NATION IN BRIEF

Prisoner Exchange Planned

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) - Chile's military government announced today that the International Red Cross has told it the Soviet Union may be willing to study a plan under which Chile would release some of its political prisoners if Cuba and the Soviet Union did likewise. Navy Capt. Claudio Collados, undersecretary at the Chilean foreign ministry, made the announcement at a news conference. Gen. Augusto Pinochet, chief of state of the junta ruling Chile since the military overthrew Marxist President Salvador Allende last year, has offered to release imprisoned Allende supporters here if Russia and Cuba release an equal number of political prisoners.

Cannon On Rockefeller

NEW YORK (AP) - Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, said today he would vote to confirm Nelson A. Rockefeller as vice president if the vote were taken now. "But that certainly is a judgment that could vary based on what I learn in the next two weeks," Cannon said on NBC's "Today" Show. Cannon said he has seen no evidence of dishonesty in Rockefeller's gifts to political associates and friends, or in his role in the 1970 publication of a derogatory book about Arthur Goldberg, who ran against Rockefeller for governor of New York that year.

Exercise Possibly Fatal

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Her sister collapsed and died while jogging earlier this month, but 20-year-old Vicki Penfold had no idea that she, too, may have suffered from a rare genetic disease that could result in death during even light exercise. Vicki began her early morning college exercise class as usual Thursday with some warmups. But suddenly she pitched forward into the arms of a fellow student and died almost instantly. Vicki and her 18-year-old sister, Janet, apparently died of a one-ina-million heart condition - obstructive cardiomyopathy - that strikes members of the same family, according to pathologist Karl Kirschner.

Brooke met with three representatives of the Congress of Racial Equality and said he would work to blend CORE suggestions for Boston desegregation with those of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to "get the best of both plans." He declined to reveal the specifics of the proposal.

Mexican Bishops Cautious

OAXTEPEC, Mexico (AP) -- Bishops of the Episcopal Church reaffirmed their support in principle for ordaining female priests but stipulated that such ordinations must wait until church law is changed. At their annual conference, the bishops rejected a bid to hold a special meeting on the issue next year but approved the subject for the agenda of the next General Convention of the church in 1976 at Minneapolis.

Beef Too Expensive To Raise Or Buy

We've always had a healthy respect for the possibilities of television as an instrument of information and persuasion. The fact that it hasn't always lived up to our expectations is of little consequence; the fact that the possibilities are there is both reassuring and a little frightening.

It is elementary that to see an event makes it more real than to simply read of it. Reading provides the background and the reasons for the event but seeing it makes the immediate impact.

We were struck by the awesome power for good or evil inherit in the tube the other day when a group of ranchers out in the midwest somewhere were photographed killing young cows because it cost more to feed them than they were worth on the

It was a horrifying sight and tended to throw into further confusion just what is going on in the economy these days. Cattlemen are destroying cattle because it costs more to feed them than they'll bring on the market and the man on the street can't buy beef in the supermarket because

Here we're faced with two extremes that, logically, could not co-exist. If the rancher can't make enough money raising beef to support his ranch and the consumer can't afford the beef that does reach the market, where is the money going? Someone is obviously buying low and selling high, but just who it is remains one of those questions

As we watched the animals being destroyed we couldn't help but wonder when reason is going to regain the upper hand in this world. Millions of people are literally starving to death in all corners of the globe yet the world's economy has collapsed to such a degree that the individuals who could help alleviate this tragedy are themselves facing bankruptcy

But to get back to our original point, reading of ranchers slaughtering animals is one thing; seeing the rancher put the gun to the animal's head, pull the trigger and roll the animal into the death pit was a sobering experience. You won't find too many editorial pieces extolling the merits of television, but we've never considered the two (newspapers and television) to be in competition. Television reports are of necessity brief and, as in the instance of the slaughter, designed to catch the viewer's attention, while a newspaper's function is to put the event in perspective and provide the background upon which readers may reach in-

Amtrak's plea for $1.5 billion, most of it to upgrade roadbeds and tracks for the federally financed rail transportation agency, is likely to generate considerable heat in Congress. And a plague of unmet schedules, mechanical failures and operating mishaps has long been a target for congressional

