

Childers Fires 2, One Resigns

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Two Senate chairmen who opposed Senate President W.D. Childers' bid for a second term have been fired and a third, transportation chief Malcolm Beard, has quit before Childers could fire him. Beard, a former Hillsborough County sheriff who moved over to the Senate from the House two years ago, resigned the transportation committee chairmanship Tuesday, saying that was the proper thing to do since he wound up on the losing side, at least in Monday's Democratic caucus. He is part of the Democratic Republican coalition that threw its support Tuesday to Lakeland Sen. Curtis Peterson, who intends to challenge Childers for the 1983-84 presidency in the November 1982 organizational session. He likely would have been fired had he not resigned. Majority leader Pete Skinner of Lake City says most of the 12 Democrats who refused to support Childers in Monday's caucus will lose their chairmanships if they have one. Childers removed Dempsey Barron of Panama City as rules chairman Monday and Dick Anderson of Miami as commerce chairman and indicated he would be making other changes later. Last week, Childers reneged on a promise to make Barron chairman of the reapportionment committee that will draw new Senate district boundaries. Beard said he resigned so Childers "could have a free hand to do what he wanted to do and I would be free to act according to my conscience without any pressure."

Coalition Forms To Run Peterson Against Childers

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The full 40-member Senate will elect the 1983-84 president. Peterson has the votes to win, but keeping them might be a problem. Every senator is up for re-election next fall and some may not make it back, and the Childers group will try to pull Democrats from the coalition by threatening to reapportion them out of their seats. Childers said late Tuesday he doesn't expect the coalition to hold up. "If these exact 24 senators were returned, I would concede it would be somewhat of a problem, but these 24 senators must be returned by their electorate," he said. The coalition consists of Barron of Panama City, the 10 Democrats who have been with him, West Palm Beach Sen. Harry Johnston, who split with Childers over the weekend and 12 of the 13 Republicans. Tom Tobiasen was the Republican dissenter. He and Childers took a trip to Pensacola. "W.D. and I have been extremely close friends for a long time. How do you desert a friend," Tobiasen said. Childers suffered another big setback Tuesday. The Barron group and the Republicans united to force the Senate to recall from the House a $9 billion state budget passed out a couple of weeks ago which some senators believe was written to manipulate the Legislature into raising the sales tax.

Here's How 40 Senators Stand

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Here is how the 40 senators are lined up in the fight for the 1983-84 Senate presidency between incumbent W.D. Childers of Pensacola and Lakeland Sen. Curtis Peterson. Democrats supporting Childers: himself; Joe Carlucci, Jacksonville; Ed Dunn, Daytona Beach; Pat Frank, Tallahassee; Jack Collins, Mobile; Robert Hill, Jacksonville; Ken Jensen, Hollywood; George Kirkpatrick, Gainesville; Gwen Margolis, Miami; Bob McKnight, Miami; Pete Skinner, Lake City; Paul Steinberg, Miami; John Vogt, Cocoa Beach; Sherman Winn, Miami; and George Stuart, Orlando. Democrats supporting Peterson: himself, Dempsey Barron, Panama City; Dick Anderson, Miami; Pat Thomas, Quincy; John Hill, Miami Lakes; Malcolm Beard, Tampa; Pat Neal, Bradenton; Alan Trask, Winter Haven; Don Childers, West Palm Beach; Harry Johnston, West Palm Beach; and Dan Jenkins, Jacksonville; and Dick Renick, Miami. Republicans supporting Childers: Tom Tobiasen, Pensacola. Republicans supporting Peterson: Mary Grizzle, Indian Rocks Beach; Warren Henderson, Sarasota; Toni Jennings, Orlando; Dick Langley, Clermont; Tom Lewis, North Palm Beach; Clark Maxwell, Melbourne; David McCain, Tampa; Van Poole, Fort Lauderdale; Gerald Rehm, Dunedin; Jim Scott, Fort Lauderdale; Bill Stevens, Parkland; and John Ware, St. Petersburg.

House Panel OKs 'No Frills' Budget

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee has put together a $9 billion budget state government can live with if legislators refuse to raise taxes. The Senate wants to start over on the plan it voted out two weeks ago because a coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans believes the proposal was designed to force tax increases. Leaders in both chambers say there is still a chance the Legislature will raise taxes this session, but opposition to new taxes seems to grow as the days drag on. The House panel unanimously approved late Tuesday a $9 billion "no frills" budget with an emphasis on criminal justice

IN BRIEF

Probe Begun In Death Of Space Center Worker

CAPE CANAVERAL, (UPI) — Kennedy Space Center officials sought today to determine why a construction worker plunged more than 100 feet to his death while working on the metal framework of the service structure for next September's scheduled second launch of the space shuttle Columbia. Anthony E. Hill, 22, of Rockledge, Fla., struck the concrete apron of launch pad 39B Tuesday and was pronounced dead at Jess Parrish Hospital in Titusville. Hill is the third technician to be killed at the center in connection with the space shuttle program. And he is the 12th victim directly associated with space activities at Cape Canaveral. Space agency officials and his employer, Wilhoit International, were uncertain how the accident occurred. They said all workers on the project were supposed to wear safety belts.

Mastercard Suit Filed

WEST PALM BEACH, (UPI) — Reeda and Raymond Ingalsbe filed suit for damages Tuesday against Southeast Bank Corp. as issuer of Mastercard, claiming they have been harassed day and night by employees of the credit card agency trying to collect a $46 bill they've already paid. "We just got fed up with all their telephone calls," said Mrs. Ingalsbe. She said Mastercard employees were "strident, abrasive, demanding and insisting" even though the bill has been paid. "Maybe they didn't like my tone of voice," she added.

Execution Date Set For 2

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — While the courts juggled the lives of two other death row inmates, an official execution date was set for convicted murderers Charles Kenneth Foster and Dennis Wayne Smith. Gov. Bob Graham Tuesday signed death warrants for Foster and Smith, but recommended clemency for Michael Salvatore, convicted of the January 1975 bludgeoning death of Burton Dewitt. Prison officials immediately scheduled the double execution for June 3. The fate of two other convicted killers Graham has ordered executed — David Leroy Washington, 30, and Gary Alvord, 34 — remains tied up in the courts.

Water Rationing In Effect

WEST PALM BEACH, (UPI) — Fresh water rationing goes into effect today in eight south Florida counties that are gripped in the worst drought in 10 years. Effective at 10 A.M., the South Florida Water Management District ordered a mandatory cutback of 10 percent in water supplied to 50 major utilities, and district officials called on counties and municipalities in the region to enforce a like reduction in water used by homeowners. The situation could get worse, water district officials said. If the 10 percent reduction fails to remedy the situation, a 25 percent cutback will be ordered the first of next week. And if no appreciable rain falls on south Florida within the next two weeks, a radical 50 percent reduction in water usage may be ordered.

Tough Guy Lee Marvin Thinks Promotion Overdue

Lee Marvin, 57, who plays yet another tough-guy sergeant in his new film, "Death Hunt," with costar Charles Bronson, is tired of being an enlisted man. "I should have been retired or promoted. I think I'd like to be an officer now sitting in a plush office saying, 'OK, men, go out and get 'em.' I'm mean, I'm getting a bit tired of running uphill in snowshoes. Uphill. I asked the director, 'When do I get to run downhill?' and it looks like never. I'd settle for running on the level," Marvin told UPI Monday.

Asked if he planned to try directing, he said, "Never. I don't think I could afford a cut in salary." As for palimony and the Billie Jean King controversy, Marvin wasn't interested. "It really is sort of trivial to begin with. In my case it's history, who cares about it? The Supreme Court will reverse the ruling (in Marvin's palimony case) anyway."

'I'm getting a bit tired of running uphill in snowshoes... When do I get to run downhill?'

'Palimony' Lawyer Matchmaker

The latest celebrity couple around New York consists of Actor Tony Curtis and Soraya Khoashoggi, who is suing her super-rich husband in a $2.54 billion divorce action. The "cupid" who arranged for the couple to meet was Marvin Mitchelson, the "palimony" lawyer who usually is more active in helping couples split than in bringing them together. He's a friend of Curtis and represents Soraya in her matrimonial run for the gold. Mitchelson, incidentally, was honored as "Man of the Year" last weekend by the City of Hope hospital.

Kate Smith Celebrates

Kate Smith, once a world-famous singer, is now an elderly recluse, living with her sister and a niece in Raleigh.

But 50 years ago, Miss Smith was a vibrant and popular American singer, charming America with her brassy versions of such songs as "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain" and "God Bless America."

Friday, Miss Smith marked her 74th birthday. Close friends and relatives of Miss Smith decided to celebrate both her birthday and the 50th anniversary of her career as an entertainer with a backyard cookout in suburban Raleigh.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Elizabeth Taylor shows why she's known for her loyalty to her friends.

Liz Is Loyal

Elizabeth Taylor is known for her loyalty to friends and she didn't let down her favorite fashion designer, Michaelle Vollbracht. Vollbracht had a falling out with his backers some months ago and temporarily closed his business. In order to show with other designers, who for the last two weeks have been displaying their "wears" for the press and buyers on Seventh Avenue, Vollbracht threw together a collection in a matter of weeks.

He displayed it in the last slot on the Fashion Calendar, Sunday night at the Circle in the Square Theater. The show was delayed until Elizabeth and her husband, Sen. John Warner, made a late arrival. The traditional bride's costume which closed the show, a rich Russian peasant gown, was modeled by Elizabeth's daughter, Maria.

Must Marry Myth: Walters

'More and more middle aged people are realizing there are other roads than marriage...'

BARBARA WALTERS

Barbara Walters, who has been the subject of on-and-off romantic gossip since her marriage broke up several years ago, says in the current issue of Dynamic Years magazine: "I believe that it is a myth of the past that you have to be married. More and more middle-aged people are realizing there are other roads than marriage and are more concerned with personal fulfillment and pursuing new careers. The thing about middle-age today is that few of the old myths hold true."

This Pet Doesn't Bite

Let other pets of the Penthouse pettey bite the hand they say failed to feed them — Victoria Lynn Johnson has parlayed her centerfold spread straight into prime time television and she couldn't be more grateful to the magazine that gave her first exposure.

Vickie is a diminutive and curvaceous Georgia peach who hit Penthouse Publisher Bob Guccione's "Pet of the Year" jackpot in 1978. Since then, she has done one sexy segment for CBS's "Dukes of Hazzard," one for an NBC special called "Women Who Rate a 10," and no less than two featured spots — on the beauty pageant of the centerfold — on the syndicated "P.M. Magazine."

Everyone has put off having a "minor" injury checked for one reason or another. The problem is many minor injuries can end up very major. Any injury to the eye, in particular, should be checked by a physician because the eye is so vulnerable and, of course, because sight is so precious. In the case of very minor injuries or irritations, — a bit of soot in the eye, a small scratch on the lid, for example, pain can be your guide. If pain, reddening, itching or aching persist after 30 minutes, don't take chances — have it checked. Severe blows to the eye or exposure to chemicals require medical attention immediately.

To take the heat off your bills this summer and conserve Florida's energy, here's what you can do right now.

The mercury's not the only thing that climbs in the summer time. Your electric bill does, too. In addition, this summer you'll also be feeling the effects of a higher fuel adjustment charge.

So it's important that you start preparing now. Here are some of the ways: Your air conditioner uses more electricity during summer than any of your other appliances. So, it's important to check out the system and service it if necessary. Clean or change the filter. If you're planning on replacing your air conditioner, make certain you choose one with a high efficiency rating.

There are other measures you can take right now to take the heat off. Like installing sufficient attic insulation (we recommend R-19). Weatherstripping doors and windows. Applying solar film to those windows exposed to direct sunlight. And installing ceiling fans to help improve air flow.

You'll find other important energy saving tips at your local Florida Power and Light Company office. Just call or stop by.

Hats Off To Mother!

Special Cake Is For Special Person

Mother's Day brightens up the already beautiful month of May and gives us a celebration that is most truly our own...for mothers are special — and each mother different.

A wonderfully visual tribute, and delicious to boot, the Hats-Off-To-Mom Cake has the wholesome flavor of an oldtime made-from-scratch cake with a batter fragrant with the sunny-sweet taste of fresh Florida oranges. Made in two pans, one an inch wider, the cakes are layered to give the hat a brim. The decoration can be as frivolous or dramatic as you like. Orange slices make a fine band around the top, and fresh flowers add a beautiful touch of delicate color.

Orange-Strawberry Chiffon Pie has a lighter than air filling in a yummy coconut pie shell lined with strawberries. Fresh orange juice lends citrus-sweet goodness to the filling while grated orange peel gives it a zest that fairly sings.

Hats Off to the cooks who take Hats Off To Mom!

Salads Coming Into Their Own

Salads, in all their infinite combinations of taste, texture and color, are coming into their own. Even staunch meat-and-potatoes men are turning to salads for lunch occasionally or including more vegetables and greens as part of their sandwich fillings.

With the onset of warmer weather in northern climes, more salads appear as pleasing courses for family meals, picnics and "pitchins."

A summer bean salad or an iceberg lettuce salad with buttermilk dressing serves as a side dish for hot dogs and hamburgers or help make a meal of salads.

Add milk and a fresh fruit for dessert to round out a nutritious menu.

