Census Shows Miami Nears One Million Mark

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami metropolitan area neared the one million mark in population according to preliminary 1960 census figures released Wednesday.

Tampa replaced Jacksonville as Florida's second largest city, although Duval (Jacksonville) remained the second biggest county after Dade.

Completion of the Pinellas (St. Petersburg) County figures today, however, was sure to show the Tampa Bay area is the state's second largest metropolitan center after Miami.

Tampa moved ahead of Jacksonville by virtue of population increase and city limits expansion, coupled with an exodus to the suburbs in Jacksonville.

While figures compiled for 21 of the state's 67 counties appeared that Florida's big counties have grown bigger in the past decade while many of the small ones have grown smaller.

The preliminary figures also showed that the state of Florida will get three to five new congressmen on the basis of the completed census—with at least one of them going to Dade.

Population shifts disclosed by the census also will affect the distribution of secondary road funds through the state.

Duval County registered a 48.2 percent gain. Hillsborough was third among counties, and Broward, with figures incomplete, was expected to be fourth.

The three largest counties are Duval, 391,865; Hillsborough, 391,865. The 1950 figures were Dade, 485,044; Duval, 264,029; and Hillsborough, 249,894.

The three largest cities are Miami, 252,600; Tampa, 270,610; and Jacksonville, 199,264. The 1950 figures for these cities were Miami, 249,276; Jacksonville, 204,517; and Tampa, 124,681.

The Dade County figure fell short of the one million predicted by some civic leaders. The growth of Miami proper, minus by satellite cities, was comparatively small. But Dade County's bedroom cities of Hialeah, Coral Gables, North Miami and Miami Springs grew dramatically. So did the unincorporated areas of the county.

Tower Restaurant Sold At $85,000

The Glass Tower Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge on 17-92 in Forest Hills was purchased by Minnesota investors for $85,000.

The building and tract of land was sold by Mrs. Joan G. Blum to A. G. Bush, whose address is listed in care of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., St. Paul.

Bush is a top official in the First National Bank at Winter Park and has interests in the Mixing Company.

Bank officials said the building and land was purchased by an out-of-state group for investment purposes only, and denied that the Minnesota firm planned any future construction in that area.

Bank officials also denied reports that a savings and loan company or a bank will be erected on the corner of Hwy. 436 and 17-92 anytime in the immediate future.

Nikita Says U. S. Torpedoed Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev told Democratic leaders in a message made public today that the whole world knows the United States "torpedoed" the summit conference by acts of "aggression and provocation."

Replying to a cablegram from the Democrats sent him just prior to break-up of the summit meeting in Paris, Khrushchev said that for him to participate in the conference would mean "to endorse the aggressive policy of the military circles of the U. S. A."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson made public Khrushchev's reply to the cablegram which had been sent to the Soviet leader by Johnson, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Sen. E. Stevenson, and Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Board To Hear Engineering Firms

The City Commission will meet at 8 p. m. Monday to hear engineering firms from Daytona Beach and Palm Bay present their plans to correct Sanford's water problem.

Glace Engineering Co., St. Petersburg, will be heard at 8 p. m. followed at 8:30 by the Russell and Axon firm of Daytona Beach. Wednesday, commissioners will hear Reynolds, Smith and Hills engineer firm, with offices in Jacksonville, Tampa and DeLand and Gannett, Fleming, Corddry and Carpenter Inc. of Daytona Beach and Pennsylvania.

Dr. David B. Smith and associates, Gainesville, and Flood and Wilson, of Jacksonville will appear before the Commissioners on Wednesday.

Bragging Leads Police To Trail Of Large Theft

Four teenage boys arrested on charges of theft paid the penalty for "loose tongue" boasting.

The group, hoisted together in the Bear Lake section, were loudly boasting of their escapades, which included the theft of almost everything from cans of beef to rifles, when they were overheard by a housewife.

She reported the incident to Deputy Grady Hall, who investigated the teenagers and learned the boys had stolen more than $2,000 worth of equipment from an area in Lockhart.

The boys, ages 14-17 were arrested and later admitted the theft. They were turned over to the Orange County Sheriff's Dept.

Tommy Rescued

CHICAGO (UPI)—No more wine cellars for Tommy the horse. No more lush living in the limelight. No more eating like a horse.

Tommy may be the only horse in the history who walked down a flight of stairs into the headlines.

It happened two days ago, when Julius came to the stable and found Tommy in the cellar. No one knew how he got there, although the hay stored in the cellar may have had something to do with it.

Or maybe Tommy went down for a drink. The cellar, a wine storehouse in its lush days, still housed a few kegs of lubbly. The hay and the wine composed a feast fit for Man-O-War.

Anyhow, Tommy wouldn't—and couldn't—leave. The cellar was too small to turn around in, and most horses are hard put to clomp up stairs backward.

The police, fire department, civil defense workers, 100 amused onlookers and a flock of reporters descended on Julius' stable.

The workers tried a winch and tow truck. Tommy complained. The hoisting chain was pinching his belly. The workers tried sledges hammers. No go. The six-inch concrete floor was too tough.

