300,000 Children Don't Have Homes

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — Each year approximately 300,000 children are adopted in this country. But another 300,000 need homes.

"Else," they said, "black markets will continue to flourish. With the lack of national laws, there are no ways to stop interstate racketeering of babies and no penalties for engaging in it."

They told of their own family in an earlier book. The Dosses, who live with their blood in Badlands, Calif., call their new work the only complete adoption guide yet to appear.

The next day the worker took the same boy to the Jones home to be introduced. The child gravely shook hands with his new father and then turned to the woman who was to be his mother.

Health Hints

By DR. A. W. WOODALL
HEADACHE—WHAT TO DO FOR IT
When your head begins to thump with pain, do you send down to the corner drug store for some pills? Do you try to snap back with something that splutters in a glass of water? Do you rely on a mysterious power in fix and foam?
If you do, your headache probably will disappear, for a time at least. But you have not cured your ailment. For headache is not a disease. It is only a symptom, an indication that something has gone wrong in the body. It is an effect of disease, and by relieving your headache you have only killed the pain without removing its cause.

is causing your head to ache, instead of taking a painkiller and letting the matter go at that. If the cause of your distress can be found and removed, your headache will disappear. When the danger no longer exists, nature takes down the sign.
The causes of chronic headache are many and varied. Some of the more common ones will be briefly discussed.
One of the more frequent causes of headache is poor elimination. Because some organs are not working properly, poisons, which normally are thrown off, accumulate in the blood and affect the brain cells, causing in some cases a dull headache. The organs most likely to be involved are the kidneys, the liver, or the bowels.
A frequent cause of headache is digestive disturbance, due to bad food or wrong food combinations, or disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels.
A constant throbbing ache in the top of the head is often the result of high blood pressure, which in turn is caused by disease of the heart, kidneys, or arteries, or by nervousness.
A type of headache that seems to be getting more common is due to nerve exhaustion. Overwork, worry, loss of sleep, and the fast pace of modern living use up nerve energy faster than it can be restored. In this way nerve exhaustion comes on gradually, and one of its symptoms is headache, usually felt in the back of the head where the skull joins the neck.
A most severe headache is sometimes the result of sinus trouble. Infection of the frontal sinuses causes pain in the forehead, just above the eyes, and sometimes over the entire front of the head.
Of all types of headache one of the most common is due to nerve pressure at the spine. As a result from this cause may be felt in any part of the head and is some-

State Taxes Imposed By Legislature Effective July 1

The 1957 session of the Florida Legislature enacted into law many significant changes in Florida's tax structure, changes designed to provide funds to meet the demand for increasing state services and to provide funds for county school boards to raise teacher salaries and to catch up with needed school construction.

I think it is interesting to note that Florida's elementary and secondary schools received more than 48 per cent of all the funds which were appropriated by the 1957 Legislature," said Ray E. Green, State Comptroller. And he added: "When you add the fund appropriated for higher education, of course, the percentage is even much higher. More than 65 per cent of all the funds appropriated by the Legislature went to education and welfare. This should be no cause for concern. On the contrary, I think the people of Florida can be proud of their recognition of these important state services."

Primarily, legislative tax changes were made in the structure of the state sales tax, by the expansion and broadening of the existing tax and by including certain items which were previously exempt. The funds collected by the General Revenue Fund for State's General Revenue Fund for state services, except that the first $18,000,000 collected each year (a total of $38,000,000 for the biennium) is earmarked, first priority, and will be returned to the county school boards under the Minimum Foundation Program formula for matching purposes under the teacher salary increases and the school building program.

Here are the changes in the state sales tax:

When the sales tax was first enacted into law in 1949, it provided that the tax would start at 9 cents, with a tax of 1 cent on each 9 cent purchase. In the 1951 session of the Legislature, this portion of the original law was amended providing that the sales tax would start on purchases of 11 cents and that all items less than 11 cents would be tax-free.

This provision of the law has again been changed with the tax now starting at 13 cents and applying to all 10 cent items. This will bring under the sales tax law many thousands of items and purchases previously exempt. A 10 cent soft drink or a 10 cent coffee, for instance, will be taxable at the rate of 1 cent. (This tax will not apply, of course, to general groceries and medicinal items, which are exempt from all sales taxes).

Prior to 1949, there was a 4 cent state excise tax on cigarettes paid by the distributor directly to the state through the purchase of stamps to be placed on each cigarette package. In addition, many cities in the state levied additional city taxes on cigarettes.

In 1949, the state excise tax on each package of cigarettes was increased to 5 cents with the funds collected in the cities reverting back to the individual municipality, and the funds collected outside of the city limits allocated to the General Revenue Fund for state government services. At the same time, cities were prohibited from levying any additional tax on cigarettes over and above the state tax. There was no sales tax on cigarette purchases, either by the pack or by the carton.

Under the new sales tax law, cigarette purchases are now taxable at the same 3 per cent rate as other items covered by the sales tax law. On purchases of individual packages of cigarettes, the 3 per cent sales tax will apply on the full purchase price (which includes the Federal and State excise stamps) and will usually amount to 1 cent per pack. On the purchase of cartons, the 3 per cent sales tax will apply on the cost of the entire carton, a carton of cigarettes costing $2.45, for instance, carrying a state sales tax of 8 cents.

Alcoholic beverages, a term which includes both beer and liquor, are now subject to a state excise tax, but until this session these beverages were not subject to a state sales tax paid directly by the consumer of the beverages.

During the last few years a glaring loophole in payment and collection of sales tax in establishments serving alcoholic beverages was discovered, especially in places of business which served food. In many cases, for instance when a person visited a night club or restaurant and consumed beer or an alcoholic drink along with his or her dinner, the waiter or waitress applied the 3 per cent tax, which is applicable to the food purchased in the restaurant or night club, to the customer's entire bill. Thus the consumer was paying a sales tax on what was then a non-taxable item, beer and liquor. Yet, it was impossible for the state to collect the portion of the tax erroneously paid by the consumer on the non-taxable items without inspecting every single bill and check paid by the customer.

an impossible task in a state as big as Florida.

This loophole has now been closed and under the new law all alcoholic beverages consumed on the premises where sold are subject to the 3 per cent sales tax, as are all malt beverages (beer) consumed on the premises. There is no sales tax on packaged liquor purchased to be consumed at home and there is no sales tax on beer unless it is consumed on the premises.

The original sales tax law of 1919 exempted from the provisions of the sales tax all purchases of items of clothing selling for 10 dollars or less regardless of the number of items involved. Thus, a customer could purchase 5 shirts at a cost of 5 dollars each, each tax-free, for a total cost of 25 dollars, also tax-free. Yet, if the customer purchased one item totalling 25 dollars, he paid a sales tax of 75 cents. In addition a customer purchasing a 5 dollar shirt and a 45 dollar suit, for instance, for a total purchase of 50 dollars, paid no sales tax on the shirt and a dollar and thirty-five cents on the suit.

