CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME." EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH. "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"—SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

The express companies have been in the public mind of late and they would be having more sympathy in their sorry plight if people could forget their arbitrary methods of the past and their disregard for public demands for better service and a freedom from their dictatorial and haughty treatment of the people, both as to rates and service. The condition in which they find themselves is largely due to the way they treated the people and but few there are being aided by those who have had to submit to bad treatment for years. They would not do the fair thing and consequently they had to be taught a lesson which I hoped will be a salutary one to other offenders. It has been fully demonstrated on other occasions that when a strong government engages in any particular line of business, those individuals or companies competing with the government stand little chance of surviving. The reasons for this are apparent, as the government is in a position to dictate terms to the carriers, has no direct overhead charges of any kind, is not in the business for profit, and if a deficit is disclosed at the end of the year it is promptly wiped out by an appropriation on the theory that the public at large have been the gainers. The operations of the parcel post system have unquestionably made it a difficult matter for the express companies to handle similar business with profit. This has already been witnessed in the falling off in earnings of the four large companies during the second half of 1913, which has resulted in two of these periodically cutting dividends and a third announcing its intention to quit the field. The parcel post, however, is not all that express companies have to contend with, as the interstate-commerce commissioners, notwithstanding, have put in force a reduction of rates, which is generally believed will make this year's operations of the several companies show a considerable deficit at the close of the year. There is no question that even to preserve their existence they will be obliged to introduce all kinds of economies and enlarge the scope of their business very considerably. Most of the companies derive a large income from their treasury assets which help them out some otherwise, the situation for them would be even more deplorable than it is. The United States Express company, has always been the least important of the four large companies in the field, therefore, it is the first to quit. It is not at all improbable that the three surviving concerns would like to follow suit if they could rid themselves of their long term railroad contracts. In getting around this point it is presumed that the United States company will by arrangement appoint its services among the other companies. In view of the fact that the railroad companies in abrogating exclusive privileges to the express companies divide the revenues, it will be realized that they are not willing to hand all contracts cancelled. It is the Wells Fargo company alone last year, in settlement of damage claims, $299,000. As before stated the stocks of the express companies are largely held for investment, many of the shareholders being women and trustees of estates. The reduced revenues of the companies, therefore, threatening an extinction of dividends, is a very grave matter to them. The American Express company was formed under the laws of New York in 1859. It has no funded debt. Its income in 1913 from all sources was $49,288,127 and it paid a dividend of $12 on each of its 180,000 shares of stock which have no par value. The stock is quoted at 100 to 105 per share. The Adams Express Company was formed in New York in 1854. Its revenue during 1913 was $37,212,894 and it paid a dividend of $12 on each share of its stock. The stock is quoted same as American—100 to 105. The Wells Fargo Express Company was organized in Colorado in 1866. During 1913 its receipts amounted to $39,321,146, an earning of 12.71 per cent. on its stock and yet its stock is quoted at 96 to 98. United States Express Company was formed in New York in 1854. Its receipts in 1913 were $21,977,470. It has paid no dividend since November, 1912. The shares are now quoted at $72 to $75. And our own Southern Express Company, that we all love so dearly was formed in the south and needs no explanation as to its real estate being fostered by the railroads and using the rolling stock and express offices of the railroads. About two years ago the Southern paid a dividend of over 100 per cent but now in competition with Uncle Sam will probably not declare quite so large a dividend or at least the public will not hear of it when the next union cutting comes off.

