Lake Monroe Jottings

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON
Who said we haven't had much rain? It still is needed though so we won't kick about it. * * * Chris Errett and son, Paul, who occupy the Marrs cottage while Larry is doing service with the Navy, were called to Kansas because of the illness of Larry's mother. Larry was with his mother for a short time but had to return to ship duty so Chris will remain with his mother. * * * Rev. Rudolph Tytt will occupy the pulpit of the Upsala Community Presbyterian Church, during July while the regular pastor, Rev. John Pilley and his family are on vacation visiting relatives in the north. * * * Speaking of visiting, Daisy and Ed Dowell have had Ed's sister, Mrs. G. F. Young and daughter, Sara and her fiancé, Jim Blizard of Winston Salem, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. Garland Kepley and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Alford Younts and daughter, Joyce, Brenda Decker and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gilley and son, Pee Wee, of Lexington, N. C. This week Daisy's son, J. Don Kepley, and his friend, L. C. New, are here with them. They are also from Lexington. Daisy is a wonderful hostess so I know they had a wonderful time while here. * * * Congratulations to Billy Price and Jaunita Johnson on their marriage Friday evening. Billy is a former Monroe boy and is the grandson of the L. L. Kellers. * * * Mrs. Eddie Grow of Miami has been here visiting her mother, Mrs. C. R. Giles. * * * So sorry the Lucille Fitzgerald will be unable to go with us to Gainesville the next week. Her mother is here with her so Louise Rushlow will go in her place. * * * Was talking to Claude Hittell the other day and I asked him if it wasn't his vacation time. He said yes and I asked where he and his family were going and he said to Monroe. Maybe he has the best place after all for a vacation and it's for free. * * * A former Monroe girl, Gini Taylor, is an engaged gal. Gini, who now resides in Lake Mary, is happily counting off the calendar days until July 22 when she will marry Carl Stubbings also of Lake Mary. The best to you, Gini and Carl. * * * I sure hope everyone had a very safe 4th of July. I stayed home. I guess I am just a little bit afraid to get out on the highway on a big holiday as this. * * * Had a cute post card yesterday from Linda Stapler. She is in Galatinburg, Tenn., "having fun but misses everyone at home." She is the cutest gal. * * * The George Poffa have guests this week. Mr. Poffa's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Riddle of Bluefield, W. Va. They are trying to talk the Poffas into going back with them for a visit. It really would do them a lot of good to go. Take the hint Rose. * * * Jim Hawkins and new bride, Shirley, are here from Frederick, Md., on a short visit with Jim's parents, the Vic Hawkins. Jim and Shirley were guests of honor at a get-together of high school chums at the home of Marcia and Bobby Carters on Monday evening. Don't you know they had a really swell time talking over a really swell time talking over a really swell time of a few years ago? * * * Glad that Mrs. Bob Carroll's mother is improving after being hit by lightning last week at her home. Constable Carroll said the burns were severe. That must have been an awful experience. * * * Well I will be in Gainesville next week having a "learning" good time at the University of Florida, so will see you in two weeks.

Seminole 4-H'ers Plan Annual Camp

Seminole and Volusia 4-H boys and girls will attend the annual week at camp from July 17 through July 22.
The Seminole group will assemble at the County Court House in Sanford by 8:30 a. m. on July 17 in order that the bus may be boarded and ready to leave by 9 a. m.

The week will be spent at Camp McQuarris which is located in the Ocala National Forest about 50 miles from Sanford. Owned and under the direction of the University of Florida, it is the center of many 4-H activities for club members of the entire state.

Competition in camping is keen among the youthful groups for daily checks are made by directors of each cabin for neatness and cleanliness and the one meeting all requirements gets a banner for the day.

Planned and directed activities include swimming, special educational classes for morning and afternoon and periods of recreation spaced throughout the day. During the evening hours, such events as talent shows, musical entertainments and square dancing are scheduled.

Three good meals are furnished each day and the camp canteen is open however the amount of goodies each child may buy is limited.

Home Demonstration Agent Miss Myrtle Wilson and County Agent Cecil Tucker have mailed instructive letters to all club members who are eligible to attend the 1961 camp. The agents specify that enclosed release blanks, signed by parents or guardians, be returned to their offices by Monday since arrange-

Monday Practice

By AUBREY JOHNSON
Weekly practice sessions are being held each Monday by the Geneva Community Band in preparation for the dedication of the community's new Post Office at the exact date of the event has not been announced.

