Legal Aid Agency To Battle Housing Authority Over Fees

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Central Florida Legal Services will take the Sanford Housing Authority to court over the more than $3,500 in attorney's fees the agency claims it due for having prevailed in a squabble with the authority over the conducting of free legal clinics on housing property.

The move follows an "insufficient" $750 settlement offer the housing authority board made to the legal agency last month, CFLS managing attorney Treena Kaye said today.

Ms. Kaye said her agency will not only contest the authority's offer, but may ask a federal judge to award it more than the $3,596.68 attorney's fees billing it submitted to the authority. She said the figure represents a billing that was pared during settlement discussions with the authority and that when her agency makes its formal judgement request next month, the figure may be restored to its original amount, which she said is several hundred dollars more than $3,596.68.

She said CFLS is waiting until next month to file because it has yet to determine whether a housing property access policy the authority adopted during its February meeting will hamper the clinic's continuation.

Flame Tamer

A Seminole County firefighter douses the charred remains of a Midway home that was destroyed by fire early today. No injuries were reported in the 8:22 a.m. blaze at 2200 Randall St. The home, owned by W. H. Howell, Midway, was rented by Jerome Taylor. The cause of the fire is under investigation. Two fire engines and a tanker with crews responded along with Florida Power & Light workmen who tied-off live power lines.

Seminole To Review Priorities

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners are expected to review a list of countywide priorities for 1986-87, ranging from the construction of a northwest regional wastewater facility at Yankee Lake to the completion of a comprehensive land use plan update, at their work session Tuesday.

County Administrator Ken Hooper said he will present the priorities in conjunction with the upcoming budget process at the work session, which begins at 9:30 a.m. in the county services building.

The recommendations are compiled by the various county departments as the county gears up for its new budget year, Hooper said.

Listing the priorities provides direction to staff before departmental budgets are submitted in mid-April, he said, adding that the commission can modify or change the list during the review.

Commissioners will receive a recommended budget in mid-June, he said.

Recommended priorities for 1986/87 include:

• Transportation -- completion of construction contracts, Maitland Avenue, Red Bug Lake

Road, Lake Mary Boulevard extension; completion of design contracts, Lake Mary east to C-15, Lake Mary east to U.S. 17-92, County Road 427/Charlotte/State Road 434, 427/Airport Boulevard to Lake Mary Boulevard extension; county five-year road program, consultant, design, construction; design of major projects, fuel tax, impact fees; expressway authority, completion of alignment study, economic feasibility, environmental assessment, participation in extension of Orange/Osceola County Expressway Authority into Seminole County; management system for road program, inventory, schedule, design, annual paving/repaving program.

• Water and sewer expansion -- complete design and construction of northwest regional facility at Yankee Lake, develop regional water system for northwest service area, expansion of Consumer's wastewater site, expansion of Lynwood water system, expansion of Greenwood Lakes water and sewer system, expansion of Country Club water system, expansion and interconnection of Lake Hayes water system for Con-

Accused Murderer Nabbed In Orlando

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

An accused killer was scheduled to be transferred to the Seminole County jail from the Orange County jail today.

Robert Henry Woodbury, 27, of 671 Callenta Way, Altamonte Springs, was charged Saturday by Orange County sheriff's deputies in connection with the Friday morning shooting death of his live-in girlfriend.

Woodbury faces murder and auto theft charges. When he was captured by Orange County lawmen, who had been alerted by Seminole County sheriff's investigator Dan Prast that he might be in their area, Woodbury was reportedly in a car that had been stolen in the Altamonte Springs area after the shooting, which occurred at about 6:30 a.m.

Woodbury was captured at about 10:30 a.m. Saturday on

Brain Bowl Team Wins State Title

By Paul Schoefer

Seminole Community College's Brain Bowl team won their first state championship Saturday in a come-from-behind surge over Broward Community College, 485-480.

The academically-oriented event was staged at the downtown campus of Jacksonville's Florida Junior College.

In Saturday's championship round, SCC was trailing Broward 215-180 at the end of the first 20 minute half. SCC coach and instructor Lucinda Coulter made a substitution in the SCC line-up for the second half, putting Sanford's Arthur Dykeman, an alternate, onto the squad.

Dykeman, a general studies student, was substituted for civil

Study Supports Folklore: Garlic May Prevent Cancer

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Early results of a study underway using mice indicate garlic inhibits the growth of tumors, a Texas researcher said at an American Cancer Society gathering in Daytona Beach.

Michael J. Wargovich of the U.S. National Cancer Institute said the study was the first to show that garlic could prevent cancer in mice by blocking the growth of tumors.

"We're looking at these compounds in garlic, which are called organosulfur compounds," he said. "They're the compounds that give garlic its characteristic smell and taste."

was being studied in pre-ventive trials. The study showed that garlic could help prevent cancer, as well as help patients with cancer, Wargovich said.

The study was part of a larger project to study the effects of garlic on cancer. Wargovich said the study was the first to show that garlic could prevent cancer in mice by blocking the growth of tumors.

"We're looking at these compounds in garlic, which are called organosulfur compounds," he said. "They're the compounds that give garlic its characteristic smell and taste."

Chamber Awards Scholarships

By Jane Casselberry

In 1985 when $14,000 in scholarships were handed out at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce banquet, Seminole High School student Julie Archambault was serving for Buck's Caterers. But she announced, she wouldn't be available the next year because she was going to be up front accepting a scholarship.

Friday night the confident young woman, who has a grade point average of 3.4 and is ranked 12th in her class, was one of six students receiving $1,000 scholarship.

Forty students from Seminole and Lake Mary high schools were presented with a total of $21,616 in scholarships at the Chamber's annual awards banquet at the Sanford Civic Center.

The scholarships were presented by local businesses, organizations and individuals participating in the chamber's Partners in Success scholarship

Spring Break Celebrant Becomes 5th Fall Fatality

By United Press International
A former University of Nebraska at Omaha student fell nine floors to his death early Sunday while jumping from one balcony to another at the LaPlaya Hotel in Daytona Beach, becoming the fifth fall fatality of the Spring Break season, police said.

Paul Morse, 21, of Omaha, Neb., was airlifted to a hospital where he was pronounced dead, police said. Michael C. Hutchings, 23, a college student from Buffalo Grove, Ill., became the fourth Spring Break casualty early Saturday when he fell from an upper balcony at the 17-story Pier 66 hotel in Fort Lauderdale.

Police said Hutchings apparently fell backward over a balcony railing. "There is little doubt the death was accidental," said Fort Lauderdale police spokesman Ott Cefkin.

His body was found by a security guard at 6:15 a.m.

Hutchings, a sophomore at Western Illinois University in Macomb, Ill., was scheduled to leave Fort Lauderdale later that day with several friends.

He had been drinking Friday night, Cefkin said, and left his room at the Marina Motor Inn about 3 a.m. Saturday without telling his friends where he was headed. Laurain Day Buffington, a community college student from Griffin, Ga., died instantly Thursday after losing her grip on a balcony rail climbing to a room she shared with three friends at the Holiday Inn Boardwalk in Daytona Beach, police said.

Following the Griffin's death, Daytona Beach Mayor Larry Kelly said the city should think about getting out of the Spring Break business.

Rory Savas, 10, a student at the University of Arizona, was killed Thursday when he fell from a fourth floor balcony at the Sun Dial Resort in Sanford, Fla. Savas, of Wauwatosa, Wis., leaned too far over the balcony while attempting to spit tobacco juice into the parking lot below, police said.

In Miami, Timothy Corbett, 20, of Morristown, N.J., fell 42 feet to his death March 15 from a bridge under construction on the Miami River. Police said Corbett, a student at York College in York, Pa., had been drinking and fell through a gap in the bridge.

During last year's spring break, three students died falling from hotel balconies in Daytona Beach.

"It happens almost every year," said Daytona Beach Police Lt. J. H. Jenkins.

IN BRIEF

Aquino Government Pays Bills For Mom Marcos Left Behind

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — The government of President Corason Aquino, who blames deposed President Ferdinand Marcos for her husband's slaying, agreed to pay the mounting hospital bills of Marcos's 93-year-old mother, Dona Josefa Edralin Marcos, apparently unaware that her son fled the country almost a month ago after being ousted from power, has run up a bill of $55,679 at the Philippine Heart Center, hospital director Esperanza Cabral said.

A brief announcement Sunday from the Information Ministry said Aquino's government "has agreed to pay the hospital bills of Dona Josefa Edralin Marcos for humanitarian reasons."

The announcement noted that a local newspaper columnist reported last week that Marcos's mother had "no one to turn to as she spends the remaining days of her life."

Strike Hits 8 U.S. Bases

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — About 22,000 striking Philippine workers at eight U.S. military facilities refused American appeals to lift their barricades today and the naval base commander called for calm to avoid further violence in the 4-day-old strike.

U.S. and Philippine union officials claimed that 13 people — seven American servicemen and six Filipinos — have been injured in picketline clashes since the strike began Friday night over severance pay and other contract issues.

Talks to end the fourth strike against the bases since 1976 were set for Wednesday.

U.S. officials said the walkout has had a "negligible" effect on military operations.

But thousands of servicemen had to work double-time washing laundry, manning mess halls, collecting trash and making deliveries as the walkout hampered non-essential operations at the largest U.S. overseas air and naval bases for a fourth day.

Movie theaters, post exchanges and recreation centers were closed and off-duty hours restricted for 16,500 military personnel assigned to the two gigantic installations.

Snows Cause Chaos In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — A freak spring snowstorm packing typhoon-force winds cut electrical power, triggered a train wreck, caused high seas and left at least 13 people dead and 330 others injured in accidents, authorities said today.

Three people died in accidents on land caused by the storm that dumped 3 1/2 inches of snow in the Tokyo area and two vessels sank in stormy seas south of Tokyo Bay Sunday, leaving 10 people dead, officials said.

The unseasonable storm toppled five electricity transmission towers in Kanagawa Prefecture, southwest of Tokyo, cutting off water and electricity supplies to more than 1.3 million households, police said.

About 90,000 homes remained without electricity or water today, police said.

OPEC Ends Talks; No Agreement

GENEVA (UPI) — OPEC's divided oil ministers broke off nine days of emergency talks today without reaching agreement on how to stem the worldwide plunge in oil prices.

The cartel's 13 ministers adjourned without issuing a formal communique, but said talks will resume April 15 in an effort to reduce daily production and reverse a three-month dive in prices from $28 per barrel to $14. OPEC members say it is costing them $206 million daily.

Industry analysts in Geneva said oil prices were bound to take another beating because of the meeting's effective collapse.

Another Scandal Hits Thatcher

LONDON (UPI) — In the latest scandal to hit Britain's government, opposition leaders want Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher to explain news reports she bought and sold shares in Australia, breaking conventions against stock dealing by government ministers.

Any wrongdoing was denied Sunday by Thatcher's office, which said she did not want to comment on a private matter.

A stream of calls, however, from her political opponents called on Thatcher to give a personal explanation today in Parliament.

Holy Week Celebration Begins

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II started the Roman Catholic observance of Holy Week by blessing palm and olive branches and praying for an end to the arms race, terrorism, abortion and human rights violations.

Nearly 75,000 people gathered in St. Peter's square for an outdoor Palm Sunday mass celebrated by the pontiff.