A vigorous plea for compulsory school attendance laws in the southern states is made by William H. Hand, state high school inspector for South Carolina, in a bulletin just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. After pointing out that the six states still without compulsory laws—South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas, and the four states with compulsory laws that apply only partially—Maryland, Virginia, Arkansas and Louisiana—were all southern states, Mr. Hand presents statistics showing that although illiteracy has been reduced rapidly in these states within the last two decades, they still have the highest percentage of illiteracy among the white population. "The figures can have but one meaning," declares Mr. Hand. "They show that compulsory education reduces illiteracy." The opponents of compulsory education insist that the people will send their children to school without being obliged to do so, if only they are shown their duty and their obligation to their children. These opponents declare that the younger generation of white children are already in school. Neither contention is true. In 1910 the twelve southern states had 788,699 native white children between the ages of 6 and 14 in school. "Who are these illiterate white children, and why are they not in school? Some of them are the sons and daughters of parents themselves ignorant and unable to appreciate or to understand what an education means to their children and to the state. Some are the children of sordid fathers and mothers who are more willing to make wage earners and breadwinners of their untalented offspring at the expense of their future manhood and womanhood. Many are at work on the farms, sacrificed to the monotonous round of planting crops, cultivating crops, harvesting crops, and again planting crops. Some are at work for stores and shops or engaged as messenger boys, all as a small wage. Many are employed at the nerve dulling and blood sapping environment of the mills, receiving good wages as children in exchange for vigor of body and training of mind as men and women; while thousands of others are roaming the streets and country lanes, the training ground for idlers, vagrants, and enemies to law, order and decency." "When the state has provided schools for all its children, it has performed only a portion of its duty. If a universal school tax is justifiable on the ground that popular education is a necessity, compulsory attendance by the state is also justifiable. The state has no right to levy a tax to collect taxes for a specific purpose and then permit that purpose to be defeated at the hand of indifferent or selfish parents. "Objection is often made that compulsory education would work hardships in the homes of the poor. Is it not a fact that the poor child is the very one who most needs the aid of the state to bring him into possession of his own? He it is who must soon face the complexities of life and the insistent demands of citizenship with none of the advantages common to birth or wealth. The poor child is the very one whom the state ought to help, because he himself is helpless. "The argument against compulsory attendance on account of the negro has been worn threadbare; surely the time has come to drop it. Some phases of it are pathetic. Is it wise or expedient to permit thousands of white boys and girls to grow up in ignorance lest in forcing them into school the aspirations of the negro child should be awakened? Shall the white man remain ignorant in order to encourage or to compel the negro to remain ignorant? Is it better for white and black to remain ignorant than for both to become intelligent? "I yield to no one in the matter of pride over what has been accomplished educationally in the past forty years. We have planned better schools, inspired the taxpayers to vote taxes for schools, encouraged the people to build model school houses, to lengthen their school terms, to employ better teachers and to pay them better salaries, and to make their school their pride. But what has been accomplished in the way of a substantial decrease in the illiteracy of the citizenship. Of what value are all our school taxes, our elegant school houses, our improved schools to the thousands of boys and girls who never enter the door of a schoolhouse?" "Other cities are sitting up and taking notice of the good points of the City Manager as witness the following from Dallas: "Jacksonville needs a commission form of government, which will enable business men to give the city a business administration. On September 31, 1900, a tidal wave destroyed 7,000 lives and $30,000,000 worth of property at Galveston, Texas. It was an appalling disaster. The city records were lost and confusion was complete. To temporarily meet the emergency, the government appointed a commission to take charge of public affairs. When election time came round again the people of Galveston decided to reinstate the commission. This accidental plan was so successful that other cities followed Galveston's example, until now the commission plan of municipal government, which unites legislative and executive functions, has spread all over the country. It is being talked in Kansas as a state proposition. Des Moines, Iowa, added the initiative and referendum to the plan, and another city added the recall, and now the initiative, referendum and recall usually go along with the commission plan, thus giving the voters a constant control over their local officers and affairs. Another application of business methods in city government was on June 12th, 1912, when Sumter, S. C., voted on an option between a regular commission plan and a city manager plan, modeled on the scheme proposed in 1911 for the city of Lockport and the other third-class cities of New York, and the city of locks adopted the latter by a three-fourths majority. The Sumter or Lockport idea keeps close to the scheme of organization operative in private business corporations. Under this arrangement the elective officers, of whom there are three, have only directive or regulative functions and the whole administration is under the control of a single appointive head, who is an expert in administration, and will hold office at the pleasure of the elective commissioners. This plan follows more closely the German idea of city administration, in which the burgomaster plays the leading role. It retains the ultimate responsibility for the conduct of the affairs of the city in the elective officials, but relieves the individual members of departmental responsibility. The latest example of the commission manager system is at Dayton, Ohio. The campaign for a change was under way last spring, when as at Galveston, a flood all but swept the city off the earth, leaving 75 per cent of the population without food or shelter. With the work of rescue and rebuilding, a charter commission of fifteen citizens, made up of all parties and nationalities, kept busy and the outcome was a charter providing five commissioners, the latter with authority to select a city manager. The ward bosses of all parties fought the movement, but on August 12th last it carried by a vote of 13,317 to 6,922. I may be wandering far afield in taking up an Atlanta murder case but having always had my doubts about the guilt of Frank in the now famous Phagan case, I re-opens to my credit that circumstances are proving my contention. Circumstantial evidence in a murder case is a dangerous case and as a member of a jury I would never be in favor of hanging a man on circumstantial evidence alone. The public mind is apt to be hysterical and the witness jump at conclusions. My old friend Thorndyke of the Palm Beach Post sums up the matter well in the following: Atlanta is learning that there are a number of the most cheerful liars "a-bay midst" that have been found anywhere during the present decade. And it has been all brought about by the trial of Leo Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan. I can't understand why a man can get on the stand and deliberately swear away a man's chances for life when he knows he is lying! Several witnesses are now making affidavits that what they swore to at the trial was false! There's one Dalton, who swore that Frank had been most ignominial with many employees of the pencil plant; now he comes up to the doughnut stand and swears that Frank was not that sort of a fellow at all. And there's the doctor, the "expert," who swore that the strands of hair found near Frank's private office were from the head of the murdered girl; now he's making castron affidavits that the said hairs were not (get that?—NGT) from her head. And there's a lot of "good witnesses" who are falling over themselves to get in line and swear what they said at the trial was false! Of course, a man that is that sort of a fellow, can hardly be relied on to tell the truth at any time. It may be that they did tell the truth at first—and are now lying. And it may be just the other way. But in either event there seems to be a lot of candidates for charter membership in the Ananias Club of the great state of Georgia cropping up in Atlanta. I wonder whether there is a law in that locality punishing a man for that sort of work? Or would it come under the plea that he could not be forced to give testimony which might incriminate himself? But, from the looks of things it seems to me that Frank has a mighty good show of selling a few more pencils before he goes the way of all flesh.