The workers tried air hammers and an acetylene torch. The floor above gave way. Tommy was hooked to a block and tackle and raised to respectability.

The crowd cheered. Tommy sneezed. His vacation in the cool, well-stocked cellar, was over.

But Julius beamed and promised to give Tommy the horse some coffee. Tommy likes coffee. In a bucket. With cream and sugar.

Hourly Wage Boost Compromise Plan Set For Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Labor Committee starts work today on a compromise plan to boost the $1 minimum hourly wage gradually to $1.25 and extend its coverage to 4,182,000 more workers.

The committee scheduled a closed session today to discuss the plan, which has been presented by a subcommittee that has been wrestling with minimum wage proposals for months. No votes were expected today.

A subcommittee informally agreed on the plan Wednesday.

The compromise would give pay hikes to an estimated 2,420,000 workers now covered by the law and 860,000 newly-covered wage earners.

Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), author of the measure, said it had a good chance of winning committee approval. But it faced heavy opposition from the committee's Republican minority.

Rep. Edgar W. Heistand (R-Calif.), contended the bill would hurt some workers it was designed to help and would "eventually push up the cost of living."

He said it would "hit hard" at certain businesses.

The Roosevelt plan is a compromise between an AFL-CIO-backed bill calling for an immediate 25-cent hourly boost in the minimum wage and coverage for 7,500,000 more workers, and the administration's recommended 10 to 15-cent increase and coverage for 2,500,000 additional workers.

The compromise would raise the minimum wage for presently-covered workers to $1.15 on Nov. 1, $1.20 a year later and $1.25 in November 1962. A $1 minimum would be set next Nov. 1 for newly-covered workers. Weekly overtime pay for them would start after 48 hours and be reduced gradually to 40 hours in the fifth year.

Former Official Criticizes FDA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former official of the Food and Drug Administration charged today that "hundreds of people... suffer daily and many die" because of what she called the agency's failure to enforce drug safety and branding standards.

Dr. Barbara Moulton, who quit the staff of the FDA's bureau of medicine last February, made the charge in testimony before the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Dr. Moulton said the drug industry, the medical and legal professions and the public "all share in the guilt."

Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R-Nebr.), a subcommittee member, called Dr. Moulton's charges "grave and serious." He said he failed to find substantiation in her prepared testimony before the subcommittee. But Kefauver said he thought she would back them up by giving specific examples later.

Longwood Council Meets Tonight

The Longwood Town Council will meet at 8 p. m. today at the town hall to discuss the possible appointment of a permanent Fire Chief.

Acting Fire Chief, Claude Layo said the council is expected to appoint permanent Fire Marshals also.

In other business, the council will act on an ordinance to establish the use of voting machines, in compliance with the countywide voting laws.

Firemen Face Rigid Test

Longwood volunteer firemen are being put to the rigid test of learning the complete operation of their newly purchased fire truck.

Fire Chief, Claude Layo said the department is training every man to operate the fire truck pump in case an emergency arises.

Phone Survey To Be Discussed

The results of the telephone exchange survey, presently under way in North Orlando will be heard at the town council meeting scheduled for 8 p. m. Tuesday.

The survey will determine whether the majority of the residents prefer to join the Winter Park Midway exchange or remain with the Sanford dial exchange system.

Spy Flights 'Vital', Gates Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. said spy plane flights provided the United States with secret data about Soviet atomic weapons, missiles, submarines, planes and airfields.

He said the information brought back by the planes was "vital information" which was used by the Defense Department.

Gates described the military value of the flights in closed door testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which is conducting an inquiry into the U-2 episode and the subsequent failure of the summit meeting.

Gates testified that the espionage flights, directed by the Central Intelligence Agency, produced "information on airfields, aircraft, missiles, missile testing and training, special weapons storage, submarine production, atomic production and aircraft deployments" and similar secrets.

"These were all types of vital information," he said. "These results were considered in formulating our military programs. We obviously were the prime customer and ours is the major interest."

A censored transcript of Gates' testimony was made public.

Gates also testified about his action ordering a worldwide alert of all U. S. military services on the eve of the Paris summit crisis.

Gates said the May 13 alert—with special emphasis on communications—was issued as a "quiet increase in command readiness," and was to have been carried out "without public notice, if possible." Word of the alert leaked out, however.

"This communications alert was not an act that was either offensive or defensive in character," he said. "It was a sound precautionary measure. It did not recall Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine personnel from leave. There was no movement of forces involved."

"However, I want to emphasize that it did make certain that if subsequent developments made necessary a higher state of readiness, such action could be taken promptly and convincingly."

The defense chief said U. S. military forces are "always on some degree of alert." On May 15, he said, American officials in Paris were "already aware of the sense of the statement" that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was going to make the following day. Gates said it was evident that Khrushchev "deliberately intended to wreck the conference."

Of the spy plane missions, Gates explained that Defense Department personnel gave "technical advice to the U-2 project." But he said "no military aircraft were used for these flights nor were the pilots military personnel."

