

New Instrument Warns Pilots Of Imminent Stall

Flashes Light, Sounds Buzzer; Insurance Cost Will Be Cut

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 26—(AP)—A new aircraft instrument which under all conditions warns a pilot of the approach of a stall, the cause annually of more than half the fatal accidents in private flying, was demonstrated publicly Monday for the first time at La Guardia Field.

The device shines a red light on the instrument board before a pilot and also sounds a buzzer when a stall is imminent, regardless of the type of maneuver being performed. It was developed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority through use of a method proposed by Dr. Leonard W. Greene of New York City, a consulting engineer for Grumman Aircraft.

A stall takes place when the flow of air across the top of a wing becomes turbulent instead of smooth due to pilot error or other causes, and the wings lifting power is destroyed. Involuntary stalls at low altitudes often have been followed by tail spins and chutes which took place before a pilot could regain control.

Several aircraft insurance companies have reduced the cost of crash insurance on aircraft equipped with the new stall warning indicator. It was learned last night. Crop-dusting planes, which must operate at speeds of marginal safety, now can be insured if equipped with the stall warning device.

Unlike previous indicators actuated by variations in air speed, the new instrument is adjusted so that the warning of an impending stall goes off at a point approximately 10 percent above the critical speed at which an aircraft might stall and spin, regardless of the circumstances. In one type of light airplane, for example, it sounds a warning at fifty-four miles an hour to alert the pilot to the probability of a stall arising from a mistake in handling on a straight course.

On the same airplane the indicator sounds at as much as ninety-five miles an hour in a steep turn, should the pilot's actions make a stall imminent. Its stall warning instrument, which weighs less than a pound, is based on the aerodynamic fact that an airplane wing cuts the air so that part passes above the wing and the other part below. Tests have proven that in normal flight this point of division is just below the extreme forward part of the wing's leading edge.

Part of instrument on wing consists of a thin tub of metal protruding from the leading edge of the wing. This is situated in such a way that in normal flight the air flow keeps the tub in a position to make an electric circuit stay open.

As an airplane approaches a stall, the division point of air moves downward below the tub, causing it to flip up and close the electric circuit. When this happens the red light flashes and the buzzer sounds.

Installation of the instrument requires a hole only one and three-eighths inches in the leading edge of either wing and simple wiring. The instrument has been designed so that it cannot be left shut off. It is being manufactured by the Safe Pitch Instrument Corporation of White Plains.

Eve Currie Currently Publishes Newspaper

By TED PARAH

NEW YORK—Eve Currie, chic, dark-haired daughter of the radio crooners of radium, has arrived in America for her first post-war visit with a new feather in her cap. She has become a newspaper publisher in Paris.

Mina Currie, in partnership with Philippe Barre, son of the French author Maurice Barres, has been serving as publisher, editor and sometimes special writer for Paris-Press, an afternoon paper with a circulation of 400,000—second largest in France.

In doing so, she enters a new phase of a career that has seen her in the guises of concert pianist, music critic, play adaptor, lecturer on French problems, war correspondent, member of the Fighting French forces and author of a biography of her famous mother.

"Paris-Press is completely independent," she exclaimed in an interview. "We are not tied to any political party. We have no big bank behind us."

The French press, she said, starts from zero after the liberation.

The old newspapers had been destroyed through collaboration. It was possible to establish a newspaper without needing "an enormous amount of capital." By a cooperative arrangement, publishers became "clients" of the printers' cooperative. They were able to use the old newspaper plants without great financial outlay.

Although there still is governmental licensing and control of press-print, Miss Currie said this is due to scarcity. She believes the controls will vanish with increased supply.

She said, as far as she could observe, the government has not used this power to suppress opinion. "There are papers of all shades of political opinion in France now, completely without censorship. They do not hesitate to say what they like about the government."

Union Leader States Labor Outlook Bright

Trainmen President Feels Prospects For Peaceful Settlements Are Good

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27, (AP)—The President of the Railroad Trainmen, A. F. Whitney, seemed hopeful about labor-management peace when he told newsmen after a conference of railroad union men and industry leaders today that prospects appeared brighter than ever.

Representatives of 22 railway brotherhoods met with the executives of 30 eastern railroads. Whitney would not elaborate on why he thought the outlook for industrial peace seems bright. But he told a newsmen that the conference was bringing about a constructive discussion.

It was Whitney's unions and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that staged the historic nationwide railroad strike last May. Only recently, Whitney said that the issues then never had been settled.

The head of the switchmen, T. C. Cashen, who is also chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association said "We're meeting here in Washington in an effort to illustrate to Congress that labor and management can sit down and discuss their mutual problems without need for congressional guidance." Cashen said wages aren't being discussed.

The president of CIO United Electrical Workers' Union said today that all pending labor legislation is harmful to employees. Albert Fitzgerald also denounced what he called powerful employer interests in testimony before the Senate Labor Committee. He said these so-called interests have been attempting to weaken labor's bargaining power.

Fitzgerald turned a pending Labor bill by Republican Senator Joseph Hall another legislative effort to attack the cards against workers. He said the Minnesota legislator's proposed measure can only result in industrial chaos.

Fitzgerald concluded his prepared statement by saying unions have been labeled communistic ever since they first were organized. But he said the attack against the United Electrical Workers have been particularly heavy. He attributed the so-called labeling of his union to the fact that electrical workers have been able to win better wages.

$4,000 Donated To Local Hospital Fund

Approximately $4,000, or less than one-sixth of the $25,000 set as a goal in the current membership drive of the Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital Association has been received so far, according to A. H. Peterson, chairman of the campaign. He said that if each of the 25,000 people in the County gave but one dollar each, the goal would soon be reached.

"The people who have already given toward the fund have been most generous," he said, "but there have not been enough of them."

Walter M. McWhorter and Francis McWhorter have ordered an organ for the hospital, Mr. Peterson announced.

The colored collector to make a report to the committee and Charles Gibson, foreman for the Florida Ice-Creaming Company, who solicited three donations totaling $229, of which sum, $5 was a personal contribution, said Peterson.