Soviet Media Blasts U.S. Nuclear Test

MOSCOW (UPI) — Calling it a "brazen, provocative challenge" Soviet news media blasted the United States' decision to resume nuclear testing but stopped short of saying the Soviet Union would end its own ban on nuclear testing.

Soviet commentators called the U.S. tests last Saturday "impudent" and a "disgrace." Soviet citizens interviewed Sunday on television said, "If the Americans are going to continue, we should carry out tests too."

In West Germany, spokesmen for the opposition Social Democratic Party also denounced the U.S. resumption of tests as a "provocation" and a setback for East-West relations.

The United States "meant to torpedo the Soviet moratorium and is trying to force the Soviet Union to resume testing," the news agency Tass said.

But they stopped short of saying the Soviet Union would end its ban on nuclear testing.

The Soviet Union announced a series of unilateral moratoriums on nuclear tests beginning last August. Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev extended the ban indefinitely until the first U.S. test after March 31, the original expiration date for the Soviet moratorium.

President Reagan has refused to stop U.S. testing, saying the Soviet moratorium was "unverifiable."

Pravda, the daily Communist Party newspaper, said the Reagan administration was "showing its contempt for the world and disregarding demands by its own people."

In separate statements in West Germany, Social Democratic Party spokesman Hermann Scheer called the test a "provocation to world opinion," and party presidium member Egon Bahr described it as a setback for East-West relations.

The explosion that "shook buildings in Las Vegas and started a political earthquake in Washington," also "undermined the very idea of a nuclear-free world," Moscow radio said.

The blast had originally been planned for mid-April, but was set off Saturday "to neutralize public opinion for the moratorium that would have gained momentum in the coming month," commentators said.

The U.S. test — the first of 1986 — was also a blow to Gorbachev's hopes of curbing arms expenditures at home to concentrate on revamping the sluggish Soviet economy, a Western diplomat said.

"One more test and the Soviet moratorium is over," the diplomat said. "Then there is the likelihood the Soviets will have to increase defense spending and decrease domestic spending."

Russian Schoolgirl: Diplomats Should Leave Peace Talks To Kids

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Soviet schoolgirl in the United States on a mission for global peace says if diplomats left the peace talks up to the children of the world they would get together "in a minute or so."

Eleven-year-old Katerina Lycheva, known as Katya to her friends, arrived in New York from Chicago Sunday sporting a sweatshirt proclaiming "Children as the Peacemakers."

She walked off the plane arm in arm with Star Rowe, 10, of San Francisco, who is acting as her American hostess during her 10-day, five-city visit.

The trip is in memory of Samantha Smith, the Maine schoolgirl who wrote Soviet President Yuri Andropov of her fear of nuclear war and later visited Russia on a peace mission in 1983.

Samantha and her father were killed in an American plane crash last year.

"Sometimes it is very hard to get together. They quarrel, they fight," Katya said on the topic of peace summits through an interpreter at a news conference at LaGuardia Airport.

"I think if it was up to the children it would take us a minute or so to get together," she said. Katya was to visit a public school in Brooklyn today, where she will attend classes, talk with students and eat fried chicken in the cafeteria.

School officials said the school was chosen because of its large number of immigrants, including Russians.

Katya brought with her letters to Samantha Smith's mother, gifts for American schoolchildren and a special present for President Reagan, although no meeting at the White House is planned.

Katya is accompanied on the trip by her mother, Marina, Star and Patricia Montandan, founder of the Children as the Peacemakers Foundation. A delegation of the Soviet peace committee is also making the trip.

During her visit to Chicago, Katya attended a social studies class with children her own age and had lunch at a McDonald's fast-food restaurant.

She also was presented with a gift-wrapped box containing 127 peace letters written by students at Lincoln School.

"I'll do my best to have all those letters answered," Katya said.

Reagan Aims Persuasion Powers At Senate For Aid To Contras

By Norman D. Sandler

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, decrying "scurrilous personal attacks" on his motives, trained his powers of persuasion on the Senate today in hopes of reversing a setback to his campaign to arm Nicaraguan rebels.

Showing no loss of zeal after a defeat last Thursday in the House, Reagan demanded action from Congress in his weekend radio address and lashed out at opponents of his $100 million aid request in a New York Times interview.

Today, he planned to lobby senators for votes he will need to pull off a victory in the Republican-controlled chamber at midweek. White House officials believe a win would ensure eventual approval of some, if not all, of the aid he has requested.

Reagan, pledging "an all-out effort to get this passed," displayed little interest in compromise over the weekend, despite predictions in both Congress and the White House that he will be forced to accept compromises on any military assistance approved for the Contras fighting the Marxist-led Sandinista government of Nicaragua.

The $100 million aid package includes $70 million in military assistance and $30 million in non-lethal aid.

As Reagan focused attention on the Senate, the confrontational tactics he used in the House — to the apparent detriment of his cause — continued to dog the debate over his public call for secret military assistance to the rebels.

House leaders described the 222-210 defeat last week as repudiation of an intense administration hard sell assailed by Democrats and some Republicans as "red-baiting" and "McCarthyism."

But Reagan told The New York Times that those denouncing "shrill rhetoric" from the White House were pointing fingers "in the wrong direction."

"I'm not impugning motives at all," he said. "But some of the opponents of our program engaged in some of the most scurrilous, personal attacks against me, for example, the most dishonest use of distortions and outright falsehoods that I have heard in a legislative battle."

Incensed by charges that flew in the House, Reagan denounced as "lies" Democratic warnings that his drive to provide arms and other aid to the rebels would lead to U.S. military involvement in Central America.

Assistant House Democratic leader Thomas Foley, interviewed Sunday on ABC's "This Week with David Brinkley," said the harsh rhetoric "is all in the other direction" — coming particularly from White House communications director Patrick Buchanan.

White House chief of staff Donald Regan, also interviewed on ABC, acknowledged "some polarization" of the debate and hinted at a change in approach. "I think you'll see a lot less rhetoric and lot more discussion in the Senate," he said.

Reagan and his advisers hope to pick up Senate votes by agreeing to incorporate into the legislation certain terms — proposed by the White House at the last minute before last week's vote — on how and when the aid would be disbursed.

Those terms include a limit of $25 million on the amount of aid that would be provided within the first 90 days, as the United States intensified its diplomatic efforts in search of a negotiated peace in Central America.

If those diplomatic steps failed to spark peace talks between the Sandinistas and the rebel Contras, restrictions on the additional aid would be lifted.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" that Reagan is willing to try the "tactic" of peace talks. If those efforts fail, he said, "then the whole world will see" Reagan has been right about how to deal with the Sandinistas.

Carbide Announces Bhopal Agreement

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI) — Union Carbide Corp.'s agreement to pay $350 million for victims of the disaster at its Bhopal, India, plant was reached without the involvement of the Indian government, which reportedly may oppose the deal.

The company said Sunday the tentative settlement was reached with lawyers for victims of the disaster, which occurred when methyl isocyanate leaked from the company's pesticide plant in Bhopal Dec. 2-3, 1984. More than 2,000 people were killed and 200,000 injured in the worst industrial accident in history.

"The $350 million paid over time will produce a fund for the victims of Bhopal of between $500 million and $600 million" because of accrued interest, Harvey Cobert, a Union Carbide spokesman, said Sunday.

The class action settlement covers everyone harmed by the disaster whether or not they have filed suit. Cobert said the settlement must be approved by U.S. District Judge John Keenan in New York, who is presiding over more than 100 lawsuits asking billions of dollars in claims from Union Carbide.

The Indian government, which has claimed it alone represents the victims, was not a party to the agreement, and Indian officials told The New York Times the government reserved the right to press its claim.

The Indian government filed suit April 8, 1985, in U.S. District Court in New York and has sought to exclude more than 100 U.S. attorneys from the case.

There was no official reaction to the agreement by the Indian government, but in Bhopal, Homi Daji, leader of the opposition Communist Party of India, said the offer of $350 million was "a drop in the ocean."

Bruce Finzen, a Minneapolis lawyer representing the Indian government, told The Washington Post it will oppose any agreement that does not provide "full and fair compensation for every victim."

"It has been our position from day one that there won't be any settlement without the government's participation," he said.

Rob Hager, a Washington lawyer appointed by Keenan to represent public interest groups in the case, was quoted in the Post as calling the Carbide offer "laughably low" by "American jury standards."

Cobert said that it has not been determined who would get the money, but that it would be put in a fund to be distributed by the Indian government.

NATIONAL REPORT: A chilly storm from the Pacific pushed into the Northwest with rain, sleet and snow today, while spring warmth reached the South in time to save budding fruit trees. The Pacific storm spread rain from northwest California across Washington to northwest Montana. The rain changed to snow at the higher elevations, and travelers advisories covered the Cascade Mountains of Washington and Oregon. Peach growers across the Southeast called a weekend cold snap that broke temperature records in 20 cities "a blessing" that pruned their crops without wiping them out. A threat of frost lingered over South Carolina early today. But temperatures across the Southeast warmed to the 60s Sunday, and lows today were as much as 15 degrees warmer than the weekend freeze when mercury dipped into the teens. Record lows were set Sunday morning from New Jersey to Florida. Frost reached across the Carolinas overnight, and temperatures plummeted to 23 degrees in Columbia, S.C., and shattering the record of 24 set in 1886. Record lows were also recorded in Georgia, Louisiana,

North Carolina and Alabama. "The weatherman was in our favor this time. We still have what we think is a good crop of peaches. I'd say we lost about 25 percent. That was a blessing," said Clyde Auman, who has tended a 60-acre peach orchard in Moore County, N.C., for 55 years and traditionally prunes as much as 75 percent of the fruit on a limb to allow the remaining peaches to grow larger. Barring a warm spell that causes plants to bloom and a follow-up cold snap freezing the buds, West Virginia Agriculture Commissioner Gus Douglas said the peach, strawberry and early apple industries were safe. Very warm temperatures prevailed across the desert Southwest and Southern California. Highs were in the 80s and 90s across the region, and record high temperatures were tied or broken at Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.

P&Z Disregards Advice, Votes To OK Diner

The Sanford Planning and Zoning board has rejected the opinions of City Attorney William Colbert and Building and Arbor Inspector Betty Sonnenberg and voted to permit a Casselberry businessman to open "a small family restaurant" in a store at the Cumberland Farms Shopping Center on South Sanford Avenue.

At last week's city commission meeting, Colbert told Girolamo Cipolla that restricted commercial zoning regulations at the shopping center prohibited his operating a restaurant there. Colbert termed the restaurant proposal "a non-permitted use" of restricted commercial property and also said "normal procedure" would dictate Cipolla's submitting a formal zone change request to the city, rather than seeking a waiver of land use regulations. Colbert's statements formed the basis for commissioners' denial of Cipolla's request.

Cipolla said he had scheduled his commission appearance after being told by Mrs. Sonnenberg of the same land use restrictions as those proposed by Colbert. He said Mrs. Sonnenberg had further told him that the only food operation he could run from the shop was a delivery service. Mrs. Sonnenberg confirmed Cipolla's statements and said her position was based upon her "interpretation" of the permitted land uses in that particular zone.

Following the commissions' waiver denial, Cipolla turned to the P&Z, which determined on Thursday night that his request for a small family restaurant did fall within permitted uses of property in the city's restricted commercial district. The land use clause pointed to by the P&Z allows "convenience retail businesses or services," although it prohibits fast food and drive in restaurants.