SUMMER BEAN SALAD

1 pound (2 cups) Michigan dry, edible navy beans
6 cups water
6 tablespoon olive oil
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon rosemary, crushed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1-3 cup chopped scallion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Lettuce or leaf spinach

Place navy beans in a large saucepan with 6 cups water. Bring to a boil. Boil 2 minutes; remove from heat; allow to stand 1 hour. Return to heat and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until just tender but still firm. Drain off liquid. Combine oil, lemon juice, garlic, rosemary, salt and pepper. Pour over warm beans and mix well. Chill several hours or overnight. Just before serving, mix in scallions and parsley. Serve in a salad bowl lined with lettuce or fresh leaf spinach. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8-10 servings.

TOSSED ICEBERG SALAD WITH BUTTERMILK DRESSING

1 large head iceberg lettuce
2 cups pared, diced cucumber
2 cups diced tomato
1/2 cup buttermilk
1/4 cup salad oil
3 tablespoons crumbled Danish blue cheese
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 1/2 teaspoons seasoned salt
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1/2 teaspoon tarragon, crumbled
Dash of two black pepper

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Refrigerate in disposable plastic bag or plastic zipper. When ready to serve, cut lettuce crosswise into inch-thick slices, then cut into bite-size chunks to measure 2 quarts. Combine in chilled salad bowl with cucumber and tomato. Stir together all remaining ingredients, and pour over salad. Toss lightly, and serve at once. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

KUTA...For All Seasons

Know Your Squash; Eat It Too

Go on: Grow it. The new 1981 hybrid squash that has everything — Kuta squash.

This vegetable commands attention. The Kuta squash hybrid is the easiest to grow, fastest maturing, most compact and abundant bush squash you can plant in your garden. It can be grown and eaten all season — as a 2- to 8-inch lettuce-green early summer treat or as an 8- to 14-inch ochre or white winter delicacy. It's the only squash available for all seasons.

Kuta's shape and flesh texture resemble that of the eggplant. It can be eaten raw or cooked, hot or cold. It lends itself to drying, freezing and canning. You won't want to miss eating it at all delicious stages of development from early summer through fall.

Nutritionally, Kuta squash can't be beaten. Its calorie count at the middle-development stage is only 20 calories per 100 vary from few in the early summer stages to a few more in the final winter stages.

The main feature of Kuta squash when fresh, frozen, cooked or canned is that it retains a firmer texture than other squash do. And its nutty flavor can be relished in dishes ranging from appetizers to main courses to desserts.

Kuta's name is not incidental. It, too, is part of American heritage. "Kuta" is derived from the word "askutasquash," which in Narragansett Indian language means "fruit eaten raw."

One can almost say that Kuta was bred long before the American Indians named it. The sea cabbage of millions of years ago eventually became land-worthy and evolved into different edible fruited plants, the first of which was the squash fruit.

First evidence of the squash plant was found in the ancient ruins of South and Central America. It was staple food in those arduous evolutionary times. It grew all season and was eaten all year because it was storable, much the same way we use the potato today.

Over the centuries, mutations of the original staple squash fruit developed. Some mutants came naturally with the wind and changed their characteristics because of their newly inherited growing conditions. Some mutations were intentionally created by scientific breeders. As a result, these last years we have been overwhelmed with less hardy squash varieties which have limited growing seasons and uses.

Kuta squash is nature's inspiration returned, but it took years of trail and error with hundreds of different crosses before Mampell finally brought back our "staple" squash, which provided delicious nourishment throughout the growing season. This "survivor" squash ingeniously develops a hard shell in the fall making it storable for winter uses.

Try some of the following recipes which show you how to prepare Kuta squash raw, cooked and canned for appetizer, main dish and dessert.

KUTA SLAW (Makes 6 servings)

- 4 cups grated Kuta summer squash
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley
- 3 sliced green onions
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

In a large bowl, combine Kuta squash, parsley and green onions. Chill. In a glass measuring cup, mix together vinegar, sugar, oil and salt, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Just before serving, pour vinegar mixture over squash mixture; toss lightly.

SCALLOPED KUTA (Makes 8 servings)

- 4 cups water
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 medium-sized Kuta summer squash, peeled, seeded and chopped fine
 - 4 tablespoons margarine or butter
 - 4 tablespoons all-purpose flour
 - 2 cups milk
 - 2 tablespoons minced onion
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon white pepper
 - 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
 - 1 cup potato chip crumbs
- Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. In saucepan, bring water and salt to a boil. Add squash; cook 3 minutes. Drain squash well. In saucepan, melt margarine or butter. Blend in flour. Gradually add milk and stir constantly until milk is thickened. Stir in onion, salt, pepper and 1/2 cup of the shredded cheese. Place half the cause in a 1 1/2-quart casserole; cover with the squash and pour remaining sauce over top. Top with remaining cheese and potato chips. Bake 30 minutes or until bubbly.

CREAMY KUTA SOUP (Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
 - 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons finely-chopped onion
 - 2 cups cooked, mashed Kuta winter squash
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon sugar
 - 2 10 1/2-ounce cans chicken broth
 - 1 cup light cream (may use half and half)
 - Garlic salt and white pepper, to taste
 - Chopped chives or parsley
- In heavy soup kettle, heat margarine or butter; add chopped onion and cook, stirring until tender. Stir in squash, salt, sugar and chicken broth. Simmer 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Lower heat; stir in light cream, garlic salt and pepper to taste. Heat slowly. Do not boil. Serve immediately sprinkled with chopped chives or parsley.

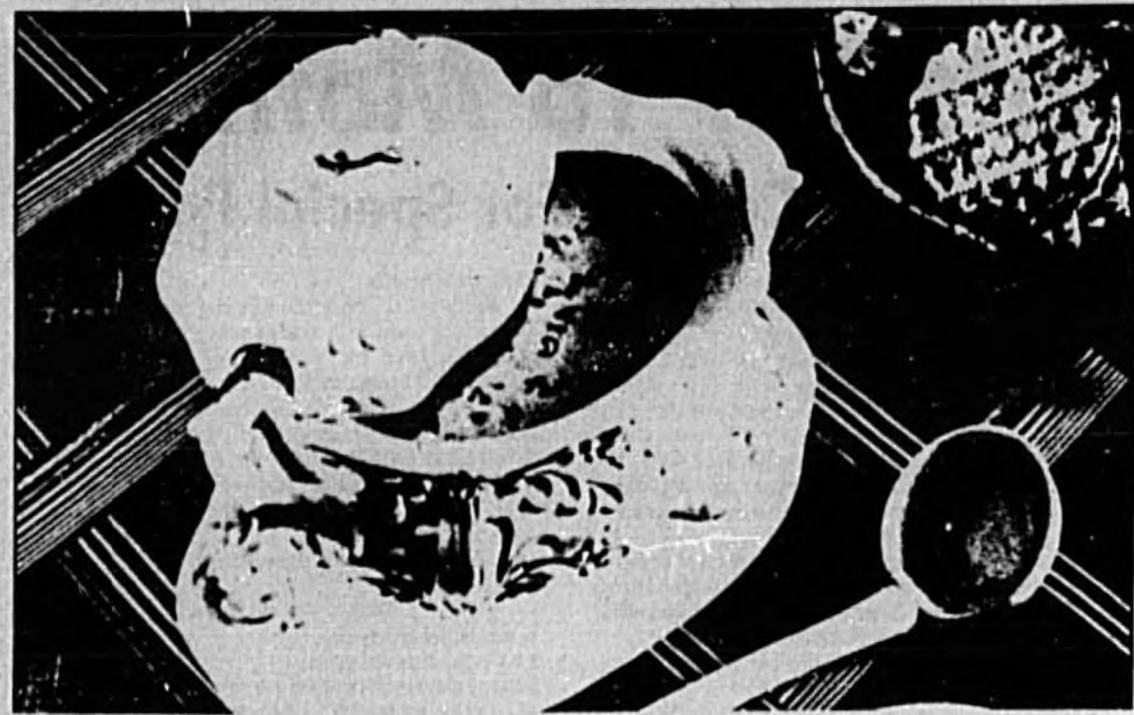

KUTA PARMESAN (Makes 4 to 6 servings)

- 1 medium Kuta summer squash, sliced in 1/2-inch thick pieces
 - 1-3rd cup olive oil
 - 1 cup fine bread crumbs
 - 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 - 1 teaspoon crushed oregano
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
 - 1 8-ounce package mozzarella cheese, sliced
- Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Grease an 8-inch square baking dish. In a saucepan, bring 1 1/2 quarts of water to boiling. Parboil squash slices for 5 minutes. Drain squash and pat dry with paper towel. In large skillet, heat oil and saute the squash slices until lightly brown on both sides. In small bowl, combine bread crumbs, Parmesan cheese, oregano, salt and pepper. Set aside. Place squash slices into prepared dish. Spread with 1-3rd of the tomato sauce, then 1-3rd of crumb mixture. Cover with slices of mozzarella cheese. Repeat twice. Bake for 30 minutes or until cheese melts and bubbles. Serve hot.

KUTA PICKLES (Makes 7 pints)

- 4 quarts Kuta summer squash, peeled and cubed
- 3 tablespoons black lime
- 2 quarts cold water
- 2 tablespoons whole cloves

- 3 sticks cinnamon
 - 2 pieces (1-inch each) fresh ginger root
 - 1 lemon, thinly sliced
 - 1 lime, thinly sliced
 - 8 cups sugar
 - 1 quart white vinegar
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- In large enameled kettle, dissolve lime in 2 quarts water; add squash. Add more water if needed to cover; stir. Let stand 2 to 4 hours. Drain; rinse and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil and cook just until tender; drain. Tie cloves, cinnamon and ginger in a cheesecloth bag and add to squash with lemon, lime, sugar and vinegar. Simmer squash until transparent. Add boiling water if syrup becomes too thick before squash is clear. Stir in vanilla. Remove spice bag and fruit slices. While hot, pick into hot, clean jars, leaving 1/4-inch head space. Seal according to manufacturer's directions. Process in boiling water bath 15 minutes. Cool. Test for seal, remove screw bands and store in cool, dry, dark place.

Creamy Kuta Soup has a delightful smoothness.

School Officials Off To D.C.

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Despite some objection from a local group of parents, five Seminole County school board officials flew to Washington today in an effort to secure approval for the Lake Mary High School zoning proposal.

Board members were asked to okay the trip at their regularly scheduled meeting Wednesday night after school board attorney Ned Julian Jr. revealed the contents of a letter from U.S. Justice attorneys denouncing the plan as projecting a "virtually all-white" student body.

When school board chairman Bill Kroll invited comments from the public, Ms. Shirley Moak, who opposed the plan earlier when officials were looking at several proposals, expressed objection to "sending county officials up with taxpayers' money to endorse a zoning proposal the people of Sanford didn't approve of anyway."

Moak had advocated a plan drawn up by County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff which attempted essentially to provide an equitable racial balance at Crooms, Seminole, and Lake Mary High schools. Kirchhoff, who was present, did not address the board.

But the letter sent by U.S. Justice Department attorney Burtis Dougherty expressed similar objections that were similar to those made by Kirchhoff in his alternate proposal.

"Our primary objection," the letter stated, "is the fact that the residential composition of the proposed Lake Mary attendance zone is virtually all-white."

Advocates of Kirchhoff's plan had opposed the proposal for "sending the more affluent students to the Lake Mary School and further isolating the less advantaged Sanford pupils."

Furthermore, the letter said: "...The drawing of what is in effect an all-white attendance zone for a new school adjacent to what is by far the most heavily black high school attendance zone (Sanford) in the county (presently about 33 percent black) and by far the most severely under-utilized high school in the county (Crooms-Seminole High) suggests that the School Board was not attempting, as the law requires, to maximize the desegregative effect of this critical decision. Rather, the effect of this proposal is to further isolate the Crooms-Seminole High School zone from the remainder of the county."

An appointment was made with U.S. Justice officials on Monday after the letter was received by Julian. Making the trip today for the afternoon meeting are School Supt. Robert Hughes, Asst. Supt. of Instruction Theodore D. Dagg, School Board Chairman William Kroll, School Board Co-Chairman Roland Williams and Julian.

Equipped with additional maps and sketches further explaining the zoning proposal, Julian admitted that the trip would be an attempt to "make sure federal attorneys understand what the proposal calls for and that school board members had approved what they felt is the best plan possible."

BATTLING BRUSH FIRES

Eastern Seminole County residents wait anxiously along the roadside (top photo) for word on whether they will have to evacuate their homes in the face of wind-driven flames which burned more than 1,000 acres of woodlands Wednesday. Casselberry firemen Marshall Shaul Jr. (middle photo, left) and Tom Berrios take a breather before returning to battle the flames. At right, a road leading into the fire area is blocked as firefighters await additional equipment to throw into the fire fight.

1,000 Acres Burn

Brush Fires Hit County

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Two major brush fires roared across eastern Seminole County Wednesday, burning more than 1,000 acres of parched woodlands, threatening homes, forcing evacuations, and throwing a smoky blanket over the area before being brought under control this morning.

There were no injuries reported. However, an unknown amount of livestock — pigs, chicken, and cattle — were lost in the fire. Flames crept dangerously close to more than 40 homes, but only two unoccupied trailers and several wooden sheds and animal pens were destroyed. No dollar estimate of the damage had been compiled as of this morning.

The cause of the fires is unknown. Twenty county firefighters, reinforced by crews from surrounding municipalities, began battling the first of the two blazes around 10:05 a.m. in the area bounded by State Road 320 and Carrigan Avenue near the Iron Bridge sewage treatment facility south of Oviedo.

Nearly 300 acres were charred before the fire was brought under control around 3 p.m. No homes were threatened.

As firemen fought that blaze, a second sprang up in the area off State Road 46 and Mullet Lake Road around 1:13 p.m. — 13:13 in firemen's parlance.

