A STATEMENT CONCERNING THE CHURCH of CHRIST

ON ELM AVENUE AT SECOND STREET

By ARTHUR L. BUTLER, Minister

This statement is respectfully submitted for the purpose of allaying the apprehension in the minds of some who live in the vicinity of Elm Avenue and Second Street where the building of the Church of Christ is under construction. Some seem to have the idea that the worship of this church may prove to be a disturbing element and a nuisance to the community. Doubtless, their misgivings are due to lack of information concerning the faith and practices of the Church of Christ; therefore, it is considered expedient to explain the worship of the said church.

The Church of Christ assembles each first day of the week (Acts 20:7—I Cor. 16:1-2), and engages in the items of worship authorized by the New Testament as follows:

1. LORD'S SUPPER—

We learn from Acts 20:7 that the purpose for which the early Christians met was to observe it; and from I Cor. 11:23-26 we learn that Christians were given instructions from Christ through the apostle Paul to partake of the Lord's Supper.

2. SINGING—

In Colossians 3:16 and Ephesians 5:19, Christians are instructed to sing and make melody in their hearts to the Lord. Congregational singing is the only music used in the worship of the Church of Christ. Since no mechanical instrument of music is used, it is noted that one of what may be considered by some a disturbing element is eliminated.

3. PRAYER—

In Acts 2:42 and I Timothy 2:1-8, Christians are taught by example and by precept to engage in both private and public prayer.

4. GIVING—

Acts 2:42 states that the early Christians continued in fellowship; that is, in contributing of their material wealth. I Cor. 16:1-2 gives instructions as to when and how the contribution is to be made.

5. PREACHING and TEACHING—

That preaching and teaching when the church is assembled is proper is set forth in Acts 2:42 and Acts 20:7. These five items of worship are neither disturbing nor annoying, but serenely edifying.

The Bible does not teach that in order for a person to be saved, he must kneel at the "mourner's bench" and agonize in prayer for God to save him until he "prays through." The Church of Christ does not engage in any such practice, and those who fear that they may be annoyed into the late hours of the night by such "seasons of prayer" may rest assured that their fears are groundless. The Church of Christ believes and teaches that a person is saved by obedience to the following commands of the gospel:

1. HEAR GOD'S WORD—Rom. 10:14-18; John 17:17; John 8:32.
2. BELIEVE IN CHRIST AND GOD—John 3:16; Hebrews 11:6; John 20:31; John 8:24.
3. REPENT OF PAST SINS—Luke 13:3; Acts 17:30.
4. CONFESS FAITH IN CHRIST—Matt. 10:32-33; Acts 8:37; Rom. 10:10.
5. BE BAPTIZED INTO CHRIST—Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; Acts 22:16; Gal. 3:27; I Peter 3:20-21.

In I Corinthians 14:40, Paul admonishes us, "Let all things be done decently and in order." The Church of Christ conducts every phase of its work and worship in accordance with this principle, and it has never been nor will it ever be a disturbing element, but rather a blessing to any community.

Until the completion of the building, the Church of Christ is holding its services in the Seminole County courthouse each Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock and each Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

Should you desire further information concerning the Church of Christ please contact Arthur L. Butler, Minister, 801 1/2 East Second Street, or call 514-J.

Testimony Of Pearl Witness Changed Twice

Safford Says He Did, And Then He Didn't Suspect Marshall Of Illegal Actions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. (AP)—Naval Captain L. F. Safford today changed the testimony he offered earlier today to the Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee. During a 2 1/2 hour hearing of the session, pertinent questioning had drawn from Safford the statement that a suspicion existed in his mind that General Marshall and Admiral Stark had acted illegally in destroying public documents. The subject under discussion was the so-called Japanese "wanda code" message, which Safford says was received, but which other officers have testified was not received.

Subsequently, under questioning from Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, Safford said he has no proper basis for suspicion against any individual. He said it is a fact that official records are missing, but he did not know how. He was then asked if he wished to change his earlier statement regarding the responsibility of Marshall and Stark. Safford replied that he would like to do so. "I have no suspicion," he said, "directed against any individual who can be named."

Representative Jere Cooper of Tennessee observed that he could not understand that kind of an answer, and said that if Safford had suspicions, they must be directed against persons. Then Senator Lucas referred to other witnesses who have testified that no "wanda code" message was received, and asked how they could be wrong. Safford replied, "I cannot explain other people." He justified those who were with him when the message was received as Capt. A. D. Kramer, Capt. A. H. McCallum, Admiral T. H. Wilkinson, and Admiral Leigh Noyes. These men, he said, were the ones he referred to when he said that "wanda" message had been received and we know it meant war.