He said CIA Director Allen W. Dulles, whose secret testimony before the committee has not been made public, recommended U-2 operations to the President after getting concurrence from the secretaries of defense and state.

"More specifically," he said, "I reviewed program proposals embracing several priority missions, one or more of which it was proposed to execute in the near future. Responsibility for the operational conduct of the program rested with the CIA."

Gates' opening statement took less than three pages and was not censored before its release to the press.

High Living Congressional Junkets Rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of a House watchdog committee proposed today that junketing congressmen be required to account publicly for their government-paid expenses so taxpayers can be sure their money doesn't go for whiskey, nightclubs, and other high living.

Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex.), who heads the Committee on House Administration, said he believed prompt reporting on outlays for official travel in and out of the country would safeguard the Treasury against most abuses. He said he doubted that abuses were common anyway.

There was no immediate rush among his fellow lawmakers to get behind Burleson's proposal. Many members felt they had been treated unfairly in published charges of legislative hi-jinks on investigative missions in the U. S. and abroad.

In similar copyrighted accounts by a team of two reporters, the Knight newspapers and Life magazine said a look at 25,328 vouchers filed by House members prior to last June 30 revealed some "shocking" abuses of the congressional expense account.

But one of the targets of the charges, was directed immediately by his committee to "retaliate in the strongest terms" to other House members the ground rules on what they may and may not charge off to the taxpayers for official travel.

He also announced plans to confer with House leaders on what else could be done to lighten up the admittedly "rather loose" arrangement by which his committee approves congressional expenses.

"I think we'll have to get tougher with them," Burleson said. He told United Press International one good way to do this would be to require that each member on his return from a trip file for publication in the congressional record a full account of his outlays.

RAIFORD (UPI)—His last day in prison was the roughest, said Alexander Evans, who returned to prison last March after escaping 32 years before.

Evans, 37, left Raiford State Prison Wednesday after serving 10 weeks and one day of the 17 months he owed Florida for cashing an $8.50 bad check in 1928.

Disarmament Urged

Base A Necessity
KEY WEST (UPI)—Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of U. S. naval operations, said Wednesday maintenance of the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, is an "absolute necessity." Burke assured a 10-nation naval conference here he could forecast no situation in the immediate future which might deprive the United States of the base.

To Return Home
STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Carl Olson, who flew solo across the Atlantic in a small plane, said today he will return to Atlanta next week to pick up his wife and two children and bring them to Sweden in July. Olson arrived in Stockholm Wednesday after telling his wife he was flying to New York. He made the trip in 42 hours flying time via Bermuda and the Azores, Lisbon and Geneva.

Baptist Meet
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI)—The American Baptist Convention opens its 53rd annual meeting tonight faced with a decision on a controversial move to withdraw its 1,500,000 member denomination from the National Council of Churches. The first Baptist Church of Wichita, Kans., has asked northern Baptists to withdraw from the National Council, the largest cooperative church body in America.

Panic Pitch
LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (UPI)—Reports that African extremist politicians were promising native voters the women and property of white men spurred a mass movement of white settlers from the sprawling Belgian Congo today. The reports, made grimmer by news of the first murder of a European settler by a Negro in more than 10 months, brought the exodus to near panic pitch.

Mamie Better
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower is responding well to treatment for acute asthmatic bronchitis, but will be unable to accompany the President to his class reunion at West Point this weekend. The White House reported today.

THE BIG THREE hopefuls for the Democratic Presidential nomination, John Kennedy (L), Lyndon Johnson, and Stuart Symington, (R), get together at a fund raising (continuing) $100-per-plate dinner for California's Governor Edmund (Pat) Brown here in Beverly Hills, Calif. The three were here to court California's 81 convention votes which have not been committed yet.

Hope Appears Dim To Avert Actors Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—Broadway's fabled footlights are flickering as the switch that is expected to darken all 72 Broadway theaters this evening, the League of New York Theaters, which represents both producers and theater owners, immediately notified casts of all shows that all performances tonight would be cancelled in reprisal against Wednesday's cast walkout.

"Every play and musical in town will be out Thursday night," Alexander H. Cohen, a spokesman for the Theater League, announced after the 17 cast members of "The Tenth Man" failed to appear at the Booth Theater for Wednesday night's performance and attended a union meeting two blocks away.

Spokesmen for both the Theater League and Actors Equity, which represents about 11,000 actors and actresses, said they were still far apart in their negotiations which have been carried on since April 15. Major issues in the dispute are the union's demand for a pension, an increase in minimum salaries, improved working conditions and other benefits.

Cuban Crackdown On Pilots Starts

HAVANA (UPI) — An undermanned number of Cuban airmen — perhaps as many as 50 — have been arrested since Friday "for investigation," presumably on suspicion of anti-government activity, it was reported today.

At least 12 were said to be pilots.

At the same time, it was announced that intelligence agents have arrested four men and a woman on charges of belonging to the opposition "Western Anti-Communist Organization."

Gromyko Offers New Arms Plan

MOSCOW (UPI)—Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko called Western ambassadors to his office today and handed them a new Soviet proposal for worldwide general disarmament, informed sources reported.