There was a great deal of confusion in connection with this clothing exemption. Often times, by mistake, a sales tax was paid on a tax-free item when it was included in a long list of purchases which also included taxable items. In some cases items which could be divided, such as an ensemble, were sold as more than one item, tax-free. Checking and enforcement was tremendously difficult and involved the inspecting of every single purchase slip in a given establishment.

Under the new law, all clothing

Takes Off With Loud Roar

CAPE CANAVERAL — A large missile was fired from the guided missile test center here shortly after dawn today.

Another was fired shortly after 1 p. m. today.

Witnesses reported that the missile took off with an ear-shattering roar that was louder than made by the giant Atlas, the world's first inter-continental ballistic missile fired unsuccessfully earlier this month.

They said the rocket today appeared to be one of the largest ever fired from the top-secret test center, and speculated that it might have been either the Army's Redstone or Jupiter.

The public information office at the base issued the following terse statement several hours after the firing:

"A missile was fired at the Air Force missile test center at the Cape Canaveral launching site today. Extensive flight testing of rocket missiles in support of the long range ballistic missile program, and others, has been going on for some time. These tests will be continued."

Officials would not give the type of missile, or estimate the success of the test.

One observer told United Press that it appeared to be one of the most successful launchings at the base.

"It roared off the ground with a terrific noise-louder even than the Atlas," he said. "I shot straight up in the air like an arrow, picking up speed very rapidly. Then at a high altitude its vapor trail disappeared and it leveled off and headed down range over the Atlantic in a southeasterly direction."

He said that unlike most firings, today's test shot was observed by only a few persons. Generally the firing preparations tip off residents and they line the beaches.

South Florida Has 'Solid Hold On Boys State Legislature

TALLAHASSEE — North and South Florida will battle heads in the Boys' State gubernatorial campaign, but South Florida interests have solid control of the Legislature.

The 445 high school students who are delegates to the week-long Boys' State meeting Tuesday chose a South Florida and a North Florida candidate for governor.

Attending the week-long "know your government" activity from Sanford are Dickie Rountree, Al Collins, Pat Donahue, Sidney Vihlen and Richard Phagen.

Jack Russell Weaver, 18, of Miami Springs will run as the Federalist candidate and James Russell Graf, 16, of Marianna, will carry the nationalist banner. The election is Thursday.

There was no dispute over who held the upper hand in the mock Legislature elected by the youngsters, who are here to learn about operations of city, county and state government.

The boys picked 32 senators, nine of them from Dade County and only 11 from towns further north than Orlando, and an 80-member House with only 24 North Floridians.

Jaycees Schedule Meeting Tomorrow

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce will have a business session and "Get Acquainted" meeting following luncheon tomorrow noon at the Yacht Club.

Interest is increasing in the proposed move of the Jaycee Tourist Information Booth to a new location. However, plans have not as yet been formulated, sites have not been studied, and financing has not yet been discussed.

M. L. Raborn Jr. is expected to announce the members of the committee to forward plans for the project in the near future.

Bridge On SR-46 To Be Replaced

An appropriation of $650,000 to replace the bridge on State Road 46 and $30,000 for the Seminole County approach to the bridge is a part of the State Road Department budget for the six-months beginning July 1.

"I am glad to hear that the Osteen bridge is not yet in the planning stage since the Sanford-Titusville Canal is planned through there and a high level bridge is needed," said J. Bradley Otham, chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Long Range Highway Planning Committee.

charged with violating the civil rights of the two prisoners.

Kelsey and Stanley, named in indictments by a federal grand jury at Jacksonville a week ago, were arrested Tuesday at their homes near Orlando and released under bonds of $1,000.

Kelsey also serves as police chief at Orlando.

Lee Gary, Mayor of Orlando, refused to make a statement this morning relative to Kelsey. He said "All I know is what I read in the paper and I will not make a statement."

Other members of the Orlando Town Council are B. F. Wheeler Jr., J. Y. Harris, Joe I. Beasley, and Carl Daul.

Sentiment in Orlando is "we need protection out here. Everybody is scared," as they recall the Hollingsworth ax attack by the escaped prisoners and the incident when an Orlando citizen was shot protecting a nearby family.

It is expected that the question of Kelsey's indictment will come before the Orlando Town Council meeting Monday night.

The incident occurred in March, 1955 when three men escaped from the Orlando road camp, Thomas Hollingsworth, 61, was attacked in an ax assault from which he received two broken arms and his head was injured. (Continued on Page Seven)

FP&L To Compromise On Rate Reduction

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Power and Light Co. of Miami is trying to work out a compromise with the State Utilities Commission on a reduction of rates in order to avoid a drawn-out hearing.

McGregor Smith, chairman of the board of the power company, conferred here Tuesday with Lewis Feltz, general counsel for the Utilities Commission.

Smith said the company would reduce its rates voluntarily rather than go through a lengthy rate hearing. He did not submit any specific figure, but said FP&L cannot operate and finance a necessary multi-million dollar expansion program for less than 7 per cent on total capitalization.

The commission on June 13 ordered the company to cut its rates by July 15 in order to produce a net income of 4.5 per cent. Present profits amount to 7.2 per cent. The commission charged the company's present income is around 4 million dollars a year too much.

The commission set Aug. 19 as a hearing date on the rate reduction if the company refused to reduce voluntarily. But Smith said the company could not properly prepare for a rate case by Aug. 19 and that a formal rate hearing would be costly and time consuming.

NAS Control Tower Aids Plane Landing

A civilian plane was brought in safely through the efforts of the Sanford Naval Air Station Control Tower in cooperation with the Orlando approach control.

The civilian plane, according to a Sanford Naval Air Station spokesman, was lost in the Sanford area for approximately one hour yesterday.

Yesterday morning, Aviation Chief Air Controller W. T. Galloway, USN, received notification from the Orlando approach control that a Cessna type aircraft with unidentified pilot was lost in the Sanford area with fuel running low.

Since the Orlando approach control does not have direction finding equipment, the Sanford Naval Air Station tower was requested to bring its direction finding equipment into use and steer the aircraft over the Sanford tower and then to the Orlando municipal field.

This was accomplished, said the spokesman, by the Orlando approach control relaying direction finding instructions to the aircraft through the Sanford Naval Air Station.

The mission was successfully completed about 9:30 a. m. yesterday with the pilot landing at the Orlando municipal airport. His identity is still unknown.

Movie Location Abroad Proves To Be Exciting

By ALINE MOSBY United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD — Movie locations abroad may sound like sight-seeing tours, but a recent one in Germany that featured a fake kidnaping brings a waxy wiggle to the mustache of Adolphe Menjou.

The veteran actor, clothes horse and purveyor of conservative opinions has returned from what sounds like the liveliest movie location in years—the filming of "Paths of Glory" in Munich.

A movie company in a foreign country is like a little isolated world of its own, and this one, organized by Kirk Douglas' Bryna Productions, had more than its share of adventures.

First of all there was actor Tim Carey, an uninhibited character known around here as "the wild man of Hollywood."

"He's a wonderful actor and I think this picture will make him a big star but what a time we had with him!" signed Menjou.

