GARY SUCCESSOR IS NOW PROBLEM OF STEEL BOARD

President Coolidge Is Mentioned As Possible Successor To Judge Gary; Other Men Are Suggested

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(INS)—The chairmanship of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, made vacant by the death of Judge Elbert H. Gary, may be offered to President Coolidge if the president remains firm in his determination not to be a candidate for re-election and re-election, according to a report in Wall Street today.

But in the financial district the Coolidge report was met with considerable skepticism. The best guess of the financial community was the former Governor Nathan L. Miller, general counsel of the steel corporation, would be named as Mr. Gary's successor.

James A. Farrell, president of the corporation, is also mentioned as a possible successor, along with Myron C. Taylor, Senator David A. Reed, Pierre S. Du Pont, Dwight Morrow, Eugene G. Grace and George Kordon Crawford. The finance committee of the Steel Corporation meets this afternoon and it is probable that a temporary chairman will be chosen. It is unlikely that any final choice will be made until J. P. Morgan returns from Europe.

SACCO JURORS' HOMES DAMAGED BY BOMB BLAST

No One Is Injured Although Family Is Severely Shaken Up And Veranda And Front Part Of House Blown Away

Act Believed Done By Radical Friends

McHardy Was A Member Of Jury And Also Testified Before Governor's Inquiry

BOSTON, Aug. 16. (INS)—The home of Lewis McHardy, 463 Pleasant Street, East Milton, one of the jurors in the Sacco-Vanzetti trial, was damaged by a bomb this morning. None of the family was hurt.

Mr. McHardy, his wife, one daughter and two sons were in the McHardy home at the time of the blast. All were thrown from their beds. They were shaken up badly and frightened, but otherwise were not injured. The front part of the house and the veranda were blown away.

When the police were investigating the McHardy bombing, a report was made to the Cambridge police that a Harvard Square restaurant had been bombed and four men arrested. This proved, on police investigation, to be a hoax. A license investigation was sent to the Square to investigate.

McHardy was one of the jurors found Sacco and Vanzetti guilty of murder in the Braintree pay roll hold up seven years ago.

The explosion took place just a few hours before the Massachusetts supreme judicial court assembled to hear final arguments from Sacco and Vanzetti's counsel, who were fighting for a new trial. As a result of the bomb outrage, additional guards have been placed about the court house, the state house and the state prison where the two anarchists are held.

Police found a deep hole under the ruins of the porch which was filled with gas that was escaping from a broken main. In the bottom of the hole they discovered a part of a box bound wire and broken mechanism that looked as though it once was a part of a block. This led to the supposition that the explosion had been caused by a time bomb.

Light Vote Polled In City As Leaders Of Both Sides Claim Victory In Election

Although the voting was slow in today's election, the question of the proposed St. Johns-Indian River canal was widely discussed on the streets this morning and afternoon as advocates and opponents of the issue made final efforts to carry the election in Sanford.

Close observers of the election today were of the opinion that the issue would carry in Sanford. They gave as a reason for this an overnight change in the views of many freelanders. It was estimated that nearly half of those who cast ballots had changed on the question since Monday morning. There was a noticeable trend toward the canal in conversations on the street.

Whether the issue will carry in the county was the subject of some debate among the leading supporters of each side. Opponents said that the outlying districts would vote almost solidly against the waterway and were optimistic enough to predict victory by a narrow margin on the city.

The polls opened at 8 o'clock. Fifty-two votes had been polled in precinct one at 10 o'clock while 65 had been cast in precinct three at the courthouse. At 1:30 o'clock precinct one at 114 Park Avenue reported 140 ballots polled and precinct three had 187. The total vote in the two Sanford precincts was not expected to exceed 500 by the time the polls close shortly after 7 o'clock.

J. N. Gillon cast ballot number one in precinct three. H. W. Jones was next and A. H. Stone followed. Karl J. Schultz polled the first vote in precinct one. L. P. Clifton voted second and R. C. Schaefer was third.

Thomas Johnson Declares Government Had Failed To Help Poverty Stricken People And Promote Social Welfare

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Thomas Johnson, leader of the labor deputies in the Dail Eireann, opened the attack on the Irish Free State government of President William T. Cosgrave in the Dail today with a sweeping charges that the Cosgrave government had failed in its duties to the people of the country.