"We're taking the position that this is an already permitted use (under city zoning regulations) because it's not fast food and it's not a take out service," P&Z chairman

John Morris said. "If it's not specifically excluded, then we feel it's included."

Morris also said Cipolla's situation served as example of city zoning regulation "ambiguities" the P&Z is attempting to clarify as part of its ongoing review of the Sanford zoning handbook.

Cipolla's request also received an endorsement from P&Z member Brent Carl, who said, "If he's not going to serve food off styrofoam, then I wouldn't consider the restaurant a fast food or drive through-type operation."

"In this situation, I feel it's allowed under 'retail type business,'" Carl said.

"It looks like you're on your way," Morris then told Cipolla. "I suggest you go down to the building department a pull your (building) permit."

Cipolla said Friday that prior to the P&Z sanction, he spent the last two months "going crazy" while trying to secure approval for the restaurant.

He said he first approached the city building department in January to obtain a building permit, but was told by a staff member that the property was located in Seminole County.

In turning to the county, Cipolla said he was told he had to receive health department approval prior to the issuance of a building permit. Once this was obtained, Cipolla said he was told he would still have to seek county fire department approval prior to the permit's issuance.

Fire department personnel, according to Cipolla, told him they had no jurisdiction over the property because it was located in Sanford.

Cipolla said he then returned to the city building department and was told by Mrs. Sonnenberg of the land use restriction which would prohibit his opening the restaurant.

Cipolla said now that he is "finally" on his way, the restaurant, Naples Diner, will open early this summer.

Tourist Trap 555-Foot Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It was a clear day and a group of tourists in the observation deck atop the Washington Monument could see forever — or at least a very long time.

An elevator lifting visitors to the apex of the 555-foot monument clunked to a halt just 10 feet above ground-level Friday, stranding at least 40 tourists, two of them in wheelchairs, in the cone of the obelisk for up to 90 minutes.

The two handicapped men at the top of the monument were lifted out of their wheelchairs and carried down 897 steps by rescue workers, National Park Service officials said.

The other people stuck at the top also used the steps to leave the century-old tower.

Twenty-five other tourists were stuck in the elevator car when it stopped, but they left through an escape hatch in the car without any problems, park service rangers said.

The two wheelchair-bound men, both in their mid-20s, were visiting from a handicap center in suburban Silver Spring, Md.

"They were the ones we were a little bit worried about getting down," said Sanita Alley, a spokeswoman for the park service. "But everyone is safe — but tired."

"That's carrying them 500 feet down," the spokesman said.

Daughter Arrested For Stealing, Forging Mom's Checks

Joanne C. Griggs of 635 Sable Palm Circle, Altamonte Springs, alleged to Altamonte Springs police that her daughter had stolen blank checks from her home and forged the checks, which were cashed.

Almost $400 was withdrawn from Ms. Griggs' Barnett Bank account after the March 17 theft of her checks. A police investigation led to two suspects, one a man, who allegedly cashed the checks which were made out to him, police said.

Douglas Mark Voss, 22, of 677 Sausalito Blvd., Casselberry, was charged with uttering a forged instrument and attempted grand theft at the Barnett Bank on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs, at 2:47 p.m. Friday.

Amy Lou Griggs, 18, of 246 Plaza Oval Drive, Casselberry, was charged with theft of checks and forgery at her home at 9:15 p.m. Friday. Both were being held in lieu of $1,000 bond each.

FONDLE ARREST
A 19-year-old Sanford man was being held without bond charged with sexual battery in connection with an alleged assault on a 4-year-old girl.

The arrest came at 3:56 p.m. Friday after the girl on Thursday told Seminole County sheriff's investigator Greg Futch that she had been touched in a sexual way by the man and made to touch him about six weeks ago at the suspect's home.

Joseph Charles Longway of Masters Cove, 2711 Sanford Ave., was arrested after questioning at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

NUISANCE
Sanford police declared a 29-year-old Sanford man to be a public nuisance and charged him with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana, cocaine and illegal drug paraphernalia.

The arrest came after police with a warrant searched the suspect's home and reported finding contraband.

Carry Levi Burch of 2323 #2, W. 18th Street, was arrested at his home at 2:50 p.m. Friday. He has been released on bond.

Also arrested at the same home at the same time for possession of marijuana, cocaine and drug paraphernalia were:

Action Reports

- ★ Fires
- ★ Courts
- ★ Police

Ernestine Miller Tompkins, 24, of 2600 Georgia Ave., Sanford, and Gregory Leonard Deshields, 24, of 5316 Center Road, Lake Mary, who were being held in lieu of $2,000 bond each.

QUICK ARREST
A Sanford police sergeant noticed a window of Ken's Air, 102 Commercial Way, had been broken at about 4 a.m. Saturday, and just down the street he saw a man in a car which had a "scat full of copper tubing."

There was a lawnmower in the trunk of the car and the owner of the air conditioning business was called to the scene to identify his property, a police report said.

The occupant of the car, Ernest Hollis, 33, of 1710 Alexander Ave., Sanford, has been charged with burglary and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Donald L. Murphy, 53, of Maitland, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies about $1,100 worth of tools including a five-ton floor jack were stolen from a shed at his car dealership at 4255 U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood on Thursday or Friday.

About $450 worth of fishing gear was stolen from the backyard of Mark Allan Roberts, 24, of 431 E. Fourth St., Chuluota, between March 15 and Thursday, a sheriff's report said.

Three holly trees with a combined value of $180 were stolen from a home building site on Tuskawilla Road, Winter Park, on Thursday or Friday, according to a report a construction supervisor for Richmond American Homes filed with sheriff's deputies.

Jack C. Russell, 66, of 961 Powhatan Drive, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that his boat and motor worth $600 were stolen from his home between March 14 and Friday.

SENTENCED FOR ASSAULT

A Casselberry man pleaded guilty to a lewd, lascivious or indecent act or assault on a 15-year-old girl and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and 3 years of community control, a form of in-house arrest.

Sergio Torres, 21, of 503 El Dorado Dr., must also pay $1,000 fine, write a letter of apology to the victim and pay her medical costs. He could have received up to 15 years.

Torres was arrested in June on a charge of sexual battery and committing a lewd and lascivious assault on the girl.

According to court records, the girl said she was raped in a bedroom while at a make-shift party at 500 El Dorado Dr. She said she was drinking and couldn't clearly remember what happened. A group of the girl's friends took her to the home of a friend who put her in a shower then took her home. The girl's

Tampering Reward Increased

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The manufacturers of Contac, Teldrin and Dietac today increased to nearly $1 million their reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of whoever tampered with the drugs.

Jack Walden of the Proprietary Association announced on the "CBS Morning News" program that the makers added $700,000 to the $200,000 that Johnson & Johnson is offering in the tampering of its Tylenol capsules.

"A total of $900,000 ... we are offering as of this morning for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anybody responsible for the Chicago case in 1982, the Westchester (New York) case earlier this year or this current system of tampering with Contac and other SmithKline Beckman products," Walden said.

Walden said a national telephone hotline — 1-800-233-3081 — has been established to encourage persons to confidentially provide information.

Asked what additional money would mean to the investigation, Walden said, "It adds to the safety of the consumer. We're trying to catch these people. That's the only way to really ensure that these tamperers end."

Pruning The U.N. Deadwood

Much like a foreign country sending a group of emissaries to Washington to lobby for continued U.S. financial support of the government back home, top-level United Nations officials have recently mounted a behind-the-scenes campaign to convince the White House and Congress to exempt the U.N. from federal budget cuts now being aimed at domestic programs.

From the looks of things, an outsider might never know the U.S. government continues to wrestle with serious budget problems of its own. Not only are the bureaucrats skittering about, hoping to continue heavy U.S. support for U.N. salaries, expense accounts and other long-entrenched programs, but U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar is seeking a personal appointment with President Reagan in an effort to argue against any U.N. budget cuts.

What is at stake here, however, is not the continuation of generous U.S. support for the world body. That is virtually assured. It is rather the amount of belt-tightening that may be expected at U.N. headquarters in New York City as a result of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings law directing the federal government to get its budget act in order.

Without jeopardizing whatever limited effectiveness the United Nations may continue to exercise, there are any number of areas where potential cutbacks in U.S. support are feasible, according to two Heritage Foundation policy analysts, Roger Brooks and Juliana Pilon. Among the key target areas:

—The U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO) appears to offer prime possibilities for significant budget trimming. Over the 1980-84 period, the United States contributed $210 million of total FAO expenditures of $853.2 million. Instead of promoting free-market agricultural policies in Africa and elsewhere, FAO has tended to support less-productive projects with a government-center orientation. The recent food crisis is at last partly attributable to the FAO approach and heavy-handed government policies adopted by some African regimes.

—The U.N. Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) operated with a $54.5 million budget for the 1984-85 period. Yet, while it was founded to help developing countries grow through trade instead of foreign aid, UNCTAD has done little to fulfill its goal.

—The U.N. Department of Public Information (DPI) operates with a $70 million annual budget (including $17 million in support from the United States). It includes such goodies as $209,800 for "travel on film assignment" and $186,300 for "travel of staff to meetings."

As Brooks and Pilon point out, the United States currently contributes more than 25 percent of the international body's $4 billion annual budget. Yet surprisingly, no one seems to know in any detail exactly how much the U.N. spends, since it operates without a consolidated budget.

There is no time like the present, therefore, for U.N. officials to prune some of the dead branches of the trees in its own unkempt orchard.

Du Pont Helps Build GOP Grass Roots Base

WASHINGTON — "The major problem with the Republican Party is that we've tried to build it from the top down, rather than the bottom up," says former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont who is working full-time to change the political order of things.

Du Pont thinks the GOP's troubles "all began with Dwight Eisenhower," when the World War II hero broke the long Democratic hold on the White House with his 1952 victory over Adlai Stevenson. That election, he says, gave the GOP "the idea that all you needed to be in charge is the right superhero at the top of the ticket."

While the GOP kept their focus on the White House, says du Pont, "the Democrats were much smarter." They tolled away in the courthouses and the statehouses and built a political infrastructure that today remains the dominant political force on the state and local level.

"The Republican Party, has not built the base needed to capitalize on the remarkable Reagan record," du Pont complained in an interview. "So what I'm trying to do is to build that base."

The former two-term GOP governor, who took over a virtually bankrupt state in 1976 and turned it into an economic success story, doesn't use the term "realignment politics."

But this is essentially what he's practicing with his GOPAC, a $5 million political action committee that, for the past six years, has contributed exclusively to candidates for state legislative office. He probably also has been collecting a lot of political IOUs for his own undeclared bid for the 1988 GOP presidential nomination.

Du Pont admits that he's awed by Reagan's considerable political skills, which he compares to those of Franklin D. Roosevelt. However, he fears that the party could lose its national position in the post-Reagan era. "The party hasn't built down at the sheriff and dogcatcher level," he says. "We've been too preoccupied with Washington. What we've got to do is to win control of some state legislatures and governorships and congressmen."

To put the party's structural anemia into perspective, du Pont points to the South, where there are only 450 GOP state legislators vs. some 1,700 Democratic legislators.

"There's the problem!" he says. "We're not going to be a majority party in this country until we begin to make inroads into some of those legislatures."

