

Affirmative Action Stands: High Court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court, following up last week's Bakke decision, today let stand a model affirmative action program adopted by American Telephone and Telegraph Co. under pressure from the government.

The justices rejected challenges by three unions to the plan, spelled out in a 1973 consent decree, which was described by a federal judge at the time as the "largest and most impressive civil rights settlement" in U.S. history.

The court acted on this and three other cases involving the use of race or sex in employment, federal contracts and in colleges in the wake of its milestone decision last week on the Allan Bakke "reverse discrimination" case.

In the Bakke case, the court invalidated a medical school special admissions program because it set aside 16 seats out of 100 in each entering class for minorities and thus excluded whites from those seats solely on the basis of race.

The court said race may be one factor in university admissions, thus allowing the bulk of affirmative action programs to stand. But it said race may not be the only factor.

In other actions today, the court: —Ordered the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to re-examine a ruling striking down University of North Carolina student government regulations designed to assure black representation on two important elected bodies at Chapel Hill.

—Agreed to decide whether an individual can sue a university for violating the federal law that bars sex discrimination in federally funded programs.

—Ordered a federal judge in California to re-examine his ruling that the minority "quota" provision in a 1977 federal public works act violated both the civil rights law and the Constitution. The judge had set aside the quota and ordered the contractor to consider whether the case is moot, since most of the funds in question already have been spent.

Cool Burglar Ignores Victim; Finishes Job

A young woman who had been awakened early Saturday morning by a burglar in the hallway of her rural Sanford home, said she was scared, but she just couldn't do anything.

Sharon Perry's sister Debbie Bailey said today. Sharon had been awakened by the family dog who had been sleeping in her room and had gone into the bathroom. When she stepped out of the bathroom, she bumped into a burglar coming out of her parent's bedroom.

The burglar, described as a tall male, was making his second trip from the master bedroom, according to Mrs. Bailey. "We know he had made at least two trips into mom and dad's bedroom, because the stuff he stole was on the floor in the hallway when he was coming out," said Mrs. Bailey.

Items taken from the house included cash and miscellaneous jewelry, valued at $25, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

The burglar covered his face to avoid being identified, according to Sharon. "He shined his flashlight in my face and covered his," recalled Sharon. "I was frightened, scared. It's not everyday you see some big guy coming out of your parent's bedroom at 4:15 in the morning," she said.

Sharon turned in the only direction open to escape and ran into the bedroom where Mrs. Bailey and her two small children were sleeping. The burglar ran into the living room.

Immediately, Sharon locked the door to her sister's room and waited for the man to leave.

"We sat in there until about 6 a.m. We kept hearing noises," said Sharon. The noises stopped just before dawn and the two sisters went into the master bedroom to see if their parents were all right.

"When Sharon came into the bedroom," recalled her sister, "we didn't know if he was gone. She was afraid that mom and dad might have been hurt, but I could hear them breathing through the wall."

Mrs. Bailey did not know it at the time but the burglar had apparently been in her bedroom earlier. Her door had been shut when she had gone to sleep. It was open when Sharon came in. Sharon's door was also open when she awoke. The last thing she had done before going to sleep was close it, she said. —MAX FRALITIAN

Teacher Testing Draws Mixed Reactions Locally

A new bill signed into law by Gov. Reubin Askew is meeting with mixed reaction by those involved in education in Seminole County.

One part of the new law, which takes effect in July, 1980, will require education majors take a test when entering their junior year and then a second test before they are awarded a teaching certificate.

In 1981, the second part of the bill states, teachers must complete a one-year internship to earn their teaching certificate.

The bill came about after 11th graders took the functional literacy test in Florida last fall and 37 percent failed, the pressure began building for teacher testing.

During the internship program the teachers will be working with a provisional teaching certificate.

"I think the best part of the bill is probably the internship section, because I think the internship will make a better teacher," said Theodore (Dan) Dagg, assistant superintendent of instruction for the county school system. Dagg noted the relationship a teacher has with needs to spend as much time in the classroom as possible and needs to get as much guidance from the person they are interning with," Moore said.