Johnson declared the government had failed to alleviate the poverty and distress prevalent in the country and had not promoted the necessary social and economic welfare of the people.

Fair Weather Beckons Entrants As Planes Tune Up And Fliers Wait For 1:20 Today

Air Race Is For $35,000 Dole Prize Honolulu Is Prepared To Give Bird Men A Cordial Reception

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 16.—The world's greatest aerial derby is on today. Nine planes awaited the signal flag which at noon will send them zooming out across the Pacific in an epic race to Hawaii.

Nine pilots, eight navigators and a charming young Michigan "schoolmarm" Miss Mildred Doran, prepared to gamble their lives on their ability to span by air the 2,100 miles of trackless sea.

For the first to land on the island of Oahu waited a $25,000 pot of gold. To the second a prize of $10,000 was to be the reward. For the balance there was only the glory of achievement—the setting of a new milestone in aerial progress.

For once the rail birds were at a loss to pick the winner. There was no form chart on which to base predictions. The pilots, the navigators and the lone passenger excluded confidence.

Arrest Policemen On Bribery Charge With Bootleggers

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(INS)—Wholesale arrests of policemen on charges of bribery was anticipated today following the announcement of newly discovered evidence in the police pay-off scandal.

John Bellomini alleged bootlegger, and Joseph Kinnally, employed by Bellomini, were arrested last night. Bellomini was charged with conspiracy to violate the liquor law in connection with his alleged "payoff" of policemen while selling liquor at his place of business.

A secret service staff of federal men have been assisting local authorities here and new evidence to substantiate the pay-off book recently seized in a raid has been discovered but the nature of it not yet divulged, said police Commissioner Allen today.

VOTE FOR THE CANAL

It Will Bring Countless Benefits To Seminole County!

- 1 It will drain a vast area of land, now worthless, and make of it the most valuable garden land in Central Florida.
- 2 It will provide in this vicinity a storage place during the Summer for yachts left here by owners not desiring to take them back north.
- 3 It will make Titusville and the great Indian River country readily accessible to Seminole County navigation.
- 4 It will serve as a connecting link in a beautiful inland water route from Jacksonville to Miami.
- 5 It will bring hundreds of large yachts to Sanford which otherwise would go down the coast.
- 6 It will encourage wholesale warehouses and increase manufacturing.
- 7 It will bring countless smaller craft this way which on account of the tropical storms along the coast of Florida do not come at all.
- 8 It will bring new industries to Sanford in the form of marine repair shops and supply stores to accommodate yachtsmen coming this way.
- 9 It will increase freight traffic on the St. Johns River and reduce freight rates.
- 10 It will prevent floods, and the destruction of millions of dollars worth of paving and bulkheads on Sanford's Lake Front.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
THE FOOL:—The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. Corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity: God looked down from heaven to see if there were any that did understand. Psalm 53:1, 2.
PRAYER:—Lord keep us from such folly.
 Well, did you vote on the canal?
 "Fire Razes Colleges"—headline. The proverbial razzberry.
 This years standing head: "Courtney waits for better weather."
 And another good way to end it all is to join that Dole Air Derby to Honolulu.
 Gas went down just in time to keep Sanford people from not buying it at all.
 The canal election was very friendly and impersonal compared to some we might mention.
 May be if those Germans had kept going as long as they could they would have landed in New York.
 Jacksonville, the seaport for Sanford.—Sanford Herald. A thriving one to say the least.—Gainesville Sun.
 The death penalty came as a severe blow to Mrs. Le Boeuf. The men on that jury evidently forgot Sir Walter Raleigh's code of chivalry.
 The Prince of Wales says that the only difference between ranch and "ranch" is that the former pays while the latter doesn't. Well, give us a ranch then, every time.
 And the unsuccessful attempt of the Bremen and Europa aqueductly demonstrates that if Germany were mad at us and wanted to bomb New York, she would have to wait for favorable weather conditions.
 General Wood's last great public act was his plea for funds for leper work. It is peculiarly fitting that this great soldier who began as a doctor in the army should end his career fighting for the leper colonies.
 Yesterday Sacco ate for the first time in twenty-nine days. That's a long time to go without food, but not a record by any means. We hope Mr. Sacco will now use his head and eat while the eating's good.
 The markets have taken two severe jolts to the law recently. President Coolidge's recent announcement about his choice in the matter was no less a blow than Judge Gary's death.
 It is not fitting that Americans should crow over the Germans, but it is proper that we should take some restrained pride in the fact that in three attempts recently in trans-Atlantic flying we should have baited one hundred percent, while the Germans did not get far enough even to make it dangerous.
 It is peculiar co-incidence that Jack Dempsey should wage his attempted come-back battle with Gene Tunney at Soldiers' Field, Chicago. It must be rather embarrassing to Mr. Dempsey to have to fight a World War hero and ex-Marine at Soldiers' Field. Mr. Dempsey has such an intense antipathy for soldiers and what they represent.
 The unexpected death of Judge Gary was a severe blow to the United States Steel Corporation and the stock markets. At such a time almost anything might be expected to happen. If Steel had dropped a dozen points, no one would have wondered. Gary had been the master mind since its organization. That it flattered but slightly, dropped a point or two and then recovered is proof sufficient of the fundamental soundness of this country and its persistent prosperity.