"There are districts in Florida where Ronald Reagan got 75 percent of the vote," he says, "and the Republican Party essentially didn't run anybody for Congress. That's where we've got to be working."

Du Pont is convinced that the two major parties are approaching a political watershed in 1988 that will produce "a very sharp debate over America's future."

He thinks that Democrats — reacting against the conservatism of the Reagan years — will seek to turn the country back to earlier policies of increased government intervention in the economy. The GOP will be pushing their pro-economic growth, market-oriented policies that form the core of du Pont's political philosophy.

But he also thinks that his party "could do a more aggressive marketing job" than it has in selling its economic growth ideas to traditional Democratic constituencies.

Library Cuts Hurt Research

By Arnold Sawiak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some years ago a friend came to Washington to do research for a book.

It was a good book, but no best seller. It had nothing in it about cats or thin thighs or becoming a real estate millionaire with $18.20. It was about a newspaperman who covered Washington just before and during the Civil War — a small, interesting slice of American history.

The country would have survived without the book, but it did preserve one bit of our heritage, which was valuable. And it probably never could have been written without the Library of Congress.

My friend, Phil Staudenraus, practically lived in the library that summer. He went there early in the morning and left late at night, toting a shoebox jammed with research notes.

During the few hours we spent together, he would describe in terms approaching religious exultation the wonders of the great stockpile of information available to scholars and ordinary citizens at the library.

Years later, I wrote a magazine article about the library, and came to have even more respect for the immeasurable wealth the American people own in those buildings clustered behind the Capitol.

I remember standing in the gallery above the cavernous main reading room watching the scene below — hundreds of people actually reading books — and thinking that as long as this great institution lived there was hope that we would not become a nation of mindless tube-watchers.

Now, sad to say, that scene has been dimmed. The library, under the gun of the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law, will be closed Sundays and open only one night a week. Many people who have to work during the usual daylight weekday hours and want to use the library's unmatched resources in their spare time will be out of luck.

The decision to cut back the library's hours has provoked protests, including several sit-ins by people who ordinarily do their research in the evenings. If anyone wanted to know what it would take to transform passive bookworms into activists willing to go to jail, the library cutback answered the question.

Wind Blown Genes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There was a congressional hearing recently into charges that a genetic engineering firm violated federal testing procedure by spraying some trees on its roof with man-made microbes.

I'm not telling a House Science and Technology subcommittee how to run its business, but I would say the company's culpability may depend on how hard the wind was blowing in Oakland, Calif.

According to an Agriculture Department "news feature," agricultural researchers have been conducting some wind tunnel experiments to determine how far pesticides can be accurately sprayed on a breezy day.

Man-made microbes designed to make plants more frost-resistant aren't pesticides, of course. But a spray is a spray and I would think that Advanced Genetic Sciences Inc. might learn something from the wind tunnel tests.

"It doesn't take a strong wind to wreak havoc with a pesticide spray," reports one of the researchers. "We've found that a 15 mph crosswind can bend a spray as much as 80 degrees."

Spraying pesticides at simulated treetop heights as the machines moved through an orchard is hardly the same thing as spraying trees growing on a rooftop. Nevertheless, 15 mph crosswinds must be fairly common up there on the roof, so the effect might be pretty much the same.

If the wind is from a certain direction, says an Agriculture Department researcher, it can force a pesticide spray "backwards before it gets 6 feet from the nozzle." I would guess something similar could happen to gene-engineered microbes sprayed on trees.

One account mentioned that the microbes were released during a six-month period last week. I suppose that would make it rather difficult to pin down the wind velocity and direction, unless you accept semiannual averages.

Perhaps a more reliable method would be to check the spraying machine operators for frostbite.

I don't know how much money the government spends on agriculture research each year, but whatever the amount it obviously is well worth it.

No less an authority than the Agricultural Research Service says agriculture research "provides new knowledge and technology to assure an adequate supply of food and fiber for the nation's population now and in the future."

Surely no American who pays taxes, now or in the future, would quarrel with those results.

Moreover, we are so accustomed to reading and hearing about the need to feed the world, it was good to find someone taking a somewhat more parochial view for a change. And that goes for federal rules as well.

Take the Agriculture Department's move to establish requirements for the importation of proscuitto ham.

Ham-eaters can never be sure the hogs in a country like Proscuitto, if there were such a place, didn't have foot-and-mouth disease, swine fever, cholera or some other dread malady.

Halting Precocious Puberty

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Early sexual development, which causes menstruation in baby girls and growth spurts that make infants tower above their playmates, may be halted by a new synthetic hormone, a scientist says.

The phenomenon, called precocious puberty, is estimated to occur in one out of every 5,000 to 10,000 children and is three times more common in girls than in boys, said Dr. Gordon Cutler, chief of developmental endocrinology at the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development.

These children, some as young as a few months old, double their growth rate and develop the sexual physical characteristics of young adults, although they retain intelligence and social behavior appropriate to their age, he said. Sometimes precocious puberty is caused by a tumor or malformed hypothalamus gland, he said, but doctors are still baffled about what causes the majority of cases.

Since 1979, Cutler has treated 150 children with precocious puberty with a synthetic hormone almost identical to one released by the hypothalamus. His patients have ranged from a 6-month-old girl to 8- and 9-year-olds who had already begun the physical process that changes children into adults.

"This drug stops the release in the pituitary gland of hormones which control the ovaries and the testes," said Cutler. "When we stop the drug we find the pituitary goes back to normal and puberty continues."

Children treated with the hormone, which must be injected daily much the way a diabetic takes insulin, stop maturing physically and girls who have started their periods cease menstruating, he said. The drug appears to have no side effects.

Precocious puberty has been documented for centuries, but only since the 1950s have doctors attempted to treat rapid sexual development in children by dosing them with hormones similar to that in birth control pills, said Cutler.

These hormones have stopped physical sexual traits from developing, Cutler said, but often cause undesirable side effects. More important, they do little to halt the children's growth, he said.

The rapid bone growth characteristic of precocious puberty can take inches off the child's adult height, he said.

Souped-Up Jet Is Better Than Stealth

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Groaning and grimacing over the budget like a professional wrestler on camera, Congress is about to cry "Uncle!" to the Pentagon and approve the Air Force's crackbrained, $80 billion new toy: the Stealth bomber.

We've already reported Stealth's long list of deficiencies, including the most serious flaw of all: the acknowledged fact that the bomber, supposedly invisible to radar, won't be able to fool the old-fashioned radars the Soviet Union still has deployed.

Now we've unearthed an 8-year-old Pentagon study, still classified Secret, which shows that a souped-up commercial jetliner, with refinements, could do a better job than Stealth at a fraction of the cost. Yet this possibility isn't even being considered.

With its customary rigidity, the Defense Department, from Secretary Caspar Weinberger on down, is insisting that it must have its planned 132 Stealth bombers. Here's why this program is such a particularly wasteful and woodenheaded boondoggle:

Unlike the B-1 bomber, which was designed for use in either nuclear or conventional warfare, Stealth will be treated like the crown jewels. Sources told our associate Donald Goldberg that Stealth is to be used strictly as a second-strike weapon — that is, after an exchange of missiles.

The super-secret bomber will be rolled out of the hangar only after the nuclear holocaust has already begun. It can't be used before then because it's too expensive to lose and for fear that merely flying it will give away its design secrets.

Never mind that the invisibility to radar would hardly be necessary in the confusion and conflagration that follow a nuclear missile attack. Overlook the fact that even in peacetime, with nothing better to do, the Soviet air defense in 1983 took two hours to locate and shoot down the unarmed Korean Air Lines plane that had been wandering around in Soviet air space. Ignore the possibility that the KGB will find at least one vulnerable employee among the 30,000 who'll be working on the Stealth bomber, and be able to buy its secrets long before D-Day.

Why does the Air Force insist on the Stealth bomber, then? It's hard to escape the conclusion that the ex-pilots who run the Air Force are still hypnotized by the glamor of manned aircraft. Even under this Dr. Strangelove spell, there are few who will argue that a cruise missile with a small radar signature is an infinitely better penetrator than a slow-flying plane (which the Stealth must be to make its supposed invisibility work at all).

What the Pentagon should be buying is a simple plane that is hardened against some of the byproducts of a nuclear exchange — like electromagnetic pulse — and can get up fast enough to be safe in the air, where it could drop air-launched cruise missiles to devastate the Soviet Union. A plane like that would be a credible deterrent; Stealth is not.

The still-secret Pentagon study found just the plane that could do the job. The CMCA, or "cruise-missile-carrying aircraft," could be a Boeing 747 or an Lockheed L-1011 simply redesigned to meet the Pentagon's second-strike requirements. But no one in the military-industrial complex will lobby for this simple solution, which would produce few profits or promotions.

Given the reality of Washington, the cheap answer is out. But there's still a way to lop off a sizable part of the Stealth bomber's $80 billion price. If Congress can talk the Pentagon into 132 more B-1 bombers instead of Stealths, it would save the taxpayers approximately $55 billion.

Finally...Duke, Kansas Join Louisville, LSU

United Press International
The field for the Final Four is set. No. 1 Duke and No. 2 Kansas earned the remaining two berths Sunday, and will face each other Saturday in the semifinals of the NCAA Tournament at Dallas. Saturday's regional victors, No. 7 Louisville and Louisiana State, will face off in the other semifinal. The national championship will be decided next Monday.

At East Rutherford N.J., Johnny Dawkins scored 28 points and the top-ranked Blue Devils overwhelmed Navy 71-50 to win the East Regional, and at Kansas City, Mo., Danny Manning scored 10 of his 22 points in the last nine minutes to rally No. 2 Kansas to a 75-67 victory over North Carolina State and the Midwest Regional championship.

"I told our kids to celebrate for about 30 seconds," said Kansas head coach Larry Brown, whose Jayhawks will be making their seventh Final Four appearance but the first since they finished in fourth place in 1974. "It's a special thing to get there, but you can't be satisfied just getting there. You've got to do everything you can to win once you get there." With Kansas trailing 57-52 with 8:53 remaining, Manning scored 8 consecutive points in a span of 2:12 on a variety of shots and offensive rebounds off the left baseline to put the Jayhawks into the lead for good, 60-57.

"Danny will take challenges when they are there," Brown said. "He was the player of the year in our conference, he was the MVP of our (Big Eight) tournament and he was the MVP of this tournament. Every time he plays against a great player, he's been great."

North Carolina State head coach Jim Valvano recognized Manning's domination of the game's turning point.

"From then on, we broke down defensively, especially on the second shot," he said. "They kept shaking loose on the baseline."

Greg Dreiling added 19 points and 12 rebounds, and Ron Kellogg 12 points as Kansas defeated North Carolina State for the second time this season. The Jayhawks also prevailed 71-56 at Greensboro in early December.

Basketball

Charles Shackelford scored 20 points, and Chris Washburn 17 to pace North Carolina State, which fell in a regional championship game for the second straight year. The Wolfpack also lost to St. John's in the 1985 West Regional final. North Carolina State finished the season 21-13.

Kansas improved to 35-3 with its 16th consecutive victory.

For Duke, All America guard Dawkins overcame a case of nerves to lead the Blue Devils, 36-2, to their 20th straight victory, tying the NCAA record for most victories in a season, set by Kentucky in 1948.