Moore added, "I think before you look at the teacher and the job they are doing, there are other things which need to be looked at."

Among the areas he cited were the need for a better relation between school system and parents and smaller class sizes.

Owen McCarron, director of instructional personnel said he thinks the internship program will "give teachers an opportunity to look closer at teaching before they decide if it's the profession for them."

Regarding testing, Dagg added the test could be harmful if "it is too restrictive, good teachers may be prevented from getting into the classroom."

He added that "good teachers don't always rank in the top 10 percent of test results."

Lake Dagg, Moore believes it's the classroom experience which sets the foundation to build a good teacher. "The person hoping to be a teacher students is probably the most important element of teaching and is something which really can't be determined by a test.

"I really think that sometimes we get test happy," Dagg said in referring to the test portion, "but while it's good to have the tests, there are certain things a test just can't determine."

Bill Moore, Seminole Education Association (SEA) president, agrees with Dagg: "Testing is still really young so it is not really that exact just yet."

Moore added that several of the provisions of the bill were discussed by the Council on

Teacher Education (COTE) of which he has been a member since August, 1977. He noted the primary logic the group has been discussing is "competency tests for teachers to see if we could come up with a different method for certifying teachers."

He noted though the group has yet to make any recommendations because "we thought it was just a little too early."

In regard to the internship, Moore said he believes a better idea and one that he had proposed to COTE was that instead of the internship, there be a fifth year of college and also the internship program as proposed in the new bill.

Regarding testing, Dagg added the test could be harmful if "it is too restrictive, good teachers may be prevented from getting into the classroom."

He added that "good teachers don't always rank in the top 10 percent of test results."

Lake Mary resident Colin Keogh is convinced the Seminole County School Board could save as much as $100,000 if it changes its mind on a computer purchase made the week.

The board voted 4-1 to spend about $330,000 over a three-year period to purchase an IBM computer through a lease-purchase arrangement. The lease-purchase agreement calls for the board to spend $1,500.00 a month.

Keogh, 22, contends the board should have sent out more than the four bids it solicited and he is now sending out letters, and the bid specifications to at least six companies throughout the county to see what their bid would have been. Once he receives the responses, and if they are considerably lower, he must will present them to the board in July.

Could School Board Save $100,000 On Computer?

By LEONARD KRANSBORY
 Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary resident Colin Keogh is convinced the Seminole County School Board could save as much as $100,000 if it changes its mind on a computer purchase made the week.

The board voted 4-1 to spend about $330,000 over a three-year period to purchase an IBM computer through a lease-purchase arrangement. The lease-purchase agreement calls for the board to spend $1,500.00 a month.

Keogh, 22, contends the board should have sent out more than the four bids it solicited and he is now sending out letters, and the bid specifications to at least six companies throughout the county to see what their bid would have been. Once he receives the responses, and if they are considerably lower, he must will present them to the board in July.

"I'm going to give what you

can call a professional salespitch and try to get them to change their minds," said Keogh who, works at an electronics store as well as at a local computer company.

Keogh added that if the board does not change its mind, he will sue.

However, Don Coleman, school purchasing agent said

there is no penalty fee, but if the board does change its mind "their (IBM) attorney's could take us to court and we could pay dearly for backing out," Coleman added that the contract does state that the board could stop payment at the end of the fiscal year if there is not enough money available in the next fiscal year's budget.

On the number of bids issued, Coleman noted state law requires only three bids be solicited, "so we went over and beyond the requirement."

On whether the school board can save $100,000, Coleman said, "I really have no idea, and I can't say that there is not one company out there that might have a lower bid than what the board accepted." He added, though, "if I felt we could get a lower bid, I'd be the first one to ask for rejection and a reconsideration."

Another argument used by Keogh is that the specifications allow for only IBM products. In the bid form it says "Model number in the specifications refer to IBM. Equal equipment meeting all conditions and specifications will be acceptable."

