one of the most active anti-Communists in Central America and an arch-foe of Guatemala.

Subsequently a cache of arms was found along a lonely stretch of the Pacific coast of Nicaragua. Included were 2 submachineguns, 20 hand grenades, 4 automatic pistols and 40 rifles described as bearing hammer and sickle markings.

At the end of April, almost all of the banana workers, numbering over 20,000, in the northern sector of Honduras went out on a wildcat strike. Workers in shops, telephone exchanges and hospitals also struck, paralyzing the entire area. Guatemala lies just to the north of Honduras.

The Honduran government threw three newly arrived Guatemalan consuls out of the area and last week Secretary of State Dulles suggested they may have triggered the walkout. The strike has been well disciplined with little or no violence, but it has been endorsed by the Communist dominated Central Labor Confederation of Guatemala and the Communist-run World Federation of Trade Unions.

"We feel even more clearly than ever," said U. S. officials who asked not to be named, "that there is a degree of activity in Central America that cannot be explained by sources within the area itself."

"Each of these incidents requires time, organization and money. Conceivably each might be explained by some local condition, but their timing and aim suggests central direction and purpose."

Southern Educators, Political Leaders Begin Work On Problems

ATLANTA 18—Southern education and political leaders started work today on problems arising from the U. S. Supreme Court decision which outlawed segregation in public schools.

Yesterday's decision was generally received calmly throughout the South.

Negro leaders praised it. Reaction among white educators and politicians varied.

Governors of nearly every state involved reported they would call special committees into session immediately to study the problem.

Most outspoken was Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, a longtime advocate of segregation in southern schools.

He announced he would call the State Commission on Education in to immediate session "to map a program to insure continued and permanent segregation of the races."

A Talmadge-sponsored constitutional amendment to do away with Georgia's public school system will be voted on this fall.

Talmadge is the only governor who declared after the high court's decision was announced that his state would not abide by the decision. He said in a prepared statement.

The court has thought free the gauntlet before it. It has said the Constitution means what it says when it reserves to the individual states the right to regulate their own internal affairs. Georgia has accepted the challenge and will not tolerate the mixing of the races in the public schools or any of its public tax-supported institutions.

The fact that the high tribunal has seen fit to proclaim its views on segregation as law will not make any difference.

Officials of the National Asst for the Advancement of Colored People hailed the decision as "vindication" of a 45-year fight, and a move which "gives the lie to the Communist propaganda that American democracy is decadent."

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP, said at his office in New York that compliance with the ruling may not be completed until about 1960.

But he said he does not believe Georgia can carry out its proposal to turn the schools over to private management.

"If they put any plan into effect in the morning we will have them in court by the next afternoon," he said. "There is no possibility of getting around this clear-cut interpretation of the Constitution."

U. S. Gov. Marvin Griffin, a candidate to succeed Talmadge as governor of Georgia, quickly announced that "the races will not be mixed, come hell or high water."

Representatives E. W. Gravelle and Gilbert Faulk of the Louisiana Legislature urged that body to "take immediate steps to counteract such a decision."

Rep. Sam Engelhardt of Alabama, home of Tuskegee Institute, famed Negro college, asserted: "We are going to keep every brick in our segregation wall intact."

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, another of the leaders in the fight to preserve school segregation and himself a former Supreme Court justice, said he was "shocked to learn that the court had reversed itself."

Byrnes some time ago declared his state would refuse to go along with a decision to end segregation.

Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi said he would call for an early meeting of the state's Legal Education Advisory Committee, the group given the assignment of finding means to maintain segregation regardless of the Supreme Court's decision.

Various state officers in the South called for immediate special sessions of state legislatures to study problems and map legislation, but the only governor who said he might call a special session was Acting Gov. Charley E. Johns of Florida. He didn't indicate what his position would be.

Hollis Binehart, chairman of Florida's Board of Control, which exercises supervision over the state's universities, called for immediate preparation "for the integration of Negroes into our institutions of higher learning and our elementary schools."

Binehart, who said he was speaking only for himself, said he believed integration would be accomplished without legal action by the Negroes "providing white

Murder Case Is Still Unsolved

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. 18—Somebody knew, but nobody told the uneasy secret of the sensational Hall-Mills murder mystery.

Thirty-two years have passed since a strolling couple made a gruesome find in a lonely lovers' lane.

Under a crabapple tree, neatly laid out, were the bodies of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, handsome 41-year-old New Brunswick clergyman, and attractive Mrs. Eleanor Mills, 24 choir singer and wife of the church sexton.

The sexton's calling card was at his feet. His eyeglasses were carefully in place, a hat covered his face and the single bullet hole in his head.

Next to him lay Mrs. Mills, shot three times, her throat slashed, a scarf over her face.

Love letters between the couple were strewn at their resting place.

That was Sept. 16, 1922. The case still is unsolved.

Hall, married to a wealthy woman seven years his senior, and Mrs. Mills, mother of two teenage children, had been missing for ten days when their bodies were found.

Before the case came to its baffling climax, four years later millions of words had been printed about it and key witnesses and principals were well known to readers throughout the nation.

"Added to the usual murder mystery angles were intimations of bribery, political interference, police bungling and outright chicanery."

No murder weapon was found in deserted De Russey's Lane, but the official police search of the area was delayed until 18 days after the crime. Meanwhile, vendors sold popcorn to nightsters who tramped around the murder scene.

No careful autopsy was made and Mrs. Mills' body had to be exhumed two weeks after her burial to determine how she died.

Only then did authorities confirm that the scoundrel slayer had paid to slash her throat after firing three shots into her face at almost point blank range.

As the investigation lagged, 16-year-old Charles Mills' appeal to the governor to get things moving, she claimed a "political gang" was hampering the probe.

Finally, a special prosecutor was appointed and intensive questioning began.

He learned that the widow Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, took her husband's death with remarkable calm. She refused to look at his body, saying she wanted to remain "as he was in life."

"Our marriage was an ideal one," she said.

She told police her husband went out on the night of Sept. 11 after receiving a phone call.

The next morning, she called police to ask if any "casualties" had been reported. She did not give her name.

James Mills, church sexton, a school janitor and a man of modest means, said he knew nothing of his wife's affair with Hall.

"Do I look like a man who would stay as sexton of a church if I thought the pastor and my wife were acting wrong?" he challenged reporters.

Mrs. Mills also received a phone call that fatal night. When she left home, Mills said he asked her where she was going and she flung back "Follow me and see!"

Though both Mills and Mrs. Hall professed they knew nothing of any love affair between the pastor and the pretty choir singer, it was common gossip in New Brunswick.

Their love notes apparently had been passed in hymn books.

Townpeople said the pastor's car frequently had been seen parked in De Russey's Lane.

When questioning ended 25 days after the crime, a Somerset County grand jury refused to vote an indictment.

Two days later came the startling report that authorities had concealed from the public the story of an eyewitness to the slayings—Mrs. Jane Gibson, a woman who raised pigs in De Russey's Lane.

But little credence was given the tale of this strange, 52-year-old woman, who said she rode a mule to search for corn thieves and came upon a scene of murder in the moonlight.

With no indictments and no arrests, the Hall-Mills case simmered and fizzled out.

Four years passed.