General Marshall To Tour China's Civil War Areas

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 4. (AP)—A Communist spokesman has announced that General George Marshall and the other two members of the committee which negotiated the truce in China's civil strife will tour the former battle areas. The representative of the central government on the truce committee was General Chang Chun. The Communist member was General Chou En-Lai. Although the truce was agreed to on Jan. 10 and hostilities were to have ended by the 13, there were reports of subsequent fighting. This was attributed to poor communications. All fronts were said to have been quiet last week. It is expected that the trip into the former battle zones in mid-February.

The County Commissioners will meet Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock in regular monthly session.

House Rejects Move To Kill All Pending Labor Measures

Seel Shortage Shuts Down Ford Assembly Plant.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. (AP)—A sudden, surprise move to kill all pending labor legislation was rejected today by the House. The vote was 130 to 42. The attempt was made by Democratic Representative Emanuel Celler of New York when he offered such an amendment to the strike control bill proposed by Republican Representative Francis Case of South Dakota.

The Celler move was, in effect, a motion to strike out the entire case bill. After rejecting Celler's motion, the House resumed consideration of amendments to the Case measure. Meanwhile the great steel strike entered its third week amid increasing signs that this may be the week the White House plans show down action to end the recession-crippling walkout.

President Truman has scheduled a series of conferences with industry leaders for sometime this week. He conferred this morning with Secretary of Labor Schweitzer and Philip Murray, head of the striking CIO steel workers. The great harbor of New York is tied up by a tugboat strike that a union leader claims is 98 per cent effective. The union official, Captain William Bradley, said that only half a dozen tugs were working early today.

In Waterbury, Conn. wage negotiations between CIO union leaders and the Scovill Manufacturing Company collapsed today. Union officials said that 4000 employes would join, on Wednesday, the 32,000 workers already on strike in the Connecticut Brass Manufacturing center.

In St. Louis a strike of AF of L custodians has closed down all but 21 of the 129 elementary and high schools. The custodians and matrons are demanding a pay increase of $20 a month. Most pupils and teachers showed up doors were locked. The students on time for school, but were kept waiting outside because the custodians were thoroughly, and cheered the AF of L pickets.

Richard Deas of the attendance committee suggested a method of punishing absentees to improve membership.

John Sharrard reported on a proposal that the Lions sponsor a rodeo show at Seminole Driving Park. A vote revealed that members were unable to devote enough time to such a project, and the proposal was therefore disapproved.

Farmers Market Branch Rickey Watches Brooklyn Talent During Initial Workouts

100 Players Present At Opening Session Friday At Municipal Athletic Field; Lecture Periods Started Today

By JULIAN STENSTROM
The Brooklyn baseball training camp school opened Friday morning at the Municipal Athletic field with some 100 young ball players participating in initial workouts under the watchful eyes of Branch Rickey and some 30 coaches, managers, coaches and instructors of the steadily expanding Dodger farm system. Among the nationally known baseball men present Friday were: Bud Mathews, George Sisler, Bill Kifer, Andy High, Jack Knight, Ray Hayworth of the Fort Worth club of the Texas League and Ray Blades, former Cardinal pitcher and current skipper of the St. Paul American League team which will train here during March. Decker out in the splendor of bright new Dodger uniforms, the 100 athletes, mostly returned veterans, underwent the workouts which were called by Rickey as "pretty rough." The lanky righthander didn't hesitate in declaring the session as rugged as some of those Army and Navy physical training periods.

A number of the school's officials pointed out that the results of the workouts were noticeable and impressive revelation in glancing over the squad was the size of the athletes and, of course, the neatness of the uniforms. Mr. Rickey was especially impressed in this department which he noted that Daytona Beach Friday to witness the initial workout.

Rickey continued to praise the local baseball park by declaring that it was as good and even better than he expected it to be. He expressed his satisfaction with the entire setup and intimated that he was happy the club had chosen Sanford as the site of the training school.