Schools are held at 7:30 p. m. each week in the Geneva Community Hall.

Oviedo Family Busy Reading Summer Mail

By MARIAN R. JONES
Everyone in the T. W. Lawton family seems to be on a summer tour somewhere but Mom and Dad!

Our good friends and neighbors, Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Lawton, are busily engaged in reading mail from all parts of the world from their vacationing children.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Mikosell (Charlotte Lawton) and daughters, Marilyn and Marcia, are enjoying a two months tour of Europe, planning to return home by August.

During their tour they have seen the crown jewels and have visited the tower of London. Before returning home, they will visit with friends in Northern Ireland and while in Germany they will visit with the girl who is to be an exchange student here next term and who will live in their home.

The Lawton's son, Dean James Lawton of Pennington School For Boys in Pennington, N. J., also is touring the continent and has been invited for personally conducted sight-seeing tours in Cairo and Rome, homes of two of his students.

Miss Betsy Ann Carter, granddaughter of Mrs. W. F. Carter of Oviedo and a niece of the Lawtons also is on the same tour. Betsy Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carter of Sanford. And Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Lawton Jr. and sons, Billy and Tommy, of Orlando, are traveling west by plane, train and rented car. Imagine Tommy being old enough to do the driving when the rented car is used!

Their plans include visits to sights of interest in Chicago, Salt Lake City, Denver, San Diego, Mexico, Arkansas, New Mexico, Wyoming, San Francisco and Idaho Falls.

Imagine the wonderful things all members of the family will have to tell each other when a reunion comes around again. . . probably at Christmas time.

Hobby Craft Club Meets Wednesday

Due to the July 4 holiday, members of the Chuluota Hobby Craft Club postponed this month's regular meeting and pot luck dinner, usually held the first Wednesday of each month, until July 12.

Next Wednesday's meeting is to be with Mrs. Henry C. Schwartz and Mrs. Howard Kennedy as hostesses and will be held at the Community House beginning at 9:30 a. m.

During the summer, daughters of club members have been weaving colorful sewing bags from yarn on plastic frames.

The ladies have spent their leisure hours in crocheting afghans, embroidering tablecloths and sewing new fall wardrobes for themselves and their youngsters.

County Club Women To Attend Short Course

Seminole County's Home Demonstration Clubs will be represented at the 37th Annual Florida State Senior Council Meeting and Short Course by 13 delegates.

Theme of the meeting at the University of Florida, July 10 through July 14, this year is "Learning—The Key to Living."

Participating from Seminole County will be Mrs. H. L. Johnson of Lake Monroe, the County Council president; Mrs. W. H. Heinbuck of Lake Mary, the County Council delegate and Mrs. Joe H. Wright of Lake Mary, entry to the State Dress Revue.

Other club members attending are to be Mrs. W. B. Heath and Mrs. J. W. Yarborough of the Geneva Club, Mrs. J. C. Sapp and Mrs. Louise Rushlow of the Lake Monroe club, Mrs. Harold Kryder and Mrs. B. R. Gray of the Longwood club, Mrs. W. W. Dietrick and Mrs. A. W. Richter of the Oviedo club and Mrs. Louise Stringfield and Mrs. J. D. Callahan of the Sanford club.

Miss Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent, will accompany the group.

Women from all parts of the state will attend the president's dinner on Monday when all council and past state presidents are to be honored and during the five-day session they will take part in many instructive and educational lectures and programs.

Dr. M. O. Watkins, director of Florida Agricultural Service, University of Florida, and Miss Anna Mae Sikes, state home demonstration agent of Tallahassee, with assistance from state specialists, will direct these meetings.

"Learning for Living the American Way" is the topic Dr. Willard M. Fifield, provost for agriculture at the university, has chosen for his lecture and Mrs. Lucia Brownwell, home editor for "Progressive Farmer," has chosen to speak on "Living Today and Tomorrow."

Miss Helen Holstein, Mrs. Edyth Barrus and Miss Eloise Johnson, district home demonstration agents, will be in charge of discussions on "Extension Program Development."