Dawkins, who shot 4 for 15 in the first half, hit 9 of 10 in the second half, including his first 7 shots.

"I was nervous in the first half," said Dawkins, who ended an 18-2 Duke run with a reverse slam on the fast break for a 34-22 Blue Devils' halftime lead.

"The dunk was something I had to do for myself to get started positive on offense. I began the second half very motivated and real confident because of that."

Dawkins was voted the outstanding player in the East Regional.

The unranked Midshipmen, who finished their finest season 30-5, shot 40 percent from the floor and were outrebounded 49-29.

David Robinson, who led Navy with 23 points and 10 rebounds, chastised himself and his team, saying, "We played like girls inside today."

Duke, pursuing its first national championship, advances to the Final Four for the fifth time.

The Midshipmen discovered early they could not match Duke's muscle. The Blue Devils shot just 35 percent in the first half but held a 34-15 rebounding advantage and scored 18 points off offensive rebounds.

Robinson capped a 6-0 Navy burst at 7:16 of the first half when he slammed home a Vernon Butler miss for a 20-16 lead but Duke scored 12 straight and 18 of the last 20 in the half.

Mark Alarie, who finished with 18 points, hit four jumpers and Dawkins capped the 18-2 run with his reverse dunk.

Botched Relays Leave Seminole Behind Buchholz

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High's talented athletes make it look so easy some times that you tend to forget how many things can go wrong in a relay race. Saturday, the team that lives by the baton died by it.

A disqualification in the 440 relay and a false start in the mile relay cost the Fighting Seminoles first place in the meet as Gainesville Buchholz slipped through the back door to claim the Bob Hayes Invitational title at Jacksonville Raines High.

Buchholz finished with a score of 58 compared to 48 for Seminole and 39 for Raines. Had Seminole not been disqualified in the 440 relay, it would have picked up 10 points and a third place or better finish in the mile relay would have given the 'Nokes the victory.

"Those two mistakes overshadowed some outstanding performances," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "Buchholz has a great team but they didn't really win the meet, we lost it. We can't make mistakes against the good teams and expect to beat them."

The 440 relay team blazed to what would have been a meet record time of 41.9, but the Tribe was disqualified for an exchange outside the zone. The false start in the mile relay kept the Seminoles out of a chance for a possible tie for first place.

Individually, Seminole had a pair of first places led by senior Alvin Jones who soared to a season's best and meet record 49-4 in the triple jump. That leap is also the best in the state this season.

"Alvin (Jones) had a tremendous jump into a 15-20 miles per hour wind," Brauman said. Senior distance standout Billy Penick continued his reign in the mile run as the defending state champion (4A) in that event fought through horrid wind conditions to record a time of 4:25.2.

Penick also anchored the one relay that the Seminoles placed in, the mile medley. Joining Penick on that team, which took second with a season's best time of 3:32.1, were Dwayne Willis, Pat Davis and Eric Martin.

Other second places for the Tribe were turned in by Louis Brown in the 220 yard dash (21.9) and Sonny Osborn in the pole vault (11-6).

Davis, a senior, set a school record in the 100 meter dash with a third-place time of 10.4. Other third places included Martin in the 440 (48.4) and Alan Seward in the 880 run (2:02.1).

Walter Hopson took fifth place in the high jump by clearing 5-10 while sixth places went to Andre Jackson in the 120 high hurdles (14.9) and Roosevelt Buckner in the triple jump (42-2).

"Our medley relay was only five-tenths of a second off the school record and ran the second best time in the state this year," Brauman said. "Louis (Brown) ran a great race in the 220 and Eric (Martin) missed his personal best time by one-tenth of a second."

The Seminoles will return to action Saturday in the Winter Park Relays at Showalter Field.

No. 5 Lions To Battle Lyman

Oviedo's Lions, ranked No. 5 in the Florida Sports Writers Association Class 3A Prep Baseball Poll, take a step up this week when they battle four county 4A rivals in the Greater Greyhound Invitational Tournament at Lyman High School.

Three games will be played each day at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Competing schools are Oviedo, Lake Brantley, Lake Howell, Seminole, 1A Lake Highland and host Lyman. The tournament is a round-robin format.

Oviedo, 8-1, has won six in a row. Tonight at 7:30, Mable sends senior righthander Craig Duncan against Lyman. Duncan is 3-0 with a 1.93 earned run average and 20 strikeouts.

Merchant is next at .483 and a county-leading 15 stolen bases. Frank Torres (.381), Bobby Bradley (.333) and Jeret Kinnaid round out the hard-hitting attack.

Tuesday: 1 p.m. — Oviedo vs. Seminole, 4 p.m. — Lake Highland vs. Lake Brantley, 7:30 p.m. — Lyman vs. Lake Howell; Wednesday: 1 p.m. — Oviedo vs. Lake Howell, 4 p.m. — Seminole vs. Lake Brantley, 7:30 p.m. — Lyman vs. Lake Highland; Thursday: 1 p.m. — Seminole vs. Lake Howell, 4 p.m. — Oviedo vs. Lake Highland, 7:30 p.m. — Lyman vs. Lake Brantley; Friday: 1 p.m. — Lake Brantley vs. Oviedo, 4 p.m. — Lake Highland vs. Lake Howell, 7:30 p.m. — Lyman vs. Seminole.

Brantley Deck Hands Provide Boost For Runner-Up Finish

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

When four of his starters jumped ship for a Spring Break trip, Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris didn't have to start combing the Altamonte Springs area for able-bodied players. He had plenty of deck hands available, waiting with bated breath for the chance to display their skills.

And, in the Lady Hawk Invitational, whoever Betris sent in got the job done. Lake Brantley won four straight games, including an upset of previously unbeaten Boone, but ran out of gas in the final rematch with Boone as the Lady Patriots came away with second place in the tourney on a frigid Saturday at Red Dug Park in Casselberry.

The tournament was resumed

Saturday from where it left off a week ago. Last week's tournament was rained out after four games were completed.

Lake Brantley ran its overall record to 18-4 with four wins and two losses in the tourney. Host Lake Howell won its first two, but then dropped a pair, as did Oviedo. Lake Mary, which lost its opener last week, bowed out after one loss Saturday and Seminole High also lost two straight.

"We showed we have some other kids that can play," Betris said. "The starters are just a little bit ahead of them. It was a good opportunity to give the kids a chance that are starting to break through."

Softball

...Leaders, Page 6A

Brandenburg are good examples.

Weston, a left-handed hitting outfielder, was 9 for 30 in six games for a .450 average and she went 7 for 10 (.700) in the last three games. Weston also scored seven runs and drove in two.

"Michelle (Weston) is a great kid," Betris said. "She's a perfect example of one who makes the most of it when she gets a chance. She works hard and always pays attention and is always one of the first players to practice."

Brandenburg started in right center field where she played flawlessly with some spectacular catches. "She did everything right," Betris said of Brandenburg. "She made all the plays and always hit the cut off."

Brandley dropped a tough 1-0 decision to Boone in its first game Saturday in which Boone pushed across the winning run in the bottom of the seventh. The Lady Patriots rebounded with victories over Oviedo, 8-3, and Oak Ridge, 4-3, to advance to the losers' bracket final against Lake Howell.

After three scoreless innings, the Lady Patriots exploded for six runs in the top of the fourth and never looked back. Weston led off the inning with a triple and Heather Meyer followed with an RBI single. Sherry McDonald drove in a run with a sacrifice fly while Denise Burke and Niki Burke followed with RBI singles.

Brandley put the game away with four more runs in the fifth with Tracy Brandenburg's RBI double leading the way. Denise Burke, Mandy Mattheisen and McDonald also drove in runs in the inning.

The Lady Patriots came right back to play Boone which had won its first three ballgames. Again it was scoreless for three frames but Brandley broke the ice with two runs in the fourth. Weston unloaded a tremendous drive to right center and the outfielder ran it down but couldn't hold on. Meyer followed with a sacrifice fly for the first run. Kim Robinson then tripled with two outs and scored on a Boone error.

Brandley pulled away with four runs in the fifth with three scoring on errors and another on Weston's RBI single. Brandley's victory over Boone not only snapped the Lady Braves win streak at 16 but set up a winner-take-all final.

In the final, Boone jumped out to an early 4-0 lead, then added four runs in the fourth en route to a 9-1 victory and the tournament title. Brandley had eight hits in the game including a 4 for 4 performance by Weston.

"The cold really didn't affect us because we played straight through, but we were physically worn out that last game," Betris said. "But I'm really happy with

Anderson Reaches Goal Despite Injury

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Statistics are fine but Catherine "Kitty" Anderson did just as well motivationally as she did leading Seminole High in scoring, rebounding, steals and free throw shooting.

"I knew, being a senior, that I would have to show some leadership this year," Anderson said. "With all the ninth graders on the team, it was hard at first, but they came around and helped pull us through."

"Sometimes they want to argue, but you have to tell them to settle down and just listen."

Anderson, a three-year starter for the Lady Seminoles, averaged 20 points and 10 rebounds per game as Seminole finished second in both the Seminole Athletic Conference and District 4A-9.

For her outstanding efforts, Anderson was named Evening Herald Seminole County Player of the Year by the six county coaches and sports writer Chris Fister.

"It (Player of the Year) is something that I wanted from the beginning of the year," Anderson said. "I worked hard to get it and I think I could have had a better year if I didn't get hurt early."

Anderson was injured in the second game of the season, a loss to Cocoa Beach in the Winter Park Rotary Thanksgiving Tournament, and was slowed by the sprained ankle for the early part of the season. She also sat out one game, the first game she missed since her sophomore season.

"I didn't like sitting down," Anderson said. "I wanted to play. And I wanted the ball as soon as I got back."

Anderson finished the season with a flurry, scoring a career-high 31 points in a late-season game against Spruce Creek. In one, two-week span, she averaged 25 points per game and was named Burger King Player of the Week both weeks.

Anderson said among the biggest influences on her game were former Seminole High standout Mona Benton along with Seminole assistant varsity and head junior varsity coach Sonja Cherry, former coach Ron Merthle and current coach Charles Steele.

"Me and Mona (Benton) used to shoot around a lot with the boys and that helped me out a lot," Anderson said. "And coach Cherry really taught me a lot. She was my first coach when I played JV as a freshman and we went 16-1 that year."

Anderson hopes to continue her basketball career in college and she plans on paying a visit soon to Kansas Wesleyan. Seminole senior Temika Alexander also has been recruited and plans to take a visit to Wesleyan. Among Anderson's other possibilities are Florida Southern, Santa Fe Community College and Florida Junior College.

Laszaic Condition Improves

Anthony Laszaic, a 16-year-old Lake Mary High School baseball player injured in a March 14 automobile accident, has been moved from the intensive care unit to the pediatric unit and his condition has been upgraded to "stable" from "serious," a South Seminole Community Hospital spokesperson said Sunday night.

Red-Faced Rams Fall Prey To 'Wise' Move

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

APOPKA — Sonny Wise, Apopka's sagacious baseball coach, is properly named. His moves on a baseball field are calculated and cunning.

Saturday night at Apopka High School, Wise and his Blue Darters gave the Lake Mary Rams a lesson on how to manufacture the winning run without taking the bat off their shoulder.

The play, called the Fall Down or Big Foot play in baseball circles, left the Rams red-faced and looking for the way to go home.