Harold Rutteger, a Brooklyn farm system official who is connected with the Daytona Beach Dodger club of the Florida State League, was very instrumental in getting Sanford selected as the site for the school. After taking (Continued from Page Six)

Farmers Market To Be Repaired

Market Director Says Damages Estimated Close To $50,000

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 4. (Special)—Plans are already underway for the immediate rebuilding of the State Farmers Market in Plant City, which was destroyed by fire Friday night, stated William L. Wilson, Director of Florida State Farmers Markets, today. Director Wilson and Col. M. H. Hawkins, supervisor of construction for the Farmers Markets system, went to Plant City on Saturday, to survey the damage and are spending the week-end in the Winter strawberry production center in Plant City today. Director Wilson said: "The operations of the Farmers Market here will be continued uninterrupted, despite Friday night's blaze which caused damage estimated at approximately $50,000. Business normally handled through the shed which, burned, will be taken care of by the market's remaining facilities as far as possible. This may cause some slight congestion but I feel sure that with the cooperation of all concerned the business of the market can be handled in this manner while rebuilding is under way. One thing which was destroyed was the one which was destroyed was expected just as much as it is humanly possible. Throughout the development of the State Farmers Markets system it has been the policy of Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo to keep facilities on established markets up to the best possible levels at all times. This means that in such cases as the Plant City fire, there is no delay in restoring the lost facilities, or in making other improvements calculated to offset the damage and improve service to the growers. Naturally the length of time required for rebuilding at Plant City will depend upon our ability to get materials on the ground."

Potatoes, celery and other products are moving in to meet the volume from Florida markets, reports received in Wilson's office in Jacksonville, indicated today. J. A. Dulany, manager of the Pahokee market reported completion of the winter potato crop movement, noting that "Potatoes sold at this market through our processing plant led the area in return to growers. Buyers were willing to pay a premium for potatoes that were given the most modern processing known to the industry and our market again leads in providing the great advancement in grading and packing." The celery movement continues at Pahokee, with slow demand. Beans are quoted at $3.75 per bushel. Tomatoes sold on the Florida City market from $5 to $2.50 per field box during the week, according to reports from the market. (Continued from Page Six)

Argentina Docks In New York With 451 British Brides After Stormy Crossing

NEW YORK, Feb. 4. (AP)—For the first time in more than 200 years a ship has arrived in America carrying British girls to American husbands. Not since the days when sailing ships brought wives to American colonists on the shores of New England has there been such a voyage. But today, the United States Army transport Argentina docked in New York harbor, bringing to America the British brides -- and their babies -- of American servicemen who married overseas. In all, there were 451 women and 173 children. The wives ranged in age from 16-year-old Mrs. Ben F. Butler to 44-year-old Mrs. Harold N. Cooper. Mrs. Cooper is enroute to join her husband at Enroute Rapids, N. C. Mrs. Butler is enroute to Manhattan Beach, Calif. The brides were headed for 44 different states. The nine-day voyage was, in many respects, a nightmare. Four-fifths of the women became violently ill Jan. 27, when the

Argentinians Docks In New York With 451 British Brides After Stormy Crossing

Argentina passed land's end and began rolling in a tremendous ground swell. The women collapsed on the on the stairs -- limp and decks, fell in passageways and as miserable. Last Wednesday was the worst day of the voyage. The vessel ran head on into a full gale. The Argentina was buffeted by winds that sometimes reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour. Wind shrieked through the rigging. Hajj lashed the decks and cabin windows shattered to halt. Just 25 miles behind her rode the giant Queen Elizabeth, almost three times the size of the 30,000-ton Argentina. She dove to, stopping entirely in the face of the ferocious gale. But today, the Argentina docks as the brilliant sun rises up over New York harbor. Dawn had come to the United States and it marked the dawn of a new life for several hundred British girls.

The intercountry degree will be conferred tonight at the meeting of the Odd Fellows. Wednesday night members of the encampment will meet in Orlando, where the Royal Purple degree will be conferred, according to Frank Ashdown, chief patriarch.

Carl Hanton is sure the country will be back to normal by Feb. 1.
President Truman will begin his fishing trip in that date.

Life is short under any circumstances, but the Cocoa Tribune suggests it would be longer if we'd wait for the green light.

Senator Bilbo says if this thing keeps up much longer he's liable to start a filibuster. What he has been doing so far is just clearing his throat.

Phil Barney of the Tampa Tribune seems to think that if the FPC bill is passed, they will have to change the name of the White House.

Just as we thought! It is going to be about as popular for officers' families to be taken overseas as for soldiers' wives' husbands to be kept over there.