Details of the proposal were not available immediately from any of the Western embassies. The text was expected to be released later today.

Gift Wrapped Bomb Blows Up; Three Injured

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A mother and her two daughters were seriously injured today when a bomb in a gift-wrapped package blew up in the mother's face as she opened it.

Police put out a pickup order for the woman's husband, Travis Tate, about 20, of Fayetteville, Tenn.

Mrs. Frances Binkley Tate and her two daughters, aged 8 and 10 were rushed to St. Thomas Hospital for emergency treatment.

A spokesman said Mrs. Tate was in "very critical condition" and the children would have to undergo surgery. They were listed in fair condition as doctors waged a fight for the mother's life.

"Her hands are gone," an official said. "She's just completely blown up."

Police said Tate had threatened his wife Wednesday night in a Fayetteville night spot, 100 miles southeast of here, and she had come with her daughters to her mother's home in Ingleswood, a suburb of Nashville.

F. J. Denney, Ingleswood-Madison police chief, said the bomb package apparently was delivered early today to the home of Mrs. Tate's mother and left on the door of the mailbox.

Denney said Mrs. Binkley "saw the package and took it back into the house and handed it to the daughter on the back porch."

When Mrs. Tate opened the package, the explosion blasted her whole body. Her children, standing a few feet away near the edge of the porch, ran in fright into the front yard, where their injuries felled them.

"We have a description of the car that left the bomb," he said. "There's a pickup on it and on the man. He'll never get back to where he's going."

Denney said the bomb was made of a stick of dynamite, a detonator and two flashlight batteries.

Church Zoning Meet Tonight

The Zoning and Planning Commission will meet at 7:30 p. m. today to discuss the rezoning of a section between 23rd and 26th streets for the construction of a church.

A congregation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints made the request in order to construct a church in that area.

The section is presently zoned for residential use. The church members are seeking a zone change to allow them full use of their property.

Ousted Turk Premier May Face Death Penalty

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — The ruling National Unity Committee announced today that leaders of the deposed Menderes regime will go on trial within a month, and that elections for a new Parliament will be held "in the shortest possible time."

Observers here speculated that the elections would not take place until the trials of ex-Premier Adnan Menderes and other deposed leaders have been completed—perhaps several months from now.

The discovery here and in Istanbul of the graves of a number of young Turks believed to have been killed by police during anti-Menderes riots increased speculation that the ex-premier and some of his aides might face the death penalty.

Col. Erigural Alatal, spokesman for the committee, said it has assumed the full powers of Parliament. He said it will pass laws and hold the old government responsible for its actions.

Alatal confirmed that a number of bodies have been found in Ankara and Istanbul, but gave no further details.

WASHINGTON SEE-SAW

by Win Pendleton

In spite of everything that has been written about Senator Smathers' bill to amend the Sugar Act of 1946, little has been said about its importance to the improvement of our foreign trade relationships. Because of the bill's restrictive clauses in regard to the sugar purchases from Cuba, the bill is generally thought to be only a reprisal against Cuba.

Smathers says that his bill "is not politically motivated and it is not a measure against Cuba." But, he admits, "I am in my mind not certain that some measures should not be taken to protect the interests of the United States investors in that country . . . a wholly disproportionate share of the United States quota in the hands of a single country . . . has enabled that country to use the premium paid by United States consumers to subsidize sales to Russia and to Red China and other Iron Curtain countries at prices beneath the world market."

Under the 1946 act, our purchases from Cuba begin with a base quota of 2,500,000 tons of sugar a year, and increase each year in proportion to the increased demand resulting from our country's growth. Smathers' bill would hold the Cuban quota at the 1946 level and would not give them any of the increased business.

And this is where his idea of improving our business relations with other foreign countries comes in. Smathers would not give any of that new business to Cuba but would keep one-third of it for the production of domestic sugar beet or mainland cane within the continental United States. The remaining two-thirds of that growth market would go to other foreign suppliers. He points out that five new countries would be added to the foreign suppliers list: Brazil, Columbia, Ecuador, El Salvador and Guatemala.

The present volume of "new business" that Smathers proposes to spread around amounts to 110,000 tons. "This sugar would be purchased from other foreign suppliers on the basis of an index which takes into account their average annual purchases from the United States," he explained. "I think it is extremely important to establish in the Sugar Act the trade principle as a basis for adjusting the distribution of foreign sugar quotas. I certainly believe in a policy of buying from the people who buy from us insofar as it is economically feasible to do so."

Smathers' bill also would give the president the power to further reduce the quota of Cuba at any time he thinks such action is necessary in the public interest or to insure an adequate supply of sugar.

Another change that Smathers' bill would bring about is to reduce the amount of "direct consumption" sugar which may be imported from Cuba. He would reduce this quota from 275,000 tons to 75,000 tons. The same tonnage of sugar would be imported, but it would mean that 200,000 tons would be "raw" sugar to be refined in this country.

The Smathers' bill also would increase purchases from the Philippines from 980,000 tons to 1,017,000 tons in 1961. "The Philippines should, of course, continue to participate in any deficits and increased growth," he said.