Selling The Air
 When Colonel, then Captain, Lindbergh was visiting European capitals and strengthening the bonds of international relationship, he was the constant recipient of countless proposals for this or that. He was wanted for the movies, and for Broadway. He was offered positions with insurance companies, real estate agencies, and automobile concerns. He was offered everything in the world to sell from asperin to baby grand pianos.
 But Lindbergh declined them all and chose a more original article to sell. He knew the possibilities of aviation better than probably any other American. He realized the lack of understanding and confidence that existed in aviation. He decided to sell the air to Americans.
 As the New York Herald Tribune says, "one can easily imagine a farmer watching a pioneer locomotive puffing along a rickety track and observing firmly: 'They'll never get me behind one of them things.' To-day the same caution fills the bosoms of many careful citizens. Yet it is fast disappearing, and its disappearance is being hastened by young Mr. Lindbergh, whose confidence is so contagious that it has infected the elderly and conservative Henry Ford."
 When Colonel Lindbergh succeeded in taking Mr. Ford aloft, he did something that probably no other American could have done. Mr. Ford is by no means a coward but he is one of those retired gentlemen who do not rush in where angels fear to tread. He would not have trusted his neck to an aviator of less ability than Colonel Lindbergh.
 But once in the air, far above Detroit, looking down on his vast Ford and Lincoln factories, Mr. Ford felt the security of the machine, realized the progress of aviation during the past twenty years, felt the desire to fly himself. Lindbergh let him take the controls, and Mr. Ford saw how easy it really is. Mr. Ford will lend himself now with even greater energy to the construction of airplanes and the development of aviation.
 "Great as was Lindbergh's achievement in spanning the Atlantic," concludes the New York newspaper, "his 'sale' of flight to the more or less cautious American who is typified in Mr. Ford will prove of even more value to the future of modern transportation."

Prevalence Of Robberies
 From newspapers coming to our exchange desk we gather that just now Florida is in the midst of a wave of robberies and holdups. Down in Fort Myers there have been a dozen robberies of stores and business houses. Arcadia citizens have been molested in a series of petty thieveries and a prominent Punta Gorda man was robbed and killed in his car just outside of the same city. Miami reports an increased number of holdups and pickpockets. Lakeland, St. Petersburg and Orlando are other cities where thieves have been plying their business almost without interruption.
 The situation seems to be as bad as it was during the boom although its underlying causes are different. Two years ago when Florida was going through the speculation period and money was plentiful, the state was overrun by professional crooks who sought the easy pickings that were to be found everywhere. Robberies and thefts were common hi-jacking and holdups equally as prevalent.
 We believe, however, that the present situation has been brought about by other conditions. The state is not now being plagued by the professional thugs and bandits. There are not enough inducements in Florida for them. We are inclined to believe that our robberies are being committed by those who live here but who are out of employment and are hungry. In some cases there are families who are suffering from lack of the necessities of life. Faced with the responsibility of feeding hungry mouths and having no work in sight, men, desperate under those conditions, have resorted to means of obtaining food or money at any price.
 The fact that many cities have been forced to reduce their police forces far below their normal strength has made it easier for those who rob. Fortunately for Sanford the police department is to be maintained at practically its ordinary strength. More fortunate than that is the fact that this city has few unemployed in comparison with other cities. Local authorities report only periodical thefts. It is to be hoped that this observance of the law will be continued.