All sessions of the educational program will be held in General Assembly during the morning hours.

Special interest meetings on citizenship and civil defense, self understanding, ways with words, the wonderful world of books, the Latin American crisis and safety will be offered to club members.

Short courses on recreation, health, landscaping, the home, nutrition, clothing, youth understanding, family unity, consumer tips and management also will be available.

Evening meetings will be devoted to recreation and social activities with one of the most interesting to be the Dress Revue for which each county may enter two delegates. Entries must come under the church or street category, play clothes or suits and formals.

In conjunction with the fashion event will be the installation of new state officers and the awards and recognition program.

Closing exercises are scheduled for Friday morning when summaries of the meeting and reports will be presented and short course certificates given. The closing address will be given by the State Council president.

Rummage Sale Brings $368

By ATLANTA McGINNIS
The Altamonte Springs Library Assn., which is sponsoring a gigantic rummage sale in the old Post Office Bldg., last week cleared a total of $368 in the all out effort to raise necessary funds for the purchase of the present library building and property.

Mrs. Glenn Humes, chairman of the ways and means committee, says that volunteer helpers still are needed for either morning or afternoon duty.

Members of the group will continue to accept sale items and they also are taking articles to sell on commission consignments.

Of especial interest to antique lovers in the county might be the handcarved chest which has been newly refinished and is offered for $48. The piece is from the Bates Estate and was donated to the Library Assn. by family heirs for resale at this event.

Also among items to be sold are many plants and used books and Florida Power Corp. has donated electricity in the building so that longer sale hours can be maintained. Mrs. Humes reported.

Incorporation Becomes Official For Civic Group

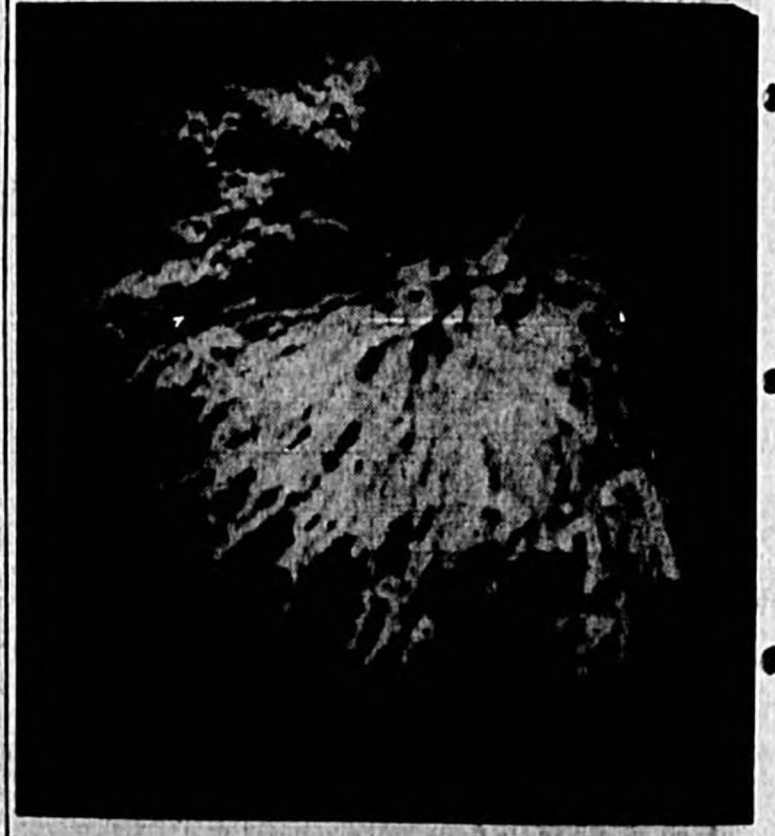

Members of the North Orlando Civic Assn., meeting last Thursday at the Village Hall, were advised by President W. W. Anderson that the group's incorporation as a non-profit organization has been officially recognized and that its charter has been sealed and certified for record.

Anderson also introduced his appointed officers, Lloyd Prouty as chaplain and Jack Riddley as sergeant-at-arms.