In discussing the charge that his bill is primarily a reprisal against the Castro regime in Cuba, Smathers pointed out that under his plan the reduction in Cuba's present United States quota amounts to less than 10 percent of her annual sales and that Cuba still will supply approximately 30 percent of the United States' sugar market.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Oscar's case shows serious conflict between father and son. How would you have handled the matter? Many parents would have been guilty of ignoring such childish pranks, which in even worse in its ultimate effect than being overly stern. But it is far better to be strict and just. If you wish to be a good father to your children measure yourself by the "Parent Test" offered below.

CASE E-476: Oscar L., age 11, was riding his bicycle around the village where we lived, accompanied by two pals.

They spied an apple tree in the back yard of a certain home. Parking their bikes, they all invaded the yard, climbed the tree and shook many of the apples.

The irate housewife rushed out and captured Oscar's bike, though he and his two companions got away. She then held the bicycle as a hostage.

Oscar didn't show up at the evening meal, so his father started searching for him. Ultimately, he found the bicycle and was told by the housewife why she had captured it.

When Oscar was finally found, seated and hiding, his father gave him a tongue lashing. He then told him that he had to go to jail.

Oscar was scared almost to death. His face was a white as a sheet. Tears were ready to brim over.

His father sternly marched him into the house and upstairs. He made Oscar pack his suitcase for their trip to the jail at the county seat a dozen miles away.

His father told Oscar to kiss his mother goodbye and bid farewell to his brothers and sisters.

It was a terrifying event to Oscar, who had never been away from home, even to visit relatives, let alone a fearsome jail.

Then Oscar and his father got into the car. They drove a few miles into the country. The father finally stopped the car, and ordered Oscar to bring him a witch.

Then the father switched Oscar thoroughly, but told him he had changed his mind about the jail and would take him back home, instead.

After they reached home, the father made Oscar go to the woman from whom he had taken the apples. Oscar had to apologize and pay her $1 out of his bank. But the woman graciously refused the money.

Oscar did wrong, in our courts leave the home yard or ride his bicycle except after his father returned home at night and gave him express permission.

I mention this case because punishment of children should be a fair and correct procedure.

Oscar did wrong, in our courts of law, certain fixed punishments are set for crimes of various degrees. But after the punishment is administered by the state, the victim is then a free man and is legally supposed to have acquitted himself.

If Oscar had been forced to pay the $1 for the apples, that should have been sufficient punishment, beyond possibly a parental verbal rebuke.

If he was whipped with the switch, that should have squared accounts. Or the trip to jail should have been sufficient. Or the canceling of his play privileges and the chance to ride his bike.

But it isn't fair to impose all four of these punishments on the child. His father has overdone the matter, and especially so in regard to the undue frightening of the boy with the threat of jail.

In case of doubt, perhaps it was better to punish too much than ignore such naughtiness altogether, but it is still better to be right and just.

Three Minutes A Day

By JAMES KE'LER

"Although I am an atheist, I feel we should have much more religion," was the unique remark taken by one man in a letter he wrote to his newspaper.

His note, printed in a "Letters to the Editor" column, then continued: "If we use too much ex-cuseing psychology and psychiatry, the whole system of morality, law and order collapses . . . What we need is a better moral climate; less violence in newspaper media; parental responsibility; sharper punishment; less excuses for delinquency."

Despite the fact that this man qualifies himself as an "atheist," his statement reveals that the divine impulse of God's truth is working within him.

No matter how bleak the outlook may be in your life, your community or your world, the bit of divine spark in you and in every man can neither be quenched nor eliminated.

Develop this great potential in yourself and others and you will render a service to everyone.

"He who does the will of God abides forever." (I John 3:17)

Thanks, O divine Master, for blessing every person in the world with a built-in desire to do good.

Mr. Billopp

Watering is done with a watering can or a garden hose. The watering can is a primitive utensil that strains the back, involves walking from the tap to the watering area, and eats up time.

A great advance in watering was made when the garden hose was introduced. This increases the watering range, eliminated bending over, thus saving the back. It made it possible to cover a whole garden while standing upright in the same position.

The drawback to watering with the garden hose is monotony. But this can be overcome by a waterer with imagination. It can be broken by trying for distance records with the hose, marking the farthest distance reached on a previous watering day and trying to better it.

Monotony may be overcome by moving the hose back and forth instead of playing it on a single spot, making figures in the air with it and directing it at an angle so that it makes rainbows.

Still another means of overcoming monotony is to use the hose for practice at marksmanship, picking off butterflies or teasing birds that are attracted toward the watering area. Watering also is a good way to get even with neighbors' dogs. There is no little satisfaction in taking them by surprise.

The appearance of the garden can be greatly improved by pointing the hose, not at the roots of growing things, but toward their foliage, giving leaves a nice clean glossy look that transforms the garden from a desert-like spot into a lush oasis.

By such judicious watering the waterer can complete his task in short order and turn his hand to other things.

But as he steps back to admire his handiwork, he can expect to be interrupted by an insect who pokes a stick in the ground, showing that the water has merely wet the surface and remarks that such watering is worse than no watering at all.