A Publicity Stunt "One day he had this brainstorm and had himself kidnaped—as a publicity stunt. The truth came out so he was fired. Fortunately it was near the end of the picture and they could use a double for the rest of his scenes. Even the Munich newspapers wrote editorials against our movie company for that stunt. We all were bawled for it."

Carey, he continued, caused such a commotion in the hotel dining room that the elegant, dapper Menjou gave him a lecture on manners and made him buy a suit of clothes to replace his casual attire.

"Some other fellows in the company were having various romances, and I had to listen to all the complications on that," Menjou went on.

"Also every day he worked in a castle with marble halls that was like an icebox. We all came down with colds."

Then thieves broke into the studio and stole the lenses right off the cameras. But the worst tragedy came when all of fashionable Menjou's clothes were wiped, a situation akin to Bing Crosby losing his voice or Jayne Meadows until they caught the thief," said Menjou, resplendent today in a checked suit with double-breasted vest. "He was a drug addict. I had to throw the things away that he'd worn."

Producer Douglas WHO ALSO STARRS IN THE MOVIE HIRED TWO JUNIOR GENIUSES TO SHOOT HIS FILM I producer Jim Harris, 28, and director Stanley Kubrick, 28, who made last year's "The Killing." The youngsters made veteran Menjou's graying mustache wiggle even more furiously.

"This was Kubrick's second film, and he was shooting like William Wyler," he roared. "He didn't know what he wanted so he'd take every scene from 20 different angles. I blew up at him, Douglas did, we all did. "But this is an astounding picture, very controversial, he concluded happily. "It's an unusual story, about how every tenth man was ordered shot in the French army for cowardice. It was worth the headaches."

Arrange Flowers Easily

At this time of the year the homemaker finds flowers more readily available for decorating the home. Garden flowers in great variety are available in all sections of the country.

However, as beautiful as the flowers appear growing in their natural state, it is often difficult to arrange them attractively in vases. Here is where transparent plastic household wrap can give assistance.

Except for the flat bowls in which flowers are actually floated, the flower arranger will find that pieces of plastic wrap wadded up and placed in the vase will help hold the stems of flowers in the pattern desired. Even a few flowers can be made easily into an attractive, professional arrangement.

As to this handy transparent wrap, it is now available in a new box. Featuring the colors forest green and chartreuse, the new package has the cutter bar at the bottom of the box. This leaves at least two inches of the wrap readily available at all times and helps to eliminate the "lost end" problem. The homemaker will find that her summer flower arranging will be simplified by the use of transparent plastic wrap and the wrap itself will be so much easier to use in the new box.

Adviser Says TV Good For Kids

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK — Good, colorful, oatmeal and rich old uncles aren't the only things good for growing kids. TV is, too.

At least that's the word from Mrs. Nora Kramer, author, lecturer and adviser to publishers in the field of children's books. Mrs. Kramer, a member of the children's book committee of the Child Study Assn. of America, feels TV stimulates reading and provides a healthy release for small fry.

"Anyone who says that TV is killing off reading among children is just uninformed," bristled Mrs. Kramer. "Studies on this thing have been made in libraries all over the country and they show just the opposite."

"Nature and science books are very big now among children and much of this impetus comes from TV shows. Biographies are in demand by children because of their exposure to hero-type adventure stories on TV. Shows like 'Disney-land' and 'Robin Hood' constantly stimulate reading."

Fairy Tales A Success "Up until this past year, tales of fantasy were moving very slowly. But suddenly fairy tale books have become hugely successful. Why? Well, in the past year TV has turned to many fairy tales for its spectacles."

Mrs. Kramer, who has three children and five grandchildren, brushes off those who decry violence in children's shows.

"I'm not a pussyfoot about this," she said. "I don't object to adventure stories with lots of action. Action provides a release for children. It does them a lot of good to get up and stomp around within the bounds of good taste."

"They need this excitement by this, I mean without things like mutilation or the showing of blood in color. But I see nothing wrong with snoring in Western shows."

"There's no reason why parents should be afraid of sadness or human emotion in children's TV shows. There's no reason why parents should be afraid of showing death. We shouldn't shield our children from human experiences. They're much tougher than we think."

Improves Vocabulary TV, said Mrs. Kramer, has proved a boon in other areas of child education. "It's certainly improved the vocabulary of children," she said. "Words they may have read, but didn't quite understand are suddenly illuminated when these words are used on TV."

"And TV illuminates life itself for children. It fills in corners of their minds. Quiz shows, I think, have done a wonderful job of stimulating children. When that little Robert Strom boy was on 'The $64,000 Question' I think many children identified themselves with him and became more curious about ideas."

However, Mrs. Kramer does have one big reservation about TV — she dislikes the attitude of many family-type situation comedy shows.

"They show the father or mother as fumbling idiots," she said. "They don't treat parents as warm human beings, but just look at them contemptuously. This type of show is far more of a danger than any shooting Western."

Next Commission Meet Would Be Good Time To Start Reevaluation Program

Seminole County commissioners have been harping on the "deplorable financial condition" of the county for weeks. Each meeting commissioners repeat over and over again that the county's income is not sufficient to take care of its many needs.

And, according to the Tax Collector, no new tax funds will be available until January. In the meantime, the county's road funds are exhausted and requests for new roads, road maintenance, road machinery, and improvements continue to pile in from every corner.

What makes matters worse is the fact that school funds have been stalemated at a figure so low that teachers pay raises, school expansion, needed repairs and additions are jeopardized.

This we know, however—a bill, passed in the recent legislative session, has provided authorizing the Seminole County Board of Commissioners to spend whatever funds it may find necessary to appraise the county's property in an effort to equalize the tax load on citizens of Seminole County and at the same time put taxable property in its rightful category.

Why not professional appraisers? Have them come in and by their professional yardstick geared to Florida farms, groves, cattle lands, homes and businesses, reevaluate the appraisal of Seminole County's taxable property.

There is no equality in adding an additional ten percent, twenty per cent, or whatever percentage figure one might choose—in so doing the inequality is made worse than it was before.

Only through the help of a professional appraiser will Seminole County find out "who is right?" If it takes the employment of such an expert then let's get it done now. There's not a commissioner on the board, elected by the people of Seminole County, who can justifiably say "no" to such a plan—not in the face of a twice-monthly gripe "that the county has no funds" to do this or that. The Clerk for the Board of County Commissioners has repeatedly told the board that there are no funds available for many of the needed requests and he has repeatedly told the board that it is up to them to provide the necessary funds through appropriation if various projects are to be undertaken.

The next meeting of the commissioners will be held on July 2—an excellent time to get a program of reevaluation underway. A good time to provide an answer for the citizens of the county and tell them "who is right."

Many Look Forward To Navy Event

"If we just had more time" is sometimes the answer when projects fail to materialize and be as successful as they should have been.

One of the finest projects ever started in Sanford and Seminole County was this year's Navy Appreciation Day and praises for the highly successful event are still coming in from time to time.

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce performed magically in accomplishing all of the details for such a gigantic undertaking within the short time allotted.