Then in the summer of 1928, Arthur Riehl, in an annulment suit against his wife, Louise Gertrude Riehl, former downstairs maid in the Hall home, claimed she was bribed to conceal facts.

The case rocketed back into the headlines.

Twelve days later, on July 28, 1928, Mrs. Hall was aroused at her home at midnight and arrested on charges of murder.

Despite the hour and the surprise she remained calm and unruffled.

At a preliminary hearing, Mrs. Gibson—soon to be known to readers across the nation as "the pig woman"—testified the saw Mrs. Hall, her brother, Willie Stevens, and a cousin, Henry D. Carpenter, at the murder scene.

All three and another brother were arrested and charged with the murders. Charges against Carpenter were later dismissed.

As trial opened Nov. 3, 1928, interest was at fever pitch. Some 300 reporters gathered at Somerset County court house. Rooms were at a premium. One New York newspaper rented an 11-room house at $200 a week for its "pig" bureau.

Amid all this hubbub, a jury of six farmers, two clerks, a teacher, a superintendent, a mason and a blacksmith—all men—was selected.

The pig woman, now seriously ill with cancer, was the state's major witness, testifying dramatically from a stretcher carried into the courtroom. She was attended by doctors and nurses.

Calm and controlled, Mrs. Hall dressed in black for all her courtroom appearances. She testified he had not fired a revolver in 23 years. His forte was trap shooting. He claimed he was fishing near his shore home, 58 miles away, on the night of the crime.

The sensational trial was marked by a revelation by a local businessman, a vestryman in the church, that he was in the lovers' lane with another choir singer—just 300 feet from the murder scene. He had kept quiet four years to protect his own and the girl's reputation. His wife later divorced him.

The battery of seven defense lawyers, in a six and one-half hour summation, suggested that Mills or even the pig woman might have been the murderer. The defense claimed Mills had quarreled violently with his wife that he once served as a caretaker in the Hall home and had access to the love letters.

Mrs. Gibson by her own admission, the defense said, went out to hunt thieves. She could have killed the minister and Mrs. Mills and fled on her mule. The lawyers suggested.

The jury, after sitting through the month-long trial, took only five hours to return its verdict—innocent.

Of all the principal characters in this drama, only elderly James Mills is still alive—last link to a mystery still as deep as it was three decades ago.

Rotary League Contributes Much To Boys In Recreation, Citizenship

Last Monday, the Rotary Club had as its guests at its luncheon meeting, members of the Seminole High School baseball team and their coach, John Scott. Mr. Scott said we have a fine baseball team that has a possibility to win the district tournament and perhaps the state championship, but whether SHS wins or loses is not so important as what these boys have gained over the years.

To the Rotary Club should go a large measure of appreciation to the training the boys have received. Almost all of them started playing baseball in the Rotary league some years ago. Some of these boys might go far in baseball. They will go far in being useful citizens in our community.

Tomorrow night at the Memorial Stadium SHS will play Titusville. Many of the boys that our boys play against were also former little leaguers.

Before the Sanford Cardinals — Groveland game tonight there will be a game played between the pennant winning Rotary League Pirates and the A Stars; another finish to a grand training program.

Many of our local citizens have contributed in time and financial aid to this useful program. They do not ask for appreciation. However there is one way that we can say thanks for a job well done.

The Rotary League game starts at 7 p.m. and the second game at 8:30 p. m. Your attendance will mean much to the youngsters as well as the adults that have so much to do with this program.

Way Down South In Sanford, Florida

By C. R. DAWSON, BSA., MSA.

TREES — The demand for seedlings is increasing year after year. Forest Service nurseries produced 33,091,243 seedlings but orders received exceeded this figure by 32 million.

Seedlings were purchased by the following companies and distributed to private land owners and education groups to encourage reforestation of idle lands: Container Corporation of America; National Container Corporation; International Paper Co.; Canal Timber Corporation; Buckeye Cellulose Corporation and the St. Regis Paper Company.

HONEY — During Florida Honey Week Florida bears decided to get "In the Act."

Honey bees have been operated at Camp McQuarri for six years and this year is the first time the colonies have been molested by bears. Looks like the bearkeepers did a pretty good job to put across a state-wide program on advertising honey.

There is now an electrical fence which should keep brother bruin out of the apiary.

THE ROAD — Most drivers are satisfied with only half the road, but the trouble is it takes them too long to decide which half.

TERMITES — It now looks as if you won't have to worry about killing your shrubs when treating the soil around your house to keep out termites. Termites can be kept out of buildings by applying insecticides to the soil around the exterior foundations, a 2-percent chlordane emulsion will do the trick. It does not injure ivy, azalea and other such plants.

SILENCE — "Silence is golden" — not always. Sometimes gold comes to the man who has brass enough to speak up.

Name To Remember

Dien Bien Phu fell with a crash heard around the world.

Its gallant commander, in one of his last orders, called for French artillery forces to shell his own positions to make the enemy pay dearly for the victory.

For days the fortress had been cut off from supplies and reinforcements. Its defenders had repelled attack after attack by forces in such number that they were described as "human seas." Finally the garrison was surrounded, the radio voice of Dien Bien Phu was silenced. The world was left to speculate as to the fate of the men who had fought on so long in the face of such great odds.

AMES MARLOW

Large Gift Put NAACP On Offensive

WASHINGTON — In the late 1930s a man who believed to one should enjoy money he didn't earn set in motion a chain of events which are changing American social history.

It was Charles Garland, a white man whose father left him a million dollars. In his belief he had no right to the money, Garland set up a fund in hand to give to causes and organizations he considered good.

One of these was the National Assn. for the Advance of Colored People. His fund for the NAACP was $100,000 in securities. But the stock market crash of 1929 reduced its value to $30,000.

In an interview last night Walter White, who joined the NAACP in 1928 and now is executive secretary, said the $30,000 was enough to change the direction the NAACP was taking and put it on the offensive.

This new direction led to a series of test cases over 25 years in the Supreme Court, which on Monday ruled segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

But in White's words, the NAACP in 1928 was very much on the defensive. It could not afford a full-time lawyer.

It was fighting discrimination against Negroes on a case-by-case basis. Here and there it took on, without long-range planning, cases to fight in the courts. But it had to depend on the help of volunteer lawyers.

With the Garland money the NAACP for first time was able to pay for a complete study of the legal status of the Negro in America. This provided a background for planning years ahead. On what White calls a "broad frontal attack on the basic causes of discrimination."

Then in 1930, with the help of Garland's money, the NAACP hired its first full-time lawyer, Charles H. Houston of Washington, an honor graduate of Harvard.

The NAACP leadership wanted segregation anywhere — in schools, buses, trains — wiped out by the Supreme Court. But the Supreme Court itself was a gigantic handicap.

In 1936 it had ruled that segregation itself did not violate the Constitution's 14th Amendment — which says all citizens must be treated equally — and that the only time there could be a violation was when segregated Negroes were not treated equally. This ruling stood through the years.

To the NAACP this separate but equal doctrine was wrong because, in its opinion, whenever there is segregation Negroes get the worst of it and segregation itself means unequal treatment.

NAACP lawyers argued that

News Of Men In Service

Douglas F. Lossing, engineer third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Lossing of 404 French Ave., while serving aboard the Destroyer USS Uhlmann, took part in March in an Allied convoy exercise in the Far East.

