in which the ladies night affair was held will be dedicated on April 6 at another Ladies Night event. Plans for the dedication and program are being prepared by Noble S. G. Harriman.

Herlong Declares Southern Manifesto Right In Principle

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special) — "The so-called 'Southern Manifesto' is right in principle, and I am proud to say that I not only signed it, but was a member of the committee that wrote it," declared Congressman A. S. (Syd) Herlong Jr. today in discussing the much talked of "Deviation from Fundamentals of the Constitution" resolution introduced in Congress this week.

The resolution was originally signed by 19 Senators and 91 Members of the House of Representatives, but since that time others have added their names to the document.

"Anyone who will bother to think for a minute will realize that the situation between the races certainly has deteriorated since the Supreme Court handed down its decision requiring the forced integration of our schools," Herlong said.

"The manifesto is titled 'Declaration of Constitutional Principles' and is, I believe, based on sound legal ground. I wish that every American would take the time to read this resolution carefully — rather than accept somebody else's ready-made opinions about it."

Herlong went on to say that, contrary to some reports, the document called for a closer adherence to constitutional government, rather than a defiance of those principles. The Central Florida Congressman accused the Supreme Court of usurping legislative powers in rendering its decision.

The Congressman quoted with much concern the portion of the resolution which read, "We reaffirm our reliance on the Constitution as the fundamental law of the land. We decry the Supreme Court's encroachments on rights reserved to the States and to the people, contrary to established law and to the Constitution. We pledge ourselves in use all lawful means to bring about a reversal of this decision which is contrary to the Constitution and to prevent the use of force in its implementation."

"In this trying period, as we all seek to right this wrong, we appeal to our people not to be provoked by the agitators and troublemakers invading our States and to spontaneously refrain from disorders and lawless acts."

Seminole County Counts 2nd Traffic Fatality Of Year

Request Is Heard To Let Whole Area In Control District

Ten members of the Congressional Flood Control Subcommittee heard oral and written reports from representatives of various areas in the South and central Florida Flood Control District Saturday at a hearing conducted in Fort Lauderdale.

The subcommittee, headed by Congressman Clifford Davis (D-Tenn), president at the hearing at which the presentations were made.

Forrest Breckenridge appeared before the subcommittee representing the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and as secretary of the St. John-Indian River Improvement Association.

Randall Chase, not being able to appear at the hearing went a telegram requesting additional funds for a more complete study of the upper St. Johns River area.

Breckenridge asked the committee to determine if all of Seminole County can't be included in the South and Central Florida Flood Control District since the entire area is concerned about the water supply and its water storage problems.

He brought out, in his written report to the subcommittee, that this area is very much concerned with the low water table which by several years ago the area was concerned with an oversupply of water.

"Next year, if history repeats itself," Breckenridge reported, "Seminole County will again be concerned with an oversupply of water."

The problem is to find methods of conserving water when an oversupply is on hand and a way of getting rid of a water oversupply when necessary, he reported.

Breckenridge requested that a study be made to determine if storage areas can be established to conserve water during the years of water shortage and also requested enough funds whereby a study can be completed now so that long range plans can be made and work started in this end of the flood control project.

Negro Killed In Wreck

A 31-year-old Negro cook was instantly killed early Sunday morning when he was thrown from his car on the Old Lake Mary Road as he attempted to round a sharp curve about three-quarters of a mile south of 20th St.

James L. Hawkins, a Negro cook for Jim Spencer's Restaurant, was found dead about 15 feet from his car, about 3:55 yesterday morning when noise from the crash was heard and reported.

The 1931 Chevrolet had turned over one and a half times coming to a stop on its side facing the highway.

Apparently attempting to round the curve at a high rate of speed he ran off the turn and probably jerked his wheels suddenly causing him to crash and go out of control.

The car was headed north at the time of the crash.

Coroner W. Hugh Duncan impounded a jury to conduct an inquest into the death of the Negro who lived in Sanford on West 12th St.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack investigated the accident, assisted by Deputy Sheriffs Colton Brown, Jimmy Singletary, John Bennett, and Constable J. Q. "Blim" Galloway.

Minneapolis Opens Spring Training With 9-5 Victory

The Minneapolis Millers under the able handling of manager Eddie Stanky opened their spring training baseball season with a 9-5 victory over the Rochester Red Wings yesterday afternoon at Sanford's Memorial Stadium.

The Millers took an early 3-0 lead in the first inning on three singles and two walks given up by Red Wing starter Ed Ludwig. Tom Pruitt started on the mound for the Millers and held the visiting Rochester team without a single tally until the fifth inning when Red Wing Neal Hertweck belted a home run to put Rochester on the score board.

Rochester picked up two more runs in the sixth inning to tie the score at 2-2 only to have the Millers rack up three big runs in their turn at the plate and put the game on ice.

Longwood

BY MRS. RUTH LAYO
The Maine Day Picnic held at Rock Springs last Saturday by the Maine Club was well attended when some 131 Maine residents were in attendance. Longwood was well represented when 14 Longwoodites arrived. All reported a very good time and plans were made for more get-togethers.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Bahle and family of Syracuse, N. Y., who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Hallam are enjoying a trip down the East Coast and Key West, left last Saturday and will be gone about two weeks.