Coleman pointed to that statement and noted that even though IBM numbers were used: "all companies are familiar with IBM products and it was our judgment that the companies would know this and know whether their equipment could match the IBM capability."

The purchasing agent also noted: "I'd hate to think of all the work involved if we had to instead sit down and write what was required of each piece of equipment."

Coleman also noted that if some bids are lower, another aspect that has to be considered is the conversion cost of switching from one computer system to another. He cited the primary cost as training the people to operate the equipment.

At Wednesday's school board meeting, Randy Jones, director of data processing said another reason the IBM parts were being recommended was that it was easier to exchange information with other school systems throughout the state which also use the system.

In response Keogh said there are several other companies which, even though they are not IBM, their parts could be switched with IBM products.

"It may be a little difficult but certainly not impossible," he said.

Holiday Death Toll At 11

By United Press International
The traffic death toll around Florida inched upward today as the long Fourth of July weekend went into its third day.

The Florida Highway Patrol reported 11 persons — all adults — dead in traffic accidents between 6 p.m. EDT last Friday and to midnight Sunday.

By the end of the holiday period at midnight Tuesday, the FHP estimated the death toll will total 40.

Five of the deaths reported so far occurred Sunday, three on Saturday and three on last Friday night.

Three persons died early

Sunday morning at the intersection of State Road 44, three miles west of Wildwood, in rural Sumter County when their car crashed broadside into a semitrailer truck.

The auto was dragged nearly 300 feet by the huge rig. Two of who died in the accident were identified by the FHP as Vernon Lawrence Tibene, 28, and Lurinda Harrison Hayes, 25, both of Tampa.

Identity of the third victim, a 25-year-old man, was still pending.

Shortly after dawn Sunday in Jacksonville two men were killed when their vehicle ran out of control and plunged into Hogan's Creek. The driver was identified as 37-year-old Robert Henry Stewart and his passenger was listed as Benny Lee Thomas, 48.

Both were residents of Jacksonville, the FHP said. Two persons killed last Friday night — a man in Miami and a woman in Ocala — also remain unidentified. They were both pedestrians, hit by passing vehicles, the FHP said.

A court by United Press International at 6 a.m. EDT today showed at least 303 persons had been killed in traffic deaths since the holiday weekend began at 6 p.m. local time Friday. The counting period ends at midnight Tuesday.

A breakdown of accidental deaths:

Traffic	303
Drownings	60
Planes	12
Total	375

Texas reported 28 traffic deaths, followed by California with 19; Alabama and Virginia with 14 each; Mississippi and Ohio with 13 each; New York and Missouri with 12 each; Florida, Indiana and Wisconsin with 11 each, and Pennsylvania with 10.

In Deputy's Murder

Sims Set For Court Appearance Today

By MAX ERKILETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Terry Michael Sims, 36, is scheduled to appear in Seminole County Circuit Court at 1:30 p.m. today for a preliminary hearing on charges of first degree murder in connection with the shooting death Dec. 29, 1977 of Deputy George A. Pfeil.

Sims is accused of shooting Pfeil in front of the Village Pharmacy in Longwood, during an armed robbery. Pfeil was on his way into the pharmacy to get a prescription filled when he was shot.

Sims was arrested last week in San Diego, Calif. and transported to Seminole County later Friday night. His first court appearance, in which his preliminary hearing date was set, took place Saturday morning.

Sims is believed to be part of a gang of between 25 and 35 people who have been involved in more than 300 robberies and burglaries in Florida over the past three years.

The robber made off with over $200, according to sheriff's records, and fled in a 1968 or 1969 Ford.

STEREO THEFT
Thieves broke into the apartment of Dana J. Burton,

Semoron North Apartments, south Seminole County, and took a stereo, television and records with a combined value of $3,100 over the weekend.

Thieves also netted a stereo and two interior doors, valued at $500 from a home owned by John Floeth at 106 Longwood Trail, Longwood, late Friday or early Saturday.

Floeth is in the process of moving into the house from another state, according to sheriff's officials.