Remembering that everything that goes up must come down, an

Speaking of socialized medicine
one Veterans Administration official is quoted as saying, "You can't push a good doctor into anything; he must come in because he wants to be of service. And that's the only kind of a doctor
we want." We certainly don't want any doctor operating on us against his will.

One of the world's truly com-this week. Prince George of Greece, who when told in New York that there were no more reservations to Florida available, exclaimed, "Then charter a train for me," lanes his chief claim to fame after 76 years on the fact that he is an uncle of King George of Greece.

A comprehensive health program to improve the general physical condition of the American people is proposed by U. S. Surgeon General Parran. The public is too often inclined to marvel at the magnificent physiques of our outstanding football players and think that they are typical of Americans as a whole, forgetting that about 40 percent of those drafted during the recent war were turned down for physical reasons. What this country really needs is a broad health insurance program and more doctors.

"Hey, Charlie," he leered. "Dis-

that?"

The fellow in the chair drew himself up scornfully. "Do I real-

"Is your husband dead, sister?"
"Oh, no, euh, he ain't dead," was the reply.

Foods And Writers

What should a writer eat and drink to inspire him?
Robert G. Berkelman, writing in the Saturday Review of Literature, has looked into the dining habits of great writers and finds conflicting answers.

Perhaps more poets have been drinkers than those who stayed sober. Burns, Poe, and our American genius Edwin Arlington Robinson, were decidedly men of the bottle. Milton, however, as great a poet as ever lived, was very much on the water side. Coleridge's "Kubla Khan", perhaps the most splendid of all unfinished poems; came from visions seen while taking drugs. And plenty of writers of all kinds, probably the great majority, have been smokers.

But not all inspiration comes from stimulants and narcotics. Browning drank sparingly and smoked not at all, though he loved spices and could write lines of genius
after a meal consisting of mayonnaise, Emily Dickinson was spurred to writing by caramel candy, Byron by soda water and crackers. Schiller was thrilled by the odor of decaying apples, and Shelley by hot baked potatoes with plenty of butter.

The chronicle is incomplete. Emerson cannot be the only one of our American poets whose genius was nourished on pie.

Keeping Key-Men

George Bidault continues as the French Foreign Minister, despite the change in the presidency. Thus, despite their frequent changes in rulers, the French keep a certain continuity in the more important posts. Before the war, French ministries changed every few weeks, yet Aristide Briand remained foreign minister year after year. His work for European reconciliation and peace made him indispensable; and whether the premier were reactionary
or liberal, he recognized that Briand must stay.

At the beginning of the century Theophile Delcasse had a similar long tenure of the foreign office. His life work was the building up of a coalition against Germany.
Finally Germany recognized the menace of his work, and sent an ultimatum that Delcasse must go. As soon as the first World War was declared, Delcasse returned to the Foreign Office.

Further changes in the French government are likely, but as long as key-men like Bidault remained, they may not be as serious as they sound.

Sherlock Holmes

Basil Rathbone, the radio actor, is quoted as wanting to get away from the role for which he is best known, that of Sherlock Holmes. He would like to be appreciated as capable of taking other parts, and not tied down to one which may some day lose its appeal.

Rathbone is following in the footsteps of Holmes' creator, Gonon Doyle derived most of his famous and his literary scented the fact. His real pride was in his historical novels, income from the Sherlock Holmes stories, but he always resisted as "The White Company." These show skillful craftsmanship and are eminently creditable, but many others have done like books equally well.

Amid all the mass of whodunits, there is but one Sherlock Holmes. As Gilbert K. Chesterton, the English critic, pointed out, Sherlock Holmes is the one character in modern fiction whose name would be recognized by waiter and taxi driver, stenographer and seamstress. Yet Doyle repeatedly tried to drop the Holmes stories, only to be forced by public clamor to take them up again.

Rathbone may find the great detective equally incapable.

Ducks For Ickes

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes has something new to worry about. This time it's ducks. It seems that too many ducks were killed by hunters in the 1945 shooting season. The waterfowl population of the country is about 125,000,000 birds, which is not enough as compared with the hunters.

The Secretary of the Interior has tackled so many problems in the past that surely he will know how to safeguard the nation's ducks. And the matter of conserving game is more important than it sounds.

Dear Mr. Dean:
Referring to last night's edition of the Herald and the following
headline: "WINTER MUST ASK GROWERS TO DESTROY AND CEASE THEIR CULRY". This headline statement is erroneous and misleading, as I, individually, am not asking anyone to destroy any portion of their celery crop. There senting the celery division of the Florida Vegetable Committee, of which I am one.

