Census decision ends bid

MIAMI — When the U.S. Census Bureau reaffirmed its decision not to adjust its head count, the state of Florida lost out on additional federal aid in 1993 for programs distributing money based on population.

The undercount could cost Florida $12 million to $15 million a year, including $8 million a year in Medicaid reimbursements for health care for the poor, according to state estimates.

For official purposes, more than 250,000 Florida residents disappeared Tuesday when the Census Bureau director Barbara Everitt Bryant reaffirmed its decision not to adjust the 1990 census by statistically updating its head count for people likely to have been missed.

The decision was made despite continuing claims from state and local officials that Florida's population was undercounted in the census, which is taken every 10 years.

The original census said Florida had about 12,936,000 residents. That was adjusted slightly to just over 13 million.

By the Census Bureau's own estimate, Florida could have 261,000 people more, including homeless people and refugees who weren't reached by census takers.

Doggone mail

WHEELING, W.Va. — The mail is going to the dogs at Rusty Jebbia's house.

Jebbia's terrier-sheepdog, Frisky Bob, has received several letters a day since his owners sent away for address labels for him. The dog's name apparently was added to dozens of mailing lists.

"It has gotten out of hand," said Jebbia, Wheeling's assistant city manager. "Now Frisky Bob is getting mail from Ed McMahon, health insurance carriers, credit card companies and lots of so-called contests."

Correction

A Herald story about the stalled Lake Mary Boulevard project Wednesday misquoted the attorney for Seminole County.

Bob McMillan was quoted as saying the bonding company responsible for resumption of the road work had selected the construction firm that was the highest bidder. The correct quote should read, "The bonding company has now selected the lowest bidder for the project."

Sheriff unveils plan

Citizens to be part of crime prevention

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger said he wants to bring deputies and the citizens they protect closer together through a series of new programs he plans to implement this year.

"Crime prevention is a shared responsibility," said Eslinger. "We like to put a premium on service, but you can have a more effective, more cost-effective, more efficient operation if you involve the community."

And Eslinger pledges to continue changes in his department.

"This is just the tip of the iceberg," said Eslinger. "I have a whole host of other improvements I want to put into place in the future. The whole idea is for you and hopefully, the rest of the community to see an improvement in the services provided by the sheriff's office."

Monday, Eslinger unveiled a new corporate-styled management structure entailing 30 staff changes. Included in those changes were new community-focus responsibilities for several existing employees and one new employee to close the separation between the county's primary law enforcement agency and the public it serves.

Even the titles of many senior officers, such as major and captain, were abolished in favor of "director" and "deputy director." Employees will continue to address each other by their rank title, though.

Among the new programs are development of a Police Athletic League. Eslinger said the PAL is in the beginning creation stages and SANFORD — Steve Harriett has dedicated his professional life to the city of Sanford and though he is moving on to work for the county, he said his heart still belongs to Sanford.

Tomorrow, Harriett will begin a new phase in his career as he takes over as the second in command at the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

While he said he loves his job as police chief in Sanford, he said he is excited about the move.

"He (Sheriff Don Eslinger) and I share some of the same philosophies on law enforcement," Harriett said. "It will be exciting to work with him."

1992 ends, county progress marked

Grappling with garbage, land, sex harassment

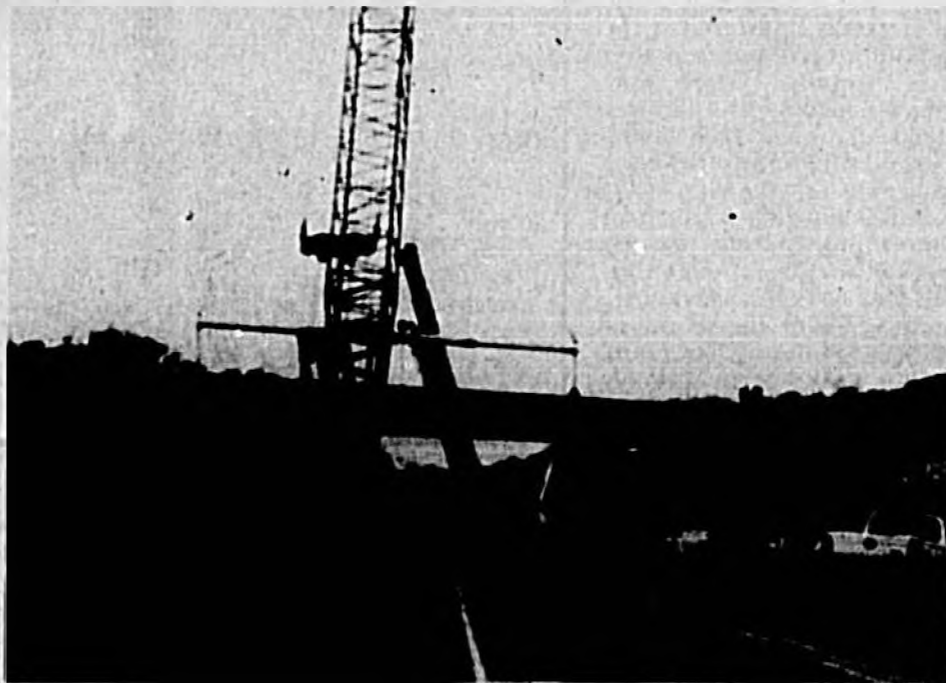

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The past year saw the first land purchase under the Natural Lands Program and the selection of Seminole County as the training headquarters of a national sports organization.