Police Find 17 Year Old Girl Unconscious

LONG BEACH, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—A seventeen-year old girl was found out and bruised last night beneath a railroad underpass near Long Beach. She was unconscious, and wearing only one article of clothing. The girl recovered sufficiently to be taken home from a hospital. Her name is Jacquelyn Mae Stang, daughter of a Long Beach businessman.

According to police, the girl says a man grabbed her as she was walking home from school last night, but that she remembers nothing else. Detectives say they plan to question her further in an effort to get a description of the assailant. It is believed that Miss Stang was tossed out of a car, and then rolled down the embankment from the road.

Men From Byrd Expedition Head For New Zealand

200 Transfer To Mt. Olympus At Sea; Anticipate Leave

ABOARD THE MOUNT OLYMPUS, Feb. 27, (AP)—The Antarctic Task Force Chief, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, today described the Byrd Expedition as a great success, both in discoveries and polar training. As his flagship, the Mount Olympus, started toward home, Admiral Cruce said that Navy personnel on the expedition had obtained a real insight into the problems met in polar regions and in aviation exploration.

ABOARD THE USS MOUNT OLYMPUS, Feb. 27, (AP)—The ice-breaker "Burton Island" made a rendezvous with the Mount Olympus in Antarctica today, bringing back "stranded" air operations in Little America.

Some 200 men were transferred from the ice breaker to the headquarters vessel after an unexpected easy trip through the Ross ice barrier. The crew of the "Burton Island" said that during the three-day run through the barrier, only a few areas were seen where the ice was packed into impenetrable masses. The two ships will sail tonight for Wellington, New Zealand, where everybody will get shore leave. Another ice breaker, "The North Wind" is expected to join the convoy on the way.

Bevin Says Big Four To Discuss Pact To Prevent Aggression

LONDON, Feb. 27, (AP)—A preview of what will be talked about at the forthcoming Moscow conference was given today by British Foreign Secretary Bevin when he said that he and the other ministers of the Big Four will discuss a four-power pact to prevent any new aggression in Europe. The type of treaty, Bevin mentioned would go beyond the American proposal offered last May that the big powers keep Germany demilitarized for 25 years.

Lava From Mt. Etna Is Bypassing Village

ROME, Feb. 27, (AP)—Catania dispatch to the Italian News Agency indicated today that molten lava from Mount Etna may flow by the village of Passaicuro which earlier was believed threatened with destruction. The dispatch said an Italian observation plane from Bari flew over the volcano area today. The pilot said that the flow of lava was cutting off to the left of the village and for the time being, at least, the village appeared to be out of danger.

BRISTOL, Tenn., Feb. 27, (AP)—Three persons are known to have been killed in the explosion of gas tanks at a service station in downtown Bristol today. A fourth person was found to be dead in the wreckage left by the explosion which burned the area and shattered windows in adjacent buildings. The dead were identified as the operator of the station, Frank Robinson, 48, a station employee, Frank Robinson, junior, 25, and a customer, J. B. Smithson of Palm Springs, Va.

Light Display Friday Opens Glider Meet

Planes To Simulate Attack On Airport; Students To Make Parachute Jumps

Mrs. Virginia Bennis, gliding instructor, will speak on the flying feats of Paul Tully, land, celebrated glider pilot, over radio station WDBO on Sunday, at 3:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

A night display of giant five-foot 800,000,000 candle power anti-aircraft search lights will inaugurate the first southeastern states soaring contests Friday evening at the Sanford Municipal Airport where there will be many glider contestants and crews making ships ready for the events Saturday and Sunday.

The giant lights are from Col. D. B. Heron's 916 Base Unit and have a range of 40 miles and by use of colored screens, fiery beams of light can penetrate the sky. Forty millimeter and ninety millimeter anti-aircraft batteries will man their guns. A P-50, the fastest jet fighter plane, and a B-29, the largest bomber are expected to be here on display for the opening preview.

Climaxing the preview will be a night parachute jump by two students of the Sanford School of Aviation, Richard Showell and Eddie Bergida who served in the paratrooper and who have had 468 jumps to their credit. Plans will endeavor to simulate an attack by approaching the field out of range of the search lights. The parajumpers will try to land unspotted and land without being spotted in the light beams.

The public is invited to see these events of the preview from the light deck and to meet contestants who will seek to beat their own records in the soaring events, and hangar talk will be of new world records.

Field lights will be on for the benefit of visiting pilots, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Don Stremmel, ex air navigator, will keep the spectators informed of developments and give them uninitiated in air and glider activity the technical features highlighting the program.

Among the writers who have come here to cover the event is Alexis Dawydoff, technical editor of Air Trails magazine, and he is here in a dual capacity since soaring is one of his favorite pastimes and he will participate in the meet. He is also a director of the Soaring Society under whose sanction the contests are being held. He spoke of the benefits of gliding to recreation, education and sport to the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday.

Mr. Dawydoff lost part of the use of one leg as the result of a crack-up but has never lost interest in gliding. He has praised the efforts of Stephen Bennis, operations manager, and Paul Tuelland, contest director.

National soaring champion John Robinson of Elmira, N. Y., has arrived here also. Mary Waters who placed in the national contest is expected. Fritz Compton, Miami, is another entry and George Tabery of Elmira is here.

Virginia Bennis, wife of Stephen Bennis and holder of the National Woman's Distance Record will be a leading contender, said Mr. Dawydoff. He also predicted success in the meet for Miss Masey Daugherty of Orlando and Miss Milkey Browning of Sanford.

Ships Answer SOS Of Sinking Fishing Boat

NEW YORK, Feb. 27, (AP)—A fishing schooner radioed this morning that she was fighting a losing battle against heavy seas 80 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J. She is the Captain L. Brown and the Coast Guard said the schooner's crew was working knee-deep in water. The water was rising faster than the crew could pump it out.

It is believed the ship had a crew of 15 aboard. The Coast Guard named all ships in the area to go to her aid. The Panama passenger ship Chistobal and movies herself instead of helping others to do it. Her husband in a bird lover, named his content to view the birds.

Mr. Reynolds acquired an intimate knowledge of birds on trips to bird sanctuaries, and on one occasion while carrying films and walking around looking for birds for two photographers in the party to photograph, she slipped and fell up her chin in muddy water and had to be lifted out.