But privious Amtrak appropriations, aimed at reviving rail transit long neglected by the railway companies, have been funneled into orders for high-speed locomotives and cars designed to attract new riders. There is little progress in providing trains that can whiz

Israel Is

Target Of Oil Crisis

In their frantic thirst for oil, the principal nations of the Western world, led by the United States, find themselves caught in a fearful bind The Arab position is the soul of simplicity: The Arab nations want Israel out of the occupied Arab lands. Since Israel's ability to stay in those lands depands entirely on military aid from the United States, the Arabs are putting pressure on us by hiking the price of the oil that we, and more especially Japan and our allies in Europe, need desperately for our sophisticated economies. They have also demonstrated that they are willing, if necessary, to reduce the supply. From the standpoint of the average American weapon, are in effect asking if we really mean it.

politician (or even stateman), this raises a fascinating question: How much inconvenience is this country prepared to endure, and to see its allies endure, in order to maintain its traditional posture of support for Israel? The excitement is provided, not by any complexity of the problem, but simply by the immensity of the juxtaposed pressures. However willing Japan or Western Europe might be to see Israel shrink, or even disappear, it has been common ground among American politicians for a quarter of a century that this country must protect Israel at almost any cost. Now the Arabs, who unquestionably can make life very uncomfortable with their oil MIAMI BEACH (AP - A group of investors headed by Fort Lauderdale developer Martin Berns has signed a contract to purchase the Eden Roc Hotel for $12.7 million, Berns said Thursday.

He added that most of the hotel's rooms would be rented en a long-term "time sharing plan." Berns said this plan would allow guests to rent the same room for a week each year for as long as 40 years. A room that normally rented for $50 a day, for example, would rent for one week a year for 15 years at a cost of $1,200 or a week a year for 40 years at a total cost of $1,800. Bern said companies and individuals who rented rooms under the plan would have to put 30 per cent down and pay the balance over the next two years.

DEAR ABBY Vants No Wheels At Her Wedding ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon. My fiance's favorite brother, who was asked to be our best man, has just undergone his third operation. He will be out of the hospital in time for our wedding, but he'll be in a wheel chair for several months. MY france insists that his brother be in the wedding party, wheelchair or no wheelchair.

Abby, there will be over 500 people at the wedding and reception. I'm having a professional photographer take pictures of the whole thing-even movies-and I just know that wheelchair will ruin everything. Imagine, the best man going down the aisle in a wheelchair! I'm afraid people will laugh. Please don't get me wrong, Abby. I love my future brother-inlaw and am sorry for what he's had to go through, but I think someone else should take his place as best man. Am I wrong for wanting everything to be perfect? DEAR BRIDE: If by "perfect" you mean appearances over the feelings of your fiance and his favorite brother, you are indeed

A best man in a wheelchair (or for that matter, ANY member of the wedding in a wheelchair) is not unique in the annals of wedding ceremonies. And it's not apt to be laughed at. DEAR ABBY: I'm a 13-year-old girl. I'm writing this for my brother (he's 12) and myself because we both have the same problem. It's our father. He refuses to take a vacation. Dad says he can't spare the time. He's in the insurance business and he makes a good living, but what good is the money if he works himself to death? Mom is a housewife. We live in a nice home in the suburbs, have two cars, nice clothes, and my brother and I go to a good camp. Mem and Dad haven't had a vacation together since they've been married. Other families take a vacation every year. All our Art Winners

DEAR POLLY - Thank you so much for the help you give us with our problems. Now I would appreciate knowing how to remove a smudge from my lovely drum top table. I spilled nail polish on its highly polished and waxed surface, immediately wiped it off with tissue and sponged it with cold water but was left with a smudge. DEAR POLLY - Like Mrs.C.B.S. I was once an unimportant cash customer in stores where I shopped all the time. I had to establish credit EVERY time I made a big purchase that I planned to pay for in 60 or 90 days. I finally got smart and esshed charge accounts at the big stores that offer them. Now I buy what I need and charge it. When the bill comes I pay in full (to avoid finance charges) so I am still a cash customer in my own mind plus a valued charge customer and my credit rating is excellent. Of course, this can only work if you keep in mind that you are going to pay in full when the bill comes and are careful not to over-spend just because you have a charge card. It also keeps all but pin money in a checking account and one writes as few checks as possible. - MRS.F.A.L.

