Area Beauties Vie Saturday For 'Miss Seminole' Title

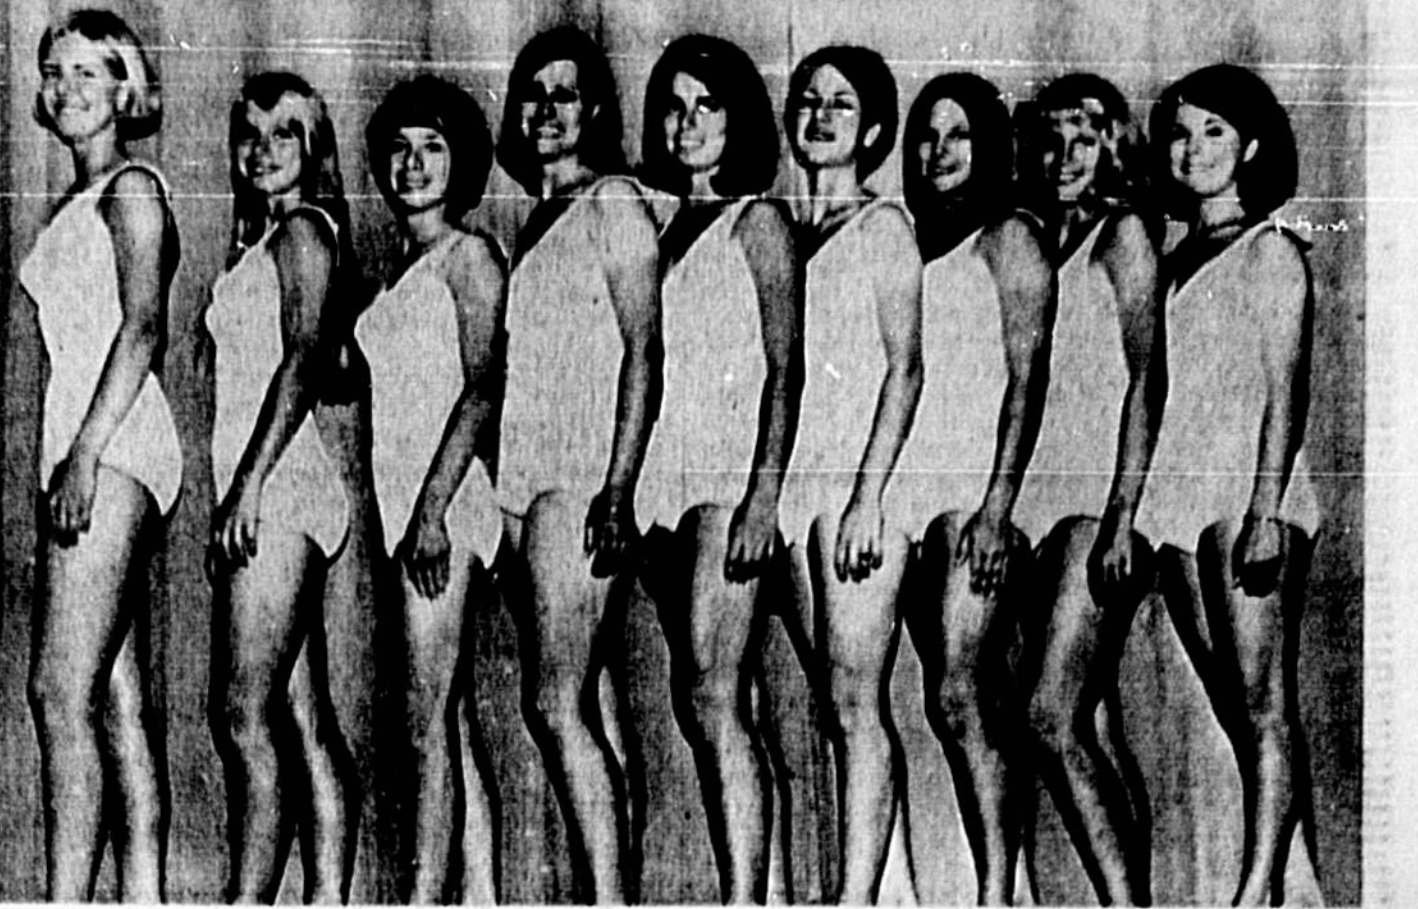

By CHARNEY LEONE
Miss America's Seminole County girl? The step is a long one, and 16 local beauties will put their best foot forward at the Civic Center Saturday night at 8 as they vie for the Miss Seminole County crown that will start the level on her way to a nationwide dream.

But meanwhile there's a lot of plain, old-fashioned hard work to be done, as the dreams are put away for now to be dusted off later when there is time for such stuff.

A cacophony of sound greets the onlookers. Organ music, piano songs, girlish chatter and giggles that reveal 10 cases of "nerves," a well-voiced or two and finally a man's voice over the microphone brings a hush over the group of 25 to 30 persons, scattered throughout the hall, give a clue to the excitement in the air over the county's first Miss Seminole County pageant.

'It's A Waste Of Money'

By DONNA ESTES
Altamonte Springs Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford today branded the state audit of city books and records, which was held yesterday afternoon on formal request of Councilman William Nickols, Albert Sabharwal and Donald Martin, "a waste of the taxpayers' money."

Swafford stated the audit was unwelcome and "I will cooperate with them and help the clerk to do so."

Office of State Sen. Bill Guter, chairman of the 1965 state legislative auditing committee, told The Herald by telephone from Tallahassee that he had just received a letter sent air mail special delivery under the signatures of the three councilmen requesting the audit be held at cost of $5,000 also returned a good report "that all city books be audited and examined to the extent necessary to get true picture," and with acknowledgment in the letter that the three members realized expenses of the audit will be billed to the city. Guter ordered the matter accomplished. The senator insisted "the entire thing be handled in the usual and customary and established procedure for

Parents of the child and neighbors reported the incident to the sheriff's department and were in turn referred to a police officer who was on duty at the time.