One of the conditions of membership is that every initiate, in order to pay homage to the noble art of cooking, is pledged to reveal to his fellow members the name of the most humble tavern in which he has received an enjoyable repast. Encourage Kindness in Children Kindness is one of the habits that is latent in every normal child. It must be encouraged, and you may be sure that the child that is kind to animals and birds will be considerate in his treatment of persons. There is always something interesting in animals. Children love anything with life, and if taught to care for birds, fish or animals there will be a certain strength of responsibility that makes for good character. Dirty, Low-Down Trick Stealing of servants is a social crime that warrants the most severe condemnation. It is really disgusting to spend three or four years teaching a raw girl or wretch on the table only to have the guest of a previous evening entire her away a servant in the household by a trick, and the stealing of servants ought to be countenanced. Sanford the Convention City The Moving Picture Men on Monday for two days.

Eastern Stars here on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Baptist Young Peoples Union here on Thursday and Friday.

Busy week in Sanford and the city is fully capable of looking after the visitors, but Oh for that new hotel.

The editor of The Herald was honored at the Kissimmee meeting by the presidency of the Lake Region Press Club.

The next big convention in Florida and possibly the one to receive the most publicity will be the Florida Press Association meet at Ft. Myers on April 23 and convening for three days.

All the Sanford boosters should remember that next Tuesday is the very important meeting of the Commercial Club and that there will be many important items to discuss.

The Sanford Herald says: Hon. Forrest Lake will be Speaker of the House of Representatives of the state of Florida.

Well, let him buck. We intend to put Mr. Lake over, it is South Florida's turn at the gavel.

A REAL BOARD OF TRADE

Any one who has ever visited Kissimmee has been struck with the idea that the remarkable growth of that city is due to the support accorded to the floating newspapers and films to the real live Board of Trade of that city.

SANFORD FOR CONVENTIONS

Sanford has an ideal location as a convention city. One can get in the city and out of the city at any hour of the day or night and being situated about midway of the state from every direction delegates find it most convenient to come to Sanford for meetings of any kind.