The exercises included 25 British, French and American ships, and demonstrated the ability of the Allied forces to operate together effectively in protecting merchant ships from attack by submarines.

After the convoy had been delivered safely in Saigon, French Indo China, visits were made to Hong Kong, British Crown Colony, and Kaohsiung, Formosa, before the Uhlmann resumed normal patrol duties.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan. — Lt. Col. Ralph G. Moye, fifth of Mrs. Heulah B. Moye, 107 E. Fifth St., was one of 295 student officers graduating May 12 from the associate course at the Army's Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The 10-week course qualifies officers for duty with the general staff of combat division or logistical commands and familiarizes them with the duties of the general staff at corps and army levels.

Colonel Moye, whose wife, Susie, lives at 1600 Snow Rd., Lawton, Okla., will now proceed to a new assignment overseas. A 1935 graduate of the University of Florida, he served in Europe during World War II.

FORT JACKSON, S. C. — Pvt. David M. Weichel, son of Mrs. H. C. Weichel, 1015 Magnolia Ave., 14 days leave. He is assigned to Company G of the 504th Airborne Infantry Regiment for basic training.

He will spend the next eight weeks here learning the fundamentals of being a soldier. This includes classroom lectures in such subjects as military courtesy, first aid and character guidance, and combat field problems involving the use of the M-1 rifle, which he will learn to fire on various ranges.

After eight weeks of training with the 101st Airborne Infantry Division, the trainee is given about 14 days leave. He may return here for eight more weeks of infantry training, or he may be assigned to one of the many Army schools.

Basic training is required of each new man coming into the Army. Fort Jackson is one of the Army's largest training stations. Primarily an infantry training post, the fort offers schooling in specialties associated with Infantry divisions, as well as combat tactics.

N. C. School Board Asks Edict Study

GREENSBORO, N. C. — The Greensboro School Board has held its superintendent of schools to start studying "ways and means for complying with" the Supreme Court decision that racially segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

Members said after passing the resolution 6-1 last night they consider it the first official affirmative reaction to the decision taken in states practicing school segregation.

Board Chairman D. E. Hudgins introduced the resolution. He said its adoption "would let the community, the state, the South and if necessary the nation know that we propose to live under the rule of law."

"We must not fight or attempt to circumvent it," he declared.

Reds Return 8 More Ships

ISTANBUL, Turkey — The Soviet Union has returned eight more ships loaned to it by the United States during World War II, leaving approximately 630 to be returned or accounted for.

Johns

(Continued from Page One) he not only fought it but voted against it. "I don't think the farmers of this state are going to be duped."

"He voted against an emergency appropriation to buy hog cholera serum. Now that he's running for governor he's a great friend of the farmer," Johns said.

The candidate said his rival is telling the people he wants more hunting and fishing lands for public use. But Collins held the big plantation owners in Leon County "get 30 days of extra hunting that you and I didn't enjoy," Johns charged.

"Does that look like LeRoy is for the sportsman?" he asked.

Johns said Collins "didn't tell you he made a deal with commercial fishermen that if he is elected they can seine our fresh water lakes."

He said, "I could have made the same deal but I'm against seining in our lakes. I believe fishing is our greatest tourist attraction, except for our God-given sunshine."

Collins

(Continued from Page One) "If you can spend enough and get a man's name there (before the public) often enough," he would stand a good chance of election. He added "Some people think you can buy a candidate like you buy a bar of soap."

Collins replied to Johns' statement that three state employees are working for Collins in the campaign. Johns named them as Howard Friedman of the State Department of Education, R. E. Fikes, brother of Collins' campaign manager and a state beverage agent, and George Lynch, state conservation agent.

Collins said that Friedman had gotten a leave of absence from his state job before coming to work for him in his headquarters. He said Fikes "is not actively supporting" him. He explained he

Lifer Disciplined For His Flirting

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. — Francis Silva, 23-year-old life prisoner, is in trouble for trying to flirt with Barbara Graham, 31-year-old condemned murderer and the only woman prisoner in San Quentin Penitentiary.

The prison disciplinary committee says it found Silva guilty of unauthorized communication, "wolf whistles" and loud whispers directed at Mrs. Graham. His privileges were suspended for 30 days.

The one-sided flirtation was conducted across the courtyard separating the prison psychiatric ward, where Silva is held, and the cell where Mrs. Graham is awaiting death.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Bobby Peters, 5-year-old son of an FBI agent has cracked his first case.

Bobby and his uncle were walking along Lone Oak Trail when Bobby spotted an abandoned car off the road. The uncle, Richard Peters, jotted down the license number.

The police department was notified. It turned out the car had been stolen in Danville, Ky., from Mrs. Emma Moon, a teacher at Centre College.

Here's A Word By Word Story From One Of Collins' Papers . . . The Miami Daily News Of Eastern, May 16th

BILL BAGGS - - AFTER THE BALL WAS OVER . . .

After the Collins-Johns squabble (it was more of a squabble than it was a debate), I expected the citizens of the community to be most interested in discussing which candidate looked best as he came down the antenna.

But no.

The citizens I have talked to seemed more interested in what happened after the one-hour gum-knocking session was over.

IT APPEARED TO AT least a few that Mr. Collins and Mr. Johns were on the rim of taking a swing at one another. Did they actually do it?

No sir.

We have had politicians on that television forum who appeared purple with rage and then, right after it was over, dropped anger from their faces and put arms around one another with mutual comments that it was a pretty good show.

Mr. Collins and Mr. Johns did not arm each other. I didn't even see them shake hands. They stalked off independently of one another, not saying much.

A COUPLE OF THE JOHN'S supporters were complaining their man did not have enough time to explain his Ku Klux Klan vote.

A Collins' man was mired in depression because he said Johns would not answer the questions.

Another man there said he would rather see a good baseball game. Mr. Collins presumably went to the hotel and to sleep.

Mr. Johns wandered into an ice cream parlor, where Dr. Larson and I were already seated. He appeared calm. We talked a little politics, and I allowed as to why I liked Brailley Odham better than any other candidate and Dr. Larson kept mumbling that he wanted his peppermint ice cream.

THIS FELLOW JOHN'S SEEMS to be a sort of genetic politician. He made the rounds in the ice cream parlor, talked at length with several people, asked for votes. Probably got some, too.

Mr. Johns, in the ice cream parlor, complained mildly that some questions he wanted to take on were not asked. Among these questions were the Everglades National Park, the state tax commission, dog tracks, etc. We assured him we would try to get around to these and a number of other issues next time.

By this time, it was past 12 in the night, and I suppose Mr. Collins was asleep.

But as Mr. Johns came out of the ice cream parlor, he found other hands to shake. He was still running for governor in the middle of the night.

AND THAT, DEAR READER, is what the two lions did after they crawled out of the TV pit on Thursday night. No lousy blows. No continued debate. After the show, one went to bed and the other went to an ice cream parlor.

'Irish' Potato Was Given Name Because Of Famine

The potato, a native of the Americas, was awarded the name 'Irish' potato because it sustained the Irish during a famine, Mystic Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent, relates.

This mild flavored tuber lends itself to use in every day's meals. It is an all around contributor of minerals and vitamins. Its caloric value is low enough to give it a place in low caloric diets. New Potatoes are a special treat.