More Fuel Added To 'Blaze'

By BILL SCOTT
Sanford's Zoning and Planning Commission, by an action during last night's meeting, added fuel to the fires that blaze every time the subject of changing the present angle of parking on First Street is heard when by a 3-2 vote, the body asked the City Commission to return parallel parking of vehicles to First Street.

The Citizen Advisory Committee, which is chaired by Art Harris, passed the recommendation Wednesday night and requested Harris to bring the matter before the zoning group.

of which Harris is also a member. Harris moved to recommend to the commission the change and it squawked.

By reason for the change, it was reported by Harris, is the problem created by present angle.

He said a mall for downtown with no parking is still in the future and what was needed was an immediate plan to develop downtown area now.

Duke, in another action, explained a two-year work program to the voters which he outlined on two visual aids.

These consisted of three involvements: plan development, research and analysis and implementation procedures.

The consultant said he would have a land use plan ready for next meeting on May 5.

Film Promoting County Under Study By CofC

A film promoting Miami Beach, as shown to members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce advertising and promotion committee, at an early morning session today.

Exhibiting the 13½-minute color film with sound was Don Parisher of Don Parisher Productions, of Miami Beach, who explained that a suitable film highlighting Seminole County and Sanford could be made for $3,500, same price charged 15 years ago when he made another film for the Chamber of Commerce entitled, "Progressive Seminole County."

Parisher said the film could have Roger Pryce, former film star, and Johnny Olson, radio and television announcer, as narrators for the Chamber of Commerce film, which would show the county's attributes to potential industries and tourists.

Additional prints of the film could be had for $50 each, he informed, and suggested at least 25 copies should be purchased and made available to Florida Development Commission for distribution to interested firms, persons and television stations.

He said a good prime time television showing would not from $5 million to $6 million persons.

William Beck, chairman of the committee, asked Parisher to send a letter outlining particulars concerning the film and suggesting how the Chamber could raise funds to pay for the cost.

Pastor's Corner Gaze Into Heaven

By REV. LEROY D. SOPER
Holy Cross Episcopal Church

Thursday was Ascension Day, the day the Church celebrates the ascension of Jesus to sit at the right hand of God the Father.

This celebrates up into heaven in our minds. Maybe we visualize a sort of heavenly elevator coming down to pick up the Lord, or perhaps we are influenced by Cape Kennedy and see a divine rocket blasting off into space. We really don't know how to describe the event very well, since the Bible story is not very detailed. Luke tells the story at the end of his gospel and concludes with the information that the apostles returned to Jerusalem, rejecting. On the other hand, in Acts, Luke tells the story a little differently. He says the disciples were standing around waiting on into heaven when angels came to them and asked, "Why stand ye gazing up into heaven?"

There is a real clue in this question. Of course we need to "gaze into heaven" so that we may behold the things of God and lift up our hearts and minds onto a high spiritual plane. At the same time, Jesus came to give us life in the here and now as well as in the future, and we must not allow ourselves to stand around doing nothing but gazing up into heaven. We need to get about the business of telling the world about Jesus.

According to Mark, Jesus' last words to his followers were, "Go ye therefore into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." So whether we are reading Mark, Luke, or Acts, we see that we are really commanded to get out into the world to show every creature the glory of our risen Lord.

In modern times we need to heed this directive, since we are inclined to change it around a little. All too often we change the message to "Come into the church. Come apart from the world, come and be tested." In a way we have fallen into the habit of standing and gazing into heaven when we have a real imperative to quit standing around and get to the business of going — going into the world to tell about Jesus.

The message of the Ascension completes what we have learned at Christmas and Easter. God has sent His only Son into the world. This Son has demonstrated completely in the crucifixion just how much God loves mankind, and, in dying on the cross and rising from the dead, He has proved that death is not the end of our being, and we need not be enslaved by fear, evil, or sin. In ascending into heaven, Christ, the son of God and the son of Mary, lifts up our manhood into heaven, too. As He sits at the right hand of God the Father, Christ understands all our temptations and sorrows, and intercedes with the Father on our behalf. This is one reason we usually conclude our prayers with the words, "Through Jesus Christ our Lord." He takes our prayers and intercedes with the Father for us. It is because the whole drama of redemption has been played out that we can follow the commandment of Jesus to go into the world and tell the world about Him. We know that God loves us. We know that our sins are forgiven us. In viewing the ascending we have a final bit of knowledge that we need to face life — that our prayers are going to be heard and understood; our trials and tribulations are going to be rewarded; we can have hope and joy in life.

Once we have committed ourselves to Christ as Lord of life, then we can move out into the world, telling all creatures that God loves and redeems and makes life full and meaningful.

Organ Recital Slated

Central Baptist Church is inviting the public to attend an organ recital at 4 p.m. Sunday, on their new organ built by Walter Organ Co. of Meunerie, Pa. It is built to exact specifications of the American Guild Organists and is equivalent to a $4 rank pipe organ. It utilizes a principle known as an "electronic wind" to achieve natural wind-blown pipe sounds.

The organ is a 34 rank pipe organ. It utilizes a principle known as an "electronic wind" to achieve natural wind-blown pipe sounds.

Luis Harold Sanford, the recitalist, is organist-chaplain for the St. John Lutheran Church in Winter Park. He is held by friends and associates in the music profession in regard not only for his foundation in musicology, but for his feeling for musical interpretation.

He is also known as a piano virtuoso and has appeared with his talented wife in duo piano concerts. A graduate of the Juillard School of Music, he received his Bachelor of Music Degree from New York City's Union Theological Seminary and is a member of the American Guild of Organists.

Dr. John C. Updegraff, executive minister for Florida Christian Churches, will lead the assembly communion service on Friday night and speak for the Christian Men's Fellowship breakfast for ministers in another state.