TRIBUTE TO KISSIMMEE

The Editor of The Herald wishes to express his appreciation to the Board of Trade of Kissimmee, to Editors Triplett and Harris of the Gazette and all the force, to Editor Johnson and Vans Agnew and the boys of the Journal, to the ladies and gentlemen of Kissimmee, to Supt. Sears and Prof. Evans of the schools and to each and every one of those kind hearted Osceola people who contributed so much to our pleasure and comfort during the visit of the Lake Region Press Association on Wednesday.

Daytons expect to do the honors at some future time and they may beat Kissimmee's record but they will certainly have to go some.

However we will do our best. Kissimmee has set the pace.

FROM THE ASHES

The recent fire at St. Augustine destroyed many places of historic interest, many curios, many ancient landmarks dear to the hearts of not only the people of the Ancient City but of the thousands of Floridians and northern tourists who looked upon St. Augustine as an old curiosity shop, something that held the relics of the dead past and should not be disturbed.

This is all well enough in its way but the matter of fact business methods of today demand these changes. Some cities condemn old landmarks and tear them down. Some cities suffer a great fire loss in which modern structures suffer as well as the buildings of ancient and archaic architecture.

Modernism takes the place of the medieval. The forward march is relentless. The ancient dust of the past is swept from the path of life by the raw broom of the present.

All Time at DeLand

Some time since, Sanford Lodge No. 27 was invited to visit Magnolia Lodge No. 21 at DeLand to assist them in conferring the initiatory degree on one of their applicants. Eleven members of No. 27, consisting of B. F. Blackwelder, Wickers, Bruton, Meisch, Cobb, J. F. Dave Hickson, Powell, Brannon, K. Benbaker and Ferguson accepted the invitation and went to their City Beautiful, and say we had the time of our lives. We were met at the depot with autos and were shown many of the beautiful homes and places of note in and around this prosperous and thriving city. We were taken to their lodge room and found the members of Rebecca Lodge had prepared us a most delicious supper, which they served with their banquets. Rebecca's Rebecca can serve supper, it is really grand and as they were hungry we did it ample justice. After supper we repaired to the Lodge room and proceeded with the business of the Lodge. When Lodge was closed the brothers proceeded to fill us up again with ice cream and cake and about thirty of the brothers remained there till after 12 o'clock and entertained us with recitations and stories and we shall never forget the night of the kindness shown us. It would up in a much enjoyed ride from the Lodge room in an auto to DeLand Junction and we arrived home at 2:06 a tired but well pleased bunch of men and we hope soon to have DeLand Lodge return our visit, but we must get a Rebecca Lodge ready to help us out and have them bring their Rebecca Lodge along with them when they come.

Underwood in Orlando

Hon. Oscar W. Underwood, who was victorious against Richmond P. Hobson in the race to represent Alabama in the United States senate passed through Jacksonville this morning en route to Orlando to the bedside of J. H. Woodward, his wife's father.

Mr. Underwood was here just long enough to change trains and did not see anyone during his short stay.

Mr. Woodward is reported as being somewhat improved and Mr. Underwood will likely not remain long before hurrying to Washington to resume his duties in the House.

Mr. Underwood's nomination terminated one of the most spectacular contests in the history of Alabama. With the exception of a whirlwind speaking tour during the Christmas holidays the successful candidate's campaign was conducted by his friends. One of the chief claims for recognition for their candidate's advantage by Mr. Underwood's friends was the charge that Representative Hobson was neglecting his duties as a Congressman to conduct the campaign.

Mr. Hobson entered the senatorial race nearly two years ago. He visited nearly every county and town in the state. In every speech he charged his opponent with having been influenced by the "liquor interests." He also charged that "corporation influence" was behind the campaign of Mr. Underwood for the presidential nomination in 1912.

All of the charges were denied by Mr. Underwood at Jacksonville Metropolitan.

May Bees—An Essay

By Claude L'Engle

Don't Get Stung

May bees are good little insects. But they don't fly in June.

If the June primary—Don't waste time on May bees.

Some other man may be all right for you in Congress.

Some other man may be in line with progressive democracy.

Some other man may be able to think and act for the people after election.

But may be some other man won't.

And may be you'll get stung fooling with him.