Former Guerrilla Upholds Greeks Claim At Probe

ALBANIA, Yugoslavia Involved In Testimony Of Witness

SALONIKA, GREECE, Feb. 27 (AP)—A Greek who once fought with the Leftist Guerrillas was given a hearing today by the United Nations Commission investigating the Partisan warfare in Greece. This witness said he trained as a general in Yugoslavia, and that he had been on raids into Greece which were staged from Albania.

That is what the Greek government has charged in its complaint to the United Nations. Greece says the guerrillas have been inspired by her neighbors, Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria. But all three nations have denied it.

The witness who testified in support of the Greek charge is Fotios Koutopoulos. He told the UN Commission that he fled from Greece in 1945, and began training in Yugoslavia. Then, the witness said, he took part in several raids on Greek army and guerrilla posts operating out of Albania. Koutopoulos stated that casualties and desertions reduced his band, and that he finally gave himself up.

Teachers Strike In Delaware Is Ended

DOVER, Feb. 27, (AP)—The one-day teachers' strike in Delaware is over and 1,500 teachers went back to their desks today. A state-wide committee has been elected to plan the Delaware teachers' next move. They protested that a wage increase granted them is insufficient.

Half of the teaching force in the state of Delaware went out on a protest holiday yesterday and 25 public schools were forced to close their doors as a result. The teachers were playing hooky from class because they considered a wage increase bill inadequate. About 200 instructors in four high schools in Wilmington started it all and they were joined by several hundred others from outlying districts who staged a motorcade to the Delaware capitol.

While the teachers were away 200 students at the Wilmington high school began a demonstration. The police had to be called out when the youngsters went through the school corridors trying to get other pupils to join them.

The teacher's cavalcade to the capitol was to end up in a mass meeting to protest the salary bill now awaiting the signature of Governor Walter Bacon. The measure provides increases of from $200 to $300. But the local American Federation of Teachers is seeking a flat $1,000 annual wage hike. Other spokesmen said they would support a bill offered by the council for Delaware education which calls for a 20 percent boost.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27, (AP)—A federal grand jury returned an indictment today against Gerhard Kessler, charging him with contempt of the House of Representatives. Kessler has been described as the number one Communist in the United States by various congressional and witness before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The House had voted to have the Justice Department prosecute him for contempt after Kessler refused to testify before the committee.

House Group Probes Soviet Lend Lease

Sub-committee Begins Investigation Of Ships Sent Russia; To Study Letters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27, (AP)—The chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee suspended temporarily today the serving of a subpoena against Secretary of State Marshall which had been ordered by a Merchant Marine subcommittee. Representative Bradley, who heads the full House group called it off at the last minute. He said that Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson had promised him by telephone to appear in his office this afternoon with copies of State Department correspondence with Russia concerning Lend Lease ships.

Originally the issuance of the subpoena was designed to get Marshall before the group tomorrow with the documents concerning that deal. Up to now, the subcommittee had been refused a peek at the correspondence which the State Department had with Moscow on the subject. The group was told that the Russians had been asked to return the vessels and that they apply had been uncooperative.

Bradley in calling off the subpoena told newsmen "General Marshall will be doing other things on his mind more important than this subpoena." He said he was sorry the subcommittee issued the subpoena because Marshall doesn't know anything about the matter.

There was a White House conference today on what Marshall will have to deal with at the Moscow conference. President Truman, diplomatic advisors and congressional leaders were in a huddle for nearly an hour talking about the European problems Marshall faces.

Bradley said he was sorry the subcommittee issued the subpoena because Marshall doesn't know anything about the matter.

Social Agencies Are Concerned Over Rise in U. S. Divorce Rate

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newsfeatures Writer NEW YORK—Saving marriages is today the number one concern of home town social agencies which a few years back were battling poverty as the major community problem.

It's not that there are no more poor, but it is that American's rapidly rising divorce rate has become a public problem. The rate was one divorce for every three marriages in 1946 and this year it is expected to hit two for every five.

Frank J. Hertel, general director of the Family Service Association of America, spearheads 231 coast-to-coast member agencies which are trying to do something constructive about America's troubled family life, mirrored in increased juvenile delinquency of thousands of unhappy men and women.

"Preparation for a successful marriage starts with the mothers and fathers of every couple," Hertel said. "An agency really comes into the picture too late when it tries to do a repair job. Our aim of course is to patch up a marriage, but we also are trying to teach mothers and fathers to bring up their children so that ultimately they will have happy marriages."

Pre-marriage courses have been set up in many communities similar to one in progress for students at Pennsylvania State College, Miami, Fla., is a model where happy families work with social workers treating day-by-day problems of family living and child care. New Orleans and other cities are holding a series of courses—institutes—on all phases of married life and care of children.

And throughout the country marriage counselors are working with individuals and groups, pointing out minor problems or adjusting major ones which can threaten the lives of two people bound, it appears, for worse instead of better. Hertel estimated these cases today constitute about 80 percent of a family agency's work.

In New York, the Community Service Society, one of the member agencies of the P. S. A., is working with individuals—men and women who either appeal voluntarily for help or are sent by a friend, a doctor, a lawyer or (this is increasing) an employer.

One key to happy marriage is the quality of understanding what the concerned individual wants from it. "And another, equally or more important, is the realization that almost always both spouses are to blame for difficulties. Almost all the people who come to us try to blame all their trouble on their mate."

"It is true but it is true that marriage is and must be a two-person relationship and there is rarely incompatibility on the part of one. Usually it is two people who lack understanding and have failed to adjust to each other."

Generally speaking, half a marriage repair job has been accomplished when people appeal for help, the marriage counselor said, for the mere fact of the appeal indicates their eagerness to make a go of it. The other important hurdle is the will to make necessary adjustments and adaptations.

"And it is true that a happy marriage can be made of temperamental opposites," she added, "because one individual should supplement the other, not tear each other down through misunderstanding." Hertel said that although a great percentage of current divorce was caused by a backlog which had been postponed because of the war, another important factor was the huge number of hasty wartime marriages based on short acquaintance and the urgency of the times. Marriage counselors are trying to keep thousands of these off the shoals.