For maximum food value cook the potatoes in their skins. Potatoes boiled whole in their skins in just enough water to keep them from burning retain practically all their vitamins, especially Vitamin C. The skins also help to conserve the Vitamin C of the potatoes are cooked and held for a later meal. The skins add attractiveness and color to the meal.

New Potatoes and green beans are a favorite combination for Southern meals. It is best to cook them separately and combine just before serving. If preferred, cook them together, add the beans after the potatoes have cooked 10 or 15 minutes, and are about done. This will keep from overcooking the beans.

When whole-kernel corn is canned, the corn kernels are cut close to the cob. But when corn is "cream-style," the top of the kernels are cut off and the remaining portion is scraped from the cob. Whole-kernel corn is good in pan-cakes and muffins, soups, and salads. Cream-style corn is fine also for soup and in many casserole dishes. Both styles of corn are good heated and served "as is."

TV Hit Pinky Lee Is Wowing Kids With Old Tricks

HOLLYWOOD — Pinky Lee, the new hit of daytime TV, is wowing kid audiences with tricks he learned in burlesque shows. "I never did anything off-color in burlesque," he says. "If anything, my vaudeville act was spicier."

"I'm grateful for the two years I spent in burlesque. It was the greatest training I could have for what I am doing now. In those days, we had no script. We'd lay out the sketch and then feed lines back and forth to each other without missing a cue."

"Now I'm doing a half-hour show five days a week. It's a script show, and although we go over the lines many times, there's still a lot of ad libbing and fast thinking to do. That burlesque training really pays off."

Pinky's checked-bean and his shy, liping comedy have been known to audiences for years, but it turned out that a kid show has brought him his biggest success. He started his Pinky Lee Show for NBC Jan. 4, and it quickly earned the second highest audience rating for daytime shows. The veteran Howdy Doody, which follows him, is first by a small margin.

"I've never been happier than I have since I started this show," he remarked. "Before, it always seemed that when I was on the air, I was just a hired hand. Now I think I have found my niche. I work hard — 16 or 18 hours a day — but it's worth it."

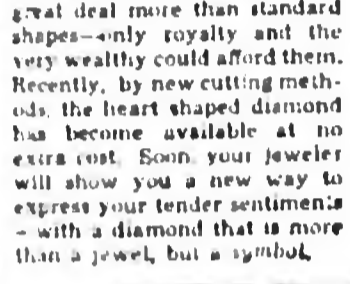

The little comic has had more than his share of bad breaks in the past and dozens of the show would have been canceled in every phase of it during a career that has lasted over 20 years.

It was during one of his low periods that he took the job in burlesque. He had just returned from an engagement in Australia and had a very low morale. He had a daughter, took a fall and was seriously ill. Although he had earned up to a good 2 weeks in vaudeville, he took a lousy job for less than $100.

The training paid off. He went from there to New York, then to Hollywood for "Gaily of Hollywood." While doing the movie Carl Carroll signed him for a two-week date at his theater and Pinky remained 3 1/2 years.

Some of them he has done films, radio and TV.

EVER SINCE diamonds began to be cut—and that goes back many centuries—the heart-shaped diamond has been the prize of the cutter's art. If you wanted one, it had to be specially made and usually cost a great deal more than standard shapes—only today and the very wealthy could afford them. Recently, by new cutting methods, the heart shaped diamond has become available at no extra cost. Soon your jeweler will show you a new way to express your tender sentiments—with a diamond that is more than a jewel, but a symbol.

Cardinals Meet Groveland Tonight In Memorial Stadium

Lakemen Look For Their Win In Central Florida League Tonight

By TOMMY KUHN
Sanford Cardinals will be looking for their second win in the Central Florida League tonight when they meet Groveland at Memorial Stadium. The game will follow the Rotary League All-Star contest.

The teams are about evenly matched. Groveland has a 6-4 record in the league, while Sanford has won of its four contests for a 1-3 record. Sanford is holding down fourth place in the league, and Groveland and Clermont are battling it out for fifth place. Each of the two latter teams have yet to win their first game.

The Cardinals have been improving in their recent games. In their last game they out-hit and committed fewer errors than their opponents, but they still lost. Groveland has defeated twice by Pinecastle and Longwood.

The Cardinals started the season in marvelous fashion by defeating Longwood 8-5 in their first Central Florida League contest. Since that time the Cardinals have dropped three one-sided decisions to the Sanford Navy and Longwood.

Lloyd Swain will probably be the starting pitcher for the Cardinals. The left handed hurler has a 1-1 record in the league. He has beaten Longwood and lost to the Sanford Navy. Also Swain is one of the best hitters on the team. He has been an average .300 hitter and has gotten five base hits.

In tonight's game Gene Pennington will be trying to hit in his fifth consecutive game. So far this season Gene has hit a home run, triple and several singles. Red Hires thinks that he finally has his old eye back. In his most recent game he singled and doubled.

Bill Crabtree will be trying to break out of the hitting slump he has been in for the past two games. The big Sanford center fielder is way over-due and he is expected to get a couple of hits. He has hit two doubles and a triple so far this year.

Baseball fans of Sanford are used to coming to the home game and support the local team. If they can ever break into the winning column Sanford will be in for some pretty exciting ball games throughout the summer.

The game tonight will be the first of the Wednesday night games for the Cardinals throughout the year. They are going to play all home games Wednesday nights and all their road games Sunday afternoons.

Manager Huddy Lake has not yet revealed the starting lineup, but it will probably go something like this:

Floyd Sparkman—second base
Gene Pennington—short stop
Bill Crabtree—center field
Fulton Baxter—right field
George Kennis—left field
Hugh Carlton—third base
Red Hires—first base
Pete Schirard—catcher
Loy Swain—pitcher

PREFORMERS HORROR TO OIL WELLS
BOWIE, Md.—Willie (Smoker) Saunders, one of seven jockeys to win the Triple Crown, has come back to horse racing. Although it's a gamble it's better than waiting for oil wells to gush.

Saunders, who at the age of 17, in 1935 rode Omaha to victories in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont, quit riding a couple of years ago and invested in oil land.

"The first two wells were honey, but recent drillings have not turned out as well," he says. "We haven't given up, however, and you never know what's going to happen in the oil game, which is even more unpredictable than racing."

Meanwhile, Saunders is back as a trainer with eight horses owned by Joseph Bisco of Hollywood, Calif.

SWIACKI BACK AGAIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Swiacki is glad to return to the New York football Giants as end coach. After all, he was literally "ejected" by the New York fans to play for the Giants after the 1947 season.

The Giants had conducted a poll to determine the player the public would most like to see on the team. Swiacki won by a wide margin.

No deal was made with the Boston Yanks who had drafted him out of Columbia. And the New York fans saw their wish come true.

Poor Williams, Hits Eight Times For Nine At Bat

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer
Poor old Ted Williams. With a steel pin in his left shoulder and sharp pain torturing his body every time he swings hard, the lanky Boston Red Sox slugger is hitting only 1/27 after one full day's work. Wait till he gets his strength back.

"I've had better days," he said Sunday after smashing eight hits in nine times at bat in a double-header at Detroit, a performance that may well be the big story of 1954. "It hurts like hell every time I swing."

Although he got in a ball game at Highmore Saturday as a pinch hitter and finished out in left field, going hitless in two trips, this was his first real test.