You know that Claude L'Engle is NOT a may be.

You know that he will think and act for you.

Because he is not in Congress doing this very thing.

When you can get a sure thing, don't risk the best chance that ever happened.

Claude L'Engle has been time-tried and fire-tested in the fight for the people's rights.

He's the one sure thing for you in this race for Congress in the Fourth District.

He's there for one term.

Vote both there for another.

Vote for Claude L'Engle first.

Take a chance second.

EBENEZER ITEMS

Our neighborhood was sadly shocked last Wednesday morning when we heard of the death of little Thelma Wynn...

Mrs. B. J. Overstreet of Lockhart and Willie Wynn of Ft. Myers were called home by the death of their little sister, Thelma Wynn.

Mrs. L. A. Summerlin of Jacksonville is home on a visit to her father, C. C. Humphrey.

J. H. Wynn has been quite sick for the past few days, but we hope to see him out again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Stenstrom and little I. V. Jr., spent last Sunday with Mr. N. J. Stenstrom on the West Side.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Humphrey drove over to Winter Garden last Sunday in their car. They report a pleasant trip.

There will be services at Ebenezer church next Sunday conducted by Rev. H. D. Jones. All are cordially invited to attend.

A. K. Lucas was called to Orlando last week to attend the funeral of one of his friends from Panama, the body having been brought there for interment.

BETTER CONNECTION

Clyde Line and Railroads Ater the River Travel. The Clyde St. Johns river line steamers Oscola and City of Jacksonville are now appointed to sail from Sanford for Palatka and Jacksonville, daily, except Sunday, at 11:30 a. m.

Heretofore passengers from Tampa, St. Petersburg and all points south and west on the Atlantic Coast Line railway to Sanford, who wished to make the bill by water from that city to Jacksonville were compelled to wait until the following morning after their arrival shortly after 11 o'clock, because the Clyde steamers sailed from Sanford about 9 o'clock in the morning.

There has been so much desire expressed for a chance to make close connection in Sanford with the Clyde St. Johns river line steamers that Hermit G. Wenzel, Florida passenger agent for the matter up with the New York officials and the result is the change now effective.

Ample time is allowed in Sanford for the transfer of passengers and baggage from the depot to the steamer upon arrival of the trains from Tampa, St. Petersburg, Orlando, Kissimmee, Lakeland, Mt. Dora and all points south and west reached by the Atlantic Coast Line trains.

The steamers are due to reach Jacksonville at 7 o'clock the next morning after sailing.—Times-Union.

Noted Authors Here. Miss Verdie of Ft. Myers has returned home after spending several days here attending the Eastern Star convention. The Lakeland News has the following concerning her: "Miss Marguerite Louise Verdie, a noted authoress who is residing at Fort Myers arrived today to be the guest of her friend, Mrs. H. D. Mendenhall for several days. Miss Verdie's latest book is the "Maid, the Man and the Myrtle," a story of Yellowstone Park. This is a work of much literary merit combining a pleasing story with philosophical and religious theories, which the author has chosen to set in an unusual vehicle to set before the public, thus combining in the volume both instruction and entertainment. The book shows much research along lines related to the origins of religions, and abounds in vivid and accurate descriptions of natural features, especially of the scenery in and around Yellowstone Park.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Reginald Holly Hit by Cannon Ball Explodes and Car Demolished

One of the most miraculous escapes from death that ever happened was that of Reginald Holly, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holly last Saturday afternoon when the A. C. L. train bound for Ovidia hit his automobile and dragging it a distance of more than fifty feet tossed it into the air and into the ditch.

The accident happened at four o'clock at the Park avenue crossing. Reginald was driving the car up the hill to Sanford Heights to get his mother and bring her to the city. Sitting upon her porch Mrs. Holly heard him coming up the hill and did not hear the train until the crash came. Her mother's intuition told her what had happened and jumping from the porch she hastened to the crossing expecting to see her family killed for it was supposed that he was bringing the other three children home. As she came in sight of the wrecked car she saw Reginald emerging from under the wreckage and though badly hurt he waved his hand to reassure her. The train had run off the tracks at the next crossing and by that time was backing up to learn the extent of the accident.