A new home has been started on Evergreen St. by Ira Wilson and several others are laying their foundations. Longwood has averaged three-four homes being built each week since the new year. Also many new streets are being opened and there seems to be activity on all.

The Christ Episcopal Church has just been recently painted and looks very attractive, as well as the Church grounds that have been cared for and the many flowering shrubs are now in bloom. Mrs. Charles Nichols, one of the church members, attended the annual meeting of Episcopal Churches in Ocala recently when she was the representative from the local church.

Mrs. J. Sturgis of Connecticut, who with her son, John and family have been spending some time at her home here in town, will leave to return home the first of next week.

Longwood friends of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCulley extend their sympathy in the loss of their daughter, Carolyn, recently in Connecticut. SECRETARY of Commerce Clegg tells the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee in Washington that the U. S. "made the best bargain we could" in agreeing to Allied sale of some strategic goods to the Soviet bloc. Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the group probing East-West trade, sharply criticized the secretary for refusing to make public "working papers" of subordinates who helped formulate the decision.

Professional Musician May Be On His Way Out Because Of Tax

A question has been posed and partially answered.

However, here it is, all over again. Is the professional musician on his way out? The American Federation of Musicians is of the opinion that he is.

In New York City, for example, a few years ago fifty hotels offered music and dancing. Today the number is only 14.

A greater decline has been seen in the number of restaurants and night clubs which hire a professional musician. They get their music from the juke box, the recording firm, radio and TV. The piano player who sang as he played is gone from almost all of New York's eating places. The same is true elsewhere.

The reason, says the American Federation of Musicians, is the 20 per cent so-called "cabaret tax." This was imposed in World War I and, like all other taxes, was supposed to be temporary, but has stayed on. The original rate was 8 percent. Now it is 20. The need for revenue inspired the tax, and all other taxes have been originated. Its effect, however, has been to dry up this source of revenue by driving the professional musician out of business. With his going, other trades involved in the restaurant business have been injured. This includes entertainers, waiters, attendants, and cooks.

The Federation is fighting to have the tax repealed. It has made a good enough case to warrant serious examination before such a tax is imposed again.

Something For Waste Basket

If the mailman brings you merchandise which was not ordered and is not wanted, it need not be returned. So says an authority on postal law, Abe McGregor Goff, solicitor of the Post Office Department. He told the house postal committee that the best way to discourage this annoyance is to refuse either to buy or return it. He himself throws all such stuff in the waste basket, he said.

His statement may bring a flood of threatening letters from senders demanding merchandise back, or else. According to Goff, these people have no "or else" in the matter. People who receive unsolicited merchandise should not let themselves be imposed upon.

We think that there will be a lot of Sanford waste baskets full of this type of merchandise with the release of the Post Office Department solicitor.

Baseball Season

Soon we can skip news of the latest Russian plot, the atom and hydrogen bombs, and the presidential election, and concentrate on the news that really matters. The baseball season is about to open.

Some of Sanford's streets are taking on that long black ribbon look. Paving machines are plying back and forth along the thoroughfares named in a contract with the City laying asphalt pavement that leaves a smooth delightfully riding top.

No doubt, these improvements will pave the way for fewer bottlenecks along certain areas and will scatter traffic through a fan shaped area leading into one of the main arteries.

It is another step forward that has been made.

An annual program such as this one will soon put Sanford streets in the "pink" of condition.

We realize that it is next to impossible to do every street at the same time, but a yearly program fitted to the needs of the City will tend toward making every street in Sanford one that a motorist will enjoy traveling.

The best helping hand of all is the one at the end of your own arm.

Newspaperman's Tour Report

This is the third in a series of articles written by Mrs. Carmage Walls on her newspaperman's trip to foreign countries representing the Sanford Herald.

If I had every word in Webster's dictionary at my disposal I doubt if I could ever describe the scene that awaited us when we arrived in Casablanca late in the afternoon of March 9.

The airport was in a state of "more than average" confusion since it had been announced that negotiations had been completed and the North African country of Morocco — of which Casablanca is the business center and port — was free after having been a protectorate of France since 1912. To Moroccans this was their Independence Day or, as we know it, their "4th of July". I cannot recall seeing such jubilation and excitement on the part of any large group of people — adults and children — were trooping through the streets laughing, clapping their hands and furling the Moroccan flag (a Kelly green star on a red field).

By now, of course, I feel sure that everyone has been made aware of the background situation of Morocco which — stated very concisely — is that she (Morocco) asked France to set up a protectorate for her in 1912 when Morocco was torn by strife from within from conflicting groups. This protectorate situation has been in existence for 44 years and now Morocco during the few days that we are to business confidence turns toward inflation again.

Cavorting bulls in the stock market and the continuing upward pressure on prices of metals and other industrial materials belie the belief growing in some circles that inflation is dead.

And the money managers are on record as saying they're ready to tighten money more if business should show any sign of turning to the psychology of a runaway boom.