The year also saw the election of two new commissioners and the start-up — and subsequent shut-down — of the $13 million Yankee Lake wastewater treatment plant. Commissioners and officials grappled with borrow pits and garbage, and came to grips with sexual harassment issues.

"I like to say it was a year of 'keeping on keeping on,'" said Bob Sturm, chairman of the county commission. "We tried to do as much as we could with what we had."

In December, commissioners authorized the first purchase of the $20 million Natural Lands Program approved by voters in 1990. They agreed to pay $3.3 million to buy SANFORD — A tumultuous year has brought many changes, but little financial improvement, to the Seminole County school district.

With the departure of Supt. Robert Hughes last year, the top spot in the district, to be an appointed position for the first time in the district's history, was contested for several months. More than 125 applicants, including Richard Wells, who was serving as interim superintendent, hoped for a chance to lead the county school system.

A committee, comprised of district administrators, business and community leaders and representatives of parent and other school groups, set out to find a "visionary leader" to fill the position.

Five applicants were selected by the committee to visit the district and be interviewed by the board in a

Airport focus: Access road

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — With the Skybus going well, the main goal for the Central Florida Regional Airport in 1993 is finding the money to pay for the terminal access road that will connect the facility with the Orlando International Airport, according to airport director Stephen Cooke.

Cooke said he hoped the funding would be in place by March, 1993. "I think that project is going to come together. The road will allow people to travel down to Orlando to the terminal and back. Passengers can decide to go down on Skybus or go down the road to Orlando, either way," he said.

After construction begins, it will take about a year to complete the road, he said.

"I hope to have everything in place by the end of March. The funding and everything else. There are still a few things we have to do in that area. Construction should take about a year given everything you have to do with this kind of project," he said.

The road would increase the importance of the airport to Sanford and the surrounding community, he noted.

"It's an excellent project for the airport. It will make the airport part of the larger picture. When they complete the bypass around the airport in 1996 that will tie in Volusia County as well," he said.

Cooke noted the successful Skybus flights to Newark will con-

LAKE MARY — A minor traffic violation ended with three arrests by Lake Mary police Tuesday. It also solved a stolen vehicle report.

Police stopped a vehicle at the parking lot of Barnett Bank, 704 W. Lake Mary Blvd. on Tuesday. Officers said the vehicle was seen making an illegal left turn from a drive-in restaurant.

Left turns at that location are not permitted at this time due to traffic restrictions imposed by the stalled Lake Mary Boulevard widening project.

When the vehicle stopped, police said one person, identified as Joe N. Roux, 24, of Altamonte Springs, ran from the area on foot. He was later apprehended.

The persons who remained in the vehicle were identified as Olivia Maria Dawson, 20, of 268 N. 2nd Street, Lake Mary, and a man who gave the name of James Adkins, 29, of Altamonte Springs.

Officers filed the report regarding Adkins identifying him as "John Doe".

During a check of the vehicle, officers reported finding a marijuana cigarette in the ashtray. They also discovered the vehicle had been reported stolen earlier in the day in Winter Springs.

Adkins, identified as the driver of the vehicle, was charged with possession of cannabis under 20 grams, making an improper left turn, resisting arrest without violence, and grand theft auto.

Roux was charged with grand theft auto, possession of cannabis under 20 grams, and resisting arrest without violence.

Dawson was charged with grand theft auto, and constructive possession of cannabis under 20 grams.

All three were taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Cops: Stabbing of gay men may be serial killer

By The Associated Press

DENVER — Four gay men have been stabbed to death in Denver's Capitol Hill section this year in what police said may be the work of a serial killer.

The latest victim, Anthony Carr, 33, was found dead in his apartment Tuesday. The others were slain in September, July and February. Two were found in apartments; a third, a visitor from Virginia, was found in his motel room.

"There are too many similarities. That's bothering us all," Detective Bill Fairchild said Wednesday. "We're looking at the possibility that all four could have been committed by the same assailant."

Police said they have not found any links among the men through work, friends or social activities.

"We just want to get to the bottom of this before anyone else dies," Fairchild said. "It's got us on edge. It's a scary deal."

Entry in teen's diary: 'I killed my little sister'

By JAMES G. CLIFFORD
Associated Press Writer

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. — Like any other adolescent, the 14-year-old girl was eager to confide in her new diary.

But it was a terrible secret she had to tell.

"Dear Diary: ... I have something to get off my back. I killed my little sister," began the lone entry that led to the Fremont girl's arrest.

The youngster appeared in Juvenile Court on Wednesday, one day after she was charged with using a pillow to smother her asthmatic 4-year-old sister, who died under mysterious circumstances in August. A court referee ruled that the girl should remain in custody until her next court appearance, on Jan. 6.

The girl has denied causing the toddler's death, telling police she wrote the diary entry only to gain attention.

In court, the youngster with tousled hair and braces mumbled "yes" when defense attorney Stephen Homer asked if she understood her rights.

As she left the courtroom, she turned around, looked at the rows of relatives, friends and reporters and said, "Stop looking at me."

Her parents refused to speak with reporters at the hearing.

The girl's parents found the chilling entry on Saturday, after she ran away from home. The couple had frantically searched their daughter's room and found the diary they had given her for Christmas on her nightstand.

It was locked, so they pried it open. The lone entry was dated Jan. 1, 1992; it was the first page available.

"Dear Diary: Well, it's the New Year so I'm going to start telling you everything dearest to me," the teen-ager wrote. "I have to get something off my back. I killed my little sister."