The car was a total wreck and any one viewing it is surprised that the boy ever escaped with his life. He never saw the train or had the faintest suspicion that it was coming until he was struck and tossed into the ditch and his parents and friends are thankful that he is alive. He escaped with a gashed leg and minor bruises and is able to get around today and attend school. This crossing is dangerous to the traveling public on account of the grade going south and the fact that the train going east comes around a curve and on account of the usual and usual living the roadside is not easily discernible to the driver and the engine being on the right hand side of the car cannot see the traffic going south. It would be well for both parties to use more discretion.

LARGEST CHURCH ATTENDANCE IN SANFORD'S CHURCH HISTORY

ALL CHURCHES WERE FILLED TO OVERFLOWING SUNDAY

ALL RECORDS BROKEN

THE PEOPLE OF SANFORD REALIZE THEIR DEBT TO GOD AND WILL BUILD A NEW TEMPLE

Last Sunday was not only Easter Sunday but it was a gala occasion with all the churches for never before in the history of Sanford was there such a magnificent attendance. The slogan "Every Man in Sanford in the Sunday School in April" seemed to be carried out to the letter and each church in the city had a record breaking attendance both in Sunday school and in church.

The Presbyterian Sunday school had a banner stretched across the auditorium with the figures "500" meaning that Dr. Brantley expected to increase the Sunday school attendance to 200 before the month of April was over but last Sunday the attendance was 213 and he will have to raise his sights again. The Methodists had 257 in Sunday school and all the other churches had a large attendance. The exact figures are given in another part of this issue. This church attendance in Sanford is not the result of any revival but the deep seated conviction of the majority of the people that they should affiliate with some church and each Sunday sees many new members added to the various churches.

One of the best signs of prosperity in any community is the building of new churches. It means that the people are prospering not only in mercantile pursuits and trade but they are prospering in God's work and recognizing the fact that to him is due the riches of earth and heaven.

All the Sanford churches expect to build in the next few months. All of them will build substantial structures and Sanford will soon be the city of magnificent churches as well as the city of magnificent distances.

The church spirit and the Christian spirit prevail among us.

THE GREAT PRESS MEET

Fort Myers Promises a Great Treat For Its Visitors

Tallahassee, April 13.—The attention of the secretary of the Florida Press Association has been called to some criticisms appearing in the papers, to the effect that there was some favoritism shown in inviting for rather not in inviting certain persons to the annual meeting at Fort Myers. The facts are:

At a meeting of the board of trade of Fort Myers, held for the purpose of consulting with me as to what they should do to make the meeting the success it is going to be, my question was asked me, "Can we invite our senators and representatives in congress and the governor and his cabinet?" I answered them that they could. I was then requested later, at a meeting of the executive committee of the association held in Jacksonville, to duplicate this invitation on behalf of the association, which I did. Some have accepted; others have pleaded "press of business" but nearly all have accepted.

Easter at Methodist Sunday School. The Sunday school at the Methodist church has been constantly growing from the beginning of the year. On the first Sabbath in January there were 100 present, on last Sunday there were 257. In every one of these figures was written the spirit of joy. How could it be otherwise under such conditions? The committee having charge of the decorations and program had with palms, evergreens and plants changed the church into a veritable flower garden. Pansies, Easter lilies, roses in profusion and geraniums were also used in the decorations. The committee has the praise and thanks of all present.

The superintendent, Mr. Mettinger was at his post promptly at 9:45. The school was opened with "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." After the invocation the lesson was taken up in the different departments. The school re-assembled at 10:30, and the following program was well rendered to an audience of about 800: Song, Christ Arise (Intermediates); recitation, Easter Day is Here, Ruth Marshall; recitation, What the Lilies Teach, (four girls); song, Beautiful Lily (Juniors); recitation, Easter Voices (five boys); reading, The Glad New Day, Miss Marian Phillips; song, He Lives, the Savior Lives! (double quartette); recitation, A Glad Surprise (Two Little Girls). At the conclusion of the program the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Moyer was dedicated to the Lord by holy baptism.