"We must take the long view and the short view of the situation," he said. "First, assist our families in making their adjustments. And second, reach their children through them, because today's children must be the happily married adults of tomorrow."

Legislators Will Study Time Problem in Road Construction

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 27—(AP)—The East Coast Highway Association yesterday endorsed a proposed meeting of state legislators from the 13 East Coast counties. The legislators would consider a legislative program which would assure East Coast business men that road construction work would be scheduled so as not to interfere with tourist travel.

State Senator Walter B. Fraser, of St. Augustine, who proposed the gathering, said that it probably would be held within the next two weeks. In endorsing the proposal, Roy F. Newman, executive director of the association, suggested a study of provisions in North Carolina contracts with the idea of putting them into practice in Florida. He pointed out that North Carolina contracts provide that a contractor may tear up only three miles of highway at a time with no detour except where bridges are being built.

Various Duties Face
U.S. Troops In Japan

By DUANE HENNESSEY
AP Special Features
TOKYO, Feb. 27.—When South Central Japan was rocked by a devastating earthquake last December, occupation authorities had to rout from their beds slumbering Japanese welfare officials who didn't plan to do anything to help the stricken, homeless thousands.

That's a part of the occupation job most Americans at home can't quite picture. Occupation in Japan isn't patrolling with machine guns.
It's trying to get a dazed, beaten, economically-unsound people back on their feet so they can take care of themselves.

Occupation here means seeing that everyone gets enough to eat, that the people enjoy all the freedoms of promised democracy, that the natural resources of the four home islands are explored and used to their utmost in the ways of peace and development. Our experts have combined to show the Japanese the way.

Americans are planning Japan's foreign trade program today. We are telling them how many ships they can have and where they can sail them. We are worrying about their health and sanitation in a way Japan has never known.

Japan hasn't the necessities that will put her back into stride industrially. Furthermore, a lot of her big industries won't work until they are repaired. They fear that their plants would be snatched away for reparations.

When the earthquake struck, the national government showed little interest in the catastrophe. As occupation officials put it, the Japanese have a different philosophy than we do—they were going to "let the local people worry about themselves as they had for centuries past."

"The Tokyo officials figure that the local people would scream to their town governments and then the local governments would scream to the prefectural governor and pretly soon he would scream to the national government," said Col. Crawford P. Sams of Tracy, Calif., public health officer of MacArthur's headquarters. "Then the national gov-age of the wooden stands that collapsed in Pu rdoe University. Fieldhouse was sealed ernment would hope there would be enough delay so it would be all over and nothing would have to be done."

Allied headquarters didn't see it that way. When positive figures showed the tremendous loss of life, the injured, and destroyed homes, Col. Sams' staff routed the national welfare officials out of bed, summoned others back from week-end rest in the country.
The Japanese had no setup for coping with a disaster because they never had such a program in the past. Centralized and co-ordinated effort was something they never had considered.

Japan. They will be replaced by Australians and New Zealanders in accordance with decisions of the Inter-dominion defense conference in London.
American troop strength is being reduced to 92,000.
Unlike Germany, where there are separate Allied zones, the whole operation here is controlled by the Eighth army. The British take their orders from Lt. Gen. Robert L.
Eggenberger in Yokohama. The directives come from the supreme commander.
This is MacArthur's task—but only for Japan and Southern Korea.

Temperature For Month Averages 51

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 27.—(AP)—
The weatherman confirmed today that this month may turn out to be one of Florida's coldest Februaries since 1895.
Forecaster Walter Bennett in Jacksonville said the average temperature so far this month was about 51 degrees. In 1942, the average for the month was 51 and four-tenths degrees. In 1941, it was 51 and two-tenths, and in 1895 the month averaged 47 and six-tenths.
The weather man said that there have been no outstandingly low temperatures this month, but that it has just been constantly cold. He said that the full average could not be given until the month is over.
There is a chance that the weather today and tomorrow may help raise the average. The forecast for the state generally is not quite so cold tonight but otherwise, little change in temperature is expected.

WASHINGTON—Feb. 27 (AP)—
The State Department is trying out a new line of live radio broadcast programs to Russia. The effort to keep the Russians from turning off their radios was discussed by the Assistant Secretary of State William Benton who admitted that his department has a lot

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Bert Solves
the Labor Problem
You hear a lot about capital and labor nowadays, as if the two could never get together. But look at Bert Childers—who has 320 acres of producing land, a fair-sized herd of cattle, and two farm hands working for him.
If you called Bert a "capitalist"
he wouldn't know what you meant, and neither would Spike and Sandy, the hired men. Bert works side by side with both of them; and in the evenings they sit around the fire together—sharing a friendly glass of beer or two.
If anybody has a beef—whether it's about wages or hours or equipment—they talk it over at those friendly evening sessions.
I don't say all labor problems are as simple as Bert's. But from where I sit, the basic principle applies to any farm or factory or business: A principle of confidence and mutual respect, of daily together in a friendly and casual atmosphere.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
 WE ARE OVERHEARD, DO NOT SAY ANYTHING YOU WOULD NOT LIKE ALL THE WORLD TO HEAR: For our conversation is in Heaven.—Phil. 3:20.

Linotype metal is now quoted to us at 20 3/4 cents a pound as compared with 5 cents before the war. They must think we use it for wedding rings.

President Truman wants an early end to the "emergency", and don't we all, but after 15 years of perpetual emergency we don't believe the country would hardly know how to act without one.

We see where American broadcasts to Russia are not being received with any widespread enthusiasm. What a shock it would be to our ego if we should discover that the Russians aren't any more interested, or even as much, in our form of democracy, as we are in their system of communism.

Undersecretary of State Clayton says that henceforth American supplies intended for foreign relief will be clearly labeled "Made in America". Hereafter, such relief has been going to starving Europeans without their even knowing where it was coming from, and often with their governments doing everything possible to conceal the fact that America was sending them help.