Appointed as association representatives for the Village were Jack Sutton from the north side, Riddley from the south side and John Crodray from the Coronado Homes section.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Multiple Purpose

Although the Fourth of July now is just another national death toll statistic, the day's celebration sponsored by the Longwood Volunteer Fire Dept. seems to us one of particular merit since it had a multiple purpose.

Firstly, the Volunteers, with cooperation from the local businessmen and civic and social organizations, planned the full day of entertainment in an effort to give all area residents a jam-packed day of pleasure right at home so that they wouldn't become "just another statistic."

And, secondly, the firemen planned the event as a money-raising project to buy additional equipment of hose, nozzles, warning signals, floodlights and more coats and masks for the men which are needed for the protection of areas outside the municipal limits of Longwood.

The department receives operating funds from the city, however, since it protects all surrounding areas as well, the men, through some means, must raise money to cover these expenses.

We think it highly commendable that they undertook to accomplish this task in such a way rather than falling back on the usual "door-to-door" solicitation which many residents find greeting them all too often these days.

it takes so little faith

"If you had faith as a grain of mustard seed..." That's not much faith. But just look what God said you could do with so little. The mustard seed is the tiniest of seeds. Here the huge microscope enlarges it many times... yet, one can scarcely see it. The Lord said, if you have that much faith you can do anything! You can say to a mountain, "move over" and it will be done. You can endure anything... you can become anything—IF, you have a wee bit of faith. Faith is the root of all blessing. The man who is without it is dead as a cedar. The Pilgrims had faith. Martin Luther and John Wesley had faith. Jesus was supremely a man of faith and waits to share his blessings on men who can be trusted... men of faith. How much faith do you have? Is your faith as big as the mustard seed?

Slave Labor?

Sheriff J. L. Hobby is an unusual man! Last week he submitted his 1961-1962 budget and realized that the public might be up in arms over any raise in taxes, avoided mentioning any raise in pay for some of his deputies.

It's a little known fact that some of the men at the Sheriff's office are working on what one county commissioner described as "slave labor" wages.

There are men in the department, guarding our community, who are making less than $1 an hour and working close to 60 hours a week.

We realize that the commission will have its hands full keeping millage down, but we hope it doesn't overlook these men.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Worry is a habit that you can break. It was largely to fatten her mind. In the towns, we are "worrying" minded, so we worry ourselves on the many places where many dates or many girls or boys were dated. In such cases, we should realize that we are not "worrying" in these cases. Send for the "Teen-Age Behavior Test" below.

CASE J-45: My younger sister Elizabeth was 17 when this episode occurred.

It was during the late 1930's. I was then stationed at Smith College, in Northampton, Massachusetts.

As I prepared to drive back from Fl. Wayne, in the fall, Elizabeth pleaded with me to take her along, just for the ride.

"Why, I've never seven been outside of Indiana," she stated, dejectedly.

My reason for mentioning her here is to show the great desire of teenagers to bolster their social pride.

They are "quantity" minded, so they wish to boast about how many states of the U.S.A. they have visited.

Many juvenile adults likewise seem to think it adds greatly to their social charm if they have traveled widely, including Europe or Mexico, etc.

Much of the reason for the usual touring of the country is not the actual thrills of seeing new places.

No, it is the desire to socially "trump" your neighbor's ace, "as it were, when he later starts telling of his travels."

Then you can brag in and ask:

"Didn't you visit the Garden of the Gods? Not my goodness you haven't seen anything yet."

Or it may be Yosemite or Yellowstone or the Grand Canyon, Mammoth Cave, etc.

Which person is more likely to need excessive travel as a social boost for his ego -- the self-assured individual or the one with an inferiority complex?

And which boy is more likely to boast of the number of girls he has dated or kissed -- the assured male or the one with a sexual inferiority complex?

How many times have you heard grown men brag about having had dates with TWO girls in one night when they were younger?

Their wives may be sitting in the group, patiently letting their boy-friends reminisce a little nostalgic reminiscing of their teens.

When such males boast, it means they are still hungry for more food for their sex ego. They wish to strut in peacock fashion.

But women are also guilty of similar juvenile behavior as they cherish the old party invitations and dance programs, diaries and love letters.

Most of us grow up and smile tolerantly at any member of our own age bracket who still tries to strut his stuff in this teenage fashion by social boasting.

"It's the greasiness wheel that makes the noise," runs an old adage.