"GRANDPA"
NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE
 Fortunately almost every one has or recalls a grandfather, for it is notable that beyond the rank and file of relatives grandfathers are remembered with affectionate, admiring chuckles and appear in distinguished positions as "real characters." This may not be logical, because, of course, what's one man's grandfather is another's father or uncle or brother; yet, nevertheless, when Professor Charles A. Beard described his "grampa" for the Williamstown Institute of Politics the other day he expressed the general feeling that no one now is at all what Grampa was. For some reason, at least one grandfather was always rugged, stern, lovable, hard in some ways, picturesque and unforgettable. Professor Beard's was of the choicest standard type.
 He had his own blacksmith shop, and he was not dependent upon spare parts sent by parcel post. Boughten stuff was no necessity of life, and things went forward at the farm whatever tie-ups were occurring elsewhere. He had, also, his own dog, and drew from it a cheerful morning mood before starting early to the fields. This in line with the best grandfather tradition. They would have their sunrise nip of Bourbon, and it never hurt them. Better still, Professor Beard's memorable ancestor "used tobacco in all its forms," lived to be eighty-five, "and would doubtless have lived much longer" had he not caught a cold at the horse races. Everything here is exactly right, particularly in that the final cold was the result of a horse race. Grandfathers—fine horses—scorn of ailments—contempt for weather—ruddy complexions—heavy work—a muscular hand on the rein to the end—how well they fit all together! One wonders rather pensively what the portrait of Grampa will resemble when another generation or two has passed. Will it still be rugged yet gracious, both boldly and tenderly colored—a masterpiece of memory?

THE SMALL TOWN PAPER
POLK COUNTY RECORD
 "The most remarkable feature of American Journalism is the growth, development and influence of the country weekly newspaper and small town daily," says the Mammotrenter of the small cities and towns consisted of poorly printed sheets of local items and "holer plate."
 "Holer plate" is the general term used for the short or long week plotted stories or articles of misinformation formerly used by indolent editors to fill space. It came in plate form, already set, and at small price. Frequently it was given newspapers free in order to spread propaganda.
 Use of this type of matter is now universally taken as the sign of the poor newspaperman. Every editor avoids it as much as he possibly can because he regards its appearance as a confession of weakness, which it properly is. The same effort has been made to

OF COURSE, BRITAIN will not make any arrangement that does not suit her about limiting armament. The conference was a gentlemanly gathering at which Great Britain wrote the program and everybody else was expected to sign it.
 Will Rogers says the difference between "Britannia Rules the Waves" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" is that "Britannia Rules the Waves" is a fact, whereas "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" is only just a song.
AS IT HAPPENS, the dispute means nothing to the United States, although it means much to battleship builders anxious to make money out of the people of the United States.
 Britain needs fast cruisers, or thinks she needs them, to protect her commercial fleets over all the oceans. We haven't such fleets and need few if any cruisers. It is as though one man had 10,000-000 sheep, needing many sheep dogs, and another man with 1000 sheep insisted on having as many sheep dogs as the man with 10,000-000.
 It's silly. Let Britain have her cruisers and spend her money on them. We should build only what our commerce actually needs.
IN 10 YEARS CRUISERS will be ridiculous and even Great Britain's "experts" will know it. A few high-powered ships, each carrying 20 fast seaplane bombers, would take care of all commercial ships.
NEWSPAPERS HERE and in Canada used 15 per cent more paper last year. More trees cut down.
 The British plan to use bamboo on a gigantic scale for newspaper production.
 That should be done in the United States. Vast tracts in Florida, California and all along the gulf coast would grow bamboo. A yearly crop of bamboo with long fibre, grown close to cheap power, would solve one problem.