ENGINE THEFT
A re-built Volkswagen engine, valued at $250 was reported stolen from the front porch of a house at 1404 Lake Ave., late Saturday or early Sunday.

Frances J. Hill, 1877 Pervian Lane, reported a drill and saw taken from his car while it was parked at Charlie's Auto Service, 7801 Aloma Avenue. The equipment was valued at $284.

Firemen Further Cripple Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Striking firefighters successfully blocked sanitation depots today, further crippling city services and officials prepared to ask for an injunction to end the three-day strike.

Union firemen set up pickets at access roads at three of the city's four sanitation outlets by 7 a.m. CDT and leaders of the 2,300-member sanitation workers' union told the garbage men to go home rather than cross the picket lines.

By 7:30, no pickets had arrived at the fourth outlet, but workers made no move to board garbage trucks and make their rounds.

One of more than 225 fires that have occurred during a city firemen's strike raged through a two-block downtown area late Sunday before emergency crews of fire supervisors could bring it under control.

There were no reported injuries from the blaze, which destroyed a wood mending company, an electrical firm and several other smaller businesses in the mid-city neighborhood.

"It's under control," Deputy Chief L.C. Nix, who had been battling blazes across the city for 48 hours, said shortly after midnight CDT. "We're just leaving a few men, mostly military personnel, on the scene to see that it doesn't flare up."

At least two firemen were charged with arson Sunday and a third was charged with aggravated assault after police stopped him for allegedly carrying a container of gasoline in his car Saturday.

Large Aspirin Doses Can Be Taken Safely

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have already read your Health Letter on arthritis and I take 12 aspirin daily which has been recommended for my case. They help a lot and have not upset my stomach. I use the aspirin with buffering. At this rate I expect to take a total of 4,300 aspirin each year or a grand total of 43,000 over the next 10 years. I am 65, in fairly good health except for the arthritis and I have no stomach distress. I am wondering what potential harm this will do to my system. I would like to balance the potential benefits against the potential harm and so far I have only one half of the equation. I have read that aspirin can reduce inflammation and that there are preliminary indications that it might reduce heart problems but it's hard to believe that 4,300 aspirin taken at the rate of 12 daily might not eventually cause problems as well. DEAR READER - Everything is relative. If you happen to have a tendency toward bleeding or develop some other problem along the way, then the sustained use of aspirin might prove to be a problem. However, many arthritics have used aspirin for longer than 10 years without having any adverse effects. The amounts you are taking is not astronomical. Moreover you should give your body credit. It's a biological system that's able to constantly correct the insults it sustains. DEAR READER - If you're taking it well within its tolerance ability to readjust itself on a daily basis for a normal person. There are idiosyncrasies to every medicine and to most of the things we're exposed to in

$2.2 Million Project Set Near Sanford

By LEONARD KRANSDORF
Herald Staff Writer

A $2.2 million project calling for construction of 50 two and three-bedroom villas priced in the low to mid-$40,000 range is planned on 14 acres across from the Mayfair Country Club off State Road 46-A at the west edge of Sanford.

The final plans for the project being built by Shoemaker Construction Co. will be presented at a Sanford planning and zoning commission meeting Thursday night.

If approval is given, A.K. Shoemaker said he will begin construction of model homes within the next couple weeks.

The new development will feature two and three-bedroom residences and will also be built with double garages.

Shoemaker, who has been in business in Sanford since 1967, also is planning 38 single-family homes in the 900,000 to 100,000 price range in the area of State Road 46A and Oregon Avenue.

The planning and zoning commission also will review Shoemaker's plans for this development at its Thursday meeting.

However, even if the approval is received, Shoemaker said he is unsure at this time when the starting date for the $2-acre development will be.

"Right now I'm really not sure because of the current state of the money market. We are unsure of the availability of the money for those who want to buy," he said.

Four Hold Hostages In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — Four gunmen holding the Chilean consul hostage today negotiated with police and the FBI, demanding the cancellation of San Juan's Fourth of July parade and the release of four Puerto Rican nationalists imprisoned in the United States since the 1950s.