American diplomats are rejoicing over the friendly reception of American demands for control of strategic Pacific islands have received in Russia, but are wondering what the quick response will be. Could the Russians be so subtle as to expect that we will support their demands on the Dardanelles, if they support our claims in the Pacific? It will be interesting to see.

Dr. E. C. Nance, president of the University of Tampa, says "there are 40,000,000 Americans who hate or distrust and dislike their fellow Americans because of their race or creed." Forty million Americans are a lot of people. We don't know whether religious bigotry and racial intolerance is as general as that or not, but if so, you may have the answer to some present day problems. Mark Twain was quoted the other day as having said, "There is nothing the matter with the human race... except the human race."

The French Socialist government reveals it will have to import labor from Algeria, Italy and Germany to improve France's crippled manpower situation. Premier Ramadier explains that France lost 800,000 during the war and must have men to take their place if industry is to be revived. But France lost several million during the first World War, never found it necessary to import labor afterward in order to get things done. In the present manpower crisis really caused by the part France played in the war, or by the lack of an incentive to work?

Speaking of the Republican promise to cut taxes 20 percent, G. Hayden recalls a similar promise made by Democrats in 1932. The first time Roosevelt, as President, his chief criticism of the Hoover administration had been its extravagance, and he promised to cut government expenses by 25 percent. The Democratic platform of that year contained similar promises. It is hard to remember. The Democrats...

Faith In The UN

A tall, quiet grey-haired woman is going about the country reporting and interpreting the work of the UN. She is Miss Mabel Head, representative of the United Council of Church Women, 10,000,000 strong, at UN meetings in New York.

From a life-long experience in welfare work that has included both Y.W.C.A. and peace organizations programs, she brings calm authority to her summaries. She says:

"We must not become impatient with the UN Security Council. Questions which if kept secret might have resulted in war have found a chance for public utterance in the Council. Never in history have little nations had the opportunity they now have of appealing to the conscience of the whole world. There are many obstacles, but the delegates realize some way to peace must be found. This keeps them working."

Many delegates, she reports, have said that "as long as the United States keeps up hope, we can keep up ours."

It is easy to view UN deliberations as discouragingly slow. People like Representative Head, aware of the complexities involved, recognize that it does make progress. Americans need to hear often from UN emissaries who can make plain what is being accomplished.

Honor Well Deserved

Louis D. Brandeis is to have a university named after him. American Jews have raised money to open Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., on the grounds and in the buildings of the inactive Middlesex University. They wish to honor a great Jew and a greater American.

The service of Brandeis on the Supreme Court from 1916 to 1939 added luster to a bench of illustrious history. The phrase often heard in decisions, "Brandeis and Holmes dissenting," was a danger-signal to the "rest of the court, apparently bent for a time on courses that hampered the United States and threatened the court itself. Brandeis lived to see the court turn and follow in his footsteps.

The fury which his appointment by President Wilson aroused is now almost unbelievable, even by those who remember how many slippery schemes Brandeis blocked. Then, almost every former president of the American Bar Association protested. So did the president of Brandeis' own university, Harvard. So did ex-President Taft, who later sat on the same bench with Brandeis. There he had the honesty to say: "Mr. Brandeis, I once did you a great injustice. I am very sorry."

Finally this spite and venom died away. Brandeis became an honored figure, an admirable model not only for students of the new university, but for all Americans.

Lent

Until Easter Sunday, which this year is April 6, a great body of Christians, Catholics and Protestants alike, are observing Lent. The word itself, whose root appears in many tongues including Old English, Dutch and German, originally meant "long," and eventually spring, since the days grow longer at this time of year.

For centuries Lent has been a fast period observed with varying strictness at different periods of history and by differing religious groups. Many of the ancients fasted literally from ten-day to three-week stretches, frequently 40 hours between Good Friday and Easter morn.

It is common today for even the not-too-religious minded to "give up something" for Lent, usually some well-liked food or habit. People abstain from candy, from liquor, from smoking. Lent so practiced brings much more even than the spiritual strengthening of such procedure. It makes for self-disciplines which are good for the mind, and for abstinences which benefit the body, too.

Lent, which means spring, can be a rich and refreshing experience whatever one's religious convictions may be.

WASHINGTON LETTER
 By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Harry Wardman came to Washington from England in 1905. Instead of starting his fabulous career as a builder on a shoestring, he started it on a bicycle—his carpenter's tools strapped to the handlebars.

Though he died penniless in 1938, Wardman was credited at one time with housing one-tenth of Washington's population. He built hotels, apartment houses and many private dwellings.

Chief among these is the Wardman Park hotel, today the home of many of the capital's big wigs, from Supreme Court Justices, cabinet members, diplomats and on down.

Wardman hadn't been in town long when he heard that a tailor named Henry Burgin was planning to build a house. He offered him a low bid, was commissioned to do the job. Burgin was so impressed he offered to back him financially.

Things went very well for Wardman. Though building slowed down during World War I, he built the Wardman Park. It was so big and so rambling, and so far out—for those days—it was called "Wardman's folly."

The Wardman Park was built on 16 acres of landscaped grounds, with 1,800 rooms. In addition, Wardman built riding stables, tennis courts, a huge outdoor swimming pool and playground, for which a nurse was supplied for practically every child. Guests were required to wear formal attire when in the hotel's restaurants.

Wardman lost the hotel during the depression. The corporation which took over appointed George Allen, recently resigned RFG chairman, to manage it.

Allen says that at one time there were only eight guests at the hotel. One got "uppy" with the doorman. The latter saw red, got a gun and shot him dead. He was the only paying guest of the night.

What makes the Wardman Park famous today is its guest list. Passing through its lobbies and corridors almost any day or night, one sees many of the great and near great of the nation.

Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Mrs. Hull have an apartment there. Other guests include: Chief Justice and Mrs. Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, Mrs. Snyder and Drucilla, the Secretary of Labor, Mrs. Roosevelt, the present president of the Senate and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg, the Irish minister, author, Temple Bailey and Princess Burghedita of Bar Harbor, Me.

Not to mention the Lodge of Massachusetts and Connecticut—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Rep. John Lodge, with their wives and children, and their mother, Mrs. George Davis Lodge. Each family has a separate apartment, as does the mother.