There are nine months until the next annual Navy Appreciation Day time rolls around and plans for the 1958 event should be started. Undoubtedly there are hundreds already looking forward to Sanford and Seminole County's big day.

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce is to be commended on the fine way the first Seminole County Navy Appreciation Day was handled and we are sure that the entire community is looking

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Italy's cabinet crisis is getting worse instead of better as it enters its eighth week.

It seems increasingly likely that a special parliamentary election, one year ahead of schedule, will be necessary to end the tangle.

It seems likely also that sooner or later a showdown will be necessary on the constitutional powers of President Giovanni Gronchi.

Gronchi's insistence on trying to play the part of a "strong man" in politics instead of acting as a figurehead, as he is supposed to do, has played a big part in the political confusion.

Socialist Desert Him
Premier Antonio Segni resigned on May 6 after the May Republican Party and then the larger right wing socialist Party deserted his Christian Democrats and thus broke up the government coalition.

Adone Zoli, another Christian Democrat, formed a cabinet on May 20.

Zoli confined his cabinet to Christian Democrats, hoping to run the government with the support of other moderate parties.

Zoli managed to get a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies for his cabinet. But there was a miscount of votes. When the count was checked, it developed that he got his majority only because the extreme right wing "Neo-Fascists" voted for him.

Zoli refused to accept a mandate which depends on extremist support. He resigned on June 10.

Refuses Resignation
President Gronchi called in man after man in a vain attempt to get a successor. Finally, Gronchi announced last Saturday that he refused to accept Zoli's resignation and told him to carry on.

Zoli went before the Chamber of Deputies today to make a new start. It was forecast that the chamber would let him remain in office for a while at least. But his Christian Democrats hold only 263 seats in the 500-seat chamber. Thus he is at the mercy of other parties.

The whole tangle stems really from the multi-party political system which has weakened a number of European countries for years and which made possible the rise of Benito Mussolini in Italy and Adolf Hitler in Germany.

Some Italian political leaders are talking now of the possibility of forming two strong parties by merging various groups. But it appears to be merely talk.

Which Camp To Choose?

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MANY people believe that a handicapped child should not be sent to a specialized summer camp if he can get along in a regular residential camp.

It is up to your doctor, of course, to determine whether the youngster is capable of standing the rigors of a regular camp session.

But if he is, let him take advantage of the chance to live and play with youngsters not troubled with his affliction. It will be good for him.

Some day he will have to make his way in an adult world that seldom has time to stop to give him a helping hand. The quicker he can adjust to being with persons who do not share his handicap, the better off he will be.

Segregation is of value just so long. Then it, too, becomes a handicap.

If a child needs constant or frequent treatment or is unable to accomplish independently the activities of daily living, he is, of course, not ready for a regular camp.

But if he does not need treatment, is able to care for himself, is socially alert and has learned basic game skills, he is, most likely, ready for a summer with ordinary kids.

Give Them Opportunity
All too frequently, only quiet games and passive activities are considered proper for handicapped youngsters. In most cases, if they are given the opportunity, handicapped kids will surprise you with their abilities in more active sports.

Topography and location of the camp also must be considered. If it is too isolated or too rough or hilly, it might not do at all for such a youngster.

Fill a Definite Need
Now I don't mean to say that specialized camps do not have their place. They do, of course, and such a camp might be just the place for the handicapped youngster you may be thinking about.

In fact, camps specializing in aiding handicapped youngsters usually are considered a stepping stone toward a more normal camp situation. For those with severe handicaps, they may be the only type of camp suitable.

On the other hand, continued use of a specialized camp may only retard those who are capable of doing more on their own if given the incentive.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. I. V. P.: Is it dangerous to eat foods containing bleached flour?

Answer: Flour that is bleached according to government regulations is not harmful. However, bread made from either whole grain or enriched flour may be preferred because of higher vitamin and mineral content.

Age Doesn't Matter

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Go ahead Princess Margaret and date a man younger than yourself. Experts on how to have a happy marriage say a few years difference in chronological age doesn't matter. It is the emotional maturity of the couple which counts. Love helps, of course.

The British princess, who is 27, has been keeping constant company with Lord Patrick Beresford, who is highly eligible and 23. The young peer has been Margaret's theater escort, taken her riding, and been among the house guests at Windsor Castle during the Royal Ascot racing meet. The result has been speculation on the marriage plans of the princess, who last year turned down Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 43, because he had been divorced.

There are those who hint the Queen's kid sister now is robbing the cradle. May Ask For Trouble

Dr. Marion F. Langer, a sociologist and author of a book called "Learning To Live As A Widow," says that she's just being practical, so far as man and woman's comparative life span is concerned. Dr. Langer said in England too, the women outlive the men.

But she does think any girl, either a princess or plain Mary Jones, is asking for trouble from the Mrs. Grundy department if she marries a man her junior. "Society isn't ready to accept this," said Mrs. Langer, "All-though the girl is wise."

"I do not presume to speak for the British culture," said Dr. Abraham Stone, a physician and past president of the American Assn. of Marriage Counselors.

"But I feel that age difference is no handicap to a happy marriage." Dr. Stone and his wife are authors of "A Marriage Manual," now in its 25th printing.

Depends On Individuals
"Depends on the individuals," said Dr. Stone. "I know of many cases in which the wife is as much as 10 years older than her husband... yet they are well adjusted couples with families."

Pony Tail Wigs Are The Latest

By FRED DANZIG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Teen-aged girls have started a new fad—wearing pony tail wigs.

Marie Tornell, a Manhattan wigmaker, has turned out 100 pony tail wigs for girls at one high school in New Jersey alone. The pony tails range from 14 to 16 inches long and sell for $5 dollars a copy.

This price tag is about the lowest a wigmaker quotes because of the labor, Marie said. Hairs are attached one or two at a time to a piece of silk with an implement resembling a crochet needle. It usually takes a full week to produce a wig, at a cost of $350 for a man's model. Women's models start at $150.

Marie reported the most popular colors for women now are reddish tints. Platinum blonde is another popular color. It is so hard to find natural platinum hair that Marie bleaches to suit customers.

Crew Cut Recommended
In the 20 years she has been turning barren domes into shampoo-bait, she estimates she has fitted about 10,000 persons. Of these, 7,000 have been women.

This does not mean more women than men lose their hair. It just means when a man becomes bald, he usually grins and bears it. "But for a woman to lose her hair, that's a tragedy," said Marie.

The wigmaker encourages men to get crew cuts because hair-line in this model conceals the split gum and toupee plaster which keeps the wig in place. Women don't have the plaster problem. A tight-fitting elastic band holds on their transformations.

Miss Tornell has a staff of 12 persons in her salon. On a recent trip to Europe, she collected a 700-pound carton of hair. Marie, who has a full head of black hair—her own—began her wig-making career at the age of 14 because of a typographical error in an Italian-language newspaper. The ad called for a young girl to work in "cappelli." That's Italian for "hats." Marie thought she would like being a milliner, so she applied.

The word should have been spelled with one "p" meaning "cappelli," of "hair." But the manager persuaded her to try wigmaking anyway.