"Now I know why it was so bad," cracked Seminole Battalion Chief Bill Kinley. "We had a double whammy put on us — double 13s."

Kinley said this morning's rain will help dampen volatile fire conditions, "but we're going to need a day or two of steady rain to really help," he said. "Things are so dry the whole county is a tinderbox."

The fire began on the south side of S.R. 46, but because of shifting winds kept leaping back and forth across the highway with as many as 50 firefighters and 14 vehicles trying to keep up.

Kinley said last week's wreck of a 5,000-gallon water tanker hampered firefighting efforts, "but we made out O.K. We had to call in more engines than we normally would have needed. We had two portable pumps and a pond available so water supply was really no problem," he said.

"But if we hadn't had that and if there had been other fires in the county we needed to send those extra trucks to, we would have been in trouble."

They had enough trouble as it was. About 30 families in the Perch and Russel Cove roads area had to be evacuated when the wind-driven flames could not be contained. Several residents refused to abandon their homes and used garden hoses to fend off the fire.

Firefighters, too, came perilously close to being trapped by the spreading flames. Witness one radio exchange between two crews in the heart of the blaze:

"Fire is burning across your only route of escape. You want us to extinguish?"

Came the calm but quick reply, "That would help."

A pair of bulldozers from the state Forestry Division, directed from the air by a spotter plane, were called in to try and cut off the flames by plowing firebreaks around the burning area. However, steady winds and dry conditions born of months of sub-normal rainfall resulted in 768 acres being blackened before the fire was extinguished.

At one point, smoke became so thick that visibility was reduced to 10 feet, prompting the sheriff's office to block off a six-mile stretch of S.R. 46 from the St. Johns River to Geneva. Traffic was rerouted through Oviedo.

County fire units worked well into the night to control the blaze, putting out one fire only to find that another had cropped up nearby. Crews were still in the area this morning checking for smoldering hot spots.

The fire disrupted electric service to about 1,800 residents in the Geneva-Chuluota area around 8:30 p.m. when a power pole burned, causing a main feeder line to drop and short circuit. Service was completely restored about 9:15 p.m., according to a Florida Power and Light spokesman.

Flames also burned 3,000 feet of telephone line in the Geneva area, cutting off phone service to 30-40 customers. A Southern Bell official said installation of new cable should be completed today.

Seminole was not the only county hit Wednesday by wildfires. Blazes in Volusia and Flagler counties threw up a dense cloud of smoke around 4 p.m., causing the Florida Highway Patrol to close a 35-mile stretch of Interstate 95 from just north of Daytona Beach to the intersection with U.S. Highway 1 west of St. Augustine.

Activities Said Too Political

Court: Unification Church Not Tax-Exempt

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Unification Church lost an appeal Tuesday of a city decision refusing to grant tax-exempt status to three church-owned buildings.

In a 4-1 decision, the Appellate Division of the state Supreme Court ruled that the city Tax Commission acted properly in rejecting the church's request for tax-exempt status on the buildings.

The city claimed that the church's primary purpose is political, not religious, and that the buildings involved were not used for primarily religious purposes.

The church argued that the referee, Donald Diamond, made an "impermissible analysis of the creed and belief" of the unification church, and that he had incorrectly found the church's religious purpose is "intertwined with political and economic objectives."

In addition, the church claimed other religious organizations won tax exemptions despite their political and business activities.

In rejecting the church's arguments, Justice Harold Birns, writing for the majority, said: "A recapitulation of the evidence supports a finding that the non-religious activities are not merely incidental or peripheral to a primary religious purpose, but are integral, inextricable and equally important as the religious activities to the mission of the Unification Church."

Among the political activities cited by the referee were the church's participation in a mass rally in Washington, D.C., in support of former President Richard Nixon at the time of his impeachment hearings and a training program to indoctrinate church leadership with respect to political issues.

Diamond said the church maintained an office in Washington for political purposes and used its affiliations to oppose legislation and stage anti-Communist and other political rallies.

Functional Literacy Flunks In Court

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington said today he is confident the state can convince a federal judge that Florida's functional literacy test is fair to all students.

Turlington said a 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals panel in Atlanta that found the literacy exam for high school students to be "potentially discriminatory" was not saying in fact that the test was unfair.

The three-judge panel ordered Florida to convince U.S. District Judge George C. Carr in Tampa that material covered by the test actually is taught in the classroom and Turlington said he would be able to do so.

"We want to be sure today's 10th graders are on notice that this decision doesn't mean they can't get a diploma without passing the test," Turlington said during a news conference. "We think it is a fair test and we think we can prove it."

Carr prohibited the state from enforcing the diploma requirement in June 1979 as the Legislature intended, saying the state should wait until June of 1983 so that blacks who might have gotten an inferior education from the old dual school system would not have to meet the requirements.

The appeals court agreed that the delay ordered by Carr was proper, but said the state must address the question of classroom preparation for the examine before the new deadline can be followed.

"The court did not say we don't have a fair test ... but it said we must establish curriculum validity," Turlington said. "That suits us, we get a good review and the people of this state will know we are working hard and we mean business."

The ruling came in a class action suit brought by a legal aid group on behalf of Tampa Bay area blacks who failed the exam, supposed to measure 9th grade level reading, writing and computation skills.

Most blacks taking the exam failed it when it first was given in 1977.

Carr had found the testing concept constitutional, but he enjoined the state from requiring its passage for a diploma until 1983 to make sure black youths weren't still suffering from the vestiges of the old dual school system.

The appeals court agreed that imposing the testing requirement on blacks now was unfair, but it went further, saying the state must prove that the exam as presently constructed doesn't discriminate against all youths.

Sanford Zoning Board To Consider Warehouse

The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission at its 7 p.m. meeting today will consider a site plan for a 32,000 square foot warehouse to be built by Jones Electric.

Construction of the $400,000 facility is to begin within 30 days on a parcel at the southeast corner of Cornwall Road and Sanford Avenue, said Gerald Jones, vice president of the firm.

He said today the building is expected to be completed by late August or early September. The firm, which currently employs 14 persons, expects to add six to eight new employees within six months of construction completion, Jones said.

The firm to celebrate its 25th anniversary in business in Sanford June 2 will also move its business office from 401 S. Laurel to the new structure, Jones said.

The planning and zoning commission today will also consider:

— A revised site plan for Sanford Villas at 1001 Celery Ave.

— A final plat of 265 lots at Groveview Village, first addition.

— A request for an extension of the conditional use to assemble and package at the Kathleen Anderson Comprehensive Workshop at 413 S. Sanford Ave.

— A site plan for the 144-unit condominium to be constructed on a tract west of U.S. 17-92 and Fulton Street by Tom Rucker of Altamonte Springs.—DONNA ESTES

Hot Stuff Makes Wife Shoot Husband

MIAMI (UPI) — Bert Koota, 65, and his wife, Shirley, 62, went to a pistol range to learn how to use their new .22 automatic. It didn't work out very well.

In the middle of the lesson, Mrs. Koota squeezed off a round and the hot cartridge flew from the chamber of the pistol down the front of her dress.

It startled her so much she whirled around and shot her husband in the leg.

Koota was taken to a local hospital, police reported Wednesday. They said his condition was not serious.

WORLD IN BRIEF

U.S., Soviets Both Trying To Avert Mideast War

United Press International
U.S. presidential envoy Philip Habib headed to Syria today in a diplomatic effort by the superpowers to avert a military showdown over Syrian anti-aircraft missiles in Lebanon that Israel wants removed "one way or another."
Habib, a veteran diplomat called out of retirement by President Reagan to head off a Syria-Israel war, was to arrive late today in Damascus, where Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Korniyenko arrived Wednesday.
Heavy fighting erupted in the Lebanese capital of Beirut Wednesday after nine days of relative quiet and Beirut Radio said Israel installed new heavy artillery in southern Lebanon while its helicopters and military planes flew over the area late Wednesday dropping flares.
Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, in an interview published Wednesday in Israel, called the missile crisis "very grave" but solvable without intervention by the United States or the Soviet Union.
Diplomatic sources said Moscow, a close ally of Damascus, was also trying to persuade Syria to reduce tension with Israel, but there was no official work on talks with the Soviet official.

Sands Buried With Honors

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Bobby Sands went to his grave today with full military honors from his IRA companions and an appeal for peace from his parish priest. But death returned to Belfast's streets even before his funeral.
Two men were killed, one from a sniper's bullet and the other from his own bomb around midnight, hours before tens of thousands gathered for Sands' long funeral march.
The Rev. Liam Mullen, conducting the Requiem mass for Sands at St. Luke's church, opened only six weeks ago near the Sands' family home, delivered a desperate appeal for a solution to Northern Ireland's ancient strife.
"It can only be done by people getting together," Mullen said.

Bomb Mars Israel Festivities

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israel celebrated its 33rd birthday today but the festering crisis over Syrian SAM-4 missiles in Lebanon overshadowed the festivities.
A police demolition expert was hospitalized for shock when a bomb exploded at a crowded picnic grounds in the southern town of Dimona. Police said a second device was found and dismantled. No other injuries were reported.
Throughout the country, thousands of Israelis crowded national parks and the seashore amid ominous warnings by Prime Minister Menachem Begin that "we will do what we have to" to force Syria to withdraw its Soviet-made missiles from Lebanon.
Thousands of police, border volunteers were positioned throughout the country Wednesday to guard against possible Palestinian guerrilla strikes during the independence day festivities.

...School Officials To D.C.

suggest that officials re-examine the alternate plans which were rejected in late February, Dougherty did urge the board to "reconsider all the options which may be available to it."
He said: "Along this line, we note that it appears that some sort of east-west, rather than north-south, division of the northern portion of the county would produce a greater degree of desegregation at the new Lake Mary high school without the necessity of transporting all or virtually all the school's black students in from outside a contiguous attendance zone."

The $14 million Lake Mary facility will house 903 students if the doors open this fall. Only 19.7 percent of the enrollment will be black, according to current zoning plans.

School officials already have indicated if the Justice Department refuses to allow the current zoning plans, the new school probably will be opened anyway, and the matter may end up in the courts.

$3,015 Burglary At Ex-Commissioner's Home

Former Seminole County Commissioner Robert French of 643 Lake Kathryn Circle, Casselberry, came home Wednesday afternoon to discover someone had entered his residence and stolen jewelry, coins and sterling silver teaspoons. The goods had a combine value of $3,015. There were no signs of entry, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

THEFT BY FRAUD
James Michael Steerman, 40, of 5436 Justlene Way, Orlando, was arrested at 8:33 p.m., Wednesday at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department and charged with grand theft by fraud of $9,817.14. Steerman was charged with padding the company books of a previous employer in Seminole County and writing bad checks to that company.

STOLEN PROPERTY CHARGE
Terry Lee Manning, 24, of 5 Skylark West, Apopka, was arrested at 9:57 p.m. Wednesday night at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department on a charge of dealing in stolen property. He was jailed at the Seminole County Corrections Facility on a bond of $5,250 for allegedly buying two tires and rims valued at $300 for $30, knowing they were stolen, and later selling them for $60.

CARDINAL THEFTS CLEARED
Steven Michael Zaccour, 22, of 546 Plumosa Drive, Sanford, was arrested at 9:10 a.m., Wednesday, and placed in Seminole County Jail on a bond of $5,250, charged with dealing in stolen goods.

Zaccour is accused of several thefts that occurred at Cardinal Industries at 3701 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford, between October 1980, and February, 1981. Several stolen nail guns were pawned at a local pawn shop.

MAN CHARGED IN BURGLARY
James Allen Pattison, 21, of 125 Birchwood Drive, Maitland, was arrested today at 3:30 a.m. and charged with burglary of an unoccupied building.

Seminole County Deputy Allan McCormick was responding to an alarm that had gone off at Spartan Drive Shop & Go in Fern Park, when he spotted a man coming out the front door carrying several six-packs of beer. When ordered to halt, the suspect ran around the building, but was later found lying behind a utility enclosure on the west side of Benny's Pizzeria. Pattison's bond was set at $3,250.

Court Reverses Death Sentence

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court today continued its crackdown on delinquent death penalty appeals and reversed the death sentence of an Orlando man convicted of stalking and killing his employer.

Chief Justice Alan Sundberg, as part of a continuing effort to speed the lengthy appeals of death penalty cases, issued an administrative order which set new guidelines on the filing of appellant briefs.

Though the new guidelines actually double the time period for the filing of the initial appellant brief, the order is expected to speed the process because Sundberg instructed the chief judge in each judicial district "to monitor" the preparation of the case.

Though the order made no mention of public defenders, it was apparent that the order was a continuation of a ruling last week by the Supreme Court to force the defense attorneys to be more prompt in filing their briefs.

Bookmobile Due Back

The Seminole County Library bookmobile, out of commission since it was damaged in an accident at the county's building maintenance shop on April 22, should be back in operation the first of the week.

Marvin Van Wormer, chief mechanic of the county's fire apparatus maintenance, said the bookmobile was damaged while it was being moved at the garage at the county's building maintenance unit at Five Points in South Sanford.

A worker hit an overhanging roof with the vehicle. Van Wormer said a hole was knocked in the right front corner of the vehicle's roof in the accident. He estimated cost of the parts to repair the bookmobile at about $300. It had been taken to the county shop for an air-conditioner filter to be changed.

"We have to put a patch in the roof. Fiberglass pieces had to be made and shipped to us," Van Wormer said.

Meanwhile, extermination for termites and other vermin has been scheduled at the Sanford branch library from May 23-25. The facility and the bookdrop will not be open for public use during those days, said Betty Flippen, administrative assistant for the library service.