After winning 16 consecutive games to open the season, coach Allen Tuttle's powerhouse suffered consecutive losses to Lake Howell Friday and Apopka Saturday which will knock the Rams from the top of the Class 4A Florida Sports Writers Prep Poll.

Friday's performance was uninspired while Saturday's outcome could best be termed as embarrassing after the Wise maneuver.

With the game tied at 5-5 entering the bottom of the eighth inning, Mark Methvin drew a one-out walk and stole second. Reliever Steve Shakar (0-1) struck out Brian King on a 3-2 pitch for the second out.

John Jackson, who had two of Apopka's five hits, followed with a groundball to the left side. Lake Mary shortstop Shane Letterio made an excellent backhanded grab to keep the ball from going into left and temporarily save the game.

Johnson stole second after his infield hit and Tim Oxley, who wore out Lake Mary with three doubles and three runs batted in, was semi-intentionally walked to load the bases.

This brought Lake Mary nemesis Keith Usrey to the plate. The rangy senior had shut down Lake Mary with three scoreless innings of relief but at the plate he had struggled, striking out twice.

On the first pitch to Usrey, Oxley broke from first base. As he returned to the bag, he purposely fell flat on his stomach about 12 feet from the base as if he had lost his footing.

Lake Mary catcher Ryan Lisle immediately fired a peg to first baseman Mike Schmit who turned toward Oxley, who had now gotten up and was edging toward second. Schmit tossed the ball to second base, figuring he had Oxley hung up.

Oxley stopped dead in his tracks and threw his arms up in the air in jubilation as Methvin sped home from third with the winning run in a 6-5 Apopka victory before 150 chilled fans at Apopka High School.

"They bit on it like a fish on a worm," Wise said. "When Lisle threw the ball down to first and then saw that runner coming from third, the look on his face told it all."

The play is designed to allow the run to score before the third out is made. If the run scores prior to the tag it counts and the out becomes meaningless.

"I looked at the catcher as soon as I fell down," Oxley said about the play. "As soon as Lisle threw it to first, I knew we had them. Mike (Schmit) didn't even look home."

Which made Wise a very grateful coach. "Schmit could have nailed him at the plate because Methvin left too early," he said. "I'm just glad he didn't look home."

Tuttle, however, said it was too late. "The kid left so early," he said. "Schmit didn't have a chance, even if he looked home."

The abrupt conclusion left the Rams at 16-2 for the year while Apopka improved to 13-4. Lake Mary returns to action Friday at home against DeLand.

The Rams took control of the game early, scoring four times in the first inning against John McMurry. Letterio beat out an infield single and on out later, Mike Pinckes walked. Schmit followed with booming double off the right center field fence. Letterio scored on the two-bagger and when the right fielder overthrew the catcher, Pinckes, too, came around.

Lisle followed with a bloop single down the right field line to score Schmit. Lisle moved to second on the throw home. One out later, Kelly Hysell walked and when he stole second, catcher Dave Brown gunned the ball into center to plate Lisle for a 4-0 lead.

Apopka came back with two in the bottom of the first as Oxley doubled home King who had walked. A passed ball by Lisle when Schmit struck out Usrey for what would have been the third out kept the inning alive. One walk later, Schmit hit Brown with the bases loaded for the second run.

Schmit struck out six but walked six and hit two. Still, the ace righthander took a 5-2 lead in the seventh but for one of the few times in his career couldn't apply the closer.

Methvin and King walked to lead off the seventh before Jackson rode a 1-2 curveball into right field for a single to load the bases. Oxley was next and he scorched a liner inside the third base bag for another double and two more RBI to draw Apopka within 5-4.

Schmit intentionally walked Usrey to reload the bases and set up the forceout. The righthanded senior then struck out James Barks. He fell behind Brown, 2-0, though, and when he came in with a fat one, Brown ripped it to left for a sacrifice fly and a 5-5 tie. Schmit struck out Greene to send the game into extra frames.

Coffey, 3 Hurlers Lift Brantley, 9-3

Mark Coffey socked three doubles while Ed Dickmeyer, Bruce "Swizz" Carlson and Ray Sylvester combined for a five-hitter as the Lake Brantley Patriots trounced Orange Park, 9-3, in prep baseball Saturday night at Lake Brantley High School.

The victory upped the Pats mark to 5-10 and avenged an earlier 8-3 setback to Orange Park. Lake Brantley takes on Lake Howell today at 4 in the Greater Greyhound Invitational at Lyman High School.

"We're turning it around a little bit," Smith said about the Pats second win in the last three games.

Several two-out uprisings keyed the Brantley effort. In the first, Coffey laced a hit-and-run double to right center to chase home Mike Davis, who had drawn a two-out walk. Dan Beaty reached on a throwing error by the third baseman to plate Coffey for a 2-0 edge.

Baseball

In the second, Rich Koch roped a two-out doubled off the right field fence and when Mike Beams beat out an infield hit and the pitcher threw the ball away, Koch scored.

In the third, Davis led off with a single. Coffey doubled and Beaty walked to load the bases. Pat Lusk was hit by a pitch to force in one run and David Rabaja walked to account for the other and a 5-2 lead.

Again in the fourth, Brantley struck with two outs as Davis walked, Coffey doubled and Beaty singled home the run. In the fifth, Rabaja walked and stole second before eventually scoring when Andy Dunn reached on an error.

The Patriots put the game away in the sixth when Coffey walked, Beaty was hit by a pitch and Lusk singled to load the

Connors Unusually Upbeat Despite Setback To Lendl

FORT MYERS (UPI) — Ivan Lendl and Jimmy Connors each said they made strides toward straightening out their games in the final of the $315,000 PaineWebber Classic.

Surprisingly, despite a 6-2, 6-0 loss to Lendl, it was Connors who was more upbeat about his performance.

Connors, who complained at last month's Lipton International Players Championships that he was playing "wimp tennis," said he was improving.

"I believe in taking chances and it didn't work today, but I didn't play like a wimp," the 33-year-old Connors said. "Next week is another match and I will keep trying to improve. I know I am playing good tennis or I wouldn't be in the finals."

Despite constant complaints this year about his game, Lendl has won 25 straight matches since losing to Stefan Edberg in the semifinals of last year's Australian Open. Lendl, winner of $230,852 in 1986, said he is trying to reach the form he showed in winning the Nabisco Masters earlier this year at New York.

"I was there last fall and I was there this January at the Masters," said the 25-year-old Lendl. "I slipped a little bit (since the Masters). I feel like I'm on the uprise a little bit. I'm going to work on my game to get where I think it should be."

Lendl made short work of Connors. Down 1-2 in the first set, Lendl won the next 11 games to beat Connors in this tournament's final for the second straight year.

Lendl won $50,000 in the event at the Jimmy Connors U.S. Tennis Center at Sonesta Sanibel Harbour Resort. Connors earned $25,000.

MARTINA: 43 MINUTES

NEW YORK (UPI) — For all her success, there is still something for Martina Navratilova to achieve in tennis.

If she has her way, though, that little bit of history will never be attained.

For three years, the Women's Tennis Association has scheduled a best-of-five final for the Virginia Slims Championships, a distance women have not gone in 85 years.

On the first two occasions, she swept the final in straight sets, and although she finally was forced to a historic fourth set Sunday, nothing really was proved about the staying power of women.

Wrapping up the first two sets in a mere 43 minutes, thanks to a run of 10 successive winning games, Navratilova raced to a 6-2, 6-0, 3-6, 6-1 victory over Hana Mandlikova in the final of the $500,000 season-ending competition.

"It was like a quick three sets," said the 29-year-old top seed, who completed the match with another string of five consecutive games. "Emotionally it was different, but we weren't out there that long. There were no long rallies."

"We both could have gone five sets and been fine. I didn't want to go five, but I knew I could have. I've done it in practice with my coach (Mike Estep) in a lot closer sets."

Navratilova required only an hour and 42 minutes to wrap up a week's work in which she collected $386,250, boosting her career earnings to $10,429,674.

Pantelias Displeased With SCC's Weekend Work

Mark Blythe
Special to the Herald

Seminole Community College split a double-header with Long Island University Sunday but SCC coach Jack Pantelias was anything but pleased. The Raiders dropped the first game, 11-7, and won the second, 8-4. SCC lost two of three over the weekend as it dropped a one-run game to Florida Junior Saturday.

"We were our own worst enemy," he said. "If we played to our potential we would of won those games."

In the first game Sunday, SCC

Baseball

was tied in the fourth after two outs as Jeff Morgan reached first on an error and John Moore singled. Leonard Thigpen followed with his first of two homers for three runs.

In the fourth, though, LIU took an 8-3 lead with a five-run outburst.

SCC, 16-11, picked up another run in the fifth when Danny Moore doubled to center and Kevin Hill singled him to third. Charles Brooks brought him home with a groundout to third. Seminole drew close again in the sixth adding three more runs on a Jeff Greene double plus three singles by Morgan and Dan and John Moore. Again, LIU came back strong enough to hold off the Raiders with three more runs in the top of the seventh.

In the second game SCC got an excellent pitching performance from Matt Lawton (3-1). After two scoreless innings, SCC picked up a couple in the third as Rick Given drew a walk and Morgan slapped a homer over the left field fence.

SCC added on to its lead picking up a run in each the fourth and fifth innings. In the sixth Seminole picked up four as Troy Blevins led it off with a single and Jeff Duvall followed up with another single. Then Brooks singled in Blevins and sent Duvall to second a ground out by Given moved the runners up and Morgan singled home two more. Thigpen then singled and Chris Gage followed up with another single to score Morgan.

SCC has three home games this week on Tuesday (Valencia), Wednesday (Lakeland, Ill. College) and Thursday (Santa Fe). All games start at 3 p.m.

Luciano, Officials Depend On Seance To Check Rain

Rumor has it that, before the Lady Hawk Invitational began Saturday, Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano and the tournament officials got together for a seance where they summoned up Mother Nature.

The conversation was said to go something like this: "Wind, no problem. Unusual cold, we can deal with that. Rain, out of the question."

The tournament began a week ago Saturday but torrential downpours postponed it after four games were completed. The weather seemed liked it might not cooperate again last week as heavy rain Thursday cancelled a county track meet.

But, Mother Nature must have been listening Saturday because the wind was blustering and the temperatures were frigid but there was not a drop of rain. Thus, the extended version of the Lady Hawk Invitational was played without interruption.

Because of the unseasonal cold, though, about 500 fans came disguised as empty seats. You know its cold when all that's left in the hot chocolate container is the stuff that looks like it was just scraped off the bottom of the Mississippi River and tastes like something you put in your car's engine.

Hot chocolate and hot coffee were the big sellers Saturday and this reporter can attest that, after ingesting mass amounts of the hot beverages, the only thing that stays warm is your tongue when the thermometer hits 40 degrees.

The hot bats in the tournament belonged to Lake Howell's Judson Jones and Christy Tibbitts. Jones had 10 hits in 15 trips to the plate for a .667 average in four games with Tibbitts 7 for 14 for an even .500. Tibbitts also drove in nine runs with a homer and a triple and score six times.

Tibbitts has been the Burger King Softball Player of the Week the past two weeks. Heather Meyer, from Lake Brantley, won the first week.