"Just a Cold"

By W.V. Bittig
Toothart Drug Co.

Many people suffering from
"just a cold" insist upon going to work, as usual, thereby spreading cold germs among their fellow workers, in addition to adding an extra hazard to their own health.

There is no such thing as
"just a cold." Every cold, however slight, is serious. That extra exposure, that extra ex-posure, may be just the straw that will change a cold into pneumonia.

Get your doctor's advice as to how to proceed when you find that you have a cold. He can save you from the disastrous effects of this apparently simple malady.

Produce all medication from a trusted druggist.
This is the only way to be sure of getting the best medicine available in the paper and book.

NOR IRON BARS A CAGE!

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

The windstorm, which killed one person and made 300 homeless
when it struck the lower east coast, hit the city about 3:00
A. M. and did considerable damage to trees, shrubbery and telephone wires in addition to roofs and small houses. The small building for the Bureau of Anatomy in the course of construction on the lot south of the Court House was blown three feet from its foundation and damaged severely.

Postal receipts for the Sanford post office totalled $2,000 for the month of January, showing a gain of $1,524, or 84 percent, over the figures for January, 1925. J. P.
Hill, postmaster, said.

During a meeting at the County
Commissioner's office, the matter of free bridges was again brought up and a committee was appointed to investigate the rumor that the State had ordered the abolishment of the toll charges on the Monroe Bridge and other bridges in the county.

Upon the orders of Police Chief Roy G. Williams, the police force brought them to the station where they were warned about selling

Branch Rickey Watches Brooklyn Talent During Initial Workouts

Farmers Market - At Plant City To Be Repaired

...to Manager C.S. Phillips, who reported that quality is fair. Squash sold from $4.50 to $7.50, the Florida City report indicated, and beans brought $3.50, with increased volume expected during the coming week. Quality of both squash and beans is very good, said Phillips.

From the best information we have been able to gather our market is at the peak for this season," reported J.L. Warren, Manager of the Pompano State Farmers' Market. "During the last two weeks and probably for two of the next weeks our movement will average approximately 50 cars per day." Last week Pompano made the largest shipment in its history, 32,000 packages were shipped. The quality is very good and prices are satisfactory. Warren noted pepper as having sold up to $7 per bushel, quality extra good; tomatoes, $2.50 to $3 per bushel. Tomatoes and eggplant are both showing great improvement in quality and volume he indicated.

one look at the park, Hotteger, stated that he thought Mr. Rickey would be well satisfied and he handled most of the negotiations between Fletcher Bolls of the Chamber of Commerce baseball committee and the Brooklyn front office.

Robert L. Finch, the school's administrative officer who arrived in Sanford about ten days ago, said the camp will be the most complete camp conducted by any of the major league clubs.

Mr. Finch added that the lecture periods which he announced would be part of the school's schedule, began this morning with Mr. Rickey delivering the initial discussion.

It was also announced that approximately 50 more trainees arrived over the weekend, bringing the total number of players to 150 for today's sessions.