A NEW "executive-type" desk has a business and a play side. This rebuts that old saw about not mixing business with pleasure.

Speaking of "mixing"—the desk has compartments for bottles, glasses, ice trays and other mixings.

The corporation even contains a combination desk safe in which the executives may store his money if he has any left after paying all the desk mixings.

By the way, the desk is made of the finest materials and is guaranteed to last for a long time.

Inside WASHINGTON

Congress Really Streamlined? Numerous Committee Meetings Harried Newsmen Have Doubt Keep Reporters on the Double

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—After six weeks of the streamlined Congress, Capitol Hill observers are debating how much to really streamline. On the critical side, harried newsmen are finding that they have more committee hearings to cover than ever. They are wondering if the new high-powered committee staffs are not the reason—showing more speed than usual in arranging committee hearings.

Thus, some say, committee work is not reduced—it is only redistributed. On the other side of the ledger, there seems to be a saving of legislative manpower—fewer lawmakers conduct subcommittee hearings.

Some complain that the effort to provide better talent in offices and committees to ease the legislators' task is not paying off. "Professional" committee aides, especially, are asserting that patronage is dictating many appointments.

The truth would be hard to find. It is true that many "politicians" are getting those jobs; but it is also true that when a "politician" handles a legislative "political" problem, he can devote his attention to what is supposed to be his major job—framing the nation's laws.

Many legislators really are picking able research men to help them—and in general, the high powering of staffs is noticeable.

THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT'S decision to support the prices of turkeys is expected to cost the government approximately 28 million dollars before the program expires next June 30. Officials admit that the government may have to buy ten million pounds of turkeys at 27.9 cents a pound to bring the national price to levels reflecting 90 per cent of parity.

The government also will pay out some 80 million dollars this year to support potato prices.

All told, the various support-price programs are expected to cost around 330 million dollars.

The major fight has been on the decision to support egg prices. Some larger producers bitterly oppose the government's program but it is favored by small producers.

WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATOR ROBERT M. LITTLEJOHN, who sold the Big and Little Inch pipelines for only $2,500,000 less than they cost the government, took a chance that paid off.

He rejected the original 16 bids as too low; called for new ones. He now confesses that if the second batch had been less favorable than those rejected "I fully expected the president to fire me."

Littlejohn, a former major general, says his decision to turn down the first bids in the hope of doing better was similar to a decision he had to make during the "Battle of the Bulge." "If you're wrong, you're out."

A hitch still may develop. The Justice department could quash the sale to the Texas Eastern Transmission corporation or the Federal Power Commission could refuse to grant it a certificate of necessity and convenience.

SENATOR JOSEPH MCCARTHY (R) of Wisconsin, winner in the GOP primary over former Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., was a Marine tail-gunner in the war, but he claims he was not such a marksman.

McCarthy recalls that at one time the men in his company awarded him a "plaque" for destroying "more coconut trees than anyone else in the Cocosmoo South Pacific."

The senator says that when he was called to receive the "plaque," he was served with a formal "summons and complaint" by a big soap manufacturing concern which owned many of the coco palms in those parts.

However, McCarthy's commanding officer, Maj. Gen. E. R. Harmon, has this to say of him: "His initiative and good judgment, determination and diligence have made him an unusually useful member of the section in which he served and his unflinching good nature and ready wit made him well-liked and respected by his associates."

High Travel Costs For State Officials Revealed In Report

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 27—(AP)—Travel pay for Florida's officials and state employees ran over two and a third million dollars during the last fiscal year. Comptroller Clarence Gay's annual payroll report shows that $2,348,701 were paid out for travel expenses.

The state officials and employees received this amount in addition to the grand total of $18,256,490 in salaries and wages paid to those who traveled.

The Department of Agriculture had the highest travel costs. With its far-flung inspection system, the agricultural agency ran up a bill of nearly $500,000, but the largest single travel expense account listed in the report was to D. H. Mays, Jr., a bank and small loan examiner in the Comptroller's office. He spent nearly $7,000 traveling during the last fiscal year.

Dorothy Hickson Is Wed To K. L. Hittell

In a lovely candlelight ceremony Dorothy Hickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Butler Hickson, became the bride of Kenneth Langley Hittell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hittell of Lake Monroe, on Friday at 7:00 o'clock in the Church of God with the Rev. Paul Yates officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, gladioluses, narcissus and fern. Branches of candelabra held burning white tapers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Leroy Hickson, wore a light gray wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and orange blossoms. She had as her only attendant, Mrs. A. D. Laney, who served as the matron-of-honor. Mrs. Laney wore a blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom chose as his best man, Mr. Laney.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip and are at present making their home with Mr. Hittell's parents in Lake Monroe.

DOUBLE PETUNIA
MRS. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

Prize-Winning Flowers for '47
By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

THE PETUNIA, always a popular garden annual, has now become the Cinderella of 1947 gardens. The newer varieties are so glamorous that they seem almost another flower from the simple, single petunia of former years.

Two double petunias were prize winners in the 1947 All-American Selections. One, the double petunia, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, received a silver medal. This beauty is shown in the accompanying Garden Graph.

Rose Marie, another double petunia, won a bronze medal. Its flowers are three inches across and are rose-pink, veined a deeper rose toward the center.

The two petunias are quite similar. Both have fully double flowers. Both bloom freely from early summer until killing frosts. Plants are 16 to 18 inches high.

More Cosmetics Are Used By Britishers

LONDON—British women are using more cosmetics than ever before and L. J. Matcham, chairman of the Toilet Preparations and Perfumery Manufacturers' Federation of Great Britain, estimates that the demand is at least twice what it was in 1939.

Leading British manufacturer thinks that the number of women interested in aids to beauty actually has multiplied by four. The war is given as the reason. Miss Mary Foster, beauty advisor, said: "The lipstick became a great morale booster to women during the war. When they felt miserable and tired, 'well decorated' faces made them feel much better. Now they have got used to make-up they won't give it up. The range of cosmetics has greatly increased. It now includes young people and quite elderly women, too."

Manufacturers are working with 75 percent of their average pre-war raw materials, for the home market, with an additional "bonus" for good export sales.