Mrs. Flippen said there will be no overdue fees for books due during those days.

Says He 'Joined The Poor'

Missing U.S. Priest Surfaces

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — An American priest who vanished 11 days ago walked into the U.S. Embassy in "excellent physical shape," saying he went underground to "talk to the poor," an embassy spokesman said.
Embassy spokesman Howard Lane said Roy Bourgeois, 42, a Maryknoll priest, surfaced at the American embassy in San Salvador Wednesday afternoon shortly after hand-delivering a message to UPI explaining the motives for his disappearance.
Bourgeois told U.S. officials he had disappeared from his downtown San Salvador hotel "so that he could talk to the poor" and that he had given the same information to a UPI correspondent

earlier in the day, Lane said.
The correspondent was summoned to a clandestine meeting in downtown San Salvador, where a man he later identified as Bourgeois handed him a letter.
"Just say it came from the FMLN," the correspondent quoted Bourgeois as saying. FMLN is the Spanish acronym for the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, a coalition of four guerrilla groups fighting to overthrow the U.S.-backed military-civilian junta.
"After much reflection and prayer, I have decided to join the poor of El Salvador in their struggle for justice and peace," said the hand-written letter, which was attached to a Spanish translation.

"While I recognize the armed struggle of the Salvadoran people is justified, I personally cannot and will not bear arms."
"It hurts me deeply to know that my country, the United States, is supplying military advisers and arms to a repressive military dictatorship at war with its own people."
"We need rice and beans — not guns," concluded the letter, which was signed "Roy Bourgeois, Christian."
Bourgeois, who went to El Salvador as an interpreter for Chicago-based WBBM television news crew, disappeared April 26 after leaving his hotel to buy medicine for a stomach ailment. He was presumed a victim of the political violence.

Spanish Terrorists' Bomb Attack Kills 3

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — A half-hour after the bomb attack, as angry right-wing extremists marched on army headquarters shouting for the military to take power, police detained two youths thought to be the assassins.

But the two were released after questioning. Police with dogs and helicopter support combed the Retiro Park behind the Prado Museum where the bombers' motorcycle was found abandoned.

Police sources said the attack bore the trademarks of the Basque separatist organization ETA (Basque Land and Liberty), not the communist radicals who attacked in Madrid and Barcelona Monday, killing four people.

Eyewitnesses to the rush-hour attack said two youths completely dressed in black and riding a black motorcycle drew level with the official car carrying the king's aide, Gen. Joaquin Valenzuela, as it slowed at a red traffic light.

The eyewitnesses said one of the riders placed a bomb wrapped in a plastic shopping bag on the roof of the car as his companion accelerated away. The bomb exploded, shattering the car and windows in shops nearby.

Police originally said Valenzuela, 69, died in the blast together with his aide

Col. Guillermo Tevar, 34, his driver and an escort soldier. All three were believed to belong to the royal household, whose military head is Gen. Valenzuela.

But doctors at Madrid's provincial hospital said the general reached the hospital alive and underwent emergency surgery for extensive wounds. They said his life was not in danger.

IN BRIEF

Frank Fitzsimmons' Death Unlikely To Bring Change

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The death of Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, a protégé of James Hoffa, is not expected by reformers to bring immediate change to the nation's largest union, a frequent target of investigations of organized crime.

Fitzsimmons, 73, died Wednesday at the Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, Calif., following a long battle with lung cancer. Funeral plans were not immediately announced.

Later Wednesday, Teamster officials assembled at union headquarters to begin the process of picking a successor.

The man who has emerged as the top contender — Vice President Roy L. Williams of Kansas City — refused last August to answer questions from a Senate investigating committee on alleged ties with organized crime figures; has been indicted three times on union-connected charges, but never convicted, and is being sued by the government for alleged mismanagement of union pension funds.

George Mock of Sacramento, Calif., the union's first vice president, automatically became president upon Fitzsimmons' death. The union constitution requires him to call a special meeting of the General Executive Board within 10 days to pick a new leader pending election by a convention.

The union's regular convention is scheduled for June 15 in Las Vegas.

Ships Won't Be Unloaded

United Press International
The International Longshoremen Association refused to unload British-owned ships to mark today's burial of "Irish patriot" Bobby Sands.

Longshoremen from Puerto Rico to the Great Lakes joined in the one-day boycott against Britain. Sands died Tuesday on the 66th day of his hunger strike to gain political status for Irish Republican Army prisoners.

New York City bus drivers also here urged by union leaders to keep their headlights on all day today to observe Sands' funeral. British tourist offices here surrounded by protesters and plans here under way for an official tourism boycott.

Alarm Issued For Youth

ATLANTA (UPI) — A general alarm was issued today for Eric Thompson, a 14-year-old who physically resembles many of the 26 young Atlanta blacks who have been found slain during the last 21 months.

The general alarm, used earlier this week to locate a missing black deaf mute, has been described by police as "a beefed up search" that involves an all-out canvass of the missing person's home neighborhood and usual haunts.

Thompson dropped from sight Tuesday and was reported missing Wednesday by a caseworker at the Challenge School, which offers special classes for problem youths. At least two of the victims have been enrolled in the program.

Strike Hits New York Times

NEW YORK (UPI)— The Newspaper Guild today rejected a last-minute management proposal and went out on strike against the New York Times.

The 3,600-member union, which represents editorial, advertising and circulation personnel, called the walkout at 6:30 a.m. after delaying the action for a half hour to consider the proposal.

Federal mediator Robert Kyler asked both sides to return to the bargaining table immediately.

The Times, with a daily circulation of 900,000, said it would try to publish its Friday editions without the Guild.

The Times and the New York Daily News, which are bargaining jointly with the Guild, presented the new proposal at 3:15 a.m.

Reagan, Suzuki Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Reagan will try his hand at charming Japan's Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki during key talks U. S. officials predict will be "harmonious."

U. S. officials said the talks would be "harmonious," despite frictions arising from such issues as Japanese car sales in the United States, the lifting of the Soviet grain embargo, the hit-and-run sinking of a Japanese freighter by a U. S. submarine and Japan's contribution to its own and Pacific regional defense.

A senior administration official said, "There are no clouds on the horizon."

Budget Victory Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Reagan is on the verge of winning his first big fight with House Democratic leaders — with only a vote required to seal a major victory for his austerity budget.

Even Democratic leaders said Reagan would win the vote set for today. Reagan's supporters predicted a landslide, with late converts jumping over the winning side.

Coal Miner Talks Resume

United Press International
Roving pickets hurled rocks and bottles at convoys hauling non-union coal in eastern Kentucky on the eve of today's new contract talks aimed at ending a 6-week-old strike by the United Mine Workers.

The negotiations in Washington mark the first break in an impasse of nearly three weeks in efforts to produce a contract for 160,000 miners on strike across the country.

But It's Not Enough

Rain Hits S. Florida

By United Press International
Light rain fell on parts of parched south Florida today, but it was expected to have little impact on the worst drought to hit the southern half of the peninsula in 10 years.

A light shower fell on Miami and light rain was reported in Fort Lauderdale, but on the other side of the peninsula, Fort Myers was covered by fair skies.

Predictions Wednesday night were for a 50-70 percent chance of rain, depending on location, but those forecasts fell to 30 percent by morning. Also, earlier hopes for as much as an inch or more of rainfall in proved false in most areas.

"Overall, it's not a situation where the area gets a lot of rain," said forecaster Glen Taylor. "There appears to be one or two heavier showers, but the heaviest is in the upper Keys."

He said the rain is coming from a low pressure trough that is drifting from west to east. He said most of the rain will move out over the Atlantic Ocean after today.

The drought, worst since the record dry spell of 1971, has already brought salt water intrusion into Bradenton's fresh water supply; a mandatory 10 percent cutback in supplies to the southeast Florida Gold Coast, and a call for a voluntary 20 percent cutback in the 16 west and central Florida counties lying in the Southwest Florida Water Management District.

The parched Everglades erupted in flame Wednesday afternoon along the Tamiami Trail (U.S. 41) connecting Miami and Naples.

First Hurricane Forms

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Arlene formed today in the northwestern Caribbean Sea and aimed its 45-mile-an-hour winds at eastern Cuba, the National Hurricane Center said.

The year's first named storm formed 26 days before the official beginning of the hurricane season and forecasters said they were caught by surprise. Officials were considering bringing in forecasters from vacation, because they were caught short-handed.

At noon, Arlene was centered near latitude 19.5 north, longitude 79.8 west, or about 25 miles south of Cayman Brac in the Cayman islands. It was moving toward the east-northeast about 12 miles an hour.

"The center of the storm is expected to pass over eastern Cuba tonight and emerge into the Atlantic Friday," said forecaster John Hope in a noon advisory.

He said highest sustained winds were estimated at 45 miles an hour and "some further strengthening is likely before the center reaches eastern Cuba tonight."

Hope said he expected the storm to weaken as it crosses eastern Cuba.

Heavy rains are likely over central and eastern Cuba and portions of Jamaica.

Town Rallies Behind Fugitive

MYRTLE, Miss. (UPI) — Folks in Myrtle think George Hacker as a quiet, friendly man who never eats without saying grace, takes an interest in their problems and "has a calming effect on people." The FBI says he is a killer on the 10 Most Wanted list.

Authorities say "Hacker" actually is Charles Everett Hughes, accused of calmly killing four people in Florida when they stumbled onto his drug-running operation one night in 1977, weighting their bodies with concrete blocks and dropping them into a sinkhole.

Hughes, 36, one of the bureau's 10 Most Wanted fugitives, was arrested last week in Myrtle, a town of 300 people and extradited to Panama City, Fla., to face the murder charges.

"I don't think he was capable of the things they said he did," said Opal Hudson, who runs the Take Five cafe in Myrtle. "In my personal view, he was a good person. We knew George Hacker — this Charles Hughes is somebody I don't know."

A lot of people in Myrtle agree and they have raised over $2,000 to help in Hacker's defense and ordered a gross of T-shirts featuring his handsome visage and the words "We're Still With You."

A bake sale, rummage sale and pool tournament also were held to raise money, and some local youngsters are mowing lawns and donating part of their allowance to the fund.

During the six months Hughes lived in Myrtle, he made a lot of friends.

Gerald Nolan, who trusted Hughes enough to take him on as a partner in his body shop, describes him as "a real good worker."

Andy Anderson, 70, a man Hughes lived with and took care of for a week before being arrested, said the fugitive never ate without saying grace and was "the answer to a prayer."

Not all the town's residents are supporting Hacker. Randolph Goode, who operates a service station, said he would not contribute to the defense fund.

"I don't know the man and don't have anything against him, but I figure that anybody who has an alias has had to jump the branch somewhere," he said. "I think it's just hard to back a man that would do that and the other things they say he did."

WORLD IN BRIEF

U.S., Soviets Both Trying To Avert Mideast War

United Press International

U.S. presidential envoy Philip Habib headed to Syria today in a diplomatic effort by the superpowers to avert a military showdown over Syrian anti-aircraft missiles in Lebanon that Israel wants removed "one way or another."

Habib, a veteran diplomat called out of retirement by President Reagan to head off a Syria-Israel war, was to arrive late today in Damascus, where Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Korniyenko arrived Wednesday.

Heavy fighting erupted in the Lebanese capital of Beirut Wednesday after nine days of relative quiet and Beirut Radio said Israel installed new heavy artillery in southern Lebanon while its helicopters and military planes flew over the area late Wednesday dropping flares.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, in an interview published Wednesday in Israel, called the missile crisis "very grave" but solvable without intervention by the United States or the Soviet Union.

Diplomatic sources said Moscow, a close ally of Damascus, was also trying to persuade Syria to reduce tension with Israel, but there was no official work on talks with the Soviet official.

Sands Buried With Honors

BEIFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Bobby Sands went to his grave today with full military honors from his IRA companions and an appeal for peace from his parish priest. But death returned to Belfast's streets even before his funeral.

Two men were killed, one from a sniper's bullet and the other from his own bomb around midnight, hours before tens of thousands gathered for Sand's long funeral march.

The Rev. Liam Mullen, conducting the Requiem mass for Sands at St. Luke's church, opened only six weeks ago near the Sands' family home, delivered a desperate appeal for a solution to Northern Ireland's ancient strife.

"It can only be done by people getting together," Mullen said.

Bomb Mars Israel Festivities

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israel celebrated its 33rd birthday today but the festering crisis over Syrian SAM-4 missiles in Lebanon overshadowed the festivities.

A police demolition expert was hospitalized for shock when a bomb exploded at a crowded picnic grounds in the southern town of Dimona. Police said a second device was found and dismantled. No other injuries were reported.

Throughout the country, thousands of Israelis crowded national parks and the seashore amid ominous warnings by Prime Minister Menachem Begin that "we will do what we have to" to force Syria to withdraw its Soviet-made missiles from Lebanon.

Thousands of police, border volunteers were positioned throughout the country Wednesday to guard against possible Palestinian guerrilla strikes during the independence day festivities.

...School Officials To D.C.

suggest that officials re-examine the alternate plans which were rejected in late February, Dougherty did urge the board to "reconsider all the options which may be available to it."

He said: "Along this line, we note that it appears that some sort of east-west, rather than north-south, division of the northern portion of the county would produce a greater degree of desegregation at the new Lake Mary high school without the necessity of transporting all or virtually all the school's black students in from outside a contiguous attendance zone."

The $14 million Lake Mary facility will house 903 students if the doors open this fall. Only 19.7 percent of the enrollment will be black, according to current zoning plans.

School officials already have indicated if the Justice Department refuses to allow the current zoning plans, the new school probably will be opened anyway, and the matter may end up in the courts.