Only the stock market so far has given any hint of turning in that direction, having perked up after the President's announcement he'll try for a second term.

Except for the revival of the bull market and the higher tendency of industrial material prices, business has continued its slow flattening out process.

Easing of the money market has shown up where it usually does first—in the U.S. Treasury's short-term borrowing costs. Once ingly struck by the coincidence. At any rate, they have been very gracious and hospitable—and, believe me, with their limited or nil English and our practically nil French, the game of "charades" has been going full blast!

But back to my account of the day. We left the harbor for a reception at the Governor's Palace. Frankly, my eyes are still popping over the tile and polished marble floors, too beautiful to walk on, and ceilings and doors of intricately carved mahogany. The front door led into a patio with a running fountain and pool in the middle. Here the Governor received us and we were then ushered into a room lined on all sides with sofas and bolsters covered in rich red and gold brocades. The walls were mosaic tile hallway up and then—if you can imagine such—white plaster carved so that it really looked like fine lace. This led up to the carved mahogany that ran overhead. We were served hot mint tea and all sorts of exotic looking (don't ask me what they were) cookies and cakes.

This afternoon we attended a briefing session at the office of General Franke, the French military head in Casablanca.

In addition to all this activity, I was ill during the last night with an upset stomach which the Europeans call "tourist disease" (and which makes the victim believe it is fatal).

I don't see how this very efficient tour director of ours, Dr. Marcel Duriaux, has kept us together and not lost in all the excitement, but somehow he has. At any rate, since we are expecting tomorrow to go to Rabat, the capital of Morocco, to witness the triumphal return from Paris of His Majesty, the Sultan of Morocco, this I guess should be all for now.

Answer To Phone Calls

Due to the number of telephone calls received at The Sanford Herald office over the past weekend relative to merchandise and prizes offered in a certain promotion campaign we would like to explain that The Sanford Herald is not sponsoring such a promotion, neither do we sanction such a campaign.

Evidently, Sanford housewives and residents have been besieged by telephone calls relative to the promotion.

The offer is made exclusively by an advertiser's promotion group with an ad taken in The Sanford Herald announcing the types of allegedly free merchandise, services and other receipts.

Herlong Reports

SPRING TRAINING
 About fifty Members of Congress and their families will shortly descend on Daytona Beach. The trip is billed as "Spring Training" for the Democrats and Republican baseball teams. Actually it is an excuse to get the Members of Congress to see and know our great section of the state. It has really paid dividends. Not only has Daytona Beach received over a quarter of a million dollars worth of free publicity out of the affair, but it has also resulted in our getting some excellent Congressional help on projects in our area. A Member who has seen a project is more likely to understand and assist than one who only has a word picture. There are more ways to kill a cat than by choking him on butter.

GOOD NEWS FROM OCALA
 The telephone rang the other night just as I was getting home. The operator said Ocala was calling. The news was that another grandchild had arrived—this time a girl. Everybody is fine, and I've been walking about three feet off the ground since then. To all my fellow grandsons: Ain't it wonderful!

FROM TALLAHASSEE
 It was also mighty nice to hear from Secretary of State Bob Gray's office that I had no primary opposition. I do appreciate the privilege of representing our district in Washington. I said so often that the only had part about this job is that it requires me to spend nearly all my time in Washington. Right now I'm a little homesick for the smell of orange blossoms, the sight of azaleas, bougainvillea, flame vine, etc. in full bloom (and my new granddaughter). If we could just move the Capital to Florida.

WHAT ABOUT THE ALLEGED BLACK IN THE GUIDED MISSILE PROGRAM?
 Secretary of the Army Bruck or, Senator Symington, possibly the two Florida Senators, and I are flying to Patrick Air Force Base this week to get the low-down. Of course I don't know what the answer will be, but as soon as I learn I will report to you — except, of course, on phases of the program that may be classified.

Hess In Hollywood With 25 Children

HOLLYWOOD—Col. Dean Hess was in Hollywood this week with 25 of his children.
The kids were flown in from Korea, where they live in an orphanage which Col. Hess founded and helps support. They are here to act in "Battle Hymn," the film version of the colonel's amazing life.
Col. Hess, lean, handsome and dark-haired, was at Universal International when his charges arrived and he rushed forward to greet them affectionately. The kids, who ranged from 1 to 8, chattered happily in Korean as he shepherded them to the wardrobe departments to be fitted for their costumes. They changed from their neat outfits to tattered clothes, which is how Hess found many of them in strife-torn Korea. While he watched over the wide-eyed youngsters, he talked about the movie.
"Yes, it is somewhat eerie to be reliving your life," he observed. "I find myself looking back with regret about things I should have done."
The Hess story, which will be portrayed by Rock Hudson, begins in Marietta, Ohio, where he was a minister in the Church of the Disciples of Christ. The preacher, who had flown his light airplane in the Air Force during plane to churches around Ohio, World War II.
"A commission as a chaplain came through after I had graduated as a first lieutenant," he recalled. "But I sent it back. I felt that I couldn't ask my neighbor to bear arms against the enemy if I didn't do so myself. I also felt I could accomplish more as a regular officer than as a chaplain. There is a natural barrier that exists between soldiers and chaplains."
He flew 63 fighter bomber missions in Europe. During one of them, a bomb dropped accidentally. He later learned that it fell on an orphanage. This weighed heavily on his mind.
During the Korean War, he helped organize the ROK air force and flew 250 missions himself. He was touched by the pitiful bands of orphans in that wretched land and decided to do something about it. He took over an old government building on Chonju and airlifted the orphans out of the combat zone.
Now there are 714 in the orphanage, and Hess has donated proceeds from his book and the movie to its support.
Now special assistant to the air force assistant chief of staff for personnel in the Pentagon, Hess will oversee at least part of the filming of his story. But he may leave abruptly for Alexandria, Va., where his wife expects soon to give birth to their third child.