 A young girl, 12-year-old girl, fell head first into the mud in 10 feet of water and remained in that position for five minutes, not breathing, necessarily.
 She was resuscitated, brought back to life by use of adrenalin.
 In the small adrenal glands, near the kidneys, men, and other warm-blooded animals, manufacture a substance that regulates blood flow, protects life and cures the disease of "cretinism."
THE WEALTH of this country, if it could be divided, would make every man, woman and child worth more than $1,000,000. Wealth won't be divided, fortunately—such division would kill ambition and deaden interest in life. Men must travel a long way mentally before they earn freedom from necessity's lash.
THE LEARNED JUSTICE Sullivan believes too much science is taught in schools and universities. Some of it should be omitted and "American citizenship" taught instead.
 Unfortunately "American citizenship" is a little indefinite: There are too many definitions of it, and science is very definite. It has always had to struggle against the theory that it was superfluous, or not necessary.
 But science conquers. Those that once put scientists in jail for teaching "a round earth, going round the sun," now teach that theory also.
MUSSOLINI HAS HAD to use rough methods sometimes. But one opinion is that without Mussolini there would be no organized Italian government today. It was a choice between bolshevism and fascism.
YOU WILL NOTICE that the Italian lira is worth 25 per cent more than the French franc. That one fact outweighs much theory.

Waiting For The Gun In The Great Pacific Aerial Derby

Here are eight entries in the San Francisco-Honolulu air derby up on the field at Oakland, Calif., ready for the start. Number 1, in the foreground by the starting circle, is the plane flown by Jack Frost. The other planes are: No. 2, Art Guebel; No. 3, Angie Pedler; No. 4, Major Livingstone Irving; No. 5, Martin Jensen; No. 6, Lieutenant N. A. Goddard; No. 7, Charles W. Parkerhurst; No. 8, Bennett Griffin.

Here is Martin Jensen, Honolulu's only entrant in the big aerial derby from San Francisco to Hawaii. When the race starts he'll be homeward bound—and maybe that'll help him to win.

OHIO MAN BUILDS OWN PLANE, THEN LEARNS TO FLY IT

Carl Ferguson, Father Of Four Uses Crude Sketches With Pictures Of Other Planes In Constructing His Machine

MARION, O., Aug. 16.—(INS)—It is no easy matter to hold unique records in these days when the unusual has become the commonplace in the field of aviation, but Carl Ferguson, Marion factory mechanic, and the father of four children, believes he has achieved distinction.

Ferguson claims to be the first flier who has built his own machine entirely with his own hands, without plans or blue prints, then learned to fly without help or instruction from anyone.

Several years ago Ferguson became imbued with idea of flying. He learned that it cost upwards of $150 to take a course at a flying school.

"Too much," he commented, and set about building his own plane. Using only photographs of standard machines, and a few crude sketches given him by a friend who had some knowledge of the principles of plane construction, Ferguson set to work. A year's spare time later saw the completion of his machine—a biplane, with a single seat, a 28-horsepower motor, with a total weight of 300 pounds, and capable of a speed of 70 miles an hour.

The plane can be entirely dismantled, and set up again in half an hour a feature made necessary by Ferguson's lack of a flying field. He found his ship in a small field, located at the end of his home property, and goes to the country when he feels the urge to fly. Arriving at a suitable "flying field," he assembles the ship, tunes up and takes the air within a few minutes.

The total cost of the ship was $450, including the engine, which he purchased, after unsuccessfully trying to power it with a discarded motorcycle motor.

He made a successful test flight with the new motor, attaining 300 feet altitude, and remaining up 15 minutes. He admits the ship made some eccentric gyrations under his unskilled handling, and eventually nosed down and smashed the propeller, but he is repairing and improving his craft for additional flights.

BROTHER OF RED GRANGE GROOMED AS GRIDIRON STAR

Coach Zupke Of Illinois U. Hopes To Make 2nd Grange As Famous As His Brother; Illinois Has Good Prospects

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(INS)—University of Illinois may thrill the football world with another "Red" Grange this fall.

And he is no other than Garland Grange, brother of the far-famed "Galloping Ghost."

Garland who was out of the game last season because of an injured shoulder, has notified Coach Bob Zupke that he is fit and intends to try for an end position with the Orange and Blue eleven.

The younger Grange is said to have all the daring, sensational tactics of the beloved college team. He is about the same weight and height as "Red" and is said to be just as fast on his feet. He also excels as did his famous brother in open field running.