The congregationally governed Christian Churches traditionally conduct a limited amount of business at their state assembly-plans for inter-congregational programs will be mapped, financial goals set and officers elected to guide the inter-church programs.

On Saturday afternoon two large, predominantly lay enterprises — Christian Men's Fellowship and Christian Women's Fellowship — will discuss merger. Mrs. W. W. Thrasher of Ft. Lauderdale is CWF president and Wallace Grace of St. Petersburg is CMF president.

Although First Christian Church of Lakeland is host congregation for the 1969 assembly, all major sessions of the two-and-a-half day assembly will be in the Civic Center.

Congress Probes Medicaid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is probing whether as much as $40 million a year is being misused from the Medicaid program through abuses by doctors, dentists, druggists and nursing homes.

Senate hearings are planned shortly as a climax to a staff investigation of soaring costs, rich fees and possible fraud in the $1 billion, 38-state program of free health care for the poor.

An Associated Press examination of Medicaid operations in a half dozen states found:

— In New York, a dentist clinning a second-floor walkup rented in an East Harlem slum got more than $400,000 in Medicaid payments over the past two years. In a court suit, the city has accused him of false billings and fraud.

— In Baltimore, nine doctors, a dentist, two pharmacists and an accountant have been indicted on charges of conspiring to defraud Maryland's Medicaid program. The probe was centered on a small, cramped drug store that was the highest paid in the state last year at nearly $20,000. Above its door is a sign: "Health Is Our Only Business."

— In Southern California, investigators told of dentures ordered in nursing homes for dying cancer patients, special shoes for bedridden invalids, and expensive prescription sunglasses for a blind man.

— A nursing home near Sacramento, Calif., has been accused in suspension proceedings of billing for patients after they died. In one case, records indicated the daily charge was doubled shortly after death.

— In New York City, health officials found one foot specialist touring nursing homes and collecting $2,000 a month from Medicaid for his services—charging two dollars.

The soaring price of both Medicaid and Medicare has prompted plans for the Senate Finance Committee to put both programs under the microscope at special hearings this summer when its staff finishes the probe now underway.

Medicaid, the federal-state program paying for private medical care for welfare recipients and other poor patients, was passed almost unnoticed in 1965 as part of the law creating Medicare for the elderly. Its costs have run far beyond projections, climbing at almost a billion dollars a year.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance Committee Chairman, charged in a bill this summer that some of the officials interviewed could pinpoint the exact amount because watching of funds by federal agencies have been both blind and toothless.

Nixon's Vietnam War Analysis And Peace

President Nixon's eight-point peace plan has been much in the news since an obvious aim of this major policy speech — is not, at this writing, desirable.

But what is easily understood is the responsible approach of the President to this major issue. Leaving no possibility of doubt by his critics at home or "the other side" abroad, his half-hour broadcast-TV address contained phrases which need to be remembered, analyzed and meditated.

Why now? The time has come for some new initiatives. Repeating the old formulas and the tired rhetoric of the past is not enough.

In his eight points, the President asked for a mutual withdrawal from South Vietnam of all non-South Vietnamese forces and specified a 12 month period.

Creation of an "international supervisory body" which would verify withdrawals and also see that the cease-fire is held to allow full and free choice by the Vietnamese of their government was included.

Here are some of the phrases which contain meanings far beyond the obvious: "What the United States wants for South Vietnam is not the important thing. What North Vietnam wants for South Vietnam is not the important thing. What is important is what the South Vietnamese people want for themselves."

Also: "Our fighting men are not going to be worn down; our negotiators are not going to be talked down; our lands are not going to be let down."

Referring to the increased attacks by the enemy and increased American casualties, the Commander-in-chief stated: "Let me make one point very clear. If the enemy wants peace with the United States, that is not the way to get it."

This speech was delivered after a period when rumors had been circulating with more than the usual volume that some drastic pronouncement would be made on troop withdrawals.

Nothing drastic was, however, forthcoming. Any such action would not be included in any negotiations leading to peace.

But in one paragraph President Nixon did refer to the increased battle efficiency of the South Vietnamese and the probability that this proficiency would allow the South Vietnamese to "take over some of the fighting fronts now being manned by Americans."

Reaction to the speech has been generally favorable. At home the clarification was welcomed on an almost non-partisan basis. Overseas the careful analysis by important diplomats continues.

President Nixon did not overlook the fact that in his 1968 campaign he had pledged to "end this war in a way that would increase our chances to win true and lasting peace in Vietnam, in the Pacific and in the world."

His determination to fulfill this pledge is still firm and he will expect to be held accountable by "the American people" if he fails.

This is the kind of hard, clear and understandable speaking that is easily accepted and remembered. It is also illustrative of the whole tone of this major policy speech.

For President Nixon this is his first formal address on the Vietnam war. It follows a path which was first tried by President Truman, when Korea was the main road and Indochina (Vietnam) only a bypath.

In 1954 President Eisenhower placed the responsibility on Congress to "declare war" where it constitutionally rests. Yet in 1962 President Kennedy started the build-up of United States forces in Vietnam which was carried on by President Johnson.

Each had made statements. Each had borne the burden. Now the words from President Nixon define the burden as one which has expanded to the peace of the world.

It was a speech that now is on the historical record. It is also one, the results of which can be measured only as time defines its impact on our times!

Thinking Big!

Downtown Sanford transformed into a New Orleans type fun-filled southern city!!!

"Im-Possible." In the words of Sam Goldwyn? Not at all, in the words of Alex Serrano, Downtown "Go Sanford" Merchants Association, president.

"How interesting!" In the words of you-know-who on the you-know-what TV program.

As for us. How remarkable and how welcome and how stimulating! This is the sort of bold thinking and bold planning and bold action that can pay very high dividends.

Couple this vision of re-built store fronts with the in-being act of new treatment of First Street and you can get some idea of this future metropolis which others have envisioned during the recent past.

Some-how or other there are parallels between New Orleans on the Mississippi River and Sanford on the St. Johns River which now can be fitted into a beautification, recreation and tourist-attraction jig-saw puzzle.