The Enlarged Men's Wives Club presented its Spring Fashion at the Ritz Theatre Friday morning at 10 a.m. before a large crowd.
The feature is expected to increase constantly.
Most movies are now made with an eye to the foreign market.
These enlightening facts come from Alfred E. Daff, executive vice president of Universal-International and head of its foreign division. He points up the revolution in film economy.
Once Hollywood was supported by American moviegoers. The foreign receipts were gravy. But now the film industry could not continue on its present basis without the foreign business.
"The movie business would survive—it always has," said Daff. "But the whole setup would have to be changed."
Fortunately, no such calamity as the loss of the foreign market impends. Daff forecasts increased prosperity for Hollywood.
"The reason for the increase in foreign receipts is simple," he explained. "Since the war, the standards of living in foreign lands have risen so much that the people now have extra money to spend beyond the cost of food, clothing and shelter. They have more to spend on movies, which are the most universal form of entertainment."
"Fortunately, Americans have a knack of making films that are more popular than anyone else's. With four billion people in the world and 165 million Americans, it is logical that an increasing share of our profits will come from abroad."
How has this changed studio thinking?
"All of our pictures are calculated for their impact on the foreign market as well as the American. Only a few films are made without a foreign appeal. Those are pictures about America and sports and films like Ma and Pa Kettle, which are great here but not as good abroad, with the exception of Australia."
"Likewise we may make films that are not so popular here but liked by foreigners. These include what we call the 'sex-and-sand' films—the romantic adventures."

Cornell Borchers Germany's Finest Gift Since Dietrich

HOLLYWOOD—Germany's greatest gift to Hollywood since Marlene Dietrich is a taffy-haired, beautiful beauty named Cornell Borchers.
Actually, she resembles the sultry Dietrich very little. She has been compared to Ingrid Bergman, and indeed she is similar to the noted Swede, both in beauty and bearing.
Like Bergman, Cornell is statuesque (5 feet 7) with an ample figure that seems refreshing when stacked up against some of Hollywood's stars. Her skin has that healthy glow of Nordic beauties and she seldom uses makeup.
"It would look silly on me," she remarked. "I only wear enough to make my skin look darker for the camera."
But she added that German women are going in for more beautification than before.
"American women spend much more time grooming themselves," she observed. "Even busy ones, like secretaries and housewives, find the time to put up their hair at night so they'll look good the next day."
Cornell appears to be set for a successful Hollywood career. She was well received in her debut, "Never Say Goodbye," opposite Rock Hudson. Now she's back for a costarring role with Errol Flynn in a romantic intrigue titled "Istanbul."
Despite her success here, she doesn't plan to settle permanently. Why?
"Because I have a home in Garmisch," she said. "It is very beautiful there. And I feel it is very important these days for actors to work in both America and Europe."
She plans to come here for one or two pictures a year and spend the rest of the time in Europe. She has both German and British passports, since she was married to an Englishman, Bruce Cunningham. They had a son, Christian, now 3, and are now divorced.

RED SILK SATIN with red and black imported tweed theatre costume comes from Jo Copeland's collection. The long-sleeved dress, like the coat, has a jet-embroidered collar. It fastens down an elongated panel past the waistline. The coat, tied at the neckline, is shaped to flare like the dress and lined to match.

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—Did you know that—
About 45 per cent of the film industry's take now comes from abroad.
The feature is expected to increase constantly.

Members Of Fishing Party See Manatees At Mullet Lake Park

Fishing is one thing—but to see two-manatees looking water mammals while fishing is another.

Two manatees, commonly known as cowboys, were seen in the St. Johns River early Friday morning, between 7 and 8 o'clock, at Mullet Lake Park.

According to those who got a close look at the two bulky monsters, they were playing around in one spot for about 45 minutes or an hour.

Plundering in about three feet of water and on the sandy bottom of the river on the Seminole County side of the stream the dark gray water mammals were estimated to be about six or seven feet long.

Miss and Mrs. Frank Price and Roy Wall were in the party that got a close-up look at the two conspicuous manatees when their fishing party came within about 100 feet of them.

CLAIMS WORLD RECORD
SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Robert Keast held his breath under water for 10 minutes and 58.8 seconds yesterday and claimed a world record.

The anesthesiologist at St. Joseph Hospital in San Francisco was timed at the Marin Rod and Gun Club's sports show by a show official.