BULLETIN

The four gunmen who held the Chilean consul — and what they said were three other hostages — for almost 14 hours surrendered shortly after noon today, FBI spokesman Rod McLargue said.

"The hostages are safe," he said. "Everything has been rounded out."

"Everything is all right," he said. "We are negotiating it is probable that we will reach an agreement in the morning."

The government went ahead with its plans to hold the Puerto Rican parade and FBI spokesman Rod McLargue said, "We have not accepted any of their demands yet."

As for the negotiations, McLargue said, "We think they are going well. As long as we're talking we feel we're making progress. We have an open line to them."

He said the FBI has made the kidnappers "quite a few offers," but he would not specify what they were.

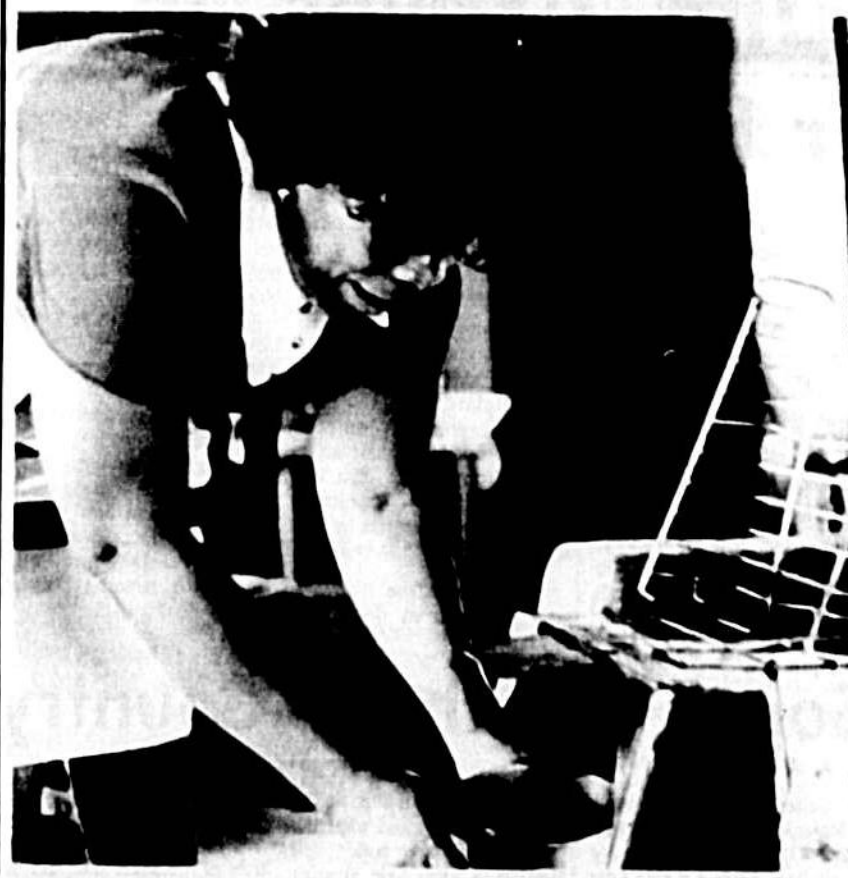

Earlier, an FBI agent said one of the offers was to allow the raiders to hold a news conference.

He said the three men and one woman in the raiding party were all Puerto Ricans and were holding three other people hostage besides Gonzalez Ruiz.

To Keep Electricity

Blind Woman's Plight: A $75 Deposit

MINNIE BYRSE LEANS OVER GAS HEATER

Minnie Byrse is a 68-year-old Sanford woman who has had her share of trouble over the past 22 years, but things apparently aren't getting better just yet.

Miss Byrse has been legally blind in both eyes and lives alone in a red and white wood frame house in Sanford.

Her problem currently? Since April 20 until Monday she was without electricity during which time she cooked on a gas heater because her meager assistance check put her delinquent with the power company after heavy use of an electric heater during the winter months.