Down With The Fever Again

POSTCARDS by Stan Delaplane

The social event of the week in Papeete was the Miss Tahiti contest.

It was the first ever held in this picturesque Paradise, where Gauguin painted his hothouse, tropical women.

The contest was held in an appropriately picturesque setting: Tourists in Honolulu aloha shirts, English flying boat crews in RAF-type beards and khaki bush jackets, your picturesque correspondent—if I do say so myself—in a high-crowned pandanus hat and a flower behind the ear. (Ah, Hollywood!)

We immediately set about interviewing our choice, who did not turn out to be Miss Tahiti.

She turned out to be Miss Almost Tahiti. For the simple reason that she is married—in a way, it is difficult to explain.

"Tahitian girls are not jealous," she said. "So why marry?"

"An excellent question," I said. "Why aren't they jealous?"

"Because the customs of Tahiti are different." She gave me a dark-eyed, tropical look. "Very different."

"Vive la difference," I said politely. I gave her a tropical look myself.

The almost Miss Tahiti has a "husband" and two children. However, the arrangement has not been arranged by church or civil service. Therefore, she was still "Miss" to Tahiti mileage.

The contest was the most decorous I have ever seen. I saw it by peeping through a pandanus matting—no newspapermen were allowed. There were no bathing suits. No auditions of "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight."

The Miss Tahiti wobbled on high-heeled shoes. (Bare feet are island dress, from breakfast to ballroom.)

She wore modish dresses—the mode here is to squeeze into it and hope nothing pops.

There was a lot of paper work. But so far as I could see, no measurements.

It was a most enchanting evening. Enlightening, too. Sitting under the tropical stars with the tropical Almost Miss Tahiti. Giving her sultry look for look.

I put on my pandanus hat and a tiare Tahiti blossom behind the ear.

It was as picturesque a sight as you would want to see. Come over any night and see the pictures. The color slides turned out dandy.

Turkey Looks Back To Dead Leader's Outlook On Liberty For Guidance

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign Editor

Turkey, struggling toward a new concept of liberty and democracy, is looking back to the fabled founder of the Turkish republic, Mustafa Kemal Ataturk, for guidance.

Ataturk died in 1938, but he was a man who became a legend in his own time.

It was he who stood off the British at the Dardanelles during World War I and almost wrecked the career of the rising Winston Churchill.

It was Ataturk who gathered up the broken pieces of Turkey after the defeat of World War I and from them assembled and became the first president of the Turkish republic in 1923. It was Ataturk who ruled as a dictator so that eventually Turkey might become a true democracy in the Western sense.

When the army toppled Premier Adnan Menderes' near-dictatorship last week, its leaders cited the heritage of Ataturk.

Ataturk was born in 1881 in the Salonika area of European Turkey. The Ottoman empire was crumbling and Turkey was on its way to earning the title, "sick man of Europe."

He was a member of an officer class which long had been a center of Western ideas. When he came to power he put them into effect. He abolished the fez as headgear, modernized the language and discarded Arabic characters, separated church from state, established schools and gave equal rights to women.

The only survivor of the Ataturk regime is another Turk war hero—Ismet Ionu, now close to 70 years old.

Ionu served as foreign minister for 15 years under Ataturk and carried out the latter's directives establishing Turkey's pro-Western foreign policy. Then he took over a president and in 1950 ordered free elections.

It is said that a group of high-ranking army officers came to him, saluted, and said, "We are at your service."

The implication was obvious: a military coup, if he wanted it. Ionu turned them down.

The most agreeable thing in life is worthy accomplishment. —Edgar Howe

Anniversary Party Surprises Couple

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Corson of Loch Arbor, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, Monday, were honored at a surprise party at the Free Methodist Church.

Members of the church planned the celebration and to be sure that they were there at the appointed hour of 7:30 p. m. they were told that some of the family wanted to take some pictures at the church. When they arrived all the guests were there to meet them.

The party was held in the Sunday School annex and it was decorated in a gold and white color scheme. Twisted streamers framed the windows and door. Gold bells were hung in clusters at points of interest. The table was overlaid with a gold cloth and held a beautiful three tiered wedding cake, topped with a lace arch and two doves.

The gold colored punch and frothy lemon sherbert made a delicious golden drink and was served to the group of forty friends that attended. The guests presented the honored couple with a 14 carat gold tray, engraved to "George and Mable from the Free Methodist Church." They also received many smaller gifts from individual friends.

MRS. HARRIETT SLAWTER

Road Sign Erected As BPW Memorial

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Sanford had planned for several years to erect a road sign at one of the entrances to the city, but it was not until Mrs. Harriett Slawter, immediate past president, set the ball rolling with her idea, that the sign became an actuality.

Mrs. Slawter suggested that the club erect a road sign as a visible and practical memorial to the deceased members of the organization: Mrs. Sallie Mero Williams, who was the first president, Mrs. Gertrude Page, Mrs. Clara Ginn, and Mrs. Alice Harvey. This idea met with enthusiastic approval.