Zupke's attitude "Huddle," Mittewalder and J. W. Muegge, guards in 1925, who did not play last year, will return making a total of 15 letter men for Green, back in 1925, has an excellent back.

And Timm, who raised havoc with the varsity line as a freshman before he was injured, will return. Timm is regarded as an excellent back.

Best Prospects Among the recruits are Doug Mills of Elgin, Ill., and Frank Walker of Urbana. Neither weigh more than 160 pounds. Mills is a fairly good punter.

L. J. Gordon and R. J. Crane of Chicago and L. S. Burdick of Annapolis, Md., are outstanding line men among the sophomores.

Frosty Peters is billed to play end, according to Zupke. The Montana boy delivered as a drop-kicker by defeating Pennsylvania and scoring twice on Iowa but did not carry the ball as well as some of the fans would like.

Solym of Elgin, and Short, a Kansan, are sophomore ends who will be contenders, and Delming, varsity basketball guard, made a good impression as end in Spring practice. Zupke also has Brown and Wolgast, last year's sub-D'Ambrasio may get back in his 1925 form.

Fields, Flood, Frenzel, Myers, Wupper and Steeman are sophomore backs listed as promising.

BIG PROFIT MADE BY BOOTLEGGERS AND SMUGGLERS

"Gentleman Rum Runner" who Wouldn't Deal in Narcotics Is Fast Disappearing And All Kinds Are Handled Now

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Bootleggers' profits on smuggled liquor alone last year passed the $500,000,000 mark.

Forty million dollars worth of bootleg liquor, wholesale, and 1,000,000 gallons of bootleg wine, the 12-mile limit—was smuggled into the country in 1925, according to today's official announcement of "International Payments" by the commerce department.

Watered, sealed and delivered to the ultimate consumer through the price-pyramiding bootleggers distribution system, the value was close to a billion dollars, experts said.

The volume of liquor smuggled was estimated at 30,000,000 quarts over 100,000,000 quarts after conversion into bootleg whiskey, via the water and industrial alcohol route.

Commerce department experts said smuggling has been practically the same since 1923. In the last three years $120,000,000 worth of illicit liquor has entered the country, the figure based on foreign prices, delivered to the 12-mile limit.

"According to official Canadian statistics Canada exported to the United States during 1925, whiskey valued at $15,475,270 and ale and beer valued at $5,521,002, with other alcoholic beverages raising the total to $21,151,310," the statement said.

"Smuggling out of Canada must have increased this figure. In addition it appears that rum running along the Atlantic coast from Europe and the West Indies is a factor."

Customs officials declared that the smuggling estimate is too low; prohibition enforcement officers challenged it as too high, according to the statement. Commerce department officials, however, said that the figures are based upon a careful study of the record imports and exports of liquor of border and distant countries, and is while a rough estimate, regarded as "conservative and reliable."

The government is spending about $10,000,000 to keep smuggled liquor out of the United States, maintaining the world's greatest blockade of cutters, naval destroyers and small boats around the country. In addition the customs service has a large border patrol and the prohibition bureau is co-operating at international boundary points.

Reports show that the "gentleman rum runner" who refused to engage in narcotics and alien smuggling because they regarded it as lawless and degrading, is rapidly disappearing.

German commanding rummies of the south east, which are backed with vicious shore organizations with in the off-coast islands and Florida, are said to be engaged in the branches of smuggling. A considerable volume of narcotics and other goods is being smuggled over the southeastern coast, according to officials.

MILITARY SCHOOL IN JAPAN TRAINS CHINESE LEADERS

Potential War Lords Receive Instruction In Modern Warfare From Foremost Teachers In Japanese Military Tactics

TOKIO, Aug. 16, (INS)—The Imperial Military Academy of Japan has just turned out eight potential Chinese warlords, who hope soon to be famous as Chang Tso-lin or Wu Peifu. They are Chinese students who have spent four years studying modern warfare at the Japanese academy, the most efficient in the Orient. Five of the latest graduates are from Mukden, one is from Mongolia, and the other two from southern China. So somebody, these school fellows may find themselves leading armies against another in China's eternal civil war.