The accepted record for holding out under water without aids such as aqualungs is 6 minutes 29 seconds and was set 39 years ago in France. James Ray Jordan held his breath 6 minutes 3.5 seconds last week in San Diego, breaking that mark unofficially.

Dr. Keast, 34, is president of the Marin Skindiving Club.

There are about 20,000 species of birds in the world.

Wade, please! Wade said. He looked toward Lora, and she let her arms bite into her voice. "If neither of you wants to come in with me on this girl, then it shall be a puppy for his very own."

"I'm in who makes the rules in this house," Mrs. Tyler's eyes were alive with anger. "Put that creature down instantly, Jenny!"

Wade went out of the room as if he were in a dream, and he did not return. The old woman and the little boy faced each other in the light of Christmas morning, but of the two of them the woman was older and still the stronger.

"Put it down," she said levelly. "With a little sob Jenny gave up. He dropped the puppy down upon the floor and ran toward the door and fled from the room, his arm tight across his mouth. Lora made no move to stop him. All this was as much worse than she had imagined. Somehow she had hoped that the spirit of gift-giving might soften this impossible old woman to being humanly kind. But that had not happened and Wade had not stayed to help his son. So now the battle was posed—as she had seen it must be all along—between herself and Mrs. Tyler.

Lora scooped the puppy into her arms and got to her feet. She rubbed her eyes against its hard little head where the white patch showed, and stroked its fur. She walked boldly toward the door, carrying the puppy in her arms.

"Behind her Mrs. Tyler made a choking sound against the hallway door as she paused for an undecided moment. Then she went into the library where Wade sat on the sofa before a cold fireplace, his elbows on his knees, his head in his hands. In spite of her anger a faint stab of pity went through her. He was still ill with his wounds and the experience he had been through. Nevertheless, she spoke to him coolly.

"I'm going to keep his puppy, Wade. His need is more important than the whims of your mother."

He did not even look up at her. "I thought you were gentle. I thought you would bring peace and happiness to this household."

"Perhaps you should stop thinking about you and think about Jenny. What sort of father are you?"

He looked up quickly, but she waited for no answer. She turned about and went quickly through the door. Up the stairs to her room she carried the puppy. Then she slipped out of her room before the puppy could bounce after her.

Bill White Strong Threat To Capture First Place Post

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Three years ago at the training camp here of the New York Giants there was a rookie stationed at first base and his performance was so pathetic it caused Eddie Brannick, the club secretary and astute critic of playing talent, to observe: "That young fellow must have his glove on the wrong hand."

But today this same young fellow, Bill White, is a strong threat to capture the first basing job and usher such veterans as Whitney Lockman or Gail Harris into the outfield—where, incidentally, they can also be of great value.

Bill Rigney, the new manager of the Giants, is not ready for positive predictions yet but he does allow that the 22-year-old White, up from Dallas in the Texas

NCAA Semifinals Scheduled Today

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press
The San Francisco Dons, riding a 53-game winning streak, and three other of the nation's ranked college teams pointed for the semifinals of the NCAA's national championship today.

The Dons, defending champions and the nation's No. 1 ranked team with a string of 27 victories this year, tangle with Southern Methodist, ranked seventh, in one semifinal at Evanston, Ill., Thursday night. The other game matches Iowa's Big Ten champion, ranked fourth, and Temple's surprising Owl, ranked 15th. The finals will be played Friday night.

With All America Bill Russell dropping in 27 points and again throwing up an iron curtain around the basket on defense, San Francisco turned back Utah Saturday night at Corvallis, Ore., 92-77.

The Mustangs of Southern Methodist, with 19 straight triumphs, reached the semifinals by downing Oklahoma City 84-63 at Lawrence, Kan.

Carl Cain's 34 points spearheaded Iowa to its 89-77 triumph over Kentucky at Iowa City as the Hawkeyes posted their 16th straight victory. Two free throws by Hal (King) Lear with two seconds remaining carried Temple into the round of four with a 60-58 decision over Canisius at Philadelphia.

The NAIA wound its championship at Kansas City Saturday with McNeese of Lake Charles, La., defeating Texas Southern 60-35 for the title.

Witzel said that his best shot in the match was on the 18th hole with a wedge which landed within 1 1/2 feet of the pin. His best score on the course, however, was a 68.

Lee Armstrong, Mayfair Inn Golf Course Pro said, "This G. W. Spencer Memorial Tournament was a well-balanced tournament with scores pretty close. All matches were played on time with wonderful cooperation."

In the field of 80 entries for the tournament, Russell defeated Algren three and two in the first flight final with F. D. Scott defeating Orville Walgreen one up in the consolation.

In the second flight, Richard Yohn defeated Ralph Sims one up in 20 holes. For Yohn this was the third tournament out of four that ended up with a win on the 20th hole. E. J. Still defeated Saul Abramson two and one in the consolation.

In the third flight, I. G. Peters defeated T. R. Butts one up with Harold Colles defeating Horace Little two-up.

Look For General Change In Weather

NEW YORK (A)—You can look for a general change in our weather, beginning

Colder winters, cooler and wetter summers, fewer hurricanes and perhaps fewer tornadoes.