Lake Brantley's Michelle Weston hit .450 with nine hits in 20 at bats for six games and Brantley's Tracy Brandenburg was 9 for 21 for a .429 average.

Lake Howell's Julie Barton had four hits in 15 at bats but she made the most of those hits with two triples and a home run which was good for six runs batted in.

Seminole County's teams will take this week off for spring break with only Lake Howell in action. Lake Howell will defend its championship at the West Orange Tournament Saturday at the West Orange Girls Club.

The county teams will resume action in the Seminole Athletic Conference on Tuesday, April 1. The standings are tight through the first four games for each team with Lake Brantley and Lake Howell tied for first at 3-1.

Lake Mary, Oviedo and Seminole are all one game back at 2-2 while Lyman hopes to rebound from an 0-4 start.

Sanford's Janet Hauck had never played fast pitch softball in her life before this season but she's performing well for Stetson University's Lady Hatters.

Hauck, a 1985 Seminole High graduate, has four hits in 15 at bats for a .267 average in 12 games. She has also walked five times, scored six times, stolen a base and drive in one run.

Stetson, in its first season of fast pitch, got off to a blazing start as it won its first 11 games. The Lady Hatters, now 12-5, have come down to earth a bit though, losing five of their last six.

NATION IN BRIEF

Hinkley Seeks Permission To Leave Hospital Monthly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Hinkley Jr., innocent by reason of insanity in the shooting of President Reagan, makes a rare appearance in court today to argue that he is well enough to be allowed to leave a mental hospital once a month.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker is to hold a hearing on Hinkley's motion for more freedom at St. Elizabeths Hospital — six days before the fifth anniversary of the attempted assassination in which Reagan and three other men were shot.

Hinkley, 30, has been held at St. Elizabeths' maximum security ward since a jury ruled in June 1982 that he was innocent by reason of insanity — a decision that shocked the nation and renewed efforts to ban the insanity defense.

The drifter son of a Colorado oil executive filed his own legal papers on his request and asked to be allowed to argue his own case before Parker, who presided at the sensational trial in 1982.

Court Won't Hear TMI Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to become involved in a plea from Norman and Majorie Aamodt seeking to reopen Nuclear Regulatory Commission hearings on the restart of the undamaged reactor at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant.

TMI Unit 2 was damaged March 28, 1979. In the worst commercial nuclear power accident in history, the undamaged sister unit, Unit 1, was immediately shutdown, but after six years of hearing the NRC, in May, 1985, authorized the restart of Unit 1. The Aamodts, who used to live near the reactor, the state of Pennsylvania and a variety of citizens groups filed suit to halt the restart. The 3rd U.S. Courts of Appeal, however, ruled against them and the plant was restarted.

The Aamodts continued their fight by appealing to the Supreme Court maintaining the hearings should be reopened because they have new evidence that more radiation leaked from the plant during the accident than was revealed and evidence of higher cancer rates in the area as a result.

Arguing against Supreme Court review, the NRC said the claims of the Aamodts are without merit.

Reports Cite Sloppiness By Shuttle Contractors

MIAMI (UPI) — Parts manufacturers for space shuttle rocket boosters were constantly warned about manufacturing errors, carelessness and failure to abide by strict inspection codes, the Miami Herald reported Sunday.

Despite the layers of inspectors watching over them and the stringent regulations covering them, the companies make mistakes, ignored rules and sometimes cut corners, according to inspection records The Herald obtained under the Freedom of Information Act.

At the Hydra Pak plant in Salt Lake City, where rubber strips are cut into 38-foot-circumference O-rings, inspectors found workers keeping food in the industrial refrigerators used to cool raw O-ring material, according to NASA inspection reports.

O-rings, the strips of hardened rubber that act as huge washers, are part of the complex seam between the segments of the shuttle's solid-fuel rocket boosters. Investigators believe one of the seams in the right booster failed in the Jan. 28 explosion that destroyed Challenger and killed its seven crew members.

In the spring of 1983, an inspector criticized the Hydra Pak plant for measuring the O-rings on the floor, using paint marks as guides. Hydra Pak manager Norman Millsap said the measurement involved carefully calibrated tools as well as the paint marks, and that the test was conducted in that manner because the floor was "the only large enough area to do it."

The measuring system and the food storage problems were later corrected without harm to the product, Millsap said.

Pepper Makes 1st Funds Pitch

MIAMI (UPI) — Democratic Congressman Claude Pepper sent out fundraising letters for the first time in his 49-year career in the House to stave off a Republican threat to his re-election bid this year.

But the 85-year-old congressman, who first went to Washington the year Joe DiMaggio put on Yankee pinstripes, said his real test may not come until the 1992 election.

Pepper said he mailed 500,000 letters to past supporters and likely allies last week appealing for help.

In a dozen elections since 1962, Pepper coasted to victory by a 20 percent margin, and a recent poll by a Miami TV station concluded he is virtually unbeatable this year.

His only opponent so far is Tom Brodie, a former policeman with little political experience.

Lee Road in Orlando. He offered no resistance and was not armed, Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said. The handgun used to kill Woodbury's girlfriend had not been recovered early today. Woodbury was being held without bond for allegedly shooting in the head Ronda Bemis, 31, who lived with him, and whom Praast said had planned to marry Woodbury on Valentine's Day.

According to two adult witnesses at the scene of the shooting Woodbury and Ms. Bemis had argued all night before the shooting. The killing is possibly drug related, Praast said.

Witness Michael Leonard

Roark, 24, the owner of the home where the shooting occurred, said Woodbury and Ms. Bemis and her son Kevin had moved into his home two days before the shooting, a sheriff's report said.

After hearing the argument and a shot, with Woodbury having left the home on foot, Roark took Ms. Bemis' son to his grandparents home.

He returned to the scene, but not before sheriff's deputies arrived and forced entry to the home to find Ms. Bemis lying dead on a livingroom sofa. She was pronounced dead at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs, the report said.

A second witness, Michael Joseph Pfister, 22, of Orlando, was brought back to the scene from his home by sheriff's deputies, the report said.

A search was then mounted for Woodbury, a carpenter.

Shuttle Salvage Depends On Weather

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Ghostly sonar images of shuttle wreckage on the debris-littered sea bed indicate salvage crews face another few days of work, weather permitting, to complete recovery of Challenger's shattered crew cabin.

The tight pattern of the wreckage indicates a portion of the crew module may have smashed into the ocean relatively intact, breaking apart with the brutal impact after an 8.9-mile fall, according to Cmdr. James R. Buckingham, director of the Navy's role in the salvage effort. He said as of Saturday, no pieces of the suspect booster joint where the rupture occurred have been located by search crews.

But most of the wreckage from the suspect rocket's aft fuel section has been mapped by sonar and the remains of the joint itself may be close by.

Wind gusts of nearly 29 mph kicked up swells topping 15 feet Sunday, forcing eight of the nine salvage ships to remain in port awaiting better weather.

engineer major Brian Flynn.

Dykeman immediately provided an answer to a Shakespearean question worth 30 points, and offered correct answers steadily throughout the see-saw second half to help win the championship.

Other members of the winning team, which will meet state champions from Alabama and Mississippi in April, include Tammi Basso, Flynn, and J. Richards, all of Sanford, and team captain Gerry Doyle of Casselberry.

Team members won $1,000 cash each, and opportunities to share scholarships totaling over $100,000.

SCC defeated last year's state runner up North Florida Junior College of Madison, 500-270, to qualify for the semi-finals. In semi-final action, SCC defeated 1984 state champion St. Petersburg Junior College 490-340.

Broward had defeated Central Florida Community College 480-280 in the semis to meet SCC for the championship.

SCC's win is only the second time in the five-year history of the competition that a first time entrant in the state tournament has won the title, and it is the first time the fifth seeded team has won the championship.

Doyle, an SCC business administration major, earned the tournament's only individual award for correctly answering the most toss up questions in one match. He was awarded the "Point Buster Trophy".

In preliminary action Friday, SCC won over North Florida Community College 500-270, and advanced to defeat St. Petersburg 490-340.

A total of 28 teams from across the state entered Brain Bowl competition, with five advancing to the state championship competition, according to Ms. Coulter. The competition is sponsored by the state Department of Education/Florida Community College Activities Association.

Ms. Kaye said her agency would be prepared to proceed with the suit if filed against the authority in December if a determination is made that the new access policy violates a "non-interference" clause contained in the settlement agreement reached by the authority and the legal agency in January, when the clinics were allowed to resume.

CFLS initiated its suit after an authority board majority voted to discontinue the free, twice monthly legal clinics the agency was conducting in the community rooms of the Castle Brewer Court and Redding Gardens housing complexes.

While reviewing the litigation, the authority board discovered it did not have a set policy regarding utilization of housing facilities by private and public groups. The promulgation of an access policy, as well as the legal clinics' resumption, was recommended by authority attorney Ned Julian during the board's January meeting. Both proposals were accepted by the board, as was a subsequent settlement agreement with the legal agency, which led to the discontinuation of its suit.

The following month, Julian recommended the board offer CFLS $750, rather than the $3,596.68 in attorney's fees the agency had requested from the authority. The $750 represented just a little more than the agency said it had paid on documentation of the suit. The balance of the agency's bill was for 85 hours of suit preparation at $35 an hour.

Julian said he felt the $750 offer was equitable and that if CFLS chose to contend otherwise, it could "let a judge decide" a final settlement figure.

He added, however, he felt a judge would not award much more to the agency if the amount was contested. Julian based his opinion on the fact that the litigation involved no courtroom time and he also said much of the work done by the legal agency could have been undertaken after the suit was filed, rather than before.

Housing Authority Board Chairman Alexander Wynn said today he remains in support of the $750 figure, which "our attorney recommended as being fair."

He also said an issue that began "with them (the legal agency) saying 'We're acting in the best interest of housing tenants'" has become "a situation where they keep pushing and pushing for more money from the authority."

"We followed our attorney's recommendation to let them come back in, and I think we should stick with his recommendation to pay them $750," Wynn said.

Seeking 2nd, 3rd Surgical Opinions Can Prevent Tragedy

DEAR ABBY: Re the woman who hated her thin legs and inquired about silicone injections to make them more shapely: You advised her to consult three plastic surgeons before making that decision. Very good advice, Abby. I hope she took it. Seventeen years ago, I consulted a plastic surgeon about the identical problem. My big mistake was consulting only one doctor. He assured me that silicone augmentation to fill out my calves was a simple procedure and involved very little risk. I went ahead with it, and within a few days I noticed that the silicone had started to run down my ankle area! Not only did it look terrible, it was very painful when bumped. Shortly afterward, this doctor left town suddenly and was not to be found. A few years later, I read in the newspaper that he had been charged with wrongful death and malpractice suits in another state.

Now I must wrap my legs with Ace bandages daily and elevate my legs periodically to keep the silicone out of the ankle area. However, the silicone still gradually migrates down to my ankles.

Please keep repeating your advice to those who inquire about any kind of surgical procedure to get a second opinion. And a third is better yet.

SORRY I DIDN'T

DEAR SORRY: And I am sorry

I didn't repeat this column that ran a year and a half ago:

DEAR ABBY: I am a healthy, active, 46-year-old man whose doctor told me I needed a triple (and possible a quadruple) bypass operation immediately! It came as a shock to me because I had never had heart trouble of any kind. This news came to me on May 2, 1983. On the following day, I read something in your column that I believe was more than a coincidence. It was as though the good Lord had sent a message to me through you.