H. Y. P. U.'s in Sanford

The Baptist Young Peoples Union has been in convention for a couple of days in Sanford and Friday night at 8:30 a number of the B. Y. P. U. of the church here went over in autos, under the chaperage of the president of the union of Orlando, Eugene Reid of the State Bank, Mr. W. H. Brokaw and Mr. A. B. Johnson. On arriving they were escorted to Comfort Cottage, where they were stayed with supper. Later they went to the convention hall, where they were welcomed in a fine speech by the pastor, Dr. Hyman, the local pastor, Chibbler, the local pastor, Eugene Reid, who in turn gratefully presented the speakers of the evening. First, Mr. A. P. Swainback of Orlando gave a well thought out and scholarly talk on "County Churches."

Miss Claude Howland was then introduced and spoke in an earnest manner of the needs and accomplishments of the Home Missions. She was an easy and graceful talker, and was followed by the absorbed attention of the audience.

Miss Claude DeLaney was gracefully presented to the audience by Mr. Reid, and gave a ringing and convincing address on Foreign Missions. Miss DeLaney handled her subject splendidly and received a perfect ovation of applause at its conclusion. Several speakers from Sanford and from Jacksonville completed the evening.

Among those who went over last night were Mr. A. P. Swainback, Miss Jennie Howland, Mr. H. W. Brokaw, Mr. Eugene Reid, Mr. A. B. Johnson, Misses Mary, Olga and Vesta Chamberlain, Messrs. Alton and John Link, Miss Harriet Thorton, Mr. Ivan Worth, Misses Claude and Eunice DeLaney, Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Newell, Mr. J. H. Tucker, Miss Fannie Tucker, Mrs. Dykes, Mrs. Coppedge, Mr. Henry Simmons, Miss Jennie Howard, most of whom returned by motor last night, though several remained over to attend today's session of the B. Y. P. U. Reporter Star.

Fagg in Sanford

Mr. Marcus Fagg, superintendent of the Children's Home Ky., zk A. Niagara will be in Sanford April 23rd under the auspices of the Welfare Department of the Woman's Club and will deliver a lecture on "Mothers' Prisons," embracing also information and statistics of interest in connection with the Home Society. Mr. Fagg is popular and well known throughout the state and has already won for himself a warm place in the hearts of Sanford people, having been actively engaged in the Men and Religion Forward Movement in Sanford two years ago. To mention Mr. Fagg's name is enough to insure a large audience. The lecture will be open to the public, men are invited and also the ladies. There will be no admission fee. A silver offering for a specific purpose will be taken at the conclusion of the lecture.

Congregational Easter Services

The joyful event of Easter Day was fulfilled in many ways; a number of young people confessed Christ by uniting with the church; a splendid program of Easter music was presented at both morning and evening services, under the direction of Mr. Woodruff, with Miss Hill at the organ and the Misses Arnold in a lovely duet, besides well rendered Easter choruses by the choir. For the first time, an individual communion set was used, the gift of Miss Flora Walker. In the evening, Dr. Lee closed his work with the church with a fine lecture and its practical application to present day life from the book of Esther. Altogether it was one of the most enjoyable Easter occasions the church has enjoyed for some time.

HEALTH CONDITIONS IN SOUTH GREATLY IMPROVED IN LATE YEARS

MALARIA FEVER WILL SOON BE UNKNOWN

GREAT HEALTH REPORT

SHOWS THAT FLORIDA AND THE WHOLE SOUTH BECOMING BETTER EACH YEAR

Washington, D. C., April 13.—Malaria fevers in the south decreased in 1913 compared with 1912, compared to the Public Health Service which in a report today stated the proportion was one to three. To obtain statistics of malaria, postal cards were sent to physicians in Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida, and the date received represented the reports of one-sixth of the physicians who received the cards. For Alabama the reports of the six months of 1913 from May to November inclusive, gave a total of 12,808 cases of malaria; Arkansas from August to November inclusive, 18,023; South Carolina from August to November inclusive, 12,000 cases; Florida, for the same period, 1,100 cases and Georgia from August to December inclusive, 9,825 cases. For the year Mississippi is reported to have had 61,811 cases. Discussing the economic aspect of malarial fever the report states that the average loss of time per man employed in cotton mills, on cotton plantations, etc., on account of the disease is in many places estimated at least two weeks in the season from June 1 to November 1.