Does this mean, for instance, that there will be side-wheelers or paddle-boats on Lake Monroe? How about a "Mardi Gras?" As for the latter our beautiful lakeside city has a bounty of beautiful ladies and gallant gentlemen to provide the participants.

We could also call on our nearby residents who would then look towards Sanford... the Sanford of a vital, enthusiastic and very modern group of merchants who not only can dream but can act.

Rejuvenated, re-modeled, re-vamped "Downtown" could be easily expanded north to the lakefront and the attractive Marina complex of Holiday Inn and Monroe Harbor. Food and lodging for man and boat or south to those streets which bound Sanford's expanding shopping areas.

Isn't this something to think about? To think about happily and constructively? And to salt it all down with some realistic pondering which could make the trend if not the specifics, realities!

Screams: A Defense-Alarm

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. M. L. # 2
CASE 3-595: Mary H., aged 26, is the wife of an Indianapolis doctor.

They were building a new house in a nice residential section and late one afternoon decided to drive out to view it. Mary had her own car and went ahead, while the doctor followed.

But he stopped at a little stop to buy some doughnuts for next day's breakfast.

When Mary arrived, she walked up the steps to the front porch and was just looking around for a moment before entering the door when a man jumped up beside her.

He tried to jerk her purse away from her.

Mary held on tightly and began screaming at the top of her lungs to try to attract the aid of her neighbors.

But nobody paid any attention to her cries for help.

Meanwhile, the intruder pulled her off the porch and wrestled her to the ground.

Then he fled, since she still kept on screaming.

Mary's husband now turns the local news printed in this newspaper.

In law, it is called mayhem when a foe injures your body and that destroys your hand or foot.

But when you honest taxpayers skip and save and struggle for many years to acquire a house or little farm, then that real estate is likewise a part of your total personality.

Tauevery and vandalism of this sort is like a stab in the back to you. It is a mere indignity in self-defense when you defend your private property.

Our famous Constitution thus protects us from even unwarranted search and seizure by Uncle Sam; so you are entirely justified in likewise protecting yourself and your property from any lesser thieves, vandals or marauders.

But while thousands of brave American soldiers have been trying to guarantee those same rights of private property, which are basic to all other freedoms, our wistful-wash politicians in Washington for the past decade have permitted erosion of our laws.

Maudlin sentimentalists and "do-good" even decried our loyal police officers and have tried to yell "Brutality!" when honest taxpayers are being safeguarded by those same police.

What U.S. foreign policy specialists are especially anxious to determine is whether Russia or Red China is backing Premier Kim. Did he seize the Pueblo and then destroy the U.S. reconnaissance plane with the knowledge of Moscow or was he encouraged by Peking to exploit the reaction of the with an "American paper tiger?"

Pyongyang's trigger-happy strongman is a former Soviet citizen, who came to power with the aid of Moscow. But there is no evidence that the Kremlin was aware he would attack the EC-121 so soon after the Pueblo incident.

The Russians, in fact, are reported to have warned Kim that another war on the Korean peninsula would be sheer "adventurism."

Now for these reasons to assume that Kim, never noted for his moderation, acted with the encouragement of China. Peking never trained Kim, who killed scores of Mao Tse-tung's partisans when he seized power in 1968.

Why, then, does he risk U.S. retaliation without the assurance that he will be backed by Russia or China?

According to East European diplomats, Kim, like most Communist dictators, needs a war pretense to whip up national sentiment and divert the attention of North Korean citizens from home economic difficulties.

Above all, he seeks to destroy the power of attraction of South Korea, whose relative freedom and economic progress is a constant threat to him.

Who Is Backing North Korea?

By LEON DENNEY
NEA Foreign News Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(NEA)—The Nixon Administration is still searching for the reasons behind the "international act" of North Korea's dictator Kim Il Sung, late he preparing to launch a full-scale guerrilla war against South Korea not unlike the one under way in Vietnam?

What U.S. foreign policy specialists are especially anxious to determine is whether Russia or Red China is backing Premier Kim. Did he seize the Pueblo and then destroy the U.S. reconnaissance plane with the knowledge of Moscow or was he encouraged by Peking to exploit the reaction of the with an "American paper tiger?"

The Friendly Season
By: Fred Van Pelt

"Confusion and amusin' was a term used in a comic strip a number of years ago. The same could apply today in a visit to the State Legislature while in session.

One would wonder how anything worthwhile could be accomplished in all the confusion... and it becomes amusing — to the onlooker.

But after taking a closer look, the bystander will note that much is being accomplished... for the most part for the good, some not so good. A great majority of the lawmakers are sincere, dedicated public servants. A handful should never have been elected, for all the good they accomplish.

Bypassing the propriety of the recently enacted 1,000 per cent salary increase for legislators for themselves, they are, for the most part, hard working individuals.

The big farm equipment makers are not interested at this point. They need not worry a vasty blawg domestic market than North Carolina and other producers of discounted tobacco can provide, but a large foreign outlet as well.

Economists studying the North Carolina coastal plain do not think, though, that this reluctance will block impending change. They foresee producing some smaller manufacturing to produce the harvesters which will revolutionize tobacco production.

The drive to mechanize seems inexorable. It is not held even by the threat of another long spell of net emigration from the state.

While the technologists pour over machinery blueprints, engineers expertise and general planners try to find ways to keep North Carolina's potential migration pool from flooding the market. As a subsequent report will show, some of these efforts have deservingly drawn national attention.

If they fail it means thousands more people packed into northern inner cities. And diminished machine and labor resources here. Says former Gov. Terry Sanford: "We just can't stand the kind of migration we've had — our best young people, black and white."

Apparently the legislators feel some guilt in upping their respective salaries to $12,000 annually, plus plenty of fringe benefits. For now, they are giving the Sanford City Commissioners the right to "set their own salaries," while county officersholders are looking for a hefty pay raise in a state-wide bill.