But, as the manager of another leading company pointed out, the more expensive lines—the bath oils, salts, creams, nail varnish and perfume—are still not being manufactured. The actual production of basic cosmetics, face powder and lipstick is, therefore, greater than it was before the war.

Irish Linens To Arrive In America
By CATHRYN ANN CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures—Irish linens are going about this summer to land dollars for Britain.

Pastel tints and bright prints in tailored dresses, suits and play clothes are the lure for smart shoppers. Design follows the latest creations of the haute couture.

British women may wear some of the offerings—water and clothing coupons permitting—but a joint showing by 31 British houses in London made it clear that it is hard currency in the export trade these creations for collectors are after.

Emphasis is on suits and dresses. Silken lapels and pockets set off the pastel two-piece suit. Flaring sleeves display moiré embroidery. Suit pockets are extra long. Latest pockets emphasize hips. Narrow set-in waists are accented by belts.

Skirts are longer, narrower, frequently slim, straight and slit at the side. Often they show a front kick pleat and plain back. Buttons are the ornamental devices on all suits.

Tailored on simple lines, sport dresses have pin-tucks, box pleats and V-necks. Designed for comfort they retain pleated fullness and adopt cap sleeves or broadened shoulders.

Afternoon dresses are softly tailored. They have narrow, square necks and flaring skirts with unpressed pleats. Some striking black prints such as the "Paddy O' Kelly" design are based on Irish folklore.

Tailored houses of fine lines have either long or short sleeves. The ordinary is a "tunic" blouse. High-necked, long-sleeved with a line of bright buttons at the shoulder, cuff and hem. It is set off by a matching sash tied in a huge bow.

Apparently inspired by a recent Regency revival, one blouse shows full sleeves, long cuffs and a high neck adorned with a wide row of collar and cuff sets, interlocked and adorned with bows.

Beachwear—"little boy" shorts, playsuits, captees, slacks, and short jackets—capture a sunny atmosphere. Bright ensembles in stripes

Seventeenth Annual "Animated Magazine" Presented By Santord Woman's Club

A brilliant program of speakers and entertainment was presented on the seventeenth annual Animated Magazine given at the Woman's Club on Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock as a regular feature of the art division of the Fine Arts Department of the club. The pages of the magazine brought to the display of speakers, dances and pictures.

The large club room was beautifully decorated with palms and greenery and around the room were placed George Washington family pictures. In two opposite corners were long tea tables overlaid with white lace cloths. Graceful arrangements of Farnese vases centered each table flanked with white plates in silver holders and at the ends were silver tea services. Silver and crystal trays held canapés and salted nuts. At one end of the stage was the magazine, whose cover was a beautiful painting of the bandaged by Mrs. W. M. Scott, from which the program was read.

Mrs. H. J. Lehman, the acting editor of the magazine, opened the meeting by dedicating the program to Mrs. E. D. Browner, who is the originator of the magazine in the club. She also announced that she was serving as acting editor in the place of Mrs. H. W. Rucker who is ill. Associate editors were Mrs. Browner, Mrs. B. C. Moore, Mrs. Fred T. Williams and Mrs. C. R. Dawson.

Following her dedication Mrs. Lehman introduced Rev. Marshall C. Deady, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Orlando, whose subject for the afternoon was "God's Ong World." He told the group that there is a basic kinship between all men even though their thoughts and actions may be different. He said that fundamental needs such as food, drink and air are all the same and that emotionally and physically men are alike. He insisted that man needs a supreme being such as God and that when this kinship is realized all races can live together in peace.

The music portion of the program was presented by the Music Department of Stetson University. Two solos, "Prelude" and "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" were sung by Miss Ruth Richardson accompanied by Miss Eleanor Platt. The music was under the direction of Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. Williams was in charge of the art division. Pictures of George Washington and his family and early American life were shown and Mrs. Williams gave an outline of the life of Washington. She said that he is thought of only as a general and a great man, but she has found upon research that he was jolly and very human. According to Mrs. Williams, at 14 he went on a merchant ship but because of his mother's grief he gave it up and followed his civil engineering talent.

At the conclusion of her talk she and constructing colors were used for a blazing July.

Little girls will get tiny doll dresses in stripes and add polka-dotted with ruffles. Party dresses for youngsters are in princess style touched with embroidery.

SUGAR BONUS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—(AP)—The government announced yesterday that its long-promised sugar bonus for home and industrial users will come through on April 1. Industrial rations for April, May and June will go up 10 to 20 percent and housewives will get 10 instead of five pounds of sugar for whatever stamp is valid at that time.

Travel was the subject for the next section of the magazine. Walter O. Bergh was the speaker with his subject being "Africa." Mr. Bergh was stationed with the Army in Oran, Algeria for a number of months and said that the city is very large and modern. He told of the customs and habits of Africa and a woman's place in society in Africa. He told of his friendship with two Arabian families and of how fine the people are.

Frank Shames, speaking on the subject of "The Palestine Problem," declared that in all the world there is only one country that restricts Jewish immigration and Jewish buying of land and that country is Palestine, a country that has been set aside for Jews. He related the history of Palestine and spoke of the sum of $170,000,000 that is being raised for the oppressed Jews of Europe and the buying of land for them in Palestine. He pointed out that it is the reactionary Arab leaders that are plotting against the Jews in Palestine. Mr. Shames concluded his talk by saying that he advocates a Palestine free from English domination and urged everyone to work for the freedom of Palestine.

Mrs. Edward Kircher spoke in behalf of the Milk Fund which is sponsored by the Milk Clubs. As the following dance numbers were presented, "Hawaiian Hula" by Gretchen Kircher and "Mexican Cymbal Dance" executed by Jackie McDonald and Ann Whitaker.

Concluding the program a fashion show was presented by the Hollywood Shops and the Yowell Company. The Hollywood section featured clothes for children and each model was introduced by Mrs. Frank Shames. Mrs. W. G. Fleming introduced the Yowell fashions, which was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. George McCall. Those taking part in the show were Patricia Tooker, Betty Ann Munson, Sandra Estridge, Gail Billing, Stewart and Charles Campbell, Kay Ivey, Harry Rabson, Jr., Reggie Johnson and Gladys Knudsen. Miss Shirley Forehand, Mrs. Barbara Sumner, Mrs. George Herdick, Mrs. George Stine, Mrs. Andrew Caraway and Mrs. Bradford Byrd.