Thus, the fellow who is virtuous and able to dominate the affections of his wife doesn't need to boast about his many conquests.

The unsure male, fearing impotence, is more likely to tear conversation around to salacious jokes and female conquests.

The classical Don Juan, taking pride in his many female victims, really is trying to compensate for a basic sexual inferiority complex.

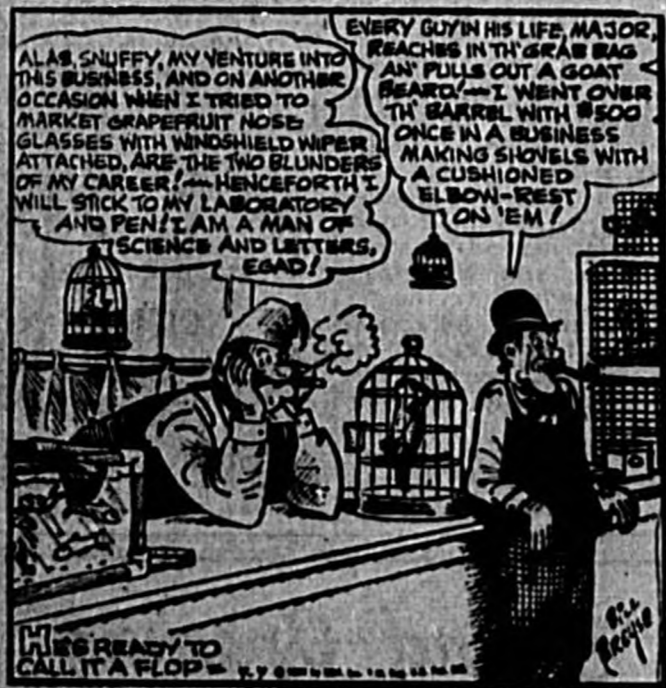

That is doubly true of men who have a fetish for seducing the wives of other husbands. It makes them feel more virile if they can thus win a woman away from her male.

Roberto Rossellini of Italy was a very typical case in point.

The time to checkmate such bad psychological complexes is early, so send for the "Behavior Test for Teen-Agers," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c.

The giant tortoise is the longest living animal in the world. There have been records of a tortoise living for more than 150 years and then dying accidentally.

From Rome

Henry McLemore

SPOLETO, Italy—This hill town is one of the most beautiful and historic in Italy, and it has a world famous music festival, too, but it isn't for moments of the past that we visit it now and then. Or because we want to mingle musically with Menotti.

We make the few hours ride from Rome for the sake of our stomachs. We don't shut our eyes to the sights, no, and we are appreciative of the Umbrian countryside with its mountains, hills, valleys and plains, lakes and rivers. But it is food that is on our minds as we roll along the main highway between Rome and Spoleto.

Spoleto has fine food. It isn't very well known for its food. Certainly not in the way Bologna, Naples, Rome, and Ancona are. Indeed, guidebooks pass lightly and quickly over Umbrian food, and this is a mistake.

If you are a truffle lover—and I like them so well that if pigs couldn't be taught to root for them I'd lend a helping snout—Umbria is the place to go. Umbria abounds in truffles, and many of the truffles, one gets in France, supposedly from Perigord, were taken from the ground of Umbria.

The best spaghetti sauce I know of is made in Spoleto at the Tres Duell hotel. This is a new hotel, built to accommodate the tourists who come for the music festival, but the chef is an old hand.

The sauce is simplicity itself—if you have truffles. Just take the black ones and grate them fine, mix them with as much sweet butter as you like, warm gently over a low fire, and then pour them over spaghetti or fettuccini, and add parmesan cheese to suit your self.

I have not yet been able to settle for just one dish at Tres Duell. The sauce has a wonderful, delicate flavor, and is as light as an ounce of cloud.

They roast a mean suckling pig in Umbria, too, and just the crisp skin of it is worth a two-and-a-half-hour ride from Rome.

Getting back to spaghetti sauces, one of the mistakes we Americans make is working too hard at them. Back home we brew meat sauce for spaghetti by the hour, using beef, veal, pork and nineteen other things. A wife takes six hours to prepare a spaghetti dinner.