"I went into her room and got her and took her into my room and told her I loved her and covered her mouth and suffocated her. You're the first person I've told. Well, I feel better."

The parents discussed the matter with the family's pastor, then called police. The girl was arrested Sunday.

The names of the victim and her sister were withheld by police because of their age.

The diary statement was just one link in an investigation that started after the 4-year-old was found dead on Aug. 18, Sgt. Rich Phillips said.

The parents had told police the child suffered from asthma but was fine when they put her in her bed. The child took medicine and used a special machine to make sure it went deep into her lungs.

The coroner initially ruled that the 4-year-old had stopped breathing; the exact cause was undetermined. But natural causes didn't explain the death, and the police investigation "focused on unnatural all the way," Phillips said.

"We focused on (the older sister's) mental stability from the start," he said. "But we needed something more than the fact that she had a propensity for doing such an act."

Phillips said the teen-ager had a long history of psychological problems, but wouldn't go into details.

The 14-year-old was charged Tuesday.

There's something new to remember. From now on, when you make long distance calls within the 407 area, dial 0 or 1 + 407 and then the number you're calling.

Florida's tremendous growth has created a shortage of telephone numbers. By dialing the area code on every long distance call, numbers are freed up for new businesses and residential customers.

So remember, when you dial long distance, be sure to use the area code. And if you have a 407 long distance number on any programmed services, like Speed Dialing, Call Forwarding, or even a FAX machine, now's the time to reprogram them.

New Year's Eve: Don't drink, drive

Keep your name out of the Sanford Herald. Refrain from driving under the influence of alcohol on New Year's Eve.

By Monday, Jan. 4, all reports will have been filed on DUI arrests New Year's Eve and New Year's day. The following day, the Sanford Herald will publish a list of names of all persons arrested for DUI in Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood, and the northern areas of Seminole County.

We will also include local residents who may have been arrested in the outlying areas depending on the information available.

Law officers report New Year's Eve and July 4th are the two days of the year when the most DUI arrests are made. There are ways to avoid being included.

If the consumption of alcoholic beverages is required for you to enjoy the event, consider the use of the ever increasing number of non-alcoholic beverages such as a number of brands of beer that are available with only .5 percent alcoholic content.

There are also a number of mixed drinks available that can be consumed without alcohol.

If you insist on the real thing, use a designated driver, and take steps to insure that the person doesn't "have one or two for the road."

In addition to the risk of being revealed as a person arrested for DUI, there are additional risks such as the danger of an accident that could cause injuries or even death to those involved. Even if there is no property damage or car destroyed you could obtain enough points to have your driver's license revoked and/or car insurance costs sky-rocket.

Traditionally, most law enforcement agencies will be fully manned Thursday night. They will be looking for anyone who believes a driver is intoxicated. They will be doing it for the protection of lives and property.

It's time people realized that driving under the influence of alcohol is not the way to celebrate the holiday. It's foolish, and could cause immeasurable grief to everyone involved.

Of course the best solution for those who must drink alcohol, is to stay home. The new year of 1993 will arrive regardless of where you are.

A change of uniform

As the year ends on Dec. 31, Steve Harriett will change jobs from police chief to deputy sheriff. Harriett has served as Chief of Police for Sanford since 1986.

Joining the Seminole County Sheriff's Department will undoubtedly allow Harriett to use more of his extensive training in law enforcement, and on a larger scale than ever before.

He has served Sanford well. Through continuous efforts, Harriett has brought about a better recognition of officers assigned to specific areas and details in the city, which has improved the citizen/police relationships.

He has worked diligently to support the city commission in all aspects of crime fighting and citizen protection projects. He has also kept the police budget trimmed without reducing services.

The experience Harriett gained as head of the Sanford Police Department will come in handy in his new job. Sheriff Don Eslinger will assign Harriett the position of director of the department of administration. He will also serve as acting sheriff whenever Eslinger is absent.

We wish Steve Harriett well and a successful career in his new job.

Stealing from gravesite

To the person or persons who stole the flowers from our son's grave at Oaklawn Cemetery on Christmas Day:

You robbed us of the only thing that we can do in memory of our son. Yes, it was a magnificent bouquet of roses made just for him. Not for you.

To see that is the lowest of a low life. Let me say this to you. One day you will answer for what you did. Not to me perhaps, but to God.

How would you have felt had this happened to one of your loved ones?

Probably nothing. People who will steal from the dead probably don't even have a conscience.

These will be the big stories of '93

So many tasks, so few hours. Here, as a time-saving public service, is an early peek at all the news you'll need to know in the coming year — the big stories of 1993.

One year from now, every run-of-the-mill pundit will be telling you the overriding story of '93 was:

THE HURRIED, HARRIED MAKING OF A FOREIGN POLICY PRESIDENT.

After a campaign grilling of presidential candidates on all conceivable domestic issues, President Clinton was promptly confronted with three crises — all global, none local — that were barely mentioned in 1992, a failure of poise and press alike.

Crisis 1: Riots in Russia.

Soaring joblessness and unabated shortages lead to massive protests, which hardliners and unreconstructed communists exploit. This threatens to topple Boris Yeltsin and end the "capitalist experiment." Shaken Western intelligence experts are unclear whether the Russian military will step in — to preserve democracy, install dictatorship, re-invent the Cold War, or break into warring factions. Clinton mobilizes an urgent international aid effort with major infusions of managerial advisors.

technology and, of course, money — it is a marked contrast to Bush's slow, minimal responses.

Crisis 2: Nuclear blackmail plot exposed.