Tea was served to the members and guests with the following hostesses: Mrs. William Schabel, Mrs. Roy Ellis, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Lou Hutton, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. John Eck, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. B. B. Beck. Those presiding at the tea services were Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Mrs. O. P. Herndon and Mrs. S. D. Higley.

Users were Mrs. John Couler, Mrs. Bradley Dillman, Mrs. Jack Russell and Mrs. Wood Elbert.

Evangeline Players Denied New Contract

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The executive committee of the National Association of Professional Baseball Players has denied the appeal for reinstatement of two Evangeline League players.

The players are W. C. Thomas and Leonard Pecun of the Humma club. They had been declared ineligible because of what was termed conduct detrimental to baseball. The ruling was made today by the former Minor League Commissioner, Judge William Brannan, following an investigation of alleged gambling activities in 1946.

The executive committee unanimously decided to uphold the ruling of Brannan, who recently retired as minor league chief.

Chft McNeely Will Likely Cinch Race

The Texas Wesleyan scoring ace, Chft McNeely, looks like a cinch to win the collegiate basketball individual scoring race this season.

McNeely now is credited with 630 points in 27 games, 116 points more than his nearest competitor, Jim Lacy of Ball State, who has scored 520 points in 26 contests. McNeely also has the best average among the leading scorers, with 23 and one-half points per game.

Pirate Officials Hope To Make Hard Road For '47 Foe

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Working for club owners who are free with their check books has made a big change in the personnel of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Last year, the Pittsburgh club, 60th with strike, finished seventh. This year, the influx of money being spent freely by the new owners has resulted in one of the peppiest camps on the spring training circuit.

Typical of the new spirit in the club is the fact that a half-dozen bulky players showed up at camp one week before scheduled in order to work off excess pounds.

Freshman manager Billy Herman has limited his comment on the Pirates chances to the simple statement: "We'll be a lot better than last year." Other club officials say that if the club can come up with a winning pitcher and a heavy-hitting centerfielder, the Pirates will make it tough for any club in the league.

Donna's Ace Shows Definite Threat In '47 Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla.—Feb. 27.—Since going into horse-racing in earnest a few seasons back, a rather large group of Floridians has been dreaming of the day when a Florida-bred performer would land in the winner's circle in some stake of national importance.

Come Saturday at Hialeah and the running of the $200,000 Flamingo Stakes for 3-year-olds and the theme song of these same Floridians will be: "I'll Buy That Dream."

For they have a distinct contender in Donna's Ace, owned by Mrs. Tilson Christopher of Miami. True Donna's Ace will not be the favorite against such horses as Bullet Proof, Fastlane, Hekelater, Hrabonson and Wile Wine, but there are a lot of folks who think he may be in front of a good number of these rivals at the final line.

Donna's Ace already has been successful in a stake, the first Florida-bred to gain such a distinction. He was first home in the Ponce de Leon Handicap at Tropical Park to write his name indelibly into the record books as the first Florida-bred stake winner.

As son of Donna Louisa, Donna's Ace was foaled at Mrs. Christopher's farm in Dade County where his sire was a hard-hitting sort of a performer during six seasons of campaigning, winning no less than 24 of 114 races, including the Governor's Handicap at Suffolk Downs on one occasion.

Donna's Ace traces back to an interesting background for Sammie Lee O'War, out of Thred, a daughter of Danabara. On his dam's side, Donna Louisa was by Dan Lee, a son of Lee O. Goring, while Myrtle Belle, her dam, was by Tea Caddy.

After his Tropical Park stake success, which incidentally was his fourth of 1946, Donna's Ace was given a freshening up and in his most recent appearance at Hialeah, finished third in the Everglades Stakes behind Hekelater and Michael B.

He was right in the race all during the early stages of the Everglades, being only in the final yards as Hekelater drops up to win. That effort is expected to have put him on the edge for the Flamingo and any improvement promises to make him the aptest of contenders.

Orange Juice Better Than Vitamin Pills

LAKELAND, Feb. 27.—(Special)—Orange juice, cod liver oil and the sun's beneficial rays are better than vitamin pills and "shots" in treatment of most persons suffering from nutrition deficiencies, the Army's wartime nutrition director believes.

Dr. John Harley Youmans, dean of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, who during the war was director of the nutrition division in the preventive medicine service of the Army surgeon general's office, told a group of doctors in Washington, D. C., recently that greater attention should be given to preventive measures and simple remedies in treating nutrition cases.

A Washington Evening Star reported that Dr. Youmans stressed the importance of a doctor training his patients to develop proper eating habits as a guard against recurrence of vitamin deficiencies, rather than seeking merely to provide temporary relief through use of concentrated vitamin prescriptions in intravenous injections.

Record Non-Stop Flight Is Made From Honolulu

Army Fighter Plane Takes Less Than 15 Hours For Trip

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Army's "Betty Jo" landed at La Guardia Field today after making a record, non-stop flight from Honolulu.

The twin-engine fighter departed out of a blue sky over the field at 11:06 A. M. after flying 4,978 miles in approximately 14 hours and 31 minutes. Emergency equipment lined the runway at the big airport in preparation for an emergency landing, but the pilot came in smoothly and set the plane down perfectly.

The pilot was Lieut. Col. Robert Thacker of El Centro, Calif., and the co-pilot was Lie John Ard of Inglewood, Calif. The two were victorious in a daring flight against 65-mile an hour headwinds over Pennsylvania and dangerously low fuel tanks.

The airman radioed when over Pennsylvania that they were going to take a shot at New York. From then on aviation and Army officials had to sweat it out and airports along the route were alerted. At small ports in Ohio and Pennsylvania men gazed tensely into the sky, momentarily expecting the flight to end in their own fields, but Col. Thacker pushed his P-52 onward.

When the plane taxied to a halt at La Guardia, the Colonel was greeted by his wife, Betty Jo, for whom the plane was named.