Not the Italians. They make a sauce in nothing flat. One of the best, and a specialty of Florence, is butter, cheese, a tiny touch of garlic, small, fresh green peas and, of course, the parmesan.

Their tomato sauce is nothing but a few small, ripe tomatoes pushed through a sieve, a bit of bay leaf, a smidgen of onion, and maybe a bit of carrot. And it's twice as good as all the bottled-forever tomato sauces at home, most of which are made from canned tomatoes and paste and have a sharp, acid taste.

Of course, the spaghetti, the olive oil, and the cheese, especially the cheese, are better here. This is bound to make a difference. The spaghetti is the same. The same brands on sale here are on sale at home. And, nine times out of ten, it is better than the pasta made by cooks at home.

I will now take off my chef's cap and go out for a bowl of fettuccini and truffles.

Berlin Situation Grave-White

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Thomas D. White says there is "a fair chance" of war over Berlin and the gravity of the situation hasn't been driven home to the American people.

White, who retired last week as Air Force chief of staff, said Sunday some form of mobilization might well be necessary to convince the nation of the seriousness of the Berlin crisis.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, (E-N. Y.), said earlier that President Kennedy eventually might declare partial mobilization of the armed forces to demonstrate to the Russians that "we mean precisely what we say" about Berlin.

White, interviewed on a TV program, said he did not think war over Berlin would be certain to turn into nuclear war, but he added that if Russia joined in, "it is almost inevitable that it would degenerate into a general war."

Salazar Rejects UN Appeal

LISBON (UPI)—Prime Minister Antonio de Oliveira Salazar today bluntly rejected a United Nations appeal to stop fighting in Angola and criticized the United States for not supporting his attitude.

In a rare "report to the nation" before the National Assembly, Salazar described the UN Security Council's "invitation to halt measures of suppression in Angola" as theatrical.

He said there was "not the slightest hope that it will be considered."

Salazar, 72, longtime Portuguese government leader, said the UN appeal "gravely offends the rights of a sovereign nation."

Peter Edson's Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—U. S. Chamber of Commerce headquarters in Washington puts out a constant stream of press releases, pamphlets and propaganda — the general tone of which is that everything the government does is wrong.

Even its President Richard Wagner admits that the Chamber makes its statements for Monday papers so that everyone will know what it is against for the coming week.

It is most surprising therefore to find that none of the experts at the Chamber's conference on business outlook for the second half of 1961 have anything very tough to say against the government as a whole or the Kennedy administration in particular.

This is in marked contrast to what AFL-CIO executive committee members had to say at their United House, Pa., mid-year meeting. When President Kennedy sent them a nice letter saying that the national economy is moving toward and era of expanded growth, they jumped on it.

They said recovery is not in sight and the administration programs for reducing unemployment are inadequate. They also criticized Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon's statements that the greatest threat of inflation comes from "the cost-push of the wage-price spiral."

There you have big labor criticizing the Democratic president they supported. Here you have big business predicting good times ahead, agreeing with the President most of them didn't support and finding nothing particularly wrong with government.

James D. Marshall, executive director of the Associated General Contractors of America, has no complaints to make about the government's new $6 billion dollar accelerated highway construction program, nor the new housing bill. He says it may not increase housing construction this year, but it will mean $5 to $10 billion dollars more over the next four years. He predicts a record $77 billion construction total in 1961.

James C. Kelly, executive vice president, American Machine Tool Builders Assn., says: "Business is waiting to see what the outlook will be on taxes before planning its capital expansion." But he is expecting a business pickup.

The only complaint against the government expressed by Robert G. Welch, executive vice president, Steel Service Center Institute, Cleveland, is that government should provide better depreciation allowances. This, he says, will allow American steelmakers to compete with foreign mills and export into the world markets. Mr. Welch predicts another 100 million ton ingot year in 1961 with 60 million tons in finished products. This is a two million ton drop from 1960, explained by steel's shift to new merchandising methods to meet consumer needs.

T. J. Oball, senior economist for Ford Motor, has no comment at all about the government. He expects production of 6.9 million new cars this year—inclusing 1.9 million compacts—with an orderly clean-up of inventory at year end. Last year 6.7 million cars were produced but not all sold.