Prior to the 1964 election, county officersholders seeking re-election remained mum about their salaries... but right after the election they were clamoring to the local legislative delegation for pay hikes... and got them.

Som after the 1968 election Art Beckwith and Cami Bruce led the lawmakers through another salary increase. But a general bill, if approved (and there's no doubt but that it will), will give the county judge, $16,000; sheriff, tax assessor, clerk of circuit court, $13,000; tax collector, $13,000; county commissioners, $9,000; supervisor of elections, $9,000; school board members, $3,500; superintendent of schools, $19,000.

(County Commission Chairman John Alexander has been quoted as opposed to this measure.)

Rumors reach this desk that the Populian hierarchy is looking for a new assistant state attorney for Seminole County. The incumbent lost two murder trials and a rape trial in two weeks. (Report is that Sanford police had a signed confession in one of the murder trials.) Gov. Claude Kirk has assigned Orange County State Atty. Robert Egan as a special assistant in the upcoming lottery trials.

A political survey tapped Sen. Bill Gunter as one of the bright stars on Florida's horizon, forecasting a bright future for the young senator from this district. It doesn't take much political insight to realize that the Orlanidan has his sights on a rung higher up the ladder than the state Senate. In fact, this writer heard him charged in Tallahassee of having his eye on the governor's chair. And he did not deny it.

It is undoubted that his proposal for a 100-member unicameral legislature was defeated yesterday by the Senate Judiciary committee 7-5. He expected it because he was already out with petitions to have the question put on the ballot.

The old saw, "If you can't fight city hall, join 'em," was reversed this week by former Sanford City Commissioner M. L. Eaborn Jr. He repeatedly had tried to have the commission approve having the voters select the mayor. He took the matter to the legislative delegation. The city hall group nixed it with the legislative delegation, even as late as last Monday night. But Eaborn went to Tallahassee Wednesday and persuaded the delegation to reverse itself.

Eaborn, to scotch any rumors, said yesterday, "I am not or will I be a candidate for mayor, for the city commission, or any other office."

Tempers Flare; Session Waxes Hot Senate, House To Settle Fights

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Flaring tempers have brought some lawmakers to their feet, slaking from chambers, as debate on government reorganization and major spending moves a close in the Florida Legislature.

Senate House conference committees this weekend may receive the go-ahead to work out differences between the Senate and House versions on the two important pieces of legislation.

Richard Pettigrew, D-Miami, chairman of the House Reorganization Committee, predicted easy passage of the restructuring bill despite tough opposition encountered Thursday by the dominant, strong government forces.

"Pro Cabinet forces in the House walked out in a huff and then returned to successfully beat down House Speaker Fred Schultz's attempt to extend the time of adjournment until the reorganization bill was passed.

A compromise plan to put law enforcement under the cabinet, rather than solely in the hands of the governor, was approved but only after Cabinet forces first snubbed the committee.

Abortion Bill Killed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida's 101-year-old abortion law got another lease on life Thursday night as a Senate committee voted down a House measure that would have permitted doctors to perform abortions only to save the life of the woman or to prevent her from becoming pregnant as a result of rape or incest.

The 7-6 vote by the Senate Judiciary Committee, if passed in the Senate, which passed an abortion bill in the 1967 session only to have it killed in the House.

After defeating the House bill, the committee voted 8-5 to pass temporarily a similar Senate bill and it was sent to a subcommittee.

Proponents would be facing a race against time to get the bill through the House and Senate. The Legislature is scheduled to adjourn in three weeks.

If the House approved measure had cleared the committee, it would have gone to the floor of the Senate with time to spare for a conference committee to work out differences if the Senate passed over the bill with changes.

Sen. Robert Shevin, D-Miami who sponsored the Senate bill and labored to get the House bill through the committee pleaded for its passage.

"This is a decision to be made between the medical profession and a patient," he said. "It involves the rights and dignities of those who are alive."

The proposed legislation would broaden existing law which allows abortions only when the life of the woman is in danger.

Senator Holland Reserves Perch On Lucky Nail Keg

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Local politicians said Thursday that a letter from Sen. Spensard Holland, D-Fla., expressing a desire to hang onto his right to sit on a lucky nail keg might mean that Holland does not plan to retire from the Senate with his present term expires.

Holland sent a letter to Dick Greco Sr., the father of Tampa Mayor Dick Greco, and included this postscript:

"I would appreciate your reserving title to the seat on the nail keg until later in the year."

Greco runs a paint store and owns the keg on which Holland has perched for luck during each of his senatorial campaigns.

Gov. Claude Kirk was refused permission to sit on the keg when he ran for the Senate against Holland, Greco said.

Clinics On Tap For Ag-Wen

Training meetings, clinics and institutes have been an excellent source of information for agricultural producers and others who have a need for it. Two such programs are scheduled for the near future. A Horsemanship Clinic will be conducted in Lutzville on the weekend of May 10th and 11th. It is co-sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Lake County Horsemen's Assn. This clinic is designed especially for the family horseman but should also be of interest to the professional. Subjects covered will include grooming, conformation, showmanship at halter, Western pleasure, stock seat and equitation training, trail class and barrel racing. Copies of the program giving all the details are available at the County Agent's or County Home Economics Agent's office. This appears to be an excellent and rather inexpensive opportunity for all horse owners to learn more about horsemanship and care of their animals.