For the first time in Japanese history an emperor may be crowned in Tokyo during November, instead of in the historic capital of Kyoto. If so, the Emperor Hirohito's determination to cut down ceremonial expenses will be responsible. For centuries the coronation ceremony has been held in Kyoto, although since the Restoration in 1868 the Emperor has lived in the new capital Tokio. Officials have estimated it will cost $500,000 more to hold the ceremony in Kyoto than Tokio. For this reason the Emperor is reported to be urging a change in the place of the coronation.

Much excitement was caused recently in the Akasaka palace in Tokyo, when officials heard the sound of a drunken man, singing and shouting in English, coming from a room near that in which the Emperor was residing. The palace grounds are guarded carefully and no foreigner is permitted within a thousand yards of the Emperor unless most carefully introduced. So the officials rushed in haste to discover the intruder.

They were surprised to find a party was responsible for the disturbance. The bird had escaped from a house not far from the palace and had flown almost into the presence of the Japanese ruler.

The little Japanese coast town of Kuribama has gotten its biggest thrill since the American Commodore Perry put into this same harbor with his "black ships" of war more than half a century ago. Nineteen men were killed and his crew appeared suddenly before the town, and the population turned out to see an effort to capture them. Every possible boat was used and axes, picks and pitchforks were marshaled for the attack. But the whales disappeared as suddenly as they had come.

A youthful Tokio dealer in ornamental stones, M. Kobayashi, has "returned from the dead," and his relatives have almost mobbed him in their wrath. For Kobayashi came back penniless and his relatives were trying to figure some way to make him pay for an expensive funeral they gave him, out of insurance they collected. For the insurance company is demanding its money back. Kobayashi disappeared, and shortly afterward a body was found in a Tokio canal, which was identified as the missing man. The unknown got a fine funeral.

STATISTICS SHOW BIG INCREASE IN TELEPHONE USE

United States Boosted Nearly 300,000 Telephones While At Present Time Country Is Served By Eighteen Million

BOSTON, Aug. 16 (INS)—Figures have been recently compiled showing the increase in number of telephones in the United States and in various foreign countries since 1895.

In that year this country had only 285,500 telephones. By 1925 the number had grown to 3,255,200—which was much more than any other country in the world has even yet attained. In 1915 there were 10,045,400 telephones in the United States, and by 1925 the total reached 16,930,000. Today the American people are served by over 18,000,000 telephones.

World Record No country comes anywhere near this record. The closest competitor is Germany, which has not even approached the point passed 22 years ago by the United States. In 1895 Germany had 315,607 telephones; in 1905 she had 444,351. Another decade saw her reach 1,242,612; and in 1925 she boasted only 285,500 telephones. By 1925 the number had grown to 3,255,200—which was much more than any other country in the world has even yet attained. In 1915 there were 10,045,400 telephones in the United States, and by 1925 the total reached 16,930,000. Today the American people are served by over 18,000,000 telephones.

Great Britain advanced from 73,323 telephones in 1895 to 365,198 in 1905 and 812,200 in 1915. Her 1925 total amounted to 1,380,000 telephones—fewer than there are in the single city of New York.

France has constantly lagged in the matter of telephones the figures show. Her system numbered but 39,962 telephones in 1895, 122,911 in 1905, 329,100 in 1915 and 707,000 in 1925. France was hard-hit by the interruption in development of the telephone by the World War than any other country.

Belgium's Phones Another war sufferer was Belgium. But Belgium rose from 8,507 telephones in 1895 to 24,875 in 1905, reached an estimated total of 60,000 in 1915 and attained 159,000 telephones by 1925.

MANY MEXICANS FOUND WORKING IN THIS COUNTRY

Recent Survey Shows 63,700 Mexican-Born Workers Have Entered United States During The Past Eight Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Invasion of industrial United States by Mexican workers is now proceeding in earnest, according to reports made by the bureau of labor statistics of the Department of Labor on the results of its survey last winter in the North Central states.