A year ago, I feared that a jobless ex-Soviet nuclear engineer and-or greedy military chief would sell Mideast terrorists a dirty little nuke. Mercifully, it didn't happen — yet. But U.S. and world leaders have shown too little urgency to this crisis-in-waiting. It happens in '93 and it is thwarted: U.S. and Israeli intelligence detect it; Clinton leads a United Nations condemnation that forces the weapons to be surrendered and dismantled.

Crisis 3: Genocide in Bosnia triggers belated global response.

New evidence of systematic ethnic extermination by Serbs leads Clinton into his boldest act as a world leader. He bluntly challenges all nations to unite against genocide, recalls the initial inattention to early reports of Nazi atrocities — and calls upon all responsible leaders to pledge: Never again, will they respond to ethnic cleansing by mere debating. Result: a truly global military commitment forces Serbia to halt its affront to mankind.

Other big stories of '93: PEACE PREVAILS ON WEST BANK, GOLAN HEIGHTS.

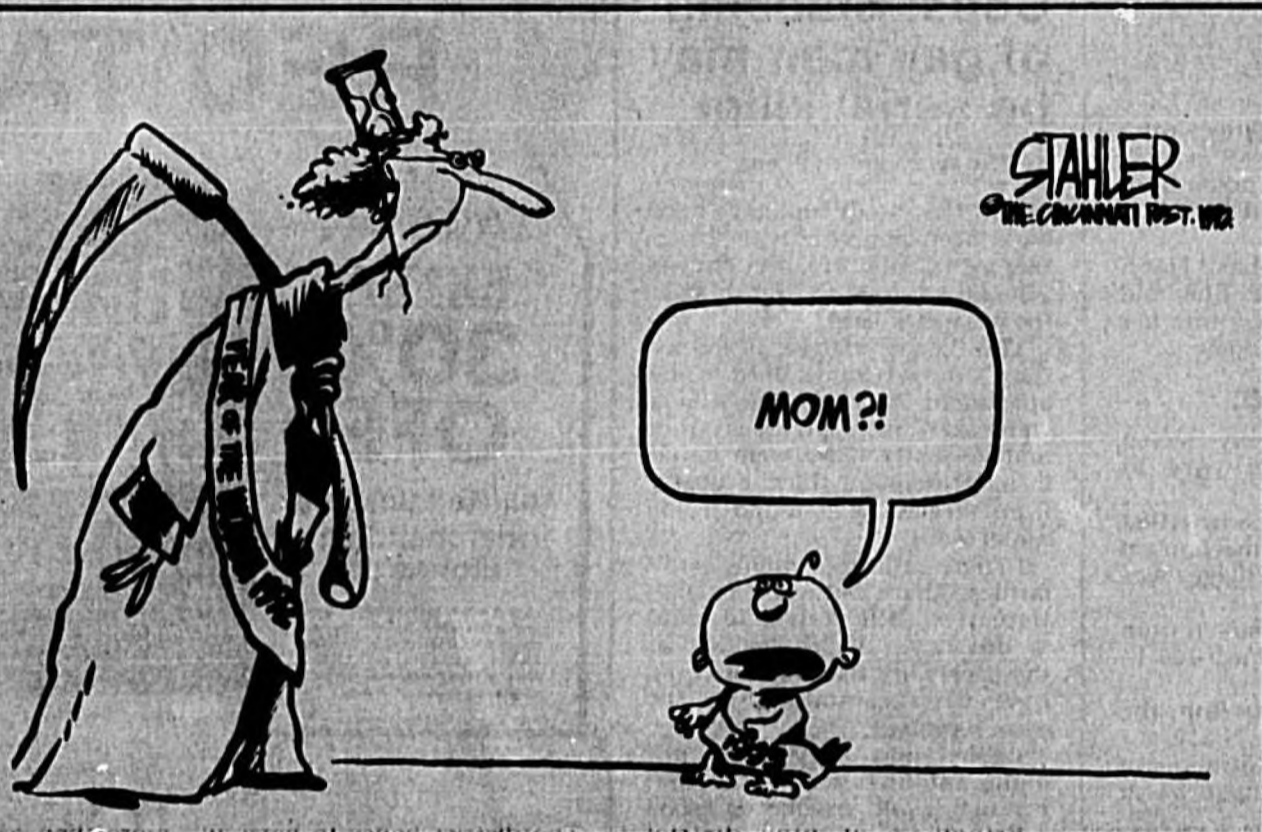

Experts scoffed when I told you this would happen a year ago; it didn't, but historic negotiations began and the framework for peace now exists.

CLINTON OK'S MANAGED-COMPETITION HEALTH PLAN.

The recession recedes, spurring job-creating investment — and Clinton's major domestic controversy is his rejection of health plans of liberals and unions.

So many tasks, so few hours.

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Clinton's questionable Cabinet

Back when Gov. Clinton began naming the members of his Cabinet, his spokesmen would always silence doubters with some variant of, "Don't worry; Clinton is going to lay down the policies for that department himself."

Thus, when he handed the Department of Health and Human Services over to Donna Shalala, a liberal as impassioned that even the University of Wisconsin's friends asked her to cool it when she took over as its president, the Clinton damage-control squad was reassuring: Don't worry; Clinton will determine HHS policies himself. All Shalala will do is enforce them.

Similarly, when he awarded the Department of Commerce to Democratic National Chairman Ron Brown, a slick lawyer-politician who has made a fortune as a lobbyist for big American corporations and foreign governments, the same spokesmen had much the same answer: Don't worry; from now on Ron Brown will be lobbying exclusively for policies designed by Bill Clinton.