$3,015 Burglary At Ex-Commissioner's Home

Former Seminole County Commissioner Robert French of 643 Lake Kathryn Circle, Casselberry, came home Wednesday afternoon to discover someone had entered his residence and stolen jewelry, coins and sterling silver teaspoons. The goods had a combine value of $3,015. There were no signs of forced entry, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

THEFT BY FRAUD

James Michael Steerman, 40, of 5436 Justine Way, Orlando, was arrested at 8:33 p.m., Wednesday at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department on a charge of grand theft by fraud of $9,817.14. Steerman was charged with padding the company books of a previous employer in Seminole County and writing bad checks to that company.

STOLEN PROPERTY CHARGE

Terry Lee Manning, 24, of 5 Skylark West, Apopka, was arrested at 9:57 p.m. Wednesday night at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department on a charge of dealing in stolen property. He was jailed at the Seminole County Corrections Facility on a bond of $5,250 for allegedly buying two tires and rims valued at $300 for $30, knowing they were stolen, and later selling them for $60.

CARDINAL THEFTS CLEARED

Steven Michael Zaccour, 22, of 548 Plumosa Drive, Sanford, was arrested at 9:10 a.m., Wednesday, and placed in Seminole County Jail on a bond of $5,250, charged with dealing in stolen goods.

Court Reverses Death Sentence

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court today continued its crackdown on delinquent death penalty appeals and reversed the death sentence of an Orlando man convicted of stalking and killing his employer.

Chief Justice Alan Sundberg, as part of a continuing effort to speed the lengthy appeals of death penalty cases, issued an administrative order which set new guidelines on the filing of appellant briefs.

Though the new guidelines actually double the time period for the filing of the initial appellant brief, the order is expected to speed the process because Sundberg instructed the chief judge in each judicial district "to monitor" the preparation of the case.

Though the order made no mention of public defenders, it was apparent that the order was a continuation of a ruling last week by the Supreme Court to force the defense attorneys to be more prompt in filing their briefs.

Bookmobile Due Back

The Seminole County Library bookmobile, out of commission since it was damaged in an accident at the county's building maintenance shop on April 22, should be back in operation the first of the week.

Marvin Van Wormer, chief mechanic of the county's fire apparatus maintenance, said the bookmobile was damaged while it was being moved at the garage at the county's building maintenance unit at Five Points in South Sanford.

A worker hit an overhanging roof with the vehicle. Van Wormer said a hole was knocked in the right front corner of the vehicle's roof in the accident. He estimated cost of the parts to repair the bookmobile at about $300. It had been taken to the county shop for an air-conditioner filter to be changed.

"We have to put a patch in the roof. Fiberglass pieces had to be made and shipped to us," Van Wormer said.

Meanwhile, extermination for termites and other vermin has been scheduled at the Sanford branch library from May 23-25. The facility and the bookdrop will not be open for public use during those days, said Betty Flippen, administrative assistant for the library service.

Mrs. Flippen said there will be no overdue fees for books due during those days.

Says He 'Joined The Poor'

Missing U.S. Priest Surfaces

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI)

— An American priest who vanished 11 days ago walked into the U.S. Embassy in "excellent physical shape," saying he went underground to "talk to the poor," an embassy spokesman said.

Embassy spokesman Howard Lane said Roy Bourgeois, 42, a Maryknoll priest, surfaced at the American embassy in San Salvador Wednesday afternoon shortly after hand-delivering a message to UPI explaining the motives for his disappearance.

Bourgeois told U.S. officials he had disappeared from his downtown San Salvador hotel "so that he could talk to the poor" and that he had given the same information to a UPI correspondent

earlier in the day, Lane said.

The correspondent was summoned to a clandestine meeting in downtown San Salvador, where a man he later identified as Bourgeois handed him a letter.

"Just say it came from the FMLN," the correspondent quoted Bourgeois as saying. FMLN is the Spanish acronym for the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, a coalition of four guerrilla groups fighting to overthrow the U.S.-backed military-civilian junta.

"After much reflection and prayer, I have decided to join the poor of El Salvador in their struggle for justice and peace," said the hand-written letter, which was attached to a Spanish translation.

"While I recognize the armed struggle of the Salvadoran people is justified, I personally cannot and will not bear arms."

"It hurts me deeply to know that my country, the United States, is supplying military advisers and arms to a repressive military dictatorship at war with its own people."

"We need rice and beans — not guns," concluded the letter, which was signed "Roy Bourgeois, Christian."

Bourgeois, who went to El Salvador as an interpreter for Chicago-based WBBM television news crew, disappeared April 26 after leaving his hotel to buy medicine for a stomach ailment. He was presumed a victim of the political violence.

Spanish Terrorists' Bomb Attack Kills 3

MADRID, Spain (UPI) —

A half-hour after the bomb attack, as angry right-wing extremists marched on army headquarters shouting for the military to take power, police detained two youths thought to be the assassins.

But the two were released after questioning. Police with dogs and helicopter support combed the Retiro Park behind the Prado Museum where the bombers' motorcycle was found abandoned.

Police sources said the attack bore the trademarks of the Basque separatist organization ETA (Basque Land and Liberty), not the communist radicals who attacked in Madrid and Barcelona Monday, killing four people.

Eyewitnesses to the rush-hour attack said two youths completely dressed in black and riding a black motorcycle drew level with the official car carrying the king's aide, Gen. Joaquin Valenzuela, as it slowed at a red traffic light.

The eyewitnesses said one of the riders placed a bomb wrapped in a plastic shopping bag on the roof of the car as his companion accelerated away. The bomb exploded, shattering the car and windows in shops nearby.

Police originally said Valenzuela, 69, died in the blast together with his aide

Col. Guillermo Tevar, 54, his driver and an escort soldier. All three were believed to belong to the royal household, whose military head is Gen. Valenzuela.

But doctors at Madrid's provincial hospital said the general reached the hospital alive and underwent emergency surgery for extensive wounds. They said his life was not in danger.

MAN CHARGED IN BURGLARY

James Allen Pattison, 21, of 125 Birchwood Drive, Maitland, was arrested today at 3:50 a.m. and charged with burglary of an unoccupied building.

Seminole County Deputy Allan McCormick was responding to an alarm that had gone off at Spartan Drive Shop & Go in Fern Park, when he spotted a man coming out the front door carrying several six-packs of beer. When ordered to halt, the suspect ran around the building, but was later found lying behind a utility enclosure on the west side of Benny's Pizzeria. Pattison's bond was set at $5,250.

NATION IN BRIEF

Frank Fitzsimmons' Death Unlikely To Bring Change

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The death of Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, a protégé of James Hoffa, is not expected by reformers to bring immediate change to the nation's largest union, a frequent target of investigations of organized crime.

Fitzsimmons, 73, died Wednesday at the Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, Calif., following a long battle with lung cancer. Funeral plans were not immediately announced.

Later Wednesday, Teamster officials assembled at union headquarters to begin the process of picking a successor.

The man who has emerged as the top contender — Vice President Roy L. Williams of Kansas City — refused last August to answer questions from a Senate investigating committee on alleged ties with organized crime figures; has been indicted three times on union-connected charges, but never convicted, and is being sued by the government for alleged mismanagement of union pension funds.

George Mock of Sacramento, Calif., the union's first vice president, automatically became president upon Fitzsimmons' death. The union constitution requires him to call a special meeting of the General Executive Board within 10 days to pick a new leader pending election by a convention.

The union's regular convention is scheduled for June 1-5 in Las Vegas.

Ships Won't Be Unloaded

The International Longshoremen Association refused to unload British-owned ships to mark today's burial of "Irish patriot" Bobby Sands.

Longshoremen from Puerto Rico to the Great Lakes joined in the one-day boycott against Britain. Sands died Tuesday on the 66th day of his hunger strike to gain political status for Irish Republican Army prisoners.

New York City bus drivers also here urged by union leaders to keep their headlights on all day today to observe Sands' funeral. British tourist offices here surrounded by protesters and plans here under way for an official tourism boycott.

Alarm Issued For Youth

ATLANTA (UPI) — A general alarm was issued today for Eric Thompson, a 14-year-old who physically resembles many of the 26 young Atlanta blacks who have been found slain during the last 21 months.

The general alarm, used earlier this week to locate a missing black deaf mute, has been described by police as "a beefed up search" that involves an all-out canvass of the missing person's home neighborhood and usual haunts.

Thompson dropped from sight Tuesday and was reported missing Wednesday by a caseworker at the Challenge School, which offers special classes for problem youths. At least two of the victims have been enrolled in the program.

Strike Hits New York Times

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Newspaper Guild today rejected a last-minute management proposal and went out on strike against the New York Times.

The 3,000-member union, which represents editorial, advertising and circulation personnel, called the walkout at 6:30 a.m. after delaying the action for a half hour to consider the proposal.

Federal mediator Robert Kyler asked both sides to return to the bargaining table immediately.

The Times, with a daily circulation of 900,000, said it would try to publish its Friday editions without the Guild.

The Times and the New York Daily News, which are bargaining jointly with the Guild, presented the new proposal at 9:15 a.m.

Reagan, Suzuki Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan will try his hand at charming Japan's Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki during key talks U. S. officials predict will be "harmonious."

U. S. officials said the talks would be "harmonious," despite frictions arising from such issues as Japanese car sales in the United States, the lifting of the Soviet grain embargo, the hit-and-run sinking of a Japanese freighter by a U. S. submarine and Japan's contribution to its own and Pacific regional defense.

A senior administration official said, "There are no clouds on the horizon."

Budget Victory Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is on the verge of winning his first big fight with House Democratic leaders — with only a vote required to seal a major victory for his austerity budget.

Even Democratic leaders said Reagan would win the vote set for today. Reagan's supporters predicted a landslide, with late converts jumping over the winning side.

Coal Miner Talks Resume

Roving pickets hurled rocks and bottles at convoys hauling non-union coal in eastern Kentucky on the eve of today's new contract talks aimed at ending a 5-week-old strike by the United Mine Workers.

The negotiations in Washington mark the first break in an impasse of nearly three weeks in efforts to produce a contract for 160,000 miners on strike across the country.

'Ergonomics' Newest Threat

Technology provides its compensations. First it brought us the office copier, with an appetite for paper that could be felt all the way to the forests of Canada.

Now, obedient to Newton's law, comes a force in the opposite direction — electronic word-processors that should diminish the demand for paper from the stockroom.

We are told that Jimmy Carter, sitting down to write his memoirs back at Plains, did not sharpen pencils and open a ream of paper. He sat down at the keyboard of a video display terminal, or VDT, punching his words into a computerized typewriter. Instead of filling a wastebasket with rejected rough drafts, as writers do, Carter will get his prose all smoothed out in the computer before a word goes down on paper.

This puts the former president in the company of an estimated seven-million Americans who now do all or part of their work at VDTs — in banks, libraries, newspapers, airline and hotel reservation offices, government agencies and other places where words and numbers are the fodder of the day's business.

The scales of compensation tilt both ways. If the VDTs produce a savings in paperwork, they also have produced complaints from people who work with them — eyestrain and headaches or more serious symptoms. It's a relief to hear from the Food and Drug Administration that, contrary to suspicions, VDTs produce no harmful radiation that could account for this.

The trouble, says FDA, is probably "ergonomics" — the problems workers often have when new tools or working conditions are introduced. If Carter develops some aches and pains, it's because he's not used to watching his words come and go on a screen. They didn't have a VDT in the Oval Office at the White House.

Given the momentum behind this latest electronic innovation, it wouldn't surprise us if President Reagan sooner or later puts one in. After all, he says he wants to reduce government paperwork.

Manpower Needs

People support the defense buildup proposed by President Reagan, but there is little support for the military draft which may eventually be required to meet the manpower needs of the buildup.

A recent news report put the requirement over the next five years at 250,000 recruits, no easy target under the present circumstances.

The number of men in the 17-to 21-year-old group is declining and is expected to decline more rapidly in the near future. The services want to put a ceiling on the number of women in uniform, close to the present level.

If the Reagan economic program succeeds, private employment opportunities for young men may be more attractive than military pay and benefits, even after proposed military pay increases.

The draft remains intensely unpopular in America, but some form of universal military service may eventually become necessary. A peacetime draft would keep the armed services in the tradition of civilian-soldiers that we have known in wartime, a tradition that is healthy for the services and healthy for the nation. It is a tradition we do not want to lose.

The Geneva Citizens Association has given the Seminole County Health Department the use of its building for a mini-clinic on the second and fourth Fridays of the month beginning May 8. The clinic will be open 8-11 a.m. and will offer tests for diabetes and blood pressure, immunization for children and urinalysis.

The clinic will provide a much needed service for the community, which has no doctors or clinics, according to Lorraine Whiting of the citizens association.

Elected president of the Geneva Citizens Association at Monday night's meeting was Arthur Vaughn.

The city of Longwood is asking its residents to voluntarily limit their use of water on the weekends when the system is strained to capacity. Those living west of State Road 427 are asked to refrain from outdoor watering, washing cars and filling swimming pools on Sunday. Residents east of SR 427 are requested to not use water for these purposes on Saturday. "There is no water emergency at this time," said Longwood City Clerk Don Terry, "but we are asking our customers to voluntarily curtail use on the weekends because that is the period of peak use."

Congratulations to Bill Norris, who with his wife, Jean, are among Sanford's most devoted "day lily nuts." Bill won the coveted Ophelia Taylor Award last weekend at the Central Florida Hemerocallis Society's annual show for five perfect scapes (flowering stalks) from Mursion lilies.