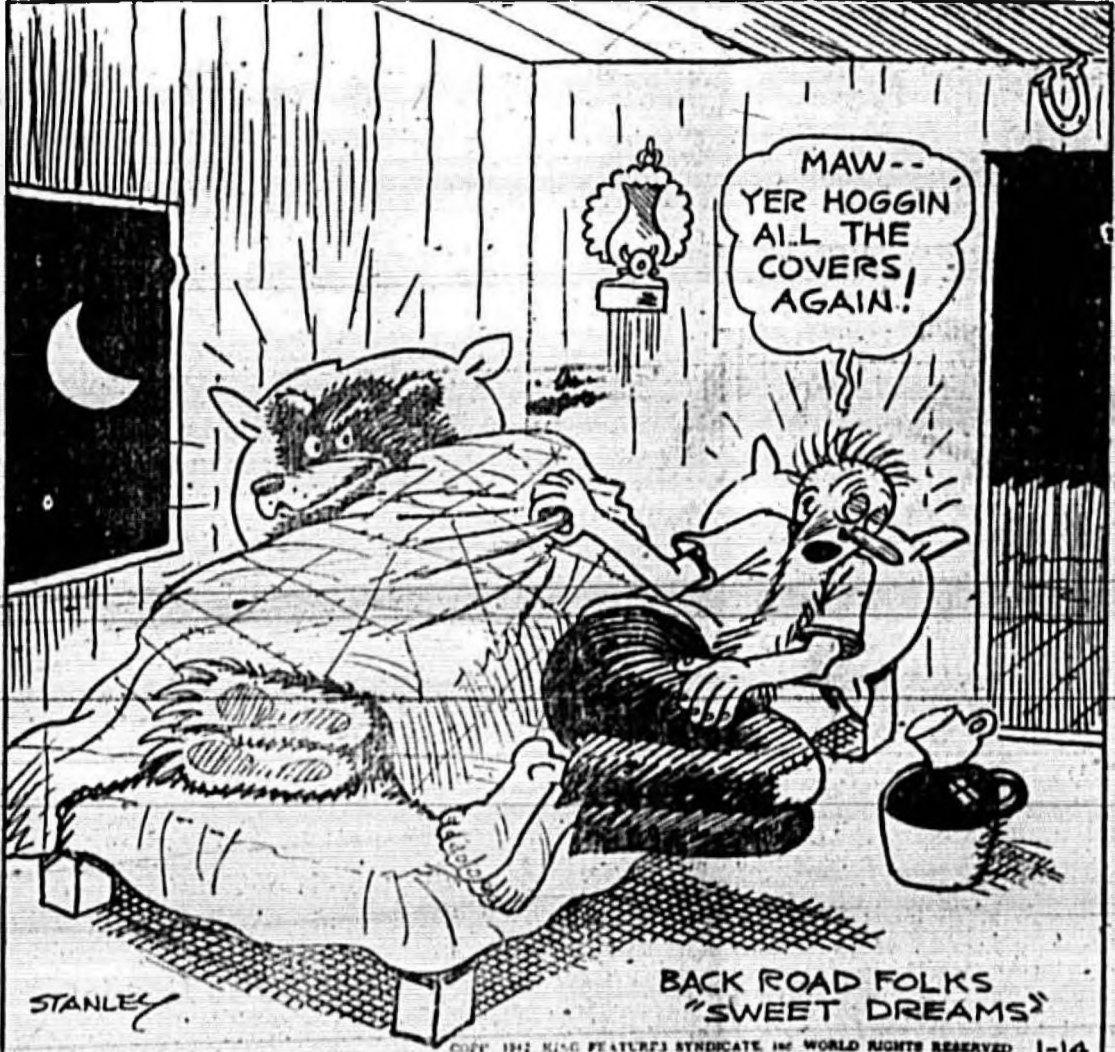

A city official revealed yesterday that everything possible had been done to put the park into shape. He believes America's best ball moguls could give the game a big lift and help themselves at the same time.

"Soccer is purely a winter game," he says, "and will not be in conflict with your national sport of baseball. Teams have been sent out from England to all countries. What has happened? The pupil is now as good as his master, and in some cases, better. So why not help make the great game popular with the people of the United States. And, in return, will you teach us baseball?"

These baseball men who are interested in McConnell's idea will see a chance to talk things over with him before long. He's bringing his Liverpool Club to the United States sometime in May for a tour of this country by invitation of the American Soccer League. Present plans call for games in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and possibly Boston and Toronto.

The Liverpool Club was the pioneer in entertaining members of the American armed forces at the soccer football matches in England. Each week a party of 50 to 80 GIs were guests of the club. Prior to the games the GIs were taken into the dressing rooms where they were introduced to the players and had the rules explained to them. During the match the proceedings also were explained. After the game the men

Laramie Is Like Ghost Town When Cowboys Take Spill

LARAMIE, Wyo.—The biggest industry in Laramie is cows. In the hearts of its people, the next most important thing is basketball.

Laramie, which goes lonesome when the University of Wyoming team comes home from its frequent barnstorming tours, might well claim to be the best basketball town in the country. For, with 10,000 population, it turns out half that number for a game.

It's a glorious occasion when Coach E. Shelton's Cowboys, who won the national college championship in 1943 and are aiming for it again, play on the Laramie court.

The fans, some attired in typical ten-gallon hats and cowboy boots, make the gymnasium bulge. They make it rock with cheers when Milo Komenich, Ken Salora or Jim Weir drive in for a basket. They groan with anguish when the opposition scores.

"I was there when the Cowboys, after compiling a ten-game winning streak, came home from an eastern invasion and lost on the home court to the Utah Indians.

The gloom after the game was so thick you could hardly walk through it. Three women who pushed past me in the lobby were crying softly.