The sign was procured and was put in place by Mr. Slawter at the confluence of Park and French Avenues south of Sanford.

Mrs. Slawter is shown standing beside the sign on Memorial Day. Visitors to Sanford will now be made aware that our city is the home of one of the 3500 B. & P. W. Clubs in this country.

Copies of a resolution naming the sign as a memorial have been sent to the families of the deceased members.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This may be a free country, but I am living under a dictatorship. Whenever my husband and I go anywhere, he tells me what time we are going to leave before we even get there. He says, "We are going to stay ten minutes!" (Or however long HE wants to stay.)

When the time is up, he jumps up and doesn't even ask me if I am ready to leave. He starts for the door and says, "If you're coming with me, you'd better hurry up." It is so humiliating to have him act this way in front of my friends and family. I've talked to him about it, begged and practically gotten on my knees, but he's so hard to change. What can I do?

HUMILIATED DEAR HUMILIATED: Get off your knees and stand up for your rights. When your husband TELLS you how long he intends to stay, YOU tell HIM you might want to stay longer. If he doesn't want to come back for you later, get a ride home with a friend (and pick a nice-looking one) or take a taxi.

DEAR ABBY: I agreed to take my block to collect for the Cancer Society. I skipped the house next door because I knew that the husband of the lady living there was in the hospital with cancer. I just couldn't ring her bell.

When my husband came home I asked him if he thought I did the right thing. He said no, I was wrong because for all I knew those people probably wanted more than anyone else to give toward conquering cancer.

I still have my doubts, Abby. Would you, had you been in my place, have had the nerve to ring this lady's bell under the circumstances.

DEAR UNDECIDED: No. But I would have left the information in her mailbox so that she could have quietly made her decision and contributed if she wanted to.

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column concerning elderly parents who were neglected by their children. I don't want to seem heartless, but it is my experience that people usually get back what they give. Just because people happen to be parents doesn't entitle them to kindness in their old age that they haven't earned.

I know a widow who cries all over town that her children ignore her. Actually, she is to blame. All her life she made trouble for them. Her evil imagination and wicked tongue almost broke up the homes of two of her sons. Now they want nothing to do with her.

Be fair, Abby, and print this to show the other side of it.

OLD BUT NOT LONELY

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HAD IT": Any husband who will lock his 26-year-old, attractive immaculate, affectionate wife out of the bedroom is either physically or mentally sick. (Or both.) Before you see a lawyer, insist that he see a doctor.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-ager," is on sale at all bookstores.

(Skinny) Brown and he's traveled the hamburger circuit for much of his 15-year career.

The 35-year-old native of Greensboro, N.C., yielded a first-inning homer to Mickey Mantle and then went on to beat the New York Yankees, 4-1, without allowing another hit.

Frank Baumann, who has scored six of his 15 big league victories against Detroit, pitched the White Sox to a 6-0 win that handed the Tigers their fifth straight loss in the only other American League game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates retained their game-and-a-half grip on first place when Bob Friend shut out the Cincinnati Reds.

Hookie shortstop Ronnie Hansen hit a three-run homer off Duke Mias to give the Orioles the lead in the fifth inning and Brown took it from there.

The White Sox nudged Jim Bunning for two runs in the fifth and then raked up Tom Morgan in a four-run ninth featured by homers by Carl Torngren and Gene Freese.

Friend pitched a three-hitter for his third shutout and sixth win of the season as the Pirates ran their winning streak to five games and their season record at home to 10-6.

Sam Jones pitched a five-hitter and doubled home the winning run in the ninth inning to win his sixth game. Jones struck out seven and walked one.

Wes Covington drove in two runs with his third homer and a double and Joe Adcock singled home two runs as the Braves snapped a four-game losing streak. Bob Buhl went the distance for his fourth win.

Hogan, nursing an upset stomach and an erratic putter, was the sentimental favorite of the fans. But it could be Rudolph who provides the fireworks.

Rudolph flashed the form that nearly won him "Brookie of the year" honors in 1959 in posting a five-under-par 65 on his first practice round at Colonial Country Club. Rudolph had the added advantage of knowing Colonial like the back of his hand. He developed his shots on the course while a student at Memphis State University.

All Setzer and Food Fair supermarkets in southern Georgia, northwest and central Florida began giving Merchants Green trading stamps with purchases Wednesday.

But after a six-state Western campaign swing, Johnson still is withholding an announcement of his candidacy.

There is at least a good chance he will say nothing formally about being a candidate until just before the Democratic convention opens in Los Angeles on July 11—if then.

The Texas Democrat returned to the Senate late Wednesday, tired from his six-day Western trip but obviously pleased with what he found.

During his absence, his presidential hopes were given a lift by two developments.

One was a full-page advertisement carried in 18 major newspapers across the country, urging Johnson to "become an active candidate for the nomination."

The other was an editorial endorsement by the Scripps Howard newspapers, whose 19 editors joined in calling him the "ablest and strongest Democrat available" for the presidency.

"Maybe he read Guideposts and prayed about it."