It was a balmy Sunday afternoon at Briggs Stadium when Williams started for the first time this season, almost 11 weeks since he broke his collarbone on the first day of spring training at Sarasota, Fla.

Those who watched him clutch his shoulder in agony that March day in Florida wondered if he ever would play again. Those who saw him hit two homers, a double and five singles and drive in seven runs at Detroit wondered how he did it. Especially when he sat in the clubhouse after the game and told how the small steel pin bothered him.

Fans who always have been critical of Williams were quick to point out that the Red Sox still lost both games, 7-6 and 9-8 in 14 innings. But they really couldn't blame Ted this time for the Boston pitchers gave up 27 hits.

In other games, Cleveland seized the American League lead by 10 percentage points—Chicago by knocking off Philadelphia twice, 12-7 and 6-0, with Mike Garcia allowing only one hit in the second game, a fourth-inning single by Joe DeMaestri.

Chicago slid out of the lead by dividing a pair with Washington, winning the first 10-3 with Minnie Miños driving home six runs but bowing to Washington's capable Bob Fotherfield in the 31 second game.

Joe Larsen, young Baltimore right hander, snapped a six game New York Yankee winning streak with a three-hitter 6-2 in the second game after Allie Reynolds shut out Dave Kousser allowing only three hits in the first game. Larsen had a no-hitter for 7 2/3 innings until Andy Carey singled with two gone in the eighth. Hank Bauer's single and Bob Cery's pinch homer broke his shutout in the ninth.

All National League clubs split double-headers except the Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals, whose second game was halted by the Philadelphia Sunday curfew.

Solly Hentus' pinch triple helped the Cards beat reliever Jim Constanly in the opener 7-3. The Phils led 6-3 when the second was suspended after six innings. Rookie Paulson, starting his first major league game, held the Cards to four hits in the suspended game.

Brooklyn edged within six points of the leading Phillies by dividing two with Cincinnati. Gil Hodges' homer with the bases loaded off Herm Wehner gave Preacher Roe his first victory 4-2, but Bud Puelbian beat Russ Meyer for a 7-2 Cincinnati edge in the second.

Johnny Antonelli faced his old Milwaukee mates for the first time since he was traded in the Bobby Thomson deal and whipped the Braves 9-2 as the New York Giants bounced back from an opening-game 3-2 defeat in 10 innings.

Joe Garagiola led a 17-hit Chicago Cub attack on Pittsburgh with a perfect five-for-five in the first

Sanford Giants Try For Sixth Win Sunday In Local Stadium

C. B. Franklin Breaks Ankle

C. B. FRANKLIN breaks ankle

By T. V. DAVIS
Last Friday night the Sanford Giants were defeated by the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station Baseball Indians by a lopsided 17-3 margin under the stars at beautiful Memorial Stadium. The Giants now have a 5-1 record for the season.

The game started off with the Navy Indians getting three runs in the first inning with the Giants coming back in the bottom of the first to get one marker. The second inning went along without any scoring, but in the third frame the Indians came back with seven big markers to put the game on ice.

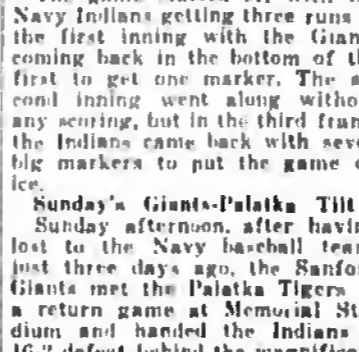

The game also had a darker side to it. This dark side which we are referring to is the incident that resulted in the breaking of an ankle in an attempt to steal home base made an abrupt slide and a slight twist which turned into a broken ankle. Franklin was a utility player for the Giants and was a fairly consistent hitter at the plate.

In an interview with him yesterday, he said, "At first, I thought that the injury was only a sprain, but when I got up the next morning, I found that it had swelled considerably and I consulted a physician."

The Giants will meet the Haines City Hatters Sunday afternoon at Memorial Stadium at 3:00 p. m. The Giants will be eyeing their seventh win of the year in eight starts.

Worm Against A Big Wall

ROY HOLLER predicts Pirates To Win

BALTIMORE AP—"We're like the worm up against the wall. When it is going to turn," said Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Baltimore Orioles.

Dykes plainly was up against a wall himself in trying to figure why the Orioles weren't hitting.

"I know this club can hit better than it is," he said after last night's 3-1 loss on five hits to Washington. "If it doesn't, it sure is going to be a long summer."

"I'd rather get beat 10-2 than the way we're losing. This way we seem to be in every game and can't win. The other way, I'd just say we got shellacked and forget it."

Of the 12 games lost by the Orioles, nine have been by no more than two runs.

Last night, even the Oriole strikeout king Bob Turley had to give up after seven innings with the score 3-1 against him.

"I just die out there for him," confessed Dykes. "Look at those scores of hits."

Turley's three losses have been by 2-1, 4-2 and 3-1. Except for a 7-2 triumph over Boston last Friday, he's had to struggle all the time to win 3-1 and 2-1 twice.

The Orioles have played 20 games and 17 of them have been decided one way or the other by one or two runs.

Joe Coleman, who goes against Washington tonight, has had just as rough a road to pitch as Turley for a 2-2 record. One of his losses was by a 1-0 score and he's won 3-1, 2-0 and 2-1.

Heavy Hitters Give All-Stars Edge Over Pirates

Rotary League will play its annual All-Star game tonight at Memorial Stadium. It will be the first of two games to be played tonight. As soon as the All-Star game ends the Sanford Cardinals will play Groveland.

The All-Star contest will be between the pennant winning Pirates and the All-Stars. This contest is scheduled to get under way at 7:00 p. m.

The way things work out are like this: there are four teams in the league. At the end of the season, the team that finished on top is named pennant winner. Four players are then picked from the three remaining teams, and are called the All-Stars.

At 7:15 p. m. various awards will be presented. First the pennant winner will receive a miniature silver baseball. Then Bobby Powell will present a Most Valuable Player's award to some deserving youngster. Roy Holler will then give away a Best Sportsmanship award. The public is invited free of charge to see this game.

It is the first time that Roy Holler has ever had his Rotary team win a pennant. He feels that luck is with him and he will be the first manager to see his team win the All-Star game. So far this year he Pirates have compiled a 9-1 record. Robert Samuel is captain of the Pirates, and Bill Hutchinson is the other manager.

Sonny Powell and Bobby Newman, managers of the All-Stars want their team to report to Memorial Stadium at 2:45 p. m. to begin practice. Here is a list of names that will compile the All-Star team: Sonny Brown, David Galloway, Bob Carter, Larry Burney, Ray Hardy, Billy Westfall, Ronnie Russi, Larry Reel, Billy Harper, Lawrence Howard, Neil Stoochoff, and Donald Mathews.

Joan Foster, Bride

By Alice Ross Colver

SYNOPSIS
After a long and arduous courtship Joan Foster and Todd Hunter had set a date for their wedding. It will be held on May 21, 1954, at the home of the bride's mother, school teacher, Mrs. J. H. Foster, at 1000 N. W. 1st St., in New Jersey. The bride is a beautiful blonde, the minister and his wife, the groom's mother and her two young daughters will be the bridesmaids. The wedding will be a simple affair, but it is one that will mean a great deal to all.