In Belgrade Or Brooklyn—It's Jeans For Teens

By NORMAN J. MONTELLIER
United Press Staff Correspondent

BELGRADE (U.P.)—The word in Yugoslavia is "rebatinski." But any teenager anywhere would recognize pedal pushers and blue jeans by any name.

The teenagers of Yugoslavia lend color and excitement to a country notable for the drabness of adult dress. Otherwise, Yugoslav students are only beginning to break the grip of a traditional strict material discipline. Communism has only barely defied family controls over youth.

A 14-year-old vacationing student on a coastal boat swooping in and out among the 1,000 islands along the Dalmatian coast halted a hot jazz dance number long enough to confess, "we study classical music in school." But Elvis Presley, Frankie Laine and Doris Day are the big stars for the young people. Rock 'n' roll has invaded Yugoslavia, as it has the rest of Europe. The only trouble is that teenage boys here— are shy about dancing. State authorities speak glowingly of youth as "the hope of our future." They mean the socialist future of Yugoslavia. Yet the public school system has no organized instruction in Marxist history, no "indoctrination" as such and, one official lamented, is too "objective."

Schools are crowded and most operate on concentrated schedules—8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., or 1:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., six days a week. Education is compulsory until 15 years of age, and university attendance has leaped from a pre-war annual average of 17,000 to about 62,000 in 1950.

Science Stressed
Marjan Filipovic, councillor in the national secretariat for education and culture, said teaching staffs are limited because of the rapid expansion of schools. Technical and applied sciences are being stressed, with emphasis on nuclear physics. The national government feels a strong need for more specialized schools to eliminate the brain-power shortage in Yugoslavia's mushrooming industry.

There is no apparent government attempt to prevent youths from succumbing to western influences. Even the state radio features American jazz tunes. And night clubs, always state-owned enterprises as everything is here, demand that singers be able to give a proper rendition in English of any western song. Night clubs are in the throes of the eba craze right now and the samba is still popular. Calypso songs also are spreading among teenagers.

Jeans and pedal pushers for young girls came into vogue through gifts from U. S. relatives and friends. Yugoslavia's commercially astute manufacturers now make their own copies. Young girls and boys dress more formally for school. Skirts and sweaters are the rage. Young men wear suits normally, or sports jackets and odd slacks. But there are leather-jacketed swaggers who could pass any James Dean club sartorial test.

Bikinis are the favorite bathing suit among girls, with ballerina-type and one-piece suits following in popularity. Lipstick and nail polish are rare among the girls. But one in pedal pushers or jeans would go without jeans. Bobby sox never caught on at all here.

No Steady Dating
In the cities, young people are loosening traditional home ties. Broadened educational programs and training schools for industry keep boys out in the evening. Girls of 18 talk wistfully of "living on my own" but it seems that 20 is the earliest age at which the average girl seriously contemplates the break. Twenty-year-old Nella, a commercial student, due to complete her education this year confessed that she had never been out alone with a boy.

"With a group of friends it is all right," she said, "but to see a boy alone means that mother and father must come along too."

An average girl or boy usually "promenades" after school. This is a national pastime and gloss city and country streets and roads with people from about 4 p.m. until midnight every day. In Belgrade, one main street is even closed nightly to all traffic to give the pedestrians more room. In rural zones, girls said they cannot stay out after 8 p.m. until the age of 18, then 9 p.m. until 20. "Steady dating" is unheard of even in the cities. "To date the way American young people do would make mother ask about a wedding," 17-year-old Ina said.

Communism itself seems to have nothing to do with teenage customs. Although several young students of history were prepared to dispute western economic theories, none carried that theme as far as criticism of all western life.

JACKY FENWICK

Things are picking up at the Monday night square-dances at the Chief's Club! This past Monday they had their biggest crowd to date;... twenty couples! Monday night was a little different than most of them though, as the dancing was followed by a farwell party for Sue and Amos Singersfeld, or "Sink", (as he's better known!) Chief and Mrs. Singersfeld leave for San Juan, Puerto Rico, on July 3. A delicious buffet, prepared by the wives that attend every week was served to all the guests. It included potato chips and fritoes to go with the garlic cheese dip and the sour cream and onion dip. (Heard that both were wonderful!) Then there were pickles, olives, sandwiches, etc. and everyone but the Singersfelds bought their own drinks. But the "piece de resistance" was the cake made and decorated by Vera Greene! It was iced with white, and trimmed in red and blue. A little ship sailed on a blue ocean, and gay red letters wished "Bon Voyage" to "Sue". Those who attended to dance and bid farewell to Sue and "Sink" were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hirt, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Bone, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Gast, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Auler, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Sundell, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Howland, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Higgenbotham, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Higgenbotham, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Robson, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Walton. Though there was less dancing than usual, everyone enjoyed themselves. Incidentally, the crowd also said good-bye to Chief M. H. Phillips. He leaves on Monday for Norfolk to go aboard a ship, though I wasn't able to find out just which one! Mrs. Phillips and the children are remaining in Sanford while he's gone. (Greene throws an apology to all those who took the time to read my column yesterday! Got to admit I was in a very discouraged mood when I "pounded it out". This column does affect me that way at times when I don't know what to write about. That surprises me too, as anyone who knows me can tell you I'm never at a loss for words when I talk to people in person!! (I can hear all those affirmative answers coming from every direction!!!) But to sit down and try to put things on paper that will be of interest to a lot of people, is something else again! And when there is no news to write about, I hit a very low point! yesterday's column! I still need help and cooperation, so how about it?

REDS BOMBARD QUEMOY— Nationalist China alerted its offshore island fortresses for a possible Communist Chinese invasion following the heaviest Red artillery bombardment in nearly 3 years. The Defense Ministry said "several" civilians had been killed and at least 20 others injured. The rest pocket war between the Communist and the Nationalists flared anew as Red artillery on Amoy pounded the Quemoys islands. (UP Telephoto)

Congressman Seeks End To Probability Reports On Storms

WASHINGTON 26—Rep. James A. Haley (D-Fla.) has asked the U.S. weather bureau to discontinue issuing hurricane "probability" reports at Miami because they would scare tourists away. Haley said "much harm could be brought to business interests in Florida if the bureau continued to issue the long range reports, which were started June 17 on an experimental basis. The congressman said most people were unable to differentiate between a "probable" storm and one that is "immediately upon them." "I urgently request you to reconsider the issuance of these reports," he said in a letter to Edward M. Vernon, chief of the weather bureau's forecast division. He said he was not worried that permanent residents of Florida would "pick up and leave" as a result of the reports but he added they would "scare potential tourists away." Haley said he was "heartily in favor" of detailed warning when a specific storm was on its way.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN

A large group assembled at the B.O.Q. Monday night to meet Captain and Mrs. Jim Reedy. Host was Tom Blackburn, who will relinquish his position as Commander HAT Wing One to Captain Reedy on July eighth. The Reedys are presently staying in an apartment in the B.O.Q. until they find living quarters. They have five children and will have three attending high school in Sanford. The other two are in college.