The award is given only a few times a year in shows around the United States. Jean won the award last year.

The Deltona Volunteer Fire Department, which is hoping to recruit more volunteer firefighters, will hold an open house from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday at its Howland Boulevard

Fire Station off Elkcam Boulevard. No experience is necessary.

Because of circumstances beyond its control, the Seminole County Bookmobile has been out of service since April 23 and is expected to be out for the next two weeks. A library van is making stops to receive returned books, but will not be able to check any books out to the library patrons. Books checked out from the bookmobile can also be returned to either the Sanford or Casselberry Branch libraries. For additional information contact the Special Services Department at 338-4012, ext. 1.

The Child Evangelism Fellowship of Seminole County will sponsor a Children's Rally Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the New Life Fellowship Church at Tusawilla and Lake Drive, Casselberry. There will be contests, songs, stories, clowns, prizes, and treats.

ROBERT WALTERS

New Team, Old Beefs

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The formulation implementation of foreign policy under President Reagan's leadership is rapidly deteriorating into a misadventure whose hallmarks are indecision, confusion and contradiction.

The firm, consistent and competent foreign policy promised by the Reagan administration already has given way to abrupt and illogical policy reversals, insensitive statements that inflame delicate diplomatic situations and squabbling among some of the government's most influential officials.

Despite months of saber rattling and ominous rhetoric about confronting the menace of Soviet imperialism, the only action taken against the U.S.S.R. has been to strip its ambassador to the United States of his VIP parking privileges at the State Department garage.

On the other hand, Reagan lifted the embargo on grain shipments to the Soviet Union — originally imposed as a protest against that country's military takeover of Afghanistan — on the grounds that the U.S.S.R. had shown admirable restraint by not launching a similar invasion of Poland.

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and his most senior aides mounted an extensive propaganda operation to transform an armed struggle in the obscure Central American nation of El Salvador into a major East-West showdown.

But that elaborate operation was virtually abandoned when White House officials belatedly discovered that it was distracting public attention from the president's campaign to resolve the country's domestic economic problems.

Apparently insensitive to the widespread Latin American perception of the United States as the Western Hemisphere's leading imperialistic power, the administration ignored the option of quietly providing assistance to El Salvador's government and chose instead to ostentatiously display its shipment of military equipment and manpower to that country.

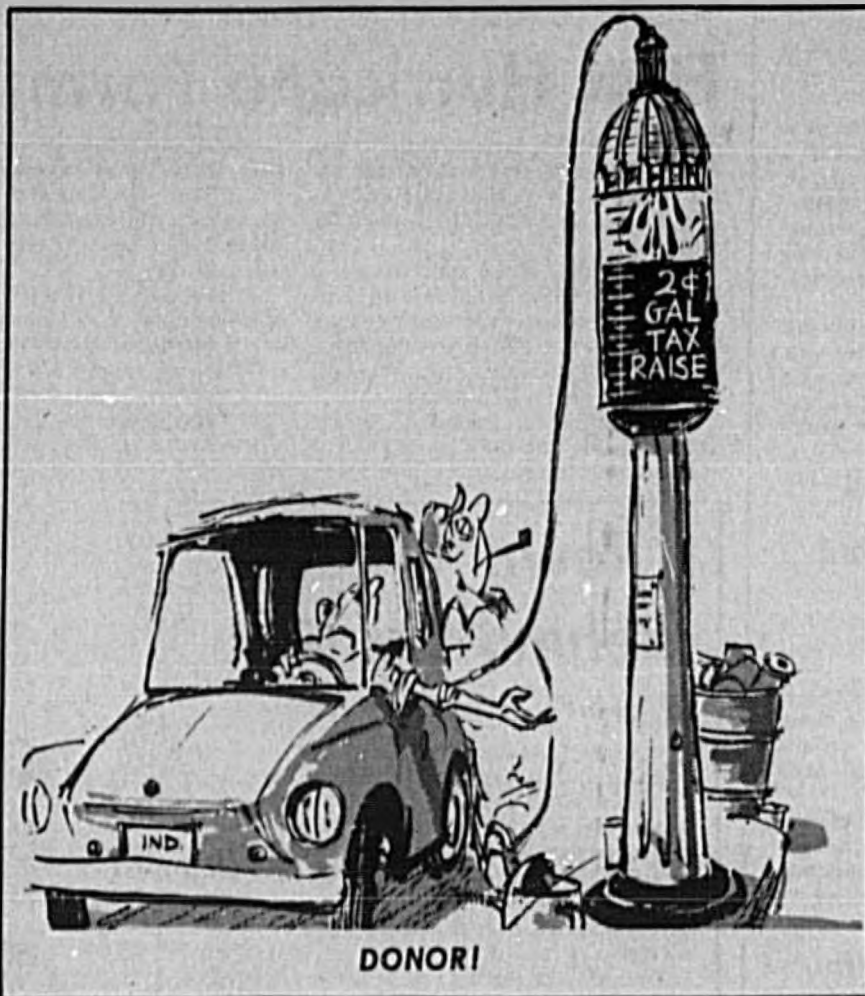

Only a few days after proclaiming its firm intention to sell highly sophisticated AWACS aircraft to Saudi Arabia, the administration realized it lacked the votes on Capitol Hill to gain the requisite congressional approval.

The Senate's Republican leader, after meeting with the president, then announced that although the proposed AWACS sale was announced in the spring, it probably wouldn't come up for a vote until the autumn.

Haig and Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger have engaged in laundry semi-feds about everything from the line of succession to the presidency to the wisdom of deploying warheads in Western Europe.

Haig, a loose cannon rolling around the deck of Reagan's ship of state, shrugged off an armed insurrection against Spain's democratic government as merely "an internal matter" then had to divert his attention from more pressing matters to patch up relations with Spain.

When Algeria played a crucial role as an intermediary in securing the release on the first day of Reagan's term, of the Americans held hostage in Iran, senior government officials claimed "we shall be forever grateful" to Algeria.

BUSINESS WORLD

Small Business Hurting

By CHARLES S. TAYLOR

ATLANTA (UPI) — Small business is becoming an endangered species with a very high fatality rate, says an Emory University business professor and researcher.

Of the 350,000-500,000 small business starts a year, "we're looking at a 50-60 percent fatality rate in the first year," said Steve Franklin of Emory's School of Business Administration.

Over a three-year period, he said, 80 to 85 percent of new small businesses fail.

"We coined the phrase 'small business endangered species' because it has such a high mortality rate."

Intrigued by the statistics, Franklin, in cooperation with chambers of commerce in four Atlanta metro counties, conducted a survey of 10,000 small businessmen with a four-page questionnaire seeking to determine what the small entrepreneur was thinking about and what his problems were.

Poor management and undercapitalization are the two big reasons for business failures, according to Franklin. He said the survey showed the external forces of inflation, taxes, government regulations and the problems of dealing with government agencies aggravated the dilemma of the small businessman.

Inflation was listed by the businessman as his No. 1 problem. Filling out the top 10, in order, were taxes, government regulations, dealing with the government, cost of supplies, paper work, federal agencies (again), labor quality, cash flow and record keeping.

"I think the first four problems say a lot. They are fed up with inflation, taxes and regulations, Franklin said. "I hope this says something to our state and federal governments."

But he said he does not agree with the small businessman who wants to blame others for all his problems.

"They want to lay off their problems on anybody but themselves," he said. "I say don't blame all of it on external factors. Don't say, 'I'd rather bitch and switch,' but try for better management, better capitalization."

The businessmen were asked who they turned to for advice and information.

Of the top 10 in that category, accountants were number one. "One of the key individuals is the accountant in the first five years of a small business," Franklin said.

Businessmen turn next to their suppliers for information and advice, and to their customers, other business people, business magazines, newspapers, trade associations, bankers, and manufacturers' representatives, in that order.

Franklin said chambers of commerce, business associations and college business professors were far down the list as sources of information and help.

He expected college business professors to be low on the list, Franklin said. "We're really not doing anything for small business. Most of our courses are oriented toward big business."

Franklin said in the business world, "it should be survival of the fittest. A lot of businesses fail because they were basket cases from the inception.

"I don't think there should be a lot of government support for small business. I have seen some absurd government loans given. There should be some curbing and containment (of government loans). They should take a much closer, tougher look at where the loans go."

Franklin said about 20-30 percent of the students in the Emory School of Business Administration probably come from families that own their own businesses. The majority of graduating students, however, don't return to the family business but start out with medium- or large-size firms.

"They are the ones who do most of the recruiting on campus," he said. "They pay the big up-front salaries."

DON GRAFF

One Year Later

What were you worrying about a year ago? Very likely the usual general and continuing problems — the inflationary discrepancy between personal income and outgo, crime American style, that sort of thing.

If you were a diplomat then, in Washington or any other major capital, you had one very specific worry: Yugoslavia.

It is a year now since Josip Broz Tito, demonstrating conclusively that extraordinary durability as a public figure is not after all the same thing as immortality, passed to his reward.

To say it was a major event of the post-war era is to underestimate the impact by several magnitudes. The deathwatch had preoccupied not only Belgrade but every major capital and a good number of minor capitals for months.

When the end finally came, May 4, the focus of the watch shifted to Yugoslavia itself. There was serious question whether the patchwork nation could long survive the loss of the leader who had held it together through political skill, force of personality and sheer determination for almost four decades.

There was the immediate concern that the Soviet Union might now move to pressure — politically and just conceivably with some of the same military muscle that was being applied in Afghanistan — the Yugoslavs back into the satellite status from which Tito had emancipated them in 1948.

There was the longer-term but equally threatening possibility that without the dominating presence of Tito to hold them together, the half-dozen nationalities that comprise Yugoslavia might disintegrate into antagonistic and unviable mini-states, in effect doing the Soviets' work for them.

Tito himself did everything one individual could to ensure that neither would eventuate. He prepared well for his departure, and for most of the past year things have gone as he planned.

Post-Tito Yugoslavia has its problems, the most pressing being economic with accelerating inflation, some shortages in consumer goods, a noticeable decline in living standards and a large foreign debt. But the collective leadership with a rotating presidency set up in 1974 functioned smoothly. There was if anything less nationality strife — or at least less heated strife — than in Tito's last years. And the Soviets — whether because of more pressing problems in Poland or because they felt they could afford to wait — laid off.

Everything was going reasonably well until this past March.

The storm broke in the least-expected quarter — the southern region of Kosovo, the most backward in Yugoslavia but the one most favored by post-war developmental efforts with highly visible results in the form of modernized cities, new industries, roads and schools.

The trouble started in the last named. Student unrest at a university escalated into rioting that spread throughout the district into a demonstration of nationalism, Albanian nationalism, Kosovo, bordering Yugoslavia's smallest but far from meekest neighbor, is the home of more than a million Albanians, who far outnumber all other elements of the population.

But don't think the Navy has been napping on the quarterdeck. Evidently alarmed at the possibility that its Fighting Flipper Force might be incapacitated by Russian jamming, the Navy has broadened its marine mammal research to include sea lions and whales.

In "Project Quick Find," sea lions were trained to locate instrument-laden missiles and other test ordnance fired into the ocean, and to attach recovery hardware to them.

And in "Project Deep Ops," a pilot whale and two killer whales demonstrated an ability to recover objects from even greater depths than the sea lions operated at. The pilot whale proved particularly adept. It learned how to attach a lift bag — which inflates at hook-up — to a dummy torpedo resting on the ocean floor 1,854 feet down.

Our Blubber Brigade should give the Russians something to chew on, all right.

JACK ANDERSON

Is There Really A Dolphin Gap?

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency is, you might say, "flipping" its lid over reports that the Russians are training dolphins for military and espionage missions. Worse, they stole the idea from us.

Their inspiration was not the movie "Day of the Dolphin," in which some bad guys kidnaped George C. Scott's talking porpoise and trained it to attach an explosive device to the bottom of a ship. Nor did they get the idea from clandestine visits to Marineland.

A top-secret CIA report states that the Soviets' fighting fish program "closely resembles that in the United States and apparently was stimulated by a U.S. Navy demonstration of the military value of marine mammals." The Navy began its studies in 1960 with a dolphin named "Nobby," trying to determine whether the beast had any special characteristics that could be built into the design of underwater missiles.

One of the Navy's most successful tests involved a dolphin named "Tuffy," which carried tools and messages to aquanauts 300 feet below the surface in the 1965 Sea Lch-II project off La Jolla, Calif. That's the caper that apparently hooked the Russians.

The Soviet program began that very year, and the CIA report is that "the quality of Soviet research has improved steadily and in many areas is comparable" to the Navy's.

The Top Secret Umbra CIA report, slipped to my associate Dale Van Atta, says the Russians navy may be "training dolphins to perform various military and intelligence tasks ... (which) could include attaching intelligence-collection packages and other devices to enemy submarines, and helping divers recover equipment from the ocean floor."

In addition, Soviet scientists are trying to learn more about the way dolphins are able to locate objects under water through the use of echoes.

"The Soviets hope to use the results of this research in developing advanced sonar systems, more efficient hull designs for submarines and surface ships, and improved shapes for torpedoes," the CIA reports.

The Russians dolphin project reportedly involves five Black Sea research stations — including small bio-acoustics laboratories and a dolphinarium.

Like just about everything else in the U.S.-Soviet competition, each side must come up with countermeasures to nullify the other's new weapon. Here the Russians may have opened a dolphin gap.

In one Soviet test, according to another CIA report, the Russian experts were able to "estimate ... a dolphin's ability to detect an object containing an active acoustical emitter under adverse background noise conditions."

