SANFORD WILL SPONSOR NIGHT FOOTBALL TILT

Nov. 5 Is Date Set For Innovation Which Is 1st Time It Has Been Staged In Florida

The first night football game ever to be staged in Florida will be played in Sanford Nov. 5 between the Seminole High School eleven and the Rollins freshman team, according to an announcement today following the completion of negotiations between authorities of both schools.

The game is expected to draw a colorful throng from all of Central Florida. Night football is in the experimental stage but in the towns given below, several southern colleges it has won many adherents. Powerful flood lights sweep the field and make it as light as day. Another argument advanced by proponents of night football is that it affords a better opportunity for attracting large crowds.

At all events the after-supper games have been interesting spectacles. No effort has ever been made to stage a night game.

SOPHOMORES break away as the pioneer in the state in promoting newest innovation. It was pointed out, Rollins of the project yet the affair to be a tremendous success.

The itself promises to be hard for The two teams met in the opening tilt, which ended a scoreless tie. The coaches will point for the second meeting. It promises to be a battle.

Thinning's program is not ready to the game. The Orlando Repertory boys' band will be on to lead the high school team through the bands and residential sections piping the contest, which will be at the Municipal Auditorium. Between halves a snake is participated in by all of high school pupils, will be given to enliven the occasion.

A dance will be staged following the game and a midnight show will be given by the Milano Theater. Guests and members of the two football teams will be guests of Mayor J. L. Marenco at the ball, which will feature Yancy Carroll, Jack Oakie and Helen Kane in "Sweetie."

Beal's Fate And His Co-defendants May Be Known Saturday

CHARLOTTE, Oct. 17.—(INS)—The fate of Fred Erwin Beal, general manager of the Gasoline Club, and six of his aides, charged with murdering Police Chief O. F. Alderhot, and the wrangling of three other officials probably will be decided Saturday.

The testimony that has captured more than two weeks to be presented, was concluded yesterday.

Today and tomorrow probably the final days of the lengthy trial will be consumed by summation before the jury composed largely of farmers. All arguments must be concluded by Friday, said Judge M. A. Burkhart, who limited each side to four hours.

The state has the opening and closing speeches to the jury. Clyde Hoy, oily rotted, orator of Shelly, is expected to make the state's opening address as it is customary here that the solicitor make the final plea to the jury. Four and even probably will be made by each side.

The state will try to convince the jury that the seven defendants, all railroad labor organizers, entered into a conspiracy to murder Chief Alderhot and shot him down without a word of warning when he left these several countries and open government."

Gang Victim Lives To Tell About His "Ride"

Hodgson Ball Heads Local Legion Post

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS)—England took another man for a ride but he lived to tell about it today, adding one more verb to the Arnold Rothstein murder mystery. Bruised and battered, worn from loss of blood due to gashes in his throat, Charles Lucania, alleged gangster, was found wandering on Staten Island. Three men had taken him for a ride and dumped him out as dead, he claimed.

Lucania, police said, is a member of the Jack "Legs" Diamond mob and was a buddy of the slain Thomas "Fatty" Walsh. Diamond once was Rothstein's bodyguard and was Walsh, who was shot in a Miami hotel.

Thrasher Quits Coming Race For City Commission

Enderes Lehman Who Is Left Unopposed in Group-Number 1

Withdrawal of O. L. Thrasher from the race for city commission was announced today in a brief statement in which hearty endorsement was given to the candidacy of H. J. Lehman, who was opposing Mr. Thrasher in group one.

With the expiration last night of the time in which candidates might qualify for the primary election of Nov. 5, there remained only three men in the race to be elected for two places on the commission. As Mr. Thrasher withdrew, Mr. Lehman is left unopposed in group one while May or Vivian A. Speer and Leon L. Kelley will vie for the remaining spot in group two.

Mr. Thrasher said his candidacy had been inspired by civic pride and a desire to serve the City but added that Mr. Lehman was highly acceptable to him.

Mr. Lehman was lauded as the type of character needed on the job at this time. The withdrawal announcement was as follows:

"Having only the interest of Sanford at heart when I announced my candidacy for the office of City Commissioner it now affords me pleasure to withdraw in favor of my friend, Mr. Lehman, in whose capability, courage and integrity, I have the utmost confidence. I, therefore, believe he is the type of character needed on the job at this time, and I heartily endorse his candidacy."