And it seems today and for many days past that the conversations of the present dwell on unhappy subjects. True, with television, newspapers and radio, if music is not being played, or girls being displayed or politics being underplayed, the national audience is apt to wander. So their attention is held with tales of violence. Finally one day you begin to wonder when you have really been happy for no reason at all. Most of us have so many things to be thankful for, we should count our blessings. Remember that good deeds for some reason do not make nearly as interesting a story as foul ones. There are many nice kind things being done then true. And the best way to insure happiness is to indulge in a few.

CYD CHARISSE looks like a million dollars in New York although she cannot afford to get a run in those most-valuable silk stockings in the world. The movie actress-dancer models a diamond garter and trimmings on her lovely legs. To top them off, she wears a $450,000 pearl-lace and a 25-carat emerald cut diamond ring. (International)

Cost Of Living Climbs To All-Time High Last Month

WASHINGTON 26—The government has reported the cost of living climbed to an all-time high in May for the ninth straight month. The Labor Department said the May consumer price index was 119.6 per cent of the 1947 average. The index was three-tenths of one per cent above April and 3.6 per cent higher than May 1956. The rise in living costs means wage boosts for nearly one million workers with "escalator" wage contracts tied to the cost of living.

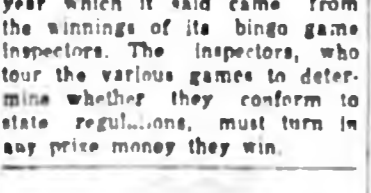

Food prices spearheaded the rise in living costs with a seven-tenths of one per cent increase between April and May. Prices of fresh produce and meat went up seasonally. The price of services was up four-tenths of one per cent but the cost of commodities went down by the same amount, the two changes thus cancelling each other in the index.

It is hoped that we have not horrified the Arthur and the Reedy's with the informality to which we have become accustomed in Sanford. Navy protocol seems to have been dealt a bitter blow in this town. We rats are used to speaking (and quite frankly) to kings, a practice which may often be frowned upon in Norfolk or San Diego. I am sure that both Captains and their wives will soon see why we are so casual and friendly in Sanford, and will have the time of their lives.

Welcoming Captain and Mrs. Reedy to Sanford were Olivia Simmons, Jim and Louise Parker, George and Marge Dickerson, Betty Linker, Jean and Cy Fil-ton, John and Jean Dooley, Helen Andrew, B. and Lou Johnson, Ruth and Forrest Norval, Betty Guy, Anne Bear, Polly Brubaker, Carlie and Jack Strubling, Bill and Jean Nelson, P. D. and Muriel Scott, Mary and Bart Peterson, Penny and Tommy Peterson, Helen and Andy Carraway, Jane and Cliff McKibbin, Cecil and Paul Higgenbotham, Jane and John Miller, Ruth and Joe Tully, Red and Lib Cleveland, Lee and Dave Canning, Pat and Dave Todd, Ed Winter, Pat and Bob Knight, Gretchen Hall, Marg and Bill Hill, Arlene and Gorian Becker, Treva and Mike Michel, Bill and Betty Lemos, Elaine Libbey, Biane and John Sengster and Bob and Ginny Conn.

It was truly a lovely party. Tom is a delightful host, and he was feeling quite ill. Today he was taken to the hospital at the Orlando Air Force Base. We are praying that it will not be serious and that Tom will be out very soon. His job has not been an easy one, especially for someone as sensitive as Tom. His men, his plans and his principles are his faith, and he has never sold them short. Consequently, each tragedy and accident have taken their toll. It is not all glory being a leader in the navy, as many in this area could testify.

The Picture Of Health

By Robert A. Lewis, M.D.
Optimism & Cancer

Though cancer still ranks second as a cause of death, it is not hopeless, and people are beginning to realize that there is much need to worry about cancer.

In a typical cancer clinic, for example, where large numbers of people are examined, only about one out of every 125 is found to have this trouble. And, thanks to medical progress, the spirit of defeat and hopelessness that once surrounded cancer is being replaced by a rising optimism. Skin cancer, for example, discovered early and treated promptly and properly, is curable in 95 percent of the cases.

What developments hold promise for the future? For one thing, there are the advances achieved in both diagnosis and treatment. Just as one example, polyps of the colon, which usually are benign but can become malignant, can now be detected by a radiologist. This physician uses a diagnostic x-ray procedure to reveal the exact location and size of these growths. He then reports these findings to the referring physician who recommends the treatment.

Cancer of certain other internal organs now can be detected by searching under the microscope for cancerous cells in the body fluids. This yields clues to "silent cancers," or those which have not caused noticeable symptoms. It is in these cases that the disease is often curable.

One hope of cancer research today is that drugs will be found to cure both localized and widely spread cancer. By using certain chemicals or controlling certain of the body's hormones, physicians can now retard, and even stop for awhile, the growth of some types of cancer cells. So far, however, surgery and radiation therapy offer the best hope of cure or lasting control.

But as the search of science against cancer goes on, everyone, especially those who are middle-aged and older, should learn the danger signals that warn of the possibility of cancer. These include: any sore that does not heal; a lump in the breast or elsewhere; unusual bleeding or discharge; any change in a wart or mole; persistent indigestion, hoarseness or cough; and any change in normal bowel movements.

However, these signals are not sure signs of cancer. Periodic medical examinations by your doctor are especially important because about 50 percent of all cancers occur in body sites that he can readily examine.

CHAPTER 3
A. L. BEAM turned at Gene Dillingham and me. "Pardee was a couple of boys to do a man's job."

Dillingham stiffened and got red in the face. "I said quickly, "He'll be along."

Beam shrugged, insolent. He went past us toward the hotel. Dillingham swung around to watch him, his hand on gun butt. I said, "Ease up, Gene." But he kept his hand on his gun, staring at Beam's back.

From the doorway Art Delaney saw us. He was looking at Gene Dillingham and me. "Pardee was a couple of boys to do a man's job."

"That devil!" Dillingham said. "That long-tongued devil!"

Beam was inside the hotel then, and Dillingham dropped his hand. Delaney said: "He claims he's killed twelve men. Pardee will make thirteen. If he does down Pardee, he'll come after you two. He was a short, fat man, almost bald. He'd been in Carlton a long time, and he was honest enough. I guess, but I didn't trust him."

The bride-to-be is called the suit "a desperate effort to block our wedding." (International Soapphoto)

75 Spectaculars Set For 1957-58 T. V. Schedule

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — You're got a front row ticket next season for such shows as "Annie Get Your Gun," "Twelfth Night" and "Julius and Ethel."

Those are only three of the 75 spectaculars definitely set for the 1957-58 schedule. The specs promise to shoot some jules into a TV season that otherwise shapes up as pretty droopy.

ABC-TV is the only major network not planning any spectaculars—unless you count two special one hour Frank Sinatra shows. However, NBC-TV reports 31 special programs locked up and CBS-TV is touting 22 specs.