These long range predictions come from Prof. Hurd C. Willett, meteorologist of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He finds evidence we are at the end of a warming up period that extended over the last 40 years, from about 1915 to the present.

The 40 years before that, from about 1875 to 1915, had been wetter and cooler—making grandpop right in his declaration that our winters aren't what they used to be.

For the next 40 years, Prof. Willett says, we should be going back to cooler, wetter weather in a slow change. But it probably will not be as cold and wet as the 1875-1915 period.

Prof. Willett bases this upon statistical analyses trends over a large section of the northern hemisphere.

Ups-and-downs or short cycles can and do occur within a long term trend. Recently there has been one such shorter period of warmer weather occurring within the long term warming up trend.

A change to cooler weather will be one factor making the East Coast less a hurricane target than it has been recently, he says.

Over the last 10 years, hurricanes have shifted in their path. While they used to go through the Gulf Coast area, lately they have tended to strike more at the Northeast.

Warmer general weather and a large scale change in general wind patterns are responsible. Now Prof. Willett expects the wind patterns to change back to their previous status. Ocean surface temperatures also have been warmer than before, reflecting the same wind and ocean systems associated with hurricane paths.

Tornadoes may also become fewer because the same changes in wind circulation that favor hurricanes have affected tornadoes.

As part of the evidence for the recent general warm up, Prof. Willett cites:

Marked melting of glaciers in some areas from 1900 to 1940.

Average winter temperatures were about six degrees higher in Southern Greenland and Iceland and 13 degrees higher in Spitzbergen during 1860-69 than 1810-20.

For the last 30 years, icebergs have been fewer and not travelling as far South as they had been.

Warm water marine life has migrated northward.

For some 20,000 years, we've been coming out of the last of four stages of a great ice age, the Pleistocene glacial epoch. We seem to be two-thirds of the way from a peak of glaciation to a period of no ice mantle at all, Prof. Willett says.

Women Need Not Suffer With Menstrual Pain

By HERMAN K. SHUBERT, M.D.

MANY women suffer unnecessary pain during menstrual periods. Maybe you are one of them. In this condition, which we call dysmenorrhea, the pain is usually severe and is usually located in the lower part of the abdomen. In some patients, however, it is in the thighs and back.

When Pain Comes
You may have the pain just before or during the menstrual period. It may last only a few hours or it may last several days. There may be several causes for this pain.

Disturbances of the uterus or womb may be responsible. Sometimes a disturbance of the glands of internal secretion is the cause.

Overwork a Factor
Emotional and nervous disorders also play an important part in causing dysmenorrhea. Overwork is often a contributing factor, too.

Glacial Remedies
Mild sedatives and drugs which relieve spasm might help you. Various glandular preparations such as estrogen and progesterone have been found useful. Moderate doses of testosterone or the male hormone, have helped.

But never take any drugs without proper advice. Do not, however, rely on drugs. The underlying cause of the condition must be determined by the doctor so you can get permanent relief.

Avoid Overwork
Meanwhile, you can make things easier for yourself. Do not become overly tired or exhausted. Get at least eight hours sleep each night, more if you can. Rest occasionally during the day, too.

Heat often brings relief from pain. Place a hot water bottle or an electric heating pad on your abdomen when in pain.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Mrs. M. A. W.: I have large black spots on the bottom of my feet. What would cause this?
Answer: It is impossible to tell the cause for the black spots on your feet. They might be due to a fungus infection or to some other type of infection. Examination by a skin specialist would be advisable.

City Board Will Extend Contract

The problem of continuing the City of Sanford's street paving program was presented at a special meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners yesterday afternoon.

Faced with a shortage of approximately $2,600 in funds available for the present $21,000 program that is virtually completed, the Board of City Commissioners agreed to extend the contract with the Orlando Paving Company and add additional streets to be paved at a total cost of $25,000.82.

Payment for the additional street improvements will be handled on the basis of a note bearing 4 percent interest. Funds will be provided for the repayment of the note to Orlando Paving Company in next year's budget and from revenue derived from the future fee.

According to City Manager Warren Knowles, estimated revenue from the Refuse Fee in 1956 will be $53,700 and $56,000 in 1957.

The additional contract for paving will include street improvements in the Mayfair Section, Summerlin Ave., Palmetto Ave., from 26th to 28th Sts., Madara

Cost of the paving will be $7.22 Ave. and Hibiscus Court, per ton which was the low bid on the original contract.

The Madara Ave. and Hibiscus Court improvements were added to the original plan for 1955 street improvements due to the poor surfaces of the two thoroughfares.

Total cost to the City of Sanford of the overall street improvement program will be in excess of $40,000.

City Commissioner John Kriler commented, when the plan was proposed, "I am in favor of going ahead."

Commissioner Gatchel said, "I don't see what we can make any error in going on through with the project."

A unanimous decision to continue the paving and street improvement program was made when Commissioner Kriler moved that "We go ahead and follow the procedure as outlined by the City Manager."

The unusually low price of $7.22 per ton was the predominant factor that induced the commissioners to continue the street resurfacing program.