Continuing, Mr. Thrasher said: "On the face of these facts one naturally says that Florida is overlooking markets at her front door while California is encroaching on the world for oranges."

"Florida can hardly compete with California in the Orient, but Florida certainly has the advantage over California in the European and South American market. Even on the West Coast of South America, Florida has the advantage over California.

"There is no market in California which would not be shipped stuff dry. The European market is growing so rapidly that the English are starting a new line of steamers with refrigeration to carry fruits and vegetables from the British West Indies to Europe.

Florida is getting very little benefit from any of this trade, and yet the whole state could thrive on it."

A hearty endorsement of Mr. Thrasher's suggestion was made by Mr. Whitehurst.

"If it were possible to develop a considerable export business for our vegetables throughout these various countries, it would take a tremendous surplus off our own markets, which would enable our local markets to receive a higher return, for the tonnage they do sell," he declared.

Elaborating upon the idea, Mr. Whitehurst added:

"The testimony that has captured more than two weeks to be presented, was concluded yesterday.

Unlimited possibilities for Florida citrus and vegetable growth in the shipment of their products to South American countries, are seen by George S. Witmer, former Sanford business man, who is now located in Columbia.

In a communication made public today by P. N. Whitehurst, head of the Sanford office of the Federal Fruit & Vegetable Service, Mr. Witmer calls attention to the fact that American vegetables hold high demand and that plenty of California products are to be found but none from Florida.

Pointing out the fact that Cuba and many countries of South America have been California white and shouldn't "push in" on the upper part of the undertaking to get under way immediately. This involves the adjustment of divergent views, and the coming out of as many obstacles as possible before the conference actually meets.

Wilbur James, Converted Gator Linesman, Stages Comeback After Injuries

By Frank B. Wright.

Gainesville, Oct. 16.—John Wilbur James of Orlando, one of the youngest and one of the most prominent of the 1935 University of Florida football players.

Wilbur, as he is known on the "Gator campus, is a boy who has "come back" with a bang. After the first game of freshman football he played for Florida, he sustained a broken leg, and for two months was on crutches, but he displayed last fall that he had talent on the gridiron, and this year he looks better than ever.

"A fullback by training, for he had played the position for four years in high school, Wilbur began his college career at the same post. Though deprived of playing as a freshman, he joined the varsity last season as sophomore but ran into a pair of fullbacks of unusual caliber in Rainey Cawthon and Ed Sauls.

There was little chance for Wilbur to break into the lineup at fullback, but he seemed entirely too good to keep on the bench. The coaches sent him a huddle one afternoon and after the skirmish of football minds, James was instructed to join the line candidates, and from that day to this, he's played guard for the " Fighting Gators."

Standing five feet, eleven, and weighing 190 pounds, and with rare speed, James has marked qualities for guard play. Though he hasn't been unlimited in Florida, he has won two games without a loss, and the West Side Farmers have won one with no defeats.

What is helping make James a good player is his temperament. He loves the game and labors faithfully to make good. With a physique and an inclination plus natural ability, he has every prospect of being an outstanding performer this fall, next year.

Born in Hamilton, Canada, on May 16, 1908, Wilbur moved to Richmond, Va., when one year old and stayed there only two years when he came to Florida, and for 17 years has lived in Orlando.

He broke into high school athletics at an early age, playing four years of football and three of track. He captained the Orlando High eleven in 1926, and received many all-state mentions. Though not a regular participant in baseball and basketball, Wilbur had the honor to manage the two teams for three successive years.

The unfortunate happening early in his first year at Florida has been mentioned, but as stated, his determination and zest has restored him in all of his former strength and greatness. Wilbur has always been a boy of the outdoors, and for six years he has spent eight weeks at summer camps in North Carolina, holding a counselor position and coaching baseball, track and basketball, and filling the role of a "Life Saver" on the side.

Wilbur is a student in Business Administration, and will enter the Law College when he gets his graduation. He plans to continue coaching with a legal practice.

On the campus, John Wilbur has friends at every hand. He is a democratic boy, very likable and regarded as a leader with the student body and faculty. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, Pirates, Bunches, and sits on the student executive council, the governing group of the student body. Football, hunting and fishing are his hobbies.