And so it went, department by department, with a few notable exceptions (e.g. Education Secretary-designate Richard Riley, who is wisely agreed to be a first-raise choice). By the time the list was complete, Gov. Clinton had been committed, by his eager apologists, to running the executive branch almost single-handedly. All policies would emerge, lovingly handcrafted by the president, from the Oval Office. Everybody else would simply implement them.

Of course, it can't be done that way. The last president who tried to run the whole government himself was Jimmy Carter, who actually insisted on deciding personally who could use the White House swimming pool. Ronald Reagan shrewdly delegated all but the really key decisions to carefully chosen subordinates — a policy so successful that P.J. O'Rourke recently spoke nostalgically of the good old days when anyone you had "slept with the president" merely meant you'd attended a Cabinet meeting.

So the people whom Mr. Clinton has tapped to head the Cabinet departments are indeed important, and a look at the list is not exactly encouraging.

At the very top — the so-called "inner Cabinet," composed of the most important officials — the four choices are of distinctly mixed merit. Let us be grateful that in designating Lloyd Bentsen as Treasury Secretary and sending Les Aspin to Defense Mr. Clinton has at least picked men of genuine experience, who are relatively moderate as Democrats go and have the added advantage of knowing Capitol Hill intimately.

But Warren Christopher, who is to be secretary of state, is an uninspiring Carter retread. As deputy secretary of state in that lackluster administration, Christopher was known as a man with a cast-iron bottom who never saw a pointless, unproductive negotiation that he didn't want to extend for another three months.

And what of Zoe Baird? Don't feel ashamed if you've never heard of her. Neither had Mr. Clinton, until a few days before he named her Attorney General to fulfill his incautious pledge to give that critical job to a woman. Where else stands on anything is anybody's guess, including Clinton's. (But don't worry...)

Fortunately Gov. Clinton's most appalling appointment to date wasn't to a Cabinet post, but to the leadership of his transition team cluster in charge of the arts, education, labor and the humanities. His choice, incredibly, was Johnetta B. Cole, whom The New Republic (hardly a conservative source) describes as a "consistent spokesperson for scores of organizations affiliated with the Communist Party USA, including the U.S. Peace Council, the Venceremos Brigade, and the American Institute for Marxist Studies."

It will give you some idea of the intensity of the media's love affair with Mr. Clinton that, as of this writing, no member of it has yet asked the dear man what (or who) prompted him to name Ms. Cole to that influential position.

The last president who tried to run the whole government himself was Jimmy Carter.

A visit from St. Nickles-from-us

A look back at 1992, with fond hopes Clinton will really cut taxes for the middle class like he said he would:

"Twas the night before Clinton became our new president, / In inaugural festivities that will set a new precedent / For parties among leaders championing the middle class: / Say, Bill, we'd be happier if your bash cost less cash.

A gaggle of economists had come to his state / To see what was happening in this Rhodes Scholar's pate. / They all say he wowed 'em with his knowledge of theory / Even if he snoozed some when he became weary.

But what an election the guy'd just come through / Perot called him "chicken plucker," his economics voo-doo / George Bush called him "bozo" and portrayed his culture / As a horror film sound stage overseen by a vulture.

In '89 Bush said we needed to forget Vietnam / Yet Bill Clinton made a very good target. / For all of Bush's barbs about Bill's not going / At one point it threatened to prove his undoing.

But even conservatives conceded this race / Did nothing but stumble, stagnate and lose face. / Republicans were snuggled, all safe in their beds / While visions of '96 danced in their heads.

The right wing was waiting to see if wife Hillary / Will help wear Bill's pants and do something silly. / Like say, "Kids, sue your parents!" / Rush Limbaugh's so flustered / To see the support this strong woman has mustered.

Phil Gramm was safe in his $63,000 house / In hopes the Ethics Committee won't think he's a louse. / Because appraisers say the home is worth $117 grand / And he did help his contractor from S&L quicksand.

And I in my moderate Democrat cap / Had just settled down for a four-year-long nap / I hoped would bring an era of plain common sense / With extremist views on both sides dismissed as nonsense.

When upon my fax machine there arose such a clatter / I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter. / Then what to my wondering eyes did appear / Than some GOP centrist saying, "Be of good cheer."

"We have a big tent and all may have shade / If they believe moral decisions are really best made / By each citizen privately. Fiscal care is our mission. / You can call us the Republican Majority Coalition."

Then next to my wondering eyes did appear / A 20-year senator with reputation so dear / Accused of pawing and kissing women in his office / His excuse? "I was drunk;" he doesn't think he should quill.

Tribe cagers shine in Polk Classic

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

LAKELAND — They're back. Not that they really went anywhere, but after their performance in the Polk Holiday Classic girls' basketball tournament, the Seminole High School Fighting Seminoles appear ready to reassume their place among the state's elite.

In Tuesday's consolation bracket, the Tribe knocked off defending Class 4A state champion Dr. Phillips 47-34 in a morning contest.

Seminole then came back in the afternoon to nip the No. 4-ranked team in Class 3A, Cape Coral-Mariner, 61-59 in overtime, to finish with a 4-1 record and claim fifth place in the tournament for the second straight year.

"It's strange. We finish with the second best record in the tournament and come in fifth, but that's the way it goes," said Seminole head coach John McNamara. "The girls played well and did a real good job except for the loss to Bethlehem, when we didn't play any defense. We're coming on strong and playing a lot better."