Presbyterian Choir Will Give 2 Music Services Sunday

The Chancel choir of 25 voices will be heard in two identical services at the First Presbyterian church Palm Sunday, March 25. They will be at 8:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. The theme of the hour of worship will be Psalms of Christian Faith.

The twin services are being tried this year for the first time because recently the congregation at this annual observance of the Easter season has overflowed into the Sunday school rooms. It is hoped that everyone will find a seat in the sanctuary at either the 8:30 or the 7:30 hour.

Everyone is invited, church officials said, and in addition to the people in Sanford, it is hoped that as in the past there will be many from the surrounding areas. Included in candlelight worship will be eight anthems and four organ numbers. Mrs. George Touhy, Minister of Music, will play chimes for five minutes before the scheduled starting times and it is hoped that everyone attending can be seated prior to this in order to avoid interruption during the service.

Choir members who will participate in the service will be, Mrs. Robert Berg, Mrs. Al Case, Mrs. Ernest Cowley, Mrs. Robert Crumley, Mrs. A. C. Fori, Mrs. Roy Mann, Mrs. Joseph Orsano, Mrs. Ruby Sloan, Mrs. Leon Walker, Miss Dial Boyle and Miss Barbara Rohn.

The sopranos are Mrs. David Bach, Mrs. J. A. Bistline, Mrs. Robert Cornell, Mrs. William Cortright, Mrs. E. M. Galloway, Mrs. Nick Pfeiffel, Mrs. Herbert Sienstrom, Mrs. Charles Wilks, Mrs. Frank Woodruff III, Miss Anna Corley, Miss Gene Nunnely, Miss Patty Walker, and Miss Joan Wilks.

The men in the choir are tenors Andrew Brachen, Robert Brown, Al Case, William Hong, Robert Mero, George Touhy and the basses Warren Adams, J. A. Bistline, Robert Crumley, Donald Howard, Clifford McKibbin, and Charles Morrison.

AT THE FORREST PARK School for Exceptional Children dedication last night were: Mrs. Mattie F. Davis, principal; Eugene F. Ressor, President of the Board of Directors; Mrs. Lucille Appleby, first vice president. In front is John Appleby, a student at the school.

Volunteer Fire Dept. Officers May Be Told

A second meeting of the recently formed Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department was held last night at the Lake Mary School.

Five of the seven members named to obtain the charter for the organization have signed the legal documents creating the Lake Mary fire fighting unit. However, officers of the organization have not as yet been named.

With the promise of items of fire fighting equipment, and with the fact that if 10 active members can be obtained fire college instructions would be available, it is expected that officers will be named at the Thursday evening meeting.

Incorporation articles have been completed and will, in all probability, be adopted at the second meeting of the group.

Incidentally, the incorporation papers were contributed by Charles Kruger with the equipment promised by various communities, the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station, and Frank Evans who had already provided water pumping buckets stored in a building adjacent to the Chamber of Commerce Building.

The seven named to obtain the charter were: Albert Walter, George Strippa, Glen Cochran, William Matthews, Charles Kruger, Brooks White, and James Tate.

A special appeal was made to the young men of the community by Ed Zimmerman, president of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, to attend the Thursday night meeting and to form an active fire fighting group.

It is expected that a Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary will be an outgrowth of the group since plans were forwarded for the raising of money for the purchase of additional equipment and housing.

Albert Walter, temporary chairman of the group, presided at the first meeting.

Porter H. Lansing To Run For Sheriff In May 8 Primary

Porter H. Lansing Sr., announced today that he has qualified as a candidate in the May 8 Democratic primary for the office of Sheriff of Seminole County.

He has lived in this County the past 46 years, and feels that the people of this County want, and are entitled to, efficient and courteous law enforcement without fear or favor.

In making his announcement, Lansing stated that he is an independent candidate, not sponsored by any individual or group, and if elected, he will work tirelessly to give the people of this County the best law enforcement they have ever had. He stated that he will devote his entire time to the office and promises the people prompt, efficient and courteous service at all times. Lansing further stated that if elected he will consider his performance of the duties of this office a sacred trust and will give the people a sheriff's department of which they will be proud.

He is president of the Seminole County Sportsman's Association, a director of Florida Wildlife Federation, and a past president of this organization. He is a past president of the Fifth District Sportsman's Association, a member of the Mike Jones Chapter of First Melchior Chapter, and is married to the former Esther B. A vice-president of the school's governing board, Mrs. Appleby was praised for her "untiring efforts" and devotion to improving the school for handicapped children. She was introduced in this manner by Eugene F. Ressor, board president.

Currently, Mrs. Appleby is heading the annual Easter seal campaign in Seminole County. The traditional mail solicitation is conducted by Central Florida Society for Crippled Children with a large portion of the proceeds allocated to Forrest Park School.

More than 100 persons attended last night's informal dedication program at the new school grounds located in the Fairville suburban section of Orlando. Forrest Park now has 110 children enrolled, including several from Seminole County.

The amazing growth of the special educational center was outlined by three prominent Orange County speakers last night, all of whom have been instrumental in getting the school started and expanded.