Among its special shows, NBC-TV will offer six Bob Hope, six by Jerry Lewis and two by Dean Martin. There are also half a dozen "Hallmark Hall of Fame" entries on the boards including Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

Cook Up One-Shots
NBC-TV also is cooking up some special one-shots like "Annie Get Your Gun" with Mary Martin, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" with Fanny Cassio and "Finocchio" with Mickey Rooney.

Along with these NBC-TV will offer a Groucho Marx number, "Time Out For Elizabeth," a "Hans Brinker" Christmas special, "All Baba and The 40 Thieves," and two special musicals for General Motors and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

NBC-TV also is planning a series of 14 fairy tales and according to the latest report, a Shirley Temple package she'll host and act in back in the ratings as co-hostess for the spot.

The major items on the CBS-TV schedule are 10 color musicals for DuPont. CBS-TV will open up the series with a variety show called "Croswords and it will follow up with "Junior Miss," "The Prince and The Pauper," "The Little Prince" and an S. J. Perelman version of "Aladdin."

Thomas In Series
CBS-TV also is counting its five special "I Love Lucy" one-hour shows next season as spectaculars. They'll be in black and white.

Lowell Thomas will front seven other special CBS shows called "High Adventure." They'll deal with such subjects as cave exploring and mountain climb and filmed visits to places like Nepal and New Guinea.

Completing the CBS-TV list are six Art Linkletter holiday spectaculars, "Persons and Places." Linkletter will herd the cameras through the nation as they explore such things as Thanksgiving dinners and Christmas shopping.

As an added bonus, CBS-TV may also repeat two past successes—Julia Garland's "Wizard of Oz" and Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella."

Radio Amateur Week June 23-29

In a declaration issued by Florida's Governor LeRoy Collins, the week of June 23-29 is radio amateur week in honor of the radio amateurs of this State.

"Hams" in this community and throughout the state are urged to let the public know what an important part of the community they can be in times of an emergency or disaster and show how this may be accomplished in a display of their radio amateur equipment and knowledge.

"Radio hams inhabit all walks of life," a spokesman said. "To the uninitiated public; radio amateurs, or 'hams' as they dub themselves; could be your neighbor, your doctor, the mail man, broker or one of the women in your bridge club," he continued.

To a degree all show the same interest in their hobby as ham radio operators and that is to communicate with one another, through the medium of their hobby, from near and far.

It is this ability to communicate with one another that makes the radio "ham" a very valuable asset to any community."

In the event of disaster the radio amateurs with their home-built equipment have proven themselves "ready and willing" to offer their aid to their community.

Their message handling between red cross, police, civil and military authorities and other stations runs into thousands of

County Board Favors Mellonville-Locust Ave. Site For New Schools

The Seminole County Board of Education went on record this morning as favoring as its first preference the site of a new Seminole High School and Junior College, the property south of Celery Ave. between Mellonville and Locust Ave.

However, the proposed site must meet with the approval of the State Dept. of Education. A survey team has been requested to return to Sanford to inspect the sites proposed for the new school plant.

Silvers Receives Guard Commission

Sgt. Richard Silvers Jr. has been commissioned a 2nd Lt. in the United States Army Reserve and the Florida National Guard unit was announced today.

Lt. Silvers is an Air Force veteran having served four years in that component. He has been a member of Co. B, 15th Arm. Inf. Bn., the Sanford National Guard unit for the past three months.

A graduate of John B. Stetson University in DeLand, Silvers is now an instructor and assistant football and basketball coach at Seminole High School. In his college days the 27-year-old officer played on the varsity basketball team at Stetson.

Lt. Silvers resides in Little Venice with his wife and two children.

Initially Lt. Silvers has been assigned to Platoon Leader of the local Guard unit's 1st Rifle Platoon.

CoFC Coffee Club Newcomers Are Welcomed Today

Nearly 50 members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and guests, many of whom have become recent residents of Sanford, attended the Coffee Club meeting held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Chamber building.

Club Chairman, Charlie Morrison, welcomed the group and introduced the following newcomers to the city: The Rev. Dr. R. E. Rutland, pastor of the First Methodist Church; R. E. "Bob" Sheehan, area supervisor for Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company; Earl Citenden, plant manager for the same company; E. C. McManus, manager of the Family Finance Company; and Everett Harper of the Stomper Agency.

M. L. Raborn Jr., president of the Jaycees, and his predecessor, George Andrew Spear, and Clifford McRibbon, president of the senior chamber organization were also introduced to the assembly.

Short talks were made by H. H. Coleman, division manager of the Florida Power & Light Company, as to development plans of his company, and by Warren E. "Pete" Knowles, City Manager, on plans for the new civic center here.

Two representatives from Sanford Naval Air Station, Cdr. McGuire Operations Officer, and Lt. Cdr. Cummings, Public Works Officer, spoke briefly on the pleasant relations which exist between Navy personnel and citizens of Sanford.

Chamber manager John Krider expressed his appreciation for the fine turn out, which in his opinion, indicated a desire on the part of the membership to continue the Coffee Club meetings throughout the summer.

Assessors Office To Close At Noon

The office of the Seminole County Tax Assessor will be closed each afternoon beginning at 12 noon, Mary Earle Walker, Tax Assessor said today.

"Because of the unusual volume of business the office will be closed in order to complete the tax roll," she said.

Mrs. Walker stated that "if business is to be transacted with the office please arrange to take care of it in the mornings."

The Tax Assessor added "Your cooperation in observing these hours is respectfully requested."

Meet Called To Discuss Taxes

Aug. 20 has been set for a joint meeting of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners and the Board of Education with Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, the Seminole County Tax Assessor.

John Krider, County Commissioner representing the board of commissioners requested the Board of Education this morning to set a date for the meeting. It will be held in the County commission room at 2 o'clock.

Krider told the Board of Education this morning "I would like to see taxes equalized."

Comparing the county taxes with those of the City of Sanford Krider said "Taxes came down" from a 27 mill levy to 13 1/2 mills and as much or more revenue was raised in the City's equalization program.

"What we need now," Krider said, "is a complete job in the county for I don't think we're going to accomplish anything in the county until we get an up-to-date system of taxation."

A member of the Board of Education stated "With the taxes being paid now the county can't even afford to maintain the roads."

"We're at a minimum now," Commissioner Krider said "what are we going to do when expansion really starts?"

Commissioner Krider explained to the Board that a bill has been passed in the State Legislature authorizing the county to spend whatever funds necessary to re-appraise the county.

"I don't approve using an out-of-state professional appraiser," Krider told the board. However, he said, "we have three in Florida who are recognized nationwide."

The joint meeting of the two boards is to be held with Mrs. Mary Earle Walker was approved unanimously by the Board of Education.

Audrey Hits 2 States With 100 mph Winds

Ten Killed In Path

FORT ARTHUR, Tex. (U.P.)—Hurricane Audrey, which killed 10 persons before it ever touched land, roared over Texas and Louisiana today. Its highest winds were estimated at more than 100 miles an hour.

The calm eye of the hurricane, surrounded by a vast donut of deadly winds, passed straight up the Louisiana Texas border. Observers clocked its passage as the wind stopped when the eye was directly overhead.