The Tribe improved to 11-6 with the wins. The girls will return to the court for three home games next week. On Tuesday, Jan. 5, they host Lake Howell. Wednesday, Spruce Creek comes calling and on Thursday, Lake Brantley pays a visit to Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

The morning contest was all Seminole as the Tribe defense held Dr. Phillips to less than 10 points in each of the first three quarters while building a 39-23 advantage.

Sophomore point guard Tenneshia Eason popped in a game-high 18 points, while Niki Washington added 17 points, seven assists, 10 blocked shots and five steals as the Tribe won their 10th game of the season. Lalloma Faison chipped in with six points and three steals and Kay Kay Mullins had six points to complete the scoring.

Dr. Phillips (6-7) was led by Artina Jackson with 17 points.

The evening contest found Mariner coming back from a 31-20 halftime deficit with a shot at the buzzer to tie the game at 52-52 and send the game into overtime.

Seminole jumped out to a six-point lead in overtime, only to throw the ball away twice to let the game get close. Mariner hit a shot at the final horn to make the final margin two points.

Washington had another big all-around game to pace the Tribe statistically. The senior forward scored 26 points, grabbed 10 rebounds, handed out nine assists, blocked seven shots and claimed six steals.

Also having good games for the winners were Eason (18 points, five assists), Faison (six points, five rebounds, four assists, three steals), Mullins (six points, three steals, three assists).

In a rematch of their 1992 Class 4A state semifinal, Joel Dewberry (No. 6) and the Lyman Greyhounds jumped on top of the Tampa-Chamberlain Chiefs in a hurry, scoring three goals in the game's first 16 minutes on their way to a 4-0 victory and a berth in this afternoon's Pizza Hut Invitational championship game against Lake Mary.

'Hounds, Rams renew rivalry

By TONY DeSORMIER

ORLANDO — This afternoon's championship game in the Pizza Hut Invitational high school boys' soccer tournament is akin to agreeing to a blind date, only to find out your mystery partner is the person next door.

At 4 p.m. at Edgewater High School, the Lyman Greyhounds and Lake Mary Rams will write a new chapter to their storied soccer rivalry when they square off in the Pizza Hut finals.

"Here we go again," said both Lyman coach Ray Sandidge and Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle.

While both Sandidge and McCorkle might have preferred to face someone, anyone else — the two teams have already played once this season and could play two more times — the priority both coaches had was to make it to the championship game and test their teams against the best the tournament had to offer.

If it means playing each other again, so be it.

Both teams have gathered steam during the tournament, laboring through first round wins and turning in solid performances during the quarterfinals. On Wednesday, the two squads gave clinics, Lyman ripping Tampa-Chamberlain 4-0 and Lake Mary taking care of Clearwater Central Catholic 4-2.

Chamberlain and Clearwater Central Catholic will play for third place today at 2 p.m.

In other action Wednesday, Lake Brantley won two games to advance to the consolation bracket final, scheduled to kick off at noon, beating Winter Park 2-0 and Tampa-Leto 4-3 on penalty kicks. The Patriots will play the winner of Wednesday night's Bishop Moore-Daytona Beach Seabreeze contest.

Earlier Wednesday, Tampa-Leto eliminated Oviedo 1-0 despite playing the entire second half down a player because of an ejection. Daytona Beach-Seabreeze ousted Boone 2-1 and Bishop Moore bounced Coconut Creek 4-2 to advance to their consolation bracket semifinal showdown.

Lyman wasted no time in jumping all over the Chamberlain Chiefs, scoring three goals in the first 16 minutes to take control of their contest at Bishop Moore Memorial Stadium.

Mike Sells opened the scoring with a goal at 1:06. Frank Cipolla, seeing his first action of the tournament, played a corner kick that John Scott headed to Sells, who knocked the ball home.

Eight minutes later, Mike Bierly played a shot off the cross bar for a 2-0 Lyman lead. At 16:48, Joel Dewberry nodded in a throw-in from Dan McAvoy, prompting Chamberlain to change goalkeepers.

Sells capped the scoring with a goal at 70:16, assisted by John Bernard.

"Before the game, the guys were very, very serious," said Sandidge. "I told Lou Cioffi and Dave Fall, my assistant coaches, that they were either really focused or they were scared. Well, they put that to rest in a hurry. They were really ready to play."

"The first half was the best soccer we've played of the tournament. We created great chances and we didn't allow Chamberlain any opportunities. That's the name of the game."

Seminole booters hold own in tourney

From Staff Reports

KISSIMMEE — When first approached with the idea of playing in a tournament, Seminole High School boys' soccer coach Carlos Merlino was more than a little apprehensive.

On Wednesday night, after his team completed play in the Central Florida Challenge, Merlino was giving serious thought to accepting a promised invitation to play in next year's tournament.

"We're really coming together as a team," said Merlino, whose team picked up a forfeit win over Vero Beach and dropped a 1-0 decision to Fort Walton Beach Choctawhatchee Wednesday. "We spent a couple of days together, playing games and waiting to play games."

"I'm seriously considering going back to this tournament. The guys played hard and were very competitive. I think we'll see difference in our play when we resume our conference schedule."

Seminole, which scored a pair of wins over Stuart South Fork on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, showed up at Silver Spurs Stadium for its 10 a.m. consolation bracket game with Vero Beach Wednesday morning. But Vero Beach a 7-0 winner over Kissimmee Gateway Tuesday, didn't show.