DEAR POLLY - Our children put their stereo equipment in an area in the recreation room that the former owners had used as a closet and they wanted a bead curtain to cover the opening. After pricing beads they found their budgets could not stand the cost so they collected small medicine vials from everyone they knew and drilled a hole in the bottom of each one. The plastic vials were then painted, left clear or had designs put on them. Salvaged yarn was then strung through each vial and knots made along the length to hold them in place. These turned out to be very charming "bead" curtains as the vials were carefully alternated according to sizes and lengths and staggered on the various engths of yarn. - MARY ANN

DEAR POLLY - I think it is great to give someone credit for a good idea. My husband is one of those people who is always coming up with a bright idea and an optometrist just told him that his latest is wonderful. He wears plastic rimmed glasses, as so many do, but the bows were always getting white starchy looking places from excess perspiration. We made many trips to the place where the glasses were bought to have these spots removed until he tried rugging taby oil on them. A miracle happened. All the white subbed off and the dark plastic looks just great. Isn't he the in Tullahassee last summer. From left, Mrs. Kay Wolff,

PHOENIX SUNS

beginning of this season when it was discovered that No. 1 draft choice, John Shumate, the All-American from Notre Dame, was suffering from blood clots affecting his left lung. The Suns said the former star of the Fighting Irish would be out of action for an indefinite period of time, with preliminary estimates ranging from six weeks to three months.

The Suns' physical wees, however, began last February, when Charlie Scott, their leader in scoring and assists, suffered a double compound fracture of the left forearm, three inches above the wrist. Metal plates were placed in the arm, and it's unlikely Scott will be ready to play yet for an extended period of FORWARDS: Shumate's ailment dealt a stunning blow to the Suns' opportunity for improvement. With him out indefinitely, Phoenix' front line will closely resemble the one that finished last season, except for the addition of veterans Curtis Perry, from New Orleans, and Dave Stallworth, obtained from Washington. Keith Erickson, acquired from Los Angeles for Connie Hawkins, developed into a reliable performer, averaging nearly 15 points and impressing with his hustle and desire. Mike Bantom overcame some early inconsistencies and settled down to make the All-Rookie team. Corky Calhour remained strictly a defensive player. And Bill Chamberlain made an occasional contribution. Rating: B. CENTER: Neal Walk's scoring and rebounding both fell off last season, and he gave the impression that he wanted out of Phoenix. Subsequently he was traded to New Orleans for Dennis Awtrey, Perry and Nate Hawthorne. In Walk, Coach John MacLeod had a talented, if inconsistent, center. In Awtrey, he has a mediocre one. Rating: C-.

GUARDS: Scott's broken arm left the Suns without an explosive scorer and a steady playmaker. His uncertain return still has them in that same position. MacLeod is brilding up the confidence of youngsters Gary Melchionni, Jim Owens and Nate Hawthorne, but none can come close to matching Scott's contributions. Whoever gets the starting nod at the outset of the season, alongside Dick Van Arsdale, will be counted on for playmaking duties, since that is Van Arsdale's major shortcoming. Otherwise, Dick can shoot, score, play tough defense

PREDICTION: With Shumate and Scott both out indefinitely perform afterward. At present, the Suns' outlook is dim. Fifth in Seminole County Bar Association president Ned Julian Jr. "Will not mourn" the passing of the municipal court system in 1977. "I did not mourn the passing of the peace justice system either," he added. The major objection cited by many in the more than two years from now, is that municipalities will lose revenue.

This is not true, Julian said. Fines levied in the county courts in municipal cases will be returned to the cities.

"I think there is a place in the judicial system for municipal courts if they are operated as courts. But I have opposed in the past and continue to oppose the operation of municipal courts as profit making institutions. To many cities