I acted on your recommendation and got not only a second opinion, but a third, and both doctors told me I did not need heart surgery. When I told my first doctor about the opinions of the other two doctors, he suggested that since I had so little confidence in his professional judgment, I should find another doctor. I did.

Please run the enclosed column again. And run it every year. Sign me ...

ALSO WISED UP

DEAR ALSO: I will. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: Thank you so much for printing the government's Second Surgical Opinion Hotline. (The toll-free number is 1-800-638-6833; in Maryland, it's 1-800-492-6603.) It's easy to see why you titled your column "Second Opinion Likely to Offend Doctor." It's been my experience that asking your original doctor for the name of a second-opinion specialist poses no problem for him. He will simply refer you to someone down the hall, in the same building or belonging to the same country club who will invariably corroborate his own opinion.

In And Around Longwood

Sweet Rewards Offered To Students Who Read

The Friendly Restaurant Corporation helped kick off Longwood Elementary School's Reading Incentive Program by visiting the school and providing ice cream sundaes to participating students. The Reading Incentive Program will run for 10 weeks. Students who read five books receive certificates for free ice cream cones at Friendly's. After reading 12 books, they are awarded bookplates bearing their names in books donated to the Longwood Elementary Library.

To ensure that the children have read the books, volunteers will do "book chats" with each child concerning each book. When the program is completed, Bob McGrath from Sesame Street will pay a visit to the three county schools with the largest number of books read. We're counting on Longwood Elementary to be one of them!

Mark your calendar now to donate a pint of blood to the Central Florida Blood Bank on March 29 or 30 at Fica World. The Bloodmobile will be located in Fica World's east parking lot from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days. Fica World is giving each donor a free box of homemade fudge as a reward.

Two area periodontists have been named to the Florida Board of Dentistry, which regulates the dentistry profession in the state. Dr. Rick Chace Jr., Winter Park, was made chairman of the board, and Dr. R.T. Ferris, Altamonte Springs, is the board's new vice-chairman.

Westmonte Park's Annual Easter Egg Hunt is on for 10 a.m. Saturday at the park in Altamonte Springs. The hunt is open to children ranging in age from pre-school through second grade.

Colored "eggs" holding prizes and candies will be hidden throughout the recreation center's grounds. Children are to bring their own Easter baskets to collect their goodies.

A class on creating spectacular floral arrangements will be given by John Fulcher, manager of Disney World's floral department, at the next meeting of the Goldenrod Garden Club. It is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., March 26, and will be held at the Contemporary Hotel at Disney World.

To place your reservations, call Mrs. Stevens at 671-9885. Space is limited.

An Easter egg hunt will be held on Easter Sunday at Sunshine Park on Edgewood Avenue, Winter Springs. The hunt is being sponsored by the city's VFW Post 5405.

Hunt times are 1 p.m. for tots through 5-year-olds; 1:30 p.m. for ages 6 through 9; and 2 p.m. for ages 10 through 12. Prizes will be given to those who find the most eggs in each age group.

The Longwood Civic League Women's Club will meet at 1 p.m., April 1, at its West Church Street location.

Each member is asked to bring a sample of her favorite hobby or collection and to be prepared for a "show and tell" sharing session. Carolyn Bistline and Louise Goodwin are the hostesses for the occasion. Visitors are welcome.

Dr. Phillip Pollock, professor of political science at the University of Central Florida, will be the guest speaker at the League of Women Voters of Seminole County's "Food for Thought Luncheon." The meeting is in Longwood at noon, March 27, at Major's Cuisine Restaurant, Springs Plaza, on West SR 434.

Pollock will speak on the role of PACs (Political Action Committees) in American politics. Reservations may be phoned in to Mrs. Hansen, 339-5359; Mrs. Smith, 831-0374; or Mrs. Saartinen, 869-7781.

The League of Women Voters of Seminole County, a non-partisan organization, encourages citizens' informed and active participation in government.

To join the League of Women Voters, call membership chairman Arlene Tretenbaum, 788-2459. Men are members too!

Cancer Society Calls For Ban On Cigarette Firm Sponsorship

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — The American Cancer Society, citing 20 years of evidence linking tobacco to cancer, has called for a ban on cigarette companies sponsoring events that attract young people.

Cancer society spokesman Irving Rimer said cigarette companies are circumventing the 1971 ban on cigarette advertising on television or radio by sponsoring televised sporting and cultural events.

"I think the public needs to understand the not-so-subtle ways the cigarette companies are moving their product onto the public airways," Rimer said Sunday.

"They are associating their product with tennis events, ski trips, rock concerts and other healthy, pleasing events. They're trying to convey that their product is healthy and pleasing and it's not. It's a lethal product."

"In the past when we've talked about the elimination of cigarette advertising, we've put it on a voluntary basis. We realize that hasn't taken place, so we believe action on the federal level may be necessary."

Smokeless Tobacco Use On Upswing

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Twelve percent of college students in the United States use smokeless tobacco, including many who believe it is less hazardous than cigarette smoking, researchers said Sunday.

A survey of 5,894 students from 72 colleges nationwide found that another 8 percent plan to start using smokeless tobacco in the future.

The survey, conducted for the American Cancer Society by a team of researchers at various schools, was released at the start of a four-day seminar for science writers.

"These results underscore the need for action by health professionals in disseminating correct information regarding the health consequences of smokeless tobacco," the researchers said.

Smokeless tobacco, which is usually chewed, has been linked to cancer of the mouth, larynx and esophagus.

While admitting there was a health hazard, 54 percent of those surveyed said smokeless tobacco is "less harmful" than cigarettes, researchers said.

Dr. Charles A. LeMaistre, the cancer society president, also repeated the group call for extending the ban on cigarette and smokeless tobacco product advertising to include newspapers, magazines and billboards.

As a first step, a resolution approved by the cancer society's board of directors calls for the elimination of all models and scenery in tobacco advertising and a limit on illustrations to depictions of the cigarette package.

Advertising copy should be restricted to the tar and nicotine content of the product, one of the four rotating warning messages from the U.S. Surgeon General and the price of the product.

"There is no question about the link between tobacco and cancer," LeMaistre said. "The evidence against tobacco has continued to mount for over 20 years."

LeMaistre said studies found up to 85 percent of the teenagers who experiment with as few as three packs of cigarettes develop lifelong habits.

"Ninety percent of today's smokers have tried to quit," said LeMaistre, speaking at the opening of a four-day seminar for science writers. "Saddening of all, less than one smoker in 10 ultimately succeeds in quitting for good." "If the industry were not to do that it would be a logical step for the Congress to step in," said Rimer.

"While cigarette smoking in this country has leveled off, people continue to smoke and die," he said, noting that one death in every four in the United States is related to cigarettes.

Old-Fashioned Cures Can Still Be Effective

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Thirty years ago, when I was newly married, I was told that I had a slightly tipped uterus. I had a pessary inserted, ceased having severe menstrual cramps and became pregnant. Now my daughter has been told that she has a slightly tipped uterus, causing bad menstrual cramps. The doctor gave her the choice of Motrin or the Pill. He dismissed the idea of a pessary as old-fashioned, ineffective foolishness. This is a frustrating situation, given my own experience. Any suggestions?

DEAR READER — A pessary is a rubber or plastic device that is inserted deep in the vaginal canal to help hold the uterus in a more forward position. Uterine retroversion (bending backward) can be a cause of menstrual cramps when the womb is heavy with congestion during certain times in the menstrual cycle. Pessaries are a nuisance because they should be removed and cleaned daily. Therefore, many gynecologists recommend using medication to relieve menstrual cramps. Nonetheless, pessaries still can be useful. I don't agree with your daughter's doctor that pessaries are old-fashioned and ineffective. They worked for you, didn't they? Perhaps she should use one and, if it works, she will be satisfied and the doctor may learn that what is old-fashioned is not necessarily foolish.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a female, 18. Around the time of my parents' divorce, my menstrual cycle became very irregular. Can a tragic experience like a divorce disrupt a menstrual cycle? Will it become regular again?

DEAR READER — Stress can alter the menstrual cycle. Grief, illness and malnutrition have been associated with discontinuation or irregularity of the cycle. Once the stress is resolved, the menses usually return to normal. As time passes and you adapt to your parents' divorce, your periods will probably become regular again. If not, check with your gynecologist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I was in a car wreck and was bruised very badly. Both my arms and legs go numb. The doctor said this is because the muscles in my neck get tense and he gave me Amitriptyline (10 mg.). Is this a muscle relaxer? Will I ever get over this?

DEAR READER — Amitriptyline is ordinarily prescribed as an antidepressant. Perhaps your doctor believed that your muscle tension and pain are partially caused by depression. If your symptoms are due to the auto accident, healing will occur with time and you will feel better.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Defense is the most difficult part of bridge, and today's deal shows why. Declarer ducked the opening lead in both hands. The second heart was won by the king. A low spade was played from dummy; East played the eight and declarer the queen, and West won the king. There was nothing attractive for West to do except continue hearts. Declarer won the ace, shedding a club from dummy. Now came the ace of spades, dropping East's jack, and another spade played to dummy's 10. On this spade, East played the club five. Declarer now returned to his hand with the diamond king to play two more spades. It is easy to see that declarer can make nine tricks by leading clubs, since East holds both the ace and the king. However, without the benefit of X-ray vision, South will fear that West holds the club ace or king. And so he would normally take a diamond finesse and be set one trick. (The defenders would take one heart, one spade, one diamond and the A-K of clubs.) But lo and behold, as declarer played the fourth and fifth spades, West threw both remaining hearts away, advertising the lack of an entry. Even though declarer felt certain now that West held the diamond queen, he knew it was safe to lead clubs, and East had to give up a crucial trick to declarer in that suit. How much better for the defense if West throws the club 10 and a diamond, seeming to still hold a high club honor. South will now take the diamond finesse and will certainly be set.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...
YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 25, 1968
 Advantages that you couldn't develop on your own will come through your personal contacts in the year ahead. Big rewards lie in proper teamwork.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Bargains or agreements you strike today might not amount to much in the long run. Both parties could lack the will to follow through. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail 62 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Serious responsibilities and duties cannot be wished away today. Pretending that they'll take care of themselves is asking for bigger headaches later.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't gamble on something today if you're relying solely on Lady Luck. She might look the other way when you need her the most.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) If the world happens to treat you a trifle rough today, don't take your wrath out on innocent bystanders, especially those who are powerless to answer you back.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Holding unyielding opinions today could be asking for trouble, particularly if you enter into a debate with a character who likes to argue.
VRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A joint venture requiring a cash outlay on your behalf might not live up to its expectations today. Before investing, know what you're getting into.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Treat your partnership arrangements with all the skills you can muster. Normally this is your strongest area, but it might be your weakest today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's wise to place boundaries on your generosity today, or you might give away something on impulse that you could later regret.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Avoid a gathering today where you might run into someone you dislike. This person could drop in and spoil your fun.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be extremely careful in ticklish career situations today. Don't achieve your purposes at the expense of someone else.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today, if you rely more upon what you feel than the facts, you may not see the issues clearly. Blurred vision brings fuzzy results.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This might not be one of your better days moneywise. Be careful with your cash as well as the resources of others.