Five hours later, the Tribe faced Choctawhatchee (10-3) in the consolation bracket finals, suffering a 1-0 loss on an own goal 13 minutes into the second half. As a result, Choctawhatchee finished fifth in the 16-team draw while Seminole came in sixth.

Despite being outshot 15-8 by Choctawhatchee, Seminole had several outstanding chances to equalize, hitting the cross bar twice with shots toward the end of the game.

Choctawhatchee also had a 4-3 edge in corner kicks over the Tribe. Seminole goalie Jon Williams, who was named to the All-Tournament team, made seven saves.

Tallahassee-Lincoln defeated Melbourne 2-1 in the championship game.

The Seminoles will return to action on Jan. 6 with a home game against the Lyman Greyhounds. On Jan. 7, the Tribe will host Flagler Palm Coast.

someone different at point guard.

"Jennifer Ducker stepped right in there for us and did a good job. Jennifer Greissing and Karent Morris also helped Ducker with handling the situation. It really pulled us together as a team."

Morris led the Rams with 13 points and took several turns down the court running the Lake Mary attack from the point guard position. Greissing came off the bench to contribute seven points, nine rebounds and four steals. Junior forward Donn Ferguson added 11 points.

For St. Petersburg-Lakewood (6-3), Nakia Hayes netted a game-high 17 points while Gylaunda Henderson knocked down 14 points before fouling out.

There are seven varieties of cookies available, including Thin Mints, Peanut Butter Patties, Shortbread, Peanut Butter Sandwich, Caramel Delites, Lemon Pastry Creams and Praline Royale. Girl Scout cookies are made with top-quality Kosher ingredients and without artificial preservatives or colors. They can be frozen for future enjoyment.

The theme of this girl's Girl Scout cookie sale is the protection of endangered and threatened animal species. As a part of Girl Scouting's ongoing commitment to environmental preservation, Citrus Council of Girl Scouts is working to increase public awareness about endangered and threatened animals. Girl Scouts are being encouraged to learn about harp seals, the animal highlighted in the 1993 Girl Scout cookie sale materials and the need for the preservation of endangered animals. Girl Scouts are working hard to improve the world around them.

Girl Scouts have been raising money with cookie sales for over 55 years. Girls use the money earned by their troop during the cookie sale for camping trips, equipment and other troop program activities. Profits earned by Citrus Council provide funds for maintaining and improving camping properties, financial assistance for girls and other Council operations.

Delivery of ordered cookies will be Feb. 12 through Feb. 28. Anyone wanting to buy Girl Scout cookies can call Citrus Council of Girl Scouts, 407/645-1020 or 1-800-367-3906, or visit Girl Scout cookie booths throughout the community.

The camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management, and survival training. Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army Guard, or Reserve. The cadet is a student at the University of Central Florida, Orlando. Marwick is the son of Robert L. Marwick and Gloria A. Cpx of 5251 Wayside Drive, Sanford.

ERNEST D. GRAHAM

Year filled with highs, lows, hi and 'bye

DEAR READER: What a year this has been! George and Barbara are out, and Bill and Hillary are in; First Dog Millie will be replaced by First Cat socks. Folley billionaire Ross Perot made a run at the presidency. (Actually, he made two runs, but who's counting?) 1992 was a royal pain in the throne for Queen Elizabeth. Prince Charles and Princess Diana are living apart in his and her castles; Prince Andrew and

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"Fergie" have also parted. Princess Anne, 42, ended her marriage to Capt. Mark Phillips to marry 37-year-old Timothy Laurence, who once served as her mother's equerry (Mumsey says she's delighted). Meanwhile, a wing of Windsor Castle caught fire (no insurance? no kidding). Speaking of flames, there was a race riot in Los Angeles; and floods, earthquakes, tornadoes, volcanic eruptions and famine struck around the globe. Sen. Bob Packwood of Oregon may be sent packing due to sexual harassment charges. Annette Bening snagged perennial bachelor Warren Beatty after presenting him with a daughter; actor Richard Gere was bagged by supermodel Cindy Crawford; and Madonna launched a much-hyped, overpriced book titled "Sex," which was banned in Ireland. Johnny Carson retired after 30 years. Enter Jay Leno. Good luck in his slot opposite the popular Arsenio Hall. Candice Bergen won an Emmy for "Murphy Brown" after Veep Dan Quayle criticized her for shamelessly portraying an unwed mother. "Roseanne" is still No. 1, but hubby Tom Arnold's new series, "the Jackie Thomas show," took a critical drubbing. (Dear Lord, please save my favorite, "Homefront.") The revival of "Guys and Dolls" is a smash on Broadway. Tammy Faye Bakker tearfully announced her divorce from TV evangelist Jim Bakker, who was caught with his duke in the tambourine and could spend his next 28 years behind bars.

Nelson and Winnie Mandela separated in South Africa. Sexologists Virginia Johnson and William Masters filed for divorce. Ditto Barbara Walters and Merv Adelson. Lisa (with a Z) Minnelli and Mark Gero are also kaput; and the judge ordered "Good Morning America's" Joan Lunden to pay her ex $18,000 a month in temporary alimony. Hotel Queen Leona Heimale is doing a stretch in the "big house" for tax fraud and for "creative bookkeeping." (Even Alan Derahowitz couldn't save her.) Country and western star Garth Brooks became a father. Whitney Houston married Bobby Brown (both Grammy winners). Pop singer Paula Abdul wed actor Emilio Estevez. Sen. Ted Kennedy married attorney Victoria Reggie; his ex, Joan, published a book on how to enjoy classical music. Former Beatie Paul McCartney turned 50. Death claimed: Dame Judith Anderson; Alex Haley, author of "Roots"; S.I. Hayakawa, professor and former GOP senator from California; British comedian Benny Hill; Wal-Mart's Sam Walton, listed in Forbes as the richest man in America; child psychologist Dr. Lee Salk; California's senator and former song and dance man George Murphy; the legendary Marlene Dietrich; TV star Chuck Connors ("the Rifleman"); German Chancellor Willy Brandt; Paul Henreid, who played one of the leads in "Casablanca"; Eric Sevareid, journalist-broadcaster, whose career spanned five decades and five continents. Outgoing President Bush ordered U.S. troops and food to Somalia as a humanitarian gesture. Pray for peace, and good health for President-elect Clinton and Vice President-elect Gore.