And this, the CIA explains, "could enable the Soviets to waive the potential benefits of developing acoustical jamming countermeasures to U.S. Navy dolphin programs

Air Force Begins Investigation Of Plane Crash That Killed 21

WALKERSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — Air Force research teams today began investigating the mysterious crash of a $50 million missile-satellite tracking plane that apparently exploded on a training mission, killing all 21 people aboard.

With documents and debris from the EC-135 scattered over 8 square miles of rolling Maryland farmland from the crash Wednesday, authorities ordered portions of the area cordoned off for a search today by Air Force brass and investigators.

Military officials said no classified equipment or materials was aboard the EC-135, the military's version of the Boeing 707 jet, on a routine training mission from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio.

Sources at Wright-Patterson said, however, the $50 million plane was carrying some 30,000 pounds of computer equipment at the time. The EC-135 tracks missiles and unmanned satellites.

Andrews Air Force Base officials, who rushed research teams to the scene, said it could be weeks before the cause was determined. The FBI and Federal Aviation Administration also sent investigators.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to explode in a "fireball," raining hunks of metal, military documents and pieces of human flesh on the countryside.

Frank Harris, an insurance salesman from nearby Emmitsburg, said he and other passers-by found bodies with no arms or legs near the wreckage.

"We got to the main part of the wreckage and inside it was a mass of human flesh that looked like it was melted together. It was very gruesome and it shocked me ...," he said.

Military and civilian officials said radio and radar contact was lost with the EC-135 at 10:45 a.m. EDT Wednesday when it was at about 28,000 feet over Maryland. The aircraft was to return to Wright-Patterson after making a U-turn over the Atlantic Ocean.

Abortion Ban Issue Killed By House Committee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The move for Florida to go on record favoring a constitutional convention to ban abortions has apparently suffered a fatal setback this session.

The House Judiciary Committee Wednesday rejected a resolution that would have asked Congress to call a constitutional convention to ban abortions. Only last week the Senate approved an identical measure by a 29-11 vote.

The House panel then went on to also kill a more moderate resolution that would have condemned most abortions without calling for any constitutional change.

Introduced by Rep. Tom Bush, R-Fort Lauderdale, the constitutional resolution was defeated 9-3. The Senate last week approved a companion measure by a 29-11 vote. The more moderate measure died on a 6-6 vote.

Anti-abortion House members still could attempt to raise the issue on the House floor as an amendment to related legislation.

Since debate was limited, most members cast their votes without explanation but Rep. Ron Richmond, R-Holiday, said, "There are several of us on this committee who cannot vote for a constitutional convention."

Across the Capitol, meanwhile, Senate leaders buckled under to growing pressure from legislators opposed to tax increases and agreed to spend some of the $117 million working capital reserve fund.

Appropriations Chairman Jack Gordon said he probably will recommend "a substantial cut" in the emergency reserve with the money going for one-time road, school and law enforcement projects and easing the pressure for tax increases.

Gordon said he will meet with House leaders early next week to see if they, too, will agree to lower the fund, which has been kept in recent years to protect the state in case the economy worsens and tax revenues plummet.

Gov. Bob Graham recommended a $249 million reserve fund. The budget voted out by the House Appropriations Committee Wednesday has a reserve of about $400 million.

Patient Had Symptoms Of 27 Hospital Victims

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Investigators have questioned a patient who experienced and survived symptoms similar to the "terminal episodes" of 27 people who died mysteriously at two rural hospitals.

Deputy Coroner Carl Smith said Wednesday the female patient, who was not identified, was treated in the intensive-care unit of Community Hospital of the Valleys in Perris for three days.

He said she experienced "numerous episodes very closely related to the terminal episodes of the others" who died there. "She shed some information on the situation, but will be interviewed again," Smith said.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas Hollenhorst said investigators were hopeful the woman would be able to provide "information about what occurred at or about the time her symptoms began."

Authorities have said the deaths appear to be linked to a drug detected during autopsies performed on some of the patients.

But investigators refuse to identify the drug suspected in 25 deaths at the Perris hospital and two more at San Geronimo Pass Memorial Hospital in Banning, about 20 miles away.

Dade Sues Feds For $$$ To Educate Cuban Children

MIAMI (UPI) — Dade County's school board voted Wednesday to sue the federal government to release $6 million in funds targeted to educate Cuban refugee children.

School officials said the money already has been budgeted and was due in April.

"If we don't get this money by the end of our fiscal year (June 30), we'll have to make some drastic cuts or go bankrupt," said board member Robert Renick.

His motion proposes spending up to $10,000 to hire Washington, D.C., attorneys to file suit in the Capitol if there is no other way to speed up receipt of the funds.

Disclosure Bill Killed

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Lobbyists probably won't have to disclose their expenses, despite temporary passage of a bill that would have forced them to report where their money was spent.

A House ethics and elections subcommittee temporarily passed into legislative oblivion Wednesday a bill that would have required lobbyists who spent more than $250 in a three month period to disclose their expenses.

Since the full committee is not scheduled to meet again, the action of the subcommittee to temporarily pass the bill means that it cannot be considered by the full House unless a way is found to amend some other bill.

Weapons Seized

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Federal agents held a 35-year-old Fort Lauderdale man today for possession of a large cache of weapons seized from a public warehouse storage locker Wednesday.

The locker was registered to Gary Thomas Rogers, and he was arrested a few hours after the seizure was made.

Agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, acting on a tip from Fort Lauderdale police, raided the warehouse and found it packed with paramilitary gear.

"We found 45 rifles and shotguns of military - type origin, nine machineguns, three alienars, $5 handguns and 70 of destructive devices, which mostly were artillery rounds," said Dan Conroy, agent in charge of the ATF's Miami office.

Childers-Barron Battle

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — The upcoming reapportionment of Florida Senate districts probably will decide who wins a bitter battle between Senate President W.D. Childers and former president Dempsey Barron.

Barron's Senate Democrats and the Republicans launched still another assault on Childers Wednesday, trying to gain control of the reapportionment committee.

The group said it will try to change Senate rules to make Barron of Panama City reapportionment chairman instead of Childers' choice, Jack Gordon of Miami Beach.

"Gordon simply is unacceptable to most, if not all, Republicans," said Clark Maxwell, a GOP senator from Melbourne.

Lights In Eyes For Littleton

Blyleven Loses No-Hitter In 9th

UPI Sports Writer
Left fielder Larry Littleton might have felt bad about the first Toronto hit Wednesday night, but it was the next one which galled Bert Blyleven.

Blyleven, the last man to pitch a no-hitter in the AL, missed posting a second when Littleton lost Lloyd Moseby's ninth-inning fly ball in the lights. After Moseby took second on the questionable hit, though, pinch-hitter Jorge Bell stroked an RBI single to center and Blyleven, the Cleveland right-hander, settled for a 4-1 victory over the Blue Jays.

Indians' Manager Dave Garcia thought Moseby's "tainted hit" may have caused Bell's good one, but Blyleven made no excuses.

"I didn't even know for sure that they called it a hit until after my first pitch to Bell," he said. "The call on the first one could have gone either way, but Bell hit it good.

"I hated losing the shutout more than the no-hitter."

Blyleven, 3-1, threw his first no-hitter against California on Sept. 22, 1977 while with the Texas Rangers.

Cleveland took advantage of three Toronto errors in the third. Joe Charboneau doubled off Jackson Todd, I-J, and went to third when shortstop Alfredo Griffin misplayed Duane Kuiper's grounder.

Al Burnby singled home the tying run for the Orioles, then scored the game-winner with two out in the bottom of the ninth.

Red Sox 3, Royals 1
Dennis Eckersley, 3-1, threw a four-hitter and Dwight Evans belted a two-run homer in the eighth to lift Boston.

Rangers 4, White Sox 2
Bill Stein's run-scoring single in the seventh snapped a 2-2 tie and lifted the Rangers. John Henry Johnson worked 2 2/3 innings to pick up his second victory against one loss.

Mariners 12, Brewers 1
Mike Parrott, 1-2, scattered five hits over seven innings to break a personal 18-game losing streak and Jim Anderson drove in five runs to make Rene Lachemann's debut as the Mariners' manager a successful one.

Detroit 3, A's 2
Tom Brookens' eighth-inning sacrifice fly scored Al Cowens with an unearned run and Mil Wilcox pitched his first complete game, a seven-hitter, to lead Detroit.

Yankees 5, Angels 2
Bucky Dent drove in four runs with a two-run homer and a two-run double to spark New York, but was cut short when he was hit in the left arm by a John D'Aquisto pitch in the sixth.

Perkins Pounds Expos; Raines Raps Three Hits

UPI Sports Writer
The ranks of the nation's unemployed may soon be decreased by one.

"If everything keeps going like this, I've got to find a job somewhere," said San Diego's Broderick Perkins Wednesday night, after he drove in five runs to lead the Padres to a 13-5 drubbing of the Expos at Montreal.

Sanford's Tim Raines rapped three hits including a double to raise his average to .368. Raines also committed his third error of the spring.

Reds 9, Pirates 6
Johnny Bench delivered a bases-loaded single with none out in the bottom of the ninth, capping a two-run rally to lift the Reds. Dave Parker cracked a three-run homer for the Pirates.

Cubs 7, Astros 1
Ken Reitz's two-out single in the 11th inning scored Steve Dillard from second base to enable the Cubs to snap a three-game losing streak.

Braves 10, Cardinals 2
Chris Chambliss drove in five runs with a three-run homer, a single and a fielder's choice to power Atlanta.

Dodgers 7, Phillies 1
Burt Hooton scattered five hits for his fourth triumph of the season and Ron Cey homered to lead the Dodgers, snapping the Phillies' four-game winning streak.

Giants 6, Mets 4
Enos Cabell drove in one run and scored two to spark the Giants and hand the Mets their 10th loss in 17 games.

The ABCs Of Selecting Your Diamond Ring Are '4 C's'

On your first date, you might have felt slightly awkward, but by the second you were laughing and holding hands, and within a short time you began feeling more and more comfortable with each other until a special intimacy had grown between you and it seemed natural that you would be married.

As wonderful as those days of new love and planning a life together are, says the Jewelry Industry Council, don't be in such a daze that you make the wrong decision when buying a diamond.

The engagement ring is not as easy to select as it is to wear, and though each stone may seem luxurious and elegant to the inexperienced shopper, each diamond is actually different. Because diamonds vary in quality, you should purchase yours from a reputable jeweler who can offer expert advice.

But, it is equally essential that you know the "four C's" as they are referred to by jewelers — cut, color, clarity and carat weight which will help you judge the quality of the gem that is to bring you a lifetime of happiness.

Cut refers both to the shape of the diamond—be it the popular, round brilliant, the rectangular emerald, pear, heart, oval, or boat-shaped marquise — and to the skill and precision of the cutting. To release maximum brilliance, a diamond must be cut according to strict standards. A full cut diamond has 58 facets: 33 above the girdle or outer edge and 25 below.

A perfect cut refers not to the number of facets (that is standard), but to their angles and the proportions of the stone. Believe it or not, diamonds are so hard that it takes several days to cut and polish a one carat stone.

Color is thought by some to be the most important determinant of diamond value. The ideal diamond is crystal clear as a raindrop. But, such stones are rare. Most are tinged with yellow or brown. And, while this tinge might detract from the diamond's value, it usually doesn't diminish the stone's spectacular sparkle.

Clarity refers to the diamond's internal quality. A flawless diamond shows no "inclusions" when viewed under ten power magnification. Ninety-nine per cent of diamonds over half a carat have some flaws. They range from a tiny white spot to dark carbon spots, nicks, cracks, or cloudy areas. Like a slight tinge of color, inclusions lessen a diamond's value but seldom detract from their beauty. Ask your jeweler to let you look at some diamonds under his ten power loupe. You will be able to see the small specks that make each stone different and unique.

Carat, of course, is the measure of the weight of the diamond. A carat equals 1/142nd of an ounce, or two hundred milligrams. Each carat is divided into 100 points, thus a 1/2 carat diamond weighs 50 points. The word "carat" comes from the carob seed which was so uniform in weight that it was used to weigh diamonds. If there are one large and several smaller stones in a ring, ask your jeweler for the exact weight of the major stone, rather than total carat weight. Every point affects value.

Receiving a diamond engagement ring is a very important event in a woman's life. It should be totally enjoyable. Knowing a little about the beautiful merchandise is one way to make this memorable occasion everything it should be.

Buying her engagement ring is a momentous occasion for most young couples, the Jewelry Industry Council reports. A little help from a professional — your favorite jeweler — will help you make the right selection quality-wise, the experts point out.

Romantic Wedding cake creation: Amaretto di Saronno, the original liqueur of love, has started a new trend, this time as the main ingredient in the Saronno Love Cake, a delicious four-tiered wedding cake. This beautiful cake was created for professional bakers by two renowned chefs from The Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, New York. Albert Kumin, right, former White House pastry chef, and Walter Schreyer, left, recipient of over 20 awards in the culinary art of baking, developed the recipe for the Saronno Groom's cake as well.

Love Cake: Grand Finale

He's proposed, you've said "yes" and now the planning begins. It's time to start organizing for the great event, registering for your china, crystal and silver, asking friends to be in your wedding party, and shopping for your gown. Will it be a large wedding or a small, intimate gathering of family and close friends? Where will the reception be held and what will you serve the guests? Whether you're having a formal sit-down dinner or something less elaborate, one item that is as necessary at a wedding as a bride and groom is a wedding cake.