Police Slaying Suspect Wounded In Gun Battle

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A man wounded in the slaying of a Miami Fla. policeman was shot and wounded early today in a battle with two officers of whom one was wounded. Chief Inspector Bill Crumby identified the man as Jesse James Gavin who had been sought for more than a week for the Miami shooting. Crumby said Gavin had a handgun taken during a holdup on the weekend of May 8th and 9th. Police said that he was in Memphis driving a stolen car. Crumby said that Gavin pulled out a pistol and started shooting when the officers approached him. Gavin was wounded in the side and police Lt. Carl Watson was shot in the right foot as he reached for his gun. Watson and returned Gavin's fire. Police said that Gavin had been looking for Gavin all night after receiving a report he was in Memphis driving a stolen car. They said he was armed with a .38 and .22 caliber handgun. Gavin, 22, a gap-toothed Negro known as Gabby, was charged in Miami with first degree murder, kidnapping and armed robbery. Patrolman Ronald McLeod, 30, McLeod, shot in the brain May 7, died the following day. McLeod, father of three, was shot off his motorcycle as he answered a holdup call near downtown Miami. A nine-year-old boy was killed.

Just Like Behind The Iron Curtain
Tourist's Home Movies Shake FBI
WASHINGTON (AP) — Leonard Donahue's home movies from Christmas are ready now for the FBI to finish editing the film. Donahue and his wife came to Washington last Christmas to see their daughter for the holidays and await the birth of their first grandchild. Donahue, a 30-year resident of Fort Dodge, Iowa, used a lot of film in shooting movies of his daughter's home and the area in and around Washington. The movie-making made them the subject of a four-month security investigation by the FBI. He looked like a big white golf ball on stilts, said Mrs. Donahue. "You know, when we took the pictures we saw a car parked along the road and we joked that maybe there was a spy in the neighborhood," she said. "By then we could have sold anything we wanted to the Russians," Mrs. Donahue said. The FBI showed up last Feb. 22 at their Iowa home after tracing a license number and talking with Donahue's fellow employees at National Gyrotron Co. in Fort Dodge. "He seemed satisfied and said the whole thing would probably be dropped," said Mrs. Donahue. An FBI spokesman in the Bureau's regional office, asked to explain why pictures could not be taken of objects visible from public roads, said "Any time someone would see a picture of a restricted area it could present a problem of possible security aspects. I just don't want to get involved in a discussion of all government policies that have to do with restricted areas."

'Blister' Hurts Oak Leaves

By DAVID INVOLL
Asst. County Agent
Man of you have probably noticed brown blisters on some of the leaves of oak trees. This is oak leaf blister which is probably the most common leaf disease of oak in Florida. In cool wet spring such as this year, it can become epidemic and infect the majority of oak leaves. Heavy infestations for several successive years may kill trees. Usually other than some growth loss, unsightly leaves and excessive leaf fall, no damage is experienced by the tree. Live Oak, Water Oak and Laurel Oak seem to be particularly susceptible to oak leaf blister, however, all species of oaks are infected by this disease. The fungus caused blisters to start on the young growing leaves and first appear on the underside of small, slightly depressed green colored areas. The mycelium stimulates the leaf cells to abnormal activity and the blisters may be as much or larger in size when mature and are brown in color. No chemical control measures are recommended for this disease under forest conditions. Even though this disease is unsightly and causes considerable concern to the homeowner, it rarely if ever kills an otherwise healthy tree. Valuable ornamental shade trees may be protected by fungicide applications. However, it is necessary to spray the entire tree and the chemical has to be applied BEFORE the buds swell which would be in early February. At that time, use copper spray in large quantities. Use a mat at the label and use with a sprayer sticker.

National Guard Called To U. of Calif. Battle

By JACK SCHEIDTMAN
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — National Guardsmen ringed the University of California's parkland today in the wake of a battle between police, hippie squatters, students and demonstrators in which 50 persons were injured. The hippies, claiming use of the land as a "people's park," threatened police outside a residential building with a barrage of rocks. Police fired into the crowd with tear gas shells and smoke loaded with birdshot. An automobile was overturned and burned. Police were bombarded with missiles thrown from roofs. Three were injured, one with a knife wound in the chest. The injured included two newsmen, Don Wagers of the San Francisco Chronicle and Daryl Lembo of the Los Angeles Times. They were hit by birdshot. They were seriously wounded.

Ersatz Ham Is Soybeans

By C. G. McDaniel
AP Science Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — It may look like ham, it may taste like ham but it may in fact be soybeans. Nutritionally, it may be better than ham. The ersatz ham, along with chicken and corn beef made of protein derived primarily from soybeans, was shown today for sampling at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists. Paris, and bacon substitutes also are made of soybeans, and lamb is being developed. William J. Downey, a vice president of Fritzsche Brothers, Inc., New York, which distributed the meat substitutes, called them "the food of tomorrow."

Protect Rug Investment

By LOUISE LONG
County Home Agent
When you buy floor coverings, you give a great amount of thought to fiber, pattern, construction and color. Floor coverings are substantial investments from which you expect much use and pleasure. Prolong the beauty and life of your rug or carpet with proper care. Use a mat at the outside entrances to cut down on sand and gritty dirt being carried into your rug. Soil and wear are generally noticeable in heavy traffic areas such as an entrance way. As soon as such trafficways begin to show signs of wear, use a professional soil, give them a professional cleaning and give them a protective finish. This will help to prevent the heavy traffic areas from becoming dingy. Traffic areas become eye-catching eyesores. As soil settles down into the pile, it acts like an abrasive cutting through the rug tufts and reducing the period of usefulness. Protect your investment with a regular cleaning program: 1. Clean daily with a carpet sweeper. 2. Vacuum carefully once or twice a week, depending on traffic and soiling conditions. 3. Have a thorough professional cleaning at least once a year. Pests need more frequent cleaning if there is heavy traffic on them. Have a professional rug cleaner do this yearly job — one who has the experience, know-how, and equipment to do the job expertly.