Is there a cure for husband's snoring?

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband and I are newlyweds with a sleep problem. He's a snorer and I'm a light sleeper. The only way we can get a good night's sleep is in different rooms.

We've read about a tiny plastic clip manufactured in Sweden called the Nozovent, designed to widen the air passages. The plastic clip is 2 1/2 inches long, shaped like a double-ended canoe paddle. The snorer bends the device in the middle and sticks the ends up both nostrils. The product is not available in the United States, but I would like your opinion before investigating further.

DEAR READER: I'm not familiar with the product you describe. I think your husband would obtain more appropriate relief if he were to see an ear-nose-and-throat specialist, because snoring in a young person can be due to blockage of the upper airway during sleep. The ENT specialist can advise him whether, for example, he needs surgery to remove polyps or other causes of obstruction.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has a high cholesterol level, and we have a question about cooking oil. I'm under the impression that the higher ratio of unsaturated fat to the saturated fat is best. He feels the reverse is better. Who's right?

DEAR READER: You're correct. The higher the unsaturated fat, the better. Saturated fats (those which are solid at room temperature) have been associated with health risks, such as heart disease. Therefore, anyone with high cholesterol levels should be on a low saturated-fat diet.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from daily headaches. An MRI and CT scan both confirmed a large encapsulated cyst in the right maxillary sinus. An operation actually found this to be a large polyp that wasn't removable by that surgical procedure, but the sinus opening was enlarged to provide better drainage. I thought this was the answer to my headache dilemma yet the problem persists. Where do I go from here?

DEAR READER: Headaches can be caused by sinus polyps, even if the sinuses appear to drain normally. Return to your otolaryngologist for advice about whether you should have the polyp removed, by a separate surgical procedure. Once it's gone, your headaches will probably disappear.

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Bernice Bode Oost YOUR BIRTHDAY Jan. 1, 1993

In the year ahead the more knowledgeable you become in your chosen field of endeavor, the greater your probability for success. Prepare yourself properly for the opportunities that could be forthcoming.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is one of those days where you might unintentionally take out your frustrations on people for whom you care the most. Don't shift the blame on the innocent. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for Capricorn's Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) People whom you'll have dealings with today will be able to perceive your motives easily. Don't use flattery, subterfuge or insincerity to make your point.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

Today you might have trouble distinguishing between people you should treat generously and those you should not. Unfortunately, your judgment may be faulty.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There is a possibility today that you may cater to an individual you'll think can do you some good, while barely acknowledging a loyal ally who has helped you previously and can help you now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be cautious today of becoming romantically fascinated by a person who has already made a commitment. You could be asking for trouble if you trespass in forbidden areas.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Treat business endeavors seriously today, even when you are involved with friends you know on a social basis. Make sure the demarcation line is acknowledged.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you might find companions are only partially in accord with your purposes and objectives. They will be even less enchanted if you attempt to manipulate them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) People who are subject to your authority today will require skillful management. If you don't inspire them properly, they won't respond to your directives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Forego making demands today of the one you love that, if the roles were reversed, you would resent and ignore. Try to consider things from his or her perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Strive to be a bit more affectionate than usual today towards your mate. If he or she is in a grumpy mood, this is the elixir that could soothe frayed nerves.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Industriousness, not apathy, is required today if you hope to have something worthwhile to show how you spent your time. Don't use excuses to neglect your duties.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Self-discipline is required at this time where the management of your resources is concerned. An additional dosage might be necessary for handling other people's money.

The old year is drawing to a close. We are all wondering how the new president will mold the country during the next four years. At the bridge table, though, I suggest we concentrate on counting and on treating our partners kindly.

On today's deal, West was Pierre Jais, a winner of all three world titles: the Bermuda Bowl in 1956, the Team Olympiad in 1960 and the Open Pairs in 1962.

Deciding to bid tactically, Jais passed as dealer. Then, over South's strong and artificial opening that asked for aces, he leapt to five clubs. North's five no-trump showed two aces.

Jais decided there was only one way to defeat six diamonds. He led the club four, East, the perfect partner, produced the 10. Jais sat back contentedly, sure that East would return a heart for him to ruff. But nothing was happening. Eventually, Jais told East it was his lead. He asked to see the previous trick. Then he led back — the club five. South ruffed and claimed.

Jais knew there was no point in berating his partner. Instead, he has allowed East to retain anonymity.

A young expert once tried this leading coup in England. Suddenly there was a gust of wind, blowing dummy's cards onto the floor. After they had been picked up, the y.c.'s partner, a world-class player, led back the right suit at trick two and the y.c. ruffed. The y.c. was surprised his partner didn't say anything. Afterward, he asked his partner why he hadn't complimented him on the lead.

"You didn't see which card I played to 'win' trick one."