What wedding cake could be more romantic than a Saronno Love Cake which has as its prime ingredient, the spirit of love, Amaretto di Saronno? This legendary Italian liqueur, the original amaretto, was prepared by a beautiful, young woman to express her feelings for the man she loved during the Renaissance.

Delicious and intriguing, the Saronno Love Cake, which will serve 200 happy guests, was created by two renowned chefs at The Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y. Albert Kumin is the former White House pastry chef and Walter Schreyer is the winner of over 20 awards in the culinary art of baking.

Now, in the 1960s the Saronno Love Cake, a symbol of love, is an ideal conclusion to your wedding day, a tradition of love. The recipes for the Saronno Love Cake and the Saronno Groom's Cake, for those couples wishing to give their guests a memento to take home, are available free of charge to be passed along to your baker or caterer by sending a postcard to: "Love Cakes," Dept. BRI, P.O. Box 5145, FDR Post Office, New York, N.Y. 10150.

Today's Wedding Gowns Take Turn To Tradition

American women have once again discovered the grace and beauty of traditional weddings, according to a designer.

Traditional values are once again becoming the cornerstone of life and the bridal gown reflects a new appreciation for those things made to last, created for the sake of beauty and touched with the elegance of times past.

This season, the bride will turn to dreams of enchanted candlelit ceremonies and bouquets of palest flowers. Wedding gowns match the mood, as brides take a softly feminine approach in a variety of silhouettes, each with its own special meaning and look.

From the nostalgic eras of the turn of the century come dramatic wedding gowns, high at the throat and plunging deeply in the back to reveal the perfect shoulder.

From the Victorian and Edwardian eras come the pure romance of lace, embroideries, small waisted peplums, and elongated torsos, all wrapped soft, creamy color.

Necklines make dramatic statements; gracefully sculptured, they flatter and frame the glowing bride. Waistlines are more defined, graced with peplums or newly dropped for a long torso effect. Hemlines become a new point for the eye, frothed with lace, iced with beading and always a very important part of the gown.

Headdresses make the picture perfect. Mantillas highlight the radiant face, while a multitude of treatments from seed pearls to glowing beads to delicate bouquets of lace flowers add drama.

Lace caps are worn forward and sparkled with pearls and incandescent beadings. To complete a Victorian portrait, ruffles of lace are ingeniously fashioned in tiers at the back of the head. An Edwardian high tea hat is artfully molded of Alencon lace and dewed with pearls.

Gossamer loveliness. . . the bride is a vision in a romantic gown of drifting starched chiffon, appliqued with an intermingling of re-embroidered Alencon and delicate Bristol laces. Open V neckline and slender, tapered sleeves grace the molded bodice. Lace motifs accent the skirt front above the lace-scalloped hemline and chapel train. Lovely Alencon and Bristol laces border the chapel-length mantilla, floating from an Alencon lace-covered cap.

Remember To Keep Them Practical

What to give a couple for their bridal shower has always been a problem. But, relax, you've got plenty of company; the couple is probably just as confused trying to pick out gifts for the members of their own bridal party.

Here are some simple rules to remember when shopping for bridal shower gifts.

1. Don't select anything in a color that might not go with the decor. Neutral shades are best for towels or table cloths, unless you know the couple's color scheme for their new home.

2. Unless you know precisely what type of bed they'll have, don't select bed linens. Saying "they can always return them" is no reason for buying a sheet that fits a standard double bed when the couple might be planning on something else — queen, king, a convertible sofa or even a water bed!

3. Don't buy anything that comes in sizes. Curtains, for example, make poor gifts. Even if you know the size of the window, you don't know the taste of the couple. You may like to see a light, airy cafe curtain. The bride may prefer a decorative shade.

4. Don't select a gift that can only be used by either the bride or the groom. A decorative jewelry box, no matter how expensive, selected with the bride in mind, will only create problems. A marriage just starting out can do without favoritism in gifts.

5. Most shower gifts should be practical gifts, items that can be used frequently. Since most newlyweds don't have much to start with in the way of furnishings for their house or apartment, a set of pots would make a far better choice

Give gifts that are used frequently, than a set of candlesticks. (More people return candlesticks than pots.)

6. Don't select holiday gifts such as Christmas figurines. Even if they are made of the finest imported china, if they have a holiday theme, they'll probably stay in the closet 50 weeks out of the year.

7. Selecting religious gifts like crosses, Mezuzahs, Bibles or personalized church hymnals ought to be avoided.

How To Plan For The Perfect Occasion

You've decided to set the date. Suddenly, your wedding date is not some romantic, far-off event to daydream about...it's something you actually have to make preparations for. Where to begin?

Wedding consultants say you should ideally have six months to prepare for that beautiful wedding. After the date has been set, the first decision you have to make is the type of wedding you want—how large, how formal, etc.

Now's the time to make reservations for the wedding and reception and to arrange for the music you will want. Talk to the clergyman who will be performing the ceremony; you should also arrange for a photographer at this time. And, start making plans for the honeymoon!

The bride-to-be, at this point, should be selecting and ordering her wedding dress and accessories, if it is a formal wedding. She should also be ordering her attendants' dresses and accessories.

The bride's other duties at this time include advising the groom's mother as to how many guests she may invite, and checking catering facilities at the reception location.

At the same time, the groom should be planning his own guest list and starting to make the honeymoon arrangements.

Three months before the wedding, the two of you should arrange for blood tests, physical exams, etc.

The guest list should be completed at this point, so the bride can order invitations and announcements. She should also plan the wedding rehearsal at this time and all the details of the ceremony and reception; if any rental equipment is to be used, it should be reserved now.

At this time, the groom should be selecting his best man and lining up his ushers, as well as finalizing honeymoon arrangements.

One month before the wedding, the bride and groom should select their wedding rings.

The bride should mail invitations (these should arrive two or three weeks before the wedding) and order flowers, the wedding cake and gifts for attendants.

Now's also the time to have the final fitting of your wedding dress and to confirm a portrait date.

The groom should be making arrangements for the rehearsal dinner, buying gifts for his ushers and best man, ordering flowers for the wedding party and the two mothers, and seeing that all legal and religious documents are in order.

Two weeks before the wedding, the two of you should obtain your marriage license and arrange for transportation for members of the wedding from the wedding location to the reception. The bride should also make arrangements with her hairdresser now and complete her trousseau shopping.

One week before the wedding, the bride should check on all the gowns, take care of last-minute details for the ceremony and reception and have a luncheon or dinner for her attendants.

Following a time-table such as this may not be the most romantic way to plan for a wedding, but it's a sure way to make that dream wedding come true!

THANK YOU ETIQUETTE

It is the bride's duty to acknowledge wedding gifts, but the bridegroom should be mentioned when making your "thank yous."

It's also good etiquette to refer to the gift, or in the case of a check, what you plan to purchase with the money.

SHOELESS SPINSTERS

In merry olde England, it was the custom for unmarried sisters of the bride to dance barefoot at weddings, that they might catch a husband more readily.

THE BRIDE WORE RED

In medieval times, the preferred wedding gown color was red, not white.

Say It With Flowers On Wedding Day

From the style of the bridal gown to the music for the ceremony, your wedding should express your devotion to one another to the fullest.

And, when it comes to the flowers, enhance each arrangement by choosing flowers with inner significance, and create the perfect composition that will truly depict your own special kind of love.

Roses can convey a variety of fine qualities, whether you use them monochromatically or in color duets. Use white roses to depict reverence and innocence, and red ones for love, courage and respect.

Let yellow and orange roses declare your joy and enthusiasm; couple red and yellow blooms to show your happiest of feelings. For grace, include delicate pink roses; for unity, employ white and red varieties together.

The rose bud, the epitome of beauty and youth, can add even more meaning to your floral display.

Show your adoration through the eyes of golden sunflowers, and the desire for affection in the sweet perfume of the delicate jonquil. Let the splendor of red mums and red tulips announce your love, while tranquil lilies give an aura of perfect purity.

Portray fidelity and faithfulness with rosemary, violet or veronica. Allow the fragrant heliotrope to express your undying devotion, and tell of your genuine love in the form of forget-me-nots.

Constancy can be characterized by the bluebell, as true loveliness is harbored in the delightful carnellia. In the starry-eyed myrtle, discover the spectrum of purity, fertility and love; in the slender stock, perceive the essence of lasting beauty.

Recreate fond memories by including flowers of personal sentimental value, and make every aspect of your wedding fall into perfect harmony with the tune your hearts sing.

Groom's Duties

Quickly go the days preceding that all-important day in a young man's life, his wedding day! To quell chaos and ensure serenity, a referral checklist of tasks for the groom is suggested, tasks to be performed by him or in conjunction with his bride-to-be or best man.

Long before that memorable date, the busy groom must buy the ring, choose and draw up his wedding guest list, select his best man and ushers, and arrange for his correct dress and that of his ushers and best man.

With the young lady of his choice, a wedding ring should be decided upon and given to the groom's best man for safekeeping on the day of the wedding. They must obtain a marriage license (also to be given to the best man) and, in conjunction with honeymoon plans, consider passport requirements, blood tests, birth and inoculation certificates and so forth. Also entrusted to the groom's best man is the clergyman's fee, to be presented after the ceremony.

The groom is responsible for his bride's bouquet — this and all the other flower arrangements and corsages in the wedding party should be discussed with her for coordination.

Choosing his wedding present for his bride is the groom's task, too.

Honeymoon Travel Tips

Important things to consider about choosing a honeymoon spot are the amount of time and money you have.

Once you choose your destination, it is the groom's responsibility to make hotel reservations. Be sure to keep your deposit receipt as proof of your reservation.

If you are flying, be sure to pick up and immediately check your tickets well in advance of your wedding day. This will allow time in case of error or needed adjustment.

Estimate how much money you will need and purchase travelers' checks. Be sure to allow for shopping, meals, and hotel bills. You might want to add an extra amount for unexpected expenses.

If you plan to use credit cards, make sure they are accepted where you are going. Take small bills for tips.

If traveling outside the U.S., check proof of citizenship and customs requirements.

An organized and well planned honeymoon is sure to be as happy and memorable as the day it follows.

IT'S TRADITIONAL ...

The white gown worn by the bride in traditional weddings originated in the mid-nineteenth century. The idea was apparently borrowed from the virgin-white gowns worn by little girls taking their first communion. Until this now-popular custom was adopted, a bride wore her best dress or native costume to her wedding, adding a special touch of blue, the color of love.

Photos have the final say on the wedding day. They tell the story when beautiful flashing smiles are the order of the day, left, and capture wedding day shenanigans, right, that will last forever.

...And They Lived Happily Ever After!

Although the bride and groom are the center of attraction on their wedding day, many "behind-the-scenes" activities can bring additional joy to the important occasion if there's an instant camera on hand.

Whether you are a family member or friend, you can spark this extra fun. Such instances as "decorating" the couple's car, throwing the rice, and laughing with old friends are just a few of the many moments that can be captured instantly on film.

The best advice is to keep a sharp lookout for subjects that would make good storytelling pictures, and keep an instant camera in hand to record the memorable scenes.

Of course, weddings deserve the best in photographic coverage and a professional photographer should be on hand to document the formalities. In addition to the pictures the professional will supply, your candid prints will help round out the picture story.

You may even want to give the couple one or two of the best instant pictures as an "instant thank you" for the invitation before they leave the reception for their honeymoon. It would be a thoughtful and timely gesture.

Photo experts offer the following tips for the wedding day instant picture-taker:

- Move in close and compose the shot by filling the frame with the subject's image.

- Hold the camera steady and squeeze the shutter gently to avoid movement.

- Look for people who are busy talking, laughing, dancing, and doing something naturally. People who are relaxed will have more natural expressions than those who are posing for a picture.

- Keep the instant camera and supply of film nearby to capture such events as friends laughing or placing streamers and signs on the couple's car that often result in ideal pictures.

THE BRIDE'S BOUQUET

We can thank the Saracens for the custom of the bridal bouquet. Saracen brides carried sprigs of orange blossoms to symbolize fertility at first, then happiness and good fortune.

The Crusaders in turn brought the custom to Europe, where it was gradually adopted.

Dining space is where you make it — and with wallcoverings, you can make it almost anywhere. And—you can even make an elegant dining table! Here, an alcove off a living room, decorated with a taste-tempting new pattern called "Bon Appetit," becomes a charming dining nook. As for the plywood table, it's a glass slab set on twin pedestals: basically, plywood boxes, as shown in insert, covered with coordinating wallcovering. The same neat check on living room walls completes the look.

Furnishing Tips

Buy In Stages; Build The Rest

In spite of lifestyle changes, the number of marriages in America has never been higher. So said experts at a recent panel discussion in New York, called "Getting Married . . . and All That Jazz."

What's more, all these marriages add up to a $12.5 billion business. If you've been buying furnishings for your new home, that figure may not seem so surprising!

Actually, few young couples can afford to buy all the furniture of their heart's desire right off the bat. So, rather than go into hock, the smart money says — buy in stages, and build the rest!

A case in point: why buy an expensive dining table (when you may not even have a dining room to put it in!) Instead, invest in good chairs that can do double duty — and build your table.

It could be as simple, and handsome, as the one shown here — just a slab of glass set on twin pedestals made of plywood and covered with wall-covering. What makes it work so well are the stylish, coordinated wallcoverings that tie together table, alcove and living room in a trim, tailored whole.

And, here's a tip: If this simple furniture project appeals to you, you'll find many more like it in a special brochure you can pick up at the wallcovering store. You'll find ideas for Parsons tables, screens, headboards, vanity counters — and some quick and easy sewing projects, too.

Making simple furnishings can be fun — and with the money you save, you can buy that special treasure that you just can't wait for!