FSU Students Protest Arrests, Hold Squat - In

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A small group of Florida State University students staged an overnight squat in outside the campus infirmary to protest a series of student arrests and suspensions earlier in the week. The demonstrators, described as security force, began their squat Thursday night on charges of clubbing students, charges against FSU students, revocation of suspensions handed out to three students for alleged participation in an incident at an Army recruiter's on-campus stand, and abolition of a so-called "black list" of students whose privileges have been restricted. The Naples student was among four persons arrested Wednesday night on charges of using profanity and obscenity in public of interfering with an officer. The vigil Thursday night came shortly after Marshall spoke in temporary office in the infirmary. Marshall read statement defending the arrests and suspensions, contending they were in the best interests of the university. Some 200 students gathered Thursday afternoon at a campus rally that launched the protests.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Senate secretaries stand to receive a $18 a month pay hike retroactive to the start of the session April 8 under a bill cleared by the Senate committee Thursday. The average pay for a secretary now is $18 a month, and Hershey's proposal would give the secretaries and some clerks a 10 per cent pay hike. Hershey told the Senate Rules and Calendar Committee that many secretaries are earning less than they did during the 1967 session because they now are covered under the uniform pay plan for state employees.

It will be OPEN HOUSE from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. that day at the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, 505 North Primrose, Orlando. The OPEN HOUSE is being sponsored in conjunction with Armed Forces Day throughout the nation. Another interesting aspect will be a Combat Art Display. The Marine Corps Reserve's Civil Action Program will be explained through thousands of civilian in South Vietnam, which has helped with hospitals, schools, bridges, and a host of other humanitarian projects paid for by donations from the American people, and collected by Marine Reservists. The Marine Corps Reserve Training Center on North Primrose, the site for the OPEN HOUSE this Saturday, is a modern, well-lighted, air-conditioned, comfortable facility dedicated in April, 1966. It is home for approximately 180 officers and men who comprise Headquarters and Service Company (A), Headquarters and Service Battalion, Force Service Regiment, United States Marine Corps Reserve. The reservists hold regular drills the first weekend of each month along with vigorous two-weeks of active training every summer. Next month, the Orlando-based Marine Reservists travel to Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, for two weeks of training. The OPEN HOUSE should be an interesting stop for area residents who would like to say "thank you" to the servicemen and women who serve in the nation's armed forces.

DUFFING WITH DON

By TOM FARRIS

Boy does Jack McGowan wish that the pros allowed them in the leather. Not since the late Tony Lama blew one at the Buick Open has the value of the tube been treated to the agency of one of the big boys missing a "gimme" for a championship. Dean Beaman didn't waste any time in polishing the Team off as he capped a fine hole with a 30 foot birdie to win his first title on the tour. Beaman, who is the best of the older rabbits, has been looking for this win for a long time, but so had Jack. As so many of us who have been putting out completely for the first time in a while, know those little fancy pitchers are sometimes harder than the 10 footers. I'm glad mine don't cost me nine thousand dollars (or an I).

YOUTH CLINIC AT THE PALMS
Irv Waterman is planning a four-week youth clinic, with lessons on four straight Saturdays from 10:00 till 1:00 for a very low package price (Mr. Lanoob is a hint). Included in this deal will be lessons by PGA pros Irv and Bud Adams and his old sidekick. All balls will be furnished by the range, and clubs too if necessary. Age limits will be from 10 to 18, and it sounds like a great place for the kids on a Saturday with lessons from two pros and all the balls you can hit, how can you beat it.

If you are interested go by the range on 1782, or call at 222 7900. The clinic will begin on May 24 and run through June 14. Better sign up kids, Summer's closing.

MAYFAIR
Big Fletcher Cockrell shot a pair setting 76 to tie out one stroke lead over Whit Beaman in the first round of the 15 hole round robin to play in. In the first flight Pete Kostyuk and Dr. John Johnson are tied for top spot in this division with 119. In the second flight, Beaman is far in the hands of Ed Liskover with a 164, and a two stroke lead over Billy Potts at 166. Bob Olin is leading the third flight with a 171 to R. C. Whitman's 172. Bill Stepmeyer is leading the fourth flight with 177, and Terry Christensen is leading the fifth flight with the same score, with Ray Groome in second place in this bracket at 181.

Starting times for this week's final round on Saturday, May 17, are as follows:

ROLLING HILLS
Stag day was the big event of the Spring and this last Saturday 154 golfers took it up in John Franklin's semi-annual clam bake. Lots of fun was had by all, with some great shots and some not so great. In fact the best of the week in our county was shot by Forest McPherson as he holed out on the number 11 hole for a big ace. Forest had not entered the closest to the pin contest, so that prize went to another golfer. But it did enable him to win second low net with a 66 for the day. Jack Shubert took the individual prize in a match of cards over Chuck Morgan as both equalled par with 72's. In the team low net Jack and Don, who shot a 67 to edge Chuck and Bill Herman with a 68. In the low net contest Bill Herman and Howard Cant won a match of cards over the twosome of Wayne Brownell and Dick Payne with both groups shooting net 58's. Stag Kramer had the best low net score for individuals with 61. Another fine shot was turned in during the event with Ron Masten chipping in from off the green on number 10 for an eagle three, after a fine drive and a big three putt on the 43 yard par 5 hole.

VALLEY FORGE
In the men's seniors league George Williams was top senior citizen of the week, with Herb Norris in second place and Art Lamm in the third spot.

MID-FLORIDA
In this week's drought Bill Leslie shot a plus six to take home the big money with Tom Burgess and Joe Shillo shooting plus five for a land of second prize.

Sanford's 'Cale Bug' Yarbrough Set To Endorse Bug

Florida. They now have a new name for their dune-buggy. The "Cale Bug" named after NASAR's famed Cale Yarbrough.

Yarbrough was supposed to be at the unveiling of the car bearing his name yesterday, but the weather man in north Georgia prevented that from happening as the speedster was socked in near Savannah, Ga. and could not get off in his private airplane. Yarbrough does hope to make it to Sanford this afternoon and continue with the postponed unveiling.

But fun still prevailed yesterday, even without Yarbrough's presence, as numerous city and county officials along with local TV and radio personalities gathered at Mid-State's production plant located at 219 East Second in Sanford. Also on hand were Jeff Johnson, "Miss Union 78" of Orlando, who gladly demonstrated that anybody can drive a dune buggy.