Harold L. Chadde, deputy manager, American Bankers Assn., says the Federal Reserve Board's position has made a lot of sense. He predicts advances in volume of credit demand and the general level of interest rates from recession lows. But he thinks the cyclical rise will be milder than in previous periods of economic recession.

Chamber President Wagner expresses the belief that many of the Kennedy programs won't be activated, so they will have no effect on the business outlook.

Overall, however, he expects the economy to move into new high ground, which will be shared by all major sectors of business. This isn't much of a complaint against government.

Bryant Ends Feud With Georgia

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant laid to rest Wednesday threats of an agricultural feud between Florida and Georgia. Bryant said talk of a retaliatory tax by Georgia on Florida citrus producer was nothing but a "temptation in a chicken house."

He and Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia agreed at the National Governors' Conference in Hawaii last week, Bryant said, that Georgia would not impose the tax without further discussions between the two chief executives.

"I do not believe Georgia will take action against our citrus. There is no further need for negotiation," Bryant said.

Georgia Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell recommended last month that a tax of 10 per cent per container be imposed on fresh Florida citrus shipped to Georgia in retaliation to the Florida requirement that Georgia brailer poultry sold in this state carry inspection tags.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of one of five new men's small residence halls to be constructed on Stetson University's DeLand campus with a $560,000 loan from the Community Facilities Administration. The new housing will be used as regular dormitories for those now living off campus or commuting unreasonable distances and as rental units for men's fraternities. Each unit holds 28 men. The modern buildings will be of brick and siding with asphalt shingle roofs. The first floor of each unit includes a concrete terrace, a social room, a foyer, and a housemother's apartment. The second floor is made up of 14 double bedrooms, a bathroom, and a trunk storage room. None of the units will face city streets but front on a circular drive.

McKinley Faces Wimbledon Test

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., faced the biggest test of his young life today when he stepped on the tradition-bound center court to meet Australia's Rod Laver in the final of the men's singles in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Law Thinking Of Quitting Game

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Vernon Law, the sore-armed former ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates pitching staff, undergoes an examination today which may determine his future in baseball. Law said he may quit the game if the examination, scheduled for this afternoon by Dr. Albert Ferguson and Joseph Finegold, reveals the injury to his throwing arm to be as serious as one he incurred at the start of his career. "I had an injury back in 1951 which I feel is the same thing," said Law, a 20-game winner last year. "It bothered me all through the season, then I went into the service for two years. I couldn't pitch at all there."

Pinecrest Girls Win Ball Contest

Pinecrest girls softball team won their opening game against Grammar School by a score of 28-16. However, the 11-13 year old boys lost their opening game to Grammar School in a 5-4 thriller. The Junior Olympics were run off with the following pupils winning in their age group.

Duffy, Broad Jump, Ernie Baumeister and Billy Miller.

Sunland Junior Olympics Held

The Sunland Recreation Program has averaged 55 participants each day. This week the Junior Olympics were held and the event winners were as follows: Donna Miller, June Klansing, Karen Weber, Bonnie Keller, Frank Murray, Diane Row, Stella Knard, Danny Leeds, David Adams, Pam Garrett, Martin Rhodes and Steve Weber. A horseshoe tournament was held and David Adams and Danny Leeds were the winners with Billy Kuykendall and Frank Murray coming in second. Last week the boys softball team defeated Longwood by a score of 5-3.

Pet Parade Sparks Lake Mary Program

This week the Lake Mary program boasted a number of activities including a croquet tournament, pet parade, scavenger hunt, arts and crafts, and many games. ## FUTURE FLORIDA FARMER: pets today... profits tomorrow!

Today, the farm is a big backyard where a youngster can romp and run... where calves are pets and pastures are playgrounds. But what of tomorrow? Will his farm be his own business—to bring him satisfaction and success? Or will he be subjected to restrictions and controls that will stifle his initiative and deprive him of free choice? The question is a vital one to the world because it is the farmer upon whom the world must depend for food.

Nowhere is the value of free enterprise more clearly demonstrated than in the development of our nation's great power systems. And nowhere is faith in free enterprise more clearly demonstrated than in the activities of Florida Power & Light Company. Confident in the future, we are embarked on a course pointing to one goal: to provide more and more electric power for HAPPIER FLORIDA LIVING... ELECTRICALLY!