REMODELING of the former Nicholson Buick building at 210 S. Magnolia Ave. is in progress in preparation for the transfer of the Senkarik Glass and Paint Company's operations to that new address. Architect Hal Harris, AIA, designed the new front and the new show rooms and offices, which will add a "new face" to Sanford's downtown business area. The cost of the project is estimated at about $20,000.

Collins, Smathers Loom As Possible VP Hopefuls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Only Florida, among all the states, can assure its three political leaders that they will get into the act and in front of the television cameras at the national Democratic convention.

Of the three, Gov. LeRoy Collins will have the most important role, the convention post of permanent chairman. He was chosen last week by the Democratic National Committee.

Sens. George A. Smathers and Spessard L. Holland currently are assigned to minor roles at the convention but in Smathers' case, this could change as the convention moves along.

Smathers will go to the Los Angeles convention as the state's "favorite son" candidate. Present plans call for him to release the delegation without instructions after the first ballot. However, he probably will endorse Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and try to take the entire delegation with him into Johnson's camp.

Holland has been assigned (two bit parts. The senior senator will place Smathers' name in nomination and will be a member of the platform committee, as he was in 1956. He can be expected to do all he can to limit any civil rights provisions of the platform. Smathers and Collins could become even more prominent in the convention once the presidential nominee is selected and the Democrats start looking around for a running-mate. This would be true, however, only if the convention wants someone from the South as it did in 1952 and 1956. Both Collins and Smathers have been mentioned frequently as possible vice presidential candidates, although Collins may have lost some favor with Southern delegates because of his moderate stand on the racial issue. His own state last week picked a strong segregationist, Farris Bryant, over a Collins-endorsed moderate Doyle E. Carlton Jr.

Runaway Brothers Die In Fiery Plane Crash

POMONA, Calif. (UPI) — Two runaway brothers aged 12 and 14 were killed early today when a light plane they apparently stole crashed and burned in a school playground.

Bible School Starts Monday

Preparation Day for the Pinecrest Baptist Church Vacation Bible School will be held Friday from 9 a. m. to 1 a. m. at the church.

The Bible School will begin on Monday and run until June 17. All children between the ages of three and 16 are welcome to attend.

Both boys had run away from their home Monday. Both of the brothers were in love with flying, friends said. They had attempted to steal a plane several weeks ago but were caught, police said.

Fire spread rapidly through the light plane. Spectators managed to pull the body of one of the brothers out of the flaming wreckage but were unable to get to the other body before the fire was put out.

"Both boys must have been dead even before the flames hit them," said De Moss. "One boy's wristwatch was stopped at 10:10, the time of the crash."

The plan would cost the federal government about 190 million dollars a year. The states would put up about 150 million under various matching formulas.

Ike 'Dangerous,' Khrushchev Says

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev launched another bitter personal attack on President Eisenhower today, saying he was irresponsible, unfit for office and "dangerous" as the head of a major state.

Khrushchev also claimed that Eisenhower told him at Camp David he did not favor unification of Germany because he feared a strong Germany.

In Washington, the White House today described Khrushchev's claim as "absolutely untrue."

As he did at a press conference in Paris at the collapse of the summit conference last month, the Soviet premier gesticulated with both hands in an excited manner as he lashed out at Eisenhower before 400 newspaper, television and radio correspondents.

He offered Eisenhower a job as "manager of a kindergarten" in Russia where he could "do no harm."

54,757!

Seminole County's population will be more than doubled this year over the 1950 census, with 54,757 people already on the census books and a few more still not officially counted.

County population in 1950 was 26,883.

The City of Sanford census lists 19,017 residents as compared to 11,815 in 1950.

City and county officials have been estimating that the county population would be about 52,000 and that of the city would reach near the 20,000 mark. This puts the new county figure more than 2,000 above the estimates and Sanford count approximately the same as the guess.

Some residents of the county still have not been added to the official census roll and the count is continuing, the district census office announced earlier this week.

Residents Protest Drainage Ditch

Residents massed at the Longwood Town Council meeting Thursday to protest the open ditch drainage started by the developers of the Longdale Subdivision.

The councilmen were questioned as to the validity of the developers using an open ditch for drainage purposes, and were asked if the council had approved it.

County Commissioners approved the Subdivision plat at their last meeting.

The property owners complained that the action on the matter of the value of their property, and said it is permitted to remain open it could become a health menace.

The councilmen said when the plat was approved, there was no mention or indication that an open ditch was to be used.

Mayor A. R. Larrison said he felt the arguments by the protestors was not valid at this time as the whole community uses open ditch drainage.

"I can't see where we can discriminate against these developers," he said.

Residents argued that open ditch drainage is no longer being allowed in the county and that it should be stopped.

The councilmen then voted to withhold any action on the matter until they could meet with the property owners and investigate the effect the open ditch will have on the abutting residences.

In other business, the council accepted the American Cast Iron Pipe Co.'s bid for 1,200 feet of pipe at $1.30 per foot. The pipe will be used by the town's water works department.

The town fathers also approved the purchase of eight fire hydrants at $12.45 each from low bidder, R. D. Wood and Co.