Yarbrough also showed the visiting dignitaries how the beautiful fiberglass bodies were molded into streamlined shape. Following the tour, Mid-

The Only Way To Go... Tovar Ruins McNally's Bid

By MAL BOOK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Cesar Tovar called his bid the last and to be surprised by McNally, who threw only 95 pitches and faced just 29 batters. He pitched one at Washington in 1964 which was broken up by Don Lock in the eighth inning. Tovar also pitched six innings of no-hit work by McNally against the Twins in a game last year.

Andy Eichenauer's no-run triple game the Orioles a quick lead in the second inning and McNally coasted as Baltimore steadily increased its lead. Boog Powell also drove in two runs for the Orioles.

Dick McAuliffe's leadoff homer in the 10th beat Chicago for Detroit. It was the fifth homer of the year for the Tigers' second baseman.

Jim Northrup had tied the score for Detroit with a homer in the seventh, wiping out a 1-0 Chicago lead built on two walks and Ed Herrmann's RBI single.

Ed Kirkpatrick drove in four runs—three of them with a homer—leading Kansas City past Cleveland and Luis Tiant. McNally was the seventh straight loser for Tiant, a 21 game winner last year.

The victory ended a four game losing streak for the Royals.

McNally's bid was in trouble when Tovar came up to bat. "Tovar always gets his hits off me," said the left-hander, who won his sixth straight game.

He pitched two hits off him. But he pitched two good innings.

SPORTS CAR RACING

About the biggest racing news this month is the Indy 500. It is the richest and most attended race event in America, where the winner can take home from $100,000 to $200,000.

Many racers attempt to make the starting line-up, but only a few will make it in the sleek $75,000 cars.

Andy Granatelli, the STP boss, hopes to conquer the field with his Plymouth-powered entry.

Andy led the last two Indy 500s with his turbine-powered STP SPECIAL, only to have 900 feet fall his way in the last few laps of the huge race.

Dan Gurney is another hopeful after last year's race, when his Eagle cars toured second, third, and fourth. Don has changed many features on his cars with intentions of being number one this year. Come May 30th, the whole world will see if these two likable men will gain the fame and fortune that go with "Indy 500."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mario Andretti and A.J. Foyt, a pair of former national champions, will be top contenders Saturday for the pole position in the 100th running of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The top speed in Saturday's 10-mile trials will win the No. 1 starting slot for the $700,000 classic regardless of performance in addition qualifying sessions Sunday and the following weekend.

More than 140,000 fans are expected to be paid for special prices in the grandstands.

Volunteers Don't Even Sweat It
By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee's track team, which shined in the Southern Conference championship for the sixth straight time, has its sights set on claiming the NCAA title, which will be decided on the Volunteers' oval next month.

"This is the best year for us to win it in the next four or five years," said Coach Chuck Rhee on the eve of the SEC championships.

"We have six people who could win individual titles and we have several others who could score points," said Rhee, the hustling young man who has made Tennessee's track program into the best organized system east of the Mississippi.

Rhee concedes off the record that winning the S.E.C. title is no guarantee that the Vols have a strong shot at the national collegiate crown.

"This league isn't that tough," he admits.

But Rhee feels that his best athletes have a good chance at some NCAA individual titles.

The Volunteers ranked most regularly on a national basis in clutch hurdler Richmond Flowers, triple jump ace Jeff Gabel, half-miler Larry Kelly, high jumper Karl Kemmer, quarter-miler Harold McAlachy and Bill Skinner, a 29-year-old javelin thrower.

Those individual standouts and a corps of top track athletes who can beat almost anyone else in the SEC make the Volunteers the best in the Southeast.

Florida is considered the strongest challenger to Tennessee's five-year reign as champion, and Louisiana State is an other rated contender in the 37th annual track and field meet.

Hair Needs Protection From Outdoor Elements

The woman who is a sun worshiper nearly always protects her skin with a layer of cream or oil, mindful of the ravages of sun, sea and air on the complexion. But what about her hair? Usually she doesn't give it a second thought and carelessly leaves it exposed and at the mercy of the outdoor elements.

Hair suffers from an overdose of sun just as the skin does; then there's the additional punishment of frequent dazing in salt or chlorinated water.

The wise woman takes shelter under a pretty cover-up such as a wide-brimmed hat or scarf when spending the day out of doors. Waterproof bathing caps, though rather out of favor, with the younger set, still offer the best protection for hair destined to be submerged in sea or swimming pool.

Any one of the cranberry beverages, when heated, makes a bracing warmer on a chilly day.

NEW YORK (AP) — Another 20 per cent profit has been returned to investors in the hit Broadway musical, "Fiddler on the Roof." Investors have received a total 400 per cent profit on their $275,000 investment. A total of $3,212,500 has been shared equally by investors and producer Harold Prince.

FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1969
7:30-8:30 p.m. ABC. Special "Comrade Soldier." (Color) Filmed by an ABC camera crew, this documentary on the life of a Russian draftee from the day of his induction through the completion of his basic training. Although he gets excellent medical care, food and instruction, he has to put up with two-hour political lectures, an allowance of 10 cents a day, and occasional well-choreographed dance as his only form of recreation with the opposite sex. It's an interesting film, and the Russian boys come across as real people, with the opposite sex impressive and a formidable potential foe. While ABC says they were not subjected to censorship, obviously they did not have complete freedom to record whatever they wanted. You wonder what kind of punishment the Russian boys get if they step out of line.

The suspects who start to line up at that point include a suave society couple (Louis Jourdan and Dana Wynter) and a dope-nasher (Garry Don- nevan).

James Simon Kunen

But then the entire character of James Simon Kunen, Columbia University student who participated in last spring's campus uprisings, was called and at 19 wrote a book about his own experiences. It is a paradox. Born in Boston, son of a lawyer and educated at private boys' schools and Phillips Academy Andover, he finds his own affluence "abused" in the face of poverty he sees all around him.