CHAPTER SEVEN
"AND NOW," Joan said, "I'm going to live over at the manse."
Betty nodded. "Mike and I started our married life that way, too. We had just one room at mother's, not even our own kitchen. Of course, it was home to me, so I didn't really mind. But I was glad when we could get an apartment the next year."

Betty had come out to spend the day with Joan and talk over plans for the wedding. It was nearly May now and the place had never been more beautiful. The water was out in full bloom, its fragrance filling the air everywhere. The apple blossoms were pink on the trees and all the azaleas in the garden alongside the porch were in thick bud. Joan wished she were having her wedding this month, but that would have rushed things a bit. Besides, it was better to wait until Ed had finished the term at Columbia, for then they could have a honeymoon of nearly three weeks before he had to start in on his summer work there.

The two girls were sitting on the screened veranda, where Betty's little girl was playing in a small area near them which they had roped off with chairs and a table. She was a good child, demanding no attention but inevitably receiving it because of her engaging ways and looks. She had red hair, like Mike's, in ringlets all over her head, and great eyes that were similar to Betty's in their size and in the curling sweep of their fringing lashes. But Betty's were gray while little Beth's were a deep dark brown. For the rest she was plump and dimpled and happy, as most babies who are greatly loved and wisely cared for are apt to be. Joan could hardly keep her gaze from her as she cooed and gurgled in a jargon all her own to the tummy and leg doll that Betty had brought along for her.

Joan went on.
"I'll take you over later and show you the rooms we're to have. But if Mrs. Hunter says to you as she can't to exercise else, I'm so glad we're going to have a" daughter in our house. All my life I've wished for a daughter and it's wonderful to think we're going to have one—I really think I'll scream."

"She probably will," Betty answered miffily, "because she probably is."
"I know that those words sometimes ring a portentous bell in my ears. You see," Joan suggested for faint anxiety from her. "It's a darling, anyway. Todd's father, I mean. A little on the frisky side physically—the heart. But you'd never guess it because he never mentions it. Let's talk about the wedding, though. After all, that's what you came out for. What do you think of the date?"

"Well, I thought of Sue and Elaine, naturally, because they were in our crowd at college. But Sue's only due to arrive in August so that's out, and Elaine—I don't know whether I can count on her or not. She expects her second infant the last of this month and she's written me that she sure will be out of bed long before my twentieth and can make it. She'll do, she says, and I know she'll be here if the possibility can be ruled out. You know how she feels about you, Joan."

"Yes," there's plenty," Betty agreed.
"First—I can't begin to tell you how glad I am that you're going to be my mother-in-law. Nobody else would do you justice. But I wish I knew whom to ask for the rest of my annual party."
"What's the trouble?"

"What's the trouble?"
"Well, I thought of Sue and Elaine, naturally, because they were in our crowd at college. But Sue's only due to arrive in August so that's out, and Elaine—I don't know whether I can count on her or not. She expects her second infant the last of this month and she's written me that she sure will be out of bed long before my twentieth and can make it. She'll do, she says, and I know she'll be here if the possibility can be ruled out. You know how she feels about you, Joan."

that her happiness had really been given her by Joan.
"It was knowing you and the friendship you gave me that made me into the kind of person Donald could love," she had said.
"Poppycock, of course. Just the same, Betty was right. Elaine would certainly get here for the wedding."
Joan continued, "Well, okay. Elaine for one. I could ask Johnny, I suppose. But she feels awkward in long dresses, Betty. You know she never would go to any dance or a thing that was formal at college. She always ducked out. I really don't believe I've ever seen her in anything but a tailored suit or a gym outfit."

Betty nodded.
"But," Joan drew a breath—"I sent an airmail to Pam. She was the girl I roomed with in Zurich—I wrote you all about her. Remember? She was the one who was married in Paris to Tom Blakelee. That was in the spring, just before Ed had taken ill. Well, they stayed over another year so Tom could study at the Sorbonne, but they're due back in June and I wrote her that she just had to get here in time to be a bridesmaid at my wedding. I'm waiting for her answer now."

"God, I'm crazy to meet her," Betty said.
"You'll like her. She reminded me of Elaine a lot. They're both tall and dignified and sophisticated-looking. Joan paused. "I think I won't have more than three, Betty. If Sue could be with us, I'd ask Mary Hunt. She and her husband, Chuck, were the ones we went to Italy with, you know. But she's not sure she can come all the way from Kansas."
"Whatever you decide, Joan."

"Besides, I don't want a big formal wedding, and a lot of bridesmaids implies that I want as well—a cozy kind of wedding. Practically the whole town is going to be invited, though, so I don't know as cozy is the word!"
Joan laughed and threw out her hands in a gesture of helplessness. "Honestly, the date of people we have? There's Mother's list and my list and the Hunter's list and Todd's list. We just can't say anyone. Not in Mapleton, at least. The two families have always lived here, you see. And of course Todd's father is known and loved by people both in and out of our church." She looked at Betty suddenly. "You were smart to stage your wedding in the college chapel, weren't you?"

Candidate States Segregation Edict Doesn't Apply Here

TAMPA, Fla., May 18.—Tom Watson, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday the U.S. Supreme Court ruling against school segregation "is not applicable in its present status" in Florida.

Watson, Tampa lawyer and former attorney general of Florida, said nevertheless state officials should take the opportunity of intervening in Supreme Court arguments slated on the issue next fall.

Watson said in a statement that Florida was not one of the four states which were parties to the segregation suit in which the Supreme Court ruling was made.

He said Florida has a constitutional provision making segregation legal, which has been upheld by the Florida Supreme Court.

"The Supreme Court of the United States has consistently re-

WINN'S TV NEWS

Let me assure you, we are just as disappointed as you that WDBO-TV did not get on the air as planned. We are reprinting a letter that was just received from the station explaining the situation:

WDBO-TV
30 So. Ivanhoe Blvd.
Orlando, Florida
May 15, 1954

Gentlemen:
Here is an up-to-date progress report on WDBO-TV. The fact that we will be unable to make our last published target date of May 15th, is as much a disappointment to us as we know it is to you. Circumstances beyond our control may be a somewhat phrase, but in this case it is more than just an excuse.

Our TV antenna is complete, our building is being finished, much equipment is in place, and we are bending every effort both night and day, to make haste to reach the air with our test pattern by the first week in June.

Commercial programming will begin as soon as a feasible test pattern transmission proves out.

Your continued interest in our problems and the resultant schedule of programs is appreciated.

When we reach the air, we will be using our full power of 100,000 watts.

Nicaragua Breaks Off Diplomatic Activity With Neighbor, Guatemala Charges Country

HONORED—Ed Lane (right), past district governor of area Kiwanis Club, presents P. P. 'Pop' Campbell with a present from the Sanford Kiwanis Club...

Charges Country With Spreading Red Propaganda

Reports Sent To Countries WASHINGTON (AP)—Nicaraguan Ambassador Guillermo Sevilla Sacasa said today his government broke relations with Guatemala yesterday, charging that Guatemala had violated an agreement by spreading Communist propaganda in Nicaragua.

The ambassador's statement confirmed earlier word from other sources here that the diplomatic break was not directly related to a recent arms shipment from Communist Poland which President Eisenhower described yesterday as "disturbing."