Business Men Are Victors Over East Side Farmers, 23-11

The Business Men won their third straight game last night in their five third starts, the East Side Farmers taking the short end of a 23 to 11 score. This puts them slightly in the lead in the standing, while Chase & Company head Coach Ingram decided to replace Captain Koepke at right guard with Swan. Ingram be-

After that only two men on the Light & Power Company team reached third base. Rawson started the game by striking out the first three men to free him, and then making the first two men in the second inning whilst the air.

In the second game, which was played between Chase & Company and an all star team from Orlando, the Orlando team won by the score of 11 to 6. In the first inning Orlando got off to a start of three runs, while Chase & Company tied it in the second inning; however in the third inning Orlando scored three more runs; Chase & Company again knotted the score in the fourth, after which inning Chase & Company were unable to put another run across the pan while Orlando made five in the last three innings. Coffey of Chase & Company carried off the fielding honors in this game, accepting several difficult chances without an error.

GENERAL BUSINESS CONDITIONS

From the Monthly Bank Letter for October issued by The National City Bank of New York

THE activity of manufacturing and trade has continued at a high level during the past month, although without the marked expansion usually occurring in September, according to the monthly review of economic conditions prepared by The National City Bank of New York. While the month brought definite results in the building, construction, and automobile production, no undue alarm need be felt as to the soundness of fundamental business conditions in this country, the review adds.

Trade and industry have been making an outstanding record for two years and if a breathing spell is now due the ultimate result should be beneficial in correcting undesirable tendencies and thus paving the way for renewed expansion later on.

If, in the exuberance of the upswing, business has adhered to such principles as more inventories, forward buying and credit, there is no reason why a downswing should be severe or prolonged," the review says. "On these points, the business situation, from all available evidence, remains strong. Tightness of money therefore continues the principal handicap with which business must contend. Since this is a product to a large extent of the speculation in securities, a temporary slackening of the

CHEAPER FERTILIZERS MAY BE USED FOR CITRUS TREES

Having in the fertilization of citrus trees indicated use of fertilizer and cover crop, tests which have been running at the Citrus Experiment Station, located at Lake Alfred, Fla. Most of these experiments have been running over a period of eight years.

In tests comparing different sources of nitrogen, one plot has received all its nitrogen in the form of manure, another in the form of blood, another in the form of mixed fertilizers as commonly applied, and containing nitrogen from both animal and inorganic sources, another from sulphate of ammonia only, and another from nitrate of soda only.

All plots received the same amount of nitrogen, 110 lb. per acre, at the same time, the only difference being in the kind of mate used.

In the fertilizer of nitrogen, the plots have received only sulphate of ammonia and nitrate of soda, inorganic fertilizers, the trees have made the best growth.

In speaking of these experiments, Dr. H. W. Ruppert of the State Experiment Station pointed out that since modern fertilizers are cheaper it would seem that growers could save money by using them exclusively.

In the potash fertilizer plots, where all the other fertilizer elements had remained constant, it was found that a fertilizer analysis giving 5 per cent potash apparently was giving as good results as the higher analyses. The plots receiving only 3 per cent potash three times a year yielded fruit which was considered slightly inferior to that from the 5 per cent plots.

In the cover crop tests, trees on the prairie plots were larger than on the other plots, and apparently it will be possible to reduce the amount of nitrogen contained in the fertilizer applied in future. It was noted that apparently the worst splitting of oranges occurred on a plot on which no cover crops had been allowed to grow for the past five years.

All of the plots at this station are fertilized three times a year, and in any one test there is only one fertilizer, all other treatments being the same for each plot in the test.

The Seminole Poultry Club and the Seminole County Poultry Association held their first joint meeting last evening. The Seminole Poultry Club is educational in its purpose and the Inter is a cooperative marketing organization. Modern farm education and cooperative marketing products form a powerful combine when properly directed.

The Seminole chapter of Future Farmers of America held its first meeting of the school year last Wednesday. The officers of this organization are Paul Biggers, President; Clarence Henderson, Vice President; Robert Miller, Secretary; Hubert Brown, Treasurer; and Talton Phillips, reporter. This is a national organization of American farm boys, who are studying vocational agriculture. It has for its purpose the upbuilding of the rural life of the community.