Then, as the eye passed, the wind started howling again from the opposite direction. The eye passed over Fort Arthur, the first major city in its path. Then, at 9:15 a. m. CST, Orange, Tex., about 25 miles northeast, reported the 363.

But the worst winds were in the northeast quadrant of the hurricane, which was slamming into the Louisiana coast in the Cameron area and east.

Lake Charles, La. and Orange reported winds hitting 100 miles. The center of the hurricane was not quite upon Lake Charles then.

Picks Up Speed
A mid-morning hurricane advisory warned that four to eight inches of rain would accompany the storm and tides would be dangerously high until they begin to fall tonight.

The storm speeded up as it crossed over land, and the raging seas of wind and water moved northward at a clip of 18 miles an hour.

The Coast Guard reported that tides were steadily rising and covering the lower part of Grand Isle in the extreme southern tip of Louisiana.

All commercial power on the island was knocked out by high winds and tides. Part of the only highway leading into the island from the mainland was washed out and covered with logs and debris.

NO METER ON SPEAKER
TAMPA.—Tampa Times reporter Dana Owsen had to use a 12-minute parking meter Wednesday because the hour meters were all taken. He left a note saying: "At Chamber of Commerce meeting, his 12-minute parking place was all I could find."

When he returned, he found this reply: "Don't park in 15-minute place unless you're attending a 15-minute meeting."

There was also a parking ticket.

Gas Dealers Hold Protest Meet In Rain

So strong was the sentiment against the leasing of a portion of the Municipal Parking Lot to anyone for a filling station, members of the Sanford Retail Gasoline Dealers Association held a protest meeting late night in the center of the lot in spite of a heavy rain.

Members of the local organization to which owners of gasoline filling stations being voiced their strong opposition to any action on the part of Sanford City Commissioners to make available use of the property for a competitive business.

"To allow a filling station to be placed here is wrong," said one member of the group.

Every member of the group had his say about the proposed location of a filling station in spite of the rain and the group stayed together in the light of cars and trucks parked to provide illumination for nearly two hours discussing the issue.

A resolution will be drafted by Buddy Lake, appointed as temporary secretary of the group, which will be signed by all members of the gasoline retailers group and presented to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners at the next meeting on July 9.

Free parking space, lower overhead, free lights and unfair competition were some of the reasons given for the dissatisfaction of the group.

"This isn't the only property owned by the city," one member exclaimed. "It has property on Park Ave., French Ave., and other sections where other businesses can be opened in competition with free enterprise," he said.

"We're going to see this thing through," one of the group said as the tempo of the meeting increased.

"I've talked with two members of the City Commission who are in favor of leasing this property to someone for unfair competition," a gasoline dealer association spokesman said.

It is expected that the entire group of gasoline retailers will appear at the July 9 meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners to back up their resolution and voice their protest.

The Sanford Retail Gasoline Dealers Association is affiliated with the Allied Gasoline Retailers Association a national organization with Florida headquarters in Jacksonville.

Advance Guard Detachment Leaves Today For Camp

The advance detachment of Co. B, 15th Arm. Inf. Bn., the Sanford National Guard unit, left early this morning by military convoy for Fort Stewart, Georgia where the unit will undergo two weeks Summer Field training starting Sunday.

Four Sanford Guardsmen made up the advance element of the local unit. They met with other elements of the 15th Arm. Inf. Bn. at Leesburg for the trip to Fort Stewart.

Over 20 vehicles made up the convoy carrying the Guardsmen from this area to the South Georgia installation. The convoy was under the command of the Rt. S-4 Capt. James R. Hill of Leesburg.

In charge of the local unit's detachment was Sgt. James J. Kendall the unit motor sergeant. Other men going were Specialist 3rd Class A. J. Cements, SP3 Ivey, R. C. Bridges, both unit mechanics and drivers, and SP3 Herbert F. Bailey.

The advance detachment carried all the unit equipment including crew served weapons, radios, training aids, mess equipment and supplies. This unit will have the Company equipment set up and ready to operate when the main body of troops arrives Sunday afternoon.

These men will also form the company's rear detachment at the completion of Summer Field Training and will return to Sanford two days after the rest of the unit arrives at the home station on July 15.

Boys State Parties Pushing Campaigns Into Full Swing

FALL LAUREL, Md. (U.P.)—Federated and Political Boys State political parties today pushed their campaigns into full swing on platforms advocating abolition of the 19th Amendment and constitutional reform.

The two parties filed out during the day and tonight, each hopes to elect governor, cabinet and supreme court.

Richard Phoenix, Pat Dunham, Al Collins, Dickie Robinson and Shirley Wilson are representing Sanford at Boys' State.

In addition to the abolition of the 19th Amendment, which Gov. LeRoy Collins failed to push through the state Legislature, the National platform calls for the creation of a Rejuvenation Commission, 16-year-old voting and "the establishment of a state operated program to encourage young men to go to the scientific field."

The Federates, besides advocating reform, are calling for the conservation of natural resources. "Along with Governor Collins," the platform said, "we realize it is necessary to place emphasis on the preservation of the beauty of the state."

The youngsters nominated James Russell Gray, 17, of Marianna, and Jack Russell Weber, 16, of Miami Springs, as candidates for the governorship.

Guide For Storm Preparations

Following the announcement of the season's first hurricane, the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross issued a 13-item list of suggestions as a guide for preparations when one of the "big blows" is announced for the immediate area.

1. Get away and stay away from on-lying beaches or other locations which may be swept by high tides or storm waves. If your passage to high ground is over a road likely to be under water during a severe storm, then leave early. Don't run the risk of being marooned.

2. If your house is out of the danger of high tide and is well built (securely anchored to its foundation with a good roof which is securely fastened), then it is probably the best place to weather out the storm.

3. Board up windows or put storm shutters in place. When you board up use good lumber securely fastened. Make-shift boarding may do more damage than none at all. Have strong bracing for outside doors.

4. Get in extra food, things which can be eaten without cooking or with very little preparation. Remember that electric power may be off and you may be without refrigeration.

5. If emergency cooking facilities are necessary, be sure they are in working order.

6. Sterilize the bathtub and fill it with water. Also sterilize & fill all jugs, bottles, cooking utensils and other containers, as water service may be interrupted. Even for some time after service has been restored it may be wise to boil drinking water, unless you are sure the supply received from the city's water mains is safe.

7. Have a flashlight in working condition and keep it handy. Hurricane candles and a supply of matches in a safe place are handy.

8. Check on everything that might blow away or be torn loose. Garage cans, garden hoes, signs, porch furniture, awnings, and other objects become weapons of destruction in hurricane winds. Store them all inside if possible. Loose objects on the roofs of buildings are especially dangerous.

9. Be sure that a window or door can be opened on the lee side of the house — the side opposite the one facing the wind.

10. If the center or "eye" of the storm passes directly over, there will be a lull in the wind lasting from a few minutes to half an hour or more. Stay in a safe place. Make emergency repairs during this lull if necessary, but remember the wind will return suddenly from the opposite direction, frequently with even greater violence.

11. Be calm. Your ability to meet emergencies will inspire and help others.