Speakers included Earl Kipp, principal of Boone High, who was supervisor of elementary instruction in Orange at the time the school was started and who has also been president of the six-county crippled children's organization.

Also, Robert S. Carr, former president of the Forrest Park Board and the Central Florida Society, the third speaker was Judson H. Walker, superintendent of public instruction for Orange County. The school administrator furnishes the physical plant, teaching

Board Hears Account

The Seminole County Board of County Commissioners were given an up-to-the minute report on the operation of the Seminole Memorial Hospital for the first six weeks.

A. B. Peterson Sr., chairman of the Board of Trustees and Harry Weir, Hospital Administrator revealed the financial condition of the hospital that has been in operation only one and a half months.

Weir told the commissioners, "We wound up the first month's operation with a net profit of $12.81." He said that the outstanding obligations due the hospital were covered mostly by insurance. He pointed out that the cost of operation of the hospital for the first month was $2,800 with the receipts totaling $28,504. "With other receipts from various sources," he said, "we ended the month with a profit."

However, Weir told the commissioners, "We are not getting overly optimistic or excited about it. After six months operation we can get a better picture." He pointed out that the percentage of collections was running about 70 per cent, with accounts received amounting to about two thousand dollars.

Mrs. Camilla Bruce, Supervisor of Registration for Seminole County appeared before the commissioners to request funds for advertising and to advise voters to notify the Supervisor of Registration of their change of address.

Mrs. Bruce told the commissioners that the registration books are being taken into the county in order to give every citizen an opportunity to register. She said, "The books will be in Altamonte Springs tonight, in Longwood Friday night, in Oviedo Wednesday night March 22, in Fern Park on the 20th and in Bear Lake April 4."

The registration books will be at the Prairie Lake American Legion Hut in Fern Park and at the Florida Power Company Club house in Bear Lake, she said.

A request for street lights in Lake Mary was made by Frank Evans before the Board of Commissioners this morning. He asked that lights be installed at three places. However, the Commissioners deferred action until legislative action authorizing the installation of such lights in county areas.

F. B. Beard of Lake Mary requested that a sidewalk be placed in Lake Mary for a three block area in order to protect children coming and going to school. The request was referred to County Engineer L. P. Hagan in determining length and cost of the project.

The Academy is the only medical association which requires every member to continue his medical education. Rapid medical progress, the Academy believes, makes it necessary for the doctor to keep learning. For this reason, every member must complete 150 hours of postgraduate study every three years.

The four-day scientific program includes such prominent medical educators as Dr. W. Proctor Harvey, Georgetown University; Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon general, United States Public Health Service; and Dr. Eugene A. Stead Jr., Duke University.

Sale Of Property For Super Market Will Go Through

A final stumbling block was removed yesterday that will allow the sale of property for the proposed super market on Oak Ave. to go through.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners withdrew utility easements through the area proposed for the location of the new supermarket and shopping area adjacent to 17-92 on South Oak Ave.

Real estate representatives appeared before the Board of Commissioners to propose the relinquishing of the easement and to assure the closing of the sale of property should the request be granted.

Housing Authority Annoves Loan

The Public Housing Authority has approved a preliminary loan of $4,000 for use in planning 30 low rent housing units at Oviedo.

News of the preliminary loan reached Sanford when Senator Spessard L. Holland and George Smathers and Congressman A. E. "Bud" Herlong advised The Sanford Herald by telegram.

The release of funds for the loan will allow the Seminole County Housing Authority to continue and forward the plans for the additional units.

Hobby Will Throw Hat In Ring Again For Sheriff's Post

J. Luther Hobby this morning qualified for the office of Sheriff of Seminole County subject to the Democratic Primary of May 8. Hobby, 39, surprised a contingent of citizens and officials when he formally announced his candidacy as Sheriff today.

The robust former sheriff said that because of a deluge of requests from citizens in every section of the county he decided to again throw his hat in the ring.

Hobby, when he announced, said "I believe, because of my experience in the office as Seminole County's sheriff that I am more qualified than anyone else to conduct this office in the manner that the citizens expect."

The surprise element of the announcement came because of the unexpected last minute statement that the railroad man-sheriff would be a candidate in this year's primary.

Hobby lives in Sanford at 8101 Cordova Circle. He is married and has three children, ages 13, three and two.

Hobby said this morning, "I can still look the people of Seminole County in the eye and say that I have tried to give them a clean, efficient and honest law enforcement agency in the Seminole County Sheriff's office."

"I have followed every avenue in the enforcement of the laws of our State while in the Sheriff's office and it was during the time that I served the people of this county that many of the numerous pieces of ill repute were cleaned up and closed down," Hobby said.

"If the people of Seminole County elect me as their Sheriff in the coming primary and election I intend to enforce the laws just as I have done in the past," he said.

"The records will show what I have done to eliminate the illicit moonshine racket and to safeguard our highways from drunk and reckless driving as well as violations for the operation of automobiles and trucks," Hobby said.

Hobby qualified this morning shortly after 11 o'clock in the office of the Clerk of Court in the Seminole County Court House.