But it obviously provided additional backing for the view that the Nicaraguan move would help speed up a showdown on the whole situation in Guatemala, for months the target of accusations of pro-Communist activities.

Sevilla Sacasa told a reporter his government handed passports to the Guatemalan ambassador in Managua at 3 p. m. yesterday, along with a note explaining the action.

Nicaragua's government long has been at odds with the regime in Guatemala, accusing it of pro-Communist activities. The reaction here has been equally bitter.

The State Department has often accused the government of President Jacobo Arbenz of clearing the way in Guatemala for full cooperation with the Communists.

The State Department has sent reports of the "important" arms shipment to every American nation, apparently to fuel out sentiment about calling the countries of this hemisphere into cooperation on some course of action.

First reports here gave no details on Nicaragua's move but dispatches from Guatemala said the whole Nicaraguan diplomatic delegation flew home suddenly yesterday on orders from Managua.

Meanwhile, U.S. authorities said Russia apparently has put a high priority on arms aid to Guatemala to promote strife in Central America.

These officials noted too that this was the first time the Soviets sent any significant amount of arms into Latin America so far as is publicly known.

This obviously shows Russian confidence that Guatemala's Communists will further Moscow's aim in this hemisphere, they said.

Diplomats In Series Of Talks

Geneva Parley Still Deadlocked

GENEVA (AP)—Top diplomats at the Geneva conference held a series of private talks today which may determine the fate of the deadlocked Indo-China parley. The United States was reported ready to write off the negotiations as a failure unless the Communists drastically change their line.

Formal negotiations were suspended for the day. The latest snarl was due to continued U.S. demands that the Communist "assistance government" of Laos and Cambodia be invited to Geneva.

The Western powers regard these as phantom regimes with no following and no right to representation.

One high Western source acknowledged Western diplomats had given some thought to the question of breaking off the talks. The source said it was impossible at this stage to see any sign the Communists were going to agree to anything.

The U. S. delegation was represented as feeling the Indo-China discussions were getting nowhere. The Americans were said to be reluctant to break up the conference, however, until the French feel all possibilities have been exhausted.

Mrs. Maxwell Will Be Honored Tonight

Students and faculty members of Sanford Vocational School have scheduled an open house party in honor of Mrs. Mae Maxwell, retiring principal, tonight.

All former students and friends of the principal, who has spent more than 40 years in Seminole County's school system, have been invited to attend.

The open house will be held in the Sanford Woman's Club at 8 p. m.

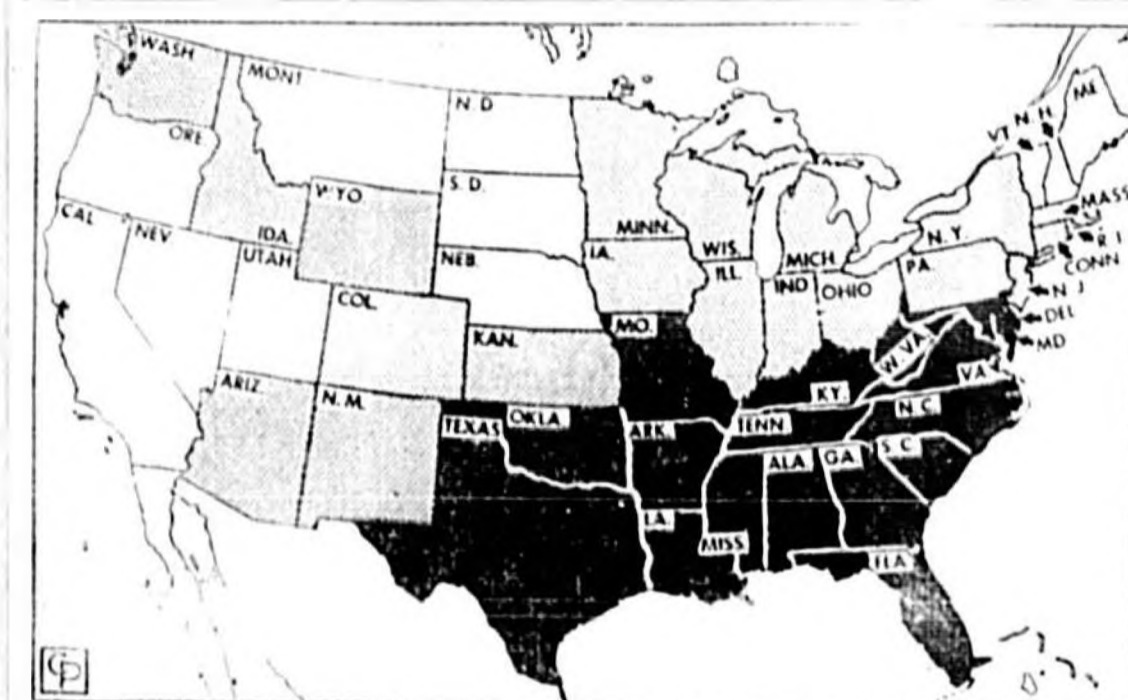

Man Is Arrested On Liquor Count

Sanford Police Department today reported that John A. Hall, 39, was arrested at his home recently with possession of untaxed liquor.

Ray Williams, chief of police, said that officers had confiscated more than five gallons of illegal liquor in the tavern operator's home, 1202 W. 12th St.

Hall says he has turned over to federal alcoholic tax officers in Orlando for prosecution.

Funds for the hospital are coming from County, State and Federal bonds and from state and federal funds.

Site of the new hospital is on the large, empty area across E. First St. from main station W.P.R.

Man Injured When Vehicle Collides With Switch Engine

Olyde Escht, 39, Azalea Park, Orlando, was injured yesterday afternoon when his car was struck by a switch engine at the intersection of E. 1st St. and the Luskville Rd. crossing, one mile north of Goldenrod, according to Trooper R. D. Harrison of the Highway Patrol.

The car struck the engine east on the road when the engine, being operated by W. M. Wright, Orlando, hit the right side of the car and knocked it approximately 25 feet, Harrison said. The car was a total loss.

The driver was taken to the Orange Memorial Hospital, Orlando, by Eugene Robinson, Orlando automobile salesman, who happened to be passing by. Escht suffered severe lacerations to the left shoulder, shoulder blade and hand.

The engine, owned by approximately 1000 horsepower, was driven by Mrs. Elizabeth P. Burnett, Altamonte Springs, Harrison said, and was hit in the rear by another engine by James Atkins, 17, Altamonte Springs, who was driving on State Road 100 and 101. Burnett had stopped to turn and had given a left turn signal, Harrison said.

Atkins was arrested on charges of failing to give a driver's license and driving defective vehicle. Burnett was set at $150 to the 1940 LaSalle driven by the woman and $700 to the second car, a 1949 Oldsmobile.

Florida Grapefruit Will Start Moving To England This Week

LAKELAND (AP)—Some 200,000 cases of grapefruit sections will begin moving from Florida plants to England this week, the first private trade in citrus between the two countries in 15 years.

This was reported at a meeting of the board of directors of Florida Citrus Mutual yesterday by Martin E. Hearn, Mutual's export coordinator.

The board asked the Florida congressional delegation to attempt to require imported grapefruit to be identified by the country of origin and to pass some maturity tests.

The move was aimed principally at grapefruit from Cuba's Isle of Pines which competes with Florida grapefruit early in the fall.