Made aware of Miss Byrse's problem by an insurance agent from time to time, Seminole Community Action (SCA) became involved in the case.

Sandra Gaines, a field specialist with SCA, stepped into the picture and managed to get the utility company to restore power for the woman

Monday. But, unless Miss Byrse comes up with a $75 deposit by Friday, the power may be turned off again.

Although SCA is able to help Miss Byrse by paying by Friday the past due bills for electricity, it is unauthorized to pay deposits, which the Florida Power and Light Co. now requires.

"You can't sit and grieve . . ."

SCA is able to pay the electric bill through an energy grant from the federal government.

"We will be paying the bill Friday but the grant specifically says we can't pay things like deposits," Ms. Gaines said today.

Miss Byrse's problem may be slightly lessened, however, Ms. Gaines said the woman can probably pay at least $20 of the necessary deposit, leaving her to raise only $55 by Friday.

Why can't she get the money from welfare, churches or other relief organizations?

According to Ms. Gaines, those agencies are regulated by the same rules as SCA and can issue donations for specific purposes only, and apparently only to other companies or agencies as approved by individuals.

Her $200 monthly disability check has been what Miss Byrse has lived on, but when the winter months were somewhat colder than usual last year, her electricity bill ate into the check, Ms. Gaines said.

Despite the increased bill she didn't get worried but paid off a little at a time.

"The man from the power company would really give me a break because he would allow me to pay him $10 or $15, but after while it kept adding up and I think he thought that I

Property Tax Increase Unlikely In Seminole County

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

If the governmental units in Seminole County want to raise property taxes in this county this year, the elected officials will have to advertise the fact in bold black letters.

The officials will be getting no help under the law from Seminole County Property Appraiser Terry Goemmel to boot taxes.

Goemmel's office, required by law to certify a tax rate for each of the local governmental units, sent the results to the county school board and the cities Monday.

Goemmel's message to Lake Mary was to reduce its taxes by 34 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation, to the county commission that it may raise its taxes by seven cents per $1,000; to the city of Sanford that it can raise its rate by 21 cents; to Altamonte Springs to reduce by seven cents; to Casselberry

The property appraiser said that it can raise the taxes by one cent; to Longwood that it can up the taxes by four cents; to Winter Springs to hold the line and to Oviedo that it can raise the taxes by 13 cents.

The school board, under the law, cannot raise its tax rate above $8 per thousand assessed valuation without losing more state funds than it could gain by a local increase.

The city and county governments can ignore Goemmel's figures, under the law, but that is when the bold black advertisement is necessary to alert constituents and additional public hearings are required.

Goemmel said the certified tax rate is determined, according to law, by a sum that would permit the governmental unit to have the same revenue from property taxes as the previous year, plus additional money for new construction and an amount for increased assessments.

The property appraiser said that it can raise the taxes by area was raised this year to reflect the sale prices of similar and nearby property.

In addition, the law passed by the Legislature reducing taxes on the inventory of some manufacturing facilities from 25 percent to 10 percent and to one percent in other cases went into effect this year, Goemmel said.

Lake Mary with two large manufacturing plants within its boundaries — NCR and Stromberg-Carlson — is going to feel the squeeze on inventory taxes from these sources temporarily with a reduction of more than $5,000 in property tax revenue over last year, Goemmel said.

Actually Lake Mary's taxable value with inventory as it was would have totaled $48,190,000 under the old law. With the new cap on the inventory tax, however, its taxable value, the city's base for the tax purposes, is reduced to $42,311,000.

The city will be reimbursed for that loss by the state at the rate of 95 percent, said Goemmel. The city's revenue from the state to make up for the loss should be $1,350,150.

Meanwhile, Sanford city officials, taking the hunt from the passage of Proposition 13 passed in California to limit the ability of governmental units to levy taxes, announced even before receiving its certified tax rate from Goemmel's office that it would not be increasing taxes.

Goemmel's certified rate for Sanford would have permitted an increase of 21 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation for

Sanford. Goemmel said the property appraisal roll has been forwarded to Harry Cio, executive