My cab driver's jaw was sagging and he wasn't wearing his cigaret well. He kept muttering: "I just can't believe it. No, sir, I just don't see how they lost that one."

On the street corner by the hotel, three young men seemed oblivious of the bitterly cold wind blowing in from the ranges north of town. They held their overcoats on their arms and one of them was saying:

"I wonder what was the matter with Komenich? He never missed like that before."

The crowd in the hotel bar was quiet. The bellboy said he never knew them to roll up the sidewalks that early.

When Wyoming wins—which is usually the reaction—is just the opposite. Laramie really whoops it up.

If you tour the Wyoming campus, the first thing they show you is the huge plaque in the lobby of the Student Union building presented to the university by the state in honor of the 1943 national champion basketball team. It bears the signature of Gov. Lester C. Hunt and all other state officials.

Bobby-soxers on the campus reserve their squeals for Komenich. When the handsome Cowboy center banga one from the pivot post, the place becomes a bedlam.

But audience here are just generally appreciate. On the night of the Wyoming-Utah game, a sweet-voiced co-ed sang opera at the half and not a soul went out for a cigaret or a coke. After each song, the applause was so terrific you'd have thought Wyoming just scored the winning goal.

GI-British Marriages Are Okay Says Man Who Has Married 31,679 Couples

TOTTENHAM, Eng.—The man who claims the world's record for marrying couples is optimistic about the chances of British brides getting along with their GI husbands.

Walter Grimaldi, registrar of marriages at Tottenham, has married 31,679 couples since November 1, 1942—"four months after I myself was married," he adds. His 10,000 marriages during the war, he said, included "at least 3,000 to 4,000 American soldiers" and he figures that gives him the world's record for marrying GIs.

Five Automobile Accidents Occur During Weekend

Both sides of the highway were guests of the club director at ten.

"From the letters I have received from officers and men of the U. S. armed forces, even after the end of the war, I know our invitations were appreciated and the writers told me that it was their hope that our game would be furthered in the U. S. A."

"Sports of any character is the essence of sportsmanship and, in fact, is an ambassador. I feel sure that it was due to the great friendliness and sportsmanship of the people of the U. S. A. and Great Britain that won the greatest fight of all in Europe. The friendliness that has existed must now be cemented so that it can not cease. Sports will help this cause."

Celery Fed - Bulldog Tilt Tomorrow Night

The Seminole High School Celery Feds will tangle with the De Land Bulldoggs tomorrow night at the high school auditorium, it was announced today.

A preliminary tilt between the Baby Feds and the Bulldoggs is also slated and will get underway at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Durden, coach of the girls, said that a game between the Seminole Sixties and the Winter Park girls was tentatively scheduled, but it was doubtful if the game would be played.

West Says World Scout Work Faces Brilliant Future

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 4. (Special)—World Scouting faces a great future, says Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of America, in a statement for Boy Scout Week, Feb. 8 to 14, marking the 50th anniversary of the movement in America. He is a member of the International Scout Committee which recently met in London and was greeted by King George VI.

Dr. West's statement follows: "Recently it was my privilege to take part in the first meeting of the International Scout Committee that it has been possible to hold six years. We met in London, which was still filled with evidences of the terrible ordeal of war. As a result of the discussions of the members of the International Committee which represent the Boy Scouts of the World, I am confident that world Scouting faces a great future. We have unlimited opportunity before us to help the youth of America and the youth of the world.

"During the war, Scouts gave abundant evidence of the value of their Scout training. Again and again military leaders in this and other countries have stated that former Scouts stood out by reason of their leadership ability, skills and their character. Among the nations of the world there is great respect for Scouting.

"It is now as possible we plan to start again our great world Scout encampments and we are promoting world friendship among the Scouts of the nations vigorously. Our theme for 1946, 'Scouts of the World—Building Together' will encourage us to do this more effectively.

"In the more than seventy Scouting lands throughout the world, we look forward to seeing an increasing number of boys and girls who are growing into citizens who will be men of character, physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

Moral Values 'In Preventing Wars Stressed At Meet

Men's Club Speakers Support UNO And Call For Strong World Police Force

General agreement that a rebirth of moral and spiritual values throughout the entire world is essential to the preservation of peace was voiced by five prominent speakers as well as by those who entered into the discussion from the floor, at a joint meeting of the men's clubs of Sanford's churches held last night at the Episcopal Parish House.