The board, holding its final meeting, rejected a request by Ford Winery of Palm Harbor that a postcard vote be taken of the membership on a proposal to increase the assessment.

The board previously recommended that the new board be elected May 26 and take office at the annual meeting in Orlando June 15, raise the assessment from one-half to three-fourths of a cent a box.

Robert Ruddle, Mutual's general manager, said 80 per cent of the growers at the district meetings favored the increase.

Strolling In Sanford

Karlye Housholder, Seminole County promoter, will appear on WJHP-TV (channel 36), Jacksonville, at 8:30 p. m. today and will campaign on behalf of gubernatorial candidate, Charley Johns, Florida's acting governor.

Today's meeting of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce, which was attended by 18 members, was given over to reports of the state convention held in Tampa last week. Plans were made for the group's installation dinner scheduled to be held at the Mayfair Inn Country Club next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Due to the evening meeting, the organization's regular weekly meeting at the Yacht Club next Thursday has been canceled.

Seminole Chapter No. 2, OES has scheduled a meeting at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 p. m. A covered sixth supper will be served at the meeting according to information received today.

It was reported today that State Senator Lloyd F. Boyle, who had suffered a severe heart attack several days ago, was considered to be in "good" condition at Orange Memorial Hospital. The senator has suffered from a heart condition for several years. It is expected that he will be released from the hospital in the next several days.

Chief of Police Roy Williams today had something to brag about. He reported today that a delegation of Daytona Beach officials arrived yesterday in Sanford to study the City's methods of operating its parking meters. The group was much impressed with the city's operation and compared it with the operation of their own city.

Meeting Is Held On VFW Auxiliary

Sanford's Veterans of Foreign Wars committee in charge of instituting a charter for its newly formed auxiliary met in the home of Melvin Smith, commander of local post 3282, yesterday to formulate plans for the auxiliary charter.

At the meeting, several new applications for membership in both the men's organization and the auxiliary were reviewed by the group, according to Smith.

Later, the group moved to Elmer's for a luncheon, hosted by the commander.

Another meeting of the group has been scheduled for next Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Legion Hut. "All persons interested in the VFW are invited to attend with their wives," said Smith.

IMPRISED

BALTIMORE (AP)—Robert F. McFarlane was sent to prison for three years yesterday because police said he had a custom of ordering pianos and organs for churches, then relaying them without paying the music firms in full.

The 50-year-old defendant posed as a minister when operating his scheme, it was said.

McFarlane pleaded he had made restitution of all but $200 and was prepared to take care of that.

He said he also had been pleased by the number of persons who were with Acting Gov. Charley Johns in the first primary but are now with him.

Collins forecast a "different story in North Florida" and said his strength in Central and South Florida has continued to grow.

Johns Brings Up Income Tax Issue

LAKELAND (AP)—Acting Gov. Charley Johns carried his gubernatorial campaign into Polk County today after challenging his opponent, State Sen. Lefloyd Collins, to join him in making public income tax returns for the years they have served in the Legislature.

Johns flew into Lakeland to open a whirlwind stump tour of Polk County communities. He was scheduled in mid-afternoon to fly to the West Coast for speeches at Bradenton, Palmetto, Sarasota and Fort Myers.

Number Of Wounded Taken From Fort Climbs To 110

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Evacuation of wounded from Dien Bien Phu had climbed today to 110 men as helicopters and light planes kept up their steady shuttle to the captured fortress.

A French Press Agency dispatch received in Paris said about 120 more wounded were expected to arrive in Hanoi today.

Despite the slowness of the helicopter lift, the French hoped to complete in less than two weeks the removal of the 775 wounded the Vietnam said they would release.

French military sources said they knew nothing about rebel plans to release Dien Bien Phu to the Red River Delta. Miss Genevieve de Galard Terraz, an announced by a Vietnam spokesman in Geneva yesterday.

Here in Hanoi, friends of the blue-eyed, 29-year-old nurse expressed belief she would remain at Dien Bien Phu, nation, she was wounded until the last of the 775 is flown out.

Meanwhile, the French stepped up their air assault on Provincial Highway 41, even which the rebels are shifting troops from Dien Bien Phu to the Red River Delta.

American-supplied bombers and bombers delivered the heaviest strikes since the fall of Dien Bien Phu on Vietnam troops and convoys around that area yesterday.

Change In Irish Government Is Indicated Today

DUBLIN (AP)—Former Premier John A. Costello's coalition appeared almost certain today to tumble Prime Minister Eamon de Valera from office.

De Valera's Fianna Fail (Men of Destiny) party was still the public's largest faction, but in the voting yesterday it polled only 10 per cent under its showing in the last general election three years ago.

In 1951 the forces of the 21-year-old, nearly blind "Deo" just squeezed into office. In recent years he had only a fractional majority in the 147-seat Dail (Parliament).

It appeared that Costello's coalition of various groups would command much more of a majority.

With 141 seats at stake in the voting, the count by mid-morning had given 66 to the coalition, 59 to Fianna Fail and 4 to independents.

This was the standing in the coalition's coalition. Fine Gael (United Ireland), 43; Labor, 15; Fianna Fail (Farmers), 2; Fianna Fail (Republicans), 2.

Collins for three years was left out until May 26 following the death of a candidate.

Deputies Reveal Possible Lead To Holdup Men

Seminole County Sheriff's Deputies today revealed that they had a new and "important" lead to the identity and whereabouts of the two men who last Monday night held up the Prairie Lake drive-in theater.

The two men, described as in their late 20s or early 30s, were seen by the sheriff's deputies in the parking lot of the drive-in theater with shotguns, scoped on them, and drove calmly through the bushes and escaped.

The sheriff's deputies and the highway patrol were alerted within minutes to watch for the 1946 black Ford allegedly to be driven by the criminals, but failed to capture them.

Officers believe they escaped by using some little-used back road.

The car, described as a new one to police as being driven by a cowboy with blue jeans and 10-gallon hat.

Chiang Kai-Shek Begins His Second Term As President

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek began his second term as president of Nationalist China today with a call for more military and moral support and a strong alliance of anti-Communist Asian nations.

Inauguration day was a festive occasion on this Nationalist island despite the threat of Communist air attack from the nearby Red Sea mainland.

Thousands of exploding firecrackers provided a noisy background as Chiang and Vice President Chen Cheng took the oath of office in a city hall built during the Japanese occupation.

In a brief inauguration address Chiang declared that his Nationalist army could recover the mainland of China if given a "reasonable amount of moral and material support from the free world and an adequate supply of the implements of war."

He also called on all Asian na-

Fern Park Youth Injured In Mishap—A Fern Park youth James Alfred Carley who was badly injured last night when he was struck by a truck on Highway 436 at the Prairie Lake Drive-In, was today reported to be in "fair" and "better" condition at Florida Sanitarium and Hospital, Orlando.

Moses Meekins, driver of the truck, was arrested by Sheriff J. L. Hobby who charged him with reckless driving. He is now being held in the County jail in default of $500 bail.

Carley received a fractured pelvis and vertebra, facial lacerations and other less serious abrasions, according to the hospital.

Officers reported that the 18-year-old youth had been buried at least 75 feet when struck. After the accident the truck slid into a ditch. The driver was unhurt.