This survey covered the cities of Boston, Milwaukee, Johnston, Homestead, McKeesport, Pittsburgh, Sharpsburg, and Ford City, Pa.; Cleveland, Lorain and Toledo, Ohio; Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Saginaw, and Kalamazoo, Mich.; Fort Wayne, Gary, Indiana Harbor and Hammond, Ind.; Waukegan, Chicago, Joliet, Aurora, Peoria, Chillicothe, Quincy, Galesburg, and Moline, Ill.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Fort Madison, Davenport, Ottumwa, Des Moines, Moline City, Manly, Sioux City and Council Bluffs, Ia.; Alton, La. Cade, St. Paul, Minneapolis and East Grand Forks, Minn.; Fargo, N. D.; Sioux Falls, S. D.; Omaha, Neb., and St. Louis, Mo.

Demand For Cheap Labor I was found that these cities had approximately 63,700 Mexican-born workers, virtually all of whom had crossed the border in the last eight years. Those living or working in the western part of this district had been in this country seven to eight years, while those in the eastern part had come more recently, most of them having been in the United States two years or less.

This penetration of the industrial and rural regions of the north is attributed to the demand for cheap labor created when the 1924 immigration law shut off cheap labor from Europe. The greater part of the million or more native Mexicans mentioned to be in this country are still clinging to the southwestern fringe of states, where they are near their native hearth, but the call of labor agents and of slightly higher wages has been heard and the newest comers are passing on to the north to take the places of the Southern and Eastern Europeans who once formed the bulk of the unskilled labor available to the industrial plants.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Excepting Daves, Dueser and Hughes, a study of the speeches of the announced or unannounced candidates for the Republican presidential nomination shows reasons why they can't be elected rather than reasons why they might.

For purposes of such an analysis it is assumed that President Coolidge will not be an important factor at the next Republican national convention.

With Coolidge out, there is an excellent prospect of a gorgeous second-round fight between the aspirants, with a wealth of favorite sons, dark horses and deals. The party is well controlled to permit of any such spectacle as the Democrats stumbled into at New York in 1924, but there may be a real deadlock which will have to be settled as in 1920 "by a little group of men in a smoky, stuffy, locked room."

Lowden is the farmers' "practical" candidate. If he has an understanding with Daves, as was long ago suggested, he may be able to do a splendid job in round-robin of the delegates from agricultural states for delivery at the convention. The main point, however, is that to date Lowden has

Little Plank Linking Mexico With U. S. Subject of International Row

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 16. (INS) — A modest little plank across an irrigation ditch near Fabens, 20 miles down the valley from here, is indirectly the subject of a battle that involves International Law, and may lead to diplomatic exchanges between the United States and Mexico.

The plank in itself is no really the cause of the rumpus, but just a few steps beyond it, in Old Mexico, is a saloon known as "The Hole in the Wall" an oasis of joy unconfined to the thirsty ones of El Paso county, and the "last chance" for the still more thirsty ones of El Paso, and the United States at large, who have to leave the Jurez bridge there closed.

These thirsty ones motor down the valley to Fabens, cross the little plank and continue the festivities begun in Calle Diablo and other lurid resorts in Juarez, to the great scandalization of the good people of Fabens. For the plank is not "port of entry" and consequently has no opening and closing regulations.

Road To Devil
 Once upon a time there was a good bridge across the reclamation ditch, placed there by the United States Reclamation Service. It was a good bridge, conforming with the government regulations for bridges of its type. But the residents of Fabens did not like that bridge. Some of its unregenerated citizens used the bridge as a "via diablo," or "road to devil," as the more plausibles declared. They crossed and re-crossed it many times to shake their thirst in the foaming liquid dispensed by Frank Alderete in his "Hole in the Wall."

Michigan Fails To Revive Presidential Talk As Expected

LANSING, Mich. Aug. 16. (INS) — President Coolidge's statement that he does not choose to run for the presidency in 1928 has failed to start the expected revival of presidential politics in Michigan. Senator Peter B. Lennon, of Lennon, is active in lining up support for former Gov. Frank Lowden, of Illinois, and most of the farmer organization leaders are working with him. This movement, however, was well under way before the Coolidge announcement.

The majority of Michigan politicians are waiting to see what candidates are to be in the field before they declare themselves. Many of them still are unconvinced that President Coolidge will not be nominated, despite his statement.

Local officials and politicians from various parts of the state coming to Lansing since the president issued his statement report that there is a strong sentiment in favor of Herbert Hoover. There are no indications, however, that efforts are being made to organize this sentiment with a view to capturing the Michigan presidential primary next Spring.