A belief that the United Nations Organization is a step in the right direction, deserves the undivided support of American and world public opinion and should be backed up by a strong international police force, was also generally expressed. Several speakers emphasized the importance of the United States remaining well armed until the peace of the world is fully assured.

Yukon Rescue Ships Hindered By Snowstorm

Coast Guard Cutter Cedar Attempting To Remove More Of Ship's Passengers

SEATTLE, Feb. 5. (AP)—Hampered by a heavy snowstorm, rescuers are trying to remove several hundred passengers from the stricken Yukon, which is grounded on rocks in Johnstone Bay, off the Alaska coast. The Coast Guard cutter Cedar is trying to remove the passengers, and other vessels are standing by to take a turn in the rescue effort.

The Coast Guard says that at least the bow section of the ship was firmly on the rocks. All the survivors are believed to be on that part of the ship. The Coast Guard headquarters at Ketchikan, Alaska, is hopeful that all of the nearly 500 persons who were aboard the vessel will be saved. Rescuers took off 47 women and children last night.

All B-17 flying fortresses equipped with power boats have been ordered by General Dolos Emmons at Anchorage to join the life saving attempt. The Army also has sent a transport plane loaded with doctors and nurses to Seward, 10 miles north of the scene of the disaster. They are to minister to the 47 women and children already taken off the wrecked steamer by the Coast Guard cutter Onondaga. In addition, a specially-equipped first aid team is being rushed from Seward.

So far, the Onondaga is the only rescue vessel known to have reached the wrecked ship, which was bound from Seward to Seattle.

The 47-year-old Yukon struck the rocky shore during a 45-mile-an-hour gale Sunday night. Her 165 crew members were not heard until yesterday morning. The Coast Guard cutter Onondaga got to her around 6:00 o'clock, Eastern time, last night.

The only radio message received from the cutter, so far, does not mention any loss of life. But General Dolos said that the after part of the Yukon had broken off and was rolling starboard. The forward part remained solidly aground. Included among the personnel are 185 officers and men from Fort Richardson, and crew of 125.

Plans To Place NAS On Caretaker Status Revealed

Tentative orders to prepare the Sanford Naval Air Station for caretaker's status starting March 1 have been received, Capt. William Easton, station commander, announced this morning.

During a period of 60 days after March 1, the caretaker status would provide that fire protection be maintained and the maintenance of the grounds and buildings be continued. In addition, he added, the station would be put in readiness to turn over to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation when it is declared surplus at any time between May 1 and Sept. 1. By the middle of the month the station enlisted personnel will have been reduced to 150 men, he announced. All air crewmen shortly will be transferred to other Naval activities.

L. B. Mann Advocates Program To Prevent Glutted Celery Markets

Proposes Creation Of $500,000 Fund To Buy Up Celery And Remove It When Markets Become Congested

Creation of a half million dollar fund with which to buy up celery on a statewide basis and remove it from the market when glutted, and when its price is depressed as at present, was today proposed by L. B. Mann, himself a grower, who advocates a 10-cent assessment on every crate of celery grown in the state as a means of raising the fund.

"I have noticed with regret the celery glut which has been the result of the fact of the resurgence of this glutted condition that happens about four years out of five some time during the year. No one can figure out just what time of the year this will hit. There has never been any plan devised to regulate the planting of it, no more than there has been a plan to regulate the time which it should be harvested. The celery industry of the state of Florida is too great to continue haphazardly or uncoordinatedly and unless there is some way planned we can expect to meet these conditions every year."

Pauley Put His Own Pocketbook Above Public Interest

Says Congressman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Further accusations were hurled today at Edwin W. Pauley, the California oil man whom President Truman has nominated for undersecretary of the Navy. Again, Senator Charles Tobey of New Hampshire attacked the nominee's fitness.

Tobey spoke before the Senate Naval Committee which is considering Pauley's appointment. The committee at the same time voted to strike from its records the names of two former California legislators who had been accused of having worked for Pauley's company.

Representative Cecil King and representative John Evans were the legislators named by John Packard, Los Angeles attorney, in a letter read to the committee yesterday by Senator Tobey. On a motion of Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts, Naval committee chairman, their names were removed from the record. Walsh said the statements concerning them were hearsay evidence.

Meanwhile, another Truman nomination came today before the Senate Banking Committee. The nomination is that of Commodore James K. Vardman, now Mr. Truman's Naval aide, to be a member of the Federal Reserve System Board of Governors. The banking committee voted for a closed inquiry before a subcommittee.