The disease is preventable and can be controlled if not eliminated, according to the public health service, "when a community desires to carry out intelligent prophylactic measures based on the principle that the Anopheles mosquito is the only transmitting agent of malaria from man to man."

Anti-trust Legislation

supplementary to the Sherman act probably will not be undertaken at this session of the United States Congress on the broad basis originally outlined by the administration. This fact became known today, Democratic Senate and House leaders agreeing that a practical solution of the vexing problem of coping with evils of business through legislation had been suggested. The plan, it is asserted, is to pass one bill which would create an Interstate Trade Commission with broad

Slashed to Death

West Palm Beach, April 13.—Claude Brown, living near here, was found dead near the railway station here early today with four knife wounds in his body. Shelby Wiss and Henry Levine, two negroes have been arrested in connection with the crime. Robbery is supposed to have been the motive that prompted the killing.

How to Investigate Matters of the Corporation and with specific authorization to inquire into the relation to competitors in the interlocking of directorates, holding companies, stock watering, the issuance of railroad securities and price discriminations which tend to destroy competition. The commission would recommend to the next Congress that some bill be passed.

The tense situation created in Washington by the arrest of the American authorities at Tampico, was greatly relieved today with the receipt of General Huerta's prompt repudiation and apology for the action forwarded from Mexico City by Charge O'Shaughnessy. While no definite statement was obtainable in official circles, it was intimated that the necessary redress for the affront had been afforded. Reporting developments to the Navy Department, Rear Admiral Mayo, in command of the American naval force in Tampico cabled that he had demanded that the American commander salute the American flag in expiation of the affront. In his message he had given the Mexican officer twenty-four hours from 6 o'clock Friday evening to comply. No further message had come from Admiral Mayo, when the department closed tonight.

Lake in Miami

"I have read so much in The Metropolitan and other state papers about the wonders of Miami in these last few years and its great development and had strained my imagination to such an extent that I really believed I could comprehend and could understand all the great things you are doing here, but, as the Queen of Sheba said to old King Solomon, 'the half has not been told.'"

So spoke Forrest Lake of Sanford upon his arrival in the city yesterday to attend the convention of the Florida State Elks' Association, Mr. Lake being second vice president of that organization, re-elected at yesterday's business session.

"I thought I knew all about Miami, and I have always taken a keen interest in the city since its earliest days and eagerly read every line I can find about your wonderful city," continued Mr. Lake, "but Miami is beyond me, and you will have to publish a larger paper than you are doing now if you would tell all about the Magic City."

Pioneer Resident of Miami

Mr. Lake lived in Miami away back in the earliest days, coming here before the railroad and building the first ice plant in Miami, the machinery for which came on the first train. He said that in those first few years while the boosting spirit was strong no one seemed to have any real idea that Miami would grow to be a real city, though the town grew from the first. The growth has been more rapid the last few years, he believes, as he sees more changes in the city than he did when last here eight years ago.

The substantial business blocks built of concrete, and not temporary frame shack as are often found in new towns, are especially pleasing to Mr. Lake who prophesies the brightest kind of a future for Miami.

"When you build of concrete you say to the world that you are going to stay, and that's what makes a city," he said. "I understand that Miami uses more cement per capita than any other city in the United States, and I certainly believe it after counting the number of three, four and five-story business blocks you have here."

Mr. Lake left Miami in 1900.—Miami Metropolis.

Thanks

The Automobile Committee of the B. Y. P. U. convention wishes to thank the following gentlemen who made the delightful Friday afternoon ride possible: Messrs. B. Monroe, C. M. Williams, Brisson, Bolk, Rowe, Hall, Drumley, Tolar and Bates.

RUTH C. STEWART, Chrm.

At the Presbyterian Church Special Easter services at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening included song features by the choir, followed by a masterly address by Rev. Brownlee on the subject, "The Eastern Star," in which was described the journey and finding of the Savior by the wise men as being typical of the search which should be made by every earnest man and woman of the present day.

The recent heavy increase in membership of the churches and Sunday schools of the city, as well as their prosperity along other lines indicate that we are in the midst of a great religious awakening. May this be continued and increased.
